Radio Artists Provide Comedy And Songs In Feature Show

Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Marjorie Raye, the trio who made "Rhythm on the Range" one of last year's outstanding comedies with music, are together again in "Waikiki Wedding," a gay comedy of love and music under tropical skies which opens tomorrow at the Ritz Theater.

Beautiful Shirley Ross, who won with Bob and Marjorie in "The Broadway Melody of 1937," carries the feminine romantic lead of the comedy. The cast also includes George Barbier, Lief Erikson, M. J. Rei, the Tahitian dancer who was the sensation of the Ziegfeld Follies recently; Evelyn and Nelson De Grey, native Hawaiian dancing team, and over two hundred native dancers, musicians and other performers.

"Waikiki Wedding" is the story of a press agent, played by Crosby, whose job it is to keep Miss Ross thrilled with the glamour of Hawaii. He does a thorough job of it falling in love with her in the process and it is when he is forced to extricate himself from an entirely synthetic Hawaii that he had created that some of the comedy high spots are reached.

Bob Burns and Marjorie Raye also have a romance very much like the one they had in "Rhythm on the Range," and Miss Raye sings a number of "swing" songs in the manner which has lifted her from obscurity to fame in less than eight months.

"Clarence" Comedy At Ritz Theater On Tuesday Only

There's an old saying about home being the abode of love. But there can be such a thing as too much love—and "Clarence," the latest comedy of family life by Booth Tarkington which shows Tuesday at the Ritz Theater proves it.

Almost everybody in the Wheeler family, whose concerns are chronicled in "Clarence," is in love—with the wrong person—and as a result Eugene Pallette, the father of the madcap family,

"North Of Nome" Scheduled To Be Shown Saturday

Alaska is coming in for its share of popularity next Saturday at the Ritz Theater, where Columbia's "North of Nome" will play. Jack Holt, hardy veteran of many a gun fight and much fist-cuffing, plays the stellar role, while Evelyn Verable is his leading lady.

The film deals with the activities of one John Raglan, stalwart peacher, who is being sorely troubled by a hijacking thug named Haaga.

A shipwreck in the vicinity enables Raglan to show his heroism, and he rescues Judge Brille, a director in the company that controls the island; his niece, Camilla; and her wealthy suitor, Dawson, among others. Brille, despite the fact that Raglan has saved his life, is incensed at the man's approaching activities.

Raglan henceforth attempts to protect himself by holding the party communitarian on the island. During the adventurous time that follows, a romance springs up between Raglan and Camilla. Dawson, desperately trying to leave the island, signals to a passing boat.

In an exciting finish, however, Raglan fights the hijacker and wins freedom for the group.

His daughter, lovely Eleanore Whitney, is in love with a fat, bald-headed fortune hunter. His son, Johnny Downs, is in love with his sister's companion, Charlotte Winters, who is old enough to be—well, his big sister.

Th, butler is in love with the maid, but he thinks Johnny is also in love with her, and Spring Bingham, Pallette's wife, is convinced that her husband is in love with Winters.

Into this scene comes Roscoe Karns as "Clarence" and everybody falls in love with him! And he falls in love, too, in a way which works out the scrambled affairs of all connected to everybody's satisfaction and keeps Pallette from going to the big house.

ALL IN FUN

The coz little miss is Marjorie Raye and the jolly tar is Bing Crosby, two of the funmakers in "Waikiki Wedding," the gay romance with music which opens on Sunday at the Ritz Theater. Bob Burns, Shirley Ross, a pig named "Wafford," and some two hundred and fifty dancing girls are also in the cast.

"Time Out For Romance" Shows Here Two Days

Hilarity and adventure run riot on the highways in "Time Out for Romance," the thrillingly amusing Twentieth Century-Fox production which shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater, with Claire Trevor and Michael Whalen having new fun in romantic comedy as a renegade bride and a highway Romeo involved with a cross-country auto caravan.

As the daughter of a millionaire sportsman, Claire Trevor feels home when she learns from her father that the titled foreigner she has just wed had secured a half-million-dollar settlement through her socially ambitious mother. Hoping to meet her father in California, Claire starts hitchhiking across the continent.

At the approach of a caravan of cars, being driven from the factory to the Pacific Coast, the weary ride-humber feigns collapse, and one of the drivers, Michael Whalen, takes her aboard his car, although he knows that it means the loss of his job if she is discovered.

With police on the trail both of the missing heiress and of stolen diamonds which have been hidden in Michael's car, complications ensue thick and fast, with Michael and Claire each suspecting the other. A whirlwind flight from the police serves to reveal the real thief, and brings the couple together in the realization that it's time they both took time out for romance.

EX-CHAPLIN DIRECTS

"Murder Goes to College," a breezy story with Lynne Overman and Roscoe Karns, coming to the Ritz Theater on Tuesday was directed by Charles "Chuck" Riener, who was once Charlie Chaplin's co-director and author. Larry Crabbe, Marjorie Hunt and Harvey Stephens also are in the cast of this comedy of the police racket, the underworld and college professors.

The common fly has a heart and complete circulatory system. The kumquat, small citrus fruit, is highly prized in China.

COMES BACK HERE

The amazing versatility and talent of diminutive but dynamic "Ginger" Jane Withers was never so apparent as in the musical laugh riot, "Can This Be Dixie," which returns to the Ritz screen next Friday.

NOT IN BOOK

Army regulations fail to provide for emergencies like this, Roscoe Karns explains when it happens in "Clarence," movie adaptation of Booth Tarkington's famous comedy, at the Ritz Theater Tuesday. Eleanore Whitney's the girl.

Frank Tuttle, who directed the musical success "College Holiday," was in charge of the megaphone work of "Waikiki Wedding," a gay comedy of love and music under tropical skies, with Bing Crosby, Bob Burns, Marjorie Raye and Shirley Ross, which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theater.

Overman, Karns Comedy Team In College Mystery

Lynne Overman and Roscoe Karns, popular screen funny men, are teamed as a comedy pair in "Murder Goes To College," a brisk, light-hearted mystery comedy which shows on Friday at the Ritz Theater.

Cracked-voiced Overman is the detective in the new film, and Karns, the man who made the polka-dotted bow-tie famous, is a crackpot newspaper man who helps him. Both are after the murderer of a college professor who mixed mathematics with the polky racket. Overman gets his man and Karns gets the girl—beautiful Marjorie Hunt.

"Murder Goes To College" was directed by Charles "Chuck" Riener, at one time co-director and author for Charlie Chaplin. The cast also includes Larry Crabbe, Astrid Allwyn, Harvey Stephens and Anthony Pace.

Comedy, Action Heads Latest Joe E. Brown Film

Side-splitting comedy situations, thrilling adventures and a swift succession of hilarious incidents feature "When's Your Birthday?" Joe E. Brown's new laughing success which shows at the Ritz Wed. and Thursday.

First seen as a young man following a highly unsuccessful pugilistic career in order to pay for a course in astrology, and collecting black eyes with monotonous regularity, Brown finally secures a job as a soothsayer in a Midway concession, and thenceforth leads such a hectic existence that his disastrous ring career seems mild by comparison. The climax is one long roar of laughter.

This David L. Loew production for RKO Radio was directed by Harry Beaumont, and Brown's supporting cast includes Marian Marsh, Fred Keating, Mimi Watson and Edgar Kennedy.

The bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture has developed a new process for making calcium gluconate, used for treating many diseases, resulting from calcium deficiency, at a cost of less than 25 cents a pound.

EDITOR 'COVERS' OWN SLAYING—WIFE IS NURSE

Here are the three principal figures in a strange newspaper feud, a faithful editor who "covered" his own slaying, and a nurse who was assigned to care for her dying husband. A coroner's jury blamed Harry French (left), state employe and son of a rival publisher, with the slaying of Claude L. McCracken (right), Alturas, Calif., editor and correspondent for the Associated Press. On duty as a special nurse, Mrs. McCracken (center) was assigned to care for her husband as he lay dying from five bullet wounds in a hospital. McCracken's last act was to dictate a story of the shooting. (Associated Press Photos)

Study Of Wells Enters 4th Month In Local Areas

Geologists Checking Performances Of Sub-Strata Streams

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt recommended to Congress today on the fourth anniversary of the CCC, the creation of a permanent Civilian Conservation Corps of 300,000 members.

A study of the underground water system of Seminole County by Sidney A. Stubbs geologist, assisted by H. James Gut, was entering its fourth month today.

Under the present law the Corps created Apr. 5, 1933 as a source of employing youths on such projects as reforestation, road building and park development, will expire June 30 this year.

The geologist has pointed out that the study is the first ever made in Seminole County. Present geological maps of this section were made on studies of the underground strata of surrounding counties and not from a study of this immediate vicinity.

Actual enrollment of the CCC at this time is about 300,000, including war veterans as well as young men recruited from various American cities.

Mr. Gut and Mr. Stubbs said that, among other things, that in the "even" agricultural interests seek to claim damages for the harm which is believed will be done by the completion of the Florida Ship Canal, the data collected will be of invaluable aid to those interests.

Other congressional developments today included Senator Byrnes' withdrawal of his controversial anti-strike amendment to the Guffey-Vinson coal bill and the offering of a substitute directed specifically at sit-downs.

Much of the work done by Mr. Stubbs consists of testing wells, and in three months of activity he has made records of the performance of 400. A test for salt content has been made in about 300 cases.

The new proposal would add to other declarations of labor policy in the bill statement that "it is the sense of the Congress that the so-called sit-down strikes are illegal and contrary to public policy." The first amendment was directed technically only against sit-downs in coal industry.

The information gained through these tests can serve as the basis for a thorough understanding of the water problem of the County if the work is continued into the summer months," the geologist (Continued on Page Two)

DRINKING AND GORGING:

Do not among winebibbers; among gluttons eaters of flesh; for the drunkard and glutton shall come to poverty; and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags.—Prov. 23:20, 21.

The U. S. Senate is wondering what to do about the "sit-down" strikes. There seems to be some question about which side the most votes go on.

Mechanical errors in the automobile are seldom responsible for accidents, we read. It's the nuts behind the wheel that cause the wrecks.

Comptroller Lee says the State of Florida is now in the best financial condition it has seen in fifty years. Then no new taxes should be necessary.

Gov. Cline keeps insisting we don't need any new taxes. Doesn't he know that won't make him very popular with the politicians?

Four new banks have been started in Florida during the past month, according to an exchange which adds that just goes to show where we're heading.

Binclair Lewis wrote "It Can't Happen Here" but Sinclair Lewis' wife, Dorothy Thompson told a Senate committee that she thought it could, and that if the President's court proposal goes through, it probably will.

Remember Alice Lake, the film star of yesterday, who boasted an income of $2,000 per week. Well, she was thrown into jail for drunkenness recently for twenty days when she was unable to pay the fine. "The pathos of glory lead but to the grave."

If you want to get a true appraisal of a workman, check his work sometime when he doesn't know he is being watched. Most any sort of a workman can pull out if he has any audience or a gallery watching him, but what he does when no one is watching shows his true measure.—Evelyn Lake Region. And there are plenty of them that work just as hard when you're watching them as when you aren't.

A motorist injured in an automobile accident was pronounced dead for five minutes. Telling about it afterward, he said, "I seemed to float into a soft dark haze. There was great peacefulness and rich contentment and I didn't care where the ship went from there. I floated in this warm friendly new place without a worry in the world. Then all of a sudden, my broken hip hurt, my broken ribs throbed and the pain in my side pained." That was when he began to come back to life.

Those who insist that enlarging the membership of the Supreme Court is not planned for the purpose of settling the question of unconstitutionality should read the following from Gov. La Follette, one of the advocates of the proposal: "Of course the President's proposal will affect the decisions of the Supreme Court. It is intended to do so entirely. The point of view of some of the Supreme Court justices and the decisions resulting from that point of view is in my opinion of change. The appointment of five new justices will progress of 100,000,000 people by retarding and disturbing the path of the Constitution to proceed in a direction that made correction. And this step, which cannot be corrected by amending the Constitution, is intended to be corrected by appointing new justices."

The Legislature Meets

With legislators gathering in Tallahassee from all parts of the State to hear the Governor's message Tuesday afternoon and for the opening session in the morning, predictions are being freely made that this will be one of the stormiest sessions in the history of Florida with a great deal being attempted, and with, perhaps, not much of anything being accomplished, unless extra sessions are held after the 60-day bout is ended.

Most of these predictions are based not alone upon the fact that Gov. Cline has already spoken his mind rather freely concerning the prerogatives of the legislative branch of the government as compared with the executive branch, in words which some of the senators and representatives look to be unnecessarily harsh, but also upon certain uncompromising differences in basic principles entertained by leaders of these opposing branches.

Chief among the bones of contention is the sales tax. Gov. Cline has said positively and vigorously that he will veto any sales tax bill which is brought before him. He insists that the State does not need any additional tax revenue, and that anyway the sales tax is a bad way to raise revenue, hitting the little fellow in the place where he can least afford to stand it; namely, the bread basket.

Legislators, however, point out that the sales tax is the only way the state can raise sufficient revenue to meet the demands of the people. They declare that home-stead exemption lopped off millions of dollars of public revenue and that the schools were saved from premature closing only by the obliging death of a wealthy duPont whose inheritance taxes contributed some three million dollars at the very time when it was needed most.

They also insist that the schools should be provided with $10,500,000 by the State from some source which would not be dependent upon the vagaries of an untimely death. They are also faced with the necessity of raising nearly five million dollars of additional revenue for old age pensions, while nearly every department of the State government has submitted demands for more funds than they have received during the past few years.

In addition to this, there will be some loss in revenue incident to repeal of some of the laws passed by the last session of the Legislature. Though the slot machine act was expected to produce some two million dollars, it fell far short of this amount. But the six or seven hundred thousand dollars which it did raise will be lost if the Legislature repeals the act. Most of it will be lost anyhow as 50 of the 67 counties in Florida have already voted against slot machines.

Furthermore, another baby of the 1935 Legislature which now appears to be an unwanted child, is the so-called "chain store tax," or "gross receipts tax." This bill, which was supposed to place the chain stores on a more nearly even competitive basis with the independents, and raise some four or five million dollars in revenue for the State, has actually done neither. As it now stands, it really is a bigger handicap to the independents than to the chains, and it is producing less than half the amount expected.

So, considering the various revenue measures which are likely to be repealed, and the various demands for additional funds, it is easy to see that there is likely to be a head on collision between the proponents and opponents of the sales tax, with the people as usual being the goats no matter what happens.

Canal Reports

In the absence of complete reports on the cross state canal which cannot be released for publication until after they are transmitted to Congress, it is interesting to note that the War Department has provided itself with a convenient "out" in the event anything goes wrong during the construction of this highly controversial ditch.

The Board of Army Engineers who actually conducted the investigation, rendered an unfavorable report on the canal, declaring the project economically unsound and dangerous to the underground water supplies. General Markham on the other hand, who is chief of the Army Engineers, makes a personal report at the same time, which is supposed to be based on the report of the Board, that the canal is thoroughly justifiable.

It is interesting to note, however, that even he had to raise the ante by some fifty million dollars. He now says the construction of this canal across Florida will cost $197,921,000; whereas a little over a year ago when the first allotment for the canal was made, he estimated it would cost only $143,000,000. But the Board of Army Engineers, in the report which goes to Congress today, places the probable cost at $263,838,000.

It is perfectly clear from all this that no one knows how much the canal is going to cost, least of all the experts who presumably should know more about it than anyone else. Inasmuch as every estimate which has thus far been made has increased the cost in the previous estimate, there is no assurance that even this $263,838,000 will actually cover the ultimate cost to the taxpayer. The next estimate which comes forth will probably raise the ante another fifty million or so.

Rotary Selects Directors For Year's Service

Rotarians from Winter Haven, and secretary of the Florida Horticultural Society, told Rotarians of plans of his group for the celebration of the founding of the Society in Ocala in 1888. He said the celebration will be held on Apr. 13, 14 and 15 and will consist of many unusual exhibits pertaining to the Florida citrus industry, and demonstration of modern packing house machinery, and a pageant which will be given on the night of Apr. 14, depicting the growth and development of the citrus industry from the time of Pedro Menendez to the present. The string for this prepared by Mrs. Holland Dean of Sanford.

Rotarians W. A. Leffler and E. F. Halson, and President Pope, reported on the convention in Havana which they attended last week. Havana is a remarkably clean and progressive city, all three of them agreed, with magnificent buildings, luxurious clubs, and excellent hotels and restaurants. "The capitol building itself is one of the most marvelous structures I have ever seen," Mr. Halson reported, pointing out that it was built by the Machado administration at a cost of $22,000,000. "Havana is only one hour and forty minutes by plane from Miami," said Mr. Leffler. "One of the most remarkable things about the city is the large number of doctors and second hand automobiles one sees there. All of the lawyers are called doctors," he added, "which partly accounts for it."

Mr. Leffler distributed to Rotarians a collection of souvenirs which the travelers brought home with them. President Pope stated that more than 500 Rotarians were registered at the convention. E. F. Bloodworth reported on plans of the Dance Committee for the Rotary Dance which will be held at the Mayfair Hotel on Thursday night. The dance is the hardest of all dances.

HISTORIC OLD ST. AUGUSTINE LANDMARKS INTERGUIDE

FOREMOST among all of St. Augustine's architectural treasures is massive Fort Marion, formerly San Marco, most perfect example of medieval architecture in the new world. Almost a century of labor and incalculable treasure were expended by the Spaniards in the erection of this historic building which was begun in 1672 and completed in 1766. With its turrets, watch towers, ramparts, battlements and secret dungeons, it seems like some old castle of medieval Europe. Proudly the old fortress claims the distinction of never having been taken by assault.

Equally picturesque are the Old City Gates which once provided the only entrance to the ancient city and formed a vital part of St. Augustine's defense. The gates, as we see them today, were built of stone, but the rest of the wall, which extended from San Marco to the San Sebastian River, was of logs stood on end. On the outer side of this was a deep moat or ditch filled with water, and the approach to the gates was over a drawbridge which was pulled up at night. The "Oldest House" is a curious old world structure with low ceilings and large fireplaces. For more than a century it has been one of the chief attractions to the tourists, and in 1918 was purchased by the St. Augustine Historical Society and Institute of Science, whose object was to preserve it in its original state. An interesting collection of historic records and relics are on exhibit there.

Older even than St. Augustine itself is the "Ancient Indian Burial Ground," in the beautiful "Fountain of Youth" Park, which was not discovered until April 13, 1924. From relics and other evidence unearthed by archeological experts, history has been translated just as surely as from the written records, showing that many of these Indian remains actually antedated the establishment of St. Augustine. Another interesting landmark of historic St. Augustine is her "Oldest Wooden School House," a quaint old building just within the city gates. The tiny wooden structure, built flush upon the street, recreates vividly an atmosphere of old-fashioned school days, and one of its most interesting features is the fact that it was built of cedar, held firmly together with wooden pins. The gardens of the old landmark contain a rare frankincense tree and many other unusual plants.

THE FEDERAL SYSTEM

It is becoming more and more clear, as the President's argument proceeds, that his real quarrel is not with the Supreme Court but with the Federal system. To be sure, the dominant theme of his radio address on Tuesday evening was an argument that the court "has been acting not as a judicial body, but as a policy-making body," that it has "improperly set itself up as a third house Congress, a super-legislature, and that the time has come to put an end to this usurpation. But it is necessary to ask what policies the court has actually made, and what legislation it has enacted.

Of the hundreds of laws adopted by the Roosevelt Administration, the present court has thus far declared eight laws, or parts of laws, to be unconstitutional. One of these was a farm moratorium act which was never on the Administration's own program, but which was forced on it through a filibuster staged by HARRY LONG. Another was a brief action of law dealing with building and loan association charters. Another was a measure which the President said was "crudely drawn," and which was signed by him only after "a difficult decision," providing for the payment of railway pensions. Another was a measure, known as the Municipal Bankruptcy Act, of which practically no use was ever made. And another was a "hot oil" law for the petroleum industry, which deals with a situation which is no longer present. These five laws were of comparatively little consequence in the broad program of the Administration. The real issue has been raised by the fact of the three other acts which the court held to be invalid—namely, NRA, "little NRA" (the Guffey act for the soft-coal industry) and AAA.

In the first case by a unanimous vote and in the other cases by a majority of two to one the court has declared these acts to be unconstitutional. In so doing it has taken a position not in accord with MR. ROOSEVELT'S present views. But it has expressed the traditional doctrine that under a Federal system such as ours there are sound reasons for regarding as inconsistent with the Constitution in its present form, any centralization of power in Washington so vast that it would enable the Government to regulate wages and conditions of work in every industry and to control the planting of crops on every farm. No one has more eloquently expressed this traditional doctrine of limited Federal power, or more cogently given reasons for it, than MR. ROOSEVELT himself, speaking only a few years ago. Of the desire of the States to handle these matters for themselves in their own way he said: "The preservation of this home rule by the States is not a cry of jealous Commonwealth seeking their own aggrandizement at the expense of their sister States. It is a fundamental necessity if we are to remain a truly united country. . . . There are, already, I am sorry to say, danger signals flying." This is the traditional doctrine of Federalism, stated MR. ROOSEVELT in 1930, but now described by him as an instance of "policy-making" and of judicial usurpation when it is restated by the Supreme Court of the United States. This is the Federal system which the President would now like to alter by the process of changing the personnel of the Supreme Court because he believes it can be done more rapidly and with less opposition in this way than in any other.

Senior Play, "New Fires," To Be Presented By Class On Friday

By MRS. MAYBELLE MAXWELL
"New Fires" the senior play to be given on Friday, Apr. 9 at the high school is one of the most popular and successful plays that has been presented by an amateur high school group in recent years. It has been called by the critics "the perfect school play." It has everything: complication, a dramatic climax, pathos and common sense. It is a life-like portrayal of the average American family. Although fundamentally a cleverly amusing comedy, there is a thoughtful strain and a depth of feeling that appeals to the most careless listener. You will laugh until your face hurts at the trials of Lucinda and Sid; the antics of Phyllis and Billy; and the lovesick newly weds.
The story in brief is what Stephen Santry, an author, does when he finds out that his family is growing away from fundamental values of life. He takes them away from their Chicago home to an old farm in the Missouri Ozarks in an effort to bring them back to a sane way of living. A succession of accidents forces them to remain there long enough to develop a real purpose in life and to fight "New Fires" in their lives.

Gray Names State Legion Umpires For 1937 Season

President Selects 8 From Application List Of Over 150

Florida State League President Henry L. Gray of Gainesville yesterday completed the selection of his toughest assignment as head of an eight-man umpire staff.

He had the names of six umpires on a list of 150, with two more just about ready to sign to bring the sampling staff up to the required eight men.

Over 150 men in all sections of the country, learning that a Florida resident was eligible for a job with the league, sent in applications.

President Gray, checking back on all recommendations, finally selected the six below as the men who will handle State League ball until further notice:

Frosty Peters of Hot Springs, Ark., a husky lad who made gridiron history at the University of Illinois with his uncanny drop-kicking ability.

C. C. "Shovel" Hodge of Enterprise, Ala., known to every semi-pro and minor league manager and hundreds of fans south of the Mason-Dixon line.

The Cowart of Colquitt, Ga., a veteran who knows as many ball players as any man now connected with the game.

E. N. Vaughan of West Point, Ga., experienced arbiter with a Grade AA record.

Urold Welch of Chicago, Ill., reformed player who decided that the opportunities presented thru George Barr's school for umpires were more lucrative than those offered players.

Ray Borders, the Kentucky mountaineer who worked many a game last season and was highly recommended for a repeat performance.

President Gray has high hopes of inducing Lewis Hardage, baseball coach at the University of Florida, to spend the summer making the rounds as an arbiter.

As they did last year, the umpire will travel by private auto, jumping from city to city in pairs, with the auto owner compensated for his services as chauffeur for the other fellow.

Club officials will provide a hotel or private room for the umpires, to be used at their option, with some of the officials going so far as to offer the umpire a free uniform-preserving service.

President Gray has called his umpires to meet at Gainesville Thursday, Apr. 15, three days prior to the season's opening. He'll instruct them as to their duties, stressing one point over

Farmers' Group Ask Commission For Survey Aid

Needs $200 To Continue Mapping Out Underground Water

Three representatives of the Seminole County Agricultural Association today ask the County Commission for an allocation of $200 to help carry on a sub-surface survey now in progress in this section.

The general appeal was made by Peter Thurston, James Gint and Henry Schumacher. G. L. Blodgett, an individual, supported the proposal as one of merit.

Commissioners heard an explanation of the plan—which is directed by geologist Sidney A. Stubbs—that includes testing all wells in the County and recording their performance.

Data obtained from the survey, it is claimed, will show the course of the underground streams which supply this section with fresh water.

The Commission took the proposal under advisement, but gave no answer.

F. L. Miller told the Board that all rooms had been exhausted for burial of white paupers in the County jail. Commissioners Thacher and Lyson were named to investigate.

Straight Jail Sentence Is Ordered For Drunks

Judge Frank Miller 'Keeps Promise' He Made In September; Defendant Goes To Prison

Municipal Judge Frank Miller yesterday delivered a straight 30-day jail sentence to L. B. Higgins, on a charge of drunkenness, "to keep a promise" the judge said he made last September.

Judge Miller reported that Higgins was hauled in City Court last year on a drunkenness charge, found the court lenient and drew a 60-day suspended sentence.

"But if you come back," Mr. Miller told the defendant, "and you're booked on the same charge, you can expect an outright prison term."

Judge Miller said there were a number of others who have received suspended sentences for drunkenness, and he reiterated his "promise" that jail terms await any of them who are returned to his court booked for intoxication.

Other activities of court yesterday included the assessment of a $10 fine or 20 days in jail for Burk Bayburn, white, who was brought in on a drunkenness charge.

W. L. Lee, white, charged with speeding, received a bond of $5.

Report On Canal Reverberates In Whole Of State

Anderson Says Markham's Recommendation Is Defeat

Reverberations from the reports on the Florida Ship Canal, made to the House in Washington yesterday, rolled through the State today.

In Orlando, Frank Kay Anderson, director of the Florida Conservation League, and Maj. Gen. Edward Markham's "half-hearted" approval of the waterway forecasts defeat of the project in Congress.

Gen. Sumner L. Lowry Jr., of Jacksonville, began mobilizing forces in North Florida toward the end of securing appropriations from Congress for the continuance of the canal work.

The Associated Press quoted Mr. Anderson as saying that "it is wholly unlikely that Congress will ever give final consideration to the construction of the canal by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, the main body of the United States Engineer Corps which recently passed on it."

General Markham, Anderson declared, "vetoes and reverses the findings of the Board, yet damns the canal with faint praise."

"It is a sad commentary upon the influence of politics upon engineers," (Continued on page four)

Four Tuberculosis Cases In County, Says Health Unit

Only four cases of tuberculosis in Seminole County has been reported to date to the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association, the unit learned yesterday in a study of its record at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Lamb, school nurse.

Members of the unit said they would appreciate the notification of any TB cases developing.

Kirchhoff Named Jay Cee Prexy; Unit Opens Drive

Civic Club Seeking 150 Members With Unique Campaign

Members of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce last night elected Ed Kirchhoff as their president for 12 months and selected James Robson as first vice-president.

Other officers named were E. K. Lamy, second vice president; Clyde Ramsey, secretary; J. E. Rowland, treasurer; John Richard, Jr., the Rev. Father J. J. Kuchan, Henry Witt, Jr., Harold Powers and Roy Mann, directors.

President Kirchhoff's first of duty act was to define plans for a membership drive which got under way today.

The method, new in Sanford, operates in a manner similar to the chain letter, beginning with the president who is responsible for the renewal of the memberships of the two of three immediately below him.

These two officers in turn are responsible for the memberships of four more immediately below them, and the plan runs on down through the entire membership and opens the door for a ten percent increase.

It was pointed out that the system not only assures the re-affiliation of all present members, but will tend to bring in many non-members as there are current affiliates.

Another benefit of the plan, President Kirchhoff explained, is that only a few minutes will be required by each Jay Cee to fill his quota, thereby eliminating a long, tiresome and inefficient campaign for members.

The president announced that a membership of 150 is being sought.

Official delegates to the State Jay Cee convention in Lakeland, Apr. 8-11 were named as follows: Mr. Ramsey, E. E. Lamy, Mr. Kirchhoff and Fred Bent. A number of others also are planning to attend.

6 Principal Planks Of Campaign Are Laid Down As Suggestion To House

School Fund To Remain The Same

House, Senate, Voice Approval To Plans Of Chief Executive

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 6. (AP)—Gov. Fred P. Cone, extending a "co-operative spirit," told the Florida legislature today "the crying need of our state is economy and business-like management of our finances."

"All selfish, personal and political considerations must be cast aside," he said to the 133 representatives and senators as he reported the condition of the state to the 20th legislature's opening session.

Forecasting collections of $40,000,000 this year from present revenue sources he said "there is no real reason why we cannot take care of all expenses of every state department including the Social Security (old age pensions) without any new tax burdens as this year."

He proposed strengthening of present tax laws, improved tax assessments against personal property, "aimed so that they could be made valid without so many technicalities."

He recommended $10,000,000 annually for public schools, the same as now paid, tax reductions by counties, state financial aid for municipalities, and ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

He laid down six "principal planks of my platform" in his campaign for governor, said the Democratic party "endorsed practically every one" and "I urge your careful consideration of each of them."

"1. Lowering the budget to balance taxes instead of raising taxes to balance the budget.

"2. Five-dollar license tags for all pleasure-use automobiles.

"3. Surable old age pensions.

"4. Real money for schools instead of paying the schools to depend upon any class of taxes that might not be suitable or sufficient to finance our school system.

"5. Economy in all branches of our state government.

"6. Opposition to additional taxes of any kind.

"I have no pet legislation to offer and no desire to dictate to you. Existing revenue sources, he said, are showing increased collections because of improving business conditions. These he considered sufficient to operate the government, the schools, and pay $4,500,000 a year for old age pensions without new taxes.

Holding to the level of price years, he said, would not cripple operating efficiency. If there is economy in handling revenues.

"We should have a definite purpose in carrying out this program."

He proposed:

1. Abolish all continuing appropriations "so that all moneys appropriated in those appropriations shall revert to the general revenue fund."

2. All collections by various agencies be put into the treasury, and the legislature "budget all departments, boards and commissions and appropriate what each shall (Continued on Page Two)
