City picks five for interviews

LONGWOOD — Another meeting was held in Longwood last night, toward finding a new city administrator. A list of eight has been narrowed down to five, which will be contacted for personal interviews.

Earlier, a five man selection committee, comprised of present and former city managers and administrators, examined almost 200 applications, narrowing it down to eight. Four names were presented as Group A, determined to be the more experienced candidates. Four additional names were proposed in Group B, should the commission wish more candidates for consideration.

During a meeting late yesterday afternoon, the commission determined that all four of Group A should be brought in for interviews. They include Henry Booker of Roswell, Ga.; J.E. Keaton, of White Settlement, Texas; James A. McPellin, of Nassau Bay, Texas; and Fred J. Snider, of Hudson, N.H.

The fifth person to be interviewed was the only person in the final eight, who resided in the state of Florida. She is Susan R. Boyer, of Port Orange, in Volusia County.

The five are tentatively scheduled to meet personally with the commission on the evening of April 8 in the commission chambers at city hall. Each will be given one hour of time for individual interviews.

The city administrator's job in Longwood will have a starting salary set at $47,382.

A proposal to hire one of the five could be brought up for a commission decision during the April 20 city commission meeting.

No clean getaway

ORLANDO — They used six boxes of detergent, but two weapons-smuggling suspects couldn't make a clean getaway, U.S. Customs officials said.

The pair, both Bahamian police officers, were in the Seminole County jail this morning. They were arrested Friday after authorities at Orlando International Airport X-rayed six cartons of Tide packed in boxes destined for Nassau.

Besides detergent, they found six of what appeared to be submachine guns, six unregistered silencers and unloaded ammunition clips, all wrapped in plastic, according to prosecutors.

Chester Leroy McKenzie, 34, a 17-year veteran, and Keith Burton Patton, 33, a nine-year veteran, were charged with weapons smuggling. On Tuesday, U.S. Magistrate Donald Dietrich set bail at $100,000 each.

"I've never seen guns in detergent boxes before," said Joe Henderson, head of the U.S. Customs Service office in Orlando. "It's an unusual way to ship a gun."

Bank sale due soon?

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — A federal bank regulator says First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County will have a new owner by June 30, although indications are growing the changeover could occur as early as this weekend.

"It's ready to be marketed," said John Bishop, the First Federal manager appointed by the Resolution Trust Corp. "It's an attractive institution. It should attract a lot of interest."

Two institutions mentioned by insiders as having an interest in First Federal are Barnett Bank Inc. and Great Western. Spokespeople for both institutions declined to confirm the reports.

In an interview Friday, Bishop said a bidders information meeting was held for prospective buyers recently, but declined to say how many institutions were represented or how many have bid for the thrift's assets.

At least some First Federal customers have received notices in the mail asking for account information to complete audits by Friday.

In addition, notices from First Federal have been mailed that state the automatic teller machines at the Sanford bank and three branches would be inoperative this weekend, but would resume function Monday.

Upon inquiring at the bank, one such customer was told by a teller that the bank would have new owners by Friday. The identity of the new owners was unknown to the employee.

Bishop declined to confirm rumors the thrift could change ownership April 3. RTC marketing efforts operate under a rule of secrecy until a thrift actually changes ownership.

When asked about one specific rumour that Barnett Bank Inc. would assume control of the bank Friday, Bishop responded "That would be an inaccurate statement." A Barnett spokesman also declined to confirm the rumour.

The RTC assumed control of the 56-year-old First Federal April 5 last year after the thrift posted assets of $192.7 million and liabilities of $198.9 million. By the latest reporting period ending Sept. 30, 1991, First Federal had $128.6 million in assets and had lost $4.7 million during the third quarter of 1991, according to Bauer

Lake Mary again weighs site review

By NICK PFENFAUP
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary City Commission will again consider a recommendation to simplify and shorten site plan review procedures. The proposal was made by the Business Advisory Board, in an attempt to reduce the time required for such approvals.

When it was brought up for first reading during the March 19th meeting, the City Commission tabled it, asking for a number of changes and corrections.

The ordinance, number 598, was part of a two pronged suggestion, along with ordinance 597. The latter was approved on First Reading, and called for changes in the due public notice requirements for Planning and Zoning Board reviews of zoning variance requests.

The second ordinance however, dealt with the site plan review procedures. It called for the elimination of City Commission reviews of subdivision and site plans that do not require variances.

During discussion of the ordinance at the March 19th meeting, Commissioner Paul Tremel questioned whether it was giving the Planning and Zoning Board the authority of granting final approval.

At that time, City Planner Matt West wrote in a memorandum, "Staff has drafted the attached ordinance to eliminate City Commission review of subdivisions and site plans that do not require variances."

Commissioner George Duryea suggested, "I think we ought to throw ordinance 598 completely out and come back with something better." He suggested the recommendations outlined in the ordinance regarding the P&Z Commission be replaced by recommendations from the City Commission.

When the Commission finally voted on the two ordinances, they approved number 597 on first reading, but tabled 598. Both votes were unanimous.

For this week's Commission meeting, West has submitted another memorandum. This time he writes, "Staff has revised a draft ordinance to eliminate Planning & Zoning Board review of

Longwood hears the sheriff

By NICK PFENFAUP

LONGWOOD — Longwood continues to consider turning the city's law enforcement over to the Seminole County Sheriff's department. Sheriff Don Ealinger discussed the matter last night with the city's Cost Analysis Task Force.

The meeting was to receive more input on a proposal originally advanced by City Commissioner Paul Loverstrand, that the city could save money if it disbanded its police force and turned law enforcement over to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

Mayor Adrienne Perry said she expects the proposal may come up on a referendum. "I don't know if the citizens will support this or not," she said, "but this is a very emotional issue as it involves protection against crime, many people, and a great deal of money."

Perry added, "I don't know if

This is a very emotional issue as it involves protection against crime, many people, and a great deal of money.

-Mayor Adrienne Perry

Sheriff Ealinger is for it or against it, he just responded to our questions and told us if we decided in favor of it, he would do whatever would be required to provide us with proper law enforcement."

During the meeting, Ealinger responded to pre-written questions regarding various aspects of the consolidation. He explained some sample cost figures he had obtained regarding a consolidation. "I understand Longwood pays about $847,000 a year for its Police force right now," he said, "and using the Sheriff's Department at the same level would be $812,000." He added, "That saving doesn't seem like very much."

His statistics indicated it would cost Longwood a total of $57,455 for the first year, for just one deputy. The amount would include personal services such as salary, operating expenses and the cost of a vehicle and equipment.

Ealinger's figures also showed it would cost $50,880 for a Sheriff's Department Sergeant.

Longwood, at the present time, has 39 persons employed in the police force.

The question was also proposed regarding the Sheriff's office taking over use of the present Longwood Police station, for which the City still owes over $800,000. Ealinger responded, "That would be something that would have to be approved by the County Com-

Local schools study court's newest ruling

From Staff and Wire Reports

SANFORD — A U.S. Supreme Court ruling Tuesday on court supervision of school desegregation will have no immediate effect on Seminole County, school board attorney Ned Julian said this morning.

"Nothing is going to happen automatically," said Julian. "I have to get a copy of the decision and read it and then I can make a recommendation to the board."

The Supreme Court has decided to give to federal judges — most of whom have been appointed by two conservative Republican presidents — the power to decide whether a school district can be freed

Drivers crowd license offices

Truckers and bus drivers jammed drivers' license offices across Florida on Tuesday, the day before they were required to have new commercial licenses or face being pulled off the road.

While state highway department administrators say they've worked to publicize the new license requirement — and today's deadline — nearly 30,000 commercial drivers waited until the last minute to get theirs.

Some 4.5 million commercial vehicle operators across the United States, about 235,000 of them in Florida, must get the new license designed to weed out bad commercial drivers.

The new licenses have been available for the past year. At the Winter Park office, people were turned away because of the turnout.

Hulk in heave-ho over historic house

BELLEAIR — Preservationists have lost their fight to save a stately, historic mansion bought by the wife of wreather Hulk Hogan.

The Casa de Solana was so structurally unsound it could not be renovated, Linda Bollea said. She and Hogan plan a new home on the 2.3-acre waterfront site in the St. Petersburg area.

Records show she paid $2 million for the property.

The mansion was built in 1931 for the son of former U.S. Vice President Garret A. Hobart, who served under William McKinley.

Hospitals give $87,143 in refunds

TALLAHASSEE — Hospital patients who complained about their bills to a state board received $87,143 in refunds last year. The average refund was about $484, approximately 5 percent of the average bill.

Hospitals billed patients an estimated $20 billion last year. And the Health Care Cost Containment Board received 1,085 complaints last year, a 12 percent increase over 1990.

Three-quarters of the complaints were filed by patients who thought they were being charged too much.

In the eight years since the refund program has been in effect, the board has received 4,100 complaints and got hospitals to reduce bills by $448,863.

Wuornos: 'I killed three more men'

OCALA — A prostitute already on death row pleaded no contest to killing three other men and told a judge she wanted a speedy trip to Florida's electric chair so she can "go to God."

In a surprise move Tuesday, Aileen Wuornos entered her plea to first-degree murder charges in the shooting deaths after Circuit Judge Thomas E. Sawaya approved her request for a new attorney. Pleading no contest is not an admission of guilt.

"God has forgiven me my prostitution as well as forgiven me of all these killings which because of my hustling I could not avoid," said Wuornos, who describes herself as a born-again Christian, as she read from a 12-page statement.

Florida, Brazil vie for Japan's OJ market

ORLANDO — Florida's citrus industry is wasting no time in going after the world's largest untapped market now that Japan has dropped its longstanding import barriers to orange juice.

A Florida delegation is in Tokyo for the start of a promotional campaign to convince the Japanese of the "superior taste, quality and health value" of pure Florida juice.

Rigid Japanese import quotas, which frustrated Florida growers and processors for decades, expired today under a 1988 American-Japanese trade agreement. Also dropped was a requirement that all outside OJ be blended with Japanese-grown oranges.

The key to Florida's push to make Japan its No. 1 overseas market is quality, says Executive Director Dan Gunter of the Florida Department of Citrus. Florida's product is 100 percent pure juice.

The competition with Brazil is formidable for what is expected to become an orange juice market of about 280 million gallons — worth more than $1 billion — by the end of the decade.

Low birthweight doesn't affect success

GAINESVILLE — A study of 1,100 youngsters found the primary predictor of their success in school was family income, and low birthweight had no significant effect on educational performance.

Nearly 95 percent of babies treated with neonatal intensive care have the same educational outcomes during their elementary and middle school years as newborn nursery "graduates," according to the study reported in the March issue of Pediatrics.

The three-year study compared 457 neonatal intensive care unit graduates who were treated in Shands Hospital at the University of Florida in 1975-83 with 656 of the hospital's newborn nursery graduates born during the same period.

Noriega called drug midwife

By RICHARD COLE
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — Manuel Noriega not only served Colombian cocaine lords, he acted as a secret midwife to the creation of the Medellin cartel, prosecutors charged in their closing argument at his drug and racketeering trial.

In 1980, when a sister of the drug-smuggling Ochoa family was kidnapped by leftist Colombian guerrillas, both sides went to Noriega — then head of Panamanian intelligence — to negotiate her release.

Out of a series of meetings in Colombia and Panama, the Medellin cartel was formed, and Noriega became its Panamanian protector, prosecutor Mylea Malman told the jurors.

"This is the birth of the Medellin cartel and Manuel Noriega is there with the cartel leaders," the prosecutor said.

Malman was scheduled to finish his argument this morning, to be followed immediately by the defense. The government then gets a final rebuttal, and the 6-month-old trial should go the jury Thursday or Friday.

If convicted of all 10 drug and racketeering charges, Noriega could be sentenced to 160 years in prison. He surrendered to U.S. troops after the December 1989 invasion of Panama.

His defense has focused on his cooperation with U.S. law enforcement in fighting drug trafficking. His lawyers also have attacked the credibility of the cocaine dealers who took the stand to accuse Noriega.

Much of the prosecution's closing on Wednesday was a pre-emptive strike against that approach.

"These are not subhuman scum," he said of prosecution witnesses.

The only way to break a conspiracy was to get the small fish to testify against the big fish, and that was done by inducements, he said.

"That's the way the system works. I think everyone has received an education about plea bargains," he said.

Observers from around the world crowded the courtroom, including some with an intensely personal interest in the case.

Sailing as well as power boating is popular on Lake Monroe.

Safe-boating course beginning tomorrow

SANFORD — Safe Boating classes will get underway tomorrow. The course runs for six weeks.

The class is being conducted by the Seminole County Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, and will be held at the Hidden Harbour Marina, 4370 Caraway St., in Sanford.

The courses, led by a number of approved instructors, will cover boating skills and safety, and include on-the-water demonstration and practice.

The class size is limited to 30 persons, but according to Flotilla Commander Cliff Zimmer, "We have about 15 persons signed up so far, so we still have room for more, but many sign up during the last day." Zimmer added, "We can still take reservations up to the beginning of the class."

Byron Rambo, public affairs officer with the Flotilla said the course is required for some persons who may have been charged with boating under the influence of alcohol. "Others," he added, "take the course because completion of it will reduce the cost of some boating insurance."

Cousteau says teach tourists

Associated Press

ISLAMORADA — Environmentalist Jean-Michel Cousteau believes tourists should be taught about fragile natural wonders such as Florida's coral reef before being allowed to play around them.

"People ought to be encouraged to understand the reef's culture, its fragility," he said. "Don't allow them here without a manual of conduct. People are not essentially bad, they're good."

Cost of the six week, 13 session classes is $25 which includes books and other materials.

Classes will be held on Monday and Thursday nights, beginning at 7 p.m. For further information or registration, contact Zimmer at 366-7557.

Lobby-financed jaunts detailed

From staff and wire reports

TALLAHASSEE — Lobbyists for some of Florida's most powerful special interests paid to fly lawmakers free of charge to France, Mexico, the Florida Keys and the Bahamas, investigative files show.

Statements and expense reports from 32 lobbyists for industries such as insurance, utilities, agriculture and pharmaceuticals show how influential legislators expected lobbyists to pay for parties, hunting trips, beer, dinners, golf outings and personal travel on corporate planes.

Leon County State Attorney Willie Meggs released receipts, depositions and other evidence Monday that had been used to charge 24 lawmakers last year with failing to report the free trips.

"We all tried to pick people or select people who would be helpful to us in representing our clients," lobbyist Jim Tillman, a former legislator representing pharmaceuticals and utilities, told investigators.

The current and former legislators charged last year with failing to report lobbyist-funded trips pleaded no contest and agreed to pay fines and court costs. One, Senate Appropriations Chairman Bud Gardner, D-Titusville, pleaded no contest but is appealing the charges.

It wasn't illegal for them to accept the gifts and trips, they just had to report those worth more than $100.

The Legislature has tightened the law, barring acceptance of anything worth more than $100 from lobbyists, or those who employ them.

According to published reports, Gardner was among 10 lawmakers who attended a $22,000 weekend in Key Largo in the Florida Keys financed by 11 lobbyists.

On another Key Largo trip, Gardner's wife Jerol Gardner used an agricultural lobbyist's credit card to buy nearly $400 in clothing. Gardner said he later re-paid $374. Jerol Gardner used another lobbyist's credit card in 1989 to buy a gift for the lobbyist's wife, according to reports.

Chiles stalls redistricting for bills on reorganization

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Until the Legislature passes a government reform bill he seeks, Gov. Lawton Chiles said he won't allow lawmakers to meet this week in special session to draw their own district boundaries.

"Upon completion of that business, it would be my intention to make a call for apportionment," Chiles said Tuesday.

Chiles is demanding the Legislature consider his proposed merger of two government housekeeping agencies today before calling that session. His statement drew the ire of Republicans who accused the Democratic governor of holding the redistricting issue hostage.

"So he's trying to blackmail the Legislature," said Sen. John Grant, R-Tampa. "The governor is trying to run the Senate right now. He's trying to put us in a hot box."

Chiles had agreed Tuesday morning to move up the session on legislative redistricting from April 8 to Wednesday if lawmakers committed to passing several bills first, including merger of the departments of Administration and General Services. The Senate decided instead to put off consideration of that measure on a 20-19 vote and then adjourned.

That didn't set well with Chiles, who decided to summon them back this afternoon to try again. If lawmakers do vote on the bill, the governor said he might agree to allow the legislative redistricting session to begin today or Thursday.

Only Chiles has the constitutional authority to call a special session on drawing new boundaries for the 160 legislative districts. No other bills can be considered in such a session.

Lawmakers are worried they won't have enough time to draw their own lines because a panel of three federal judges has taken control of redistricting. The court has set a May 29 deadline for final action.

Shuttle sonic boom tomorrow

From Staff and Wire Reports

Seminole County residents should expect a possibly-rude awakening just before 6:30 tomorrow morning.

Those who are still nestled snugly in bed at 6:24 a.m. should expect to be able to hear the sonic boom as the shuttle roars to its landing site at the Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral.

"It won't blow them out of bed," Lisa Fowler, a public affairs assistant at KSC said today, "but it'll probably wake them up."

Fowler said that the sonic boom will occur directly over the Titusville-Merritt Island area, but that it will be heard very clearly in Seminole County.

Fowler said the shuttle will move across the state from just north of the Tampa Bay Area toward Orlando and then turn due east for its final approach.

Atlantis' astronauts today used a bonus day to gather more data on the atmosphere, photographing Earth's lustrous halo and measuring the fragile ozone layer.

The shuttle originally was scheduled to land today. But NASA on Sunday extended the mission to Thursday to allow more experiments.

"It looks like it's going to be a great extra day. It's going to just be a wonderful finish for the mission," mission manager Marsha Torr told the crew of seven.

The nine-day mission is the first shuttle flight devoted to studying the atmosphere.

Today, the astronauts took measurements of the ozone layer, the shield against harmful ultraviolet rays that is being destroyed by manmade chemicals.

Downtown group seeks aid from improvement board

By INCK PFEPAUF
 Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Scenic Improvement Board will hold its monthly meeting this afternoon. Requests from St. Lucia Festival and the Sanford Historic Downtown Waterfront Association are to be considered.

Kay Bartholomew, of the St. Lucia Festival, who is also a member of SHDWA, is suggested the Board consider some new approaches into the downtown business district.

"We would like them to beautify the access streets leading into the downtown core area," she said. "That would help a great deal in making the overall downtown area much more appealing to visitors as well as residents."

A similar move to improve the approach into downtown Sanford, Bartholomew would like the SIB, and eventually the City of Sanford to consider a walkway from the Monroe Harbour Marina parking lot into the downtown area. "There are some sidewalks already," she said, "but what we are envisioning here is possibly a specifically dedicated sidewalk, maybe covered in brick, that would have signs identifying the areas being passed by persons walking in the area."

On behalf of SHDWA, Bartholomew said, "We also want to invite members of the Scenic Improvement Board to come meet with us during our monthly meetings, and allow us to know more about the board, as well as them know more about us."

Bartholomew added, "We have already had Mayor Bettye Smith and City Manager Bill

Simmons talk to us, and we would like to have more people involved in the city and its government meet with us."

Other items on the agenda for today's SIB meeting include a report on some of the Board's future projects for fiscal year 1992-93, a presentation on Tree City, U.S.A., and information on the SIB's Adopt-a-Road project.

The meeting will begin at 4 p.m., in the City Commission Conference Room, on the first floor of the Sanford City Hall. The meeting is open to the public.

Drug summit

Although no major new initiatives were announced at the drug summit in San Antonio, President Bush and his Latin American counterparts agreed to try harder to stem the flood of illegal drugs throughout the hemisphere. Yet, as long as the demand remains strong in the United States, there is little hope of cutting off the supply.

Since the leaders last met in Cartagena, Colombia, two years ago, there has been a 16 percent increase in cocaine production worldwide. And despite a 700 percent increase in federal spending for drug interdiction in recent years, crack cocaine is still plentiful on street corners in most American cities.

Casual drug use has declined among American teen-agers and upscale adults. But there has been no corresponding dip among hard-core users. To the contrary, the government's Drug Abuse Warning Network showed a 30 percent increase in cocaine-related and heroin-related visits to hospital emergency rooms in 1991. Many drug experts consider this a reliable gauge of the prevalence of illegal narcotics in the United States.

During a two-month span late last year, U.S. Border Patrol agents in San Diego seized 2,724 pounds of cocaine. That amount was greater than any full year on record. Yet the agents readily concede they never will be able to plug the drug pipeline entirely.

This reality illustrates that the campaign against drugs cannot be contained by interdiction alone. Rather, the most effective way to combat drugs is on the demand side. And the best place to begin is in the elementary classroom, as San Diego has discovered.

Youths are especially vulnerable to the lure of drugs because of peer pressure. But anecdotal evidence suggests early intervention can make a crucial difference.

The San Diego Unified School District, in conjunction with the San Diego Police Department, is helping kids avoid the drug trap. DARE, a special program for all fifth and sixth graders, consists of uniformed officers conducting 17 one-hour classroom sessions. The officers detail the many dangers of taking drugs and suggest ways to counter peer pressure. The evidence thus far shows the kids are listening.

Persuading young people to spurn drugs may not be as dramatic as mounting paramilitary operations against drug smugglers in the Andes. But experience has shown it to be one of the most effective ways to allocate this country's limited resources in the long struggle against drugs.

Slows illegal immigration

The desperate dash of undocumented migrants from Mexico into the United States is taking a frightening course — through border gates and across busy highways to avoid capture by immigration agents. These human waves should force both governments to face the problems that create the freeway carnage.

Consider what happens at one border point. At any time, on any day, motorists driving into Tijuana suddenly find themselves facing tens or even scores of people running at them through the gates and overwhelming customs agents.

Now the U.S. Justice Department will use surplus equipment — lights, sensors and military vehicles — from the Persian Gulf War to reinforce its efforts to stop illegal immigration. But that help will have little impact as long as the weak economies of Mexico and Central America provide such powerful incentives to flee north. With hunger on one side of the border and hope on the other, people will risk their lives to reach American soil.

A U.S.-Mexico free-trade agreement would ease the migration problem. But even with an agreement, Mexican wages and employment rates will take years to rise enough to compete with U.S. levels.

Defense Department equipment also may help, but it's unlikely to stop the immigrant flight. The U.S. Border Patrol and the Immigration and Naturalization Service have been underfunded for decades. That needs to change.

Federal sanctions against employers who hire illegal immigrants have been ineffective. The practical way to enforce employer sanctions is to establish forgery-proof immigration documents, which Congress has refused to approve. That needs to change, too.

Changes needed in Mexico also are obvious. The Mexican government's hands-off policy toward illegal immigration is based on constitutional guarantees to citizens for freedom of movement.

But better control on the Mexican side of the border should not be unconstitutional.

This bad system works quite well

As the election pageant unfolds now in New York, a confession should be made. One group of Americans was near-unanimous in its private glee at Jerry Brown's upset victory over Bill Clinton in Connecticut: the commentators. For us, Brown kept the wonderful game alive, probably until the summer conventions, when other writable-aboutable things will start happening.

It's also good for normal Americans. Say what you will about this election, but do admit that 1) we've rarely had more choices, 2) we've never heard a broader array of ideas, and 3) it's never been more fun.

Has there been a spot on the political spectrum that has gone unrepresented? Just consider the folks who have stormed onto our television sets: Bush, Duke, Buchanan, Clinton, Tsongas, Brown, Kerrey and Harkin — so far. Whatever your politics, you should have been able to find something to like. And if not, just wait. Ross Perot will soon spend $100 million of his own money to convince us that he is the candidate of the common man.

Already, we've heard about isolationism and internationalism, about government Santa Claus profligacy (from a liberal Democrat!), about welfare irresponsibility (also from a Democrat!), about quotas, pornography and free speech.

American pluralism and health insurance. Now, in New York, we're hearing more about what Clinton derides as "Jerry's Tax," which Clinton says is one more rip-off for the rich.

Would gentle Jerry Brown do that? Jerry's tax is actually an old and important idea that makes much theoretical sense, even if it must be jiggled with to make it add up. It's actually two taxes: a "Value Added Tax" (VAT), which, although Jerry denies it, is a not-so-hidden national sales tax, and a flat-rate income tax.

The VAT makes sense precisely because it is a sales tax. It thereby captures new tax revenues from those nasty Americans who don't pay their income taxes. This "underground economy" is large and growing. A VAT forces people who don't pay their income tax (like, say, drug dealers) to pay the not-so-hidden VAT every time they spend money (on, say, gold chains). Which means, ultimately, that thee and me won't have to pay as much tax.

The flat tax could dis-employ lots of lawyers and accountants. Tak. Down with the 4,000 pages of the tax code! Down with complexity! Down with special tax breaks! Shake up the government! (Readers: I am really a radical.)

If Jerry's version of the Flat-Vat really harms the poor and middle class, as Clinton says, that doesn't mean it can't be reconfigured to do away with regressivity. For example, the first $15,000 of family income can be exempted.

Brown's tough views about campaign spending also make some sense. But he has some bad, bad ideas: His proposed 50 percent defense cut is sufficiently stupid to remind us why "Moon-beam" stuck.

Moreover, this season, perhaps because Congress is in bad odor, some members have been speaking powerful truths:

Sen. John Danforth says: "We have told Americans that they should feel sorry for themselves. We have told them we can give them something for nothing. ... We have defrauded the country to get ourselves elected."

Flat tax could dis-employ lawyers, accountants.

Most frequent kiter speaks out

WASHINGTON — When Rep. Robert Mrazek, D-N.Y., came to Washington 10 years ago, he decorated his new office to pay homage to the man he most admires, the man he even resembles — Honest Abe Lincoln. Mrazek made a long list of Lincoln's failures, just to remind himself that a man can make mistakes and still achieve greatness.

Now Mrazek has his own list — the 972 bad checks the House Ethics Committee says he drew on the House Bank, including one to buy an island in the Bahamas.

It won't be easy to achieve greatness while being the most frequent check kiter in the rubbergate scandal. It won't even be easy to win the Senate seat he has been coveting for the past year. But Mrazek turns to Lincoln for solace. He thinks of Balls Bluff, the Civil War battle where Lincoln's close friend, Gen. Edward Baker, was killed on his white horse. The retreating Union troops plunged into the Potomac River to get away from the Confederate army and most of them drowned. Gen. Baker's body was brought back to the White House and laid out in the East Room where Lincoln wept over the open coffin.

"It was one of the stupidest battles of the Civil War because the Union forces paid such a high price for a battle that meant nothing," Mrazek told our associate Ed Henry. Mrazek is riding high on his white horse, fighting a battle that, in the eyes of those who wrote the bad checks, means nothing. The bank rules said they could write checks up to the amount of their next paycheck, and so they did. Members of Congress have been doing it for 140 years, Mrazek said. "When Abraham Lincoln was in Congress, this policy existed."

He is confident America won't steam for long over this one. "This is not an issue like the S&L scandal where people lost their life savings," he said. "I think this issue will have a short half-life in terms of its radioactivity. This was a case where Congress had one too many privileges at a time when people are hurting."

Real-estate deals are Mrazek's hobby, so he tends to write a lot of checks — 2,700 of them during the 39 months the Ethics Committee counted. One of them was for $32,000 to make a payment on a tiny island in the Bahamas that he and some of his colleagues bought as an investment — a bad investment as it turned out.

Mrazek admits that using the House Bank as his primary checking account was a bad idea, given the volume of checks he writes. But to prove that his deals are clean, he has made public his income tax returns for the past 15 years. And, he contends that only about 800 of the checks were overdrafts, and only three exceeded the amount of his next paycheck.

If the Ethics Committee's numbers are correct, nearly one-third of the checks Mrazek wrote exceeded the amount he had in his account at the time they were written. One-third will be Mrazek's unlucky number in this election. Coincidentally, he was absent for about one-third of the votes taken in the House last year — the third worst record in the chamber that averaged a 95 percent voting record.

His constituents have longed for Mrazek to be as attentive to the daily business of the House as he has been to global issues. He is proudest of three achievements — legislation to protect the Tongas National Forest in Alaska, a law to ease immigration of Amer-Asians to America and his 1988 amendment banning aid to the Nicaraguan contra within 20 miles of Nicaragua.

He has made public his income tax returns.

White House chokes on rule

BOSTON — There is a touch of pleasure in watching the Bush people gag on their very own gag rule. The rule that was designed to cut off free speech about abortion is now making it harder for the Republicans to clear their throats. Somebody out there better perform a political Heimlich maneuver on the Party.

This gag rule was devised to prevent anyone who worked in one of the 4,000 federally financed family-planning clinics from using the "A" word. Doctors, nurses and counselors, who were already prohibited from performing abortions with federal money, were now forbidden from speaking about abortion.

Anyone on the government payroll had to deliver the party line. If a patient asked about abortion, the clinic worker had to take out the little government crib sheet and read. "The project does not consider abortion an appropriate method of family planning." The End.

The government was not only in the bedroom; it was in the examining room. And the precensored and litmus-tested Supreme Court upheld its right to be there. Yes, the court said last May, medical people who work for the government may be required to speak for the government rather than for themselves.

Well, it wasn't just card-carrying members of the pro-choice camp who found this outrageous. The Congress voted to override the gag rule. But the president vetoed their override. We were back to square one. Or gag one. Or Gag Rule Two.

Gag Rule Two is the "clarification" released last Friday and modified and explained every day since. It is, in fact, a model of de-clarification.

At first hearing, it seemed to imply that doctors were exempted from the ban. Free speech would be allotted by degrees: an M.D. would get it, an R.N. wouldn't. This was elitist, sexist and cynical — little of the counseling after all is done by doctors — but it would allow a few words to escape from around the edges of the gag.

No sooner was this announced, however, than it was denied. The president's position "has not changed" said his spokesperson. Now, no one knows for sure who can say what in a family planning clinic. The rules are a model of the muddle created out of Bush's two contradictory positions. He's on the record in favor of the gag rule and a private doctor-patient relationship. No wonder he's choking; watch out for your lap.

You don't have to be Oliver Stone to see a political conspiracy in this carefully constructed confusion. This is sort of doublespeak we're in for in '92.

What the Republicans are trying to do is figure out how to keep the abortion issue tamped down for another eight months. They have to find a way to let the semi-sleeping pro-choice majority lie.

In the Republican Party, where traditional conservatives like George Bush I are often uncomfortable with New Conservatives like George Bush II, that means talk of a "wide tent," with room for people who disagree on abortion. It means finding some space for professionals, like AMA doctors, who oppose the notion of government silencers.

In the election, it will mean more verbal stuttering toward a safe strategy that sides with the pro-life constituency while it winks at the majority worrying about the loss of abortion rights. That wink says: don't worry, nothing is really changing. You can still find a state where abortion will be legal. Your wife can still find a clinic. Until, of course, she can't.

Republican success is based on the belief that as long as the right to abortion remains, most middle-class voting Americans will overlook the limits — on poor women, rural women, and young women. There's some sense in that strategy.

Abortion was not a deciding issue in the past presidential election. But in the wake of the Clarence Thomas hearings and the advent of the upcoming Pennsylvania case that could overturn Roe, that could all change. The last thing the Bush people want is clarity.

For the women, then, we are getting a trial run on a campaign of confusion. This doublespeak says that you be in favor of privacy for a doctor and against it for a patient. That you can support the right of medical free speech except for one little word, abortion.

Do the regulations sound like Republicans talking with political marbles in their mouths? They should just try it with a gag.

It is, in fact, a model for not clearing up anything.

Bush pledges aid to Russia, republics

WASHINGTON — President Bush is pledging a multibillion-dollar aid program for Russia and other former Soviet republics after widespread criticism that the United States has moved too slowly with help, administration and congressional sources say.

Bush summoned congressional leaders to the White House today to outline the program. He was expected to declare support for an international fund to stabilize the Russian ruble. He also was expected to push Congress for a long-stalled $12.5 billion contribution to replenish loan funds for the International Monetary Fund.

Brown raises stakes for Clinton

NEW YORK — Jerry Brown is carrying his two back-to-back wins into the last week of the New York primary campaign, raising the stakes for Bill Clinton even while facing new attacks on his flat-tax proposal.

Brown's win in Vermont Tuesday night — on the heels of his Connecticut win the week before — make next week's contests even more important for Clinton. While trailing more than 6-to-1 in delegates, Brown could damage, if not derail, Clinton with a string of wins in late primaries.

New York, Kansas and Wisconsin all vote next Tuesday; Puerto Rico on Sunday.

Because of Brown's stiff challenge, Clinton has repeatedly attacked his rival's tax plan and begun a series of debates with the former California governor.

Perks investigated government-wide

WASHINGTON — A fleet of sedans stands ready to chauffeur White House aides around town, a travel office handles their vacation tickets and an on-site medical clinic provides them free diagnoses and drugs.

These are just some of the perquisites that President Bush and his staff enjoy — and Congress is trying to make sure the public knows.

To that end, Congress, which itself is under fire for its own freebies, is investigating perks government-wide, especially in the executive branch. But when a House subcommittee held a hearing on the subject Tuesday, the White House refused to send anyone to testify.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., complaining that some 1,380 aircraft are at the disposal of executive branch employees, in addition to free medical care and other perks, said, "I can't see any reason the White House would want to give for not cooperating" with the congressional inquiry.

Post office deemed 'financial mess'

WASHINGTON — Investigators who conducted a lightning-quick audit of the House Post Office told congressional staffers the facility was a financial mess.

Public and employee personal funds were mixed together, window clerks lacked skills to sell stamps, and an unlocked vault was stacked with $100 money orders, according to preliminary findings of the General Accounting Office disclosed Tuesday to The Associated Press.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said last week's surprise audit by the congressional investigative agency will enable the new House postmaster, Michael J. Shinay, to begin work with "a clear and timely sense of the financial operations of the post office."

Chiles nominates St. Johns to National Estuary Program

Associated Press

Gov. Lawton Chiles has nominated a 100-mile stretch of the lower St. Johns River for the National Estuary Program, which could provide millions of dollars in federal cleanup funds for the polluted waterway.

"The St. Johns is a truly unique and irreplaceable economic resource," Chiles said. "It is our responsibility and obligation to do all within our power to protect and restore the river."

Only a governor can nominate a river for the program. This is the first river Chiles has nominated since taking office last year.

The nomination was made Tuesday to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, which plans to add up to three rivers to the national program this fall.

Inclusion would provide up to $2 million a year in federal funds over three to five years.

The portion of the river nominated is from the Oklawaha River south of Palatka to the river's mouth at Mayport. The area includes 2,777 square miles in Duval, Clay, St. Johns, Putnam, Flagler and Volusia counties.

Chiles told the EPA that the St. Johns is "unquestionably being adversely impacted" by development. He said the public is concerned over diseased fish, the closing of shellfish areas and the decline in sportfishing.

To qualify for the program, a waterway must be of national significance and must have problems that need attention and can likely be resolved.

Of the 17 waterways in the National Estuary Program, three are in Florida. They are Tampa Bay, Sarasota Bay and the Indian River Lagoon.

Ruling

its obligation to integrate.

"It's hard to tell" the impact, said Janell Byrd, assistant counsel for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund. "There's some backsliding, some undermining" of previous commitments to integration. "But the law is still there and we will continue to try to enforce it."

Turner Clayton, chairman of the Seminole County chapter of the NAACP said that he has not had the opportunity to review the decision so he declined to comment on it.

The court voted 8-0 on Tuesday to permit an end to federal court supervision over student enrollment in DeKalb County, Ga., even though schools there never have been fully integrated.

The decision, Julian said, applies only to the "processes and tests that are applied by the courts" to determine whether or not a district can request an end to supervision.

He added that Seminole County is only under "technical supervision" and that the federal courts are not running the school district as they are in DeKalb County.

Julian said the decision of the Supreme Court applies only to the district involved in the litigation.

He said that he has requested that a copy of the decision be express mailed to him and said that he will have a recommendation to the school board by the beginning of the week.

"Federal courts have the authority to relinquish supervision and control of school districts in incremental stages, before full compliance has been achieved in every area of school operations," said Justice Anthony M. Kennedy.

A five-member court majority also emphasized it generally is not unlawful for blacks and whites to attend different schools if they live in different neighborhoods.

The ruling "gives each local district judge tremendous power to decide whatever he wants to," said Gary Orfield, a desegregation specialist at Harvard University. "It makes his judgment about the good faith of a school district incredibly important."

"The important thing is who the district judges are," added Orfield.

Like a majority of the justices, a large percentage of federal judges are conservatives appointed by either President Bush or President Reagan. Conservatives tend not to support desegregation orders, particularly those involving busing.

Reagan pushed for a return to neighborhood schools in areas that had court-ordered busing plans in effect. Bush has continued that effort.

Tuesday's decision reversed an 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that said a school system achieves full integration if it maintains at least three years of racial equality in six categories: student assignment, faculty, staff, transportation, extracurricular activities and facilities.

Kennedy said federal judges should consider whether there has been full and satisfactory compliance by school officials in those aspects over which supervision is to end and whether continued court control over all aspects is needed to achieve compliance in other areas.

Kennedy added that judges should give "particular attention to the school system's record of compliance."

"Legions of people, including a lot of educators, have been eyeing the new court to see which direction the judicial wind is blowing and this may be an indication," said Gary Marx, spokesman for the American Association of School Administrators.

Christopher Hansen, the American Civil Liberties Union lawyer who represented black parents in DeKalb County, predicted the ruling would cause "an explosion of litigation, and given its lack of clarity who knows how that's going to turn out." He said many school districts now will seek to end court supervision over some aspects of their desegregation efforts.

"It seems the court's majority is growing weary of its commitment to racial justice. It is not prepared to abandon that commitment, but it is clearly frustrated," Hansen said.

Gwen Gregory, assistant counsel for the National School Boards Association, said the ruling lets school districts "off the hook in some areas, even if they are still noncompliant in other areas." But she predicted few will be tempted to go to court.

Rex Lee, a former U.S. solicitor general and president of Brigham Young University, said the decision may give DeKalb County school officials "greater discretion and latitude in their efforts to bring about desegregation while at the same time maximizing quality education."

Lee said the decision "will free resources to devote to the quality of education, instead of expensive devices such as busing" or "complying with judicial decrees."

Bank

Financial Reports Inc.

Although the Florida Banker's Association Inc. reports the total number of long-term deposits at First Federal declined 12.5 percent between the quarter ending March 31, 1991 and Sept. 30, 1991, short-term accounts declined dramatically.

Between the first and third quarters of 1991, passbook savings and other easily-accessible deposits declined from $3 million to $213,000, a 93 percent plummet.

RTC spokesman Andrea Plater refused to confirm if a changeover would occur this weekend. Plater said a statement would be released the day the change occurs.

Barnett communications manager Robert Strickler said he could not discuss Barnett's interest in First Federal, but did say no Barnett transactions regarding First Federal have been completed.

When told of the recent notices, Strickler responded

"That's not something we're involved in."

Barnett Bank Inc., based in Jacksonville, was the largest bank in Florida in terms of deposits in Sept. 30, 1991, the FBA reports. Barnett, which has 551 offices in Florida had $27.3 billion in deposits by the third quarter last year. Barnett has 10 offices in Seminole County.

Another potential bidder is the California-based Great Western. The bank has seven branches in Seminole County and was ranked fifth statewide with $6.7 billion in deposits. The county's Great Western branches were acquired through purchases of local offices of SunTrust in 1990 and Pioneer in 1991.

Great Western spokesman Kevin Hawkins said Great Western is interested in expanding in Florida, but declined to say whether First Federal is a target.

"We have seven branches in Seminole County, 19 in Orange County and nine in Brevard," said Hawkins. "We're pretty well branch-structured in central Florida."

mission, and I don't know if they would consider that, seeing as how we presently have a substation in Longwood."

Although a number of questions asked the total cost of supplying law enforcement to Longwood, Eslinger could not respond. "It would be up to the City of Longwood to make that determination," he said. "If you decide you would want four officers per shift, that's what you'll have."

Eslinger told the gathering, "Whatever agreement we may make with Longwood, can't be allowed to effect the other people we serve in Seminole County, and we can't expect them to pay any of their tax dollars for it."

The fate of the present Longwood Police was also discussed. "If this is approved," Eslinger said, "we would start taking applications from them immediately to see if they satisfy the requirements of the Civic Service Board rules." He added, "If the Board is satisfied, they would be subject to hire."

The Sheriff stressed however, "There would be no guarantee that these people would remain working in the Longwood area. Deputies are to be made available for all of Seminole County." He added, "Of course the officers would be allowed to request certain duty, the same as all other deputies."

Police Chief Manning observed, "I think this would have an impact on the city if we have deputies here who are not familiar with our area and the people."

It might even delay response time in some cases, if they weren't familiar with a certain area."

The ten member task force is led by Joe Divvies who serves as chairman, and Chris Mylett, co-chairman. Members include Steve Harrelson, Marinda Maleborski and Lisa Stak.

Rounding out the group are the members of the Longwood City Commission, Mayor Adrienne Perry, Vice Mayor Rex Anderson, and Commissioners Clanci Keith, Fred Pearl and Paul Lovestand.

Additional meetings are tentatively scheduled for April 14 and 28, May 12 and 26, and June 9.

The April 14 meeting is planned for a discussion of the City's Administrative Department.

AROUND THE NATION

DeBerg a Buc, again

TAMPA — Steve DeBerg says he knows only one way to approach his role as an aging backup quarterback with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"I'll get in the best shape I can, then let things fall where they may," the 38-year-old Plan B free agent said Tuesday after signing a two-year contract to work with and behind Vinny Testaverde, the Bucs' underachieving starter.

DeBerg returns to the Bucs four years after leaving the team because he wasn't ready to accept a backup role to Testaverde.

Cavs blast Heat

RICHFIELD, Ohio — The Cleveland Cavaliers, picking up where they left off against Miami in December, beat the Heat 123-114 behind Brad Daugherty's 23 points and 14 rebounds.

Cleveland ended Miami's team-record four-game winning streak while winning for the 10th straight time at home. The Heat is 0-7 at Cleveland, including an NBA-record 68-point drubbing in its last visit in December.

Miami never made a game of it in the second half, despite 30 points from Glen Rice in the game. Rice sank six of his eight 3-point attempts, and the Heat made 10 3-pointers, a record for a Cleveland opponent. Kevin Edwards scored 17 points and Grant Long 16.

Daugherty was 8-for-11 from the field, and Mark Price had 21 points — 12 of them on 3-pointers — and 12 assists for Cleveland. Larry Nance scored 20 points.

Canes hammer Bulls

TAMPA — Miami (25-5) scored six unearned runs in the third inning to defeat South Florida (16-17), 15-3, Tuesday at Red McEwen Field.

Charles Johnson and Johnathan Smith, with two RBIs apiece, had three hits each and Kevin DiGirolamo added a career-high four RBI in Miami's 17-hit attack.

Jeff Alkire (6-2) scattered five hits over six innings for the win. Dean Crow shut down the Bulls over the final three frames.

Wade Norris cracked his 12th homer of the season and Darren Stumberger's two hits and two RBIs accounted for South Florida's scoring.

Noles upset

TALLAHASSEE — Greg McKinney hit a two-out double in the top of the ninth and scored on Jim Callihan's single as Mercer University upset Florida State 4-3.

Florida State (25-9) took a three-run lead with a run in the second and a pair in the third. The Bears (17-9) countered with two runs in the fourth. Mercer tied the game in the sixth on Terrell Mitchell's infield single.

LAKE MARY — Maybe now people will quit asking Christy Tibbitts if her team is for real.

On Tuesday afternoon, Tibbitts' Lyman High School slowpitch softball team went over to Lake Mary High School and left with a 4-2 victory over the Rams and sole possession of first place in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

The Greyhounds improved to 11-3 with the win, 6-1 in the SAC. Lake Mary, which entered the game in a first-place tie with Lyman, falls to 11-6, 5-2 in the conference.

"The girls kind of ignore all that," said Tibbitts, referring to the Greyhounds' history previous to last year as a conference doormat in softball. "That's in the past. They're starting a new thing. This is their's. That's what's good about this team, what holds them together."

"They're surprising a lot of people. They go out and play good, solid softball. That's all I can ask of them."

The two teams sprinted through the first four innings in less than 20 minutes before Lyman sent 10 batters to the plate during a four-run rally in the top of the fifth inning.

Carrie Scranton drew a walk to open the inning. After Jennifer Forston singled, Jamie Beland hit into a fielder's choice that moved Scranton to third and erased Forston. Andrea Godias then singled to deliver Scranton with the game's first run.

Oviedo withstands Seminole charge

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — Seminole High School's varsity softball team ran into a defensive buzzsaw Tuesday afternoon.

A day after the Tribe had scored 15 runs on 19 hits, the visiting Oviedo Lions limited the Tribe to six singles as they posted a 3-2 Seminole Athletic Conference victory at the Fort Mellon Softball Field.

"How can you score 15 runs one day and two the next?" asked Seminole head coach Greg Register. "We've got to learn to win games at the plate. We lost 3-2 today and 4-0 to Lake Mary earlier this year. Four runs is nothing in softball. But we're 11-11 and it's been a long time since we've been that good. I'm proud of the girls and happy with what we're doing."

Oviedo used a pair of errors and a single by Michelle Field in the top of the first inning, then turned the game over to the defense. The Lions turned double plays in the first and second innings, retired the side in order in the third and fifth innings, and stranded one base runner in the fourth and sixth frames.

Oviedo's other run came in the fifth inning when Melanie Schrupp reached on a two-out fielder's choice and scored on a single to left by Leigh Ann Massey. Seminole avoided further damage when Carey Dryden gunned down Massey trying to advance to second.

GAINESVILLE — Experience. It's not measurable by any of the five senses, nor can it be tabulated on any scale.

But without experience, the Seminole Community College baseball team could not have defeated conference-leading Santa Fe Community College 5-3 Tuesday on the Saints' home field.

"It (experience) helps out a lot," said Seminole head coach Jack Pantelias, whose team improved to 13-16-1, 6-9 in the Mid-Florida Conference. "Last year in that same situation, we would have folded."

In fact, during a 1991 contest at Santa Fe Community College, the freshman-dominated Raiders pulled out to an early lead over the Saints, only to collapse in the middle and late innings, losing 6-4. But Tuesday, the Raiders never lost their early advantage, thanks to solid defense and Bob Franklin's stellar pitching.

Santa Fe fell to 22-8 overall, 12-5 in M-FC action.

After giving up two runs in the seventh inning, Franklin, a freshman, settled down and retired the last seven batters in a row. He finished the game with seven

Stuckey lifts Lyman in ninth

LAKE MARY — Kevin Stuckey lead off the ninth inning with a double and scored the game-winning run when Chad Steiner's ground ball was thrown away, giving the Lyman Greyhounds a 4-3 extra-inning win over Lake Mary in Seminole Athletic Conference baseball action Tuesday night.

Lyman improves to 11-10, 9-4 in the SAC. Lake Mary falls to 9-13, 1-5 in the conference.

The Rams took a 1-0 in the fourth when Chad Ebbert reached on error and scored on Scott Johnston's double.

Lyman struck for three runs in the sixth. Chad Beland led off with a single and was pinch-run for by Dave Keasler. After moving to second on a sacrifice bunt by Will Ramirez, Keasler scored on a single by Doug Porter. Shane Odum then doubled in Porter before scoring himself on Kevin Scott's single.

Tribe makes shambles of Frosh-Soph SAC meet

By TONY BOGOSIANN

BANFORD — Generally, freshman-sophomore meets are supposed to be the junior varsity equivalent of high school track and field season. But in Seminole County, where athletic talent is scattered across all classes, the frosh-soph meets take on an entirely different complexion.

"Some of these kids will place highly in the conference meet next week," said Seminole High School boys' coach Ken Brauman on Tuesday night after the Seminole Athletic Conference freshman-sophomore meet at Seminole's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

The host Seminole boys and girls took different paths but ended up with the same result, the Tribe girls winning the team title by nearly 50 points over runner-up Lake Howell (121-72) while Seminole's boys outscored Lake Mary by exactly 50, 118-68, for the team title.

Following Seminole and Lake Howell in the girls' standings were Oviedo (51), Lake Mary (45), Lake Brantley (28) and Lyman (21). Completing the boys' standings were Lyman (56), Lake Howell (52), Lake Brantley (37) and Oviedo (19).

For the young Seminole girls' squad, the meet was a chance to show how much they've improved so far this season.

"We're very young," said Seminole girls' coach Nate Perkins. "This was a big meet for our girls. I think we're going to surprise some people at the conference meet next week."

Leading the Seminole girls were multiple winners Katina Perry, Patrice Varner and Carolyn Hubbard.

Perry finished first in both the discus (101 feet, 11 inches) and shot put (32 feet, 11 1/4 inches).

Varner won the long jump (15 feet, 6 1/4 inches), 100-meter dash (12.9) and 200-yard dash (27.3) while Hubbard was the champion in the mile (5:33.2) and two-mile runs (12:21.6).

Belinda Morgan won the 440-yard dash (1:01.5) for Seminole, which also finished first in both the 440-yard and mile relays (52.7 and 4:28, respectively).

Lake Howell was led by DeAnna Graves, who won the triple jump (32 feet, 8 inches). Oviedo received three first-place finishers from two athletes. Kicaha Gammons won both the 110-meter hurdles (16.4) and 330-yard low hurdles (49.5) while Felisha Wilson was first in the high jump (4 feet, 8 inches).

Amy Shannon won the 800-yard run (2:34) for Lake Brantley.

Cardinals, Dodgers register Little Major victories

From Staff Reports

BANFORD - Terrel Hunt singled in two runs during a six-run fifth inning as the Castle Ranch Cardinals won their first game of the season and the Rinker Materials Dodgers moved into second place in the National Division in Sanford Recreation Department Little Major League baseball action at Ft. Mellon's Roy Holler Field Tuesday night.

Hunt's single drove in the tying and go-ahead runs as the Cardinals came back from a 6-3 deficit to defeat the Railroaders Cubs 9-7. Adam Dryden's ground out drove home Hunt and Webb Berry singled in Brett Witte with the insurance runs. The Dodgers took a 5-1 lead in the bottom of the first inning and increased the lead to 8-3 in the third then held off a strong comeback effort to defeat the Summitland Corporation Pirates 10-8.

The Dodgers are 2-1 after the win, just one game behind the league leading Korg U.S.A. Expos. The Cardinals and Cubs are both 1-2, while the Pirates fell to 0-3.

The league will swing back into action Thursday evening with a pair of American Division games. At 6:45 p.m. the undefeated, and defending City Champion, K-N-D Trailer Hitch Red Sox will take on the Sanford Ace Hardware Orioles and at 7:45 p.m. the Fisher, Laurence & Deen Blue Jays will play the Disabled American Veterans

(D.A.V.) Royals.

The Cardinals took a 2-0 lead after three innings as Berry, who started on the mound, shut down the Cubs. Berry struck out six in his three innings of work and the only base runner he allowed reached on a walk.

But the Cubs got to reliever Dryden for three fourth inning runs and tacked on three more against Hunt in the fifth to lead 6-3, before the Cardinals exploded for the win.

Doing the damage for the Cardinals were Berry (two singles, four RBI), Witte (two singles, four runs scored), Hunt (one single, one run scored, one RBI), Dryden (one single, one RBI), Thomas Fodrie (one single, one run scored), Marice Smith

(one run scored, one RBI) and Kevin Nicholson and Joe Sondhein (one run scored each).

Pacing the Cubs' offense were Terrence DNBela (one home run, one double, one single, two runs scored), three RBI), Charlie McLain (one single, two RBI), Jonathan Eaddy (one single, one run scored), Jared Fedder (one single), Benji Chisolm (one RBI) and Freddie Hawkins, Markus Sheppard, Aaron Richardson and Terry Murkey (one run scored each).

Contributing to the Dodgers' eight hit offense were J.J. Bryant (one triple, one single, two runs scored, one RBI), Barry Porter (one double, one single, two runs scored), Tarell Binder (one triple, one run scored, one RBI) and Bruce Davidson (one double, one run scored, two RBI).

Also contributing were Chad Sheffield (one double, one run by the Lake Mary outfield. Melissa Luak singled to lead the bases before Wendi Acey hit a single to bring home Goddess. Michelle Babcock's single scored Willis with the Greyhounds' fourth run.

Lake Mary cut the deficit in half with two unearned runs in the sixth inning. With one out, Michelle Allen reached on an error. Marissa Meester singled Allen to second before Elizabeth Davidson brought her home with another single. After Diane Duser singled to lead the bases, Meester scored on a sacrifice fly by Kellie Woodall.

Afterwards, Lake Mary coach Joannee Fisher wasn't pleased with her team's offensive performance.

"We just went through the scorebook and we hit 15 fly balls in our 27 trips to the plate," said Fisher. "You're not going to win games when you don't hit the ball. In slowpitch softball, you have to come out and do more than just play good defense. You have to hit the ball."

Lake Mary will be back in action this afternoon, hosting Clermont at 4:30 p.m. Both teams will return to Seminole Athletic Conference play on Thursday, Lake Mary playing Seminole in a 4 p.m. game at Sanford's Fort Mellon Park while Lyman visits Lake Brantley for a 7:30 p.m. contest.

bottom of the seventh inning. Val Wilks led off with an infield single and advanced to second on a sharp single by Lisa Richards. Dryden hit a grounder to second that was bobbled, leading the bases with none out.

Latrice Turner then hit a dribbler between home and first that went for an infield hit. Wilks scoring Seminole's initial run. Then came a very odd play.

Rita Frison lofted a pop up toward shortstop that no one could catch. Richards raced home with the second run for the Tribe and the Lions' Schrupp fielded the ball and fired to third base, apparently retiring Dryden.

Dryden, not realizing that Frison had been called out by the infield fly rule, started to walk toward the dugout while the fans screamed for her to touch home plate. Dryden did eventually touch home but the umpire called her out for leaving the baseline.

Register argued that there should have been no baselines on the play, but his argument went for naught and play resumed with Turner on second base with two out. The next batter grounded to second to end the game.

Oviedo, 5-11 overall and 2-5 in the SAC, will host Lake Howell in an SAC game at Red Bug Park starting at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Seminole, 11-11 and 1-6 in the conference, will host Lake Mary in an SAC contest starting at 4 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park Thursday.

Berra used to say "It's never over 'til it's over."

Just when it looked like the Lake Brantley High School varsity softball team was going to take home a 4-2 Seminole Athletic Conference victory, the host Lake Howell Silver Hawks came alive to score three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat the Patriots 5-4 at Eunice Smith Field Tuesday.

With one out, Kristy Hill singled to center, Sally Floyd walked and pinch-hitter Michele Conciardi blooped a single over third to load the bases. Dianne Lowe singled to score Hill and Kristy York lined a shot off the pitcher that bounded toward shortstop.

The throw from the Lake Brantley shortstop hit Conciardi's helmet going to third and Floyd raced home with the second run. Tina Leman then lifted a sacrifice fly to right centerfield with Conciardi scoring the winning run.

The Silver Hawks are now 9-4 overall and 4-3 in the SAC, while Lake Brantley fell to 13-8 and 3-4 in the conference. Lake Howell will travel to Red Bug Park Thursday for a 4 p.m. meeting with Oviedo, while the Patriots will travel to Fort Orange today to play Spruce Creek starting at 7:30 p.m. before heading Lyman Thursday evening starting at 7:30 p.m.

Father-in-law saved the day

Mom's recipes: pinch of this, pinch of that

By DEBORAH YINGLING
Herald Correspondent

Many people learn most of what they know about cooking from their mothers but Louise Dever says that she also learned many culinary tricks from her father-in-law. In fact, he helped to save the day one Thanksgiving. Dever said she had learned how to prepare the entire meal from a cooking show but they neglected to explain the process of making gravy. Her father-in-law, who is adept at sauces and gravies, showed her what to do with the pan drippings.

Her mother, who was born in Sicily, always cooked traditional dishes but did not use written recipes. "My mother was a fabulous cook. She really was, but it was a pinch of this and a pinch of that. One of her recipes called for a half egg shell of oil," Dever recalls fondly.

She learned how to cook unusual regional Italian dishes from her mother by cooking along with her. "The way I learned to cook some of the complicated stuff was to have her over several times before I would do it on my own," she says. Dever says that most of the dishes are very complicated and not easy to write down. A family member is currently compiling a cookbook of the recipes.

Louise Dever enjoys entertaining.

Dever relocated to Central Florida from Rochester, N.Y. when her husband was transferred 15 years ago. Most of her children now live in the area that provides her with the opportunity to do family entertaining. She says that she enjoys having company and usually prepares a buffet for her visiting family members. Dever says that she likes to limit her sit-down dinner parties to eight people though. Dever has a self-described passion for gardening. She is a member of the Master Gardeners and frequently volunteers to do telephone work giving advice to Seminole County gardeners. She enjoys growing ornamentals and tropical plants. She usually grows them in containers because of the threat of frost. Dever highly recommends the "When the Master Gardener Cooks" cookbook to anyone who is interested in cooking and gardening. The book has numerous recipes using vegetables and fruits that can be grown in Central Florida backyards. The book, priced at $7.50 per copy, can be purchased by mail from the Urban Horticulture Advisory Committee, 250 West County Home Road, Sanford, Florida 32773.

Usher in spring by entertaining at a wonderful brunch

Brunch has become a wonderful and easy way to entertain. Menus can be simple, the preparation less hectic and the setting more casual than for a luncheon or dinner party. When planning a brunch menu, use the basic four food groups as a guide. Begin by selecting a main dish featuring protein. Then, choose accompaniments from the fruit and vegetable group for salads. Offer a selection of breads to represent the grain group. Add the milk and dairy group with a milk based punch, an egg dish or to yogurt with fruit. Whether you plan to entertain a small or large group a brunch can certainly be the beginning of "a great day" for you and your guests.

This egg dish has lots of flavor. Serve it with cornbread muffins and a fresh fruit salad.

Not all patients are in need of medical testing

DEAR DR. GOTT: In order for a doctor to accept my wife and me as patients, we had to agree to extensive physical examinations. We had Hemocult tests and I'm to have a sigmoidoscopy. We're both to have chest X-rays with annual follow-up. We're hesitant to have all the testing recommended. Would you agree we should take them?

DEAR READER: Depending on your ages, you and your wife should have annual examinations and certain testing, such as stool blood analyses (Hemocults) and sigmoidoscopy. However, such a yearly ritual is probably not necessary for people younger than 60.

Routine chest X-rays are not recommended for any adult, unless he or she smokes cigarettes or is exposed to high levels of air pollution.

Therefore, I don't object to the doctor's general approach. Where we part ways is on the issue of your not being accepted as patients without examinations. I know this is standard practice in many parts of the country, but I don't agree with it. If a patient has an ingrown toenail, I see no reason -- new patient or not -- for a complete exam.

To answer your specific question, if you haven't had a recent medical exam and tests, you should have them done. Otherwise, you could arrange to have the results forwarded from your previous doctor. Remember that you have the final say on what testing is performed.

Finally, if you and your new doctor get along, fine; put up with his wishes. However, if the chemistry isn't right, make a change.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A recent blood test indicates I am hypothyroid, for which I have been prescribed Synthroid. As a result, I have noticed a weight gain and wonder what other side effects I might suffer.

DEAR READER: Your doctor has properly chosen to treat your underactive thyroid gland with thyroid hormone in pill form. Some fine-tuning is in order before you can say with certainty that you are receiving the right amount of medicine. For example, your doctor will gradually increase your pills until you are taking the optimal dose. This is determined by periodic blood tests and, obviously, by how you feel.

Ordinarily, Synthroid causes no symptoms when taken in the proper amount. (Excessive quantities can lead to nervousness and weight loss.) Since you are gaining weight, I suspect you are not receiving enough medicine or you are eating too much. Check this out with your doctor.

This is April Fools' Day. The playing of harmless hoaxes amuses adolescents all morning. In France, an April Fool is called "le poisson d'avril": literally, the fish of April.

If you are playing bridge against good opponents and something fishy happens, don't assume they have lost their minds. There is probably sense behind the apparent insanity. Your job is to find the clue that leads you to the solution.

Here you are playing in the Women's World Team Olympiad. Cover the East-West cards in the diagram. West leads the heart ace, which might or might not be from the A-K. She switches to the spade jack. You duck in the dummy but East wins with the king. Back comes a low heart and your queen wins the trick. How do you continue?

North's opening bid was strong, artificial and forcing. Normally the two-diamond response describes a bad hand, but it could contain some values if the responder has no good suit to show. Then North guessed to remove three no-trump, which probably would have failed.

The Thai pair sitting East-West did very well, first returning a heart at trick three and then letting South hold the trick. However, the Portuguese South was suspicious. East could have exited in either black suit to lock her in the dummy. Why was she allowed into her hand so that she could take the diamond finesse?

Working out the answer, South led a low diamond and called for dummy's ace. When the king appeared, as South expected, she claimed her contract.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 2, 1982

Projects you initiate or personally direct could be quite successful in the year ahead. However, you must allow those you'll be involved with to use their initiative as well.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you exercise more initiative without alienating those you're presently involved with, you're likely to fare better at this time. LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) A venture you're contemplating will have good chances for success, provided those you establish an alliance with can make a positive contribution.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23) Through either direct or indirect means, you might be presented with some profitable information today. If your source is dependable, investigate it further.

sights and aim for loftier objectives. Ambitious goals have an excellent chance of being fulfilled in the coming weeks.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Over the coming weeks, it looks like you will be able to finalize several matters that have been causing you considerable frustration. The end is in sight, so be hopeful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) By nature, you are a rather inventive and resourceful individual and, in this time frame, you could come up with some ingenious ideas. Treat them with the seriousness they deserve.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your long-range financial projections look encouraging at this time. Give top priority to situations that could increase your earnings and holdings.
