

Yanks Advance Unopposed On Ryukyu Island

Landing Is Made In Great Force On Easter Morning 325 Miles From Japan

Tokyo reported the Americans have elected landings on Yume Island, 60 miles west of Okinawa.

A great force of American soldiers including infantrymen invaded Okinawa Island 325 miles from Japan Tuesday without seeing a Japanese soldier over a three-mile long sector.

GUAM, April 2. (AP)—American doughboys and marines landed on Okinawa Island, southernmost of the Japanese homeland, Easter Sunday morning, quickly secured eight miles of beaches and by nightfall pushed to a depth of three miles at some points.

Front dispatches said three aircraft had been captured intact and the American capture of one-third of the way across the island.

Mr. Keeling became well acquainted with several German towns which were prominent in recent military operations.

Subsequently, the veteran was transferred to Fort Monmouth, South Carolina, and assigned to the 8th Infantry, after which he was assigned to another three-year tour in Hawaii.

As a marksman, the veteran was one of the best ever recorded in the Army. For 20 years he has been a member of the National Rifle Association.

Nearly 100,000 Germans Are Trapped In Ruhr District As 1st And 9th Meet

The American First and Ninth armies have trapped 110,000 first line German troops in the Ruhr and the British Second Army, driving swiftly northeast, is threatening to throw a noose about another whole army group in Holland, reducing the Nazi strength in the west by two-thirds.

American troops almost two-thirds across Germany at some points, bottled to within less than 125 miles of Berlin and are within 45 of Nuremberg while the First and Ninth armies pushed in to wipe out the German army.

The First and Ninth closed the trap with the capture of the Ruhr, the German industrial heartland.

The Ruhr is the industrial heartland of Germany, producing 40 per cent of the nation's steel and 60 per cent of its coal.

BIBLICAL VERSE FOR TODAY

ALL HEALING IS OF GOD, BOTH OF BODY AND SPIRIT. THE SYMPTOM OF GOD'S INDWELLING IS JOY: Thy light shall break forth as the morning, and thy healing shall spring forth speedily.—Isa. 58:8.

Delliah
(From Kaleidograph)
Woman loves by heart and wholly. Never lets her mind infer. That the man that she has chosen is quite different from her. She can take a lunar creature, Who is clearly of the air, Sprinkle him with clay-red powder, Cut his flowing silver hair. Steal from him his shining essence, All his bright ethereal store, With no qualms or pangs of conscience. Shut them in a bureau drawer; And he will forget the cradle, Hollowed from a milk-white moon, Wings that were as brightly burnished. As the golden disc of noon. Later when he finds the silver Of the hair he had once worn, He will only mildly ponder From what head it had been shorn. RUTH MORHOUSE.

Apparently it is all over in Europe but the foot race.

We see where the mine operators have rejected Madame Perkins' proposals. We wouldn't be surprised if they rejected Madame Perkins' proposals just because they were made by Madame Perkins.

So it has come to this: In England a newspaper runs the following advertisement: "Owner of tractor wishes to correspond with widower who owns a modern Foster thrasher, object matrimony; send photograph of machine."

Leslie Highley, Washington correspondent, explains the sugar shortage, neglecting to mention that Florida could be feeding the entire nation if the government had not restricted sugar production in this state before the war.

Miami is being criticized on account of the tourists which have been going there to play during these wartime winter months. But it seems to us it should be New York, Cleveland, Chicago and points east and west that should be criticized. That's where the tourists come from.

We take a pardonable pride in the success of one of our former employees who has been made editor of one of the Army newspapers in France. When Stanton came to us he couldn't spell eat; when he left he could. Now he's an editor. It just goes to show what hard work, perseverance, and plenty of guts will do.

We heard of a naval officer the other day stationed here for two months before going to the Pacific, who wanted to bring his mother and father to visit while he is in training but they could find no place to stay. We dare say they are scores of such cases. Why don't some of our good Sanford families open their homes to visitors of this kind?

It is hard to understand why so much pressure is being applied for the enactment of the Manpower Control Bill, with the war apparently so near its close. It is hard to understand why the end of the war or the fall of Japan, though millions of people are liable to think so and begin looking for peace-time employment or at least resting on their oars at the very time when the hardest pulling ought to be done to bring final victory as quickly as possible.

Price ceilings apparently have been placed on everything to keep down the cost of living and the cost of doing business—that is, on everything except the things you have to buy. Take newspaper, for instance, without which newspapers cannot be published. That has been increased 25 a ton, making it now cost $41 a ton as compared with $16 a ton just before the war. But even that does not represent the full increase for all preceding years. We used to buy newspaper in carload lots. Now we have to buy by the roll at 25 to 30 percent more than the carload price.

Bread And Fingerprints

It is not only interesting but highly profitable for Americans these days to read the war news from Europe and adjacent regions. Instead of the supermen who were lately rejoicing in the seemingly successful crime of the Hitler gangsters, there are only thousands of Germans standing patiently in the lines of the American-occupied area, waiting to sign registration blanks and be fingerprinted.

So have the mighty fallen. And their greatest fear, says a correspondent, is that Hitler and his outfit will turn military weapons against them, as punishment for yielding to the Allies.

Doubtless there will still be bitter fighting and delay in many areas. The Nazi leaders, like Macbeth, are now "sunk so deep in crime" that apparently they must now continue their evil war as long as they have power to fight. But the rank and file of the German armies will hardly continue a hopeless fight. Most of them may fall away as soon as they can safely do so, and find their way home to see how their families have fared, and seek jobs or tackle their spring plowing.

Lucky will they be if, after all their great adventures and visions of world power, they can find food to eat, or grain to sow, or tools for working. The Nazi plague has stripped their country bare, and they must start all over again with only what the consideration of the Allies leaves them.

Sacrifice For A Cause

The late John H. Clarke was one of the few Supreme Court justices to resign for any reason but age. Originally appointed by President Wilson, he served for six years with high praise, withdrawing in 1922 to support the League of Nations. He never lost interest in this cause, and doubtless felt vindicated by recent events.

The greatness of his sacrifice may be judged by noting how unusual his resignation was. Before him Charles Evans Hughes retired in 1916 to run for president, in 1942 James F. Byrnes, after serving only a year, gave up his post to become director of economic stabilization.

To find other examples, it is necessary to go back to 1877, when David Davis' resignation to become United States senator from Illinois brought into office a different president. The disputed returns in the contest between Rutherford B. Hayes, Republican, and Samuel J. Tilden, Democrat, were to be adjudicated by an electoral commission, representatives and supreme court justices.

The body stood seven Republicans to seven Democrats, with Davis, an independent, holding the balance and expected to vote for Tilden. When Davis resigned, he was succeeded on the commission by a Republican justice, and Hayes became president.

French Debt

With so many situations, both military and civilian, so confused, and with French affairs appearing more chaotic than most, it is strangely calming to learn that France has just paid $40,000,000 to the United States on its account for lend-lease materials shipped to North and West French Africa.

Moreover, this makes a total of $153,668,997 in hand paid on the same account, leaving only $40,000,000 or less than one-fourth, still to go. Lend-lease supplies will cease to be sent to French Africa on June 30 of this year, says Leo T. Crowley, Foreign Economic Administrator. Any materials sent after that will be handled through regular commercial channels.

So at least one phase of the dreadful conflict comes to a somewhat hopeful end. It is believed that French Africa can soon take care of herself. It takes at least one year, sometimes more, for a war-torn country to get itself together. A period of convalescence from the disease of war is required. But when seedtime and harvest are allowed to succeed each other in the natural way, without interference, stoppage, looting and destruction, almost any country can finally get on its feet, feed itself and go on from there.

The Home Stretch

The toughest part of this war is still ahead. The toughest, that is, for the home front. It will come after the victory over Germany.

Civilians are weary of controls and rationing, of mechanical breakdowns, of separated families, of all the worries of war. They have been looking forward to VE day as a sort of universal remedy. The men will start home, controls will be eased, civilian manufacture will begin, and everything will be rosy.

But that isn't the way it will be. The war with Japan may be only in its early stages. We seem to have defeated their navy, but their army is still 90 per cent intact. Most of our men must go from Europe to the Orient. Some will come home, but not all, for some time.

Controls and rationing may even get tougher. For the more of the world we reclaim from the Nazis and Japs, the more we are responsible for. Its people must be fed until they can grow crops and start factories again.

Many things indeed, will be better. If all Americans remember that VE day cannot be the end, is not complete victory, the difficulties of what must be the home stretch of the Pacific war will be easier to bear.

Blanding Notes

ATTENTION C O P C
"They can't ship ME out," protested Sgt. "Spot" Farnell of Camp Blanding's Military Police Detachment as he anticipated an overseas assignment. "I ain't seen Silver Springs, as yet."

NECESSARY TRIPS
Onlookers were puzzled at the sudden martial surge of PFC Lawrence Jones of Camp Blanding's Headquarters Detachment, until they were enlightened by PFC Ellison Shupe of the same detachment. Enroute to the bond allotment table, it seems, Camp Headquarters displays many beautiful civilian employees.

MR. CADENCE
"This is only my first week of training," remarked Pvt. Herbert Shugar of the Infantry Replacement Training Center here, "and maybe I don't know what's going on, but it sure seems to me that all the sergeants and corporals have it in for a guy named 'Cadence.' Every time we start marching, they call out his name."

"The other day," continued Private Shugar, "the Captain told us it's a cinch to get a pass—if your rifle passes a stiff inspection. If you're not on detail, if you happen to be one of the chosen 49 per cent. If you decide in advance where you're going. If you don't go farther than 50 miles, if you understand that you must be back for bedcheck. If you're not too tired or broke to go to two. If you can manage to get the pass."

CADRE!
Some trainees of Camp Blanding's Infantry Replacement Training Center think that the cadre is an association of ex-cadres. P.S. Cadre are permanent training personnel.

LAST, BUT NOT LEAST, POWERFUL PEACE ARGUMENT

Yankees Not Same Under New Owners As Ruth Knew

By SIDNEY SCHECHTMAN

NEW YORK I stood in front of the Ruppert Brewery on Third Avenue the afternoon Babe Ruth signed one of his baseball contracts with the Yankees. I stood in front of the building other years with a lot of my neighborhood friends to see my favorite ballplayers come out after their talks with the colonel. Of course, all of us kids always waited for the Babe to emerge with his tan polo coat and fanged cap. When we saw the big burly fellow walk out into the sunshine with a happy smile on his chubby face, we would always cheer and run to his side. I'll never forget the day he autographed my first baseball.

There was something about the Yankees and Ruth and Ruppert's Brewery that held a special place in all our hearts—which we hate to lose—and will never forget.

Part of Sidewalks, Etc.
The old Yankee, as I know them, were part of a great baseball dynasty. They were also part of the sidewalks of New York, of us kids growing up here in the big city.

There was an empty feeling in the pit of my stomach when I first heard the news that the Yankees had been sold to Larry M. Huggins, Dan Topping and Ed Walsh.

Sure, the power and tradition of the Yankees may still remain under the new regime. The new owners may give the fans all the winners they had under the old Ruppert dynasty. But the Yankees from now on won't be the same for the kids of my home town.

It's like waking up one day to find that you've lost your closest friend—the most precious part of your life.

One of the days of Babe Ruth, Earle Combs and Bob Meusel in the outfield, and Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri, Mark Koenig and Joe Judge in the infield. Now, they are just a memory of happy boyhood days.

I remember the day Miller Huggins passed away, and the day Joe McCarthy took over as manager.

I remember that July 4th, when the fans sold farewell to the late Lou Gehrig at the stadium. I was there when Lou said, "Today I consider myself the luckiest guy in the world." I too, was lucky—to be there.

As I heard those words, tears filled my eyes and a spine-chilling sensation rolled up and down my back. I saw Babe Ruth grasp his arms around Lou's broad shoulders as thousands of Japs shouted and cheered.

I saw Lou stroll slowly down the dugout steps and into the darkness.

When A Doctor Suggests Vitamins

By W.V. Bittling
Touchette Drug Co.

It is only after the most careful consideration of your individual needs that a doctor recommends Vitamins. To carefully suggest that you purchase Vitamins and add them to your daily regimen of living is not the doctor's way.

First he carefully diagnoses your specific symptoms, notes your needs and only after he thoroughly understands your case, does he prescribe.

Even then, he mentions what Vitamins, in what proportion and how often they should be taken.

He will do even more. He will advise and prescribe Vitamins that have been produced by a standard pharmaceutical house. Anything less than this careful diagnosis and advice might prove a waste of your money.

This is the 60th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each Monday.

During 1944, 3,000,000 individual workers were placed in farm homes. The use of liver to cure night blindness was mentioned.

Half of the total of canned vegetables and two-thirds of the fresh fruits available to Americans in 1944 were produced at home.

Nine-tenths of the nation's farm households and nearly two-thirds of the non-farm families home-canned part of their vegetable and fruit supplies last year.

INSURE your future—Save WITH WAR BONDS

The greater windfall of extra red points ever in going this month, and each month following, to American housewives throughout the country.

32 million extra red points, approximately, will be handed out by most dealers to customers who turn in used fats in a great Victory drive for this essential of medicine, gunpowder, synthetic rubber, soap, paints and a hundred other necessities of the battlefield and home front. For each pound of fat turned in, every housewife is entitled to 2 red points.

The need for used fats is still urgent. Women are urged to save every drop, every spoonful of grease possible and keep saving until final Victory over both Germany and Japan.

Modern Warfare Takes More Guts Than Last Fight

Roosevelt Is Not Expected To Run Again In 1948

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Some close friends of the President and many political observers here are convinced that no matter what happens in world affairs, he will not be a candidate for the presidency in 1948.

They conclude this from a recent change of policy which has been noted, but so far as I know never interpreted. When President Roosevelt recently appeared before Congress to give that hour-long explanation of the Big Three conference at Yalta, he referred publicly, for the first time (with one exception), to his physical incapacity.

Admiral King Was Known As "Dolly"

For more than 12 years, Franklin Delano Roosevelt has been more often photographed, and more often heard on radio and in the newspapers, than any man in the world.

WASHINGTON—If there's any truth in the talk around Capitol Hill, the voteless District of Columbia is closer to getting a vote and some sort of representation in Congress than at any time since the oldest inhabitants got their first mustache cups.

It's hard to see how Congress can refuse to pass the Sumner-Capper bill. It is merely an enabling act. It doesn't give the citizens of the District any right to vote or any representation, whatever.

A base IN POINT

The Seaboard Railway has claimed for itself the distinction of being a builder wherever it serves. Our friends—patrons of the Railway—have been gracious in confirming that claim.

A case in point is the Seaboard's contribution to recent developments in the pulp and paper industry of the South. For many years, this has been a major project with our Industrial Department. As far back as the 1920's, detailed surveys were made of the best locations for pulp and paper mills, and the cooperation of the local people was enlisted in our efforts to develop the pulp and paper resources of the territory. These efforts have been abundantly rewarded. Several large mills have been located in our territory in recent years and others will no doubt be built in the future.

Many other new enterprises, industrial and agricultural, have been brought in as a result of the Seaboard's cooperation with local communities. The Railway is continuously on the alert for every opportunity to aid in improving the economic lot of its territory.

And so we say with justifiable pride "A builder wherever we serve."

MORE EGG RECIPES
By Anna Mae Sikes

From where I sit, I see America and her "Underground"
by Joe Marshall
We were sitting around after chores the other night talking about the progress of the war. Chad Davis was saying how, in spite of Germany's defeat, there was still the German underground to cope with.

"I don't worry about them," says Roger Hawkins. "So long as we got our own underground in working order."

"What do you mean—our underground?" says Chad. And Roger points out to the east.

"There it is," he says, "the underground that will be the most important weapon that we've got. American crops—American fields—strengthening our position overseas in a way no other underground can shake."

From where I sit, Chad's absolutely right. Whether it's the class of beer that comes a brewer's spirit, or the bread that feeds our armies and our allies, every bit of grain that American farmers harvest is a part of America's great strength.

Armored Tank Flies Is Coming Weapon

NEW YORK—An armored tank, with wings to glide through the air, is pictured as one of the coming weapons in a new book "Aircraft Armament" by Louis Bruchy, associate editor of Aeronautics.

This and other previews of future air war were published with consent of the War Department and approval of Gen. H. H. Arnold.

The glider tank is projected to be towed like gliders of various kinds now in use. After landing it would detach its wings and become an ordinary tank.

In landing its engines would operate, driving its tracks, while yet in the air, at the speed of the glider at the moment of contact with the ground.

Another, future weapon described as already designed, is a tank to be hung below a large cargo plane and to land without the plane's stopping.

When the time came to drop this tank, the crew would be aboard, and have the airplane's tracks running at a speed of about 85 miles an hour. The mother plane would come down over a level field and the crew in the tank would work an automatic detaching device when the moment came for cutting themselves loose.

Another aircraft gun is described as being in the experimental stage. It will be set on a truck and a gun mounted on the truck will be used to fire at a target. The truck will be towed by a plane and the gun will be fired from the plane.

Another project is a rocket-propelled plane to speed the tank's approach and enable it to drop from a high altitude without being detected.

Household Laundry Could Be Easier

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You don't have to "break your back" on washing much wash-day weariness can be avoided and many hours can be saved if some laundry work is planned to prevent stretch and strain.

Scientists of the Illinois Experiment Station recently studied this wash-day job, which takes one to two days of many a housewife's working week, and in general considered the heaviest household task here are their suggestions to lighten the wash-day work.

To save strain, the scientists advise spreading loads of clothes about the laundry and not to pile them up.

Doctors Are Urged To Report Promptly

JACKSONVILLE, April 2.—(Special) An urgent appeal to all physicians to be more prompt in reporting communicable disease incidence was sounded this week by the State Board of Health.

Dr. E. F. Hoffman, director of the bureau of Epidemiology and the health department, said that the efficiency of the State machinery established to aid in controlling disease outbreaks.

Particularly did he mention typhus fever as a glaring illustration of physicians not reporting cases immediately, and in many, not reporting them at all.

The state knows of any number of counties which had a large rate of typhus last year, without one case officially reported.

Many of these counties have only about half their actual typhus incidence on file with the state.

Typhus is the one disease that is constantly on the upgrade in Florida. It is gratifying that one community after another is beginning to take steps to control the fever's source, the rat, but this is primarily insisted by the staggering property destruction wrought by the rodent each year.

Florida's treatment price for rat harborage is being paid in the health of our citizens in the increase of typhus which is caused by the bite of the flea that lives on the rat.

This particular type of typhus (endemic), peculiar to America, is seldom fatal, but it does cause serious illness and debilitation. It also requires long months for recuperation.

And this is certainly no time for any person to be out of circulation because of sickness.

It is easily seen that it is impossible for the State Board of Health to be conversant with a state-wide condition, and furdom now being waged by men of all faiths. He said:

"The age-old struggle between those who cherish freedom and those who would deny it to their fellow men has become more bitter than ever. In that struggle, the Jews are deeply involved. They have a great stake in the ultimate victory of the cause of freedom for all."

"May all mankind soon be liberated from the bonds of conflict and all join together in establishing firmly a world with freedom and justice for all."

The Jewish Welfare Board of Jacksonville and Starke, were greatly responsible for the Seder's success.
