Sanford Nixes Moratorium On Home Conversions

Commission Backs Off On Threat To Level Plant

Sanford has backed off on its threat to demolish a defunct chemieal plant it condemned a month

According to Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, when a state agency stepped into the picture it became "a whole new ball game."

The controversy surrounds the former Chemical and Fertilizer Corp. plant at 2300 Country Club

Following Moore's comment Monday night, the city commission voted unanimously to table further action against the plant's owner, Spencer Douglass of Douglass Chemical and Fertilizer Corp. of Lake Mary.

But at least one commissioner still had reservations.

"If we wait for the DER to act we may be here forever," said Commissioner Milton Smith. "And the people of Sanford may have to

Smith said he was worried about possible contamination of the

The tabling came after Douglass agreed to meet with city inspectors at 9 a.m. today to determine how best the plant can be made secure from trespassers who might be hurt at the site. The city said it wouldn't act on its threat to demolish the plant, condemned because it was determined to be a safety, fire and sanitation hazard, because the state Department of Environmental Regulation ordered the site cleaned of excessive nitrates found in a soil sample. The sample showed the land has 2000 parts per million of nitrates some 200 times the 10 parts per million considered normal. The sample was taken as a preliminary requirement of Liquid Foods Inc. which planned to purchase the facility. Liquid Foods has a plant next door at 2200 Country Club

DER after reviewing the analysis of the sample ordered a clean up of the site. Bob Patton, chief chemist at DER's Tallahasser office, said Monday that the greatest potential problem with the nitrates finding is that it could be leeching into the ground water.

If that happens, he said, and certain chemical reactions take place, contamination of ground water could occur with the presence of carcinogens.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles sald there is no indication that the aquifer has been effected.

Douglass told the city commission Monday night that the DER has not classed the site as hazardous, complaining that while the state agency wants the property cleaned up, it "could not tell us what procedures to follow to clean it up.

Moore agreed the property is probably not hazardous. He said he suspects that the same level of nitrates could be found in the soil of some farms near Sanford. Moore said the city got involved with the plant when it appeared no one was doing anything to get it cleaned up.

Moore asked Douglass how such a high concentration of nitrates came to be located at the plant, specifically asking if tanks of nitrate had been washed down there.

Douglass responded that the problem is a new experience, adding that there was some rinsing of containers and there was some spillage on the property.

Commissioner Smith asked about the possibility of drinking water being contaminated. Douglass said there are no wells in the vicinity of the plant and he doesn't believe that the nitrates have effected any drinking water.

Moore said if he were Douglass he would probably wait for DER instructions before he did anything. "The introduction of the DER makes a whole new ball game," the mayor said. "He (Douglass) is between a rock and a hard place. Sanford is the easiest one he has to deal with " -Donna Estes

$900,000 Surprise County Grabs Renovation Bid At Half Its Predicted Cost

By Micheal Beha Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners are about $900,000 happier today after awarding a bid for renovation of the old Seminole Memorial Hospital to Gulf Scaboard Constructors of Fern Park for $666,000, less than half the $1.5 million they had expected to pay.

The county's architects, Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock/architects of Winter Park, had projected a $1.5 million price tag for the project.

But county administrator T. Duncan Rose warned that some of that savings may be whittled away by unforseen developments.

Commissioners plan to renovate the old hospital into offices for themselves and their staff, department of public services and development, property appraiser, tax collector and supervisor of Commissioner Bil! Kirchhoff said Rheinhold's $617,100 bld, about five percent less than the Gulf Scaboard bid, "is tempting." But he made the motion to accept the Gulf Seaboard bid.

All of the bids were considerably below the $1.5 million figure. Roger P. Initial estimates for renovation to the old hospital, since renamed the County Services Building, were in excess of $2.3 million. After several work sessions, this spring commissioners told the architects to return with lower cost estimates, based on a "bare bones" approach. Rose said the low bids were a surprise but attributed that to the uncertainty of the renovation work and stiff competition among construction firms. Kirchhoff praised the architects. "We asked them to give us an estimate on the high side of what it architect estimates before the project is completed and warned against including other items in the renovation which had been scrapped during the spring work

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - Anchorwoman Christine Craft says her $500,000 damage award for being demoted because she was too old and unattractive demonstrates television's "hogwash" standards that make appearance more important for women newscasters and may give journalism a ratings boost in TV

A judge still must decide if Metromedia Inc., former owner of KBMC-TV, sexually discriminated against Ms. Craft, 38, when it demoted her in 1981.

A four-woman, two-man jury Monday decided Metromedia should give Ms. Craft $375,000 for lost pay and actual damages she suffered when she was removed from her co-anchor job two years ago. The jury also decided she should receive $125,000 in punitive damages.

The jury decided Metromedia fraudently told Ms. Craft she was being hired for her ability and would not have to change her appearance. The jury also recommended the judge find the company guilty of sex discrimination.

Ms. Craft, on leave from her $25,000-a-year job at KEYT-TV in Santa Barbara, Calif., said she is looking forward to going ahead with a television movie, which would star Karen Valentine, based on her experience.

Ceiling Collapse Kills 2

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) - A 50-ton ceiling that collapsed, killing two people and injuring 10 others at a train station, was found to be sagging four months ago but officials did not think it posed any danger.

Francis Gorman, general manager of the Port Authority TransHudson line, said the 8-year-old ceiling, one of four at the station, was inspected in April after the sagging problem was detected. It was considered safe because of the lack of evidence of an "immediate structural failure" or other "serious problem."

The collapse occurred just after the morning rush hour Monday at the Journal Square terminal of the PATH line, which runs between New Jersey and New York City.

Gorman said three repairmen had been dispatched Monday to begin fixing the "slight deflection" problem and one had climbed into an access area above the suspended ceiling moments before it before its wire tie rods began popping loose from their supports, causing a chain reaction that toppled the entire ceiling.

general who led the military coup that ousted President Efrain Rios Montt pledged to end the regime's corruption and brutality and said he will offer a plan next week to return to civilian rule.

Gen. Oscar Humberto Mejla Victores took over Monday as head of state, promising to schedule elections put off by Rios Montt since he took power after a coup on March 23, 1982.

Melia said he would not assume the title of president and would offer his plan for a return to civilian government in a week's time. The coup ended more than a year of mounting displeasure over the rule of Rios Montt.

"We reassirm our will to continue to respect the democratic constitution, for which we have the backing of all the country's political, social and economic sectors," Mejia said in his first public

"The military council will support new formulas to lead the Guatemalan people down democratic, essentially nationalistic paths, and lead them toward wel-lbeing, giving opportunities for all armored personnel carriers that arrived human values, without partisan differences so that the people may participate in integral reform," apparently indicating support for many of the reforms Rios Montt began.

In the nine-point statement, Mejia also said "we reaffirm the decision to eradicate administrative corruption at all

Mejia, 52, said he would further "suspend special tribunals." secret courts Rios Montt set up that handed out death sentences to convicted leftist "subversives" and common criminals.

Rios Montt's whereabouts remained a secret. Mejia's refusal to talk about the fate of the former president fueled speculation he was being detained.

The coup began at 8 a.m. when U.S.-made A-37 "Dragonfly" warjets and helicopters buzzed the national palace. where Rios Montt was working in his Meila later sald one civilian and two other people, presumably soldiers, were killed and that one civilian and four soldiers were wounded. Radio reports in the capital put the number of wounded as high as 25.

About 90 minutes after Rios Montt surrendered. Mejia appeared on a nationwide television hookup from the national palace to announce the army had decided to install him as chief of state. He was sworn in by Supreme Court Justice Sagastume Vidaurre.

In most of the capital, commerce and traffic was normal following Mejia's statements. Downtown, though most businesses had been closed since the shooting started, many people walked

...Garbage Service Takeover Killed

The other tour commissioners, Eddle Keith, Ned Yancey, Milton Smith and Mayor Lee P. Moore, none of whom had been particularly enthusiastic about the proposal from the beginning, agreed with Farr's assessment.

The city received an offer from Industrial Waste Services of Longwood to take over the city operation for a fee of $6.40 per month per residential customer and at higher rates for commercial enterprises and other customers. In addition, the city was to oversee the operation and collect monthly trash and garbage collection bills at a cost of 71 cents per customer. That would have made residential customers' monthly bills $7.14.

City customers thus would have paid $1.36 per month less than the $8.50 currently charged by the city.

The city raised its rates effective Aug. 1 from $7.25 per month to $8.50. The need to increase the rates was brought about when the dump in Orange City which the city had been using as its disposal site closed in late May and the city had to use the Seminole County landfill for garbage disposal.

facilities are almost three times what the city was paying for using the privately-owned Orange City location. The increased costs meant the city had to raise the rates to comply with state law requiring the city's refuse collection system be self-supporting. In other business Monday, the commission also unanimously approved the reorganization of the city vehicle repair shop, designed to promote efficiency save $56,000 in the 1983-84 fiscal year.

The reorganization calls for the layoff of three of the nine full-time employees at the shop, located at the city complex off Fulton Street. The names of those to be laid off will be placed on a special list and be offered other city jobs as they become available.

The reorganization was recommended by Knowles after a staff committee composed of Public Works Director Bob Kelly, Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett and shop superintendent Leonard Smith studied the shop operation for more than two months and urged its revamping.

The plan calls for turning over maintenance of 13 fire and 14 police vehicles to three firemen-mechanics at the fire department. A new position of lead mechanic would be created at the shop.

In return for their work as mechanics, the three sirefighters who offered to service fire and police vehicles would be paid $1,000 each

IN BRIEF

Small Band Of Developers Finance Tax-Cutting Move

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Out-of-state developers and a handful of Florida landowners have supplied most of the money to promote the tax-cutting "Citizens Choice" amendment.

Groups promoting the amendment raised $166,000 during the 12-month period that ended June 30 and nearly 60 percent of the money, about $95,000, came from a half-dozen individuals and companies, the Tallahassee Democrat reported today.

The amendment would roll back state and local taxes to 1980-81 fiscal year levels and repeal the sales tax, transportation and business tax increases passed by the Legislature over the last year. The plan also would clamp rigid restrictions on future tax increases and growth in government spending.

Developers and landowners stand to benefit from the plan because growth in property tax revenues would be capped at two-thirds of the inflation rate or 5 percent, whichever is lower.

Window Closed On Rapist

ORLANDO (UPI) - A would-be rapist, his pants around his ankles, was snagged trying to leap out his victim's window and was still dangling there when police arrived, authorities

Willie L. Coleman, 20, was held without bond Monday on a charge of attempted sexual assault on a 16-year-old girl.

The victim awoke Sunday to find a man undressing in her bedroom. He grabbed her throat, said he had a gun and told her he would kill her, said police investigator Mary Ann

The victim said she also had a gun and was going to get it, which startled the attacker so badly he leaped through an open window, his pants still pulled down to the ankles. But he knocked aside a stick serving to prop the window open and it fell shut on his legs. The girl and her mother held the window shut until authorities arrived.

Israelis Crack Down On Palestinian Protesters

courts cracked down on Palestinian protesters by imposing stiff jail terms on students convicted of throwing stones at soldiers in the -occupied West Bank.

Officials at Bir Zeit University, the largest West Bank college and known as a center of Palestinian nationalism, charged Monday that heavy penalties on 10 of its students were aimed at breaking the spirit of Palestinian youth.

A military court Sunday sentenced nine students to 18-month jail terms and one student to two years in prison for their role in a violent demonstration July 27 during which 70 people were arrested at Bir Zeit.

The students were protesting an attack by masked gunmen the day before that left three Palestinians dead and 28 wounded in Hebron.

Gunman Or Ransom?

ROME (UPI) - A second communique from a group claiming it kidnapped Emanuela Orlandi raised new questions today on whether the abductors are seeking the release of Pope John Paul II's assailant or simply want ransom

Libya Threatens To Shoot Down U.S. AWACS

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - In a warning that appeared to mark an escalation in the war of words between Washington and Tripoli, Libya threatened to shoot down the U.S. AWACS surveillance movements of aircraft far inside neighplanes tracking Libyan involvement in the Chad civil war.

The official JANA news agency said Monday, "Orders have been issued to the air force to strike at the American AWACS planes ... If it is confirmed they have any effect on the Arab Jamahiriya Libyan territory."

The United States said the Airborne Warning and Control System radar planes would not fly over Chad or Libya but from Sudan they can track the boring countries.

President Reagan also dispatched F-15 jet fighters to the region to escort the AWACS in their flights near Libya.

JANA also condemned Monday the naval operations off Libya's coast and the arrival of American troops for maneuvers with U.S. allies in the region.

troops outside the United States is a hostile act against the people of the world," JANA said in a report received in U.S. forces are to hold their annual "Bright Star 83 exercises" with the forces of Egypt, Somalia, Sudan and Oman - pro-Western countries with strained relations with Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy.

In Cairo, Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak said, "There is no question of linking the joint Egyptian-U.S. military exercises scheduled to be held later this month with what is happening in Chad."

JANA said Saturday that Libya would turn the Gulf of Sidra into a "sea of blood" if U.S. warships operating in the Mediterrenean entered it.

Libya claims the gulf as its territorial waters. The United States considers it to be international waters.

Last week Khadafy threatened to sink the U.S. nuclear aircraft carrier Eisenhower if it entered the disputed area where two Libyan planes were downed by U.S. jets two years ago.

Another Vietnam?

The election of Ronald Reagan in 1980 was thought by some to signal an end to the post-Vietnam syndrome, that species of neoisolationism marked by a paralysis of will in the conduct of American foreign policy. But domestic reaction to the smoldering crisis in Central America evokes evidence daily that the post-Vietnam syndrome is alive and well, most especially in Congress and in some segments of the media.

Hardly a day goes by without warnings from some quarter that a U.S. stand in Central America must inevitably end in "another Vietnam." The catechism is by now well established. Impoverished peasants seeking only social justice are fighting a people's war. If the United States intervenes to oppose this march of history, a quagmire awaits with certain defeat the only exit.

Never mind that this pat scenario does not fit events in Vietnam during the 1960s or 1970s, and that it does not fit the facts on the ground in Central America today. The mythology is still powerful enough to serve as a bludgeon against doing anything to prevent Central America from being gradually annexed by the Soviet bloc.

In Victnam, it was not peasant guerillas but the North Vietnamese army, lavishly equipped by the Soviet Union, that bore the brunt of the fighting and, eventually, conquered the south. And the 1 million Indochinese refugees who have fled their countries since 1975 tell the world all it needs to know about social justice or human rights under communist rule.

In Central America — El Salvador, for example — some of the leftist querillas are misquided peasants, but their leaders tend to be doctrinaire Marxists from middle- or upper-class backgrounds. Most of the leaders have also been trained and politically indoctrinated in Cuba or in Marxist Nicaragua. Their goal is not social justice in the democratic sense, but a totalitarian state on the Cuban model. El Salvador's guerilla leaders oppose land reform and free elections, and Nicaragua's leaders have established a Marxist dictatorship.

So much for the argument that Central America's leftist guerillas represent the cause of social justice, or a morally impregnable "march of As for geopolitical or military compartsons with Vietnam, only the willfully blind could miss the vast differences in Central America.

In Vietnam, geography favored the communist bloc. In Central America, it favors the United States and its allies in the region. In Vietnam. many tacitly opposed the communists but were nonetheless loath to fight. In Central America, there is no shortage of Salvadorans, Guatemalans, Hondurans, and, yes, Nicaraguans ready and eager to resist communism on the battlefield. They will lose only if the United States withholds the necessary arms and logistical support.

Victnam and its immediate neighbors were not strategically vital in a direct way to the interests of the United States. Central America is, unless one discounts the importance of Mexico, the Panama Canal, and the geopolitical significance of the Caribbean becoming a Soviet lake. Differences of military scale are even more striking. Allied forces in Vietnam fought hundreds of thousands of communist troops. El Salvador has only about 7,000 Marxist guerillas, Guatemala perhaps fewer than 2,000, and Honduras a hundred or so.

Heeding the real lessons of Vietnam is the best guarantee against involvement in a no-win quagmire. On the political level, Congress must understand that it should support the Reagan administration in sending the clearest possible signals that the United States will not permit a Castroized Central America. On the military level. there must be no granting of communist sanctuaries (i.e., Nicaragua) and then committing the United States or its allies to fighting interminable, defensive wars of attrition. U.S. support for friendly governments must be wholehearted and enduring, not least because that is the best way to avoid the need for direct American involvement.

Only gross incompetence or an abject failure of will in Washington could produce a U.S. defeat in Central America. Even Fidel Castro realizes this. which is why he has responded to President Reagan's recent show of force with conciliatory rhetoric. Overwrought cries of another Vietnam Ignore a host of realities. More to the point, they play into the hands of Marxists who cannot win militarily in Central America unless they first succeed in manipulating American public opinion and paralyzing policymakers in Washington.

If that happens, the debacle in Southeast Asia will indeed be followed by an even more damaging disaster in America's backyard.

American History Values

By Jane Casselberry

The history of magazine publishing in the United States is the history of ideas in our country. Magazines, notably small magazines, have had a tremendous effect on the values of American society.

On the radical side, one thinks of the Partisan Review, which while radical, broke with and attacked Stalinism in the 1940s. In literature, in the early years of the century, Poetry Magazine, founded in Chicago, helped set the tone of American letters. On the conservative side, the founding of National Review in 1955 created a forum for conservative political and economic writers who long had been excluded from leading publications.

One of the more recent important events in magazine publishing was the revival of the Yale Literary Magazine under the auspices of Andrei Navrozov, son of the great Russian emigre writer Lev Navrozov. Under his brilliant direction, the Yale Lit, as it is known, has gained national renown for its quality. While profoundly conservative in terms of its cultural value, the Lit is not narrowly ideological or even involved with political causes, it is strictly a literary magazine.

As such, it should be welcomed at Yale University. Unfortunately, the Yale administration, prodded by some of the liberals on its faculty, has engaged in a mean-spirited campaign to strip the magazine of its name. If any journal brings credit on Yale, it is the Lit under Mr. Navrozov's editorship. The Yale liberals can't bear to have a journal in New Haven that isn't under their control and influence.

Happily, distinguished authors and columnists have hailed the Yale Literary Magazine and railied to its support. It is winning plaudits from other sources. The USIC Educational Foundation recently awarded its first American Values Award For Distinguished Journalism to the Yale Literary Magazine. The Foundation recognized the magazine for demonstrating a singular commitment to advancing and protecting the values of a free society.

The Yale Literary Magazine is one of the cultural publications that is much in the news. Yale's attempt at suppression of the magazine resulted in a CBS "Sixty Minutes" segment devoted to the journal and the issues involved. Journalists generally ought to be aware of what is involved in the university campaign against the magazine. It is an attempt to muzzle a high quality cultural journal simply because elements in the university are opposed to its values. The attempted suppression is a form of thought control.

Undoubtedly, the Yale Literary Magazine will go down in the annals of American magazine publishing as a Journal with considerable cultural now shall we spend these warm, lazy days and murmurous evenings? If you are looking for a recommendation. 1 have one: Run, walk or crawl to your local bookstore and buy the first volume of "The Last Lion," William Manchester's superb biography of Winston Churchill.

Did you think there was nothing new to be said about Churchill? So did I. He had been my hero when I was a teen-ager, and I still have an entire shelf of books by and about him. I thought I knew the whole Churchillian canon by heart. Yet, Manchester manages to surprise me on almost every page.

This volume takes the great man's story from his birth in 1874 (prematurely - or had his parents merely gotten impatient walting for the wedding?) to 1932, a notorious low point in his career. Not ye. 58, he had lost a modest fortune in the crash of '29, was denied a Cabinet post in the Conservative-dominated Parliament of 1931, and in December of that year was nearly killed by a cab in New York City while crossing Fifth Avenue against the light. When he returned to England, his friends, to show their affection, took up a collection and presented him with a Daimler limousine worth 2000 pounds. He bowed his head and wept.

We know now, of course, that he had another 33 years to live; that he would become the most famous and bestbeloved Britisher of the 20th century; that he would twice serve as prime

NEW YORK (NEA) - There is a full minister, save his country from defeat the Nobel Prize for Literature, of all things. But, in 1932, he was widely regarded as Just another burnt-out politician who hadn't quite made it to the top of the greasy pole: brilliant no doubt, but not steady.

> When I read the first reviews of Manchester's book I noted that their tone seemed snappish, and I feared that this excellent author, whose biography of Douglas MacArthur had stirred me so. had perhaps overreached. But I noticed, too, that the book's severest critics were themselves British, and now - having read it - I am inclined to think that this may explain their reservations. Manchester, with some justice, regards Churchill's career as a sort of splendid sunset for the British Empire - a painful metaphor, surely, from the standpoint of any proud Englishman.

Moreover. Manchester gets a good deal further into the peccadilloes of the turn-of-the-century British aristocracy, among whom Churchill grew up, than many people would consider necessary.

(On page 137, for example, he lists by name 19 lovers whom Churchill's beautiful mother, Lady Randolph, is known to have had - and makes it clear that the list is by no means complete.)

But the truth is that Manchester has done a masterly job - keeping under smooth control a vast ocean of research, and bringing back to vivid life a man whose supreme talent, amounting to sheer genius, was for living life to the

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - A donutshaped supermagnet and computer combination that produces internal body images of startling clarity without using X-rays may revolutionize the diagnosis of multiple sclerosis and some other serious disorders.

In six-and-one-half minutes, the $1.5-million machine built by Diasonies Inc., and called a Nuclear Magnetic Resonance (NMR) Imager can produce 15 cross-sectional views of tissue in any direction or plane of the human body.

In some cases, the NMR images are clearer than the X-ray cross-sectional images produced by the innovative CAT-scan machines now in use across the country, said Dr. Alexander R. Margulis, chairman of the Radiology Department at the University of California in San Francisco. "You can see the white patches that multiple sclerosis produces at a much earlier stage than through the CATscan," he said. "You get very fine quality images of any soft tissue abnormalities like abcesses, inflammations, tumors, particularly in the brain and spine.

"You can see directly into the spinal cord without dyes. It (the NMR imager) is also very good in detecting edema, a swelling of tissue where water is retained. You can see the cerebellum. You can detect bleeding into the brain. You can see how well the gall bladder concentrates bile.

"It's the most dramatic development of imaging in this century," Margulis

The NMR imaging process is simple for patients, said Dr. William G. Bradley. director of the NMR Imaging Laboratory at the Huntington Medical Research Institutes in Pasadena.

After sliding into a six-foot tunnel inside a superconducting coil of cooled metals which create the magnetic field. a patient lies still until the field aligns and spins the hydrogen nucleil in the body's fat and water molecules. The spinning nucleit are then exposed to radio waves at a particular frequency. Bradley said.

When the spinning is stopped, the nucleit act as a kind of mirror, returning part of the radio signal as an echo. which is picked up by an antenna and fed into: computer, Bradley said.

The computer translates the signals into "black, white and gray images very similar to anatomic sections," Bradley said.

Since its installation at the institutes last May, Bradley has tested 150 patients with a variety of symptoms on the device. One reason for the NMR's superior detecting abilities may be its use of signals coming from the body itself, Bradley added.

Anderson: 'Carter Doesn't Like Me

WASHINGTON - I have come to the sorrowful conclusion that Jimmy Carter doesn't like me.

Our relationship started off in the clouds but lost allitude rapidly. There was one bright moment in the White House when he said that I was a careful and conscientious reporter "who always checks his facts."

But sometime before his mournful departure from Washington, Carter had a change of heart. He dumped on me three times on national television; little brother Billy assaulted me with barnyard epithets; and their mama, Miss Lillian, wrote me a hate letter.

Now that Jimmy is back among the peanuts, his faithful surrogate, Jody Powell, is carrying on the attacks. He admitted recently on a radio talk show that he still often speaks for Carter. He has assailed me on a succession of TV talk shows. And lately, he has made me the subject of a couple of discomforting columns.

Jody has a gift for straightforward deviousness; he can make semi-facts and half-truths sound plausible and wrap political vilification in a press agent's smile.

He does not deny his role as a political guerrilla fighter. During one confessional, he admitted that he had spread scurrilous falschoods against Sen. Charles Percy, R-III. And the other day, he pleaded nolo to a history of lies and deceit in behalf of the Carter cause.

For those of us hampered by the inconvenience of reporting facts. Jody's accusatory technique is difficult to cope with. He unlooses grand accusations. stretching the thin fabric of fact to fit his exaggerations and distortions.

He falsely and flagrantly accused me. for example, of publishing "disinformation," based on "forged intelligence documents" and leaks from "operatives inside the government." He returned this astounding indictment without offering any evidence whatsoever.

When I pointed this out, his ingenuous response was: "I must admit, he has me there." Proof? Jody has none. It was up to me, he argued, to disprove his allegations. Forged documents? He cannot cite a single one. Mysterious operatives? He has no idea who they are. Incredibly, he wants me to supply the forgeries and identify the falsifiers for him.

Then he wants the National News Council to step in. Fine. He made the accusations; he should prove them. That's an elementary principle of American justice. Let him present his evidence to any jury of editors. I await the verdict with bemusement.

A lesser impresario than Jody Powell, having unloosed accusations that he cannot possibly back up, would have retreated into silence. But Jody merely turned up the steam in his calliope.

In a subsequent grand accusation, he seized upon a single sentence buried deep in a November 1980 column of mine and announced that this, too, was "disinformation." It was taken, he declared triumphantly, from still another "forged document." And this time, he wouldn't have to depend on me to produce the forgery. "I'll make a copy of the forged document available..., Jody boasted.

The incriminating sentence he cited mentioned a CIA estimate that 60 percent of the hostages would die in Jimmy Carter's attempt to rescue them from Ayatollah Khomeini.

Jody shrewdly deleted the first five words of the sentence, because these words made it clear that the information didn't come from any document, forged or otherwise. The words Jody left out described the CIA estimate as informal. and the next sentence added that other CIA analysts disagreed with the estimate.

As it happened, eight Americans died in the tranian desert before the rescueattempt got off the ground. No one really can be sure how many would have died if the mission had not been aborted.

But this much is now known: The hostages were held in two places in the center of Teheran - the U.S. Embassy and the foreign ministry. The com-mandos were supposed to be transported by rehicles through the teeming city and were then supposed to strike both places concurrently. The guards were supposed to be overpowered and the hostages removed to a nearby stadlum. Then U.S. helicopters would lift the surviving hostages and commandos to an airport near Teheran, which hopefully would have been seized, meanwhile, by other American troops. Yes, the CIA anticipated heavy casualties. Jody Powell's attempt three years later to explain away reality is like trying to change the weather by tampering with the barometer.

Pankhurst, founded in 1980 by a small group of concerned women, has a goal of providing all women with a forum for personal growth, the sharing of ideas and talents, to provide leadership, education, service, and to enhance the development of all women. The last conference was held at Lake Mary High School and many mature women expressed the desire to have a similar conference geared for the more mature woman. According to past Pankhurst president, Bettye Smith, as a special past president's project, such a conference is in the planning for the spring of 1984. In conjunction with the Leisure Time program of Seminole Community College, a woman's series of workshops will take place. Bettye plans to hold the meeting one evening a week and cover subjects like; financial planning, mental health, personal grooming, assertiveness, and career exploration, to name a few. In early 1984, the third leadership conference for high school girls. called Discovery 84 will take place. # Texas, South Carolina Sluggers Square Off In Regional Opener

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

EUSTIS - At West University, Texas. long balls are more common than Longhorns. The West University Little League Junior All-Stars have won 11 straight tournament games and will try to make it 12 in a row today at 2 p.m. against Anderson. South Carolina as the Little League Junior All-Stars Southern Regional tournament gets under way at the Eustis Little League complex.

"We have a lot of good momentum going." West University manager Lee Howell said. "We don't just have nine or 10 guys on this team, all 14 of the players get to play and they all do a good

As a team, West University has compiled a batting average of .290 in 11 tournament games and the Texas champs also have a pair of pitchers that have hurled a no-hitter in tournament play. West University won the Texas State Championship by a 21-10 decision to claim its place in the regionals, the first time in the 25-year history of West Univerity Little League that a team has won the state tournament.

Righthander Alex Algood will be on the mound for West University today. Algood and big Chris Burris have each tossed a no-hitter in All-Star competition. Lantz Howell, another righthander, joins Burris and Algood in the pitching rotation.

Little League

"Our pitching is even better than our hitting," Howell said.

West University's pitching must be outstanding, the offense has scored 105 runs in 11 games, an average of nine and a half runs per game. Catcher Kevin Jernigan and right sielder Colin Bray lead the team in hitting as each carries a .450 average into the regional tourney.

The remainder of the West University team are all hitting over .300 or close to .300. The defensive alignment has Jernigan behind the plate wity Algood on the mound, Charles Gasper at first base, Robbie Wade, Ronnie Klaus or Charles Christ at second base, Mark Waite at shortstop, David Cromack at third base and the outfielders are Chris Finley, Bray, Ralph Bucy and Justin

Although the batting accomplishments of West University are indeed awesome. Anderson manager Larry Talent and coach Terry Honeycutt have an explosive club which should match Texas stroke for stroke.

"Hitting is definitely our strong suit," said Honeycutt Tuesday morning. "We averaged 21 hits a game during the playoffs."

Anderson, which hosted and won its state tournament, ran off six victories in the playoffs before losing despite a two-hitter by ace righthander Kenny Adams. Anderson then swept the next four games to claim the title.

Adams posted a 6-1 record and will start today. John Clamp is the number two hurler with a 3.0 mark while Scott Talent is number three with a 2-0 mark. Both are righthanders. "We've got three pitchers and a couple throwers," said Honeveutt. "But we don't like to get down to our throwers."

Despite Anderson's explosiveness, the South Carolina team appears to be somewhat of a slow starter. "Since we been behind in the fifth inning of every game, but we've always come back to win it," said Honeycutt.

Shortstop Preston Jones is the main Anderson power source. He has five homers that went out of the park during the playoffs.

Adams is the best average hitter with a .614 percentage. He has one homer while Yon Radford, the center fielder. has two round-trippers and left fielder Double Sims has one. Right fielder Gordon Patterson completes the outfield. The infield consists of Talent at first, Kory Roberts at second base, Jones at shortstop and Clamp at third base. Chris Garrison will handle the catching duties. The bench consists of outfielder Chad McCurley, third baseman John Liggett and second sacker Steve Hopkins.

Anderson has posted a 10-1 record during the playoffs.

TOURNAMENT TIDBITS - Pregame ceremonies get the tournament off to a big start at 1:30 p.m. today. Also, a banquet to honor the five teams will be held at the Eustis R.V. Park at the Lake County Fairgrounds tonight at 7.

Altamonte-Lake Charles loser

Altamonte Boasts .354 Batting Average

Altamonte's Randy Green belts a bases-loaded double to center field against North County. Green is hitting .394 with a .512 on base percentage. He will be behind the plate when Altamonte opens Southern Regional play Wednesday at 10 a.m. against Lake Charles, La.

If you are one of those people who reads a newspaper from the top to the bottom, you have already come across the prolific offensive exploits of two of the teams making up the five-member Little League Junior All-Stars Southern Regional at Eustis.

Anderson, South Carolina and West University, Texas are offensive juggernauts who will collide today at 2 when the opening round game is played. Anderson reportedly averages 21 hits a game and Texas averages almost 10 runs a game.

While these two figures are indeed impressive, there's a pretty fair hitting ballelub in Altamonte Springs, too. Manager Frank Messina's 13-year-olds pounded the opposition into submission during the district, division and state tournaments by rolling up 118 runs for an average of 9.83 per outing. Altamonte plays Lake Charles, La. Wednesday morning at 10. Eustis plays the winner of the Texas-South Carolina slugfest Wednesday at 5:30 p.m

Saturday's state championship victory over North County was a 20-4 blowout. It was the first state championship for the Altamonte and brought a sigh of relief to many fo the program's veterans who have watched various teams come so close in past years.

Of course, statistics can be misleading. Depending on the official scorekeeper, a hit ranges from one which has to decapitate the third baseman to a slow roller between the pitcher's legs. Altamonte's scorekeeper is Nancy Ebbert, and she's a good one and a fair one. Probably, because he son, Greg, is a pitcher.

So when I trot out these Altamonte stats, take them as

First baseman Eric Martinez is probably the steadiest performer. He seems to accomplish something every time he bats, whether it be driving in a run, moving up a runner, stealing a base or not striking out. Eric is batting .474 with 18 hits, 19 runs scored, 13 RBI, 18 stolen bases and an on base percentage of .617. He has only whiffed one time. He leads the team in steals (18), walks

(11) and on base percentage. Outfielder Chris Brock is not as patient as Eric his wrist Monday, played two games before his injury, Martinez, but he is just as productive. Brock leads the starters with a .532 average, 14 RBI, 25 hits. 19 runs and is probably the best detensive player. In addition, he has 14 steals and a .577 on base percentage.

The hottest player since the sectional began is outfielder Matt Lange. The speedy leadoff man has been the Altamonte catalyst. He is hitting .381 with 16 hits. 15 runs and 16 steals. He follows the old eliche — a walk is like a double. He has been thrown out just one time all Ernest Martinez, like his twin brother, is patient at the plate and productive. He is hitting .377 with 17 runs scored, nine walks and 13 hits. Ernest has fanned Just twice in the postseason.

Catcher Randy Green has been the power source for the tournament. His bases-loaded double broke open Saturday's game. He has an excellent arm, but his throws to second sometimes tail to the right. Green is batting .394 with 13 hits, seven RBI, eight walks and a .512 on base percentage. He has scored 10 runs.

The biggest producer during the state tournament was infielder-outfielder Eric Birle. Birle continually delivered in the clutch until his performance convinced Messina and coach Terry Hagen that he deserved a starting job. Birle is batting .471 with eight hits in 17 tries. His on base percentage is .500 with six RBI.

Other Altamonte .300 hitters include second baseman Scott Silles (.348), pitcher-outfielder Cory Prom (.304), pitcher Ebbert (.400) and shortstop-pitcher Anthony Laszale (.571). Laszale, who had a cast removed from getting four hits in seven at bats, stealing three bases and scoring four runs. He also picked up a pitching Infielder Matt Messina (.194) hasn't swung the ball well in the playoffs, but he has been steady at shortstop and second base. Pitcher Jeff Hagen has just one hit in 22 at bats (.045), which has relegated him to mound duty only. Shortstop Jimmy Waring is hitless in 16 at bats, but has been spectacular at times in the field.

As a team, Altamonte carries an excellent .354 average. The Junior also have good speed as 87 stolen bases will testify. Only a handful of runners have been

Pitching-wise, Ebbert, who has given up just 17 hits. has been the workhorse. The blond-haired lefty has a 4-1 record while pitching 34.1 innings with 26 strikeouts and 22 walks. His earned run average is 2.37. Hagen has come through with several clutch performances, including the win in Saturday's biggic. Also lefty, he is 3-0 in 19.2 innings with 16 strikeouts and 18 walks. Hagen's ERA is 3.68. Prom and Maddox complete the lefthanded staff while Messina saw three innings of work in the district and Laszaic turned in a solid seven before the injury. Ebbert or Hagen will start Wednesday's

Prom is 2.0 with a superb 1.62 carned run average. He has 17 strikeouts and 16 walks in his 13 innings. Maddox (0-0) has been used primarily in relief. Laszaic struck out eight while Messina (0-1), who has been troubled by a sore arm since the district, whilled five. Laszaic's availability is still a question mark, however.

'The doctor wants to wait two weeks." said Hagen. "I don't think Anthony can be held back that long. He's ready to go, now."

Defensively, Brock and Lange can run them down in the outfield while the Martinez brothers are steady at the corners. Messina. Waring and Stiles all have good hands in the middle infield. Green is strong behind the plate. Altamonte has committed just 24 errors in 12 games. Most of those came at the state tournament. The winner of this week's regional advances to the World Series in Detroit next Monday.

USFL's Outlaws Corral Williams

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) - The Oklahoma Outlaws of the United States Football League have signed Doug Williams, starting quarterback for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the NFL, to a multi-year contract, team owner Bill Tatham Jr. said.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Tatham said it was rich enough to keep Williams happy for a long time.

"Doug will probably finish his career here." Tatham said. "Nobody's more excited than Doug.

"Now we have to go about the task of surrounding Doug with the kind of players that can make the best of his talent," he said.

The Outlaws set a news conference at 10 a.m. today, Williams' 28th birthday, in Tulsa to make the announcement. Tatham said he and his father, Bill Tatham Sr., inked the contract with Williams at a dinner meeting in Tulsa Monday night. Williams began his career with the Buccaneers in 1978 as a rookie out of Grambling University and prospered, becoming the league's only starting black He directed the Bucs' offense through 58 consecutive games until his 5-year contract ran out last season. His talks on a new contract with Tampa Bay have been stalemated. Williams completed 53.4 percent of his passes last year. He threw for 2,071 yards, including nine touchdowns and 11 interceptions. Critics said that though Williams, at 6-feet-4 and 2.4 pounds, was tough to sack and could rifle the football, he had trouble reading defenses, needed a lighter touch on short passes and threw too many interceptions. He drew attention during last year's NFL players' strike by saying he would return to play whenever the team told him to come. His vocal stance against the players' association was not popular with the Bucca-

Paul Achieves Final Goal: Lake Mary Athlete Places

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) - Most knew it would probably be James Paul II's last game. They were right.

The wheelchair soccer player died 12 hours after achieving one of the most important goals

Paul's death brought a sad end to the National Cerebral Palsy Games at Texas Christian University last week.

But his determination to win symbolized the importance of athletic competition to the 750 disabled athletes who gathered to prove their

Paul, 16, of Bellow Falls, Vt., was terminally ill but the U.S. wheelchair soccer captain led his team to a 1-0 victory Wednesday over Canada at the games being held to select U.S. representatives for the International Games for the Disabled in Nassau County, N.Y., in 1984.

Twelve hours later he was found dead in the chair he slept in. Officials believe he died from heart problems.

LaWanna Howard, a resident of Lake Mary. picked up a pair of bronze medals in track competition at the national games with third place finishes in the 60-meter (Class 6) and the 200-meter (Class 6) races.

Lyman Receives Plaque

At a meeting of the Florida Athletic Coaches' Association held in Orlando, Lyman High School was presented the Carey E. McDonald Award, the highest award given by the coaches' organization each year.

The plaque indicates that Lyman High had the most successful athletic program in Florida for class 4A high schools for the 1982-83 school

This prestigious sports award is named in honor of Carey E. McDonald, former executive secretary for the Florida Athletic Coaches' Association. McDonald currently serves as chairman of the National Athletic Coaches' Association.

In addition to winning the McDonald Award. the overall combined performance of Lyman's athletic teams proved strong enough to give the Greyhounds first place in the race for the Five Star Conference All Sports Trophy for the fifth consecutive year.

Schmidt, Matthews Pound Pittsburgh; Raines Steals 3, Expos Lose In 10th

United Press International

With Mike Schmidt back on top of the homer charts and Gary Matthews back from the doghouse, the Philadelphia Phillies suddenly look like front-runners.

Matthews, who hit .301 and .281 in his first two years with the Phillies following a trade with Atlanta, entered Monday night's game at Veterans Stadium batting just 253. The 33-year-old left fielder had been in and out of the lineup since Paul Owens replaced Pat Corrales as manager three weeks ago. Batting second, Matthews lashed four hits as the Phillies extended their winning streak to five and increased their Eastern Division lead to two games with a 14-5 rout of Pittsburgh.

Schmidt slugged a pair of home runs following singles by Matthews to take over the major-league home run

"I've been thinking a bit too much," admitted Matthews of his slump. "I've decided to go out and let things happen. It helps just being out there playing. You can afford to make a few outs when you are in the lineup

Jason Thompson's two-run homer put the Pirates on top 3-0 in the fourth, but Matthews singled to ignite a five-run inning that chased John Candelaria, 11-7, and made things easy for Charlle Hudson, 7-3, Schmidt followed with his 25th home run and Tony Perez tripled to center. Garry Maddox walked and Kiko Garcia cracked a two-run triple before Hudson capped the inning with an RBI single.

The Phillies pounded reliever Cecilio Guante for five more runs in the fifth as Bo Diaz singled home a pair. Maddox stroked a two-run double and Ivan DeJesus doubled home another run.

Schmidt added a three-run homer in the seventh after a Dale Berra throwing error and Matthews' fourth hit. Pittsburgh scored in the sixth on Thompson's sacrifice fly and Marvell Wynne homered in the eighth for the Pirates' final run. "A few hits, a few runs and a few wins get you going." Schmidt said. "But the Pirates will be right back tomorrow ... you can count on that."

At Montreal, rookie Darryl Strawberry tripled in the 10th inning and scored on reliever Jeff Reardon's errant pickoff throw, leading the Mets to their fourth straight victory. With one out, Strawberry tripled to deep center and Bob Bailor was walked intentionally. Reardon, 5-6. tried to pick Bailor off first, but his throw salled by Al Oliver and into the Montreal dugout as Strawberry Hancock hit solo home runs in the fourth inning to lift scored.

The Expos, in second place in the NL East, had their four-game winning streak broken as reliever Jesse Orosco, 10-5, picked up his fifth victory in the Mcts' last nine games. Orosco has not permitted a run in his last 10 relief appearances over 20 1-3 innings. Tim Wallach homered for Montreal and Tim Raines stole three bases to run his total to 51 for the Expos. Raines had one single in five at bats.

Rangers 12, Red Sox 7

Bob Stanley can be thankful that for once in his life his pinpoint control deserted him.

Stanley, the Boston Red Sox' top reliever, tossed his glove and a ball at third base umpire Ted Welke Monday night after being ejected in the ninth inning of a game with the Texas Rangers for arguing too vehemently over a close play at third. Fortunately for Stanley, both missed hitting the umpire, or else the right-hander would be facing serious disciplinary action from American League President Lee MacPhail.

The situation occured after Mickey Rivers led off the ninth with a double and moved to third on a sacrifice by outfielder Billy Sample. Stanley, who fielded the bunt. threw to third baseman Wade Boggs to try and get Rivers but Welke called the Rangers outfielder safe on a close play.

Boston Manager Ralph Houk stormed out of the dugout and was ejected by Welke after kicking dirt. Stanley, meanwhile, had to be restrained by teammates and after he also was tossed out, he threw his glove and the ball at Welke.

John Butcher pitched 5 2-3 innings, allowing one run, to raise his record to 3-3. Odell Jones pitched the ninth. Larry Parrish and O'Brien homered for Texas and

Boggs connected for Boston. Yankees 8-11, Blue Jays 3-3

At New York, Ron Guidry pitched an eight-hitter and Oscar Gamble drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single to lead the Yankees to victory in the opener. In the nightcap. Ken Griffey's grand slam and a solo homer by Don Baylor in the first inning helped the Yankees complete a sweep. Dave Winfield also homered for New York in the second game. Lloyd Moseby and Barry Bonnell homered for Toronto in the first game. Royals 5-5, Brewers 4-8

At Kansas City, Mo., Willie Wilson knocked in two runs with a single and double and scored the game-winning run during a two-run seventh inning to help Larry Gura and the Royals to victory in the opener. In the nightcap, Roy Howell collected three singles and a triple and scored twice to propel the Brewers to victory. White Sox 5-2, Tigers 4-7

At Detroit, Tom Paciorek's three-run homer capped a four-run third inning that powered the White Sox to victory in the opener. In the second game, Larry Herndon hit a three-run homer and AL strikeout leader Jack Morris fanned 11 while pitching a five-hitter help the Tigers salvage a split. Vance Law and Ron Kittle homered for Chicago in the nightcap.

Indians 9, Orioles 4 At Baltimore, Broderick Perkins and George Vukovich delivered two-run singles during a six-run third inning that carried the Indians to victory. Rick Sutcliffe. 13-7.

tossed a five-hitter in handing the Orioles their third straight loss. Andre Thornton belted a two-run homer for Cleveland and Joe Nolan hit a grand slam for Baltimore.

Twins 4. Angels 2

At Anaheim, Calif., Gary Gaetti and Tom Brunansky slugged home runs on consecutive pitches to ignite a three-run fifth inning that helped the Twins snap a three-game losing streak. Gaetti's 16th homer came just one pitch after he had snuffed out an Angels' threat by starting a triple play on Ron Jackson's line drive to third base. Ken Schrom limited California to six hits in raising his record to 9-4.

A's 2, Mariners 1

At Oakland, Calif., Dwayne Murphy and Garry the A's to victory. The homers off loser Jim Beattle, 8-8. gave Tim Conroy his second straight triumph over the Mariners. The left-hander, who pitched a complete game five days earlier in Scattle, pitched seven innings and allowed five hits and five walks while boosting his record

Pats' Momary Steps Down

Sam Momary, the baseball coach at Lake Brantley for the past six years, has resigned to take a position as assistant principal II. Momary, 34, will oversee plant maintenance at Lake Momary previously coached at Oviedo for one year and Columbus. Ga. for three years before taking the Patriots' post in 1978. In six years, his teams won 98 games and lost 67. They were Five Star Conference runnersup three times and district runnersup three times.

"This is something I've been considering for a few years," said Momary. "I'll miss the kids, but II was time to make a move." Momary will be replaced by junior varsity coach Gary Smith, said new athletic director Bob Peterson. Smith, 34, has been the Patriots' JV coach since 1980. Prior to that he was a head coach at Apopka. "Gary's never had a losing season here," said Momary. "He's one of the main reasons we've continued to have a successful program."

Peterson, 38, the Lake Brantley basketball coach, replaced Jim Dawson as athletic director when Dawson took a position as Seminole County Coordinator for Physical Education and Drivers Education earlier this year.

Let Blair Agency Solve Auto Insurance Needs

Are you having a problem with your automobile insurance? Perhaps, while uninsured, you've had an accident or been given a ticket for driving under the influence and you need to have automobile or truck insurance quickly. The place to go is the Blair Agency, 2510-A Oak

Ave., at the corner of Park Avenue in Sanford. There are three experienced underwriters and Mrs. Genie Blair, founder of the agency, there to help you solve your problem. The Blair Agency is one of the few insurance agencies in the area empowered to fill out an SR

22 form confirming that a client has purchased liability insurance. A client can purchase his insurance in the morning from Blair, have the SR 22 form filled out immediately thereafter and hand carry the form to the state Drivers' License office where it can be forwarded to the state. This will stop a driver's license from being suspended. The forms affirm that a driver is financially responsible.

With 27 years in the insurance industry, Mrs. Blair founded her own agency 12 years ago. The Blair Agency has been at the same location for the past seven years.

"Professionalism and service" are the key words at Blair. The underwriters at Blair don't consider the agency a selling agency, they consider it a service agency in business to help people.

Blair specializes in writing non-standard insurance, the type of insurance which is difficult to acquire at some agencies; insurance for those who have traffic violations on their records and insurance for the young and older citizens of the community.

Package protection including liability protection. theft and contents is also available at Blair for owners and tenants of mobile homes.

Auto insurance can now be purchased at the

A Child's World Offers Pre-Kindergarten Class

A Child's World, located at 2854 Sanford for five year olds. The classroom is adjacent to a Avenue, is anxious to share with you our plans for child care facility that the children may attend in Kindergarten Preparatory Classes beginning August 29. We truly believe it to be the best educational opportunity offered in central Florida.

In order to be eligible for admission, your child must be five years old on or before September 1. As a parent of a child this age, you must ask, "How important is this first year of formal training?" Evidence has been accummulating over recent years that these years, birth to age six, are crucial to the child's development. The founda-tions of education and character are established. This is the time when the development of future life patterns is taking place at the most rapid pace. The environmental forces are directing the child's potential: how great his capabilities, how high his ambitions, the extent of the contribution he will make to the society in which he lives.

The "right" environment and educational opportunities should be offered to the child when he/she is most impressionable and eager to learn. Choosing a kindergarten experience should be an extremely important decision. The question for parents to find the answer to is "what constitutes an excellent kindergarten experience?" We have put together a terrific program which your child will both learn and enjoy.

Our kindergarten classroom is a beautifully decorated space with all materials made especially

Tylenol Back On Top After Cyanide Deaths

NEW YORK (UPI) - "I was kind of hoping this anniversary would go away, to tell you the truth." says Board Chairman James Burke of Johnson & Johnson.

It was last Sept. 29 that the first of seven Chicago residents died in agony from eyanide inserted in Tylenol capsules, the country's most popular pain reliever.

The deaths and the resultant national panic, which prompted the company to withdraw Tylenol from the market temporarily to add tamper-resistant packaging. are still raw in the memory of officials at Johnson & Johnson's corporate headquarters in New Brunswick

Before the cyanide scare, 1982 looked to show record profits for the pharmaceutical giant.

The annual report instead was titled, "An eventful year," and its cover featured a tiny picture of a Tylenol bottle. No further comment seemed necessary.

There may never have been quite a comparable trauma. Medicine cabinets throughout the country-were stripped of Tylenol. Even David Clare, Johnson & Johnson's president, admitted he had "some hesitation" the first time he tried to swallow a Tylenol after the incidents.

"It isn't that easy to put behind us." Burke said in an interview. "It still permeates the company. But noone's obsessed with it any more." The tragedy in fact turned out to be a triumph of sorts for Johnson & Johnson, justifying the company's faith in its own reputation and management policies.

"I definitely think Johnson & Johnson is as strong as before," said Joellen Fisher, an analyst for the investment house of Morgan Stanley. "If anything, it has solidified the company's corporate strategy and their confidence and ability to deal with adversity.

Tylenol sank from 35 percent of the pain reliever market share to 7 percent after the Chicago disasters. Johnson & Johnson's own research showed half their regular users did not intend to buy the product again.

But, 10 months after its return to the market. Tylenol is once again the leading pain reliever in the nation, having recaptured about 80 percent of its old market

"It's been a remarkable recovery," said Joseph France, who follows the drug trade for Smith Barney

A Brisk Walk Sheds That Unwanted Fat

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 51 years old. I have been taking a walk, three to five miles each day. I have lost 35 pounds in the year, I do my housework and also work eight hours five days a week. I am in good health, taking no medicines and feeling better since I have been walking.

My friends want to know what I am doing to stay so slim and trim. I tell them I am taking a daily walk. They ask me how many calories you use when you walk a mile. Would you please answer that in your column?

Is walking three to five miles each day too much for a 50-year-old?

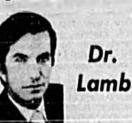

DEAR READER -Congratulations. I wish more people would discover your safe and sane method of controlling body fat. It promotes your health while those fad, low-calorie diets may wreck your health.

walking at a speed between two and four mph. will use 45 calories a mile more than If he had sal still. A 200-pound person would use 78 more calories per mile.

Assuming you weighed 150 pounds and walked five miles a day in a year. you would use the energy found in over 30 pounds of body fat, close to what you have lost. Not bad. It is slow but it is safe and effective.

People who have not walked or been very active find they have to build up to walking long distances. If you do that in a sensible manner you can walk very long distances unless you have a rather significant medical problem. Obviously five miles is no problem for you.

I am sending you The Health Letter 18-4, Walk-envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - 1 hate the nurses at the hospital because they would not let me stand up to vold. I hate the orderlies for the same reason. They restrained me from standing and voiding and I did it in the men's room as soon as I was discharged.

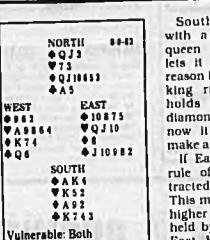

I want the stupld attendants at the hospital to know that I cannot pass my urine lying down. I suffered undue punish. ment because they would not let me stand up. When A 100-pound person. I was put in a wheelchair and discharged I went to the men's room. I stood upright by holding the tollet and volded.

> DEAR READER - 1 included your letter in the column because it makes an important point. Many patients can't urinate while lying down. They are quite able to do so if allowed to stand.

> Unfortunately if a patient isn't urinating suffielently, he is apt to be eatheterized. Whenever possible, if a patient at home or in the hospital cannot vold, let him stand up before resorting to a catheterization.

"Urinary catheterizations are associated with a high rate of urinary tract infections. They should be avoided if possible. Of course it is not always possible but when a siming To Health, which you ple procedure - standing can share with your or running tap water, for friends and encourage example - works. South enters dummy with a spade, leads the queen of diamonds and lets it ride. There is no reason for West to take his king right away so he holds off. The jack of diamonds is led next, and now it is up to East to make a key play.

If East has applied the rule of 11, he has subtracted 6 from 11 to get 5. This means that five cards higher than the six were held by North, South and East. He, East, held three and dummy one, so that when South won the first heart with the king, he was playing his only high
