

Costello Doctor Denies Gambler Couldn't Testify

Sore Throat Was Not Reason Costello Dodged Crime Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello's throat doctor told a federal jury Tuesday he had advised Costello he was fit to answer questions last March 16—about three hours before he asked one of a Senate Crime Committee hearing.

Costello contended at the March 16 hearing that acute laryngitis made it impossible for him to testify without aggravating the condition.

He is on trial on 11 charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate for refusal to answer a number of questions before the committee and for walking out.

U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane may complete the prosecution's case today. One of his witnesses will be Hurlough Halley, former chief counsel for the Senate committee and now president of the New York City Council. The jury was selected Monday and the trial got under way Tuesday.

Costello's physician, Dr. Douglas Quicker, called by the government, said he told Costello March 16 it would be safe for him to testify up to two hours if he limited his answers and avoided straining his voice.

Defense Counsel George Wolf failed in attempts to get the doctor to say that Costello's condition on March 16 made it vital for him to remain silent.

Costello testified before the committee on March 13 and 14 and staged his first walkout March 15, saying he wasn't well enough to testify. He was scheduled for more questioning on the afternoon of the 16th.

Lane's opening prosecution statement to the jury outlined the indictment concerning Costello's walkouts and his refusal to answer several questions. One key question was about his net worth.

Wolf denied Costello was connected with underworld leaders as alleged by the Senate Crime Committee.

Costello, if convicted on all counts, faces a maximum penalty of 11 years in prison and $11,000 in fines.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jury of six quickly today for the contempt of Congress trial of Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, officially described as a leader of one of the nation's biggest crime syndicates.

Guzik, a short, pudgy gray-haired man in his sixties, watched the proceedings intently. He acquired his nickname, Greasy Thumb, because of a money-handling job he is reputed to have held in the old Capone gang.

The five-count indictment against Guzik grew out of his refusal to answer questions when he appeared as a witness before the Senate Crime Committee last March 22.

Horco Piscitelli, described by the committee as another leader of the Capone syndicate, will follow Guzik on trial.

The indictments against Guzik and Piscitelli say they "unlawfully refused" to answer questions which were pertinent to the committee's investigation of criminal activities.

Guzik, who acted as his own counsel, refused to answer dozens of questions on the ground they "may incriminate me or tend to incriminate me."

He talked so much about the possibility of incriminating himself that Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) asked: "Where did you get this phrase you have been using all the time?"

"I have heard it on the television," Guzik replied.

Even the official record noted "laughter."

This time Guzik is represented by William H. Collins, who has appeared in many widely publicized criminal trials.

Chinese Agree To All Demands Except Airfields

General Turner Says No Attempt Made To Solve Big Dispute

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations Political Committee spurned a Russian demand today for a high level Security Council meeting to take up immediately Korean truce negotiations. But it agreed in such a meeting, when useful.

The committee's vote on refusing to bring Korean truce negotiations into a special Security Council session was 10 to 6, with 11 abstentions.

By DON HUTH
MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists today submitted a new counter-proposal agreeing to all Allied terms for supervising a Korean armistice except a ban on rebuilding Red airfields. The U. N. Command promptly rejected the compromise.

The future of Red airfields is the basic point of dispute. "There is no major disagreement still existing except that of airfields," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, U. N. negotiator. "That has been the major disagreement throughout."

The Communist counter-proposal formally accepted Allied demands for troop rotation, replenishment of supplies, and supervision of the truce by neutrals.

Truman Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today said the armed forces which he said now total nearly 3 1/2 million men.

"These increases will involve particular emphasis on air power," he said, and will mean "large-scale production of planes and other equipment for a longer period of time than we had originally planned."

Secretary of Defense Lovett said early in December budget plans call for an Air Force of 143 wings instead of 90 with 124 of the increased group to be combat units.

The President reported that planes, tanks and other arms are being delivered at the rate of 1 1/2 billion dollars worth a month and that "a year from now, we expect that rate to be doubled."

He warned that the military demands for steel, aluminum, copper, nickel and other scarce materials will bring sharp cutbacks in civilian goods during the next two years of "peak" defense production.

But, he said, the cutbacks "will be nothing like those during World War II, when much civilian production was completely stopped."

The President reported that the "give 'em hell" phrases of previous State of the Union and campaign speeches Mr. Truman has directed at Congress in other years were almost entirely absent from his address today—until he came to the issue of price and other economic controls.

"Our stabilization law was shot full of holes at the last session," he declared. "This year, it will be one of the main tasks before Congress to repair the damage and enact strong anti-inflation law."

The President's administration intends to "hold the line on prices just as tightly as the law allows."

"Taking cognizance of the 'corruption in government' which the Republicans have promised to raise in the coming campaign, Mr. Truman said he intends "to see to it that federal employees who have been guilty of misconduct are punished for it."

"Our kind of government above all others can not tolerate dishonesty among its public servants," he declared.

While the president said that behind the Iron Curtain "the Soviet rule of force has created growing political and economic stresses in the satellite nations," he noted: "Nevertheless, the grim fact remains that the Soviet Union is increasing its armed might. It is still producing more planes than the free nations. It has set off two more atomic explosions. The world still walks in the shadow of another World War."

He said he hopes the Senate will quickly ratify the Japanese Peace Treaty, security pacts with Pacific countries and the agreement to bring Greece and Turkey into the North Atlantic Treaty.

He scored Congress for not making "adequate progress in building up our civil defense against atomic attack" and declared failure to provide it "has the same effect as adding to the enemy's supply of atom bombs."

The President disclosed that he has directed weapons for Europe "to be given a very high priority" and that further arms aid must be supplemented by additional economic aid "to supply the margin of difference between making Europe a strong partner in our joint defense."

With Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain looking on from the gallery, the President declared that he and Churchill have had "a most satisfactory series of meetings."

"We thoroughly reviewed the situation in Europe, the Middle East, and the Far East," Mr. Truman said. "We both look forward to steady progress toward peace through the co-operative action and teamwork of the free nations."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Many people complain about the lack of morality in American life, but few do anything about it.

One of the exceptions is Charles Laughton. It seems strange casting for the portrayer of Henry VIII and Captain Bligh to appear as a moralist in real life. But it is true, even though Laughton himself would deny it publicly.

In fact, he won't allow a reporter to quote him about current reports of immorality in the nation's social makeup. A cautious fellow, Laughton dislikes controversy and does not want to offend anyone. About the only thing he will say is, "People are learning that dollars do not mean morals."

While he refuses to preach, Laughton is putting his beliefs into action. In the past three years, he has traveled throughout the land, bringing classics and their moral values to all kinds of audiences.

As his only commentary on American morals, the actor offered this story: "I was coming West on the train and fell into a conversation with a man who was sitting opposite me. As it turned out, he was a lithographer and we discussed lithography, about which I know a little."

"Later, we were talking about the movies and TV. The man complained about their lack of morality and said he had trouble rearing his children in an upright manner because of the entertainment they see. I asked him what type of product he made. He was ashamed to admit that he produced sex pictures for calendars."

"Ah, ha," I told him. "You do that kind of work and then complain about the lack of morality in entertainment for your children?"

Laughton is playing a film role (in "The Fall House") in between engagements with the classics. He but agreement was made to a motion that this be included in the next year's budget when money would be made available for the lighting.

Mr. Dyson stated that he would like to have an explanation as to why the authority for the lighting and why the lights were installed after the board's previous action.

Mr. Stepper replied that after H. J. Coleman of the Florida Power and Light Co. had offered supporting wires for the colored lights, a new low estimate of the cost of the program was made, so it was decided to put up the lights for the duration of the holiday period.

Joel Field, W. W. Dawson, John Krieger, Forrest Breckinridge and W. Morrison appeared as a committee representing the newly formed Sanford Baseball Association, and asked support of the Commission on a baseball program for the coming year.

Mr. Field told of the enthusiasm of the re-organization meeting of the Baseball Association at which 15 directors were elected.

Mr. Krieger asked for cooperation of the Commission in helping to defray expenses of the program, including the cost of lights for the field and of a ground keeper, and stating that he hoped a stadium authority would be created by the City. He stated that if Sanford failed to have baseball this year, it was doubtful if they would have it next year.

Forrest Breckinridge of the Chamber of Commerce, told of the favorable outlook of getting a St. Louis Browns farm training program here, following the visit here of Zack Taylor, E. J. Moughton, architect, reported that the new stadium was almost 100 percent completed.

Mayor Stepper pointed out that the Commission was favorably inclined to co-operate with the Commission, and instructed Mr. Gillon to get figures on probable costs to the City of the baseball program. Mr. Chase agreed to inspect the new ball park this morning with Mr. Moughton, and the other commissioners to make similar inspections during the afternoon.

Mervin Oiler of Oiler-Weller Inc., asked extension of the option agreement to purchase 79 additional lots in the Bel Air and San Landa sections which option expired Jan. 2. He was requested to pay one-fourth of the purchase price of the lots as a down payment, the balance in three payments within nine months.

After considerable discussion regarding the City backing the construction of the proposed Tourist Recreation Building, the matter was ordered referred back to the Jaycees who are now conducting a promotion campaign of the program, to see what they can determine they will raise toward the project, before the City awards a contract for the building.

Volle Williams, Sr., pointed out to the Commission that the State Road Department will meet, Jan. 17, to decide the road budget for the year for Seminole County, and cautioned that unless some definite commitment is made by the City for a right of way for the widening of French Avenue, the project may be eliminated from the budget this year.

The Commission requested Mayor Stepper to contact the County Commission on the matter, inviting the latter to meet with them next Monday night or at some other date as early as possible.

Action was taken by the Commission to confirm the appointment of John Gillon as acting city manager, and J. C. Pope as acting assistant building inspector.

A resolution was passed confirming the transfer of a 47 acre tract of property on the north side of the Naval Air Station to the State Road Department for the widening of French Avenue, between Locust Avenue and a through street.

After Volle Williams, Jr., pointed out that Ordinance 434, governing points for law infringement by taxi drivers was too severe, the Commission ordered that City Attorney Shihohler amend the ordinance in accordance with Mr. Williams' suggestions.

Nation Seeking To Unsnarl Traffic Problems Is Turning To Toll Roads

By The Associated Press
More and more motorists can expect to do their driving on toll roads, a growing trend as the nation struggles to unsnarl increasing traffic problems.

Many traffic experts reluctantly have come around to the idea that if we can't get new highways any other way, we'd better have toll roads.

Highways with an admission price already are in operation in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Maine.

Three others—Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia—have passed the necessary legislation although exact routing has not been completed in all. Five others—California, Georgia, Florida, Maryland and North Carolina—are looking into the possibility.

The motorist already pays heavy taxes for road construction when he buys gasoline and license plates. Why, he may well ask, should he pay an extra charge for new roads for which he was taxed in the first place?

The answer isn't simple. True, this country has the greatest system of highways, roads and streets (about 3,333,000 miles) in the world. But America also owns and uses 70 per cent of the world's passenger cars and 51 per cent of the trucks and buses. Here, for long, according to industry estimates, there will be 50 million vehicles on the roads.

Most of the U. S. road system was designed and built in the early Twenties, when there were only nine or 10 million vehicles registered. After 1930, road construction dropped off sharply and never picked up.

Last year, the nation spent $4,200,000,000 on roads. But authorities believe that an adequate road program will cost between $5,700,000,000 and seven billions annually for the next 15 or 20 years.

Realities, tax revenues earmarked for roads frequently are channeled off to other uses, reports the National Highway Users Conference. And the money spent on roads often isn't spent wisely, according to the American Automobile Association.

"Too often," says an AAA spokesman, "the money is spent where the voters are not where the cars travel. Too often, it's spent on small local roads instead of important highways."

Toll roads were used in this country as far back as the late 18th Century but they were abandoned toward the close of the 19th Century as long-haul traffic was diverted from horses and wagons to the railroad.

In modern times, the toll road idea has been opposed by the AAA, the Chamber of Commerce, the Highway Users Conference, the U. S. Bureau of Road and Motor Vehicle Organizations. They've argued that toll roads are undemocratic, that they involve a double tax, that they are costly to maintain.

More recently, however, there has been some shift in the expert opinion. The AAA now concedes there are some instances where toll roads are justified, survey by the Brookings Institution concluded that while the toll road is still wrong in principle it must be considered in the absence of other highway financing methods, especially since many states already have reached their debt limit.

Another study, by the Bureau of Public Administration at the University of California, found that the major toll projects are "financially sound ventures, particularly over a long term. The Pennsylvania Turnpike is the only project which has been in operation long enough to be classified as proven success. Other roads, however, indicate a present or probable future ability to accomplish self-liquidation."

The 11-mile New Jersey Turnpike is still too new to draw any conclusions. But the five other states which have toll roads were pleased enough with the results to plan extensions or undertake new toll projects. The toll highways, it was found, lightened the load on other main arteries, generally speeded up through traffic and in some instances attracted new business to the areas involved.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike has been more than doubled in length. It is now a 235-mile ribbon of concrete stretching across the state from King-of-Prussia, near Philadelphia, to the Ohio state line at Pottsville, Pa.

HOLLYWOOD

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — The husbands of America can rest assured that midday's wardrobe will not be revolutionized by any more 'Looks' in 1952.

That comforting news comes from Gilbert Adria, whose dress creations have been worn by most Hollywood glamour queens. "I think that American women have outgrown any 'Looks' that might be put over on them," he remarked. "If there is any notable style in 1952, it will be the 'American Look.' It will be a crystallization of all the things that American women have found practical through the years."

After all, American women lead a much different life from European women. That is why they can't follow European styles. The American woman is active; she drives a car, takes part in sports and travels a great deal. Therefore, her clothes must be streamlined so they can be packed for travel and uncluttered so they won't get in the way.

"I predict the hem-line will remain where it is—front 13 to 14 1/2 inches from the floor, or about in the middle of the calf. Experience has proved that is the best length. A shorter skirt is unflattering, and a longer one is unwieldy."

"What about the plunging neckline?" I asked, somewhat avidly. "That will continue to be a matter of taste, as it always has," he replied. "Women who can and want to wear low neckline will do so; others will not. There is nothing new about décolletage; women have been using it for centuries. It was merely brought into the limelight when many women in television used it, because the camera focuses attention on the upper part of the body."

Does he, as a designer, resent it when a low neckline detracts from his work? "Not in the least. Some women can look very attractive that way."

Adria designed gowns at MGM in the glamor days of Garbo, Shearer and Crawford. He recently returned there to put on a fashion show in "Lovely to Look At." When I saw him in his scented salon, he was surrounded by bolts of cloth and preparing for his own showing of spring fashions.

The designer has long combated Parisian dictates and was an opponent of the late, unlamented "New Look." He remarked: "The French were out of the running during the war years. When the war was over, they tried to focus attention on themselves. They threw out everything we had found practical over the years and substituted skirts that reached to the ground, padded and drooping dresses."

"It was a clever promotion, but American women will not fall for such a scheme again. They cannot afford to completely take over the world. And they will not go for fashions unsuited to modern living. We have weeded our fashion garden."

North Carolina's average field of lint cotton per acre for 1951 is estimated at 382 pounds. The 1950 average was only 140 pounds.

Rewards Raised For Perpetrators Of Bomb Blast

Governor Warren Assures Delegation Of No Clemency

TALLAHASSEE — The reward on the heads of those responsible for the Christmas night killing of two Florida Negro leaders has gone up to $5,000 and Gov. Fuller Warren has assured the nation there will be no clemency for the murderers if convicted.

The governor told a delegation of Northern whites and Negroes he is increasing the reward from $2,000 to $5,000. The delegation, numbering some 20 representatives of Jewish and Negro organizations, the Progressive Party, the American Labor Party and labor organizations and the Civil Rights Congress, called on Warren in Tallahassee.

An Army of extraordinary emergency measures to bring to justice the Jewish murderers of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Moore.

The Moore's died after a bomb exploded in their bedroom in their home at Mims. Moore was state secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

An adviser expert arrived at the scene Wednesday to study the ruins and try to find out what caused the blast. An in-forensic also is making an inquiry.

The delegation asked Warren to outlaw the Ku Klux Klan in Florida and call a public meeting to express indignation at the Moore slaying and at other bombings and attempted bombings of Negro and religious centers in Dade County.

The governor said he sympathized with the interracial group's opposition to the Klan but said it appeared the Kluxers have a constitutional right to assemble peacefully. The Klan "poses as a peaceable assembly when they assemble," he told the group.

Mr. Hutchison in his report, pointed out to Mr. Fitts, that prior to the death of Edward Higgins, the Ford Motor Co. had been interested in establishing here a branch office for distribution of Ford and Mercury cars which would be brought to Central Florida by barge line.

Completely refuting the impression here that freight traffic moving by water was drying up, is this information regarding south-of action taken after the Moore deaths and the Negro couple might go down in history as "martyrs for brotherhood."

increase of 22,313 tons over 1949 inland shipments.

More specifically the engineers pointed out that during 1950 some 318,774 tons of freight moved between Jacksonville and Lake Harney on the river. Of this, 295,034 tons, mostly oil, represented inbound traffic, since no facilities for northbound traffic now exist in Sanford.

This, said Mr. Fitts, represents an increase of 38,568 tons over the year 1949, with indications that the figure for 1951 will show a further increase.

He pointed out that this increase in water freight on the St. Johns River parallels a similar increase on the Ohio River, and that from 1946 to 1950 water traffic between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Louisville, Ky., showed an increase of 12,746,000 tons.

observe that Mr. Truman seemed to have "backed down" on previous demands for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The President asked for revision of the law. Churchill called the president's presentation "masterful" but Republicans called into it as a political campaign document which Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said laid down only "a blueprint of exhaustion."

Republicans and some Democrats looked upon his message as outlining the general issues on which his party must stand in next November's election, irrespective of whether he decides to run again.

INVIOLATE

(From Kansas Magazine)
He had never known how cold
he knew
That her heart owned no master
Save its own slow measure
Of little trifles left from long ago,
Held not lightly as a beach holds its bright
Sea treasures.
But jealously, inside some inner door,
Nor heard the wild surf of his love come breaking Against the barriers of heart and mind
Long, long ago upon a moon-white road
The key to that inner door was lost
The key that none, not even she could find.
—Alma Robinson Higley

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Pontiac, Ill. is getting old. They looked the local crop of girls over and suspended the annual beauty contest for a couple of years. "No talent," was the explanation.

In Spring Hope, N. C. a mule was walking quietly down the street when an automobile ran right into him. The mule lashed out with both heels and kicked the car right into a ditch causing at least $300 worth of damage to
it. We know just how that old mule felt.

President Truman proposes in his State of the Union message that Republicans as well as Democrats join him in an election year
stratagem on "political" fights".
Although no one can question the seriousness of the world crisis, it comes with poor grace from one who has laid himself so wide open to criticism to ask that criticism be suspended just when the thing most needed in this country is that such criticism bear fruit.

Christian missionaries are working among 170,000 prisoners of war in South Korea. Not more than one percent were Christians a year ago, now more than 5 percent are, says the Rev. Bruce Cummings, who has been working among the Koreans for many years. "Those we have been able to reach," he says, "would put many of our own church people at home to shame with their knowledge and practice of Christian principles".

Much as we like Senator Douglas' suggestion that the Democrats should nominate General Eisenhower too in some respects, we can see its disadvantages in others. It might be well to be thus assured of General Eisenhower's election; it might not be so well to give his opposition no chance to vote for anyone else. In this way people lose their liberties without in the least suspecting it. Hitler became the absolute ruler of Germany not because all of the people voted for him (he never did command a majority in a regular election) but because he finally got things fixed so that he had no opposition. The British have a word for it when they speak of "the loyal opposition"
and something like that is needed to make democracy work.

The Herald today publishes a long article on toll roads written by the Associated Press. Toll roads are becoming of increasing importance in America, and in Florida, for as the Associated Press says, "If we can't get new roads any other way, we'd wonder why we can't
wonder why we can't
because we don't pay taxes to build them. The tax outlay in Florida is for the biggest gasoline country in the world in and original all of it

don't pay tolls we won't be able to build new roads and we won't be able to Death For All Spies?

The House Committee on Un-American Activities proposes that the death penalty be imposed for spying on the United States in peace as well as in war. The proposal runs counter to the general tendency to reduce the number of crimes punishable by death.

In England the death penalty was exacted for a large number of petty offenses in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, even for stealing a loaf of bread. Fear of the death penalty did not wipe out crime, however; on the contrary that was a period of much crime. There is some indication that criminals often escaped any punishment at all because juries acquitted them rather than be responsible for assessment of the death penalty.

Neither is mere imprisonment much of a deterrent to crime. There have been periods when prisons were made as dreadful as possible, to scare criminals into the path of virtue. This policy didn't work, either.

Experience has shown that education and rehabilitation during a period of imprisonment offer the most promising hope for reduction of crime, and that the appropriate length of the period depends not so much on the crime which was committed as on the nature of the individual criminal.

Expert opinions differ on the wisdom of capital punishment, and on its effectiveness in deterring would-be criminals. Spying is one of the most serious and dangerous of all crimes, and the best of all knowledge and experience in the field of criminology ought to be applied to the problem of preventing it.

Eager For Democracy?

Although Japan has made great strides in becoming more democratic since the end of World War II, many violations of fundamental human rights still exist there. The office of the attorney general of Japan and several large Japanese newspapers cite the fact that there are instances of police brutality, arrest without warrant, feudalism and other evils, as evidence that Japan still has a long way to go before it can be called a truly democratic state.

While abuses of fundamental human rights can never be condoned, it may be that the Japanese leaders who seek to democratize their country are too impatient. Japan has never before lived by the democratic tradition and there are still bound to be strong ties to the authoritarian past, especially among older people. In the countries which can accurately be called democracies there has been a steady process, often over centuries of time, which led to government by majority rule. American democracy did not originate with the Declaration of Independence. That act was rather the culmination of a long struggle for individual rights that had begun long before the English Magna Charta was signed.

In the few years since Japan suffered its crushing military defeat the nation has succeeded in revamping its laws to give individuals a much greater degree of freedom.
There is no reason for discouragement in the things Japan has not yet accomplished. Only time can establish traditions of freedom strong enough to make Japan a true democracy in thought and behavior, as well as in law.

Potatoes In The Lead

It seems to be the fate of potatoes to be prominent in the economic and political news of the day. For several years they were a chief target for criticism leveled against the agricultural price support program, until finally they were removed from the support list. Now potatoes have become the first fresh vegetable to be placed under a specific price ceiling by the Office of Price Stabilization, which will limit ceilings on other vegetables would follow.

It has long been recognized that the potato is a staple item of diet; even in food-rich America it accounts for about a third of the total consumption of fresh vegetables. Now we see that it has a high place in national affairs, as well.
It has sometimes been referred to as "the lowly potato," but the implication of that term is certainly wrong. The potato has a high position.

The Enterprise, an Ishbrandtsen
Line vessel insured for 1 1/2 million dollars, was en route from Hamburg, Germany, to New York when the Christmas hurricane caught her about 300 miles off England.
For days she was adrift with a crack in her hull, and sent an SOS Dec. 28. Then last Saturday the tug Turmoil began towing her toward shore.
Carlsen and Nancy caught a heaving line after many desperate tries and made it fast, then fastened a towing line. The Enterprise and her dauntless skipper almost won.
But early Wednesday morning
the 750-yard towline snapped under the buffeting of the heavy seas.
It was the beginning of the end.
Evidently the towline had been scraped thin against a sharp surface.
Matters worsened from that moment. The elements were against the courageous skipper. Once again they brought up a storm to thwart him.
Still Carlsen would not give up.
He knew his ship was taking water badly, but he huddled with Nancy behind the funnel of the ship, covering before the wind and spray,
and still hoped for the best.
Reporters aboard the Associated Press tug Englishman, on the scene, gave this picture of the last hours today, just before the Enterprise began to sink:
Baby Florida lobsters may travel hundreds of miles before settling down.
Russia claimed a total steel output in 1951 of about 35 million tons, just about equal to that of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

Orlando Budget Is Cut In Dismissal
Of City Worker

ORLANDO (AP)—The executive
end of Orlando's city government collided head-on with the legislative branch yesterday and when the dust had settled one city worker was out of a job and a three-man move to amend the city budget had gathered threatening force.
In a blistering three-hour session covering several important issues, a majority of commissioners:
Abolished the $225 a month job
of Asst. License Inspector Roy C. Tanner.
Voted extensive changes in the city's budget laws, including repeal of a Dec. 26 ordinance providing for a two-thirds (or less,

out of five) majority on proposed budget amendments.
Appointed a committee to overhaul and recodify the city charter for presentation to the state legislature.
Commissioner the law firm of Arnold, Matheny and Burt to draft a new budget ordinance.
Adopted a motion to require sealed bids on all city purchases in excess of $100 with approval of the bids contingent on a majority vote of council.
Mayor Hornsall flatly refused to sign the budget amendment motion into law. On commisioning of the law firm to blueprint a budget ordinance, he was strongly antagonistic.

City Commissioners Okay St. Louis Offer For Training Field

San An Missions To Train Here If Necessary Housing Can Be Made Available

The City opened the way for the San Antonio Missions to hold their spring training operations in San Antonio when the City Commissioners unanimously voted to accept the four requirements set down by Jim McLaughlin, St. Louis Browns farm director, yesterday.

This step did not assure Sanford of obtaining San Antonio since the Missions are not ready to complete final arrangements until a meeting at the new Municipal Stadium, Mr. McLaughlin presented these four necessary concessions:

1. The city repair and maintain the field.
2. Locker room facilities and use of park to be provided by the city.
3. Free use of lights for exhibition games.
4. Right to all gate receipts except for 10 cent tax which will go to the City.

Acceptance by San Antonio, however, will be contingent on two things, namely, whether adequate housing can be provided for 40 odd players and San Antonio's final agreement to come here, Mr. McLaughlin stated.

The housing problem loomed as a big one when an impromptu survey conducted by Forrest Breckinridge and John Krier revealed the present hotel space available in the City was inadequate.

Mayor William Stempert expressed the desire of the City Commission when he said, "I certainly would like to see a training club here as well as a local club, if we can work out the details. A solution seems possible."

Mr. McLaughlin next with Mayor Stempert, Krier, Breckinridge, City Commissioners John Tvey and John Kader yesterday afternoon at the new stadium for the first time to look over the facilities. He was favorably impressed with the park but was dubious about the housing.

Mr. McLaughlin told the group they could expect 40 players and probably many more people to come here. He said some players bring their wives while sport writers with scouts will also accompany the team here.

Mayor Stempert questioned Mr. McLaughlin about the possibility of arranging a working agreement for the Sanford baseball club with the Browns which Mr. McLaughlin said:

"It is getting late for that, but it might be arranged."

The Browns farm director said that exhibition games might bring 30,000 fans to the stadium. The Detroit Tigers, Washington Senators and the triple A Toronto teams to Sanford to play San Antonio.

Stetson To Hold Annual Football Dinner Saturday

The annual football awards banquet of the Stetson "S" Club will be held Saturday at Hotel Putnam, President Kermit Cobb said today.

Members of the club, football players and a few guests closely connected with the team and their wives and dates are invited.

On display will be the Tangerine Bowl team trophy and the most valuable individual trophy which was won by Bill Johnson, captain of the team.

Captains to be presented include the DeLand Ed. Trophy to the most outstanding Stetson line man in the Tangerine Bowl and two others which will be announced at that time.

Certificates suitable for framing will be given each man making his letter in football and special citations will be included on this plaque.

Under "business" will be the final appearance as president of the club by Cobb, who will be graduated later this month. He will turn the gavel over to B. J. Leathers, vice-president, who will serve for the remainder of the year.

Lovelette Retains National Scoring Pace In Spree

Jayhawk Tallies 25 Points To Retain Average At 27.1

NEW YORK (AP) — Clyde Lovelette, lowering University of Kansas center, dunked 25 points through the hoop against Oklahoma in the Jayhawks' only game last week and retained his lead today as the top major college basketball individual scorer.

Figures of the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed that in 11 games the six-foot-nine, 235-pound Lovelette had averaged 27.1 points for the teams rated No. 1 for the last two weeks in the Associated Press poll.

Closest to Big Clyde (through games of Jan. 5) is Bob Pettit, Louisiana State rookie, with an average of 25.8 points in nine games. Since the NCAA figures were compiled, however, LSU played Vanderbilt, and Pettit was held to only 16 points, his lowest of the season. Thus, in 10 games, Pettit's average has dropped unofficially to 21.2 points a night.

Dick Groat of Duke ranks third in the averages, with 20.3 points in 14 games. Lovelette, has 298, and Pettit 232 in games through Saturday.

Behind Groat are Mark Work, Belmont of West Virginia, with a 24.1 average; Ed Miller of Syracuse, 24.0; and Chuck Darling of Iowa, 23.3.

Eustis girls won 39.9 with Hazel Kelly hitting the nets for 14 points. Hugh Hicks dropped a total of 16 points into the net for the Hurricanes, who led 40-13 victory.

The Eustis team will travel to Cocoa Wednesday and to Titusville Friday to play the teams there.

The ICHA coaches for the season, 20 games schedule for the season. The boys will play 21 games because they are invited to play in a tournament in Orlando later in the season.

Giants' Comeback Lauded By Leo Durocher

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The selection of the New York Giants as the comeback champions of 1951 was hailed by Manager Leo Durocher today as "another wonderful honor for a great bunch of guys."

The peppery pilot of the Polo Grounders paid this tribute to his men:

"I never saw a team with more determination or will to win."

Which explains the New York surge to the National League pennant against odds so staggering that 185 out of 214 sports writers and sportscasters picked it as the No. 1 comeback in the Associated Press' annual poll.

"The Giants weren't the greatest team I've managed or played with," said Durocher. "but I've never had or seen one with more hustle. They were really great, and never quit."

The Giants' feat of winning the flag after dropping 13½ games behind the Dodgers in August earned them a total of 549 points in the AP poll for the greatest comeback by a team or individual in 1951.

Jarvis Joe Woodell's knockout of Ezzard Charles for the heavyweight boxing title was rated second, with 127 points.

Other leading comebacks (on a 2-1 point scale for the first five places): 3—Bobby Feller, baseball, 52 points; 4—Stanford, football, 47; 5—Ben Hogan, golf, 40; 6—Chicago White Sox, baseball, 33; 7—Ray Robinson, boxing, 32; 8—Auburn, football, 17; 9—Joe DiMaggio, baseball (in World Series), 12; 10—Detroit Lions, football, 11.

Edward Everett Horton, Hollywood's great comedian will appear in person to star in the hilarious comedy "Springtime for Henry," the opening show of the first season of the Central Florida Drama bow in the Winter Park High School auditorium on Wednesday evening, Jan. 16. The Drama Festival, under the management of John Huntington, well known New York manager and producer, is scheduled to continue over a period of ten weeks, bringing to the theatre lovers in the area plays that have highlighted Broadway seasons, starring famous personalities of stage and screen.

Lake Worth Golf Tourney Reaches Semi-Final Round

PALM BEACH (AP) — Three Palm Beach residents and a man from Connecticut will meet today in the semifinals of the Lake Worth Men's Amateur Golf Tournament at the Palm Beach Club.

Jack Waddell, Palm Beach Junior College student, is paired with W. A. Pagan of West Palm Beach, and John Peel of Palm Beach will play Bill Markham of East Hampton, Conn.

Waddell upset former British Amateur Champion Robert Sweeney of Palm Beach, 4 and 3, in Wednesday's 18-hole quarter-final round, while Pagan ousted Myron Friedman of Maplewood, N. J., 3 and 2.

Peel defeated George Rasmussen of Palm Beach, 4 and 3, and Markham, the 1950 Connecticut state amateur champion, eliminated George E. Gay of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 2 and 1.

Joe Graboski of the Indianapolis Olympians in the NHA was a ball boy with the Chicago Stags when the league was formed six years ago.

Red Sox Slugger Ted Williams Is Recalled By U. S. Marines

By BILL KING

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, baseball's top salaried slugger, has been recalled by the U. S. Marines and, if physically fit, probably will be lost to the Boston Red Sox until he reaches the comparative old age of 35.

The $100,000 performer is one of several hundred former Marine flyers being called back as replacements for Korean veterans due active service releases.

Reports from Marine headquarters in Washington were that Williams, now 33, will report at nearby Squantum for a physical examination on April 2. If found fit, he will go on active duty on May 2 for at least 17 months. That would take him through most of the coming American League season and for all of 1953.

"If Uncle Sam wants me, I'm ready. I'm not any different than the next fellow," Williams phoned General Manager Joe Cronin from his Florida Everglades fishing retreat Wednesday night.

"But I'll go through all of the spring training and I'll stay with the club and avoid further orders," Williams added.

But Williams' chances of passing the Marines' strict physical tests for at least 17 months are considered dubious in that service's local circles.

Ted fractured the head of the radius bone in his left elbow during the 1950 All-Star game and the resulting surgery has hampered that arm's extension and mobility ever since. He still requires the attention of therapists.

Williams missed three seasons, from 1943 through 1945, because of World War. He was considered as a Marine flyer at Chapel Hill, N. C., and Pensacola, Fla., and served as an instructor at Pearl Harbor.

Washington reported that Williams was being recalled as a captain, the rank that would entitle him to about $600 a month compensation, including allowances for dependents and previous service. He is married and the father of a small daughter. Recently he purchased a new home in Miami.

Since he joined the Red Sox in 1939 Williams, the majors' last 400 hitter—408 in 1941—is reputed to have received more than $500,000 from Owner Tom Yawkey in 10 seasons. His top salary was $125,000 in 1950.

Williams is unsigned for 1953 and, most likely, has not done any dickering over next season's terms. Cronin, following the club's policy, declined to discuss any prospective financial negotiations with Williams. But it can be taken for granted that Williams will be under another six-figure contract, flexible undoubtedly, when he reports at Sarasota for training on March 1.
