Spring Fever

in the news

No doubt of it now—the open season for Spring Fever is upon us. The first robin has been duly acknowledged, crickets are tuning up, and the advertising columns of this paper are full of news about gayer things to wear and do and eat and enjoy.

Even a Spring Fever can follow the rhythm of the seasons by reading Spring Fever. The first ad for white shoes is at least a sign of Spring on the first page.

For more news and news, read Spring Fever and you'll find it all there.

HILL

One of the most elaborate and charming social functions of the winter was the afternoon tea given in honor of Mrs. Norman DeForest on Thursday by Mrs. H. L. DeForest at her beautiful country place.

The National Guard

During the World War the nation learned that the National Guard is the first line of defense. The United States had not been long in the fray before the fact was pretty well established that the Regular Army was scarcely large enough to properly officer the large civilian army which was soon to be raised.

During the depression the nation has again learned of the absolutely indispensable nature of the National Guard as a means of national defense. Hard times, unemployment, dissatisfaction and genuine distress have furnished a fertile field for communist agitators to gather fuel for the conflagration which they hope will destroy our government and our institutions.

We sometimes hear it said that the Army, the National Guard, or just soldiers in general, are preparing to get the country into another war. Those who take this position seem to forget that it is not the Army which gets us into war; it is the Army which gets us out after the politicians and diplomats get us into it.

We also sometimes hear the National Guardsmen criticized because they are often put in the position of seemingly protecting property rights at the sacrifice of human lives. This, however, is rarely the whole truth.

In short the National Guard serves as a sort of national police force, not only to protect the nation from its enemies abroad, but also to insure it against violence from within. It is easy to understand what would happen in most of our cities if there were no policemen there to maintain order.

Sanford is particularly fortunate in having such fine units quartered in this city. Their worth to the nation has been recognized by the government with the construction of the splendid new Armory on East First Street.

Miami Beach Comes Of Age

In 1916, just two years before the World War, Miami Beach was but a narrow strip of beach sand on which grew little or nothing but sea grape trees and cocoplum bushes. Scarcely a handful of people lived there, and just 21 years ago this month, they got together and incorporated what was to become the most famous resort in the world.

Almost from the moment of its birth, as a lusty youngster and as a youth in its teens, it developed rapidly. Scarcely a month went by that did not see building permits increased. There was scarcely a month in its brief span of twenty-one years that saw any backward trend.

Early residents of Miami Beach knew how well it pays to advertise. The tropical beauty, the climate, the opportunities of Miami Beach were shouted from the housetops. No stone was left unturned in the campaign to tell it to the world.

When the big depression came to Miami and the rest of Florida, Miami Beach kept forging steadily ahead. Property values slumped as they did everywhere else, but this only added to the incentive to build.

Building permits issued in Miami Beach during the year of 1935 totalled $9,487,346, eleventh largest in the entire nation. In 1934 they totalled $6,478,659. The past tourist season was the most profitable in the city's history.

What has happened at Miami Beach should provide an interesting sermon for the rest of the state. Twenty-one years ago Miami Beach was less than a worthless mangrove swamp; today it is a magnificent city of great hotels, beautiful homes, bathing clubs, golf courses and polo fields.

Science Views New Star, Explains 'Exploding' Nova May Herald New Creation

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—(AP)—A nova, or new star, such as the latest one discovered by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, may be creation at work.

In making public their discovery of the super nova in the constellation of Virgo, tentatively designated as Nova Virginia, the Carnegie astronomers at Mt. Wilson, Cal., permitted themselves a little theorizing to explain the occurrence of such star explosions.

Novae, they explained, are stars which for some unknown reason explode violently and flame up to many times their original brightness before returning to obscurity. Nova Virginia, which expanded with a velocity of 3,760 miles per second, reached its maximum brightness, the 14th magnitude, on Feb. 16 and then faded rapidly.

Dr. Gustaf Stromberg of the Mount Wilson observatory declared that "Nothing very definite is known about the cause of a nova outburst. It is obvious that the rate at which the energy is released is terrific, and since energy cannot be created from nothing it must have existed in the system in some form or another before the catastrophe occurred."

One possible explanation is that "the rate at which heat is generated in the interior of a star is for some reason or other increased and the lid is blown off," Dr. Stromberg declared. "We do not know what determines this rate. The heat must

S. E. C. Can't Reveal Salaries, Says Court

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 30.—(AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has issued an order restraining the Securities and Exchange Commission from making public the salaries of officers, directors or employees of the National Biscuit Company, Lorillard Co. and Conzoleum Natun Inc.

The three companies appealed from rulings by the commission that the information they submitted under protest was of "public interest" and would be revealed in connection with the commission's efforts to supervise the capital stock structures of large corporations.

Russia To Teach Citizens Art Of Bond Clipping

MOSCOW, Mar. 30. Holders of Soviet state securities, a class which now includes 10 percent of the entire population of the U. S. S. R., will receive 1,000,000,000 rubles (nominally 1,000,000,000) during 1936 from clipping of interest coupons, amortization or lotteries prizes, it was announced recently. The figure is an increase of 500,000,000 rubles (500,000,000) over the amount paid similarly last year.

More than 50,000,000 citizens of the Soviet Union are now classed as bondholders, and 10 percent of the total population now is eligible for participation in that of various many holders in the course of coupon clipping. When a check was made last year it was found that 10,000,000 rubles (10,000,000) in interest or prizes had remained uncollected because the holders of the bonds did not understand the procedure.

In most instances, Soviet citizens are offered the maximum amount of public through factory or industrial organizations which are patriotic organizations and the building of the Socialist state is a means to having, but apparently, a total explanation about how to reach the benefits.

Prosecution Trial Called A 'Farce' By Noted Lawyer

Darrow Says That He Ought To Be Tried For Second Time

CHICAGO, Mar. 30.—(AP)—Richard Hauptmann is to be tried in another trial, Clarence Darrow declared here.

The brilliant criminal attorney, in virtual retirement after a life spent in battling for the underdog, charged that the German carpenter's first conviction was a "farce," and said that Hauptmann "never yet has had a trial in the true sense of American jurisprudence."

Charles A. Lindbergh, father of the murdered baby for whom Hauptmann is sentenced to die in the electric chair Tuesday, was partly responsible for the "travesty" which led to the condemned man's conviction, Darrow contended.

"Lindbergh, a public hero, sat day after day in the full grasp of the jury," he said, "and while it is natural that he should wish to attend a trial which concerned him so intimately, it doubtless was not in the best interests of justice."

He said he had nothing but admiration for Gov. Harold G. Hoffman who already has granted the German alien one reprieve.

Darrow confessed he was not familiar with New Jersey law but he said the governor "has the moral right to grant a second reprieve."

A study of court records and other accounts of the trial, he said, had convinced him that persons seeking publicity for themselves had ruined Hauptmann's first chance of a fair trial.

"Jurors thought more of their own place in the public limelight than they did of a man's life. The testimony of the chief witness, 'Cafale' Condon, is open to serious question."

"And it is even doubtful if other principals in the case thought as much of the fact that a man's life was in the balance as they did of their own personal glory."

Bar associations both in England and America criticized the trial because it was not "fair and judicial," he pointed out.

Darrow struck particularly at the prosecution's contention that a ladder several feet short of the window from which the baby allegedly was removed, was used in the kidnaping.

"The ladder was at least three feet short of the window, testimony has shown," he said, "and the trip would have been particularly difficult for one man to negotiate."

He called attention to the fact that a mug or stein near the center of the window sill in the baby's room was undisturbed and that there were no fingerprints on the ladder, the window sill or the mug.

"Not a piece of furniture, not a rug nor a chair was displaced," he said.

"Whoever removed the baby did it so quietly and so expertly that not a person in the house was disturbed. It seems difficult to believe that a person could have removed the baby so quietly and with such ease."

He questioned Condon's statement that while he dangled $50,000 in his hand the kidnapers came from behind a dark hedge and talked to him on a street bench.

He declared it "absurd" to believe that a kidnaper, desperate and sought by the law, would take

Man In Lakeland Would Be G. O. P. Standard Bearer

LAKELAND, Mar. 30.—(AP)—E. E. Callaway of Lakeland, former chairman of the Florida Republican Executive Committee, announces he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

"I hope," he said in a formal statement, "to contribute something constructive to two-party government and thereby secure the confidence of business men that will attract capital to seek investment here, and that will bring about the normal and healthy growth and development of the agricultural, industrial and commercial advantages of the state."

The candidate said he would advocate adequate finance from proven sources for public schools and colleges.

"It is reprehensible," Callaway added, "for one person to hold two positions of profit. It violates Condon's word that he would not be seized and would come from a negotiation designed to save his soul."

the spirit of political honesty and I am opposed to it."

He said he favored a fair and reasonable tax upon large holdings of undeveloped and unimproved lands, but if the levy is not paid the tracts should be broken up for homesteading.

Declaring automobile owners contribute enough to the support of the government by paying gasoline taxes, Callaway said he favored abolishing the annual license tag and substituting a $3 registration fee to be paid only when a person obtains an automobile.

Walt Whitman's Will Is Sold For $3,100

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—Walt Whitman's will, dated May 14, 1873, bequeathing to his mother, Louisa Whitman, the plates of his "Leaves of Grass" and other books, together with the returns due from his publishers, was sold for $3,100 last night at the Rains Galleries, 12 East Forty-ninth Street. The rarity, offered at the closing session of a two-day sale of first editions and autographs, was acquired by Barney J. Beyer, New York bookseller.

The Whitman will, in the author's hand writing, was written on three pages and witnessed by Whitman's wife. The document provides for the payment of a debt of $50 to Peter Doyle, his closest friend, who also got his "diver watch, his hunting case and his keys." The will goes into great detail in bequeathing all the author's belongings, including many references to members of his family.

An important letter by George Washington, written at Mount Vernon, Nov. 18, 1796, a month before his death, denying a rumor of his intended visit to Norfolk, was sold for $2,200 to Mr. Beyer at the sale.

The auction sale realized $23,074.

America's Trade Balance Loses In Filipino Books

MANILA, P. I., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Official Philippine foreign trade statistics for 1935 disclosed that the islands had a favorable visible balance (not including gold exports) of $20,870,000 with the United States and an unfavorable balance of $12,048,000 with foreign countries.

This left a net favorable visible balance of $8,822,000 at the end of 1935, as compared with $28,744,000 in 1934.

Officials said that if gold exports and sugar benefit payments were included, the 1935 favorable balance would be $10,822,000. Imports to the United States make up 80 percent of the grand total. Exports to Japan increased 25 percent as compared with 1934 and made up 8.8 percent of the total.

Imports totaled $60,822,000 in 1935, which was $1,710,000 more than in 1934 as a gain of two per cent. The 1935 favorable balance of $8,822,000 was a gain of two per cent over the 1934 favorable balance of $8,640,000.

Wants A Desirable

WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—(AP)—John M. O'Connell, Democrat, Rhode Island, introduced a bill today to authorize construction of a $4,000,000 dirigible to be used by the Navy Department to demonstrate the value of large commercial airships for transporting fighting planes.

Washburn Writes An Appreciation To The Former Instructors
By CAPT. H. C. WASHBURN
A reminiscence of the history of our regiment calls to mind some of our previous instructors. Our special edition would not be complete without a grateful acknowledgment to those officers who have so materially helped all of us to better prepare ourselves in our military profession.
Colonel Geo. D. Freeman, Jr., for five years our senior instructor, stationed at St. Augustine, is now on duty with the Organized Reserves in Hartford, Connecticut. Our grateful appreciation goes to Colonel Freeman for his untiring efforts in promoting the efficiency of our regiment in parades and ceremonies.
Captain William H. Williams, now retired, residing in Cincinnati. He was of great help to all of us especially during the days the Guard Units were on active state duty in connection with the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine.
To Captain Carl H. Starrett, goes our very best regards and a sincere hope that some day the War Department will again assign him back to our regiment for duty. Captain Starrett was ordered to Ft. Benning last August and is now instructor of the communications section of the Infantry School. Captain Starrett gets our grateful appreciation for his efforts in increasing the efficiency of our paper work, personal appearances of the troops, better property records and better methods of storing military property.
Captain Starrett while with us quickly determined what our problems were, helped us solve them and entered into the spirit of our efforts to "help the public to be National Guard conscious." He became a part of us socially and has made hundreds of friends in Sanford and Central Florida. Best of luck in your Ft. Benning assignment and don't forget to "come down and see us sometime."

Safety Harbor Post Office Robbed Sunday
SAFETY HARBOR, Mar. 30.--Thieves broke into the post office here early Sunday morning and carried away a 1000 round safe containing money, stamps, money orders and other valuables. No estimate was placed on the value of the loot pending an investigation by postal inspectors.
The postoffice was robbed two years ago. The thieves then were never caught. A safe stolen at that time was found plundered near Crystal River.

AMPHITHEATER OPENED WINTER HAVEN, Mar. 30.
The beautiful new amphitheater at the Florida Cypress Gardens on Lake Eloise south of this city was formally opened Sunday with two organ recitals given.

Lookouts To Give Sanford A Complete Outfield And Catching Corps This Year

Sanford Is Promised Some Good Players For Summer Season

By WIRT GAMMON
The Lookouts are fast building a farm system of their own to keep bringing on talent for the future, with the capable scout, Jim Beck, as the key man of it all. This season the Chattanooga club is working most closely with Sanford, of the Class D Georgia-Florida League, with Bert Chapman, manager, and Columbia, S. C., of the Class B South Atlantic League, whose skipper is the well known Josh Billings.

Just what help has been definitely promised those clubs is not known. But the point of this piece is that there is enough fine young talent on hand to go far toward filling out both line-ups. A few of the kids are Washington property and the Mats may wish to place them elsewhere. But at present they are in the Lookout fold and let's see how they shape up.

A complete Sanford outfield and catching corps and entire Columbia inner works might be supplied. There is Roy Ivy, Troy Doney and Gardner Barnes for the Sanford gardens, with Duncan, youthful Orangearg, S. C., fielding demon in center. The other two are from Chattanooga sandlots and fine prospects.

For catchers, Sanford will have Jake Early, a rifle-armed kid from Shelby, N. C., and possibly Hec Wynne, Washington's outstanding amateur payer last season.

Over at Columbia the infield might well be Bob Spurlin at first and Bob Stith at second—both already turned over to them—George Mix, Chattanooga's outstanding amateur and now bidding for a Lookout post, at third; with Fred Chapman, lanky and young prospect who is a class man in the South, at shortstop.

Nor is the all.

Bernie Mock, a promising outfielder from Missouri, probably will be sent to Columbia, as may Frank Petticoas, righthanded pitcher who tried out with Washington this season.

Sanford may get first call on Jimmy Guinn, sparkling Chattanooga third sacker, and probably will land John Lacy, second sacker from Cleveland, Tenn., and J. W. McNally, Chickamauga, Ga. first baseman.

Also the Florida town is likely to get Owen Wright, a tall young Texan, who has captivated the Lookout camp with his righthanded

Every Race To Be Feature At Track In Last Ten Days

Racing Season Nears Close; Derby Is To Be Run On April 8

Only 10 more nights of racing remaining to complete the first 90-day greyhound race meeting ever presented in Central Florida, officials of the track near Longwood today announced an interesting series of closing features.

Racing Secretary B. R. Sherlock has announced that every race for the rest of the season will be a feature race, and the special programs for the next 10 days are being offered on that basis.

The last quarter-final Derby elimination race will be run as the feature ninth on Tuesday night, to be followed by semifinal races which will be run Friday and Saturday nights, events which will determine the entrants in the first annual $1,000 added Central Florida Greyhound Derby to be run Wednesday night, Apr. 8.

Another proposed working agreement with Jacksonville has failed through. About all the Lookouts could give them was Edley Davis, fine first sacker, but Davis has been laid low by illness.

Of this group Early and Wright have, of late, attracted the most attention here for their future worth. The catcher will be left behind with Barnes to show his stuff at Sanford, but Wright will be taken on to Chattanooga, it is understood, for further instructions, possibly to be sent back later.

He lives close to Manager Clyde Milan in Texas, and so impressed the skipper with his intestinal fortitude and all-round promise that Milan took him to a baseball school and then brought him on here.

No doubt Columbia will be clamoring for him before many more days have gone by.
