ROOSEVELT TO HOLD PARLEY WITH HOOVER

Chief Executive Asks President-Elect To Discuss Pressing Problems With Him

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt will sit down together again at the White House Friday morning, presumably in a new move for accord on pressing international problems.

Although the White House declined to say today that the invitation for this second parley has come from Hoover it is assumed in official circles that such was the case.

In well informed quarters it was taken for granted Hoover and Roosevelt would renew the discussion of war debt and allied problems.

Although the outcome of the recent conference between Secretary Stimson and Roosevelt never was made public, there is speculation that this meeting paved the way for Friday's parley.

President-elect Roosevelt declined to discuss the visit. He would say only to newspapermen that he had been invited by Hoover to the meeting.

President Hoover discharging to Congress his expected special message on budget following yesterday recommended that a sales tax be adopted immediately as the best method of bringing an increase in federal revenues.

The President declared it would seem the course of good statesmanship to spread a sales tax generally at a low rate upon all manufactured goods except upon food and clothing.

Petitions Ask For Pastor's Removal

ATLANTA, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Petitions asking the removal of Rev. Fulton Williams as pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, one of the largest here, were circulated today by members.

PROBATION LAWS CALLED NEED TO END CRIME WAVE

Evil Influences Of Penitentiaries Are Decried By Speaker

TAMPA, Jan. 18.—A state law under which first offenders would be released on probation and given a chance to reform was proposed here Monday by Clarence E. Martin, of Marietta, W. Va., president of the American Bar Association, who suggested that the great American crime wave may be due in part to the evil influence of penitentiaries into which first offenders are now dumped.

Florida as yet has no probation law, the speaker pointed out. "Penitentiaries are breeding places of crime and the average reformatory does not reform," Mr. Martin said.

The speaker declared that the people of the United States during recent years have been coming to admit that there is a lawbreaking nation, Mr. Martin added.

He pointed to the federal probation law, passed in 1925, and said it is making many good citizens. (A federal probation officer was appointed in Tampa territory several months ago and now he has charge of about 180 men and women who were paroled.)

Stage Performance At Milane Today Boasts Lists Of Head-Line Artists

Praise and approval of one of the most exciting groups of showmen in America today, officials of Ringling Brothers' world-famous circus, ring in the news and is reflected in the performance of Bud Marcellus and Company of six young women acrobatic dancers, head-line attraction at the Milane Theater tonight.

The troupe, which has remained intact for nearly three years and has toured America and Europe, last week received the sensation of its Southern tour when Ringling Circus officials signed the act for a 36-week period beginning in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Apr. 1.

Bud Marcellus and Co. is a name that signifies just another name added to Sanford audiences. Bud is nation of America's finest acrobatic circus, Keith-Orpheum, Bud Marcellus and his company are that is instantly recognized.

Around the end of performers has been built a fast moving show of acts which tonight at 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock will be presented to you in a most interesting and thrilling manner.

SECESSION OF 39 STATES IS SOLON'S PLAN

Resolution In North Dakota Legislature Leads To Heated Debates By Members

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Whether a resolution recommending that 39 states secede from the union, introduced in the North Dakota Senate by Senator W. L. Martin, should be published in that body's journal precipitated a turbulent debate yesterday.

Charges were hurled across the floor of the assembly that the proposal "bordered on treason."

The motion to publish the resolution carried, 28 to 20, after numerous senators favoring publication read into the records remarks that they were merely voting for this proposal and not on the merits of the resolution itself.

Previously, a motion to strike from the resolution a reference to the "Star Spangled Banner" was defeated by one vote.

The resolution, introduced Monday "recommends" 39 states secede, leaving the group of eastern states to form a separate country. The resolution says the 39 states would "carry with us the Star Spangled Banner and leaving them (the eastern states) the stripes which they so richly deserve."

Ruth Judd Says Halloran Directly Aided Her After The Slaying Of Agnes Leroi

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 18.—(AP)—John J. (Happy Jack) Halloran, wealthy Arizona lumberman, was directly aiding her after the slaying of Agnes Ann Leroi, for which she is under sentence to hang.

The slender "blonde tress" made the charges in testifying at Halloran's preliminary hearing. It was the first time she had testified since her arrest at the slaying of Mrs. Leroi at Mesa Healy Sanatorium.

"I was looking for a telephone to call my husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, in Los Angeles," the condemned prisoner said. "I was on the porch of my own home when Jack (Halloran) came up."

"We went back into the house. I told him what had happened. I was nervous and upset. I told him Ann was on the floor and Sammy was on the floor."

ORLANDO ASKS DRASTIC CUTS IN EXPENSE OF CITY

ORLANDO, Jan. 18.—A $250,000 budget for operating the city of Orlando was demanded last night by William M. Hamner, prominent Orlandoian, in a speech made before a session of the tax payers league.

Hamner told assembled members of the league that "it takes the first three floors of the Angelika hotel to pay taxes and we can't get on this rate."

Asserting that it was "reliably informed" that it cost "nearly $500,000 to operate the city of Orlando last year," Mr. Hamner said during his speech that if "present extravagance continues we won't have any homes" in this city.

He recalled that the total bonded indebtedness of the Orlando school district is today $1,934,000. "The present board has dropped all pieces of land which are without buildings or which could be dropped," he said in explaining the board's stand with regard to real estate purchased during boom years.

President-Elect Says American Foreign Policy Must Uphold Sanctity Of Pacts

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(AP)—In one of his first declarations on official affairs, President-elect Roosevelt indicated to the world yesterday a continuation of the American policy in the far east.

"American foreign policy must uphold the sanctity of international treaties," read the Roosevelt statement.

The words were written out by him when asked by newspapermen to comment on reports from Washington of an understanding between himself and Secretary Stimson on continuation of the policy of non-recognition of treaties acquired in violation of international law.

Renewed activities in the Far East have revived the whole issue. It is believed this subject was gone over thoroughly at the recent Stimson-Roosevelt meeting. Sitting down at the table in his study, Roosevelt yesterday borrowed pencil and paper from the inquiring newspaperman and wrote out the following statement:

Hope Given Up For Budget Balancing During This Season

NEWMAN CHOSEN TO HEAD TRADE BODY CAMPAIGN

R. A. Newman, prominent local merchant, last night was selected by the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, to head the annual membership campaign army which will set out on Feb. 7 following a "kickoff" breakfast to duplicate its goal of last year—1000 members in 30 hours.

The selection of Mr. Newman and the appointment of his assistants was a feature of the monthly meeting, as was the reading of special committee recommendations.

An affirmative vote was expressed on almost all of the 16 propositions contained in referendum No. 63 on Banking, propositions that deal with the necessary legislation and re-organization of the banking system of the United States.

John Melich, Jr., will preside over a meeting of the Seminole County League of Young Democrats, scheduled to be held in the Yalta Hotel tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of selecting a delegation which will go to the first annual convention of the Florida State League at Orlando next Monday.

Rotarians Hear Speaker Describe Archaeology Discoveries In State

Reminiscences of many years of exploration up and down the St. Johns and tributary rivers and streams and his association with America's outstanding archaeologists and pathologists were related before Sanford Rotarians at the Rotary Club yesterday by Dr. D. C. Main, of Pomona, retired physician, whose hobby is the study of things ancient.

Dr. Main described the processes which led to the creation of the present Florida coast line; its valleys, streams, lakes, and particularly its shell mounds which he said were not constructed by the Indians but were of a period far earlier in history than the Indian life of America.

He stated that evidences had been found in these mounds and in other deposits throughout the state, but particularly in the St. Johns valley, of a race of people with Central American or Peruvian characteristics. The Atlatl influence is also noted, he said.

He spoke of the finding of skeletons of what must have been a huge race of people living near Pensacola, and told of the pillaging of the Wichita district.

MILLS REVEALS HIS IDEAS ON U. S. FINANCES

Opposes Plan Of Financing Federal Construction With Long Term Bonds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A possible preview of an expected presidential message on finances was given last night by Secretary Mills in a speech which denounced as a "tricky accounting device" leading to ruinous consequences, the much-discussed plan of financing future Federal construction by long term bond issues.

He intimated that a manufacturer's sales tax, already urged by himself and the President, was the way to balance the 1934 budget, which now faces a $613,000,000 deficit exclusive of debt retirement.

Mills added that, were it not for the political factors involved, solution of the government's fiscal problems would be comparatively simple.

The secretary had conferred with the President during the afternoon and afterwards told newspapermen there was a strong possibility Hoover might issue a statement or special message to Congress on finances. Later it was intimated at the White House that some such expression probably would be issued today.

Hoover is known to feel there is a critical need for speedy action by Congress toward balancing the budget. The deficit now has passed the billion two hundred million mark and officials are convinced that any session's "billion dollar" tax bill has definitely proved its inability to raise the billion or anything like it.

Mills was particularly sharp in attacking the long-time construction financing idea, advocated recently in Democratic quarters during recent weeks.

He attacked the argument that business corporations capitalise their holdings in this manner, contending that while business earns returns on its plants most government buildings are liabilities, each one of which calls for increased upkeep and repair spending.

Mills said the states and municipalities have by the bonding method piled up "a mountain of additional debt in the course of the last 12 years amounting to nearly ten billion dollars."

He urged that instead the government do "what we have always done in the past—reduce in peace-time the debt piled up by the war-time which we have been compelled to engage," and not superimpose "an unjustifiable peace-time debt on an enormous war debt."

The pending beer tax bill and retention of the gasoline tax now in force, he said, would provide only about half the amount needed to bring in expected receipts of $2,500,000,000 up to the expenditures which, exclusive of debt retirement, are estimated at $3,233,000,000.

"Without the manufacturer's excise tax it will be extremely difficult to balance the budget, since the field of the new taxes has been pretty well exhausted by the revenue act of 1932," the secretary said.

"There was a time when I did not favor a manufacturer's excise tax. But at a time when our normal sources of revenue—taxes on income and inheritance taxes imposed at war-time rates on not more than two and a half million people out of a nation of 120,000,000, are inadequate to supply the necessary revenue, the objections ordinarily urged against the manufacturer's excise tax do not seem to me to remain valid."

"It appears preferable to a great variety of discriminatory sales taxes, which are just as much consumption taxes as a manufacturer's excise tax. It would be levied at a low rate and imposed on such a broad base as not to be truly burdensome to any class of taxpayers."

The secretary said the budget should be balanced because "no matter how good its credit, no government can afford to go on living beyond its means year after year."

Al Smith Gives Aid To Destitute Man Who Wrote Song

(Continued From Page One) soon as he felt equal to it, and in the spring, said Matthews, Blakie, his sister and brother would be sent to a farm maintained in Dutchess county.

"No one," said Matthews, "needs to worry about Mr. Blakie from now on." And today it seemed Blakie himself was the least worried of all. He dropped from sight early in the day, busily engaged in seeking an apartment to re-establish a home.

First, however, he expressed his gratification over the interest shown in his case by Smith.

"Mr. Smith," said Blakie, "is an old New Yorker and so am I," which in the view of Blakie seemed to explain many things. Blakie wrote the words of "The Sidewalks of New York," while employed as a hat store clerk; knocked them out in a half hour or so after Charles B. Lawler, a popular vaudeville star of the day had composed the tune.

It was introduced by Lottie Gilson at the Old London theater on the Bowery and was an instant hit. The authors sold it for $5000 and divided the profits, a good days work they thought. Since then the song has earned many times that amount for the copyright owners.

Later Blakie left the hat store and for 13 years was a salesman for a firm dealing in extensive fabrics.

A year ago the job ended and then his meagre resources exhausted, Blakie once again found himself on the sidewalks of New York.

Chain Store Tax Of Florida Examined By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Florida chain store taxes were closely examined yesterday by members of the supreme court.

Thomas B. Adams, counsel for Louis F. Liggett Company and other chain store operators, was permitted to close the attack on the law he began Thursday, with much interruption from the bench. His assault covered substantially every objection urged in the lower court, being aimed particularly at the exemptions of co-operative stores from the tax.

He complained that while co-operatives were active competitors with chain stores they escaped the taxes which the chain stores had found so burdensome.

He insisted the Supreme Court decision in the Indiana case upholding graduated taxes on chain stores did not control in the present case because the Florida legislature had not only levied such taxes but had added a new feature by increasing the tax burden when chain stores were operated by their owners in more than one county.

He also condemned the three-dollar-a-thousand tax imposed on stock carried by the stores and taxes levied by counties and municipalities in addition to the state taxes.

When Assistant Attorney General Carter began his argument for the state, Chief Justice Hughes asked him to defend in particular two features of the taxes, first the increase of taxes when chain stores operated in more than one county, and secondly, the exemption of co-operatives from the taxes. Carter replied that as the opportunities of chain stores increased by extending their activities into more than one county, the state had the right to make the extension the basis for a new classification increasing the taxes imposed on them.

The state regarded the Indiana case as having decided, he said, that co-operatives were a distinct class from chain stores and that the latter could be regulated by taxes while the co-operatives were exempt.

Justices Butler and Roberts took issue with Carter's interpretation of the Indiana decision; but he refused to modify his position, contending Florida was justified by the former decision in exempting co-operatives.

Carter listed the three-dollar-a-thousand tax on stock in hand as an annual excise or license

Ladies' Day' Is Held At Local Golf Links

Several local and visiting women golfers took advantage of the free greens fee and other offers made to insure their attendance at the Sanford Country Club every Monday, Ladies Day, by yesterday enjoying rounds of golf over the 18-hole lay-out.

Golfers appeared for play early in the morning, and, after a luncheon at the club, continued their tour of the course.

George G. Hull, professional at the club, again issued an invitation to all women golfers that they assist in making Ladies Day a success every week. "We turn the course over to women golfers every Monday," he said, "and we want them to enjoy it and all its privileges."

MEMORANDA FOR TODAY

A NEW CREATION: Create a clean heart, a God and a right spirit within man.

What, with busy bills and self-seeking urgency, this country going west in a big way!

The Tampa Tribune offers this the depression prayer: "Give this day our daily dose!"

Some of our office holders, with a nervous eye on Tallahassee, are beginning to wonder whether they won or lost in the election.

President Hoover had scarcely commended that the President given authority to place an embargo on shipments of arms and munitions to warring countries...

Stanley Hanson, who knows more about the Seminole Indians than they know about themselves, is quoted as saying that...

Declining to place a two percent sales tax on all manufactured articles, except beverages...

Senator Smith of South Carolina wants the domestic allotment restricted to wheat and cotton...

British quotes a Mussolini representative at Geneva as saying that the world is spending...

Florida's Colonel House

During the recent campaign which immediately preceded the general election in November, the assertion was repeatedly made by one of the candidates for governor that if Dave Sholtz were elected, "five men" would run the state...

Since the inauguration early this month it has become rather apparent to everyone that there has been not only a change in administration but also a change in the behind-the-throne powers that be...

But it is inevitable that any high executive must have at least some advisers. While it is reasonable to believe that Gov. Sholtz is himself the governor, it is not unlikely that there is at least one man, or perhaps "five men" to whom he turns occasionally for advice...

"Well," explains the Fort Myers News-Press, "the Governor has plenty of Colonel material with which to build a house and several of them would provide staunch shelter against the political storms."

"We understand, however, that Col. Harry Miller of Eustis has the inside track. He is a Brother Elk who was the angel of the Sholtz primary campaign and his name has been frequently mentioned as prominent in recent councils...

"Col. Miller is not known down this way but is reported to have a wide acquaintance in the state and has been prominent in Lake county affairs since coming there some 15 years ago as a winter resident...

"There is a valid public interest in a Governor's advisers. They frequently wield a weighty influence. Governor Sholtz appears to be working out his new deal with new blood; and speculation such as the Tampa Tribune mentioned will continue until the background at Tallahassee is more definitely illuminated."

In the meantime, those of us who desire to see this state put upon a self-supporting basis will not worry whether the Col. House of the Sholtz administration is Col. Miller or another Colonel by a different name...

North Dakota's Secession Move

Some idea of the silliness which often dominates legislative bodies is shown in a resolution in the North Dakota Senate which calls for the secession from the Union of 39 states, leaving nine eastern states to themselves.

The motive behind the resolution has not been made exactly clear but there is presumably a fancied grievance against the East because it happens to be the industrial and money center of the country and because it supposedly enjoys most of the benefits from the federal government.

The North Dakota state senator who introduced the resolution certainly was optimistic in the extent of his proposal to include 39 states in his new empire. Perhaps it never occurred to him that other states in his arbitrary group might not consider themselves so badly treated.

Let us see just how far North Dakota has been discriminated against in the matter of federal disbursements and how much it contributes to the Treasury and let us do the same thing with some eastern state, say New York.

North Dakota with a population of 682,448 persons paid into the Federal Treasury in the fiscal year of 1932 the sums of $234,648.80 in income taxes and $12,850.15 in miscellaneous revenues, making a total of $246,998.95. She got back from the government under the Department of Agriculture $90,000 in payments for agricultural stations, $116,883.71 for co-operative agricultural extension work, $1,931,074.18 for co-operative construction of rural post roads, $1,094,730.20 for the federal highway system and advances for emergency construction, and other items.

Under the Department of Interior she received $50,000 for colleges for agriculture and mechanical arts, under the War Department $156,936.03, under the federal board for vocational education $74,667.84, under veteran's administration $1,026.30. All these items, plus a few others, bring the grand total to $3,626,677.52. Of course there are in addition the Post Office Department and many other smaller funds which are also contributed to the state from the Federal Treasury.

For the fiscal year of 1932 New York paid into the Treasury $348,560,738.13 in income taxes and $46,438,465.78 in miscellaneous revenues for a total of $394,999,203.91. She got back from the Treasury, on the basis of the same computation as was made for North Dakota, a total of $19,892,880.10.

An interpretation of these figures is not necessary. They speak for themselves, but it might not be amiss to recall that old saying that some people don't know when they are well off.

SLANDER OF THE PRESIDENT

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

We do not think that many Americans saw or gave credence to the series of scurrilous books attacking the career of Herbert Hoover as a mining engineer. But the volumes had their day. Writers penned them. To the credit of the newspaper world, little faith was placed in them by the press of the nation...

The devastating opinion of Justice Peter Schuck, of the Supreme Court of this city, as to the character of the original volume in this slander will scarcely surprise many, therefore. Yet we think everyone will be glad to have a judicial analysis of the processes by which the outrageous calumnies were created, fostered and spread abroad...

The most superficial examination of "The Strange Case of..."

who had decided to become a resident of Hazard County, Mr. Spear resided in Sanford several months ago and was a most efficient member of the Sanford police force.

There was an election of officers for the next six months at the meeting of the Farmers Progressive Club last Friday evening. J. F. McClellan, was elected president; J. C. Smith, vice-president; Mrs. J. C. Smith, secretary; and J. C. Ellsworth, treasurer.

Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock a terrible accident happened at Monroe Ferry while the ferry boat was being transferred across the river with a pair of mules belonging to Commissioner Harden, of Volusia County, and a well-driving machine belonging to Mr. C. Y. Webb.

With difficulty is calm and impersonal audience given to the testimony. While no intention or desire exists to extrajudicially defend any party in this issue, yet common justice forbids passing acceptance...

Do You Know?

WHAT the Douglas firs of British Columbia reach such huge dimensions that if they were hollowed out at the base, the trunk could serve as a garage for an automobile. The photograph shows a car in one of these trees in Stanley Park, Vancouver, B. C. after the trunk had been hollowed out following the destruction of the tree by fire. And, it may be added, there are trees larger than this still growing in the park.

of unfounded scurrility. Particularly will equity repulse any attempt to use its plenary powers to abet any scheme or project for unworthy, dishonest or unbecomingly profit. Character and public reputation are priceless possessions and are not good hunting ground simply because a person holds office.

any judgment is an all too limited overlooking of the lie. We hope that the episode will have its moral and that slander of a President will be resented and halted by an uprising of popular sentiment in the future. For one and all, who participated in the vicious attack upon Mr. Hoover, whether to write or to circulate them, should bear a harvest of scorn and contempt which would serve as a warning for the future. For another, the country should resolve to protect its presidents, regardless of party lines, with a new generosity and good will.

Weekly Record of Incoming Tourists In Cars Is Broken

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 18.—The season's weekly record for incoming tourist automobile travel was smashed during the week Jan. 5 to 11, when 3,376 cars were checked from dawn until dark over U. S. highways 1, 17, and 11, according to Bouton's three information stations near the Georgia line.

This is over 700 cars ahead of any week since this service started Dec. 1 U. S. highway No. 17, coastal route, has led the two other main lines of automobile travel into Florida. From Jan. 5 to 11 Highway 17 (coastal) carried 1,348 southern tourists, highway 11 (west) 1,050 cars, highway 1 (central) 978 cars. Total of the week, 3,376.

Tourist's cars are carrying many passengers. Northern cars carrying only a driver are rare. Automobiles come through with just the driver and one passenger. A large percentage of "four-arms" and on up to as many as seven packed in with luggage.

Since Dec. 1 Bouton's three stations have checked 18,431 south bound cars. No Florida cars are checked of any description and only those Georgia cars which obviously contain tourists.

Hence a Milder Cigarette

"WHEN I work hard, I usually smoke more; and when I smoke more, I usually work harder—and that's why I want a cigarette that's milder."

We use in Chesterfield Cigarettes mild, ripe Domestic and Turkish tobaccos which have been aged and re-aged.

These good tobaccos in Chesterfield are used in the right proportions—that's a very important matter.

These good tobaccos in Chesterfield are blended and cross-blended—welded together; that, too, helps to make a milder cigarette with better taste.

GARDEN NOTES

The Garden Club of Sanford will hold its annual meeting on Friday, Jan. 20, at 10:30 A. M. at the Sanford Country Club. At the close of the business session, at which time election of officers for the next year will take place, Mrs. Malcolm M. Lander will give a talk on "Moths and Butterflies." This will be followed by the annual luncheon in the dining room of the club house.

Mrs. J. C. Benson is general chairman for this year, with committees assisting her. Mrs. E. N. Scott will have charge of decorations for the setting for the meeting in the rooms of the club house. Mrs. E. M. Galloway will plan and direct the table effects and Mrs. W. W. Gotsch, place cards and surprise features. Mrs. George Hull, hostess at the club, will cater for the Garden Club an attractive and palatable luncheon of four courses. There will be music and it is hoped the time at table will be so pleasantly spent that members will be not quite willing to return to their homes at so early an hour.

It is indeed a pleasure to note the fact that the object of the Garden Club has been so efficiently expressed in the program of the five circles within its membership as Article Two of the constitution presents reasons for the existence of our club. "The object of this club shall be to promote an interest in gardens, their design and management, to cooperate in the protection of wild flowers, and native plants, and to encourage civic planting."

These busy days, well filled with responsibility, urge us to hold tight—guard our homes and all that surrounds them, building firm our lives and the life of our community. It is indeed fitting to use effort in community service to the fullest measure because as individuals we are needed much more today in this service than in a period, "when the goose hangs high," so we are called upon to make many sacrifices doing our bit in all phases of civic work. It is in this thought that we so well realize that our memberships in the various organizations are not lost in influence, though we may ourselves feel we do not materially benefit.

There will be a board meeting of the club on Wednesday, Feb. 1, morning at 9:30 o'clock at the home of the president at which time all details of business will be dispatched such as reports of transferred, resigned, or new members, will be read for, and any recommendations toward the better rulings changes in by-laws etc. should be presented. Names of new officers in each circle must be reported, and lists for luncheon reservations (none will be accepted after that morning), must be turned in at that time. Does must be paid not later than the day of the luncheon.

The rain of last week was a blessing, and if you will now add your dab of fertilizer and work it in well around your annuals you will see a transformation in short time. Do not fertilize your shrubs. Cold is ahead—hope, and a fertilization of shrubs and most of our trees, will produce new growth and we would come with the cold. It is not too late to set annuals. You may fertilize your roses now, so if some have been lost in the past week, take courage, and set a few more, for you are going to enjoy them later when all the cold comes into your neighbor's garden, and through competition, and through the knowledge of the joy they give you and the beauty they add to the home and give to all who pass by.

D. L. Thrasher Home Is Scene Of Party

In honor of the members of the Tuesday Duplicate Club Mrs. R. A. Newman and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher entertained with a luncheon and bridge party given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thrasher, in Rose Court. Quantities of glacé in bright shades were used to adorn the rooms where the guests were entertained.

Immediately after the arrival of the guests luncheon was served in courses on the bridge tables which were overlaid with linen covers and centered with silver baskets of lavender and pink sweet peas. Novelty baskets of nuts marked the places of the guests.

Throughout the afternoon bridge games were enjoyed and prizes were awarded. High score prizes, Pyrex dishes, were presented to Mrs. E. L. Perkins and Mrs. J. C. Benson. Mrs. Joseph A. Melach was lucky in cutting and received a refrigerator water bottle.

Those present were: Mrs. H. H. Lewis, Mrs. Walker S. Coleman, Mrs. L. P. Bayne, Mrs. Joseph A. Melach, Mrs. J. C. Benson, Mrs. J. H. Humberston, Mrs. Ralph J. Wicks, Mrs. C. E. Henry, of Jacksonville, and Mrs. E. L. Perkins.

TO GIVE PROGRAM

"Our Help in Time of Trouble" will be the subject of the program to be given Thursday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church as a part of the week of prayer and self-denial services being held this week by this administration could give to the next administration," he said, "would be to enable them to start with the federal budget in balance and the federal finances in order."

The President pointed out also a need for refunding at an early date the outstanding high-interest bearing Liberty bonds into bonds bearing a lower rate of interest. He added it was essential, also, that a portion of the government's short-term borrowing should be converted into longer term issues.

"A balanced budget," he said, "would greatly facilitate such an operation."

After discussing various matters pertaining to pending appropriation measures, the President declared that "no matter how rigid economies may be, it is obvious that the budget cannot be balanced without a most substantial increase in revenues."

Pointing to income taxes, customs and excise taxes as the three major fields of income, the President declared his belief that income taxes already have been developed to the point of maximum productivity "unless we are prepared to abandon our American system of fairly high exemptions and reasonably low rates applicable to the smaller incomes."

Increases already made, he said, resulted in a retreat of capital into tax exempt securities and "the denudation of industry and commerce of that much available capital."

He said there was little hope of increased customs revenues without a recovery of trade.

Any attempt to distinguish between "excise" taxes on manufactured commodities, or "sales" taxes on similar products, Hoover asserted, could be no more than "mere juggling with words."

In the national emergency of the next fiscal year he said nearly $700,000,000 is comprised of "so-called excise taxes" levied on a few scores of manufactured commodities. Of the taxes now levied, he added, nearly $200,000,000 are upon essentials as distinguished from non-essentials.

"The Congress," he said, "has thus already established a 'sales tax' as the basis for one quarter of the whole public revenues and has already adopted 'excise' taxes upon essentials as distinguished from non-essentials. To extend this form of taxation in either new or revolutionary."

"Instead of spreading it over a few scores of commodities and services at irregular rates which cause discrimination and hardship between industries, it would seem the essence of good statesmanship to apply such a tax generally at a low rate upon food and cheaper grades of clothing, and thereby give to the federal government a stable basis of income during the period of depression."

man of the committee on Reference 63 dealing with the problem of war debts was also selected and accepted by the Board.

Mr. Newman will serve as general of the army of workers just as he did last year when a total of 1204 memberships was reported in 36 hours. Judge J. G. Sharon was appointed as major-general, while the General's staff will include H. M. Papworth, B. F. Haines, John Meisch, A. A. Speer, W. H. Tummelle, and T. H. Eckerson.

Appointment was also made of five colonels, each in charge of a division, each colonel to have six companies headed by a captain, and each captain to have four lieutenants.

The three Sanford colonels will be Walter Coleman of Division A; S. O. Shinholser of Division B and Peter Thurston of Division C. Mrs. J. W. Coates, of Oviedo, will be colonel of Division D, and H. W. Loder, of Longwood, as colonel of Division E.

During the discussion on the proposed membership campaign, Gus Schmah, of Lake Monroe, announced that he will furnish pork sausage and apple flapjacks for the breakfast meeting. Mr. Schmah whose offer was accepted with the thanks of the Board, also explained the importance of organizing to the local farmer.

Approval was given of plans for the Seminole County exhibits to be seen in the Pennsylvania Station in New York City and on the stage of the Municipal Auditorium in Orlando during February.

Hopeful of securing State Road Department co-operation in connection with the improvement of certain roads in this county, the Board appointed the following as a special committee which will attend a Road Department meeting in Tallahassee next Wednesday: State Senator J. J. Parrish, John Meisch, H. J. Lehman, George W. McRory and Karl Lehmann.

Appointment of a County Forestry Committee, to make a study of the forestry needs of this section with a representative of the State Forestry Department, was until a late hour to music to be furnished by Mero's Orchestra.

HOOVER POLICY IN EAST O. K'ed BY ROOSEVELT

called again at a luncheon conference. Late yesterday, Frank L. Fok, an under secretary of state to the Wilson administration, was received. Roosevelt expressed his visits as "look-ahead" to be before he starts south tonight.

He said he would probably start for the week's yachting cruise in southern waters from Jacksonville, Fla., about Feb. 1 or 2.

Father Charles E. Coughlin, of Detroit, spent a friendly visit during the day at the Roosevelt home. He said he would call again Feb. 15.

Former Judge Ben Lindsay and William H. Evans, president of the chamber of commerce of Cuver City, California, called together. They said they were interested in unemployment relief but did not go into details in their comment.

Leaving his talk with Roosevelt, Col. House asserted "no president in my memory has had better training for the high office than Hoover."

There is no doubt the President-elect is applying himself to the diversified issues confronting him and particularly to foreign problems. Those who have talked with him say he has an intimate knowledge also made. The committee will consist of B. F. Haines, of Altamonte Springs, as chairman; Mrs. Elnor Curtis, of Geneva; C. H. Dawson, of Oviedo; J. E. Fox, of Palm; Capt. W. J. Wells, Jr., of Fern Park; W. J. Wells, Jr., of Longwood; Mrs. Henry Wight and Fred T. Williams, of Sanford.

Those present at the meeting included: B. F. Haines, L. D. Haines, W. B. Haines, of Altamonte Springs; Clements Clements Hallett, of Fern Park; Harry E. Wigg, of Lake Mary; Gus Schmah, of Lake Monroe; J. H. Menick, W. J. Wells, Jr., of Longwood; T. W. Lawton, of Oviedo; Martin Stanko, of Slavia; J. E. Fox, E. H. Laney, of Palm; and I. E. Allen, G. E. Haines, W. S. Coleman, R. L. Dean, F. E. Dornier, V. E. Douglas, W. M. Haynes, R. J. Holly, W. A. Leffler, G. W. McRory, John Meisch, H. M. Papworth, J. G. Sharon, Peter Thurston, W. H. Tummelle, F. T. Williams, F. R. Wilson, of Sanford, George Bejha, of Lake-wood, Ohio was also present as was Karl Lehmann.

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS

By E. H. COLLUM

Company D and Headquarters Company held their regular drill Monday night. Headquarters having practically all present, Company D having 49 present, and 17 absent.

Both companies held close order drill during the first period.

The Headquarters Company has received a consignment of new rifles, which is a welcome addition to the unit.

We are glad to report that Sergeant Harper of the Headquarters Company, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Lake City Hospital the latter part of December, has now about recovered and is able to attend to his duties with the Company.

The Headquarters Company boys spent the latter part of the evening in constructing switch-board racks.

Monday night was pay day for Company D, the boys lining up after drill and many hearts made glad by the receipt of their drill checks.

The Medical Detachment held its usual drill Tuesday night, 29 being marked present and 3 absent, one with leave and two—Privates Kubank and Thompson A. W. O. L.

The first part of the evening was spent in close order drill, followed by the litter drill.

Private, Hester of the Medical Detachment received his discharge, he being compelled to resign on account of having to work at night. The vacancy was immediately filled by the enlistment of Joseph L. Moss, who several years ago was a member of Company C of West Palm Beach.

Sergeant Holtzclaw, of the Medical Detachment, holds a record that cannot be beaten, and the writer does not believe has been equaled by any member of the National Guard and that is he has not missed a drill night since he first joined the organization 12 years ago.

Keen interest is being taken in the contests that are being conducted by both Company D and the Auxiliary of the church. Mrs. W. L. Bealey will be the leader for the day.

Medical Detachment, about 15 boys of each unit receiving the mark of 100 for personal appearance, etc., this week.

Private A. Calhoun is the newest member of Company D, having joined last week.

Sergeant Porter Lansing's hands have about healed up from very painful but not serious injuries received a couple of weeks ago.

Inasmuch as most of the boys of the Medical Detachment have gotten their slacks, Major Stevens advises that all members of that unit must report at drill next Tuesday night in cotton shirts and slacks. Those who have not yet gotten their slacks must let them between now and next drill night.

Major Stevens, accompanied by Captain Staget of Orlando, made a flying trip to St. Augustine Tuesday, both returning in time to attend the drill that night.

The Medical Detachment boys also received their drill checks the first of the week.

DANCE PLANNED

A large number of members of the social set of this city is planning to attend the annual Robert E. Lee dance to be given tomorrow night at the City Hall by the N. G. V. Howard Chapter of the U. D. C. Dancing will continue at 9:30 o'clock and continue

A Thousand Yous

WHEN you pick up your newspaper and glance over the advertising you quite unconsciously multiply yourself a thousand times.

In half or three-quarters of an hour you can, figuratively speaking, visit every progressive store in town. You virtually poke your head into every department of every department store. You run into the florist's, the confectioner's, the oculist's, the leading groceries, banks, theatres, all the various places that supply the things that make this the twentieth century and life worth the living. Here is a greater choice in clothing, food, furniture, books, pictures, musical instruments, travel, entertainment, opportunities for investment, the service of public utility corporations than any monarch of old could command.

It would easily take a thousand years, traveling hard all day, to find out for yourself what the advertisements tell you in a few minutes morning or evening.

Advertisements deserve your attention. They deserve your confidence. Without advertising, the prices you would have to pay for many of the necessities you now buy for small change would make a dollar bill look like a snowball on the kitchen range.

BUY WHAT YOU NEED—BUY NOW

PROSPERITY—like age, is primarily a state of mind. After all, people are only as prosperous as they feel themselves to be. Spending creates business—Prosperity. Retrenchment creates depression—Business doubt.

If the money of the United States is kept in circulation, if you buy what you need, when you need it, thus furnishing employment for others, then they, in turn, can buy what they need.

In order to assist the national campaign of relief of the unemployed and help start the wheels of commerce in our own community, it is necessary we all do our part.

We are doing our bit by staging a special 8 day selling campaign, starting Friday, Jan. 20th, entitled THE DAWN OF TOMORROW—Not an ordinary sale, but an EVENT—Store-wide in scope—In marking these prices we are basing our prices on today's opportunities and forgetting the original cost. WE CORDIALLY INVITE YOU TO COME!

STAMPED SCRIP SYSTEM OF IOWA NOW EXPLAINED

Emergency Currency Plan Working With Apparent Success

Among the many plans for increasing the flow of currency now being discussed is "stamped scrip" as a type of currency which serves as the usual dollar bill in all respects except one. The scrip is stamped each time it is used and the spender is required to affix a stamp. Howarden, Iowa, has been using this type of scrip for three months. The following are the details of its experience with the new kind of money.

HAWARDEEN, Iowa, Jan. 18.—Certificates, easily printed in green, red black and white are passing as money here. These certificates are circulating in exchange for goods and services in an experiment with emergency currency which has brought a practically nationwide recognition. Mechanically known as trade stamps and resembling trading stamp books, they have been issued by the Howarden City Council primarily to aid in the relief of unemployed.

Howarden is governed by a council so "liberal" in its attitude that last April city officials became a thing of the past. The municipal-owned light and water works pay for themselves and for all other costs of city government.

In contrast with other city's municipal debts Howarden is accustomed to having on hand a comfortable balance at all times. The balance was $35,000 at the beginning of the fiscal year, April 1, 1932.

The scrip currency plan is a means the Howarden council has taken to relieve unemployment this winter, obtain valuable improvements without additional labor cost and treat out a theory that had had the backing many of the business men of the city.

The publicity which has attended the working out of the experiment has been the major drawback. City officials and merchants are kept busy explaining the operation of their stamped scrip system to scores of delegations from other communities and, by letter, to other inquiring persons. Inquiries have come from many states and from Canada.

The trading certificates of Howarden are not greatly different from the wampum used by the Sioux Indians, who formerly inhabited the hills and prairie along the Big Sioux River near here.

The council issued $300 worth of coupons about twice the size of a dollar bill in $1 denomination early in October, 1932.

Operation of the stamped scrip system is simplicity itself. It amounts to a sales tax or turnover tax of 3 per cent paid by each user of the "money."

The proceeds of the tax constitute a fund which the city holds to redeem the coupons. The coupons themselves are distributed to men employed on "made" work projects.

The city treasury is out nothing on the original payment and is out nothing in the end, because the purchase of stamps refunds the scrip with enough to spare to pay the printing costs.

It is much like the old story of the traveling man who left a $100 bill with the hotel man for safe-keeping over night.

The story goes that the hotel man "borrowed" the $100 bill to pay the butcher, expecting to replace it before the traveling man called for it in the morning. The butcher paid the grocer; the grocer paid it to the hotel man for food and room.

The next morning the hotel man returned the bill to the traveling man, who tore it up, explaining that it was counterfeit. But the bill had done $100 worth of business and everybody was square.

In Howarden each receiver of one of the $1 coupons must, before he can purchase anything with it, affix to it a three-cent stamp, bought with real money from the city clerk. The reverse side of the coupon carries numbered spaces where thirty-six stamps must be pasted before it can be redeemed for $1 in actual currency.

When the thirty-six stamps have been affixed the city redeems the coupon for $1. In the course of its travels the coupon has accumulated $1.08 worth of stamps purchased from the city, so the city has got back the $1 plus eight cents with which to pay the printing the coupons and stamps.

In Memoriam

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 18.—Technocracy has filled the nation's cornfields with "scarecrows" and the country has gone "technocracy," Dr. William Trufant Foster, Boston author and economist, told the High School Principals Association of Massachusetts, in annual meeting here recently.

Understanding Of College Purpose Is Asked By Educator

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 18.—A plea for more liberal public understanding of the aims, purposes and shortcomings of American colleges, instead of jumping to the conclusion that "higher education is a failure," was made by Dr. Carlton J. Hayes, professor of history at Columbia University, in a prepared address read at the closing session of the nineteenth annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges here recently. Dr. Hayes held that the "widespread popular devotion in our country to schooling is perhaps the greatest fallacy in contemporary America."

"Schooling has assumed with us almost the status and mystery of a singularly compelling religion," he declared. "Too little attention is given to good deeds, rather than to technical training. It is widely believed that a college can take any youth, and in four years of less by practice of some kind of hokus pokus turn him into an industrious, alert gentleman, a paragon of wit and a wizard of finances."

The average college, he asserted, "takes the students as they come and probably does the best it can with them." He declared that, by too things, humility and patience, the institutions may win back the public's confidence. Dr. Hayes was unable to attend the meeting and his address was read by Dr. J. Edward Park, of Norton, Mass., president of Wharton College.

Dr. Paul H. Douglas, professor of political economy at the University of Chicago, criticized colleges for being "almost completely ineffectual in influencing their own graduates or the general current of American life." He held that the greatest void in the cultural life of America is the lack of any real concern, even among the so-called educated classes, for any intelligent effort to develop the economic and social life for the common benefit of all.

"For example, most colleges for years have been teaching the advantages of free trade over protection. However, when correct economic analysis and wise public policy conflict with their social and pecuniary interests, the colleges throw overboard their teachings without a qualm."

"Only the South has shown consistent good sense in the matter, although the Middle West has shown signs of a re-

Technocracy Is Hit By Economist As Ancient Scarecrow

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 18.—Technocracy has filled the nation's cornfields with "scarecrows" and the country has gone "technocracy," Dr. William Trufant Foster, Boston author and economist, told the High School Principals Association of Massachusetts, in annual meeting here recently.

Referring to the "scarecrows," he declared, "Yet they are the same old figures that have been dancing on sticks through the storms of many winters. They are old with grandfather's discarded suits, be noted, 'threadbare and full of holes.'"

"They are stuffed," he continued, "with statistical straw that has been kicked around the barn floor for a long time. Still, in the pale moonlight these scarecrows seem alive, and the rustling of their strawstuffed limbs in the wind gives us creepy feelings."

In the previous century, many economists emphasized the fact that invention was increasing potential production per man-hour at such a astounding rate that new measures would have to be taken to provide work for the laborers displaced by machines. This fact is stressed in the elementary textbooks of a generation ago. Now the technocrats have found it out.

"Evidently, however, technology does not reduce the total number of jobs, for there were more men and women gainfully employed in 1929 than in 1909. In fact, job increased faster than population. That was the very period, moreover, when the Aladdin-like

However, as in all baked products the goodness of the ingredients controls the goodness and food value of the finished article. Flour is important. It should be a type in which the gluten is somewhat weak and not present in large amounts so that the cookies will not toughen under

DETAILED PLAN IS OFFERED TO CUT FEDERAL BUDGET

$300,000,000 Per Year Would Be Slashed On Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A plan for reducing the federal government $300,000,000 a year was presented to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States by Matthew S. Sloan, chairman of its committee on expenditures. Such a cut, Mr. Sloan asserted, would balance the budget for the fiscal year and make additional taxes unnecessary.

Mr. Sloan commended President Hoover for advocating in his message to Congress a reduction of $487,000,000 in 1934, as compared with 1933. "It is not believed," he said, that the executive recommendations are sufficient. Since the President's recommended cut of $487,000,000 would result in a deficit of $307,000,000, he pointed out, on the basis of these figures, that a reduction amounting to $785,000,000 would balance the budget. Engineering Group To Study Needs Of Civilization Is Plan

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—An engineering center that will unify the profession and conduct extensive surveys to determine "the needs and wants" of "this mechanized civilization" and cost more than $20,000,000 is being planned by Columbia University here.

One of the fundamental purposes of the center, according to information received from Dean J. W. Barker, of the School of Engineering, of Columbia here, is the accumulation of great quantities of basic factual data to determine "the true equation of variation of future industrial tendencies as an adequate weapon against periods of depression." Such a study constitutes monumental labor for a large group of able men and "is at present beyond the capacity of any independent body," Dean Barker holds.

In a report to Dr. Nichols Murray Butler, president of Columbia, in which he details his plan for the construction of the engineering center, Dean Barker charges that industrial "curia" advanced to prevent a recurrence of

1932 Philanthropy Gifts 50 Percent Less Than In 1931

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Gifts to philanthropies in six large cities of the United States in 1932 aggregated only about half the sum of 1931, it was revealed recently by the computations of the John Price Jones Corporation, fundraising consultants. Contributions from New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Boston were set at $176,008,914, of which $99,107 was in bequests.

In 1931 the same cities, exclusive of Boston, gave $344,355,000, of which bequests represented $215,577,268 and direct gifts $128,777,732. Education was the greatest benefactor, receiving $59,498,923. Organized relief was second with $46,979,817, most of which were in direct gifts.

Philanthropy made public in the cities in the two years are as follows:

On the basis of the wealth of the cities covered it is estimated that gifts of philanthropy throughout the United States reached $500,000,000 last year.

Pensacola Leads State In Exports 3rd Month In Row

PENSACOLA, Jan. 18.—For the third consecutive month, Pensacola led the entire state in export shipments, according to figures released for November by the district headquarters of the United States customs service at Tampa.

While leading the state, Pensacola fell far below the business of two previous months, September and October. These, however, are always big months for exporting, while a decline is generally noted in November.

Pensacola's total exports, $142,519 for November were slightly more than a third of the entire state's total, and more than half of the state's exclusive of Pensacola itself. Key West with $27,891, and Jacksonville with $20,184, were second and third respectively.

Pensacola was fifth in the state with exports of $159,215, and while Pensacola showed absolutely no import business in November, the Bay county seat was fourth in the state with imports totaling $43,211.

The city's decline from the same period in 1931 was not as great as the remainder of the state. November 1931, showed local exports as $537,668 as compared to $142,519 for the same month in 1932. The state's total for November this year was $1,419,591 as compared to $2,208,939, for the same months in 1931.

Pensacola's exports for October, 1932 were $308,619, and imports, $111,001; in September exports were $1,372,201 and imports were $335,799.
