SCC Title Hopes Gone With Defeat

Florida Community College-Jacksonville spoiled Seminole Community College's title hopes Wednesday night with a 95-94 victory at Jacksonville. SCC could have clinched the Mid-Florida Conference title and an automatic bid to the JUCO State Tournament with a win. The Raiders now will likely finish second and will have to win the MFC Tournament for a state bid.

Longwood Juveniles Got JOY Awards

JOY (Juvenile of the Year) awards were presented at Monday's Longwood commission meeting to students nominated by faculty of schools in the city for all-around effort. Recipients were Christopher Bower, Woodlands Elementary; Damon Carroll, Lyman High; Holly Hissom, Rock Lake Middle; Melissa Johnson, Milwee Middle; and Jeanne Turner, Longwood Elementary.

Sanford Mail Service: No Sunday Collection

Sanford Postmaster Fred Rader said today that contrary to a previous announcement that post office hours will be from 10-12 on Saturday, the Sanford Post Office will open at 9 a.m. to take care of heavy business. However, Sanford, like other Post Offices in Central Florida, no longer collects mail on Sundays. Rader said due to the national Postal Service's budget reduction of $100 million.

Expressway, DOT People To Meet, Eat

Members of the Seminole County Expressway Authority are meeting with Secretary of Transportation Kaye Henderson and Ben Watts, DOT area supervisor from DeLand, over dinner in Altamonte Springs tonight. Henderson and Watts are touring Central Florida this week meeting with public officials. They are scheduled to meet with the Orlando Orange County Expressway Authority at 5:30 p.m. and meet the Seminole authority members for a 4 p.m. dinner at the Ramada Inn in Altamonte Springs.

It's The Law: Slow For Manatees

Boaters may have trouble understanding signs that order "slow speed" on the speed in Florida waters when manatees are protected. But Game Warden Jesse Baker said state law spells out that slow speed means "no speed greater than that reasonable and prudent to avoid disturbing or injuring a manatee." Baker warns boaters to go slow or pay a fine.

Reported Suicide-Tries Prompt Jail Changes

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

The reported suicide attempts by at least four juveniles in the Seminole County Jail in recent weeks has prompted changes in how guards monitor inmates. The most significant change, according to jail officials, is the stationing of a guard inside the juvenile cell block to directly supervise the youths 24 hours a day. Before Feb. 11, guards were stationed outside the cell block in a glass-enclosed control booth from which they could see only portions of the cell block area. The guards are required by law to make visual checks on juveniles inmates every 15 minutes. "The juveniles are happier with direct supervision," said jail administrator Capt. Jay Leman. "They know nobody is going to jump them or bully them."

John Polk Jay Leman

Another change is the placing in isolation, with state permission, one juvenile who allegedly has made verbal sexual demands of one of the youths who was involved in the reported suicide attempts. Leman said the state attorney is reviewing those allegations, which are of simple assault with words, to determine if charges are warranted against that youth.

The juveniles in the jail are housed in the maximum security area. They are not now never have been and never will be mixed with adult prisoners, Leman said. So adult prisoners pose no threat to the safety of juveniles in the jail since they never have contact with them, he said.

The youths in the jail have been ordered by a judge to be held there or have been adjudicated to be tried as adults for serious crimes such as murder, rape and armed burglary. Typically they spend about six months in jail waiting for disposition of their case. If they are sentenced to serve time, they typically are sent to a juvenile detention facility, unless they are sentenced to do time in the county jail, which is rare, Leman said.

No Choice With Juveniles
Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, who supervises the jail operation, said that ideally there would be no juveniles in the jail, but the system doesn't work that way. Polk said he has no choice but to accept juveniles when ordered to do so.

Polk also said that it is not See JAIL, page 8A

Bob Norris' Pay Raise Challenged Lake Mary Board Split

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary Mayor Dick Less said he will suggest a 7 1/2 percent annual pay raise for Lake Mary City Manager Bob Norris at tonight's city commission meeting, but it already appears that approval of the pay raise could hinge on the vote of one commissioner.

Commissioner George Durvay is the only commissioner who says he hasn't made up his mind on whether Norris should get a raise.

If a vote to approve the raise were taken before the meeting, there would be a 2-2 deadlock on the issue between the other four commissioners. A quick poll shows that means apparently Durvay's opinion of Norris' performance would be the deciding factor in whether the raise is approved.

Norris' salary is now $43,000, but with the raise to be suggested by Less, the increase could would bring that to about $45,450.

Norris was hired in January 1987 at a salary of $29,433 and received a pay adjustment last October, along with other city employees, to bring him to his present pay level.

Commissioners John Perry and Paul Tremel have said they will support a raise for Norris. Both men wrote favorable evaluations of the city manager last month after his first full year on the job.

Perry said he felt Norris was doing a good job and that the city manager deserves a raise. He added that the 7 1/2 percent to be recommended by Less sounds reasonable.

Tremel said he also thought Norris should get a pay increase, but was open to negotiation as to how much of a raise should be approved by the commission.

He said the pay scale of the city manager should be brought closer to other cities of comparable size.

Can't Answer Questions?

Tremel said in his evaluation of Norris that the one problem he felt the city manager might have is that he sometimes can't answer questions put to him by commissioners during meetings. He added that other members of city staff seem to be able to answer the questions.

"I think Bob should sit down with his staff before a meeting and go over things," Tremel said.

Tremel also said that the fact that Norris had a heart attack last October may have also hurt his performance, but he really doesn't know how much it hurt.

Commissioners Randy Morris and Thomas Mahoney both wrote negative evaluations on Norris' performance, and both said they wouldn't support a raise for him.

"I don't think the city manager deserves a raise," Morris said. He added that he believes Lake Mary is still operating under a crisis management type of government and that Norris hasn't done much, if anything, in the See PAY, page 1A

Mission Seeks Funds

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Rescue Outreach Mission located at 1701 W. 14th St., Sanford, will kick off its first annual fundraising drive on Saturday with a candlelight banquet at 6 p.m. The fundraising committee will host the roast beef dinner to be held at the mission.

Guest speaker will be Don Moody, executive director of the Orlando non-Profit Mission. Evangelist Marlowe Smith, vocal and instrumental soloist from Sanford, and Ronald Tombs of Rochester, N.Y., will provide musical entertainment.

Donor prizes donated by local merchants and individuals will be given away.

Deadline for purchasing tickets is Friday. They are available at the mission, Williams Fish Market, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce or by calling Public Relations and Fundraising Director Quintin Eason at 322-1137.

Providing food, shelter and clothing for the homeless and hungry, the Rescue Outreach Mission is the first of its kind in Seminole County. It is a non-profit organization operated on a volunteer basis and is open to all regardless of race, creed or color. Founded by Mother Blain de Bell Weaver, the Rescue Outreach Mission opened its new shelter in December. It was built mostly with volunteer labor as money and materials were available.

Eason said clients are fed three meals a day and a total of approximately 200 meals a day are served. With the aim of helping the whole man, there is a religious service held daily for those served by the shelter. Job referrals are made to enable clients to become self-supporting.

There are both men's and women's dormitories and, according to Eason, the men's dorm is filled to capacity. They are making use of coats donated to the mission through the United Way. Families are also given shelter.

Referrals have come from the local offices of the department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, the police and fire departments, Salvation Army and other agencies seeking a place for transients or homeless people, Eason said.

"We want to help eliminate the problem," he explained, "as you can see, it is a growing problem in our community and as time progresses and the city continues to grow, the problem will get greater. We are grateful to have this opportunity to serve the community."

SCC Slates Black Literature Workshop

Theme: Ties That Bind Africans And African Americans

"Ties Which Bind Africans and African Americans: Themes in Black Literature" will be the theme of a workshop to be presented Saturday at Seminole Community College as part of Afro American History Month, according to Dr. Lurline Sweeting, instructor and counselor at the college.

The day's activities begin at 9:30 a.m. with registration, Sweeting said. All workshops are to be held in the Fine Arts Building and are free and open to the public, as well as students.

The charge for the luncheon for non-students will be $5, she said. Workshops will also be held during the afternoon with the activities concluding at 5 p.m., she said.

Mildred A. Hill-Lubin, an associate professor of English and African studies at the University of Florida, Gainesville, will present that workshop.

Lubin's workshop will be held between 10 a.m. and noon, according to Sweeting. Lubin will discuss three female authors: Zora Neale Hurston, black American, Pauline Marshall, Caribbean American, and Ama Ata Aidoo, Ghanaian.

Lubin has a Ph.D. in English and African studies from the University of Illinois, a master's in English from Western Reserve University, and a bachelor's degree from Fairleigh College.

She has traveled extensively in Togo, Dahomey, Ghana, Nigeria, Senegal, Liberia, Ivory Coast, Haiti, Paris, France, Italy, and Hungary, according to Sweeting. —Nancy Simmons

Three Public Hearings On Sanford P&Z Agenda

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

Three public hearings will be held tonight at the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission meeting in the city commission chambers at city hall.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. The first hearing is to consider a conditional use request for food preparation at the Quick Stop Center (Grocery, 801 Celery Ave.). The second public hearing is for a conditional use request for a retail tire store at U.S.

P&Z Hearings

- The Quick Stop-Center grocery wants to add a food preparation service, for off-the-premises consumption.
- The owners of property at the corner of U.S. Highway 17-92 and Americana

Boulevard want to open a retail tire store at that location. • The owners of a vacant lot at the corner of Seventh Street and French Avenue want to open a used car lot on the property.

17-92 and Americana Blvd. near Seminole Centre. The third is to consider a conditional use request for a used car lot at Seventh St. and French Ave. Three site plans will also be considered at the meeting. Food preparation at the convenience store would be for off-premises consumption, according to City Planner Jay Marder. He recommends approval of the conditional use request, basing his recommendation on the fact the grocery store is already in existence, he said. He also noted that adding the food preparation service to the store would not detract from the store, nor from the character of the area. The site is in a restricted commercial area.

RR 41 is used. The Quick Stop-Center also has self-service gasoline pumps, and while several single family residences are in the area, the site is adjacent to both multi-family (MR-1) and single family (SR-1) zones, he said.

Independence Oil, Inc. is the owner of the property, and will be represented at the commission meeting by Alex Blumhard.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Two To Have Exchanged Gunfire; Neither Injured, One Nabbed

One of two men who allegedly fired guns outside William Clark Court in Sanford Tuesday has been arrested by Sanford police. The second gunman has not been identified, police reported.

There was an exchange of gunfire between the two, police said, and police reported arresting Arthur Douglas Mosteller, 26, of 2518 Ridgewood Ave., #114, Sanford, at the scene at 2:12 p.m. Tuesday. A bullet believed to have been fired in the exchange was recovered from a wall of a closet in 11 William Clark Court, police reported.

Mosteller has been charged with shooting into a dwelling and use of a firearm in a felony. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

Items Not Recovered; Suspect Is

A 26-year-old man who allegedly stole a bicycle and a camera from a home at 832 Rosalia Drive, Sanford, on Feb. 7 or 8 was arrested by Sanford police at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Seminole County Jail.

John J. Bogucki, no address, has been charged with grand theft. He reportedly told police he stole the goods with a total value of $545 to pay for his illegal drug supply. The stolen goods have not been recovered, and Bogucki was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Driving Under Influence Arrests

The following people have been arrested in Seminole County on charges of driving under the influence:

—William H. Hancock, 34, of 111 Crystal Drive, Sanford, was arrested at 8:40 p.m. Monday, after his car was in an accident on West State Road 46.

—Terry Reyes Jr., 26, of 2957 Red Bug Lake Road #4, Casselberry, was arrested at 11:29 p.m. Tuesday after his car was in an accident in a parking lot on State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

—Charline Boynton, 51, of 411 Willow Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 11:37 a.m. Wednesday after her car was in an accident in the parking lot of Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford. She also was charged with careless driving.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Richard Stocum, of 606 Baywood Drive, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies his $200 trolling motor and $400 worth of fishing gear were stolen from his boat in his yard Monday or Tuesday.

Larry Bruce Ary, of Apopka, reported to sheriff's deputies that tools valued at $600 were stolen from his Southeast Power Corp., of Titusville, car at 3142 Cecelia Drive, Apopka, on Sunday or Monday.

Three carpets and two sofas with a combined value of $3,100 were stolen Sunday or Monday from the home of Patricia Anne Robinson, of 5207 Ardmore Drive, Winter Park, a sheriff's report said.

Tools and a radio with a total value of about $1,400 were stolen Sunday or Monday from Delawader and Co. and Faunlight Co., 1800 Longwood Lake Mary Road, Longwood, a sheriff's report said.

Maria D. Gerrity, of 1333 Classic Drive, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $250 edger was stolen from her garage Monday.

A $500 rug and a $279 video recorder were among the items reported to sheriff's deputies as stolen between Feb. 12 and Tuesday from the home of Nancy P. Lang, of 3630 State Road 426, Oviedo.

Jewelry with a total value of about $810, including a $300 diamond ring, was stolen Tuesday from the home of Joyce Louise Dreher, of 353 Concord Drive, Casselberry, a sheriff's report said.

Three Appear In Court

The following people recently appeared before a county judge at the Seminole County Jail after their recent arrests:

—Edward Mark Jackson, 17, of 2510 Highlawn Ave., Sanford was arrested on Feb. 3, and charged with burglary, third-degree grand theft and dealing in stolen property. Jackson is scheduled for arraignment and trial on April 25 at 9 a.m. There was no bond set for Jackson.

—Willie Earl Alexander, 22, of Bldg. 170, Apartment 204, Oxford Square, Casselberry, was arrested on Friday, and charged with possession of a controlled substance. Alexander is set for arraignment on Feb. 29 at 9 a.m. Alexander's bond was set at $500.

—Robert Brian Harrington, 32, of 374 Brittany Circle, Casselberry, was arrested on Feb. 11, and charged with lewd and lascivious assault upon a child and sexual battery. Harrington is scheduled for arraignment on Feb. 29 at 9 a.m. Harrington is being held at the county jail without bond.

Water Tower To Be Toppled

Landmark Fate One Of Commission's Actions

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

It's official: Longwood's landmark water tower will soon bite the dust. The City Commission unanimously awarded a contract to demolish the 63-year-old city water tower to Security Maintenance Inc. to do the job for $8,950 and has authorized the Mayor Dave Gunter to sign the agreement.

The 7,500-gallon elevated tank was taken off line 8 1/2 years ago because it leaked. City Engineer Charles Hassler had advised the commission to have the water tower taken down because in its present condition it presents a safety hazard. There were also financial considerations since it would cost the city $29,000 to refurbish it plus $2,500-$3,000 a year for maintenance, Hassler said.

The Longwood Historical Commission, which had requested that the water tower be fixed up and kept as a historical landmark, has asked the city to install a mini-park and commemorative plaque at the site after the tower is demolished, and the commission has agreed.

In conjunction with the project, the commission Monday night gave preliminary approval to an ordinance amending the budget to provide $10,500 from the contingency fund for demolishing the water tower and putting in the park and plaque. Included in the ordinance were funds for $1,500 for engineering expenses for Lakeview Avenue and $50,900 for funds for Lochrane Engineering pursuant

Longwood Meet

Longwood City Commission Monday night awarded a contract for demolition of an unused water tower deemed unsafe.

• Contractor: Security Maintenance Inc.

• Cost: $8,950 transferred from contingency fund.

• Considerations: The tower was no longer needed, it posed a threat to life and property, and it would have cost more to refurbish and maintain than to tear down.

• Commemoration: Mini-park and plaque planned for site after demolition.

to the pay schedule proposal agreed to by the commission on Dec. 21, 1987.

In other business, the commission:

- Accepted the final plan and plat for Danbury Mill, Unit 3B on Lake Emma Road, submitted by Danbury Ltd.
- Set a workshop with a representative of Florida Residential Communities (FRC), which is suing the city over the comprehensive plan designation for two lots on Longwood Hills Road, for March 21 at 6:30 p.m. prior to the regular meeting. City Attorney Michael Kramer said FRC wants to speak to the new commission in an effort to settle the litigation out of court.
- Set a special meeting for

Monday at 7 p.m. to discuss a $6,000 matching grant available to the city from the state Department of Transportation for a 434-corridor study to be done in conjunction with Seminole County and Altamonte Springs.

• Heard a report on problems with the computer system from Acting City Administrator Don Terry, who said had hope to get through this fiscal year and budget for a replacement in the coming fiscal year. Terry said that based on the city auditor's finding problems with the city's computer software and discussion with city financial consultant Jeff Etchberger, he doesn't think the city can wait until Oct. 1.

• Heard a report from Terry that the right-turn traffic signal installed recently by Seminole County at the junction of Dog Track Road and County Road 427 is taking care of 50 percent of problem, but motorists going north on 427 are still turning right and interfering with school children crossing Dog Track. He said the county is still looking for ways to correct the situation and the city police are monitoring and ticketing violators at the intersection when children get out of school and cars are leaving Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

• Approved appointment by the mayor of the following to the Longwood Historical Commission: Commissioner Rick Bullington, Nancy Freeman, Sharon Wright, Bea Morris, Eva Neisler, Will Thompson and Richard Zartman.

Bike Theft By 4 Males Thwarted

Four unidentified males allegedly attacked a 14-year-old student at Sanford Middle School, in an effort to take the youth's bike, according to Sanford city police, who are investigating two residential burglaries.

Doran Kenney told police officers that four males approached him and tried to take his bike in front of the school at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Kenney told investigators that when he resisted the four, they began slapping him in the face and on the back of his head. Finally, they threw the bike at him, then ran away.

Loria A. Boone, 26, of 120 Scott Drive, told police that someone broke into her residence between 7:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. Tuesday. She told investigators that a VCR valued at $460 and a man's housecoat valued at $20 are missing.

Police said the burglar got into the residence by forcing open a bedroom window.

Finally, Minnie Ford, 32, of 1008 Pecan Ave., told police that miscellaneous articles estimated to be worth $310 are missing from her residence. Police said someone had apparently broken the glass out of the back door, then unlocked the door.

South Wind Blows Us Good Weather

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

It's a south wind that blows good weather, and we're getting our share. Sure, it rains every once in a while, and we get a little fog on occasion, but you really can't beat nice temperatures in February. And our good fortune is going to continue.

Tomorrow the south wind will continue so we'll have partly cloudy skies, temperatures pushing 80, and a chance of rain, possibly even thundershowers. Saturday will bring us more of the same. Sunday will be a bit cooler, however, with highs in the low 70s and lows in the 50s, maybe even down into the high 40s.

Yesterday our cousins down in Fort Lauderdale came within one degree of immortality. One degree separated them from the ordinary populi. Ah, such is fate. Those Broward Countians had a high of 80 degrees. One less than Presidio, Texas which recorded 81 degrees. Of course, the huddled masses in Gunnison, Colorado took the ice crown with their 24 degrees below zero. That's minus 24, my friends.

We didn't even come close in the weathers heats - neither race. Most of Seminole County enjoyed highs of around 75 degrees - plus or minus 2 degrees - and lows in the lower 50s.

Whereas our weather is fairly normal for this time of year, which is why so many folks decide the Lord is leading them to a Florida visit this time of year, elsewhere the folks are not faring as well.

Southern California, buffeted by deadly Santa Ana gusts of up to 90 mph that knocked a TV station off the air and flipped at least 21 small planes, braced for more of the hot blasts of air today.

Three men - identified as Anacleto Hernandez, 26, Juan Martinez, 47, and Rudy Calzada, 46, all of Sylmar - were killed shortly after 6 a.m. on a roadside accident blamed on the wind.

California Highway Patrol Officer Charlotte Foley said the men had pulled onto the shoulder of the road and that a truck pushed off the road by high winds slammed into them.

Reports by United Press International and data provided by the National Weather Service were used in compiling this report.

Local Report

The high temperature in Sanford Monday was 69 degrees and the overnight low was 41 as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. There was no rainfall recorded.

Area Readings

The temperature at 8 a.m. 58, overnight low 51. Wednesday's high 74, barometric pressure 30.08, relative humidity 86 percent, winds NE at 7 mph, rain none. Today's sunset 6:19 p.m., Friday's sunrise 7 a.m.

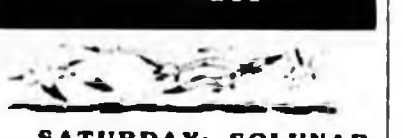

Area Forecast

Today...variable cloudiness. High 72 to 77. Wind east around 10 mph. Tonight...mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of showers. Low around 60. Wind southeast 10 mph. Friday...mostly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of showers or possibly thundershowers. High around 80. Wind south 15 mph.

Extended Forecast

The extended weather outlook, Saturday through Monday, for Florida except northwest - Cloudy with a chance of rain in the north Saturday and partly cloudy with a chance of showers in the south. Clearing in the north Sunday and cloudy with a chance of showers in the south. Monday sunny over the entire state. Highs Saturday in the lower 70s north to the lower 80s south. Comatose School Official Dies After Shooting In High School

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — High school administrator Richard W. Allen, who was comatose and on life-support equipment since being shot in the temple last week by a suspended 15-year-old, is dead.

Allen, 53, died at 8:10 p.m. Wednesday in the neurological intensive care unit at Bayfront Hospital. A .38-caliber bullet was still lodged in his temple, said doctors, who had given him little chance to survive.

Allen was shot in the head Feb. 11 while trying to disarm the teenager, who showed up at the Pinellas Park High School cafeteria with a gun after having been suspended.

Allen was one of three people wounded during a melee in the school lunchroom after two 15-year-old students showed up with .38 caliber weapons later found to have been stolen from the home of a deputy sheriff who was on vacation.

Drug Case Involves Law Officers

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — A police officer, a state corrections officer, a former county attorney and six others have been indicted for running a drug peddling operation in rural Bradford County.

The FBI, the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and other agencies worked together on the two-year cocaine and marijuana investigation that produced the indictments, the FBI said Wednesday.

FBI spokesman Dave Stark said it has not been disclosed whether any of the drug dealing involved inmates of the Florida State Prison system, although it was the subject of speculation.

NATION IN BRIEF

Violent Inmates Take Over Jail; Tear Gas, Batons Quell Riot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Guards swinging batons and firing tear gas stormed a city jail on Rikers Island today and crushed a riot by 500 inmates who smashed windows and wrecked cellblocks in a three-hour takeover to protest conditions.

Four guards and five prisoners were injured more seriously, Correction Department spokeswoman Ruby Ryles said.

The inmates, armed with jail-made weapons, rioted around midnight Wednesday and took control of the 12 dormitories of the Anna M. Kross Center, one of six New York City jails that hold 11,500 inmates on Rikers Island, officials said.

The prisoners barricaded themselves inside their cellblocks and began negotiations with Correction Department officials shortly after the takeover. Officials ordered guards to storm the jail when the talks turned sour, Correction Commissioner Richard Kochler said.

Black Students End Sit-In Protest

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — The University of Massachusetts chancellor praised black students who ended their five-day occupation of the campus's New Africa House, saying, "Racism ... has cropped up and been exposed."

The final 100 protesters left the building Wednesday — to the cheers of some 250 people, mostly white supporters — after demonstrators and the administration agreed to try to improve the campus racial climate.

The occupation of the building began last Friday, sparked by an alleged Feb. 7 attack in which five white male students and another white man coming from a campus party beat two black students and yelled racial slurs at the pair and their white female companion.

In a pact hammered out Wednesday, protesters and school officials agreed that students involved in future racial attacks would be expelled and agreed in "concept and spirit" to consider more funding for minority programs and recruitment of minority students.

Kennedy To Join Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Today's swearing-in of Anthony Kennedy as the nation's 104th Supreme Court justice marks the official conclusion of the long and bitter battle to fill the seat vacated almost eight months ago.

Kennedy, taking the oath of office today in separate ceremonies at the court and at the White House, was President Reagan's third choice to succeed Justice Lewis Powell. The 51-year-old conservative, a federal appeals court judge in California, was nominated Nov. 11, breezed through confirmation hearings in December and gained final Senate approval on a 97-0 vote Feb. 3.

COMING EVENTS

Seminole Students Featured In Scholastic Art Exhibition

The 1988 Burdines Scholastic Art Exhibition featuring art by high school and middle school students from Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Brevard counties will be open free to the public at the Orlando Museum of Art through Feb. 28. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The media include painting, sculpture, drawing, prints, photography, textiles, ceramics and jewelry. Sixty-three works will compete nationally for scholarships, medals and cash prizes in New York.

Free Legal Advice Offered

Florida Legal Services, Inc. will provide advice to low income persons Seminole County residents at 9 a.m. on Mondays at 315 Magnolia Ave., Sanford. The advice clinics are free, first come, first served with no appointment necessary. Central Florida Legal Services, a private non-profit corporation, does not handle divorces or criminal matters.

AA Groups To Meet

Sanford Alcoholics Anonymous meets Friday at noon and 5:30 p.m. for open discussion and 8 p.m. for step meeting at 1201 W. First St. Alanon meets upstairs at 8 p.m.

24-Hour AA Group meets for open discussion, 8 p.m., Fourth Street and Oak Avenue, Sanford.

Construction License Revoked

The state Construction Industry Licensing Board has revoked the license of a Longwood man for violations of state regulations on two different projects.

The board, which is a division of the Florida Department of Professional Regulation, has taken the action in order to discipline Joe L. Barber. He allegedly committed several violations on two different construction projects.

One project was located in Longwood and the other in Deltona.

The allegations against Barber include working without a permit, missing inspections, diverting funds to other projects, failing to supervise projects and abandonment, according to a spokeswoman for the CILB.

The spokeswoman said that all attempts to inform Barber of the revocation of his license by mail have failed. "The post office said (Barber) he refused all the notices sent to him," she said.

Barbara Kirby, left, principal of Crooms School of Choice, accepts a check for $1,200 from Rose Jacobson, owner of RoJay, a women's clothing store in Sanford. The money will assist in funding the school's yearbook. Jacobson also presented checks to six Crooms students judged winners in an essay contest.

Airport Authority Nixes Extravaganza

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Airport Authority voted unanimously Tuesday to decline a proposal from Home Video Network, Inc., a firm which wants to sponsor a three-day Fourth of July extravaganza either at the Sanford airport or at Opa-Locka Airport in Miami.

Bob Noble, executive vice president of the company, who resides in Casselberry, said last week that he thought Sanford would be an ideal location for "America Together Again," a three-day airshow, climaxed by a concert and fireworks on Monday night, July 4. He said HVN would hire an Orlando firm to do extensive national advertising, should the event be held in Sanford, and that attendance could reach as high as 250,000.

J.S. "Red" Cleveland, director of aviation, said Tuesday that he and other airport authority members talked to Noble this week, and that Noble had told them he would like those attending the event to park at Seminole Community College, at the downtown parking lots, and other places, then be shuttled to the airport.

The possibility of such large numbers attending and potential traffic and parking problems were a large part of the reason airport authority members chose to reject the extravaganza proposal.

Bill Hutchinson, authority attorney, told the members, "their projections of the number of people who would attend this would stagger our logistical problems. If it takes on the magnitude they think it would, it would be unbelievable. But, we are a local organization. This is a local airport. We owe our allegiance to the citizens of this town," he said.

Jim DeGanahl, a member of the airport authority, said, "The impact on this community, if it goes as they want it to, could be more than we're ready to handle." He said he would like to see Opa-Locka "try it first."

Other authority members said they would like to see the extravaganza succeed somewhere else, before considering bringing it to Sanford.

Cleveland also told the group that HVN officials, "appear to be well-organized, but they seem to be exceptionally lacking in details regarding the talent. And just for their group, they say they need 200 hotel rooms."

Hutchinson said, "They won't have definitive answers as to who (the talent is), until they know they've got a spot."

Bill Bush, member of the authority, said he felt the extravaganza could help to give the airport some exposure. He pointed out that Wilbur Smith and Associates, a consultant firm doing an air service study for the airport, has told airport officials that to gain more business the airport does need increased exposure.

But another member, Kay Shoemaker, countered with, "You say the consultants say we need more exposure, but I think the exposure is going to have to come through commuters carrying passengers."

Bush made the motion that HVN's offer be declined.

Noriega's Crimes Raise Questions

While bodies sprawled in ditches in El Salvador and Nicaragua, skyscrapers sprouted in Panama. It was a haven for capital in a region torn by war. It was a safe zone for U.S. troops guarding the Panama Canal.

What were the magical ingredients that made Panama City grow?

Drugs—smuggled by people in high places—in complicity with U.S. officials?

Grand juries in Miami and Tampa recently indicted Panama's military leader, Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, on charges of drug trafficking and racketeering. Other high-ranking Panamanian military officials also were accused.

Noriega retaliated by recalling the Panamanian ambassador and suppressing the opposition press. He threatened to indict and extradite former colleagues who testified against him. He charged former senior White House officials with pressuring Panama to invade Nicaragua and to sabotage the Contadora negotiations. After he refused, Noriega claims, the United States turned against him.

Should the United States have done it long before?

"Certainly people in law enforcement have known that General Noriega was a crook for a long time," said New York's chief prosecutor, Robert Morgenthau. "My view is that he should have been prosecuted a long time ago."

The indictments raise questions not only in Panama, but in Washington.

Was President Reagan aware that the leader of Panama was running drugs into the United States? Did Vice President Bush, a former director of the CIA, know of any special intelligence agreement between the CIA and Noriega? Were members of the National Security Council collaborating with drug-smuggling while the Department of Justice and other agencies were trying to stop it?

These questions go to the heart of U.S. policy in Central America. Panama and its U.S.-built canal are of indisputable strategic importance to the United States.

Noriega threatens to embroil the canal in his power struggle. He should beware. So should jingoists who would use Noriega as a pretext to intervene militarily or politically in Panama.

The security of the canal is guaranteed not only by the presence of U.S. troops, but by the Panama Canal Treaty. The canal will be turned over to Panama in the year 2000. The permanent neutrality of the canal also was guaranteed.

The treaty was a model in U.S.-Latin American relations. Although it was originally opposed by citizen Ronald Reagan, President Reagan has honored it. Noriega cannot annul it.

The indictment has exposed Noriega's alleged crimes to his countrymen. The U.S. Senate is investigating the role that U.S. officials may have played in Noriega's game.

Strange things have been blooming under the Panamanian moon. America's national security has been jeopardized by our growing dependence on drugs. Our foreign policy has been corrupted by the reluctance of U.S. officials to cut ties with the dictator who smuggled them.

Noriega is a portrait of the twisted relations between Panama and the United States. In dealing with his corruption, we also must face ourselves in the mirror and recognize our own.

We must learn to say no to two drugs: cocaine and tin-pot dictators.

Congress Should 'Just Say No' To SDI

The prestigious Center for Defense Information in Washington, headed by retired Rear Adm. Gene R. LaRocque, recently completed a careful analysis of Ronald Reagan's proposed Strategic Defense Initiative, dubbed from the beginning "Star Wars."

The center's study reaches three basic conclusions:

(1) It is doubtful that a defensive shield can be built to make nuclear weapons "impotent and obsolete," as the president hopes. No matter how many hundreds of billions of dollars we spend, the Soviets will always be able to devastate the United States if war comes.

(2) It is clearly in the interest of the United States to confine SDI to research or cancel it before vast amounts of tax dollars and human resources are wasted.

(3) We have an opportunity to negotiate a verifiable ban on all weapons in space at great savings and reduced danger to both Russians and Americans.

The Pentagon came up with a plan to spend $70 billion on a crash research program by 1993. Already $14 billion has been spent with no apparent breakthrough. Former Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger estimates that a fully developed system could cost more than a trillion dollars.

A survey of the members of the National Academy of Sciences conducted in 1987 by Cornell University found that by a ratio of more than 36-to-1, leading scientists familiar with SDI feel the system cannot protect the U.S. from nuclear attack.

Dr. Roy D. Woodruff, associate director of weapons systems at the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, has stated: "President Reagan's vision of a leak-proof shield that makes nuclear weapons impotent and obsolete is not a practical reality. You can't disinvent the hydrogen bomb."

What keeps Star Wars going, the Center for Defense Information says, is not scientific breakthroughs, but pork-barrel politics. "The fact that U.S. scientists almost uniformly view SDI's goal as a technological pipe dream has not prevented national laboratories, universities and corporations from accepting billions of dollars to do Star Wars research." It notes.

The Council on Economic Priorities found that 93 percent of the 1985-86 SDI contracts have gone to states whose U.S. senators serve on the Armed Services Committee and Defense Appropriations Subcommittee.

In short, there is no scientific case for SDI; only the power of a potential trillion-dollar pork barrel and the greed of universities, corporations and parts of the Pentagon for more money, no matter what the cost to the American people.

In 1985 Dr. David Parnas resigned from the SDI computing panel saying, "Because of the extreme demands on the system and our inability to test it... we'd never know if we had it right, and we'd never be able to trust it."

As the center experts conclude: "This deficiency would not only render Star Wars defenses ineffective, it might give computers the power to start World War III."

If I may borrow from Nancy Reagan in another context, it is time to "say no" to Star Wars.

Deaver Talks Of Reagans

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—All the insights reporters have picked up for the last seven years concerning President Reagan appear to be confirmed in the memoirs of Mike Deaver, former White House chief of staff and close confidant of Reagan and his wife Nancy.

In his book "Behind the Scenes," Deaver establishes the Reagan profile as a man of deep conservative convictions, intensely loyal to his staff even when they stray from the straight and narrow, a hands-off delegator of duties, friend of many and intimate of very few. He is deeply devoted to his wife and if she pushes a point inevitably she will win, sooner or later.

Deaver believes that if the first lady had been clued in to the secret dealings that led to the Iran-Contra scandal it would have raised alarm signals in her and she would have managed to find a way to convince her husband that he was headed down the wrong road.

As for Mrs. Reagan's influence, Deaver wrote, "She has used her persuasion with care, knowing when and how hard to apply the pressure. If he resists, she will back off and return to that issue at another moment."

"She has not gotten involved at all, it should be noted, unless there is a controversy around him, or he needs to be convinced that an action is unavoidable."

Deaver said Mrs. Reagan "lobbed the president to soften his line on the Soviet Union; to reduce military spending and not to push 'Star Wars' at the expense of the poor and dispossessed."

He also said that she has favored a diplomatic solution in Nicaragua. "However, that clearly is a battle she has yet to win."

"Nancy wins most of the time," he said. "When she does, it is not by wearing him down but by usually being on the right side of the issue."

As a further insight into the president, Deaver wrote, "If Reagan senses that people are ganging up on someone, he will resist every time, well beyond the point when he knows the move is inevitable."

"How much is loyalty, and how much is a distaste for being pushed, depends, I suppose, on the particular case."

That may explain Reagan's persistence in keeping around him top aides who have come under a cloud. He has not learned that in Washington perception of an official is important in terms of credibility and accountability.

ROBERT WALTERS

Du Pont Unimpressive

MANCHESTER, N.H. (NEA)—Former Delaware Gov. Pierre S. (Pete) du Pont IV promotes himself as the purveyor of "damn right ideas," but that obviously didn't impress the middle-aged woman examining stuffed animals at a store here.

She scowled as du Pont, his family and a clique of his placard-bearing, slogan-chanting young supporters appeared for a rally at the Mall of New Hampshire a few days before the state's presidential primary.

An aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, du Pont attracted a respectable crowd of several hundred people to listen to a speech in which he appealed for support of his "tough-minded principles and strong vision."

But hundreds of others clearly viewed the campaign rally as an intrusion on their Saturday shopping. The mildly curious stopped to listen for a minute or two while the thoroughly disdainful tried to ignore the candidate's presence.

It's unfortunate they didn't pay closer attention because throughout the past several years du Pont has been making an important contribution to the nation's political dialogue.

Like the other presidential aspirants in both parties, he has his share of liabilities—a patronizing manner that often is the hallmark of children of privileged families, a penchant for absolutist positions and unrealistic solutions to complex problems, and a suspicious political record that has undulated through the years from liberal to conservative.

His lackluster performance in the early voting for the GOP presidential nominee suggests that he will not be the party's candidate. But in an era when too many presidential aspirants try to "sell the sizzle, not the steak," he has produced a measure of substance unmatched by most of his opponents.

Specifically, du Pont has based his campaign not on atmospherics, theatrics or cosmetics but on a collection of provocative approaches to the nation's problems. Among them:

- Eliminating agriculture's curious status as the nation's most socialized industry by phasing out the $23 billion in farm subsidies paid annually by the federal government.

- Replacing an incoherent welfare system that in many cases involves "paying able-bodied people to do nothing" with a program that would substitute work for welfare and dignity for despair by providing private and public jobs for the poor.

- Supplying educational vouchers to all parents, so they could select the public or private school they believe is best for their children—an approach that would force mediocre public schools to either improve or disband.

- Requiring random drug testing of high school students, with those who fail stripped of their driver's licenses for several years.

- Supplementing—and relieving the pressure upon—Social Security by providing dollar-for-dollar income tax credits for the contributions workers make to personally funded retirement accounts.

Some of du Pont's approaches are too strident or impolitic. Mandatory drug testing of teenagers, for example, could provoke violent rebellions in the nation's high schools. Similarly, the five-year schedule for eliminating farm subsidies is unrealistically short. Like other politicians, du Pont presumably understands, however, that his proposals are subject to modification and revision.

Exams Given In Mall

By Mede Nix

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—In hopes that mammograms will become as routine as the pap smear, a St. Louis hospital is opening a low-cost breast screening center in a downtown shopping mall to make the test readily available to working women.

The Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology at Washington University Medical Center plans to open on Friday the first healthcare center of its kind in the St. Louis Centre, said to be the largest enclosed urban shopping mall in the nation.

The mall screening center was the brainchild of Dr. Ronald G. Evens, professor and head of radiology and director of the institute.

"Screening mammography must become as routine as buying food and clothing," Evens said. "No other test in radiology—not even the chest X-ray—has been as successful as mammography in diagnosing disease."

Michael Gold, spokeswoman for the center, said the convenience of obtaining a mammogram should save lives.

"This is the point. We want this to become a routine test in the every day lives of women just as the pap smear became. Eventually fewer and fewer women will die. The easier it is to get the test, the more women will have it regularly," Gold said.

A mammogram takes only about 20 minutes, Gold said.

"That's why we put it in a major urban shopping center—so we can reach a large population of working women." She said a few breast imaging centers had sprung up in shopping centers along commercial strips, but the Mallinckrodt center was "the first to go into a mall," Gold said.

Besides convenience, the doctors at the center say that mammograms in the mall will be affordable.

"We charge $50," Gold said. "That's cheaper than most places throughout the country. There are a lot who charge over $100 and that makes it prohibitive for some women."

Dr. Judy Destout, head of mammography at the center, sees the mall breast screening center as an extension of Mallinckrodt's plan to take mammograms to the workplace via a mobile van.

"We think the mall screening will be a big success. There's been such gratitude from women where we take our mammography van. We've caught minimal cancers. We've saved a breast and possibly saved lives," Gold said.

Bevill's Move May Blunt NRC Probes

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON—An Alabama congressman, Rep. Tom Bevill, has quietly spiked the efforts of his colleagues to grant greater autonomy to Nuclear Regulatory Commission investigators.

For some time, horror stories have been turning up about how the NRC thwarts its own investigators from probing wrongdoing at power plants.

Three committees on Capitol Hill have examined this frightening problem at the agency that is supposed to be the watchdog over the nuclear power industry—an agency that has been accused of boosting the industry if it is supposed to regulate.

Some lawmakers have been trying to put more teeth into the NRC by pushing legislation that would give the agency's Office of Investigation complete independence. That office is charged with examining wrongdoing at nuclear power plants. In the past, it has investigated everything from lying by utility companies to drug abuse by power plant workers. The investigators have been reporting directly to the five NRC commissioners, instead of the NRC staff.

Just before Christmas, Rep. Bevill, D-Ala., tacked onto a catchall spending bill a paragraph that could end whatever independence the Office of Investigation had been granted by the NRC commissioners. Bevill chairs the Energy and Water Appropriations Subcommittee.

His provision has put the Office of Investigation beneath the office of the executive director of the NRC, which directs the bulk of inspection and licensing activities. That means the investigators are now under the thumb of the very officials that Congress has criticized for hampering investigations.

The legislative language says it will improve efficiency and save money, but Bevill's spokeswoman was hard put to say how much it will save. Most NRC watchers are scratching their heads over Bevill's move.

We asked Bevill if it had anything to do with his daughter.

Susan Bevill is an Alabama attorney involved in an inquiry begun by the Office of Investigation in 1986 at the Farley nuclear power plant near Dothan, Ala. She is not the target of the probe, but works for the firm that represents the plant owner, the Alabama Power Co. In that position, she has sat in on several heated meetings with NRC investigators.

Our associate, Stewart Harris, asked the congressman if his daughter discussed the investigation with him. Bevill responded through his spokeswoman, who said the congressman talks with all three of his children about their jobs, "but they do not lobby him on legislation."

Bevill's spokeswoman said the congressman does not remember talking with Susan Bevill about the Office of Investigation and its activities at the Farley plant. Susan Bevill could not be reached for comment.

The Office of Investigation was folded into the rest of the NRC on Feb. 1. Congressional sources privately worry that the NRC wants to give the Office of Investigation as much integrity as Mexican Federal agencies. They say that the NRC, which began as the old Atomic Energy Commission, charged with developing nuclear power, is riddled with people who never abandoned that mission even though their new job is to protect the public health and safety.

Stars Shoot Down SCC's Title Hopes, 95-94

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Florida Community College's Stars used a pair of late free throws by Larry Hall to down Seminole Community College, 95-94, in Mid-Florida Conference action Wednesday night at FCC-J in Jacksonville.

FCC-J improved to 17-10 overall and is tied with SCC for the MFC lead with a 10-3 mark. SCC, after its first road loss in conference play, is 21-7 overall and 10-3 in the conference. Saturday will determine whether FCC-J or SCC will receive the automatic berth to the state playoffs.

Seminole will host Lake City Saturday while FCC-J travels to St. Johns. With St. Johns having a weak squad this year it figures to be FCC-J taking the bid as they have beaten SCC in the two games they've played this year. That will mean SCC will host the MFC tourney.

SCC would have won the MFC outright with a win, but now can only concentrate on beating LCCC Saturday and hope SJCC can pull off a miracle.

"We had a shot to win it," Seminole assistant coach Dean Smith said. "We had an opportunity at the end but the shot was blocked."

The Raiders were led by freshman forward Terrell Barnes who netted 22 points, Malcolm Houston added 21. Barry Dunning came through with a nice 17 point, 17 rebound performance as Vince Emerson added 13 points.

Aric Sinclair poured in a game-high 35 points for the Stars. George Johnson tallied 23 as Rohn Mulkey connected for 18.

The two teams stayed close the entire ball game with Seminole opening a nine point lead midway through the second half.

FCC-J, though, hit a pair of three-point field goals to get back into the game around the eight minute mark. The Stars managed to take the lead late in the game.

The Raiders trailed, 93-91, with 32 seconds remaining. Houston then drilled a three pointer to give SCC the lead, 94-93, with 17 seconds to play.

The Stars came down quickly and worked the ball to the inside where Hall turned and was fouled with just 12 seconds showing. Hall calmly sank both attempts to provide FCC-J with the winning points.

SCC went to Houston late and he put up a jumper that Sinclair was able to block, preserving the victory for the Stars. FCC-J's Phill Stitt sank a pair of free throws late in the game in an earlier matchup to give it a 110-104 win at Seminole.

If FCC-J does win Saturday, then Seminole coach Bill Payne will be organizing another post-season tourney to be held at the SCC Health Center. The Raiders went through this tourney last year and traveled all the way to the state semi-finals.

SCC, if they have the tourney, would open with a bye and more than likely play the winner of the LCCC-Santa Fe CC game.

Vols Upset Kentucky

United Press International

Last-second shots had different results for the two top teams in the Southeastern Conference Wednesday night — no. 1 Kentucky lost, no. 2 Louisiana State won.

The loss didn't alter Kentucky's position atop the SEC standings but the win boosted LSU from a third place tie with Florida into sole possession of second place.

Kentucky is 10-4 in the SEC and 18-4 overall, followed by LSU at 9-4 and 14-8. Vanderbilt fell from the runnerup position to third place at 9-5 and 16-6 after being upended by Alabama 88-77 Wednesday night. Other games saw Auburn beat Mississippi State 77-61 and Mississippi downed Florida 82-75.

SEC teams now are idle until another full slate of action Saturday, when LSU is at Alabama, Tennessee at Auburn, Kentucky at Florida, Vanderbilt at Georgia and Ole Miss at Mississippi State.

Ricky Blanton's 20 points paced Louisiana State to its hard fought win at Baton Rouge, and Tiger Coach Dale Brown was jubilant.

"This is the first five-game SEC winning streak for LSU since 1984-85," he said. "They (Georgia) have as good a team as there is in the SEC."

Brown credited his team's determination for the win.

"We have some good matchups with Georgia. They have some really good athletes."

Georgia Coach Hugh Durham criticized the officiating.

"They called the nickel and dime stuff out — you know, the one hand on the elbow stuff — then don't call the pushing underneath, the two hands all over a guy," Durham said. "We've got (officials) out there just watching the game. You've got to call that stuff."

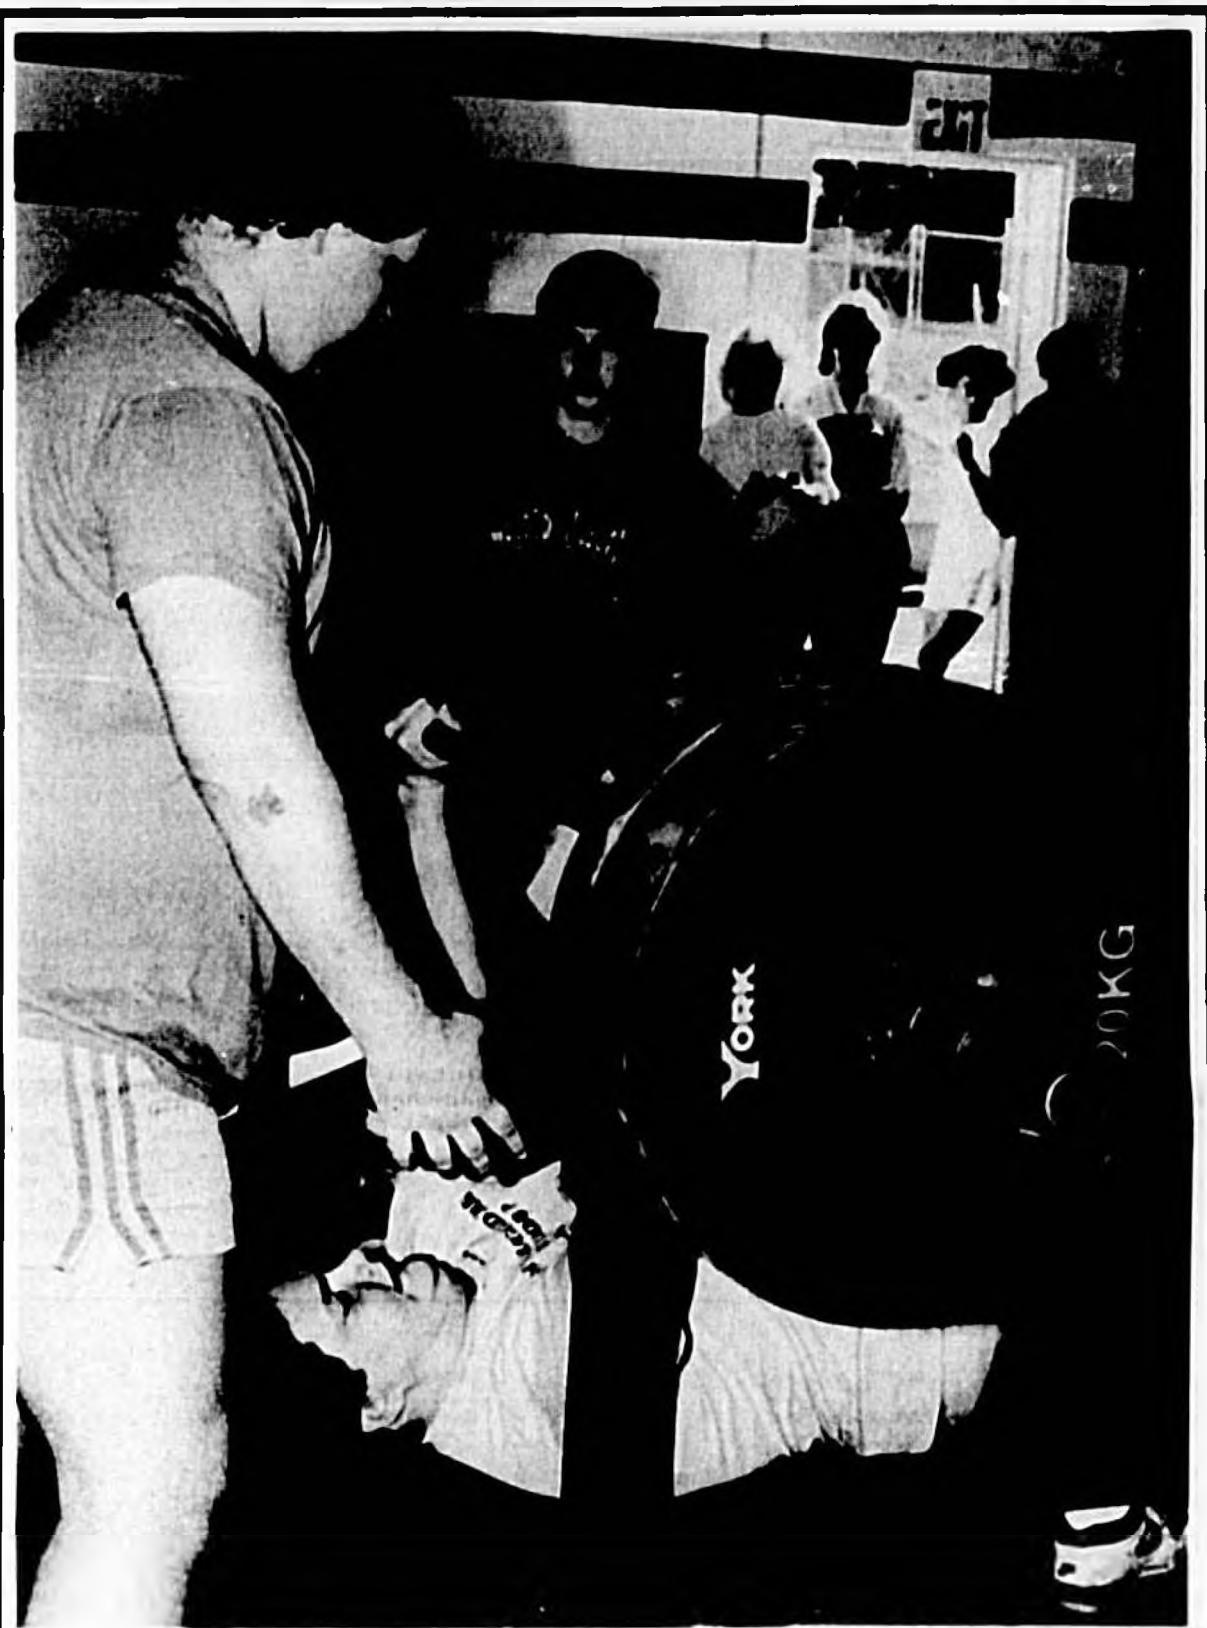

The Bulldogs were led by Willie Anderson, who had 18 points.

Dyron Nix led the Vols with 20 points in the battle at Knoxville before 24,378 fans, which Tennessee officials called the largest crowd ever to watch an SEC basketball game.

Bell was off balance when he made the winning shot.

"On the winning basket, Clarence Sweatengen came to the side looking up for Nix. He got even with (Rex) Chapman but fell down. Greg Bell got the pass and he had the poise to find the (seam) and put the ball in the basket," said Vols Coach Hugh DeVoe. "The play was intended for Nix."

Ed Davender's 27 points led the Wildcats, who trailed through much of the early going.

Hot Lady Seminoles Begin District Quest

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High's girls basketball team has always been in the running for conference championships but has yet to win a district title. The Lady Noles hope to change all that starting tonight when they open play in the Class 3A District 6 Tournament against Kissimmee Osceola at Orlando Jones High.

The opening game will be at 4 p.m. with Leesburg playing Bishop Moore. Oviedo then battles St. Cloud at 5:30; Seminole takes on Osceola at 7 and, the feature attraction of the night, Jones plays Orlando Edgewater at 8:30.

Seminole, 17-5 overall, is one of the hottest teams around as of late with a 12-game winning streak going into the district. The Lady Tribe claimed the Seminole Athletic Conference title with an 11-1 record. Now the Lady Tribe is looking to break new ground in the district tourney.

"It's probably a tougher district than that we were moved into than the one we were in last year (4A-9)," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "Us, Jones, Edgewater and Oviedo are all capable of winning it. And we can't overlook Leesburg because that is who we would play in the semifinals."

The Seminole-Osceola winner plays the Leesburg-Bishop Moore victory in the semifinals Friday night at 6:30. The Oviedo-St. Cloud winner and Jones-Edgewater survivor play Friday at 8. The championship is

Barber Honored On 80th Birthday

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sports broadcasting pioneer Red Barber turned 80 Wednesday amid the acclaim of luminaries of sports and politics, but dismissed his achievements as the product of "the changes and chances of life."

Barber accepted the well-wishes of about 100 friends and admirers during a party thrown atop the Florida Capitol by Secretary of State Jim Smith and the local public radio affiliate. He displayed a vigor that belied his years and still had enough red hair left to justify his nickname, "The Old Redhead."

Congratulatory telegrams flooded in from the likes of Howard Cosell, Sen. Bob Graham and former Brooklyn Dodger Eddie Stanky. The crowd included former Gov. LeRoy Collins, an old friend. Barber stood looking embarrassed as they sang, "Happy Birthday."

Barber, who was inducted into the American Sportscasters Association Hall of Fame in 1984, broadcast baseball for 30 years — 15 with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Barber Wednesday gave the credit for his accomplishments to luck and providence, saying, "I think in terms of the changes and chances of life."

"I stand here a creature of

grace, not so much by design, certainly not by my efforts."

Written in icing on an enormous cake was the old Southern expression the Mississippi native popularized during his 58-year broadcasting career: "The Catbird Seat," the situation where all is as it should be and can only get better.

Barber began his career in 1930, broadcasting University of Florida baseball games while still an undergraduate. He eventually landed a job as the voice of the Cincinnati Reds at the height of the Depression.

He built a reputation as a solid sports reporter in an era when many of his colleagues were little more than shells for management. In 1939, he followed Reds General Manager Larry MacPhail to Brooklyn, where he ignored what he acknowledges was a traditional Southern attitude toward race to support the destruction of baseball's color barrier by Jackie Robinson.

Barber later became the voice of the New York Yankees for 12 years, then created the "CBS Football Roundup" while serving as director of sports for the network under Edward R. Murrow.

Wildlife Alert: Aiding Law Enforcement For 8 Years

"Think of it as a neighborhood watch program for the great outdoors." That's how a radio public service announcement describes the Wildlife Alert Reward Program.

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission established the program in 1979 as a way for private citizens to assist the Commission in its law enforcement activities. Just as neighbors keep an eye on each other's property, sportsmen watch out for those who violate hunting or fishing laws.

Citizens who witness violations are urged to report them to the Commission. Callers do not have to give their names or testify in court. If a caller's information results in an arrest, he or she is eligible for a cash reward of $25 to $1,000.

Col. Brantley Goodson, law enforcement director for the Commission, states that "Most hunters and fishermen are good sportsmen who respect the rules governing their sport. But there are a few outlaws who give the good sportsman a bad image. Wildlife Alert gives the sportsman a way to strike back at the wildlife law violator."

According to Goodson, the program is an effective supplement to the Commission's law enforcement efforts.

"As well trained as our wildlife officers are, they can't be everywhere at once," Goodson said. "Through Wildlife Alert, the public acts as an extra set of eyes and ears for us. The information they provide helps us in cases that otherwise may go unsolved, or even unnoticed."

During the eight year history of the program, 5,500 arrests have been made and over $100,000 in rewards have been paid out.

Seven out of ten people who are eligible for rewards turn them down. It appears that callers are more interested in putting a stop to violations than in monetary gain. Goodson said the Commission appreciates the earnestness of Wildlife Alert callers and had several suggestions for anyone who witnesses a wildlife law violation.

First, be sure that what you witness is actually a violation. Wildlife officers respond to many calls each day, and false alarms will only waste their valuable time.

Secondly, it is important for the caller not to intercede, but to try to get as much useful information as possible such as descriptions or license tag numbers. Then, call the Commission at the number listed inside the front cover of most telephone directories.

The Wildlife Alert program not only helps to solve cases, it also helps to prevent violations because potential wildlife law violators now think twice before breaking the law.

FEBRUARY OSTEEEN BASS TOURNNEY

As usual, the 37 boats that participated in the Monthly Osteen Bridge Bass Tournament had to contend with cold, windy weather. The bass were apparently scattered, and anglers had to travel great distances in their search for fish. Some went as far north as Lake George, while others went south as far as Lake Harney. David Gaines and Danny Olp emerged victorious with 5 bass that weighed 23.9. Red Flowers and Mr. Jones held down second place with 21.9. Red also had the big bass of the tournament with an 8.9 lunker. Eddie and Steve Bussard came in third place with 15.2 while Rusty Miller and Tony Strickland slipped in fourth place with 9.2.

OSTEEEN SPECK TOURNAMENT

On February 27, Elk's Lodge 1241 will sponsor a charity speck tournament at the Osteen Bridge Fish Camp. The speck tournament will be run like a bass tournament, and each boat can enter for only $25. Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded to the winners. This would be an excellent opportunity to involve family members in a fun fishing tournament. Contact Dell Abernethy at 322-3825 for information. All profits from this tournament will go to the crippled children's hospital in Umatilla.

FISHING FORECAST

High winds and cold water temperatures have combined for slow fishing conditions on the fresh and salt water scene.

Rick Rawlins at Highland Park Fish Camp reports that both speck and bass fishing has slowed down. Live bait is producing the most fish. A few good bass have been caught on wild shiners fished tight to heavy cover.

Dell Abernethy at Osteen Bridge Fish Camp also reported slow fishing. Dell said that the action will pick up with warmer weather, but that the water temperature is in the low 50s. A few specks have been caught in Smokehouse Cove, but they are still scattered. If you have to bass fish, look for areas of moving water and try light lines and small lures.

Sebastian Inlet is slow due to cold water temperatures. A few flounder, seatrout, and bluefish are being caught on both artificials and finger mullet.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral said that offshore fishing has been a disaster memory with the rough weather. Not even the party boats are making it offshore. Anglers have been catching a lot of sheepshead inside the Port on live shrimp fished close to the pilings. Other than that, action is pretty bleak. Trout are slow in the Banana and Indian Rivers due to the inconsistent weather. It has not been cold enough to run them in the holes, and they are scattered all over the place.

A few hardy anglers have been catching bluefish and sheepshead at the New Smyrna jetties. Most of the fishermen have been fishing from the rocks with live shrimp as it has been too rough for boats.

Watch the weather this weekend. Fishing will improve with a warming trend, but another cold front will put a damper on the action.

Carson Newman Gets Rams' Curry

Lake Mary's John Curry signed a grant Wednesday to attend Carson Newman College on a football scholarship. Curry will receive a full ride to the NAIA Division I school which is located just outside of Knoxville, Tenn.

Curry used a combination of good strength and quickness to run for over 3,000 yards in four years at Lake Mary High. He had over 1,000 yards rushing in his sophomore and senior seasons and Lake Mary won district titles in both those years.

Carson Newman College is known as a powerhouse in the NAIA circles. It has been Southern Atlantic Conference champions in 1982, '83, '84 and '86 and won the NAIA National Championship in '83, '84 and '86. It is a Liberal Arts college with 1,800 students.

Carson Newman coach Ken Sparks said he welcomes the addition of Curry to the program.

"We've been traditionally a running-oriented school and five of the last six years have had an all-american running back," Sparks said. "We think John Curry will fit that mold."

"Harry Nelson, Curry's coach at Lake Mary High, said the talented running back should be able to contribute right away at Carson Newman."

"John is excited to start his college football career," Nelson said. "Carson Newman is fine school in academics and athletics. I think he can play there right away."

Lions Dominate Lake Howell, 79-52

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

OVIEDO — A strong team performance and total domination of the backboard aided Oviedo to a 79-52 rout over Lake Howell Wednesday night in Seminole Athletic Conference boys basketball action before 351 fans at the Lions Den.

Oviedo improved to 16-6 overall and completed its SAC record at 8-4, and will travel to Bishop Moore Friday. The Silver Hawks fell to 6-16 and 2-9, and will play at Lake Mary tonight (The game has been moved up to Thursday instead of Friday).

"We played real good defense tonight," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "We also had some good shots early and they went in."

The Lions came out strong and built a quick 8-0 lead with 4:14 to play in the opening quarter. Steve Johnson, who finished with a game-high 19 points, then hit Howell's first points with 3:45 remaining to cut it to 8-2.

Oviedo then scored a bucket. Silver Hawk coach Mike Spatola then picked up a technical foul with 3:00 to play. The Lions did not sink either free throw attempt but Dwight Everett scored on their possession to up the lead to 14-2 with 2:40 to play.

David Yapo then woke up Lake Howell as he sank a long jumper. Johnson added consecutive field goals as the Silver Hawks managed to stay close. Brad Bolton sank one free throw for Oviedo at the end of the period to up the lead to 13-8.

The Silver Hawks came out strong in the second quarter as Johnson took the ball to the hoop early to cut the lead to 13-10 with 7:28 remaining in the opening half. C. Gibson then connected on a three-point field goal to even the score, 13-13, with 6:52 remaining. Johnson added another jumper to give the Silver Hawks their only lead of the night, 15-13, with 6:15 left.

"Oviedo played really well tonight and we were flat," Lake Howell coach Mike Spatola said. "They fought through our surge in the second quarter and then took control."

Everett then completed a three-point play as the Lions took the lead, 16-15, for good. Garth Bolton added a short jumper off a steal followed by another Everett hoop off a nice feed from Danny Phillips, who was just moved up from the junior varsity squad.

Garth Bolton led the Lions with 17 points. Everett added 16 along with nine rebounds. Brian Wilson added 13 points, 11 assists and six steals as Steve Kandell netted 11 with 10 boards with seven blocked shots.

consistent on both ends of the floor while Sherri Reddicks and Liz Long have done a good job on the boards. Chineta Gilchrist and Mechelle Tuombs add strength inside off the bench while Lakoscia Kennon and Cindy Lyon are the shooters off the bench.

Also looking for a good showing in the district is Oviedo's Lady Lions, one of the most improved teams in the area this season. Oviedo went from a 3-19 record a year ago to 14-10 this season. And a number of those losses were close games against some good team (two each to DeLand and Seminole).

"We're looking forward to doing well in the district," Oviedo coach John Thomas said. "It's a goal we set before the season started. If we can put it all together for three games, we have a legitimate shot at winning."

Oviedo has plenty of talent on its roster led by Juniors Suzanne Hughes, Bridget Jenerette and Adrienne Wood, seniors Jodie Switzer and Bobbie Kelley and freshman Betsy Hughes. Wendy Malchow, Michelle Wynn and Cheryl Buntz are among the leaders off the bench.

The tournament favorite is 10th-ranked Orlando Jones which has a 24-3 record. The Lady Tigers played a preliminary game Wednesday night against Kissimmee Gateway and came away with an 86-33 victory. NeCole Franklin, Tanya Perry and Dortha Whitaker are three good ballplayers for the Lady Tigers.

Jones easily has the hardest first-round game tonight as it plays a very tough Edgewater team that is led by Pat Wilson and Joey Paugh.

Leesburg can be dangerous if it gets good play from its guards but is a longshot to get by the semifinals.

CLASS 4A AT MAINLAND

The Class 4A District 9 Tournament also gets underway tonight with three games at Daytona Beach Mainland High. At 4:30 p.m., Lake Mary plays Lake Brantley in the most interesting first-round matchup. At 6:30, Lake Howell takes on Lyman and, at 8, DeLand battles Spruce Creek. No. 1 seed Daytona Mainland drew a first-round bye and will play the Lake Mary-Lake Brantley winner Friday night at 8.

Lake Mary has been playing its best basketball of the season the past few weeks and goes in with an 11-12 record after at one time having a 5-10 record. The play of 6-5 senior center Teri Whyte has been instrumental along with the ballhandling of Anita Mitchell and Marlie Frey, the good inside-outside play of Tara Jackson and the defensive leadership of Amy Kuvach.

Lake Brantley hit its stride midway through the season but has struggled the past few weeks. The Lady Patriots have had trouble finding the shooting touch and have been held to less than 40 points per game in most of their last five outings. There is no doubt Lake Brantley has the ability to be a contender in the district, but it must get a complete team effort. Leading the way are guards Tracy Brandenburg and Jennifer Tuford, forwards Julie Billmyer, Amy Herndon and Barb Billmyer and centers Kim Gunderson and Gretchen Mull.

If Lake Howell plays a good game, it should not have any trouble getting by the first round. The Lady Hawks would then take on DeLand and look forward to that game after losing by 20 in difficult circumstances the last time the two teams played. Tammy Lewis, a senior guard, and senior forward Kelley Grider are the leaders for the Lady Hawks. Sarina Winston could be a key player as she has come on strong on the inside in the last few weeks of the season. Lake Howell will look for additional strength from Lisa Nuxol, Carolyn Kuhl and Val Lahr

Balanced DeLand Rips Lyman, 74-47

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

DeLand used a balanced attack to ease past Lyman, 74-47, in Seminole Athletic Conference action Wednesday night at DeLand High School.

DeLand improved to 15-10 and 9-2 in the SAC. The Greyhounds fell to 5-13 and 2-8 in the conference.

"We were without Craig Radzak (who is sick) tonight and that really hurt us," Lyman coach Tom Lawrence said. "It wasn't the reason we lost the game, but it sure didn't help."

DeLand placed five players in double digits led by Jay Williams with 13. Marvin Lane netted 12. Kent Bruschayst and Carl Bletcher each had 11 as Robbie Wilkes added 10. Sean See-Wat clipped in nine for the Bulldogs.

Mike Whittington led the Hounds with 13 points. Dion Weeks contributed 11 and J.J. Miller tossed in seven.

Lyman will return to action in the district tournament next week to be held at Lake Mary High School. The Hounds should be at full strength in the tourney with Radzak expected to return this week.

DeLand finishes the regular season Friday at home against Oviedo. The Bulldogs can clinch the SAC title with a win but it will be tough since Oviedo has been playing well lately.

RAMS TOP PATRIOTS IN OT

In a battle between two fierce rivals it was Lake Mary's Rams who came away with a 68-65 overtime victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots Wednesday night in SAC action at Lake Brantley High.

The Rams improved to 10-13 for the season while Brantley dropped to 9-14.

Lake Mary took a 28-26 lead at halftime, then went on a 17-10 run in the third quarter for a 45-36 lead. Lake Brantley came back strong in the fourth quarter with 25 points compared to Lake Mary 16 and the game was tied at 61-61 at the end of regulation.

Bernard Mitchell was practically unstoppable for the Rams as he pumped in a game-high 27 points. Terry Miller added 15 and Corey Prom 14 for Lake Mary.

Joe Noll had the hot hand for Lake Brantley with 23 points while Willie Smith tossed in a season-high 12 and Bo Pamplin and Darren Leva added eight apiece.

Lake Mary closes out the regular season Friday night at home against Lake Howell. Lake Brantley will also be at home for its regular season finale as it entertains Seminole in a key SAC game. Also Friday, DeLand can clinch the SAC title if it defeats Oviedo.

Nuggets Conquer Celtics

United Press International

Larry Bird broke his nose and the Denver Nuggets broke an 11-year legacy of futility.

Alex English scored 37 points Wednesday night and center Blair Rasmussen delivered 34 as the Nuggets used a dynamic third period to beat Boston 138-125, sweeping the Celtics in a season series for the first time in their 12-year NBA history.

The weary Celtics, on the seventh stop of an eight-game road swing, yielded 48 points in the third quarter as the Nuggets took a 21-point advantage.

and missed 11 of his 15 shots.

Cavaliers 118, 76ers 107

At Philadelphia, Mark Price scored 28 points and Brad Daugherty contributed 19 to lift Cleveland. Ron Harper had 16 points and Tyrone Corbin made a critical steal against Philadelphia All-Star Charles Barkley in the final minute. Barkley scored 26 points for the 76ers, who have lost 11 of their last 14.

Sonics shot just 38 percent from the floor.

Mavericks 123, Bullets 108

At Dallas, Mark Aguirre scored 35 points and Rolando Blackman added 18 as the Mavericks posted their third straight triumph. Roy Tarpley collected 17 points and 19 rebounds and Tyrone Corbin made a critical steal against Philadelphia All-Star Charles Barkley in the final minute. Barkley scored 26 points for the 76ers, who have lost 11 of their last 14.

Jazz 108, Suns 103

At Salt Lake City, Karl Malone generated 29 points and 16 rebounds as the Jazz (25-24) climbed above the .500 mark for the first time in two months. Jay Humphries scored 23 points for the Suns, who were outscored 33-8 from the foul line.

Blazers 110, Clippers 98

At Los Angeles, foul-plagued Clyde Drexler matched his career-high with 41 points, 14 in the final period, to help Portland down the Clippers for the 10th straight time. Drexler, whistled for his fifth foul midway through the third quarter, has scored at least 20 points in 21 consecutive games.

"Tonight was one of those nights," said Rasmussen, the 15th player selected in the 1985 draft. "This is easily my best offensive night as a pro. Once you get going like that and the other guys start looking for you, you want to pick it up."

With 3:26 left in the opening half, Bird drove on Rasmussen and was called for an offensive foul in a collision that broke the nose of Boston's All-Star forward.

"I saw on the replay that I had my hands straight up," said Rasmussen, who made 14 of 19 field-goal attempts and all six of his free throws. "Those calls are 50-50, but I definitely felt his nose hit my left elbow."

Kevin McHale led the Celtics with 33 points, followed by Danny Ainge with 23 as Boston fell to 35-16. Bird, averaging 30 points per game, scored just 13

MISL: West Routs East Stars, 9-3

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) - The skills of Preki and Steve Zungul reduced the Major Indoor Soccer League All-Star Game in a battle between themselves for Most Valuable Player honors.

Preki struck for three goals and Steve Zungul contributed two to thrill their home fans Wednesday night and send the West to a 9-3 romp over the East.

Preki and Zungul are both from Yugoslavia and are teammates on the Tacoma Stars. Preki, who leads the MISL with 72 points on 37 goals and 35 assists, scored two of the game's first three goals in the first period en route to unanimous MVP honors.

Zungul, playing in his eighth All-Star Game, has won about every other individual MISL award except the All-Star MVP. He has a record 13 goals with six assists in All-Star competition. "I thought I deserved it (MVP), but so did Steve," said Preki. "I wish he had won it. I feel bad because this may be his last year."

The 34-year-old Zungul, who also had had an assist, could have ended up with three goals if Preki had passed him the ball instead of deciding to go for his third goal late in the fourth quarter.

"If he (Preki) had not shot the ball in the end, I might be MVP," Zungul said. "It's OK. Preki deserved to win it."

Preki said he anticipated leading Zungul with a pass, "but the goalie moved away and the net was wide open," he said. "It was mine to shoot."

A third Tacoma player, goalie Mike Dowler, also sparkled for the West before a crowd of 17,251 at the Tacoma Dome. Dowler had 15 saves in playing the second half for the West.

The West jumped to a 5-0 lead in recording the most lopsided win of the nine All-Star Games.

East Coach Gordon Jago said his team made three mistakes in the first quarter. "and they made us pay for each of them with a goal. With all the offense they had, we couldn't afford to give anything away."

East goalie Chris Vaccaro, who was in the nets when the West cruised to a 6-2 lead in the first half, said the West attack overwhelmed him.

"Everything they hit was on goal and going in," Vaccaro said. "They came down the field in waves and their counterattack killed us. Well, it was entertaining for the fans."

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 4.98 Wednesday, was down 4.47 to 1996.52 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 478-321 among the 1,249 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 8,507,000 shares.

The market's five-session rally stalled Wednesday as prices closed slightly lower in active trading. A late spurt of buying cut most of the losses suffered in an erratic final hour.

Dollar Takes A Dip; Gold's All Mixed Up

By United Press International

The dollar drifted lower in light trading today on major foreign currency markets. Gold was mixed.

Earlier in the Far East, the dollar continued its fall against the Japanese yen in slow trading, closing at 130 yen, down 0.41 yen from Wednesday's close of 130.41 yen.

Traders in Japan said many market players refrained from taking large positions in the absence of fresh news affecting the market.

In Europe, the dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.7035 German marks, down from 1.7114.

The dollar opened in Paris at 5.754 French francs, down from 5.7825, in Amsterdam at 1.9145 Dutch guilders, down from 1.915, and in Zurich unchanged at 1.404 Swiss francs.

The dollar opened in Brussels at 35.785 Belgian francs, down from 35.95 and in Milan at 1,254.25 lire, down from 1,260.80.

In London the pound was weak against most other major currencies and opened lower against dollar at $1.7485, compared with $1.7515 on Wednesday.

In early New York trading, the dollar was narrowly mixed against key foreign currencies in light trading.

Budget Goes To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, in his final effort to reshape government spending, sent Congress a $1.1 trillion budget proposal today that focuses on the future — more spending for education and scientific research.

"I am proposing funds to strengthen U.S. technology and make America more competitive," Reagan said in transmitting the plan, which sets forth spending recommendations for fiscal 1989. It is the last budget proposal Reagan will make as his term ends less than four months after the new fiscal year starts Oct. 1.

The budget also calls for $14 billion in new taxes — mostly levies on businesses — and cutbacks in numerous domestic programs in an effort to hold the deficit below $130 billion.

It proposes $299.5 billion for defense spending authority, less than Reagan originally wanted but in line with the two-year deficit reduction pact with congressional leaders after last fall's stock market crash.

uncommon for prisoners to attempt suicide, but not all prison facilities make reports of such incidents public, as does he. Suicide attempts by inmates in juvenile jails typically do not become public knowledge, he said, because the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services has a practice of withholding information on juveniles.

Following the Seminole County Jail incidents, which were initially reported to jail officials and the news media as suicide attempts, Leman said the youths involved were all evaluated by a jail psychologist who reportedly found that none of the attempts appeared to be a serious effort by any of the youths to succeed.

Polk said that he and officials take any report of an attempted suicide seriously. "We can't afford not to," he said.

However, Polk and Leman said that in the case of these four youths, their "suicide attempts" were apparently bids for attention with some mimicking of the efforts of others. All of the incidents involving the four inmates occurred in the two weeks before Feb. 11, Leman said.

All of these attempts came in the wake of the August suicide by hanging of murder suspect Edwin Bateman, 17, of Forest City. In his suicide letter, Bateman expressed fear of jailhouse sexual assaults, and was especially fearful of going to state prison because of threats that he would be raped there. He also expressed other concerns and fears, and alleged mistreatment by other inmates, all of which he said drove him to kill himself.

Some Suicide Tries Genuine

Other than the youths who were involved in the suicide attempts in the last six months, Leman said, he believes that a 72-year-old murder suspect who plunged a ballpoint pen into his heart and lived, and a 21-year-old federal prisoner who threatened to kill himself with a blade from a disposable razor, were serious in their intent to kill themselves.

In the case of the four juveniles—who are among 10 youths currently housed in the Seminole County jail under court order on serious felony charges—three of the six suicide tries were committed by the same youth, Leman said.

In the first incident involving that youth, Leman said, officials later determined that it was not a suicide attempt at all. The boy allegedly had other juveniles tie him up with bedding, which he untied himself when guards came to his aid. He apparently was trying to push past them in an escape attempt, Leman said officials considered that to have been an attempt to escape, although there is no way such a bid for freedom could have been successful.

That same juvenile gouged his wrist with a pencil. That was considered a suicide attempt and he received stitches to close the wound at a hospital. When he was returned to jail that same day, the boy reportedly ripped out the stitches and that was reported as that same inmate's third attempt at suicide. His injury was not serious, Leman said.

The other youths were involved in what appeared to be attempts at self-hanging, with one inmate following the same method used by another within 13 hours of the first incident on Feb. 10. Seminole County sheriff's investigators reported that no threats of sexual assault were reported by those youths.

Suicide Watch Changes Made

Leman said that another change has been made and it affects prisoners who are put on suicide watch. Before the 72-year-old inmate who was on suicide watch plunged the pen into his heart, there were various levels of suicide watch. At certain levels inmates were allowed to have certain items, although they were still considered a threat to themselves.

area of putting together future plans for such things as road maintenance needs for the city.

If there is a deadlock on whether Norris should get a raise, the issue will rest with Duryea, who told the Sanford Herald today he hasn't made up his mind on the pay increase.

Norris said he feels he has done a good job for the city. "I think I deserve a raise just like all the rest of the city employees."

If the commission doesn't approve a pay increase, Norris said he would have to assume they don't have confidence in his ability to run the city. "The raise is really an evaluation and you hope that evaluation shows positive results. Those results should show up in a paycheck, and if they don't I think you've got a problem," Norris said.

Bryant said that the plan and practice of the Seminole County jail in classifying and dealing with these inmates meets state approval, but changes are expected to be made when space allows appropriate supervision of such inmates in a mixed population.

Bryant said she could also find no evidence of open homosexual practices in the jail, as had been reported to the state in an unsigned letter. She approved the jail's plan for housing admitted homosexuals in a specific cell area.

Now, Leman said the various levels of suicide watch have been eliminated and all inmates being watched are housed under the same conditions. They continue to be subjected to mandatory visual checks by guards every 15 minutes. But the procedure now is to strip and search all inmates before they are isolated. Some inmates were kept nude before, but now all have their underwear and a jail uniform returned to them and they are issued a blanket, but no other bed linens. They are not allowed to have shoes or any other objects, Leman said.

One condition in the jail, segregation by race, will, with state authorization, continue unchanged until all inmates are settled in the jail after its expansion and renovations are completed this year, Polk said.

State prison officials have reported that they approve the segregation of some groups of inmates who are said to be trouble makers, or who are accused of serious crimes, into all black or all white cell areas, the sheriff said.

Babbitt Drops Out Of Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt today withdrew from the 1988 presidential Democratic race, but said he was not abandoning "the cause that brought me into this political arena."

"Today I am free," Babbitt told a news conference. "But, although I am withdrawing from this race, I am not withdrawing from the cause that brought me to it."

"The cause is an America that comes to grips with its future," Babbitt said. "We spent 16 of the last 20 years out of power," Babbitt said, adding, it is time to "turn that around."

Babbitt's back-in-the-pack finish in New Hampshire Tuesday followed a poor showing in the Iowa caucuses last week.

"I don't know why we didn't fare any better," Babbitt said, adding that he would leave that to others to figure out.

Although Babbitt was a blip in national polls for many months and his campaign ran on a shoestring budget, he was able to wage a credible and spirited campaign in the weeks leading up to the Iowa caucuses.

With little to lose, Babbitt drew widespread admiration for his candor on the stump and in debates. But his forthright message for some form of tax increases and spending reductions, while winning praise in the national media, did not catch on with voters.

In a nationally televised debate in December, Babbitt dramatically rose from his chair and declared he was the only candidate with the political courage to "stand up" and tell voters he would raise taxes to help ease record federal budget deficits.

"I'll not forget the people in the audiences who stood up out of their chairs," Babbitt said, saying he "stood up for them and they stood up for me."

"This candidate is withdrawing," Babbitt said. "This campaign is closing down." But he added, "The cause that we stood for has just begun."

Asked if he was prepared to endorse one of the other Democratic candidates, Babbitt said, "I'm not prepared at this point to endorse another candidate."

Babbitt said he is "going off to Elba, where I will await the call from the mainland, lie awake at night listening for the sound of oars."

"I'm going to wait and watch and do everything I can to ensure the success of our party," Babbitt said.

Maria and Angel Compain, and Conchita Compain-Zabala are the owners of property at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Americana Blvd., where they want to operate a retail tire store. That business is conditionally allowed in the general commercial (GC-2) where the property is located.

Marder recommends that the conditional use request be denied because that type of business would be out of character with other businesses already existing in the area, he said. The existing businesses in the immediate vicinity include several restaurants, he said, as well as a shopping center and one auto dealership.

The third public hearing will be to consider a conditional use request for a used car lot at Seventh St. and French Ave., a vacant lot in a RC-1 zone. Vaughn and Barbara Martin are the owners.

Marder said that another used car lot is in the vicinity, as well as other businesses, and a few single family residences. He said that he recommends the planning and zoning commissioners approve the request because of the existing character of the neighborhood, and because other similar businesses also exist there.

Site Plans Up For Review

Site plans to be considered include one for the Hoffman Building, a proposed seven-unit commercial service building, to be located at 2530 Sanford Ave., a GC-2 zone. The owner is W.A. Hoffman.

The second site plan to be considered is for a truck terminal to be located at 110 Rand Yard Road in a restricted industrial zone (RI-1). The property owner is Jose Mila.

The last site plan to be considered is for the Crisis Pregnancy Center, located at 605 E. 25th St., a RC-1 zone.

Sanford Offers Marker Encouragement

A marker commemorating Dr. Seth French, an early Sanford settler, may be placed on French Avenue between 15th and 16th streets.

City commissioners discussed the possibility at a workshop Monday. However, they agreed that the city should not pay the $1,050 for the marker but, rather, encourage French's great-granddaughter in her efforts to have the marker installed.

City Manager Frank Faison sent a letter to Carl McMurray, Bureau of Historic Preservation, in June 1987 requesting a marker, on behalf of Harriet French Boyd, French's great-granddaughter. In December, a letter from McMurray stated that, "If the text meets with your approval I'll order it right away. Your check for payment in the amount of $1,050 should be made to the Department of State."

However, commissioners agreed that it should not be the city's responsibility to pay for the marker. Bill Simmons, director of engineering and planning, pointed out the the Historic Preservation Board has $2,000 in its budget for signage. However, that amount is designated for buildings in the downtown commercial area, he explained.

According to Faison, the fate of the marker now lies with Boyd and the state.

French was a member of the Florida senate and also the state's first commissioner of immigration.

The proposed wording for the marker is as follows:

"Dr. Seth French (1824-1896) was an early Sanford settler. His house stood on this land from 1872 until it was destroyed by fire in 1954. Part of the land was donated to the adjoining Middle School and the State Farmer's Market, both now using the address of French Ave."

"Born in Potsdam, New York, May 2, 1824, French was a surgeon in the United States Army during the Civil War (1861-1865), joining the 21st New York Regiment. Dr. French served as a member of the Florida Senate in 1879 representing Volusia County, and he was appointed Florida's first Commissioner of Immigration for the years 1879 and 1880. He was a Mason and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, owned an orange grove and several other properties in Sanford, and was the principal mover in the settlement of Orange City."

Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fl. Thursday, Feb. 18, 1988-1B

Boyfriend Must Wake Up And Face Problem

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if you can help me. I've been seeing a man for almost two years. The problem is he keeps falling asleep on me. No matter what position he's in, sitting or lying, he will doze off. I've talked to him about it and asked if maybe I was boring company, but he says it's not me—it's just him. He says he loves me and he's very comfortable around me, so I shouldn't feel hurt.

He does a lot of driving on his job—sometimes from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m., which can be tiring, but you can't imagine how I feel when I'm talking to him and he doesn't answer me because he's out like a light. (This even happens when we're making love, which hurts my feelings.)

Have you any suggestions on how to handle this?

SLEEPY BOYFRIEND

DEAR GIRLFRIEND: Tell your friend to see a physician—and the sooner the better. Frequent drowsiness, then dozing off are the classic symptoms of narcolepsy—an uncontrollable tendency to fall asleep. If he should fall asleep while driving, he could hurt (or kill) himself and others. His doctor can prescribe medication to control this condition.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl with a major and difficult problem. My grandfather and I have been really close ever since I can remember. He was always my favorite grandparent. Well, I think he took our closeness too much to heart, because he has made some sexual moves on me recently. Luckily I am old enough to know that's just not right. I backed off and acted like nothing happened. Even though it wasn't a total act of molestation, a grandfather just doesn't touch his 18-year-old granddaughter the way he touched me.

There is a big concern I have now about my two younger cousins. They aren't old enough to know what's going on if he tries something like that with them.

I told my parents about it, and they are confused about what to do. Grandpa is a well-respected man in our family and the community, too. If this was brought out into the open, it would be terrible. What should be done?

CONFUSED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR CONFUSED: Your parents and you should talk to Grandpa immediately. It's important for you to be present so that the truth cannot be easily denied. This should not be an angry confrontation. Grandpa could be sick and in need of treatment. He should first be psychiatrically examined. Treatment and counseling may be in order.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was born Dec. 25, 1986. I need to know if last December (1987) can be considered her first or second Christmas?

My mother says it is her second Christmas. I say it's her first birthday, so it has to be her first Christmas, too. What do you say?

HEATHER'S MOMMY

DEAR MOMMY: If your daughter was born on Christmas Day, 1986, she celebrated her first birthday and her second Christmas on Christmas Day 1987.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I teach writing and journalism to students in the Gifted and Talented Educational Program in Guam's public schools.

To encourage creative writing, I read a letter from your column, and without letting them know your response, ask them to write an answer in 15 minutes or less. I then read their responses aloud and allow the students to evaluate each other's efforts. Anyway, I thought I'd share the following "advice" written in 10 minutes by 11-year-old Adam Armstrong, a sixth-grader. It was in response to a newly married farmer's wife who had received a silver pitcher for a wedding gift. With it came a card suggesting that should the couple split, the groom gets the pitcher.

"Dear Wife: Take down the card and put a card in its place that says:

"The Groom likes to snort."
"That makes him a jerk."
"So wipe off that smile."
"Or I'll kick you a mile."
"So shut up and sit."
"You dumb little twit. Love, Wife."

"P.S. The original card is burned and the ashes sent to your friend."

"All this time, smile and act cheerfully. When he turns to you, give him a big kiss. Say you're sorry, and ask him to forgive you."

Abby, all I did was correct some spelling.

RICHARD SELINKOFF, YONA, GUAM

DEAR MR. SELINKOFF: Your 11-year-old student is a quick thinker and obviously talented. But he has much to learn about tact if he hopes to grow up intact!

Double Ring Nuptials Unite Lisa Schramm, A.W. Winkle

Lisa Pearl Schramm and Arthur Wesley Winkle, both of Sanford, were married Feb. 14, at 6 p.m. in the clubhouse of Sanford Landing Apartments, Sanford. Kevin Leach, captain of the Rivership Romance performed the traditional double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schramm, Magalia, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Winkle, Tampa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal blush pink gown fashioned along the Victorian silhouette. The crystal organza yoke was defined with an Alencon lace ruffle extending. Tiers of lace ruffled bordered the full skirt that gracefully cascaded into a sweeping chapel train, and over the tapered lace sleeves. A halo of flowers and tridescents held her tiered veil of imported illusion. She carried a circular bouquet of white carnations showered with satin streamers.

Michelle Winkle, daughter of the bridegroom, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a pink floor-length gown with a matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink tulips.

Bridesmaids were: Lois Elizabeth Day and Kathy Lynn McLean. They wore red satin floor-length gowns and carried red and white roses.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Usher-groomsman was Van Wesley Winkle, son of the bridegroom.

Kelly Nicole McLean was the flower girl and Van Wesley Winkle was the ring bearer.

A reception in the clubhouse followed the ceremony. A valentine motif was carried out in the refreshments and decor. Johnny

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wesley Winkle

Sternburg assisted in serving. After their wedding trip, the newlyweds will make their home at 2507 Georgia Ave., Sanford. The bride is employed as receptionist at Briar Corp., Lake Monroe. The bridegroom is assistant captain of the Rivership Romance docked at Sanford Marina, Sanford.

CFRH Dietician Speaks To Club On Nutrition

Nicole Reeves-Baulch

At the February meeting of the Woman's Club of Sanford, Nicole Reeves-Baulch, a registered dietitian, said it is "a myth to think that only children still need milk." She added that supplying your body with two dairy servings daily will help bodily functions and also aid in the prevention of osteoporosis, the thinning and weakening of bones.

After having the women record their previous day's diet, the speaker polled the membership to determine who met the basic daily nutritional requirements to find only a few qualify.

"If you are low in energy, just giving your body the minimum requirements from the four food groups—dairy, meat, grain and fruit/vegetable, I can almost guarantee your energy will be where it should be," the speaker said. Ms. Reeves-Baulch mentioned that if someone needs to improve his nutritional status, the product "Ensure Plus" is a good supplement when used properly and is available at most drug stores.

With abundant questions and answers following her presentation and explanation of the three handouts she made available to the membership, Ms. Reeves-Baulch ended her commentary by mentioning that the Central Florida Regional Hospital, where she is employed, a offers weight management class, individual nutritional counseling sessions and diabetes update classes. She iterated that it was good common sense to seek professional counsel over nutritional concerns.
