DRY AMENDMENT COMES BEFORE THE COURT IN RHODE ISLAND CASE

Wets Call The Amendment Revolutionary

FORCING THE ISSUE

ATTORNEY GENERAL QUOTES STATES RIGHTS FOR RHODE ISLAND

Washington, March 9.—Rhode Island's legal attack on the prohibition amendment to the Federal constitution was argued in supreme court today, assailed by the complainant as revolutionary and an invasion of states' rights and defended by the government as legitimate addition to the nation's basic law over which the court held no jurisdiction.

Thongs attended the session of the court to hear the arguments on one of the burning questions of the day. Many persons waited outside the doors throughout the morning to obtain admittance.

Herbert A. Rice, attorney-general of Rhode Island, opened for the opposition, and William L. Frierson, assistant attorney-general of the United States, replied for the government. Other arguments will be heard tomorrow as well as appeals from Kentucky and Massachusetts involving the same question.

Mr. Rice charged there was in progress a "constitutional revolution through amendments."

"I see no more danger in the doctrine urged by the government than any doctrine urged by the demagogue during the world war," he said. The rights assured the people under the tenth commandment were never intended to be taken away."

Mr. Rice urged that the prohibition amendment resulted from a misconception of the law by congress and that the Federal government had no authority to make such a change in the constitution as the amendment provides.

Declaring that "amendment" means a correction, he said the terms of the prohibition amendment are clearly outside the purview of the constitution.

What about the thirteenth amendment abolishing slavery?" inquired Justice Pitney.

"That was a compromise amendment and corrected an error in the constitution," answered Mr. Rice.

Justice Brandeis asked what power could be about the conditions imposed by the thirteenth amendment.

"There is now power in the United States constitution to make such a change unless it could be done by unanimous consent of the states and the people of the United States," Mr. Rice said. "There is no power and there never was intended to be such encroachment by the Federal government upon the power of the states."

"Was not slavery supported by the police power of the states?" Justice McReynolds asked.

"Yes," said Mr. Rice, "but it was a police power to regulate."

Mr. Rice told the court that the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments "were written into the constitution by force" and not with the voluntary assent of the southern states. Assistant Attorney-General Frierson argued there was nothing revolutionary in the adoption of an amendment that lays down a "fundamental rule of law" that applies to all states.

With the court's permission Elibu Root filed a brief on behalf of the United States Brewers' Association in opposition to the government's motion to dismiss the Rhode Island case. The brief asked that the amendment be declared invalid and that the court hold the enforcement act unenforceable in Rhode Island.

A Concept of Duty.

There are at the present day but too many who imagine they have perfectly done their duty, because they are kind toward their friends, affectionate to their families, inoffensive toward the rest of the world.—Maxim.

Cardinal Tells Men 'Feminism' Pigger Menace

Boston, March 9.—Growing weakness on the part of the men of the country is developing a sinister feminism, Cardinal O'Connell told a gathering of men at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross last night. Man is the head of the house, he said, and should assert his proper authority in the home. To do this, the cardinal asserts prevents a false feminism, which, unless curbed, will have disastrous results for humanity.

"The women are becoming masculine, if you please, and the men are becoming effeminate. This is disorganization."

Father O'Connell said a father could look on and see his children, especially the girls, running rampant without any regard for propriety. Headship of the family, he said, meant that the father should look after the morals of whole family. The evil of extravagant expenditure, which he said would result in a financial reaction in America to some degree similar to that which has caused Europe's virtual bankruptcy, was criticized. The cardinal also argued against what was called the continual clamor for more pay by workmen and advised that they be on guard against a spirit working and enhanced for perpetual strikes with the purpose of destroying organization and industry.

KEEP OLD CURIOS

British Business Houses Have Their Own Museums.

Interesting Relics and Samples That Have in Some Cases Been Preserved for More Than a Century

The curiosities preserved by various business houses in Britain and elsewhere would make a museum of great size and unparalleled interest, observes London Answers.

The Worcester china works, for instance, possess samples of all the various kinds of china which they have manufactured for nearly 150 years past, including examples of dinner services made for many celebrities, such as Lord Nelson and George IV.

Another Worcester firm preserves with tender care a little faded slip of yellowish paper. On it is written the recipe, now some two centuries old, which was purchased by a former head of the firm from a butler, and has been the means of creating a large business and several large fortunes.

More than one firm cherishes some similar recipe. The Sprules, who supply lavender water to half the royal families in the world; the Nans, who hold the original recipe for maraschino. Both these carefully preserve the writings which founded their fortunes.

The famous firm of Sheffield cutlery, Joseph Rodgers & Sons, show visitors a knife with 1,900 blades. Ten fresh blades are added to it every tenth year. A second curiosity of which the firm is proud consists of three pairs of scissors so minute that all three can be covered by an ordinary lady's thimble. Another Sheffield firm possesses a knife which, though only an inch in length when closed, has seventy blades, all of different shapes.

A London firm of potted meat manufacturers possesses an interesting collection of the covers of the large china pots in which potted meat used to be sold some forty years ago. These are faintly printed in color from designs by some of the best known Dutch and English artists of the time. Each is framed, and probably no other house can show a prettier or quainter collection.

Shipping firms of old standing often accumulate wonderful stories of interesting relics. One Liverpool firm possesses a huge bone taken from a whale which a good many years ago deliberately charged a ship of theirs in the north Atlantic. The steamer was badly damaged but the whale was killed.

A good many firms preserve historic machinery of one kind or another. Richard Arkwright's own spinning frame is still to be seen at the Crossford mills. It looks clumsy enough compared with the complicated and highly finished machinery of today, but it was practically the source of Lancashire's great cotton trade and unexampled prosperity.

No Power Today

Manufacturing Plants In Sanford Laid Out All Day—Southern Utilities Company Say They Are Out of Fuel Which is As Good an Excuse as Any

CITY COMMISSIONERS MEET TONIGHT AND SHOULD BE ASKED TO GIVE THE PEOPLE OF SANFORD SOME RELIEF

The Herald comes out today with all Wire Service and all News Service Cut Out because the Southern Utilities Co., has failed to furnish any current all day. The lights were also off the greater part of the night. They claim they are out of fuel at the plant which is one of the excuses they have given all winter. There is no other plant in the state that has been tied up this winter because they could not get fuel but the Southern Utilities Co., is allowed to put it over on the people of Sanford because the City Commissioners have not made them toe the mark. The consumers will receive the bills at the end of the month that will be larger than if the current had been furnished every day in the month. The people of Sanford expect the City Commissioners to give them relief by enjoining the Southern Utilities Co., from collecting for something that they have not furnished. The Commissioners meet tonight and the citizens should demand that they get a square deal and the City Attorney should see that they do.

Photo of German Train That Runs on Air

An invention inspired by the reported shortage of coal in Germany is that of Otto Steinitz, a Berlin engineer, who has designed a railroad locomotive with an air propeller driven by two aerial 260-horse power engines. It is said to be able to travel 139 kilometers an hour and to consume but 500 grams of benzene per kilometer. The inventor is shown with one hand on the propeller.

Harold Bell Wright's Great Novel "Eyes Of The World" Shown At The Princess Today And Thursday

To the thousands of book readers who know the tense dramatic interest and deep emotional thrill of Harold Bell Wright's famous story of love and adventure, "The Eyes of the World", it will be welcome news that a magnificent motion picture production of the romance in nine reels will be seen at the Princess theatre on to-morrow and Thursday. The fight on the cliff in "The Eyes of the World" between King and Rutledge, which is the major climax of the story, is said to be one of the most thrilling things ever shown in a theatre. A musical score had been prepared for "The Eyes of the World" which is cued to the second with every mood of the unfolding tale, and is said to be a symphonic drama in itself.

"The Eyes of the World" was filmed with the active personal assistance of the author, who not only amplified the story for the screen and prepared the working scenario, but also took part in the day-by-day work of interpreting his characters for the production. A motion picture view of Harold Bell Wright at his literary workshop on his great ranch at Oracle, Arizona, are shown preceding the filmed story.

Holds Picture Nail Solid.

When a wall is so soft that it will not hold a picture nail, mix a little plaster of paris in a fecup; enlarge the hole to a fair size and insert the plaster—and, a minute after, the nail—and let it dry. The nail will be perfectly secure after it has dried.

The Motive.

All who have meant good work with their whole hearts have done good work. . . . Every heart that has beat strong and cheerful has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world, and bettered the tradition of mankind.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

SANFORD MERCHANTS LEND SUPPORT TO BALL TEAM IN COMING SEASON

Lumber Jacks to Tramp Over John Brown's Grave.

Troy, N. Y.—The grave of John Brown, the abolitionist, at North Elba, in the Adirondacks, is included in the sale of 1,200 acres of timber land in Essex county near Lake Placid, which has just been bought by James Hurley, Lake Placid, for $60,000. Lumbering operations will be carried on. When Brown was executed in 1859 his body was taken to North Elba, where he had founded a refuge for fugitive slaves. Several years ago a monument was placed over the grave.

COAL MINED BEYOND NORMAL

Bituminous Pits in Pennsylvania Reach High Mark in Month of January.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Production of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania in 1919 was the lowest in seven years. There were mined 86,200,000 tons, compared with 98,826,000 tons in 1918. Bituminous coal production reached the lowest level since 1915, with 458,000,000 tons, nearly 21,000,000 tons less than last year.

The soft coal mines in the first week of January reached normal for the first time since the miners returned to work after the strike agreement. Production was 107 per cent of normal.

SPOOK IS HUNGRY

"Hant" Makes Announcement, but Can't Be Located.

Providence (Rhode Island) Citizens Have a Real Sensation in "Manifestations" Which Have Baffled Elucidation.

Residents of Pond street, in Providence, R. I., are all on edge, for the house at 207, they assert, is undoubtedly "haunted."

For a week "manifestations" have been going on there, and when it came to the point where the cellar was jammed full of curious people and a line was waiting out through the yard into the street, the police took hold. Tenants said they would move if they could only find a place to move to, and both up and down the street dwellers said if someone did not do something pretty soon they would think of moving.

It all came about through a "strange voice" which, the neighbors say, emanates from the cellar. A week ago, quoting one of the Pond Streeters, a tenant went into the cellar and was startled by the voice saying: "Give me something to eat, I'm starving."

The tenant upset his coal scuttle, but was not nervous about it. He did not want to worry the other tenants, so he said nothing until someone else, entering the cellar, heard distinctly: "Take me out o' here."

There was a consultation; tenants laughed when they looked at each other, but they listened when they passed the cellar stairs. A neighboring marketman was called into consultation. He went downstairs "to be shown" and with amazing promptness an eerie voice from behind the confines of the cellar announced: "I know you; you're the butcher."

Comparison of notes led to the observations that the voice was heard most frequently at 12 noon and at 9 a. m. Noises in the night and the report that a gas range jazzed across the kitchen floor and back have all been orally chronicled to prove that there is something the matter.

Patrolman McLaughlin, the man on the beat, was called in. He heard noises and went in the second day. Then he took the matter up with Captain Higgins. They went down in the cellar together, explored the walls for pipe ends, but found no improvised speaking tubes. They looked the house over outside and discovered no rosinated twine attached to it, as juvenile telephones are sometimes contrived, and then they shook their heads.

Between thirty and forty persons at a time visited the cellar each day, hoping to obtain direct evidence of the "manifestations." Everybody who went away after waiting in vain heard mummings but, of course, had not expected anything intelligible from the "haunted" house with such a big crowd on hand.—Boston Herald.

Looks Like Sanford Will Have Winning Team

NEW TEAMS TO PLAY

$2,465 HAS BEEN RAISED AS A STARTER AND MUCH MORE TO FOLLOW

Never before in the history of Sanford has there been displayed so much enthusiasm over Base Ball prospects as have been displayed during the last few weeks. Men who want to see Sanford represented in every thing that is of any importance to the State are all anxious to see that Sanford is again represented this year with a ball team that will be a winner.

Last year our Base Ball Club did more for advertising Sanford than anything that has been done in years gone by. Every man who knew base ball through out the entire State talked of and knew of Sanford. The money that was spent was spent well, because the advertising alone was worth twice the money.

We start this season off with every one in the State watching Sanford. They have now learned what a ball team Sanford is and they are expecting big things from us. We will not disappoint them either, for we shall use all our efforts in placing a ball team in The Florida State League again that is bound to be a winner.

Other towns in the league are watching Sanford and they expect to use their efforts to head off Sanford. They too, know that Sanford goes into things to win and the preparations being made now by these other clubs show that they are all out with fire in their eyes. St. Petersburg and Daytona are both ball towns from away back and Sanford cannot expect to come out on top unless the Sanford men push. This is realized by our men here and they are pushing.

It takes money to put anything over and this year it will take more money than last year. And when you are called on to come up with a little change go clear to the bottom of your pockets before deciding upon the amount. Keep in mind the fact that this is not money thrown away because aside from the advertising it gives Sanford what is a town where it is all work and no play. And it is bound to keep people at home this summer and give them something to do while they are here. There will be many dollars spent in Sanford this summer that would not be spent without the Base Ball team being here.

The committee that is soliciting funds, have not as yet had the opportunity to canvass much but up to the time of going to press the following have come across voluntarily:

About the Swingknife.

A swingknife is a wooden sword, 18 to 24 inches long and 8 to 10 inches broad, used to scrape the woody portion from flax, a handful of which hangs over a groove in the standing board known as the swingstock. Swingknives are still used in the manufacture of flax in parts of the Old World, but modern machinery has pretty generally displaced them.

EDITOR W. B. HARRIS OF VALLEY-GAZETTE LOSES HIS RIGHT EYE

Was Assaulted on Street By Fred M. Bass Whose Finger Nail Cut Into The Eye

Kissimmee, March 7.—W. B. Harris, editor and one of the owners of the Kissimmee Valley Gazette, had his right eye gouged out Saturday, when he was unexpectedly attacked on the street by Fred M. Bass, candidate for the state senate from the Nineteenth senatorial district, comprising the counties of Osceola, Orange and Seminole.

Bass became incensed with Mr. Harris because he did not receive a reading notice in the Kissimmee Valley Gazette when he advertised his announcement in the paper Friday, March 5.

Words passed between the two men in the office of the Gazette Friday and Bass became insulting and was ordered out of the office. Saturday as Editor Harris was crossing the parkway on Broadway, Bass approached him, asked him if he intended to apologize or would he Bass, have to give him a whipping.

Mr. Harris replied he had nothing to apologize for. Thereupon Bass grasped the editor by the collar and a scuffle ensued. Bass is a young man about six feet three inches tall and weighing over 200 pounds. Harris is a man of small stature and weight and had no chance in the encounter. He fell and Bass on top of him struck him with his fist and then gouged Harris' right eye with one of his fingers, the nail penetrating deep into the orbit.

Sheriff Ingram and others pulled Bass off the prostrate form of the editor.

Mr. Harris, Saturday, went to Tampa and placed himself in the hands of an eye specialist and it was ascertained that the finger nail of Bass cut through the pupil of the eye, entering the lens, cutting it loose, it floating about and the the science of an optician cannot anchor it. Mr. Harris will be blind in this eye for life.

Bass gave bond for his appearance in city court Monday morning. Editor Harris returned last night from Tampa in a weakened condition from his experience.—Florida Times-Union, March 8.

Model Campaign To Be Carried On To Eliminate Malaria

Jacksonville, March 8.—The anti-malarial program of the State Board of Health has received the full endorsement of J. A. LaPrnce, chief sanitary engineer of the United States Public Health Service, and the federal organization has promised its full cooperation in carrying out the work.

The campaign will be started in Taylor county, Perry, the county seat, having provided a fund of $15,000 to assist the board of health in carrying out the anti-malarial measures. The Burton-Swartz Lumber Company of Perry added $10,000 to the Perry fund of $15,000 making a total of $25,000 financial assistance given the board. Similar campaigns will be carried on wherever a county or community will assist the board of health with its program. The program calls for d'faining, oiling, the use of surface-minnows, screening and the use of quinine prophylaxis.

FT. PIERCE NEWS BUYS TRIBUNE

A. K. Wilson To Leave Newspaper Business; May Be Daily Later.

Fort Pierce, March 8.—The News Printing Co., publishers of the Fort Pierce News, of which R. H. Glenn is president and editor, has purchased the St. Lucie County Tribune, semi-weekly, the Stuart Messenger and the Fellsmere Tribune, weeklies; from A. K. Wilson, and will continue the publication of four newspapers. The plants are valued at $40,000.

It is understood that the News Printing Co., will begin the publication of a daily on December or January 1, to run during the tourist season each year until conditions warrant an all year daily.

R. H. Glenn, who has been editor and manager of the Ft. Pierce News for four years and L. F. Chapman of Wartrace, Tenn. will edit and manage the newspapers. Mr. Glenn came to Florida over six years ago from Oklahoma, where for several years he was editor and manager of the Durant Daily and Weekly Democrat. Mr. Chapman retired from the Methodist ministry of Florida over two years ago. It is understood that Mr. Wilson is retiring from the newspaper fame.

CAST OF FAVORITES

"The Thirteenth Commandment" Is Latest Clayton Film

While no effort has been made to bill the cast in Ethel Clayton's new picture, "The Thirteenth Commandment" as "all-star" it includes some of the most prominent players on the screen. Besides the beautiful and talented Miss Clayton, there is Anna Q. Nilsson, one of the best known leading women in pictures. She recently appeared opposite Bryant Washburn in "Venus in the East" and in the production of "Soldiers of Fortune" Monte Blus, who played one of the featuring roles in "Everywoman" and is a favorite among the young film actors, gives a fine performance as the heroine's brother. The leading man is Charles Meredith, whose latest appearance was with Marguerite Clark in "Luck in Pawn." The cast also includes Irving Cummings, Winter Hall, and Arthur Jaude.

Robert G. Vignola directed the picture and it is a Paramount-Artcraft. The Princess Theatre will show today only with two other reels.

PHILLIPS THEATRE ORLANDO Monday Mar. 22 GUY BATES POST PRICES $3.00

Curtain At 8:15. No one Seated During The Prologue.

An Epoch-making event in the annals of American amusements is the presentation by Richard Wallon Tully of the virile-compelling-accomplished American actor, Guy Bates Post, in the iridescent bubble of modern-humanity, "The Masquerader."

The dual characterization offers Mr. Post a wonderful opportunity and the contrasted characters are impersonated by him with all the art of a genius mind. His drug fiend is a pitiful wretch; his Loder, the "man," the mental and moral antithesis of the other.

More intensely and artistically interesting than Jeekyl and Hyde—more massive in presentation than any modern play, and yet, so deftly done, its ponderous scenes move with the smooth rapidity of an uninterrupted panorama, and that is what this wonderful play is—A LIVING MOVING, TALKING PANORAMIC REFLEX OF THE WARP AND WOOF OF HUMANITY.

The most Ponderous of all Modern Plays pulsating with the element that comprises "Life" presented in

"THE MASQUERADER"

Thrift in Peace Time

The first requisite for you to do is to think—this will bring forth ideas of two kinds; viz: Imperfected and Perfected Ideas. The Imperfected Idea is one where you think you will some day start to save but just seem never to do it. The Perfected is where you ACT AT ONCE and save for thrift's sake. Which—course will you take? You know which is best and We Know where we can help you. Will you Come HERE?.

About Frogs. The name frog was applied to a person as typifying a race or nation in the "History of John Bull," by Dr. John Arbuthnot, physician and wit, the friend of the famous men of letters, Swift and Pope. In this book, published in 1712, "Nick Frog" is the name given to the Dutchman, not to the Frenchman. Frogs are also called "Dutch Nightingales." Walking Snakes. It is supposed that the early ancestors of modern snakes walked on four legs. Some big serpents, such as the boa, even now have rudimentary hindlegs. But the "feet" on which all snakes do their walking today are the cartilaginous extremities of their ribs. To preserve these is the greatest difficulty in the preparation of an ophiolary skeleton.

TELLS ITALIANS: 'TIGHTEN BELTS'

No Hope of Better Food Situation Seen by Food Controller at Rome.

STILL EATING WAR BREAD

Strikes and Riots Are Bred by Steadily Increasing Cost of Everything—Causing Deep Anxiety to Government.

Rome.—Italy's food situation is worse now than it has been since the armistice and almost as bad as it was during the dark days of the war. The feeling that all is not well has weighed upon housekeepers for weeks, when life's prime necessities grew rarer and dearer. But now the country has been told the bitter truth by Food Controller Muraldi in a speech before the chamber of deputies.

This year's harvest of grain has yielded 200,000,000 hundredweight less than last year; the government must import 250,000,000 hundredweight for bread, which is sold at 20 cents for a two-pound loaf, and means $400,000,000 on hard grain alone; on soft grain the loss equals another $400,000,000; on olive oil the state loses several hundred million dollars.

Italy is the only allied country whose inhabitants must still eat war bread. Its price, the government says, must shortly be raised 5 or 10 cents for a two-pound loaf, because the budget cannot stand the loss of $800,000,000 a year on grain alone. The public must bear part of the burden in dearer bread.

Rice is scarce, too; this year's harvest shows a shortage of half a million hundredweight; the oil harvest is so poor the public has less than one-third the quantity doled out last year. There is less than half the quantity of cheese, lard, butter and milk of last year; there is a serious sugar shortage too.

No Prospect of Relief.

And the food controller has no remedy to suggest. The public blames him and his food ministry. He blames the food ministry too, saying that such chaos reigned when he took office last summer that he has been unable to straighten things out and will resign as soon as possible. He told an astonished chamber that he found his ministry buying cheese at 50 cents a pound, to resell to wholesale dealers who doled it out to the public at $1.50 a pound. He added that one great trouble is the lack of food experts to advise the government in buying foods, especially perishable kinds. And he said he saw no hope for a better food situation in the near future unless people eat less and pull their belts tighter over empty stomachs.

The perpetual upward flight of food prices in Italy causes deep anxiety to those responsible for the country's good order. Recent strikes and civil strife were almost wholly due to discontent caused by the still increasing cost of life's prime necessities and more trouble is yet to come unless the upward trend is curbed.

Sample Increases.

Cotton goods cost 300 per cent more than they did in 1916, woolen goods 250 per cent, hats and shoes 200 per cent, shoddy clothes 250 per cent, glass goods 300 per cent. Home grown produce has increased more than foods imported from America. For instance, eggs are now 55 per cent dearer than three years ago, potatoes 450 per cent dearer, beans 420 per cent, fresh pork 370 per cent, Italian lard 280 per cent, beef 311 per cent, butter 270 per cent, cheese 250 per cent, milk 300 per cent, wine 525 per cent. The food control office reports that wife growers made such big profits this last year that they paid for the land their wives are growing on from the one year's gain alone.

The ever-growing cost of living in Italy, once the cheapest country in Europe, the paradise of the poor man seems to be in a vicious circle. Dear food and discontent go hand-in-hand, breeding strikes, riots, bloodshed. They again react on local production and cause prices to rise higher than before. Then follow fresh strikes and disorders; the screw is turned yet again and the vicious circle must be rounded once more.

FOR A TINY BOOK, $75,000

New York Dealer Bought Shakespeare Volume in Europe for a Client.

New York.—A copy of Shakespeare's "Venus and Adonis," printed in 1599 and classed as one of the most valuable books in the world, arrived here in the possession of George D. Smith, a dealer in rare books, a passenger on the Cunard liner Carmania from Liverpool.

Mr. Smith said he paid $75,000 for the tiny volume, two by three inches in size and weighing only two ounces. The volume was purchased for Henry E. Huntington of New York.

ENEMY RATTLED BY FIVE TANKS

Ruse That Kept Germans Guessing on Eve of Argonne Disclosed.

STAGE ONE-NIGHT STANDS

Their Bluff Attacks Divert Two German Divisions—U. S. Army Gets First Two of Improved Type of Battle Tank.

Washington.—The story of five little American tanks and the part they played in the great Argonne offensive is told as follows in a statement issued by the war department:

"Gen. Pershing with the first American army had just finished awakening the German high command to a healthy fear of the American soldier by reducing the St. Mihiel salient, and the plans for the Meuse-Argonne offensive were about to be carried into execution. In these days of the airplane and wireless telegraphy, it seems impossible to deliver a surprise assault. Nevertheless, no pains were spared to deceive the enemy as to the exact point of attack. As a means of covering the true point of attack, the chief of tank corps presented a scheme which received the approval of the high command.

Cut Up Like an Army of Tanks. "Accordingly, after the withdrawal of the tanks from the St. Mihiel sector, Lieut. Higgins with his platoon of the Three Hundred and Thirty-fourth battalion tank corps, was directed to proceed from this point in a north-westerly direction along the lines via narrow gauge railway. He was to stop each night and make a reconnaissance in front of our positions with his tanks and immediately load up and repeat the operation the following night further down the line.

"On Sept. 19, the five tanks and their crews were loaded and the expedition started. That evening they stopped in the rear of a little wood, many kilometers west of St. Mihiel. Of the little narrow gauge flat cars tumbled the tanks and nosed into the woods for concealment. About 11 o'clock all was ready and the miniature army started forward on its mission. Everything went off as scheduled. The tanks rolled through our positions and into No Man's Land.

"They were operated back and forth for half an hour. After this they were quietly withdrawn, crawled back on their little narrow gauges and started merrily on their way. They timed their work perfectly, and as they pulled out a terrific barrage hit the wood they had left.

"The following evening the procedure was repeated. Again the barrage descended too late to hurt the faintly band. For six successive nights the troupe staged their one night stands, and the reports all along the sector showed that the Hun was up in the air. All day long the sky was full of planes searching for the army of tanks which the enemy was sure was concentrating on this front. All suspicious looking places were bombarded with the usual Hun thoroughness and intensity. All night long the darkness was dispelled by hundreds of flares and rockets, and all indications showed that Helmsie was not going to be caught napping.

Diverted Two Divisions. "Best of all, just as the little band was preparing to entrain to get into the big show in the Argonne there came a message from the intelligence section stating two German divisions withdrawn from Argonne front. Entering for your sector."

The tank corps has just received at Camp Meade, Md., from the Rock Island arsenal two Mack VIII tanks. This type, the largest yet placed in quantity production, was especially designed for use against the Hindenburg line and similar defenses. Not so fast nor so easily handled as the lighter types, it possesses the ability to cross much larger ditches, crush more formidable obstacles, and carries a much heavier armament. The great difficulty with the large British tanks was that they were underpowered and, on account of the arrangement of the machinery within, did not afford the proper room for the crews. A commission of British and American experts has corrected faults largely through the adoption of the American Liberty motor.

BRITAIN HAS BIG NEW SHELL

Projectile is Said to Pierce the Heaviest Armor Without Shattering.

London.—The British navy may soon be given a new and "unsurpassed" weapon in a large caliber shell which will pierce the heaviest armor without shattering, said Sir Robert Hadfield, chairman and managing director of Hadfield's, Ltd., steel manufacturers, recently. He indicated that possession of such a shell during the great war would have been of inestimable value to the British fleet.

Lumberjack's Appetite.

We heard some time ago that the managers of the lumber camps had decided to refuse free feeds to the migrant lumberjacks, drifting from camp to camp, but not till we saw a lumberjack eat did we understand the fine impulse that led to the decision. After eating his fill, if one of the fellows should try to push his way down a logging road, he would get stuck between the trees and probably stay there until he starved.—Detroit News.

A. K. Wilson has sold his interests in the Ft. Pierce Tribune and several other East Coast papers to a new company that will publish a daily paper in the near future.

We are glad to get the Orlando Sentinel and the Orlando Reporter-Star again. While the paper shortage was so acute we could not get these valuable papers and no news was filtering through the lines from the boys of Orange county's capital.

"Are beautiful women stupid?" That is the query propounded by some d. f. over in London, and now it has floated across the Atlantic to stir up the d. f. a over here. Of course the answer of every sane married man would depend upon the personal appearance of his wife and of every lover upon that of his best girl.

WANTED—A NEW HAND The science of surgery has been developed to such a wonderful degree in the world war that a mother has appealed to the medical department at Fort Sheridan to graft a new hand on a five months old child that was born without that member.

The chief surgeon reluctantly admits that science has not reached that point. A new hand can not be furnished the little child, but who knows what the future may bring to it?

EVERYTHING YOU WANT FOR A GOOD MEAL YOU MAY FIND AT THE City Market Famous Dixie Cakes Fresh Dates Figs and Nuts Phone 106 FOR QUICK SERVICE

possible to amputate the stump of the living child and graft on the hand of a child that has just died. The time will undoubtedly come when surgical science will be able to accomplish even this wonder.

During the civil war many thousands of arms and legs were sawed off without the aid of an anaesthetic. Today such a thing is never even considered.

A few years ago the pulling of a tooth was a fearful ordeal to the victim. Today wholelets are extracted without pain.

The modern surgeon cuts a man open, turns him inside out, cleans his organs, sews him up again, and in a few weeks the fellow is up and trying to put one over on his competitor in business.

The wonders of surgery are so great as to be almost unbelievable to the lay mind, and yet it is only in its infancy.

Another great war will result in great achievements in the development of the science as the one just closed, and it will not be at all surprising to see the hands of the dead grafted onto the shattered stumps of the living.

Few things are impossible to the man of science who is determined to succeed.

TOO-MUCH MONEY—FOR SOME

A condition is being brought about in this country which is anything but desirable to one who values the future welfare of the United States.

From the number of millionaires that have sprung up in the past few years it is apparent to any thinking person that the wealth of the country is not being equitably distributed. Entirely too great a proportion of it is finding its way into the coffers of a favored class at the expense of the great mass of the people.

Millionaires are like mushrooms—they are shooting up almost overnight—and they are being created because our system of government makes it possible for the many to be plundered by the few. Or, perhaps it would be better to say that our failure to enforce the laws against copyrights in high places makes this condition possible.

Everyone has more money than they had a few years ago because the wealth of the country has increased by leaps and bounds, but the men who produced this wealth by the labor of their hands have not received their just proportion. Juggling and sharp practices have diverted the lion's share to that odiferous minority of gentry popularly known as high financiers—men who receive a hundred dollars for every ten that they honestly earn.

Government officials and public men wonder why there is so much unrest in this country.

It they would leave their gilded halls for a few weeks and get out among the people, eat what they eat, sleep where they sleep, and do as they do, they would soon imbibe not only the solution, but a little common sense as well.

A man can only become a multi-millionaire by taking the money from other people who are justly entitled to much of it. And for every plutocrat so created a thousand bulshewiks will raise their heads to plague the government.

The remedy is obvious. Place a limit upon the amount of money any one man may be permitted to accumulate, and then enforce the law against all people alike.

SIMPLE JUSTICE

Sooner or later congress must decide whether or not the country is to pay a bonus to our young men who defended their native land on the bloody fields of France.

There is some opposition to the suggestion, because the total runs into millions.

But here are two pictures, fairly stated—take your choice.

First. One young man remained at home, as it was necessary that some should do. He worked in munition factories, or in the ship yards, or in any of the thousands of places where work was required. He received high wages—probably higher than ever before—a good home in which to live, enjoyed his hours of leisure and recreation, and was in no personal danger at any time. He made money.

Second. Another young man went to the war, as it was also necessary that some should do. He gave up his position at good wages, forsook his means of enjoyment, exchanged a comfortable home for the rigors of camp life, endured the horrors of the bloodiest war in history, faced the dangers of sickness and disease, and returned to find another man in his old job, and in most cases had to be content with what he could get. He gave from one to two years of the best part of his life to his country and financially lost money.

Should he, or should he not, receive some additional recompense from the people whom he so valiantly served, when the taxation to be required for this purpose would be levied upon him as well as upon others?

A CASE OF EVERYBODY

Everybody walks the streets of this town.

Everybody sees bits of paper and refuse on the streets—possibly everybody helps to put them there. Everybody thinks they are unsightly and should be removed, but everybody waits for everybody else to do it.

Now if everybody would make a point of picking up this refuse we would have a more sightly town, and everybody would take pride in living in a place which everybody helps to keep clean.

Let's everybody get busy for the benefit of everybody else.

DIDN'T FEAZE THE PROFESSOR

Snake Expert Got Out of Rather Tight Fix in a Somewhat Clever Manner.

There is a certain professor of natural history who delights in propounding catch questions to his class, and one young fellow, who had been caught by one, determined to get even. At the next class, therefore, he said gravely:

"Professor, you have made a special study of snakes, have you not?"

"Yes, I think I am fairly well informed as to that branch," the professor responded.

"Then, professor, you can undoubtedly inform me on a point which, while doubtless simple, puzzles me. May I ask you a question?"

The professor began to feel uneasy, but there was nothing to reply but "yes."

"Then, sir, what I desire to know is, where does a snake's tail begin?" the young fellow asked gravely.

The professor was silent for a moment, and a titter began to run over the room, which increased to a roar as the professor replied calmly:

"That is quite simple; it begins at the end of the snake which is not the head."

WILL TUNNEL UNDER STRAIT

Japanese Authorities Said to Have Decided Upon Engineering Feat of Magnitude.

Several months ago announcement was made that the imperial government railways of Japan intended to build a tunnel under the Shimomoseki strait. This strait separates the main island of the Japanese group, Honshu, from the smaller island of Kyushu to the south. It is now crossed by a car ferry, which is rapidly becoming insufficient to meet the demands that are made upon it. Two years are to be spent in studying the geological formation of the sea bed in the strait and in drafting of the general plan of work in preparation for the actual undertaking of tunneling, so that the real work will not commence until 1921. Engineers and workmen will be sent to America and Europe to make a study of what has been achieved in these countries in the way of tunnel engineering. The line is to be seven miles long, one mile of which will be entirely under the sea. The approximate cost of the undertaking will be about $10,000,000 and the work is expected to be completed in 1928.

What's in a Number?

An aero squadron, preparatory to the start for the front, was being inflated again into the mysteries of close-order drill. While most of the men knew every nut, bolt and square inch of canvas on the planes, they were more than fuzzy about the forgotten details of their apprenticeship days in the army.

Small Girl's Criticism.

Little five-year-old Lois had been told not to be in such a hurry when she put away her playthings, to take a little more care and pack them straight. One evening her grandma was taking her home after dark. As they were walking along the street lights were turned on. She looked up and asked: "Grandma, who turned all those lights on at once?" On being told a man at the electric light plant turned them on, she said: "Well, then who turns on all the lights in the sky?" Grandma told her God did that. Nothing that the new moon was tilted at a different angle from what she had noticed before, she said rather disgustingly: "Well, I wish God would take just a little more time when he turns on the lights and turn that moon on straight while he is about it."

This Half-Dollar Rare.

Ever since the news that a silver half-dollar of 1853 brought $2,500 was published throughout the country a few years ago, there has been a great-or misconception as to this coin than any other ever struck by the United States mints. This arises from the fact that there are two kinds of half-dollars of 1853. The rare variety has no arrows at the dates and there is no sunburst on its reverse.

Only two specimens of this coin are known to be in existence. Half dollars of 1853 with arrows at date and sunbursts on the reverses are very numerous, however, and they have frequently dashed the hopes of holders who were unfamiliar with the distinction between the two varieties of the coin.

A Peasant's Observation.

"We have no army of the unemployed." "I don't know," rejoined Mr. Growcher. "After watching a few of the helpers who have come along in connection with various kinds of work, I have concluded that we have a large number in a state of unemployment. The difference is that they get paid for it."

COW EATS SILK GOWNS

Case is Settled Out of Court by Payment of $10.

There will be no lawsuit about the cow that ate two silk dresses at Calverton, L. L., for the claim has been compromised at $10, according to a statement made by Lawyer James T. Walsh, which sum was paid by the owner of the cow to the father of the owner of the dresses.

This story started when it was said Gus Brooks of Calverton demanded a warrant for the arrest of John Jablonsky's cow, which he wanted to charge with eating two little silk dresses belonging to his child. The cow, it was claimed, deliberately wandered over to the Brooks' clothesline and was caught with the goods—that is, she was seen to be calmly pulling the dresses from the line and eating them up. After the last of the garments disappeared—Mrs. Brooks was riotous to the spot with surprise for the time being—a demand for reparation was made. John couldn't believe that his cow would do so un ladylike an act, but when he was convinced she had settled the case by paying $10.

Ring Strangely Recovered.

A wedding ring was found in the stomach of a cod caught on the Grand banks. The ring belonged to Mrs. Pauline Burnham, an English woman, who had lost it when the steamship Anglo-Saxon went down in 1911. The fisherman traced the ownership of the ring and sent it back to the son of Mrs. Burnham, who is said to have rewarded him with a present of $250.

THEY TOOK HER LITERALLY

But Probably Musical Comedy Star
Did Not Mean Just What She Threatened.

A popular musical comedy star was taking her summer vacation in a New England village this year, and good naturedly agreed to participate in an "entertainment" to be given at the town hall for the benefit of local charities. She procured from New York one of the costumes from her last winter's show, and a fetching poster showing herself in that same costume. Soon after the poster was on display a delegation of village ladies waited upon the committee of gentlemen who were engineering the entertainment and protested against the chic costume of the poster, which was, in fact, that of the conventional "prince" of musical comedy, with a frank if pleasing display of silk-encased limbs.

"Let's send for Miss de Lancy and see if we can't fix it up," a committeeman suggested, and this was done.
Now, besides being good natured, Miss de Lancy is high-spirited, and rather thought that the costume which had been good enough for her to appear in for some hundreds of times in New York would do for one appearance in Hicksville.

"There is no use talking," she announced with decision, "I'll appear in that costume or nothing!"

There was a moment of horrified attention, then quick whispering among the lady delegation, and a moment later their protest against the proposed costume was withdrawn.—Philadelphia Ledger.

COSTS MONEY TO RUN ZOO

Pets of Londoners Are Really Expensive Propositions in the Feeding Line.

How much does it cost now to feed an elephant for a year? Two thousand dollars, say the officials of the London
zoo. And a giraffe costs half as much.
So that, with the increased prices of food, have come new problems for the keepers of menageries. The meat foods include beef, horse flesh, guinea pigs,
rats, cats, mice, rabbits, frogs, snakes,
fish, pigeons, ducks, sparrows, gentles, snails, ants and cod liver oil. The gar-zelles, buffaloes and antelopes must be provided with rock salt. They are fed on oats, bran, hay, green clover to gether with carrots and potatoes. The birds are the most difficult to feed satisfactorily. Flamingoes, for instance, require soaked wheat, boiled shrimps and fish cut small. Some birds are fed largely on bullock's liver. This is cut into slices, boiled, then put through a mincing machine. The mince is dried in a slow oven and preserved.
The dry mince is usually mixed with bran or pollard. Quantities of insects have to be kept in stock for the insect-eating birds. These are principally meal worms and gentles, which is the polite name for night maggots. But for some birds flies and grasshoppers are required. The monkeys require fruit, such as bananas and apples, while the snakes must be fed on small animals, such as rabbits, mice and rats.

New Idea in Storing Coal.

The ingenious plan of storing coal in carbonic acid gas, as undertaken at Dortmund, Germany, gives the safety from spontaneous ignition of underwater storage, while the elimination of fers the convenience of the overhead bunker. Each of the three cylindrical bunkers constructed with a capacity of 2,500 tons, has semi-spherical top and bottom, and three filling openings
at the top, with three discharging outlets at the bottom. The lower outlets are gas tight when closed, but as the carbonic acid is much heavier than air
the upper openings do not require being absolutely leak proof. A grab on a structural steel tower unloads the coal from a barge. The coal is dropped into a small hopper, and then fed to a push-plate conveyor, which is so placed that it may serve in filling or emptying the three bunkers. The small amount of carbonic acid gas that leaks
out in removing coal can be readily replaced.

Fun for the Girl.

One evening, coming home from the theater on the street car with my lady friend, I stepped from the car and noticed an automobile coming up behind the car. I kept my eye on the automobile and took the elbow of the next person alighting after me, expecting it to be my friend. Still watching the motor, I led the elbow safely to the walk, and then turned my attention to her. But, to my embarrassment, who should I find myself escorting, but a great, tall man, who said in the sweetest voice: "Thank you, I was never escorted by a young man across the street before; you are the finest fellow I ever met." My lady friend was rather amused, and I led over the lady to the door of the home.—The Home Society.

Wanted Smell to Materialize.

John had been taken by his mother
for a long ride to see an old man who was slow in getting the dinner on the table. John was hungry and could smell the dinner. Finally, in order to hurry things a little, he edged up to the aunt and said: "I'll be glad when I can taste that smell won't you?"

FREIGHT CAR BROKE AWAY

Peculiar Happening Hailed as Something Particularly New in History of Railroad.

The Erie railroad has demonstrated the practicability of a theory that a freight train may lose a car from its midst and keep to its schedule with its crew in ignorance of their loss, and Ed Mott, of Goshen, the local historian, is happy.

For a generation Mott has been telling folks of an Erie train that left Susquehanna in the winter of 1855 with 15 cars of cattle. At Port Jervis one car was missing. It had disappeared from the middle of the train without leaving broken couplings or other traces of the manner of its ejection. Two days later the missing car was found in a field near the track at Shohola.
It was empty. The cattle it had held were recovered in Sullivan county,
New York. They had freed themselves from the car and crossed the Delaware river on the ice.

Engineer Albert O. Roberts was driving a train to New York last Sunday morning. At West Tuxedo ab-rake trouble led to the discovery that the fourteenth car was missing. The thirteenth and fifteenth cars had re-coupled themselves. Search led to the discovery of the missing car alongside the track a mile to the north.

The accident of Sunday was exactly the same as the one which Mott describes as of sixty-odd years ago, except that the modern form of brake caused the loss of a car to be discovered more quickly than was the case
in the old days, when the couplings were of simple design and the brakes
were operated by hand.—New Haven Union.

GOOD EXERCISE IS MOTORING

Physician Seems to Have Made Out a Good Case for His Side of Argument.

Dr. Henry Williams, in an article in Motoring, combats the theory that motoring is reducing our opportunities for exercise. He says its benefits are threefold: physical, mental and vo-litional. The buffeting of winds and the inhalation of large quantities of oxygen stimulate digestion, assimilation and excretion. This is true of the person who merely sits, as well as of him who drives. The latter, however, benefits directly. Doctor Williams says: "When you drive a car 40 or 50 miles over average American roads, or a fraction of that distance in any city, you give your arms and torso a course of purposeful callisthen-ics that rebounds directly to the benefit of your muscles and arteries and heart and indirectly, but no less significantly, to the benefit of your digestive organs of elimination as well as the nervous system."

Another Statue.

With the unveiling of the figure of
Gen. William Shepherd in the community of Westfield, Mass., a worthy figure is added to the American population of revolutionary heroes whose memory is perpetuated by a public statue. General Shepherd, before the Revolution, had taken part in the "Old French war" which justified Manulay in saying that because Frederick the Great had decided to rob a neighbor "red men scalped each other by the great lakes of North America." He began as a private soldier and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel under Washington, and later commanded a brigade under Lafayette. Individuals have sometimes questioned the utility of public statues; yet in this case, as in many another, the statue defeats
the common forgetfulness of past deeds that has found expression in the old saying, "Out of sight out of mind."

No More Pups.

A little friend of mine who lives
next door has been teasing his mother for a puppy. Knowing the destructive habits of such animals, she has firmly refused to let him have one. At last he persuaded her to let him borrow one for half a day to show her that a puppy knew enough to properly behave himself. Being warned that he must watch the puppy every minute
it was in the house, the little chap
for a time was careful to keep his eye
on it; but, finally tiring of such vigilance, he relaxed his attention only to give the puppy the chance it had been waiting for. It improved it to the full by chewing to pieces one of his most cherished Christmas toys. This was too much for the young host. "Good night," he exclaimed, "no more pups
for me; I'll get me a 10 year old dog."
—Exchange.

The Artistic Temperament.

The landlady announced that a well-known humorist and cartoonist was to join us at our boarding house and we all had expectations of meeting a jolly good fellow who would drive dull care away. When he arrived he insisted on having a small table by himself, and instead of drawing his chair up to the table always drew the table to him, eating, facing the wall, with his back to the guests, and declined to meet anyone. All in all he was a sad character to gaze upon, and a great disappointment to the guests. Exchange.

"Mark Him Duty."

"Wealthy Patient—Oh, doctor, I have such a bad cold. I can't go to the office this morning. Can't you do something for it?"
Dr. Army Medical (just out)—Get out of here! Don't you see I'm busy? There isn't anything the matter with you yet, old buck.—The Home Society.

PERKINS & BRITT

"THE STORE THAT IS DIFFERENT"

First Woman Journalist.

Mrs. Anne Royall, born in Maryland in 1769, was not only the first woman journalist, but the first of her sex to own and edit a newspaper. She was the widow of a Virginia revolutionary war officer, and appeared in Washington in 1824 for the purpose of trying to secure a government pension. Failing in this, she started a small weekly sheet which was first called the "Washington Post" and later the "Huntress." She had met personally and talked with every president from Washington to Lincoln; and was the terror of politicians.

How Herons Take Fish.

The heron tribe has the most typical and accomplished spearman, although the kingfishers and some others have ability of that sort. Persons who have been much near streams and lakes often have seen herons, and it is not difficult to watch them fish.
With their long legs they easily can wade into fairly deep water. Having reached a suitable spot, they may stand for hours as motionless as a reed or post, with sharp-pointed spear
—the long, slender beak—poked for a strike. If the fish is small the heron probably opens the beak slightly as he strikes, and snaps it up as if with forceps. It is known they sometimes drive the beak through large fish and it may be they often kill their prey in that way.
