large crowds throughout the meeting.

Nine races will be run each night, starting at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Cordell stated, with eight dogs in each race. Special events, such as hurdle and other forms of handicap races, also will be introduced during the meeting.

The dogs now at the track have appeared at Miami, Tampa, and Jacksonville tracks during this season, and many of them have come into central Florida unscathed, and with owners appearing glad of the opportunity to remain in Florida with their valuable greyhounds for the remainder of the month.

In an announcement issued today by D. Frank Carden, Texas capitalist who is at the head of the new organization, the entire meeting is to be conducted under complete supervision of the State Racing Commission.

"The Commission," he stated, "has recommended and we have employed competent officials for every major department connected with the track's operation. We are employing Sanford, Orlando, Longwood men as assistants in minor positions, and they also will be under the eye of the Commission. No expense is being spared in giving central Florida's sports fans a new outlet of amusement—and we are of the opinion—that our confidence in their desire for a greyhound racing track will be rewarded."

Attention has been called to the fact that under state law no minors will be permitted at the track at any time. By minors is meant any person under 21 years of age, but the rule on minors does not apply to young married women under that age.

Several state inspectors, appointed by the State Racing Commission, will be on hand Saturday night and during the meeting.

Free schooling tables are to be set up again, starting at 7:00 o'clock tonight, and the public is invited to visit the track for those events.

I give you the mildest, best-tasting smoke—because I am made of center leaves only. The top leaves are unripe, bitter, biting. The bottom leaves are coarse, sandy, harsh. The center leaves are the choice leaves. They are mildest, mellowest, yet richest in fine tobacco flavor. And I offer you the fragrant, expensive center leaves exclusively. I do not irritate your throat. That's why I dare to say, "I'm your best friend."

Hauptmann Aide Says Client Has Chance For Trial

German Called Victim Of Clamor For Solution Of Murder

MIAMI, Mar. 14.—Bruno Hauptmann, a victim of the American public's clamor for solution of the Lindbergh baby murder, stands better than a 50-50 chance for a new trial, Egbert Rosencrans, associate defense counsel, said here recently.

Here to work "in peace and quiet" on the appeal brief, Rosencrans, in his suite at the Alcazar hotel, said public sentiment is changing radically and that by the time the court of appeals sits on the third Tuesday in May, the Jewish demands for punishment will have been tempered, a calmer spirit will prevail, and a more judicial view will be taken by a jury.

Except for his breaking down and crying the morning following the verdict, Hauptmann has been calm, Rosencrans said, and he is looking with renewed hope to success of the appeal in May.

The public clamor for conviction, the defense counsel said, made it difficult for the jury to get away from mob spirit. It was necessary to have some victim. Hauptmann had some of the ranson money and so he was a likely suspect.

But defense funds, he continued, lack of which was one of the stumbling blocks in the Flemming trial, now are pouring in from the public."

"This is another reason for our hope of success, for it will permit a more thorough investigation of the case. In the first trial, you know, the only funds were those put up by the defense counsel."

There will be no possibility, however, of questioning the identity of the baby found murdered in the New Jersey woods, Rosencrans explained. The identification of the child as the Lindbergh baby was admitted by the defense, and so bars the question from being brought up again.

"But there are enough points to warrant a new trial, I believe," Rosencrans said. "One of them will be the judge's charge to the jury, particularly his recounting the evidence and asking the jurors 'Do you believe that?' Other major points will be the motion for the directed verdict, the fact that the body was found in Mercer county and that no adequate proof was offered to place Hauptmann definitely at the Lindbergh estate the time the crime was committed.

State's Citrus Crop At 27,000,000 Boxes

ORLANDO, Mar. 14.—Revised estimates as of Mar. 1 by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics here place the total production of Florida citrus for the 1934-35 season at 27,000,000 boxes.

Of these, 14,500,000 are oranges and tangerines and 12,500,000 grapefruit. Commercial production was set at 15,000,000 boxes of oranges and tangerines and 7,000,000 grapefruit.

Compared with a month ago, the commercial estimate for Valencia is increased by 700,000 boxes and tangerines by 200,000 boxes, the latter representing fruit already shipped.

Total production last season was 14,500,000 boxes of oranges and tangerines and 12,500,000 grapefruit.

Both were jealous of the prestige of the supreme court, doing everything possible to maintain its high standard, and for years Mrs. Holmes was one of the most brilliant social lights in Washington.

At ease, Holmes smoked long cigars. For a while, he spent an hour daily playing a highly complicated variety of solitaire in which three decks of cards were used.

Mrs. Holmes had had a radio installed in the home, but the justice was never known by friends to touch it. He said once: "The style of having music at dinner is a confection that the art of conversation has been lost."

He also did much heavy reading, some in original French, German, Greek, and Latin. Once he came home with a copy of Thucydides and explained to his wife that he had to learn Greek to understand it.

Cardiol brought improvement because she was subject to pains, nervousness, irregularity, and began to feel so weak, Mrs. Betty McDonald, of Stearns, Ky., began to take Cardiol. Dignity Of Supreme Court Often Set Aside By Holmes Took as they watched a distant pyrotechnic display — Halley's comet.

Such was the unofficial life of the Holmeses—full of fun, happenstance excursions, sparkling conversations, and of a cheerful companionship which made their wedded life a continuous honeymoon lasting nearly 57 years.

Mrs. Holmes mounted guard over the justices, making things pleasant and congenial as he could work better, and passing muster on the many people who wanted to see him, who never read the newspapers, but she did, keeping him posted on what was going on in the world.

Her wit was keen and supple like his own and they adopted each other's psychology until "one who knew them well said:

"They were absolutely mad."

Landis Would Repeal Old Liquor Laws

Attorney-General Recommends Brand New Code So As To Avoid Confusion

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 15.—Repeal of all old prohibition laws revived or re-enacted by adoption of statewide repeal and enactment of "whatever method of control the legislature deems best," is recommended by Attorney General Cary D. Landis in a report to be handed to the 1935 legislature and made public late yesterday.

"I am not presuming," the attorney general explained, "to suggest to the legislature the method of liquor control. I am, however, suggesting that we repeal all the old laws and start over with a new code, so that everybody will know what liquor laws are in effect."

His repeal proposal, the attorney general said, would include 32 beer and wine legislation acts of 1933, with such beverages also to be included in the new control code enacted by the legislature which meets April 2.

The wet or dry status of counties adopted in local option referenda elections would not be disturbed. There are 45 counties in the state with local option, and in those, the sale of intoxicating liquor is legal.

At present, Florida is operating under the Davis and Wells package law, and other statutes enacted before state-wide prohibition became effective Jan. 1, 1919. Some of these had been in the law books for 25 years when prohibition was voted. A constitutional amendment adopted last year for prohibition repeal provided for a review of all laws which were in effect at midnight of Dec. 31, 1918.

Repeat of the old laws and constitutional amendment
Jacksonville to Key West to represent a section. No man can give his personal attention to an area as large as that. From the state's geographical set-up we're entitled to the attorney general's recommendations.

Others include clarification of tax laws, repeal of existing insurance laws and adoption of a complete and modern insurance code, and employment of a pardon attorney to assist the state director of education.

Representative Herndon said that he felt the issue had been evaded for a long time, but added that he would like more time to study the proposed revision to see how it would affect Seminole County.

His colleague, Representative Brady, echoed his word. He said, however, that he favored a plan that would give the central area its own congressman. He said that Representative Wilcox was of small stature and great brain, but even if he was of large stature and greater brain he would be unable to adequately represent an area the size of the fourth district.

Only 1 Member Of Family Can Be On U.S. Future Payroll

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—(A.P.)—The Washington Post said last night that orders undertaken to have emanated from the White House have banned the employment of more than one person in an immediate family by the federal government.

The order, said by the Post to have followed a meeting of the national emergency council, will not apply to those now in government service and will not result in any dismissals.

Its effect will be to bar any relative living in the family of a federal employee from being appointed to a job in the executive departments. It would not apply to positions in congressional offices, salaries of which are paid from legislative funds.

Former regulations prohibited only husband and wife from holding simultaneous federal posts, but under the new order it would apply to father and son or brother and sister.

No formal order was issued, it was said, the instructions being transmitted verbally through heads of the various departments and emergency agencies.

Hauptmann Again Claims His Innocence

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 15.—Bruce Hauptmann told his spiritual adviser Tuesday he had "nothing to confess" about the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

The Rev. D. G. Werner of New York City, whom Hauptmann asked to meet, asked Hauptmann questions, but had instead suggested a conference with Department of Agriculture officials.

"If the government can investigate us as it has the AAA," said Thomas, "I can see that there is relief and that farm evictions

are ended."

Officials Demand Over Ten Millions For General Expenses

By W. M. MANDILORN
ORLANDO, Mar. 16.—State

operation of schools will undoubtedly follow if the legislature acceeds to the wishes of school officials in appropriating the full

10-12 millions demanded.

Under the system now obtaining school administration is retained throughout by boards and district trustees. The state retains a voice only in establishing uniform courses of study and in prescribing certain conditions under which adversaries are paid from state funds.

The tendency is growing, however, to centralize authority along with the distribution of funds. This policy is characteristic of the federal government in its centralized distributing agencies.

The state government, therefore, if it is forced to enter the field of local school financing as a means of control, will likely take over administrative functions. What form this will take is unknown but one program would eliminate county superintendents and boards and trustees and establish authority under a state director of education.
