Board Accepts State Plan On Teacher's Pay

By Jim Searls
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board lobbied the pay-raise issue into the teachers' court Wednesday by accepting a salary increase formula suggested by a state hearing officer.

The formula includes a one-time bonus for veteran teachers.

The teachers now have to decide to agree with the compromise or hold out for more. However, with each side claiming a moral victory, it appears the pay-raise hatchet will be buried.

The teacher's main complaint was that inexperienced teachers got a greater pay hike than experienced teachers. This prompted the teacher's union to reject the pay contract that included raises of all teachers. In the offered compromise — the net result of three months worth of bickering — inexperienced teachers still get a larger pay increase by percentage than experienced teachers who would get the bonus.

Under the suggested terms offered by state hearing officer Robert Helsby, a non-retroactive, one-time yearly $400 bonus would be paid to the 527 teachers with more than 18 years teaching experience. However, because the school year is nearly half over — the contract would take effect Jan. 1 — that translates into a bonus check of about $218 per experienced teacher for the remaining school year. The other teachers will receive raises based on their education, job specialization, and teaching experience in Florida.

The base pay for new teachers with a bachelor's degree would be $15,116, an increase of approximately 10 percent over last year's level. The average increase is set at 6 to 7 percent while teachers with 15 or more years experience will receive a raise of approximately 4 percent. The only significant change in the proposal, from what the Seminole Education Association

...optimistic a fair settlement has been reached.

—Bob Hughes

originally approved Aug. 12 but teacher's subsequently voted down, was the bonus paid to the veteran teachers and the loss of a paid holiday.

Superintendent Bob Hughes said it is up to the teachers to end the nearly three-month contract impasse.

Hughes made his announcement at an impromptu press conference held at the school board offices in Sanford Wednesday afternoon. The school board met in executive session Tuesday and voted to accept the guidelines offered Oct. 24 by "special master" Robert Helsby.

Marshall Ogletree, executive director of the Seminole Education Association, said the teachers have won a moral victory with the announcement by the school board. Ogletree said the board of directors of the SEA and faculty representatives from each school were to meet at 4 p.m. today to decide whether to offer the contract to the teachers for ratification.

While Ogletree predicted the directors and faculty representatives would unanimously approve the proposal, he was not sure if the county's 2,216 teachers would vote their approval which is needed for the school board to finalize the new contract.

Ogletree said the compromise was a short and long term victory for Seminole's teachers.

It is a short term victory because teachers will get much needed pay raises, he said. It is a long term victory because it sets

Suited Santa

Langwood Elementary School music teacher Alice Kee suits "Santa" Shannon Glass, 9, in her beard for dress rehearsal of the school's musical "Santa and the Snowmobile." Students from grades one to five perform in the operetta in which Santa decides to go modern and use a snowmobile Christmas Eve. The Reindeer perform a "Get a Job Tango" and end up miserable in their new careers. The show goes on at 1 p.m. Nov. 28 and 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3.

To Settle Land Suit

Paulucci Lawyer Tries Diplomacy

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

The attorney representing Jeno Paulucci in the Yankee Lake condemnation proceeding said today his legal preparation for the case has been combined with diplomatic efforts to negotiate a settlement before the suit reaches court. Obtaining an out-of-court agreement would require Sanford, Paulucci and Seminole County "compromise and cooperate," attorney Mack Cleveland said. "This would be a lot better than our having to draw swords and go in to do battle."

The one-time Florida state senator said although he's representing Paulucci, his involvement in the suit "is also personal. I don't want to see two governmental bodies fighting — the citizens that wind up getting hurt."

Cleveland also said, "It's not going to be easy to get everyone to see eye to eye. I might run into a lot of brick walls." The condemnation proceeding was filed by Sanford on Nov. 6, three days after Paulucci sold the 2,867-acre Yankee Lake property to the county. The action seeks to invalidate the county's purchase agreement so Sanford can obtain the property for its waste disposal program.

Cleveland said he hopes to negotiate an arrangement "where everyone can benefit," although he acknowledged, "the existing friction" between the city and the county "might make an agreement impossible." "Still," he said, "it's worth a try."

The attorney said his approach to the settlement involves "making low-key contacts" with city and county representatives. He said this would be done on both commission and staff levels and that he would also speak with Paulucci representatives.

Although Cleveland said some of these contacts have already been made, he declined to discuss whom he had spoken with or the reception his efforts have received. Mayor Bettye Smith, City Manager Frank Faison, County Administrator Ken Hooper and representatives from the county attorneys office all said today they had not spoken with Cleveland. It also appears City Attorney Bill Colbert has not been contacted; he left for a vacation last week and will not return until after Thanksgiving, his secretary said.

Mayor Smith and Faison said today they'd be receptive to a phone call from Cleveland. "We've said all along we're willing to talk," Mayor Smith said. "We haven't changed our posture."

"We'll talk to anyone who can help resolve the issue," Faison said. "We're not locked into doing battle."

The two Sanford representatives also said they'd have to hear what compromises are proposed by Cleveland before making any commitments.

It's got to involve an arrangement that's fair for everyone," Faison said. "We've still got a project to conduct and we need a disposal site. Our plans are too far along for us to start all over again."

Kate Stalls, But Panhandle Still At Risk

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Kate ran into dry air that weakens a tropical storm "like taking a log out of a fire" and stalled off the Florida coast today but forecasters said it still could hit the Panhandle with 100-mph winds.

The center of late-season storm, which could become the first November hurricane in 60 years to hit the U.S. mainland and the fourth hurricane to pound the Gulf Coast in four months, began wobbling as it hovered off the coast.

"Therefore, caution should be exercised in interpreting the future motion of the storm from hourly positions," said the National Weather Service in Miami.

Forecasters Gil Clark of the National Hurricane Center predicted a landfall by late afternoon or evening because the hurricane has been slowed by dry air from land.

"Hurricanes thrive on moisture," he said. "Dry air for a hurricane is like taking a log out of a fire."

Clark said, however, that the hurricane, which weakened from 115 mph to 110 mph as it neared land, still would have 100-mph winds for its landfall.

Oviedoans Named 1st 'Farm Family Of Year'

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The B.F. Wheeler Jr. Family of Oviedo was honored today by the Agribusiness Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce as its first Farm Family of the Year. They were given a plaque at a Farm-City Week luncheon held at the County Agriculture Center auditorium.

National Farm-City Week runs Nov. 22-28 and the slogan is "Farm and City Partners in Progress." Civic, business and agriculture leaders turned out for the event. Sanford farmer Billy Wells is chairman of the Agribusiness Committee which came up with the idea for the award.

Benjamin Frank Wheeler Jr., 65, and his wife, Jean M., 64, have a son, B.F. III, a daughter, Miriam "Mimi" Bruce, both of Oviedo, and three grandchildren. B. F. III is the field manager for the family citrus groves and Mrs. Bruce's husband, E.P., is farm manager for Wheeler, Martin and Evans Farms.

Wheeler has been in farming for 50 years and owns and operates 1,800 acres of farm land, 1,500 acres of which are devoted to citrus and 300 acres to celery. He is also beginning to grow ornamentals and sod.

"We didn't just look at the farmer, but looked at it from the aspect of family involvement," Sam Bashear, spokesman for the committee, said. "You hear a lot about agriculture being at a low ebb these days, but these Seminole farmers are risk takers. They have a lot of determination when others are seeking ways of getting out."

Wheeler is indirectly involved with his son and nephews with the livestock business which he started then turned over to the children.

He is president of Nelson and Co. of Oviedo, which produces and markets citrus and celery.

Deputies Probe Disappearance Of Beer Delivery Man

Seminole County sheriff's deputies continued today to investigate the disappearance of a 33-year-old beer delivery man.

The Orlando man was last seen at his workplace at about 11 a.m. Tuesday, and Casselberry police recovered his missing delivery truck at about 5:57 a.m. Wednesday.

Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said there was no sign of foul play in the truck, which was found at Market Square on State Road 436. But foul play hasn't been ruled out as a possibility in connection with the disappearance of Timmie Ray Hayden, the truck driver, he said.

Deputies have issued a descriptive bulletin to other police on Hayden who possibly had several thousand dollars of his company's money in his possession when he disappeared, a sheriff's report said.

Spolski said that cash was to have been deposited in the account of Jim Taylor Corp., of Maitland, but the deposit wasn't made.

According to Taylor's supervisor Tim Durden of Orlando, Hayden had loaded his truck once early Tuesday, returned for a refill at about 11 a.m. and hasn't been seen since.

Durden said Hayden has worked for the company about one year, but had been out of work for about three months because of an injury, the report said.

According to the report, Durden said it was "out of character" for Hayden to disappear.

Hayden is married, but has been separated from his wife for two months, the report said.

After Impact

Demolished by impact and an emergency extrication machine, a 1984 Toyota rests in a pond after being broadsided Wednesday by a 1983 semi tractor-trailer on State Road 46 at Airport Boulevard west of Sanford. Passenger in the vehicle, Betty Fischhoff, 71, of was killed in the 9:30 a.m. accident. Her husband, Louis Fischhoff, 73, was in satisfactory condition today at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. The accident occurred when the westbound car turned south and crossed the path of the eastbound truck driven by Kevin Wagner, 23, of Dunedin. He was not injured. No charges have been filed in the case.

Television personality Ken Richters brings his one-man show "Mark Twain On Tour" to the campus of Seminole Community College. The performance starts at 8 p.m. in the Concert Hall of the Fine Arts Building and is free and open to the public. Richters has been touring with his one-man production for eight years, following nearly three years of research into Mark Twain's life.

NATION IN BRIEF

U.S. Issues Terrorist Warning: Avoid All Travel To Khartoum

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department, citing the presence of "known terrorists" from Libya, has warned Americans to avoid the Sudanese capital of Khartoum and is reducing the number of diplomatic personnel there.

The actions were taken after the Sudanese government, which ousted President Jafaar Numeiry in an April 8 coup, failed to respond to U.S. "concern" over the terrorist threat, State Department spokesman Charles Redman said Wednesday.

A travel advisory issued Wednesday said that "due to the presence in Khartoum of known terrorists, and possible threats to U.S. interests, American citizens are advised to avoid the city of Khartoum."

South And West Still Best

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The South and West are the fastest growing areas of the United States so far this decade, but the Frostbelt appears to have arrested some of its population decline of the 1970s, the Census Bureau reported.

The bureau, in a new report issued Wednesday, also said 76 percent of all Americans now live in cities and suburbs, with the metropolitan population climbing by 8 million since 1980 to a level of 180 million last year.

The new study, "Patterns of Metropolitan Area and County Population Growth: 1980 to 1984," said about 90 percent of the population increase in the United States since 1980 has occurred in the Sunbelt regions of the South and West, but that those areas' growth is "slightly below the 2 percent recorded during the 1970s."

INS Officials Protect Defector

PHOENIX (UPI) — Immigration authorities who foiled an attempt to spirit away a Romanian circus acrobat kept the young man in protective custody today and his pregnant American girlfriend said he wants to defect.

Andi Georghesu, 24, who has been traveling on a work visa in the United States for almost two years as an acrobat with the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus, was in protective custody and would be interviewed at length today by American officials, said Marcos Andrade, an assistant to Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.

Georghesu was intercepted at New York's Kennedy Airport Wednesday by the Immigration and Naturalization Service before Romanian officials could put him on a plane back to Romania, Andrade said.

FBI Investigates Kidnapping

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal officials are investigating whether a group of ultra-Orthodox Romanian Jews kidnapped Etan Patz, the schoolboy who vanished six years ago and became a symbol for missing children.

Waite Seeks Meeting With Kidnappers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Church of England envoy Terry Waite went underground to make contact with the kidnappers of four Americans and four Frenchmen and U.S. officials said the fate of the hostages could soon be resolved.

The news media honored Waite's request that he be left alone while attempting to meet with the Moslem fundamentalist Islamic Jihad, which claims to be holding the American and French citizens.

Waite, the 46-year-old special envoy of Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, dropped out of sight Wednesday. He was allegedly holed up in a hideout in Lebanon where he hoped the kidnappers would contact him.

A French diplomat and a Lebanese-born French cardiologist who arrived in Beirut with Waite in a bid to help a sick French hostage also vanished. The French Embassy had no comment on their whereabouts.

The New York Times, reporting from Washington, said senior Reagan administration officials expressed confidence that the United States had established contact with the kidnappers through an intermediary.

The unidentified senior administration officials also said the fate of the hostages might be decided soon.

"We think it all may jell in a few days," one official was quoted as saying.

But he said officials did not know whether there would be a breakthrough or whether the captors might take some drastic action.

Waite returned to Beirut Tuesday after holding 48 hours of talks in London with U.S. and British officials and with French officials in Paris.

The administration officials told The New York Times that, during the London meeting, U.S. officials advised Waite of the administration's views on resolving the problem.

They said the officials who met with Waite reaffirmed the administration's refusal to agree to the captors' principal demand — that the United States press Kuwait to free 17 Moslems convicted of bombings in Kuwait in December 1983.

Waite launched his mission in Beirut last week, after four of six American hostages wrote to Runcie seeking his help. Waite was reported to have met with the kidnappers on his first visit.

The Islamic Jihad said it seized the Americans in a series of kidnappings beginning last year. The pro-Iranian group said it killed a fifth American hostage — U.S. Embassy political officer William Buckley, on Oct. 4. The fate of a sixth kidnapped American — librarian Peter Kilburn — was unclear.

In Aptos, Calif., Kilburn's nephew, Tim, said the State Department advised the family late last month that Peter Kilburn was known to be alive as of last August.

Interns Sought

The Florida House of Representatives is again accepting applications for the legislative intern program. Representative Carl Selph (R-Casselberry) said today.

The intern program, in its eighteenth year, provides research assistants for House committees and leadership offices. Internships are for one year and begin Aug. 16.

Interns must be Florida residents or attend a Florida school and must have completed their undergraduate degrees by August 1986 to qualify for this year's program. During the internship, interns receive a monthly stipend of $600 and are required to work a minimum of 24 hours a week for the year.

Applications for the program are available in Representative Selph's district office, located at 4330 South U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry. The office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the phone number is 834-0808. Deadline for filing applications with the state is Jan. 1, 1986.

Summit Pledge: Avoid War

GENEVA (UPI) — President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev pledged today to cooperate to avoid the "catastrophic consequences" of nuclear war on Earth or in space and said they would meet again next year.

The two most powerful men on Earth concluded their superpower summit with a joint statement agreeing that neither side would "seek to obtain military superiority" but made it clear they still had differences, including on the "Star Wars" defense program.

"Recognizing that a conflict between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S. could have catastrophic consequences, they emphasized the importance of preventing any war between them, whether nuclear or conventional," the statement said.

Reagan left Geneva at 2:10 p.m. (8:10 a.m. EST), heading to Brussels, Belgium, to brief NATO leaders before going back to Washington tonight. Gorbachev left Geneva 56 minutes earlier, apparently headed to Prague, Czechoslovakia, to brief his Warsaw Pact allies.

Their joint statement said the two world leaders had decided to accelerate arms control negotiations "to prevent an arms race in space and to terminate it on Earth, to limit and reduce nuclear arms and enhance strategic stability."

But, the joint statement said, "Serious differences remain on a number of critical issues."

The statement specifically mentioned space weapons and Secretary of State George Shultz said the subject of "Star Wars" was discussed "in great detail." He made it clear there was no change by either side in positions already stated on the Strategic Defense Initiative missile defense shield.

"The president feels as strongly as he did" in his support of SDI, Shultz said.

Gorbachev, at a news conference immediately after the joint appearance, indicated that he and Reagan had had several heated exchanges on "Star Wars."

"We had quite a number of face-to-face sessions with President Reagan. These were very frank talks — sometimes lively, and at one point very, very lively indeed," Gorbachev said.

The Kremlin leader quoted President Lyndon Johnson as saying, "Whoever gains control of space, will dominate the world."

The Americans, Gorbachev said, "are itching to get their hands on it (SDI). They are itching to get this world domination, to look down from on high on us. SDI would complicate matters for us but it will be met with a response."

"I told the president, you are not talking to simple folk, and if you stick by your position then I'll have to do something about it," Gorbachev said.

Any such response by the Soviet Union, he said at the news conference, "will be effective."

Shultz said that while there was no bilateral agreement on guidelines for the arms negotiations, there was "some political impulse" given to the arms negotiators in Geneva.

Reagan said a meeting would be held "next year."

Council Repeats Waste Site Opposition

Winter Springs City Councilmen reiterated their opposition to the proposed location of a hazardous waste disposal site in their town as they met with Seminole County Commissioners at a joint meeting in Winter Springs Tuesday.

Winter Springs Mayor John V. Torcaso said city officials and residents plan to attend the regular county commission meeting Tuesday to protest the approval of the waste site by the County Board of Adjustment recently.

The site located off Highway 419 is located in a residential area. The request to the adjustment board was on behalf of a company called Hazardous Waste Consultants.

According to County

Environmental Control Manager Tim Clabaugh, the county was mandated by the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation over a year ago to determine the amount of hazardous waste disposed of in Seminole County by what he called small quantity generators. Those are companies which produce 100 kilograms or less of hazardous materials per month, Clabaugh said.

In attempting to comply with the DER regulations, the county has looked at many locations, including the Osceola landfill, in order to pin down two sites, he said.

In response to questions by Winter Springs City Councilmen, Clabaugh said the landfill is not feasible because of its inaccessibility to hazardous waste producers here. According to the DER rules, the disposal site must be convenient for small generators, thus making it less likely the waste will be disposed of in an improper manner, Clabaugh said.

Some three million pounds of hazardous waste is being disposed of in Seminole County, one quarter of a million of that via septic tanks and the county landfill, he said.

"There is a need for a facility where these materials can be consolidated," Clabaugh said.

Under the new DER rule, $50,000 for a one-time capital outlay is available to counties to establish hazardous waste disposal sites, he said.

Although the bill has yet to be signed into law, Clabaugh said he will approach the county about going after the funds.

In other business Tuesday, the county indicated it will ask cities to consider implementing road impact fees similar to assessments approved in a resolution by the commission in August. The fees charged new developments will help fund the county's five-year road program, which includes such projects as signalization, intersection improvements and street widening. County Public Works Director Larry Sellers said.

The county also said it will seek input from cities, including Winter Springs, on stormwater and drainage guidelines which it plans to revise by mid-December.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Walesa Pleads Illness In Missing Scheduled Court Appearance

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Solidarity founder Lech Walesa, citing medical reasons, refused to appear in court today on charges he slandered the government by questioning official estimates of turnout in elections last month.

"I am not going to court Thursday and my lawyer, Jacek Taylor, will bring a doctor's certificate to the court saying I am on sick leave till Dec. 4," Walesa, who has high blood pressure, said Wednesday.

The Baltic Coast Electoral Commission filed the charges against Walesa because he questioned its estimate of voter turnout for parliamentary elections held Oct. 13.

The commission said 79 percent of the voters cast ballots but Walesa said the banned Solidarity union monitored the voting and determined the turnout was closer to 60 percent.

Rebel Says Reds Aid Marcos

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The Soviet Union is providing assistance to the government of Ferdinand Marcos and leftist insurgents have received no support from Moscow, a ranking officer for the underground National Democratic Front said in an interview published today.

However, Antonio Zumel, 53, a ranking officer of the NDF who went underground when martial law was imposed in 1972, said the rebels were prepared to receive aid from abroad.

"As far as I know, there has been no offer of help from the Soviet Union nor have we received any assistance from them. I think they are even helping the dictatorship, politically and economically."

Danger Continues In Colombia

LERIDA, Colombia (UPI) — Authorities worked today to convince residents living near the Nevado del Ruiz volcano that the peak — which erupted a week ago, killing some 25,000 people — remains a constant threat.

Civil defense officials Wednesday night carried out a surprise evacuation of three towns near Armero, a once-bustling community of about 30,000 buried in mud and volcanic ash when Nevado del Ruiz erupted Nov. 13. Authorities estimate 25,000 Armero residents were killed.

Civil defense workers ushered residents out of their houses in the towns of Mariquita, Ambalema and Honda and led them to higher ground.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Bitter cold winds whistled into the East today, bringing a swift end to a very late Indian summer, and residents from Florida to Louisiana abandoned their homes in anticipation of the first November hurricane in 50 years. Hurricane Kate, packing 115-mph winds, was pointed at Florida's Panhandle and a battered stretch of central Gulf Coast that has sustained more than $3 billion in hurricane damage since August. Forecasters predicted Kate would arrive after noon today. Residents abandoned their homes from Florida to Louisiana Wednesday in anticipation of 12-foot tides expected from Kate. Florida Gov. Bob Graham ordered the evacuation of low-lying areas of eight Panhandle counties. Eleven people have died nationwide in tornadoes, flooding and other weather-related accidents this week. East Coast residents enjoyed sunny skies Wednesday, with record highs in the 70s and 80s. Records were set Wednesday in 17 cities from Texas to New York. An 83-degree reading in Wilmington, N.C., erased a 1942 record of 79. "We often have periods of Indian summer in November where temperatures will go into the 60s and 70s," said Jim McCay of the National Weather Service in Philadelphia, but "it has never been this warm so late."

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 77; overnight low: 75; Thursday's high: 82; barometric pressure: 30.04; relative humidity: 84 percent; winds: east at 10 mph; rain: trace; sunrise: 6:52 a.m., sunset 5:30 p.m.

Board Okays Plant Proposal

The Seminole County Board of Adjustment paved the way for the county to improve its Indian Hills Water Treatment Plant when it approved a special exception needed for the construction Monday.

In okaying the request by the county environmental services department, the adjustment board asked that the project be expanded in response to concerns by one area residents about the noise produced at the facility.

The board approved the request with the stipulation that the county enclose the high service pumps and emergency generator. Alarms on the equipment, which monitor water levels at the plant, go off at all hours of the night, complained resident David Pierce.

The plant is located in a residential zone, a fact which the board indicated was the basis for its decision.

"I think the county should go to the expense of buffering the sound." Board member Danny Brown said. "The noise is the biggest objection the neighbors have."

Pierce also asked that landscaping and a privacy fence be made a part of the the plant site.

"This is essentially an industrial facility in our backyard," he said.

Included in the improvement/expansion project is the installation of a ground storage tank, replacement of another tank, addition of a high service pump and an increase in the system's treatment capacity.

According to County Director of Environmental Services Jim Bible, the county is undertaking the renovation to help upgrade service levels at the plant, which serves residents in south Seminole County.

Bible cited low water pressure in the area brought about by the dry weather last spring.

The county hopes to be able to maintain water pressure during high consumption periods through the renovation. Environmental Services Utilities Manager Pam Hastings said.

Hastings said the construction will increase the plant's treatment capacity by one half million gallons per day.

She estimated the project will cost between $300,000 and $500,000 and said it will be bid out next month, with the work to begin in January or February and be completed by May.

Bible also said the project will entail construction of flouridation facilities at the Indian Hills plant, a program recently approved by the county commission. He said the plant will be one of the first in the county to receive a flouridation facility.

Another request by the environmental services department, improvements and expansions at the Country Club Water Treatment Plant, was withdrawn from the agenda prior to the discussions.

Suspect Charged With Burglary And Battery

A Fern Park man who reportedly entered a Fern Park home and allegedly battered a man with a metal object, possibly a knife, has been charged with burglary with battery and aggravated battery. He was being held without bond.

The suspect allegedly entered the home of John O'Shea of 2114 Winnebago St., through a sliding glass door at about 8:20 p.m. Monday. He allegedly attacked O'Shea cutting his head and possibly breaking his jaw and some ribs, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Michael O'Shea, who told deputies he ran when he saw the suspect enter the home, said the man was wielding a weapon which might have been a large knife. But deputies found no weapon at the scene after the suspect was arrested and O'Shea was transported to Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs where he was treated and released, a sheriff's report said.

Deputies said the suspect, whose address listed on the arrest report is the same as the victim's, may have entered the home looking for a 14-year-old girl who was a runaway.

Charles R. Cuevas, 31, was arrested at his home at 3:32 p.m. Tuesday.

WOODSTAKE BATTERY
A Longwood woman alleged to police her husband beat her on the leg, buttock and stomach with a 3-foot, wooden stake. That led to the man's arrest at his home on a charge of aggravated battery.

Police reported seeing marks on the legs and arms of Jamie Stewart. They arrested David Walter Stewart, 29, of 648 E. Warren Ave., at 9:38 p.m. Tuesday. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

RAN WITH KNIFE
Seminole County sheriff's deputies who ordered a man fleeing from the scene of a reputed fight where a crowd had gathered on Jackson Street in Altamonte Springs, nabbed the suspect behind a home on Plum Lane and charged him with resisting arrest and carrying a concealed knife.

Deputies reported finding a 7-inch knife in the suspect's sock.

Victor Broward Johnson, 23, of 610 Plum Lane was arrested at 7:34 p.m. Tuesday at 806 Plum Lane. He has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Nov. 27.

DUI ARREST
The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—James Cleveland Lewis, 64, of 280 Victor Ave., Longwood, was arrested at 12:17 a.m. Tuesday after he was found in his parked car with the engine running.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Gene Donald McDonald, 31, of 632 Oakhurst St., Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies fishing gear, $50 in change and a $500 television were stolen from his home between Nov. 16 and Tuesday.

A thief took a $900 television and a $390 video recorder from the home of Charles W. Boston, 46, of P.O. Box 1375, Oviedo, between Nov. 7 and 19, a sheriff's report said.

About $1,600 worth of items including a television, jewelry and two paychecks were stolen from the home of Ruth Barkert, 47, of 5101 Edouardo St., Oviedo, Friday, a sheriff's report said.

SENTENCED

A Sanford man whose gun failed to fire when he aimed it at another man has pleaded guilty to improper display of a firearm.

Thomas Smith Jr., 20, of 77 Lake Monroe Terrace, entered the plea before Circuit Judge Robert McGregor who set Jan. 10 for sentencing.

The attempted shooting occurred July 24 on Third Street and French Avenue in Sanford, according to court records.

Smith reportedly tried to shoot Joseph C. Jeannin but the gun failed to fire and Smith fled. Police stopped Smith's truck at Third St. and Poplar Ave. They reported finding a .22-caliber pistol on the ground in front of Smith's truck.

He was taken back to the scene of the incident and identified by witnesses.

He could receive up to a year in the county jail when sentenced.

In other court action:

—Eric Lee Thomas, 20, of 7402 Woodcrest Lane, Winter Park, arrested in June on a charge of possession of and trafficking cocaine after a cocaine-by-mail scheme was uncovered by U.S. Customs Officials. Altamonte Springs police made the arrest. Thomas pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine and could receive up to a year in the county jail when sentenced Jan. 10 by McGregor.

—Billy Lee Cotton, 30, of 33 William Clark Court, Sanford arrested in August on charges of battery and breach of the peace. He was placed on 6 months probation and ordered to pay the Public Defender's office $350.

—Ron Wayne Crosby, 41, of Orlando, arrested in February on a charge of sale of cocaine, trafficking in cocaine and conspiracy to traffic in cocaine. He was sentenced to 3 years probation and ordered to complete 200 hours of community service. He was also ordered to pay the Public Defender's office $350.

UNITA Is Hope For Free Angola

Insasmuch as media attention is riveted on the South African crisis and Pretoria's abhorrent racial policies, it's easy to overlook a pivotal struggle in southern Africa, the outcome of which could well determine the region's future for decades to come. We speak of the heroic anti-Marxist resistance movement that threatens the Soviet-backed regime in Angola.

The struggle began in 1975, after Angola gained its independence from Portugal and the three Angolan resistance movements agreed to hold free elections. Unfortunately, the Marxist faction seized the capital of Luanda and then invited in Soviet military assistance. The Soviets sent 750 advisers and persuaded Cuba to send 19,000 combat troops. The Western-backed resistance movement folded, leaving the rural-based National Union for the Total Liberation of Angola (UNITA) all alone. Under the leadership of Jonas Savimbi, UNITA took to the bush and began fighting communist imperialism as it had previously fought Portuguese imperialism.

Since then, UNITA's ranks have swelled to 60,000, and the freedom fighters now control more than a third of the country. Armed primarily with captured Soviet weapons, the resistance has fought the communist forces to a standstill. Were it not for Cuban control of the air and UNITA's lack of heat-seeking ground-to-air missiles, the communists would either be compelled to leave the country or face a crushing defeat.

Although the Angolan struggle is commonly called a civil war, it clearly is a fight against communist aggression from the outside. Absent UNITA, the Soviet Union would be able to establish a secure beachhead for extending its influence throughout southwestern Africa and to South Africa itself.

UNITA is almost unique in black Africa because of its charismatic leader's commitment to democratic principles. The 51-year-old Mr. Savimbi has a Ph.D. in political economy from Lausanne University in Switzerland. During the last 10 years, he has transformed a tribal entity into a national force dedicated to free enterprise, private property, and self-reliance. Most African analysts conclude that Mr. Savimbi would be the overwhelming choice for president in a democratic election. But that isn't going to happen so long as communist puppets control the country.

What can be done to hasten freedom? For starters, the United States ought to supply UNITA with humanitarian and military aid. Presently there are two bills before Congress that would do just that. Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., and Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., have proposed $27 million in humanitarian assistance for the freedom fighters. Another measure, sponsored by Rep. Mark Siljander, R-Mich., would provide that same amount in military aid to UNITA. There is growing support for both measures on Capitol Hill and within the Reagan administration.

Critics charge that any U.S. assistance would complicate the Reagan administration's efforts to achieve a peaceful settlement in the region.

The critics also complain that the United States ought not aid UNITA because the organization is supported by South Africa. This tortured reasoning suggests that Mr. Savimbi is soft on apartheid. To the contrary, he finds Pretoria's racial policies repugnant. But he correctly concludes that communist imperialism is a far greater danger to the region than apartheid, which has no capacity to expand.

More important, a democratic Angola would deprive the communists of a staging area to support the Marxist guerillas in neighboring Namibia, also known as South-West Africa. This, in turn, might prompt South Africa to become less defensive and be more likely to moderate its racial policies.

Simply stated, UNITA is the best hope for democracy in Angola as well as the most effective counterweight to Soviet encroachment in southern Africa. The freedom fighters deserve U.S. support in the crucial struggle to regain control of their country from the communists.

DONALD LAMBRO

Kean Proves GOP Can Attract Minorities

WASHINGTON — The sluggish but still-growing U.S. economy is poised for a bullish sprint forward next year, an event that could lead to some significant political gains for the Republican Party.

Of course, a lot depends on what Congress does to restrain federal spending and what it does on tax reform. Both issues will still be on the congressional front burners next year as Republicans seek to keep control of the Senate and improve their dismal 18-to-34 share of the nation's governorships.

Barring any foreign policy crisis, the economy will continue to be the pivotal factor in the 1986 elections, and economic-growth issues will largely determine their outcome. If that is the case, and the economy does reasonably well next year, the GOP will be in an excellent position to make strategic gains by effectively playing the economic growth card, as the party did nationally last year.

While the national news media was overemphasizing the state Democratic sweep in Virginia on Nov. 5 — a testament to Gov. Charles Robb's skill in reshaping his party along generally conservative fiscal lines — they largely missed the greater significance of the New Jersey gubernatorial race. There, GOP Gov. Thomas H. Kean won re-election in a heavily Democratic state on a record of improving the state's economy by cutting taxes, drawing new business into the state, and creating 350,000 new jobs. Kean was not only endorsed by the AFL-CIO, but he won a solid majority of black voters, the Democrats' most loyal voting bloc, largely by appealing to their need for increased economic opportunities.

The Gross National Product, adjusted for inflation, is expected to increase at an annual rate of 2.2 percent in the first six months, rising to 3.2 percent for the last half of the year. "In fact, the real GNP projections have been revised upward for most of 1986, when compared to the last survey taken in the summer of 1985," the report says.

The experts attribute their optimistic forecasts to monetary stimulus by the Federal Reserve Board. "When all factors are considered, the money numbers show that a substantial amount of stimulus is in the system," says Dr. Robert J. Genetski, economist for the Harris Bank.

Unfortunately, any boost in the economic growth rate "will not be fueled by the consumer," the forecasters say. Robert H. Vatter, economist for Metropolitan Life, thinks "modest gains in personal income, along with a record-low saving rate, will keep the consumer sector from providing new impetus for economic growth."

On the other hand, the dollar will continue to fall. This, says Connecticut National Bank forecaster Peter P. Kozel, will have "the impact of helping domestic production by the second half of 1986, if not sooner."

All of this means that in the sixth year of Ronald Reagan's presidency the economic recovery will continue, giving the GOP another chance to translate that into congressional and statewide gains. But merely attacking Democratic liberalism will not be enough to achieve that.

Republicans must propose economic growth initiatives, including further tax reduction, to make the economy's business-expansion, job-producing engine run better. Tom Kean's stunning re-election is a textbook illustration that proves it can work.

Tax Plan Proposals Limited

While Congress and the Executive profess to be developing "tax reform" proposals, their claims are questionable. The proposals made by the President and the congressional opponents of changes in the tax law are pretty much a patchwork quilt. They don't address basic questions.

An attempt to address those questions in a serious way has been made by four economists in a report issued by the Institute for Political Economy in conjunction with the Kriebler Foundation. The authors are David Brazell, Aldona Robbins, Gary Robbins, and Paul Craig Roberts. Their report is entitled "The Cost of Corporate Capital in the United States and Japan."

This is a highly technical report. However, it makes some very clear points that deserve close public consideration. First of all, it stresses that the cost of capital is one of the key factors in determining a nation's productivity and prosperity.

In the judgment of the authors, the existing U.S. tax system is "harmful." "Because of the multiple taxation that is imposed on saving," they say, "The U.S. tax system biases the choices between consumption and investment in favor of consumption and results in a smaller capital stock." They also note that "The major difference between the U.S. and Japanese tax systems is the taxation of dividends and interest income at the personal level. There is no double taxation of corporate capital income in Japan." The authors of the report recommend that "taxation of capital income in the United States should be reduced."

This is an eminently reasonable recommendation. Getting such a recommendation enacted into law is another matter. There already is a chorus of protestors who charge that corporations don't pay their "fair share" of taxes. They overlook the fact that the same income is subject to multiple taxation when paid to shareholders in a corporation.

Unfortunately, the notion has surfaced in America that dividend income is "unearned" income. Since that notion is embraced by many members of Congress, chances of meaningful tax reform aren't good. This study, however, should help spread enlightenment on the realities of capital formation, which is basic to the creation of new jobs and expansion of existing plants.

Anti-AIDS Campaign Materials Explicit

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spears

WASHINGTON — Federal health officials can't decide whether to put duty ahead of embarrassment in handling sexually explicit materials they sought for an educational campaign to reduce the spread of AIDS.

The problem is how to get the message across to the highest-risk group — homosexual men — in an explicit enough way to be effective, without appearing to give the government's seal of approval to sexual practices that are offensive to millions of Americans.

Officials are afraid Congress and the public may get the idea they are encouraging homosexual sex.

So the Centers for Disease Control has put "on hold" the funding of 14 proposals submitted in response to the agency's request for "Innovative Projects for AIDS Risk Reduction." The applicants, including Gay Men's Health Crisis Inc., AID Atlanta and the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, were notified of the delay in a letter last month.

The center's review process "has

WILLIAM RUSHER

Tail In Crack Again

Italian Prime Minister Bettino Craxi got his tail caught in another crack recently, this time with a perhaps impromptu remark declaring that the Palestine Liberation Organization is entitled to use force in pursuing its political aims.

Craxi has been going through a bad spell recently, beginning with his ill-advised decision to rush Mohammed Abbas, mastermind of the Achille Lauro hijacking, out of Italian jurisdiction to sanctuary in Yugoslavia. This blunder, which caused the temporary collapse of Craxi's five-party coalition government, may have been inspired as much by Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti's extensive family investments in the Middle East as by Craxi's known PLO sympathies. But the comment (in Parliament) about the PLO's alleged right to use force was strictly Craxi's own. Acknowledging that armed struggle would not solve the Palestinian problem, and would only result in innocent victims, Craxi nonetheless went on to say:

"To contest, to a movement that wants to liberate its own country from a foreign occupation, the legitimacy of the recourse to arms means to contest the laws of history."

Now, Craxi was not so much guilty here of being wrong as of being unforgivably muddled.

The PLO is recognized by many sovereign nations as the legitimate spokesman — indeed the virtual government in exile — of the Palestinian Arabs who fled their ancestral homes just before and after the creation of the state of Israel in 1948. The PLO undoubtedly regards itself as at war with Israel, seeking to recover the lost land for the Arabs. One may or may not sympathize with this objective and still acknowledge (as Craxi probably meant to acknowledge) that military force can properly be applied, in such circumstances, to achieve the political objective, however unwise or even counterproductive the resort to force may be. Certainly, as Craxi noted, history affords plenty of precedents.

But Craxi did not stop with that narrow point. The PLO is not merely engaging in a "recourse to arms." It is engaging, in such cases as the Achille Lauro hijacking, in barbarous forms of conduct that are expressly forbidden by every code of conduct ever designed to mitigate the inevitable horrors of war. And it is carrying them out, what's more, not only (or even primarily) against the armed forces of Israel, which are well equipped to defend themselves, but against totally innocent civilians — and civilians, in most cases, who are not even citizens of Israel but (like Leon Klinghoffer) citizens of other countries whose policies are merely too sympathetic to Israel to suit the PLO.

That, as Craxi ought to have understood without having to be told, goes far beyond any conduct historically sanctioned by the laws of war. It constitutes, in fact, the waging of war (and wholly barbarous war at that) against the vital interests of third nations who would be entirely justified, in turn, in declaring war on the PLO.

ROBERT WALTERS

President Bends To Pressure

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (NEA) — When Ronald Reagan was governor of California, he vigorously defended the state's right to select the most appropriate method of taxing corporate income — without any federal intrusion.

But now that he's president, Reagan has drastically altered his position. Indeed, his administration is attempting to coerce California (and other states) to abandon a sensible method of determining what portion of corporate revenues ought to be subject to taxation.

At issue is a system under which states consider a corporation and all of its subsidiaries as a unified operation. They then assume that the profits earned within the state are proportionate to the firm's activities — measured by the value of sales, payroll and property — within the state.

Known as the unitary system, this discourages companies from using financial sleight-of-hand to evade taxes by shifting profits among various subsidiaries and affiliates located in different states and countries.

The petroleum industry is particularly inclined to rely upon such "creative accounting." According to one estimate, oil companies fail to disclose to the states fully half of all domestic profits they report to the federal government.

Although major corporations have mounted repeated attacks on the unitary system, they have been consistently rebuffed. The U.S. Supreme Court rejected challenges from U.S. Steel in 1978, Exxon and Mobil in 1980 and Container Corporation of America in 1983.

Earlier this month, however, Reagan announced that he would seek federal legislation to prohibit states from considering corporations' foreign operations in the tax assessment process.

The White House has been under considerable pressure from the governments of Great Britain, Japan and the Netherlands — as well as from Sony, Shell Oil and other multinational corporations — to press for those restrictions.

But the National Governors Association, the National Conference of State Legislatures and other organizations argue that Reagan's position represents unwarranted federal meddling in the states' policy-making process and would allow multinational firms to use offshore tax havens to shield their profits from taxation.

"How else can people change their behavior patterns?"

But Lane explained delicately in his letter to applicants: "We are carefully considering how explicit the message must be in order to educate risk groups. Clearly, AIDS is a problem which requires bold and unprecedented approaches. However, every aspect of AIDS activity receives intensive public scrutiny, and accountability for the appropriate use of public funds is a responsibility which must be kept in mind."

Officials have suggested that panels of local citizens review the AIDS material to see if it violates community standards.

"We are looking very closely at the proposal," Dr. James Mason, acting undersecretary for health at the Department of Health and Human Services, told our associate Tony Capaccio. "You can get good educational materials without being too explicit. We don't think that citizens care to be funding material that encourages homosexual lifestyles."

— Gay Men's Health Crisis Inc., of New York City, proposed a $280,638 project that has the support of Reps. Ted Weiss, D-N.Y., and Bill Green, R-N.Y. It would include a "safe sex video" demonstrating that "there are healthy, satisfying and erotically appealing sexual alternatives."

The proposal also includes a "sexual enrichment program" consisting of "a one-hour graphic series of sexually explicit visual images that emphasizes the eroticization of safe sexual practices," and a 15-month calendar featuring "appealing and tastefully explicit photographs which portray images of healthy sex."

Participants would also be asked to fill out an "inventory of (22) preferred sexual practices" ranging from "social or dry kissing" to "S&M (sado-masochistic) activities that result in piercing skin or bleeding."

"You need to tell people what sex acts represent a particularly heightened risk," explained Richard Dunne of Gay Men's Health Crisis.

Separate Gang Rapes Reported

In unrelated incidents a woman and a girl have reported to Seminole County lawmen that they were raped by five men.

A 14-year-old Sanford girl reported to sheriff's deputies she was raped between 10 p.m. Monday and 2 a.m. Tuesday by five males ranging in age from 16 to 25 at a home she had been visiting on Knox Avenue in Sanford.

The girl said she had been visiting the 25-year-old and when she tried to leave he allegedly forced her into a bedroom and raped her. Four other males at the home also raped her, a sheriff's report said.

Sheriff's deputies have the names of suspects in the case and the reported incident is under investigation.

Meanwhile, Casselberry police are continuing an investigation into allegations made by a 26-year-old Altamonte Springs woman who reported she was raped by five men in an apartment where she stopped to use the bathroom at about 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

When she reported the assault to police at 6 a.m. Sunday she told them she had been held in the apartment for five hours while five men took turns raping her, police said.

The woman had entered the apartment where a party was in progress after she had tried to visit a friend who was not at home at Reflections Apartments on State Road 436, Casselberry, police said.

She stopped at the nearby apartment to use the bathroom and when she left the bathroom was grabbed by a man who forced her into a bedroom and raped her, police said.

Four other men entered the room and also assaulted her, police said. They have a description of the suspects, but no arrests have been made.

Board Increases Water Hookups In Two Areas

The Seminole County Board of Adjustment approved a request by the Lake Harney Water Association to increase water hookups in the area from 150 to 208, based on a consumptive use permit by the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation.

A capacity crowd packed the meeting room at the county services building and were told they will be receiving their long-awaited water service.

The board also approved an increase in water connections at Mullet Lake from 160 to 203. A consumptive use permit for the new hookups is expected to be approved by the St. Johns Water Management District next month when the area's pumping capacity is upgraded, according to a spokesman for the Mullet Lake Water Association.

Lake Harney Water Association President Lester Smith said

17 residents of that area had been without water service, while 400 people receive service. Over 43 residents at Mullet Lake have been anticipating connections, the spokesman said.

In other board of adjustment business Monday, the board:

Approved a request for expansion of an existing child care facility by Happy Acres Day Care Center, north of State Road 46 on the west side of Riverview Ave.

Approved a request by Silver Star of USA for an automobile service center for an automobile dealership, located one fourth mile north of the Maitland Blvd. interchange, east side of Highway 17-92.

Denied a request by Amoco Oil Co. for fuel pumps in conjunction with a convenience store and a rear setback change, south side of State Road 434, between Mobile Avenue and Vagabond

Pine Crest Aids Smoke-Out Day

A balloon release Monday at Pine Crest Elementary school was sponsored by the American Cancer Society and assisted by school PTA members Dale Snider, Mike and Sylviz Silt, Cathy Bernosky, Carrie Archambault and Joan Cameron. Mrs. Cameron is also on the society's board of directors.

The entire student body participated in the release of 800 balloons which was held to call attention to Great American Smokeout day, today.

Smokers are being asked asked to give up their cigarettes today in hopes they will realize they can quit smoking.

The ninth annual day of abstinence, dubbed The Great American Smokeout, was expected to engage millions of people across the United States in trying to snuff out their cigarettes and cigars.

According to a survey, more than one-third of American smokers tried to quit during last year's smokeout, and almost 10 percent succeeded for 24 hours.

The society noted the risk of lung cancer is 10 times greater in smokers, the average male smoker will incur $58,987 in cigarette-related medical bills, 320,000 people will die this year with diseases linked to smoking.

City Proclaims Clean-Up Weeks

The City of Altamonte Springs has scheduled the Fall Clean-up program for the weeks of December 2nd through 6th and December 9th through 13th. During those two (2) weeks, the residents may place items at the curb for refuse collection pickup that ordinarily would not be collected.

Residents may get rid of such items as old furniture, dishwashers, and washing machines. Items should be household generated refuse and not construction debris or the results of large landclearing operations according to a city official.

Any item that can be loaded on a flat bed trailer by two men will be collected and disposed of at no charge.

Residents may contact the Department of Public Works at 869-6590 for additional information.

Hurricane warnings were flying from Bay St. Louis, Miss., to St. Marks, Fla., but forecasters said a 100-mile stretch of Florida from Panama City to St. Marks was most likely to feel Kate's full fury.

At 10 a.m. EST, Kate's center was near latitude 28.6 north, longitude 86.5 west, or about 115 miles southwest of Apalachicola, Fla.

Kate was expected to generate storm tides up to 12 feet and forecasters warned: "Kate is a major hurricane capable of inflicting heavy damage to areas in its path."

The Coast Guard reported several "overdue" boats in the Gulf and searches were underway.

Gov. Bob Graham ordered the evacuation of coastal and low lying areas of 13 Panhandle counties from Pensacola eastward to tiny St. Marks.

"Even though residents of inland counties will not be subjected to the full force of Hurricane Kate they still face extreme danger from extensive flooding, gale force winds and possibly even tornadoes, Graham said. "Residents should seek safety immediately."

Civil Defense officials reported 5,271 people in Okaloosa County shelters, with 350 in Escambia County and 188 in Walton County.

Some residents elected to wait for later reports on the storm, but others left immediately.

"I decided not to wait until morning and get stuck in the traffic," said Jenny Guidry, 26, who left Pensacola Beach with her daughter Wednesday night.

Rodger Jacovy, manager of a convenience store at Pensacola Beach, said many of his customers came in and got "gas and booze."

"Quite a few people said they were gonna stay and party," he said.

Hours after Kate ended a 16-hour assault on Cuba's coast and plunged into the Gulf of Mexico late Tuesday, oil companies began evacuating workers from offshore wells.

By mid-day Wednesday, storm weary civil defense officials along the central Gulf Coast went into action and evacuations began from Florida to Louisiana.

"Here we go again," sighed Joe Hunt, a civil defense spokesman in Florida's Okaloosa County.

The two major military bases in Florida's Panhandle — Eglin Air Force Base and the Pensacola Naval Air Station — flew more than 200 aircraft to inland bases.

the stage for all teachers statewide to take their concerns about low pay to the state legislature, he said.

"It is a positive victory for the teachers," Ogletree said.

Hughes said he had delivered a letter to Ogletree at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday stating the intention of the school board to accept all of the special master's recommendations. He also said in the letter that "each recommendation of the special master shall be deemed approved by both parties unless specifically rejected by either party." If there is any part of the agreement the union does not agree in full with then they must explain why they do not agree, Hughes said.

"This contract impasse has put us in the unique position of having to negotiate a contract that was already tentatively approved by the teachers," Hughes said.

"But I am optimistic a fair settlement has been reached and I am hopeful that we have resolved the conflict between the teachers of Seminole County and this school board," Hughes also added that he was satisfied that the settlement was fair to career teachers and said the board was "still concerned in attracting new teachers to this area."

While he could not say exactly what the average raise per check would be, Hughes said that he was hopeful the SEA would approve the contract quickly and get it back to the board in time for their regularly scheduled Dec. 11 meeting. He did say he was concerned about any negative impact the long negotiations might have on teacher morale and that he wanted the teachers to receive their raises before the Christmas holidays began. He also said he was proud of the "professional way" both parties in the dispute had handled themselves in public and in the media coverage of the long affair.

Karen Coleman, school board spokesman, agreed with Hughes' comments on effects of the contract dispute.

"We appreciated the effective and objective news coverage of these talks," Mrs. Coleman said, "and we think that it helped prevent some negative things from being said about our handling of this sensitive issue."

When on Aug. 29 SEA members voted 786 to 728 to turn down the proposed contract led by teachers with more than 15 years on the job, it marked the first time in the 11-year history of collective bargaining in Seminole County that any school employee's union had turned down a proposed contract. The SEA also represents non-instructional workers, clerical workers and bus drivers.

According to Hooper, the county is also willing to discuss the possibility of a compromise. "We haven't heard from Mr. Cleveland, but if he calls we'll listen," Hooper said.

Cleveland said he still has "a lot of calls to make" and that these efforts will continue "until I run out of time," a reference to the condemnation suit's court date, which remains uncertain.

Although originally scheduled to be heard on Dec. 13 at 1 p.m., the first two judges to receive the case disqualified themselves and the third judge accepted the assignment on Wednesday. The Honorable Clarence Johnson, the Seminole-Brevard chief justice who determines case assignments, said Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi has agreed to hear the case. Johnson said the agreement was made by phone and according to Salfi's secretary, the judge will not discuss the case until he receives written notification of the assignment.

Salfi's calendar shows juvenile hearings scheduled at 1 and 1:30 p.m. during the week. According to Johnson, each justice handles his own scheduling and "it's up to Judge Salfi to decide when the (condemnation) suit will be heard."

Cleveland said a delay would provide him with "more time to try to negotiate an agreement. We're going to assert every effort we can to bring an end to this before it gets too far along in the court system."

"Both sides have merit," he said. "But it's wrong for county and city governments to be engage in such a bitter dispute."

Schooling Fish Can't Resist Minnow-Sized Lure

How many times have you been fishing and have seen sunshine bass, largemouths, or speckled perch striking or schooling on small minnows? Do you remember when you threw every plug in your tackle box at the fish and didn't get a strike because your offerings were too large?

This unpleasant experience can be remedied by the addition of an ultra-light spinning outfit to your rod and reel collection. This outfit should be spooled with a quality four to six pound test monofilament.

The two and three-quarter inch floating minnow plugs are excellent to use in the type of feeding situation mentioned above. The model 7 P Rapala is particularly effective. It is slightly heavier than comparables, and will not plane as much when thrown into the wind.

When fish are feeding on top, throw the lure out, let it rest for a few seconds, then twitch it a few times. If this tactic fails to draw a strike, simply work the plug in slowly just below the surface.

Schooling sunshine bass, largemouths, and speckled perch cannot resist the small lures because they are the approximate size of the minnows they are feeding upon.

This method is absolutely deadly during periods of falling or low water in the St. Johns River. As the river drops and water recedes out of ditches and run-off areas, small minnows and grass shrimp are forced out into the main channel.

These small baits do not have

Jim Shupe

GOING FISHING?

anywhere to hide and provide a feast for the game fish. During such times of low water, bass and other species become very selective and will strike mainly small lures.

Large bass will also hit these small lures, so it is important to keep fresh line on your reel. When fishing with four to six pound test line. It is important to keep a light drag. Additional drag pressure can be applied by using the index finger on the reel spool.

Ultra-light spin tackle is perfect for speckled perch fishing. Much of the tackle used for speckled perch is much too heavy. This species of fish rarely reaches three pounds, so why not add a great deal of fun and sport to your fishing by using light tackle the next time you decide to roll beetle spins or drift Missouri minnows?

Shad season is rapidly approaching, and these fish are very fond of small spoons, jigs, and other lures of ultra-light proportions. Catching them on light tackle is really a thrill.

Ultra-light spin tackle has also proven itself in saltwater fishing. Many of us have had the experience of fishing for trout under a bridge light at night. These trout are often wary and feed on shrimp and small baitfish as they pass through the lighted area.

Large plugs are often ignored, but these trout lose all abandon when a small floating minnow lure is used. Fisherman should anchor a casting distance away from the lighted area and cast their small lures to the fish.

Many fishermen anchor too close and spook the trout. A light monofilament leader, around 15-pound test, should be used for this type of fishing. Lights around bridge fenders are very productive for cat-

Penick, Rohr Map Different State Strategy

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

This is the second trip to the 4A State Meet for Seminole High's Billy Penick and Lake Mary's Ken Rohr. The 1985 meet will be different in a couple ways for the two senior standouts.

For one, both are running as individuals. Secondly, they both plan to run different races than they did a year ago.

The State Cross Country Championships will be held Saturday at the DeLand Airport. The 4A boys meet begins at 10:30 a.m.

In last year's meet, Seminole High qualified as a team and Penick came out of the region as one of the individual favorites. Penick went out fast in the meet and led the entire first mile. But he couldn't keep up the sizzling pace he set. Penick wound up finishing 10th.

"Billy knows now that you can't win state on the first mile," Seminole coach Sid Blackwell said of Penick. "He's going to have to be patient like he was at regional. He showed his maturity at regional when he ran relaxed and ran more even splits on his miles."

Blackwell said Penick missed practice Wednesday because he "came down with the bug at school." But he said it shouldn't affect Penick's performance. "It's happened before and he usually recovers well."

Along with Rohr, the top competition for the individual title will include Roger Leichworth of Clearwater Countryside, Gary Schofield of Gainesville Buchholz and Mike LeValle of Lauderdale Lakes Boyd Anderson.

"With a classy field like that, you have to run a smart race," Blackwell said. "Billy (Penick) is trying to improve his performance from last year. He wants to run against the competition and not worry about times or anything else."

For Rohr, Saturday will be the first time in his prep cross country career he has run as an individual and not with a team. Last week's region meet was the first time for Penick.

Rohr has gone through somewhat of a transformation since last year's state meet. A year ago, Rohr was content to go out slow and then build confidence as he passed runners. Now, he is one of the frontrunners and a contender for the individual title.

"He has an outside shot to win it," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said of Rohr. "He has the potential."

While winning is the ultimate goal, Rohr's other goals are to finish in the top 10 and make All State and to break the Lake Mary school record of 15:24 held by Derek Tangeman. Rohr has run 9 of the top 16 times ever at Lake Mary and his best is 15:29, which he has run three times this season.

"There's no pressure on Ken now," McGee said. "The pressure is trying to get to the state meet and it really comes to a build at the regional meet. Once you make it to state, the pressure is off."

McGee said the experience of running in state last year is helps, but Rohr is a different kind of runner this season. "He's had to be a different kind of runner this year," McGee said of Rohr. "He's always been a come from behind runner.

This year he's been running top notch people and he's always been up front."

Bojanowski Visits Cloud 9 — Troiani Eyes Top 10

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

Jaime Bojanowski was on cloud nine after receiving the news that he was state bound.

Receiving the message from a hard-working swimming writer from the Evening Herald, Bojanowski could have touched the sky he was so jubilant. The reason was his receiving an at large bid to swim in the Division 4A State Meet this Saturday at the Justus Aquatic Center.

"All right!" Bojanowski, who is only a sophomore, said after receiving the news. "I can't believe I actually made it (state)."

Bojanowski had every reason to be enthusiastic. He overcame a lack of confidence early in the season and has become a major contribution to the growing Seminole High swim team.

"I can't get over it," Bojanowski said. "I'm only the second swimmer in the history of Seminole to make it to state."

After shaving down the night before the district meet last Friday and Saturday at the Sharidan Aquatic Club, Bojanowski was surrounded with doubt about making state.

"All last week I wasn't sure how I would do," Bojanowski said. "My mom and I were really doubting it (making state)."

Swimming

Bojanowski qualified in the top six at districts — the first step to making the state meet — by swimming the 500 free in 5:09.47. He then received an at large bid since his time was faster than that of the other district swimmers who placed 4th-6th.

Bojanowski, who decided to swim his race differently in the finals than he did in preliminaries, was in second place at the 100 yard stage of the race. However, Bojanowski faded to sixth as his endurance gave out in the final stages of the race.

"I just gave it everything I had the first 200 yards," Bojanowski said still in a quandry. "Around the tenth lap I started to feel myself getting tired. I'll just have to work on that this week and do better at state."

Starting at a young age, only six, Bojanowski dropped out of swimming competitively for four years to try other sports. Among his athletic endeavors are soccer, basketball and track.

However, his desire to swim stayed with him and he swam with Don Clark and the Lyman Swim Club last May. After swimming with the Seminole team his freshman year, Bojanowski placed 12th in the 200 I.M. and was on a school record-breaking relay.

Even though Bojanowski has a grip on the boy's swimming in the household, his sister, Stasi Bojanowski, handles the other half of the family duo.

The two Bojanowskis, who have been the sole power behind helping build the Seminole High School swim team this year. They train year around with John Woods and the Justus Dolphins of Orlando. They both swim the same events and did extremely well at the district meet this past weekend.

Stasi placed in the top 12 in both of her events, while her brother Jaime managed a spot in the state meet after biting his nails wondering if an at large spot would be given to him and placed ninth in the 200 I.M.

Even though Bojanowski and his sister finished the season with some spectacular swims, there was another county swimmer who went to the district meet looking for a win and she was nothing but business.

That someone who got down to the nitty gritty this past weekend was a state class backstroker from the Lake Howell Silver Hawks.

Stephanie Troiani, a junior member of the Silver Ducks, will be the lone individual swimmer from Lake Howell in the state meet as she stroked past the rest of the field at the districts in the 100 back with a winning time of 1:05.16.

"I'm not real nervous right now," Troiani said. "I placed ninth last year and I didn't have a team, so it's really no big deal to me."

Troiani, who shaved and tapered for the districts, has high expectations of herself as she swims against some of the state's top backstrokers. "I hope to be somewhere in the top 10," Troiani said. "Last year I went a 1:02.9 and placed ninth. If I go faster, I may end up higher than that."

Troiani has been an excellent student as well as an athlete by maintaining a 3.3 grade point average. However, this past weekend in winning, she didn't use her brain power to set up her swim though.

"I didn't even have a strategy," Troiani said. "I just wanted to win. It was that simple."

Theismann To Undergo Second Operation For Leg Injury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann will undergo a second operation today to repair the grisly leg injury that threatens to end his career.

Theismann will be operated on again by Dr. Charles Jackson, the team's orthopedic surgeon who performed surgery on the 12-year veteran early Tuesday at Arlington Hospital in the Virginia suburbs.

The operation will entail re-

Football

moving the original cast on the right leg, taking out the gauze in which the wound was packed and cleaning the wound of any infection if present.

Theismann's tibia and fibula — the two major bones of the lower leg — were broken. The bone ends were crushed and the sharp edges of the bones tore through the skin when he was sacked by New York Giants linebackers Lawrence Taylor and Gary Reasons Monday.

Theismann, at 36, was the oldest starting quarterback in the league.

Mattingly Wins MVP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Mattingly lived up to New York Yankees tradition so much this season that he forced baseball writers to break from one of theirs.

The 24-year-old first baseman, whose statistics this season rivaled those of such past Yankee greats as Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, Wednesday was named the American League's Most Valuable Player by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Although the AL MVP had gone to a player from a first-place team for the past six years, Mattingly's season was too awesome to ignore and the voters selected Mattingly over George Brett of the world champion Kansas City Royals. It marks the first time the BBWAA has given the AL award to a player from a non-pennant winner since Jim Rice of Boston won it in 1978.

Mattingly firmly etched his name in the Yankee record book next to those of DiMaggio, Mantle and Roger Maris. His 145 RBI were the most by a Yankee since DiMaggio knocked in 155 in 1948 and he was the first Yankee to lead the league in RBI since Maris in 1961. His 211 hits were the most by a Yankee since Red Rolfe had 213 in 1939.

Despite the comparisons his achievements invite, Mattingly believes there's room for improvement.

"I think I still have a lot of improving to do at the plate," said Mattingly. "I don't walk enough. In certain situations I can take more pitches and hit better pitches. It may not show in the numbers but I will be better."

Mattingly, appearing with a cast on his right hand due to a minor surgery, hinted that some comparisons would be unjustified. When asked about his hand, he replied: "I wasn't an iron man or anything, playing with a broken hand."

Lou Gehrig, the Yankees first baseman from 1923-39, earned the nickname the "Iron Horse" for playing in 2,164 consecutive games. He was the first of 18 Yankees to win the honor.

Mattingly, who led the AL in five offensive categories, received 23 first place votes and 367 points from 28 members of the BBWAA — two from each AL city — to beat out Brett.

Brett received the other five first place votes and 274 points. Outfielder Rickey Henderson of the Yankees was third with 174 points.

Playing in 159 games, Mattingly led the major leagues in RBI (145) and doubles (48) and topped the AL in total bases (370), game-winning RBI (21) and extra base hits (86). He also was second in the AL in hits (211), slugging percentage (.567) and multiple hit games (66).

In addition, he batted .324 — third highest average in the league — and belted 35 home runs and scored 107 runs. He also led AL first basemen in fielding percentage with a .995 mark.

PIRATES NAME LEYLAND

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Jim Leyland, the Pittsburgh Pirates' new field manager, has promised to work hard, run a tight ship and provide opportunities for second guessers.

Leyland even promised when he was presented to reporters Wednesday at a news conference that he would try to help draw disenfranchised fans back to Three Rivers Stadium by becoming a fulltime, socially involved resident of Pittsburgh.

Sessions Overhauls Geyser, 8-7

The softball team of Eddie Sessions Well Drilling apparently likes living close to the edge. After finally overhauling the Tim Raines Connection Monday by a narrow 8-7 count to take over undisputed first place in the Sanford Men's Softball League, one would think a breather may be in order.

Not so. Third place Geyser Systems jumped on Sessions for four runs in the first inning and held a 7-5 lead entering the bottom of the sixth. That's living pretty close to the edge.

But Ben McGill, who supplied four big runs batted in Monday, delivered again. The Sessions cleanup hitter rifled a two-run double to chase home Doug Dowdy and Ray Bowling as Sessions pulled out an 8-7 victory over Geyser at Pinehurst Field Wednesday night.

The Raines Connection, which won a big tournament this past weekend in New Smyrna Beach, topped McKee Development, 13-5, to remain one game behind Sessions. In the third game, Thorne Land Clearing used an eight-run second inning to hold off Sunniland, 8-6.

Sessions, 17-2, appeared to be in trouble in the early going when Steve Hargis, Jeff Prince, Calvin Gaines and Ed Lee all singled to start the Geyser, 13-5, first-inning uprising. Marvin White followed with a two-run double for a 4-0 lead.

Sessions cut the deficit in half when Albert "Baby Hold Onto Me" Key singled and McGill followed with a two-run homer two outs later.

In the fourth, Sessions pushed across three runs on singles by Key and Dowdy, a sacrifice fly by Bowling and Chuck McMullan two-run homer for a 5-4 advantage.

It held up until the sixth when Hargis and Prince singled and one out later, Gaines singled in one run. Lee chased home two more with a double for a 7-5 edge with just two innings to play.

Sessions, though, erupted in the sixth when Tim Rogers doubled and Dowdy came through with a two-out RBI single. Bowling also followed with a hit and McGill applied the hammer with a two-run double to complete his second 4-RBI night of the week.

TRC, 16-3, was a little lethargic, too, until the later innings. The Connection led, 4-3, before exploding for nine runs in the fifth and sixth innings to drop 9-10 McKee. Rod Turner drove in three runs with a pair of singles. Sam Raines had a trio of singles. Bryan Stenstrom had a pair of ribbies while Ned and Tommy Raines and Eddie Jackson each had one RBI.

Tracy Walker and Mark Whitley stroked two hits for McKee. Mark Smith drove in a run.

Thorne Land, 7-12, used two runs batted in from Mike Whitten and Thaad Brooks along with ribbies from Mack Thorne, Billy Gracey and Jerry Lott to highlight the eight-run second inning. Emmitt Davis and Terry Hart each rapped two hits for the winners.

Tollie and Chris Frank had two hits for Sunniland while Kelvin Riggins singled three times.

Seminole 'Gentlemen' Draw Raves On And Off The Field

Bill Painter, who benevolently serves up the pre-game meal for Sanford's Fighting Seminoles at his Colonial Room Restaurant, said the Tribe picked apart some fried chicken last Friday before it devoured the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas for homecoming.

The Tribe is facing another homecoming Friday, but this homecoming belongs to DeLand. Coach Dave Mosure's Seminoles will journey 17 miles north to continue one of the longest rivalries in the area for the season finale.

Although the Tribe is going out of town, Painter said the meal will remain the same. "Chicken has been good to them," he said. "That's what Mosure wants. He specifically asked for it for the last two weeks of the season."

Painter, whose son Bill was a key defensive tackle on coach Jerry Posey's 1981 district and conference champions, said he has been really impressed with the Seminoles — both on and off the field.

"Those kids are perfect gentlemen when they come down here to eat," Painter said. "Why, they march right in and march right out. There's no wild carrying on or anything. They're a pleasure to serve."

Painter said he was a bit taken back last week when Mosure told him there would be 75 Seminoles circling up for the pre-game meal. "That's a lot of people," Painter said. "But we just hauled a bunch of chairs in from somewhere and sat them down. Everything went smoothly."

Mosure moved up 26 players from the junior varsity and freshman teams, which swelled the usual gathering. "I didn't think all of them would stick it out," Mosure said. "But they did. We got a dedicated group."

And a behaved one. Painter said as a restaurant owner he has to aware of the other customers. Bringing in a band of Seminoles before a Friday night game isn't always the best business move.

"Sometimes in the past, one or two people would complain," Painter said. "But this year, the customers compliment me on how well behaved the players are. They're a nice group of kids."

Which hopes to even things up at 5-5 tonight. Bring on the fried chicken.

Bill Painter, coincidentally, is a member of a team which Seminole High School couldn't do without — the chain gang. Painter joins Tom Smith, Bob Irvin, Ronnie Ryan and Larry Smith as the regular crew which moves up and down the sideline and hustles out for measurements.

Smith, whose son Tom is a basketball coach for the Tribe, is the senior member of the crew with 12 years experience. He used to work the sidelines of the Orange Bowl in Miami. The word is his Smith's daughter overheard Posey say he needed someone on the chain gang one day at Seminole. She promptly offered her father's services and the rest is history.

Next is service is Irvin with eight years while Painter, Larry Smith and Ryan each have five years of experience. Painter said next year the crew will have the regular chains on one side and a ballmarker on the other side, just like the pros.

Seminole's Jeff Blake and Theron Liggins have already picked up one free meal this week. Blake was named the Sanford Optimist Club Offensive Player of the Week and Liggins was cited for the defensive award. Blake was a co-winner with Dwayne Willis, who was ill and couldn't attend.

The Optimists, Sanford's most youth-serving sports club, feted Blake and Liggins Wednesday at Western Sizzlin for their performances in the 27-6 homecoming victory over New Smyrna Beach. Per usual, the guests were asked to say a few syllables.

"We played a pretty game against New Smyrna Beach," Blake said. "I hope we'll do as well this week against DeLand. A lot of the team is sick but we'll play whether we're sick or not Friday."

Liggins said he hopes the defense can turn in another strong performance. "We played a good first half, then we let up a little bit in the third quarter," Liggins said. "After they scored we shut them down again."

Blake completed 8 of 17 passes for 102 yards, ran for a touchdown, kicked two field goals and booted three extra points. Liggins returned an interception 52 yards to set up the final score and was in on 14 tackles. Willis ran for 186 yards and a touchdown on just nine carries.

Blake and Liggins were also voted Burger King Offensive and Defensive Players of the Week for their performances.

Bob Santulli, Burger King's Community Relations whiz, said BK will honor the county varsity football players and coaches with its annual awards banquet Wednesday, Dec. 11 at the Altamonte Springs Eastmonte George Perkins Building. First bite is 6 p.m.

Player of the Week plaques. Players of the Year and Coach of the Year will be given by the county's most youth-serving restaurant.

Rams, Lyman Feel Tension

By Chris Pistor
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said his team is tense but excited about Friday night's battle against Lyman High's Greyhounds for the 5A-4 District title.

The winner of Friday night's game, which will be played at Lake Mary High, will face the District 5A-3 winner. Going into the last week of play, three teams still have a shot at winning District 3 including Jacksonville Terry Parker, Jacksonville Beach Fletcher and Lake City Columbia. Jacksonville Sandalwood is 2-2. Since none of the three teams plays each other this week, there could be a three-way — and possibly a four-way — tie and a playoff would be necessary.

Terry Parker is at Sandalwood. Fletcher journeys to winless Wolfson and Columbia goes to Jackson. Fletcher needs to win and have Columbia lose. Columbia needs to win and have Parker lose. Parker needs to win and have Columbia lose. If Fletcher, Columbia and Parker all lose, Sandalwood joins the leaders with a 2-2 record. A playoff earlier next week using the tiebreaker system would then determine the champion.

Meanwhile, there is no tomorrow for Lake Mary and Lyman. A Lake Mary victory would give the Rams their second straight district title while Lyman can win the district a year after going 0-10.

"There's a lot of tension and excitement in the air," Nelson said. "You've got to live with a little tension, everything can't be roses."

Lake Mary will hope its senior leadership, which has pulled it through in a number of close games this season, will rise to the occasion again Friday.

Among the senior leaders include Ray Hartsfield, Byron Washington and Marty Hopkins, three players who have been keys to the Rams' success the past three seasons.

"The seniors have shown good leadership since the season began," Nelson said.

Football

Lake Mary comes in with a record of 7-2 and most of its games have been close. And, on most occasions, Lake Mary has been able to make the big play on offense or defense to keep their district title hopes alive.

"There are a couple things we do extraordinarily well and we struggle with the other things," added Nelson. "We don't have awesome power or speed. We just win on the things we can do."

On the other hand, Lyman has a 4-5 record but has played well in the ones that count most. The Greyhounds' running game has been able to control the ball in games Lyman has won and the defense has been at its stingiest in district games.

"Lyman would be a capable district champion," Nelson said. "I just hope they aren't going to be."

"They're overachievers," added Nelson. "The coaching staff and the kids should be very proud of the season they've had. I thought at the beginning of the year they looked like the worst team in the area. Now they're one of the best."

Nelson said that the teams are so even that a few breaks or one or two touchdowns could mean the difference between a seven win and a four win season. One break or one touchdown could also mean the difference Friday night.

"It will be the place to be Friday night," Nelson said. "The home field is definitely a plus for us (Lyman is 0-5 on the road), but Lyman will have a great crowd, too."

Lyman coach Bill Scott was not available for comment.

Katz Is Running Out Of Patience Despite Sixers' Win

United Press International

The Philadelphia 76ers rallied in the final seconds for a 117-113 victory over the Golden State Warriors last night, and owner Harold Katz ripped his players. Imagine what he says when they lose.

"I'm running out of patience," the diet-center mogul said in the dressing room after the game. "I'm completely out of patience. I'm not happy with the team."

"I'm not saying it's Matty's fault," Katz said, referring to Coach Matt Guokas. "I think we have the talent. Maybe I overestimated the talent, but I don't think I have."

The Sixers lost a 13-point fourth-quarter lead, but scored the last 6 points of the game in the final 11 seconds to improve their record to 6-5. Moses Malone scored 28 points, including the tying basket with 11 seconds left, and Charles Barkley scored 22, including the last 4 of the game.

"I don't like what I see," said Katz, speaking in clipped sentences. "We're playing slow motion basketball. We're not pressing. If they can be happy with themselves, they're only fooling themselves. This was a real tainted victory."

Barkley didn't take Katz' criticism quietly.

"Why doesn't he coach the team?" the burly forward snapped. "We don't need people to tell us we're playing bad. We know that. It doesn't take a Rhodes Scholar to figure that out. We know we're playing bad and we need support more than anything. It seems like everyone is cutting us up. It's like spitting on a man when he's down."

The Sixers beat Golden State for the seventh straight time at Philadelphia.

"He owns the team and he has the right to say what he wants," Julius Erving said. "Harold's a very emotional person. He's into every game he watches and he has things he wants to see. Obviously tonight was not one of the things he wanted to see."

Celtics 115, Jazz 106

At Boston, Robert Parish scored 6 of his 25 points from the foul line in overtime to lead the Celtics, who converted 11-of-12 chances from the foul line in overtime while limiting the Jazz to 6 points and 1 field goal.

Bullets 101, Cavaliers 98

At Landover, Md., Gus Williams scored 19 points and Jeff Malone added 18 to propel the Bullets. The Bullets had lost 8 of 9 going into the game, including seven straight. Cleveland had won all its road games prior to the loss. World B. Free pulled both hamstrings and finished with just 6 points.

NBA Roundup

Hawks 116, Bulls 101

At Atlanta, Dominique Wilkins scored 28 points and Ray Williams added 20 to power the Hawks. Wilkins opened the game with a 3-pointer, and Atlanta never trailed.

Pistons 109, Knicks 98

At Pontiac, Mich., Kent Benson scored 21 points and Kelly Tripucka and Bill Laimbeer added 16 each for Detroit, which ended New York's three-game winning streak.

Rockets 126, Pacers 97

At Houston, Akeem Olatujun scored 28 points, Ralph Sampson added 28, and together they blocked 10 shots to power the Rockets to their eighth victory in their last nine games. Wayman Tisdale led the Pacers with 27 points.

Lakers 122, Clippers 107

At Inglewood, Calif., Magic Johnson collected 22 points and 20 assists to lift the Lakers to their seventh straight victory and eighth straight over the Clippers, who lost their seventh straight. Clipper forward Marques Johnson finished with 34, his third straight game over 30.

Suns 121, Spurs 100

At Phoenix, Larry Nance scored 26 points and Alvan Adams added 23 points and 11 rebounds to lead the Suns to their second victory of the season. Walter Davis chipped in 19 points for the Suns. The Spurs were led by Steve Johnson with 21 points.

Bucks 116, Sonics 106

At Seattle, Terry Cummings scored 14 of his game-high 28 points in the first quarter to help the Bucks hand the Sonics their third straight loss and first at home this season. The victory extended Milwaukee's winning streak to five. Tom Chambers topped Seattle with 24 points.

KING STRUGGLES TO RETURN

MAHWAH, N.J. (UPI) — The memories are of 20,000 fans filling Madison Square Garden with a deafening roar as Bernard King hurtled his body at the basket for a thunderous two-hand slam, or pulled the trigger on one of his spinning jumpers.

The reality has become empty wooden bleachers and the sound of basketballs reverberating off gym walls as he struggles with with fundamentals.

On March 23 at Kansas City, the Knicks were cruising to an easy victory when King crumpled to the court, his right knee devastated. Extensive surgery repaired severely damaged ligaments and cartilage. Now King toils in secrecy, attempting to restore the pieces of his shattered career.

Last season, he was the 1985 NBA scoring champion with a 32.9-point average. This season, he drills behind locked doors at Ramapo College three times a week for two hours while the women's basketball team practices. He is able to run, jump and shoot, although not at full strength.

"Some days, he looks like he's going to be OK," said Mike Ricciardi, coach of the Lady Roadrunners, who has observed King's struggle during breaks in his team's practices. "Other times, it looks like he's limping."

"He runs drills — figure-eights, straight and side-to-side running, stop-and-start, stutter step, shake-and-bake moves, shooting drills. He jumps up and slaps the target on the backboard. He practices his move where he slides down toward the baseline and shoots a turnaround jumper (his trademark). He hits the shot. Whether or not it causes him discomfort, I couldn't say."

"Some days it looks like he can go full speed. Some days it's obvious there's tenderness and he can't go full speed. He's hot and cold. It seems like he's trying to gauge how long it will take until he can do everything automatically without worrying about the injury recurring."

IN BRIEF

Inter-County Basketball Plans Meeting For 'Little Guys League'

The Inter-County Basketball Association (ICBA) will hold its first meeting-workout for its brand new "Little Guys League." The new program is for boys and girls in the fourth and fifth grades and will be an instructional type plus actual league play, schedule, according to Mickey Norton, ICBA executive president.

The first get-together will be Nov. 24, at 1 p.m. at Oviedo High School gym. Boys and girls may sign up then, or merely attend and see what it is all about. The registration fee will be $15 per player ($5 off for second child in same family, $10 off for third child).

The ICBA's "Little Guys League" will meet once a week in the gym, and eventually, one more time a week outdoors. The league is open to any fourth and fifth graders in the county but since all the action will be at Oviedo and possibly Lake Howell High School, it is expected to have most of its membership from the elementary schools that feed those two high schools.

Any questions or for further information, call Norton at 385-4040 or attend the first meeting.

Ueberroth Urges Indians To Sell

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians must be sold "as soon as possible" and Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth says he is willing to help expedite the matter.

Ueberroth met with Cleveland Indians board chairman Pat O'Neill Wednesday and urged him to "get on with" the sale of the American League franchise.

"I didn't give Pat O'Neill any sort of deadline, timetable or target date, but I told him I want to help," Ueberroth said at a Cleveland Stadium news conference.

"If I can open doors for Pat O'Neill, I'd be glad to do so," said Ueberroth. "After all, I work for him. I want to help in any manner I can."

After Steve O'Neill died (in August, 1983), his will made it clear he wanted the Indians to stay in Cleveland.

Nixon Will Remain A Clipper

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Despite "procedural problems" which have caused a delay in the signing of free-agent guard Norm Nixon, the Los Angeles Clippers hope to have the playmaker in uniform tonight against Portland.

General manager Carl Scheer called Coach Don Chaney at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday to tell him the Clippers had matched the revised offer sheet Nixon signed with the Seattle SuperSonics.

Twelve hours later, Chaney sat in the visitor's locker room at the Forum, explaining how his beleaguered team could have used the playmaker in a 122-107 loss to the NBA champion Lakers. The defeat was the Clippers' seventh straight.

Drugs: Bell, 30 Others Indicted

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Police Chief Richard LaMunyon says the indictment of 31 people, including Kansas City Chiefs defensive end Bobby Bell and two former pro football players, should send a message to area drug dealers.

A $1 million, year-long investigation into illegal drug activity resulted Wednesday in the 48-count indictment issued by a Wichita federal grand jury.

U.S. Attorney Benjamin Burgess Jr., at a news conference Wednesday, said the indictments stemmed from a major drug probe conducted by local, state and federal authorities. Wichita was one of eight cities the federal government targeted for investigation, he said.

Carroll Remains Hospitalized

BRADENTON (UPI) — Former major league pitcher Clay Carroll remained hospitalized today with wounds suffered in a Saturday night shooting that killed his wife and son.

Carroll, 43, was shot in the face during a family argument, his wife Frances Carroll, 57, was killed instantly with the gunshot wound to the head, and Brett Carroll, 11, died Tuesday night.

State Brings Out Camaraderie

Chris Fister
CROSS COUNTRY

With approximately 125 teams represented and around 900 runners competing, the state meet is like the Woodstock of cross country.

Add to that, around 125 or more coaches, a bunch of officials and fans, and you've got around 3,000 or 4,000 people at one time or another gathered for the final meet of the 1985 season.

This Saturday, the DeLand Airport will once again be the site of the State Cross Country Championships. Admission to the meet is $4. The time schedule for this year's meet is as follows:

Girls 2A starts off the meet at 8 a.m., followed by boys 2A at 8:30. Girls 1A starts at 9:00 followed by boys 1A at 9:30. Girls 4A begins at 10 followed by boys 4A at 10:30. The meet concludes with girls 3A at 11:00 a.m., and boys 3A at 11:30.

The time schedule was changed this season from 45 minutes between races to 30 and that has chopped some two hours off the meet. It also means the latter races won't be run in the heat of the afternoon.

Because so many teams and runners from around the state will be on hand, the state meet is unlike any other.

Many of the teams will arrive at the airport early Saturday morning, pitch a tent, and make a day of it. New friendships will be formed, as well as new rivalries.

You'll see someone from Jacksonville talking to a runner from Miami like they had known each other for years. There seems to be a special camaraderie among cross country athletes that makes the sport different than any other.

For instance, runners from different schools who aren't in the same race Saturday and who may not ever know each other outside of cross country, will be pulling for each other. One example of the special camaraderie was at the 4A-5 District meet. After Winter Park's Kim Bovis had won the individual girls title, she stuck around for the boys meet and cheered on Seminole High's Billy Penick, who won the individual crown in that race.

When the races begin, the friendships between competitors come to an end. But, when it's over, you'll see the winner shaking hands with those who follow. Or, some of the exhausted runners can be seen leaning on others' backs in the chute. And, the runner who's being leaned on doesn't mind because he or she has probably done the leaning before.

The day starts out at 8 a.m., and, when the final race is over, the DeLand Airport will become an airport again around 1 p.m. But, for those who were there inbetween, it was the realization of a goal that every cross country runner strives for. And, in many ways, it wasn't just a competition but a festival.

Meet Director John Boyle said he is doing everything possible to make the state meet successful and better than the DeLand Invitational earlier this season.

A lot of coaches did not like the course at the DeLand Invitational and some said it was too hazardous for high school runners. One of the biggest hazards was in the girls meet where a big pack of girls got caught in one narrow down area. The area consisted of a bridge made of two boards that went over a gully. Coaches said that the way the course was marked, the girls had to go over the boards and, when the pack hit it, it slowed them down almost to a standstill.

"I went out and looked at the course after we finished running at DeLand," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said. "And I stated the things that really had to be changed for the state meet. One of things was the scoring system and there were some safety hazards involved. My understanding is he (Boyle) has corrected them."

Coaches are hoping the weather will be fair the prior to and on race day. When it rains, the DeLand course gets extremely sloppy.

"It's rained almost every year so you have to assume it will rain again," Hammontree said. "And you should base your changes on that fact. To run the girls where they ran at the DeLand Invitational is a hazard. It was nothing but mud."

Another thing DeLand is doing is using the computerized scoring system that Seminole County meets use.

Michigan Is Choice For No. 1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan, nearly eliminated by Fairleigh Dickinson in last year's NCAA Tournament, is United Press International's No. 1 preseason college basketball team.

The Wolverines return all their starters plus a recruiting class deemed one of the nation's best.

Michigan was rocked by Fairleigh Dickinson of New Jersey in the tournament's opening round, trailing by 10 in the second half before escaping with a 59-55 victory.

The UPI Board of Coaches awarded Michigan 19 first-place votes for 586 points in a close decision over Georgia Tech. The Yellow Jackets were No. 2 with 12 first-place votes and 556 points.

The two teams will be tested early when they meet Nov. 30 in the Hall of Fame game at Springfield, Mass.

No. 3 went to North Carolina with 9 first-place votes and 529 points. No. 4 was Kansas with 368 points while No. 5 fell to Duke with 1 first-place vote and 365 points.

Completing the Top 10 were No. 6 Syracuse, No. 7 Illinois, No. 8 Georgetown, No. 9 Louisiana State and No. 10 Louisville.

Rollins Banks On Howell, Brantley Talent

Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The Rollins College Lady Tars are looking to improve on last season's 12-15 record and, if they do, a lot of the thanks will go to Lake Howell and Lake Brantley high schools.

The Lady Tars will rely heavily on three players from Lake Howell and a pair from Lake Brantley in the 1985-86 season. Rollins opens the season Saturday at Armstrong State (Ga.) University. The first home game for the Lady Tars will be Tuesday, Nov. 26 against Monmouth (Ill.) College. Game time Tuesday is 7:30 p.m., at Rollins' Enyart Alumni Field House.

The leading returning player for Rollins is junior guard Cindy

WEEKEND FORECAST — Dell Abernathy, from Osceola Bridge Fish Camp, reports that bass fishing is slowly improving with the water level in the St. Johns River dropping. Bass over six pounds were weighed in last week. Lake Meares is still a sure bet for speckled perch action. Harold and Mary Meslin caught over a two hundred speckled perch over a 10 day period from Lake Monroe. They were fishing about 8 1/2 feet deep in 9 1/2 feet of water with Missouri minnows. Big sunshine bass have been schooling early in the morning near marker 7, which is close to the Osceola Bridge Fish Camp. One local angler has recently weighed in several sunshine bass from three to over five pounds. He caught these fish on ultra-light spin tackle and small lures.

Ricky Rollins from Highland Park Fish Camp said that action from bass and speckled perch has been slow all week due to warm weather. He is looking forward to better fishing with dropping water levels and cooler weather.

Action with snook and redfish is still good at Sebastian Inlet. Some of the best snook fishing has been from the jetties. Redfish are being caught from the jetties to well below the bridge. Large live shrimp, live mullet, bucktail jigs, or large diving plugs are the most effective offerings. The best catches are being made at night.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore fishing has been spotty. Scattered sailfin and king mackerel have been caught in 115-130 feet of water. Large cobia are still being caught in the buoy line, and tripletali are also fairly plentiful under the buoys. Spanish mackerel are also being caught in the buoy line and at the mouth of the port. Bluefish, flounder, and redfish are being caught inside the port and around the jetties.

Action in the Banana and Indian Rivers has been slow all week for redfish and trout. For decent trout action, try plugging the spoil islands on either side of State Road 328.

Action has been fairly consistent around the jetties of New Smyrna. Some nice bluefish have been caught by anglers casting large flooding plugs near the rocks on the north side of the north jetties. Redfish, drum, and sheepshead are being caught in decent numbers from around the jetties with live shrimp.

Elliott Joins Idols As Driver Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Elliott joined his auto racing idols in the Driver of the Year category.

Elliott Wednesday was a unanimous choice of a 10-man panel of writers as top driver of 1985 despite losing the stock car title to Darrell Waltrip in the final race of the season.

The select list Elliott joins is a Who's Who of auto racing — Mario Andretti, A.J. Foyt, Bobby and Al Unser, Johnny Rutherford and the late Mark Donohue in Indy car competition and NASCAR's Waltrip, Bobby Allison, Richard Petty, Cale Yarborough and the late Lee Roy Yarborough.

Elliott will receive a $10,000 check and the Eljer Driver of the Year trophy at a luncheon in New York on Dec. 6.

The 30-year-old Elliott always displayed surprise upon winning a race — and he won a record 11 this year. His was an attitude of "Is this really me in Victory Lane?" This modesty attracted a fan following and made him a popular interview target by the media. His track rivals admired him enough to name him the most popular driver of 1984, a year when he won three races and became an acknowledged threat to the Grand National title.

"Winning the Eljer Award means a great deal to me," Elliott said Wednesday from a Colorado vacation retreat. Mario Andretti is the only other driver to gain unanimous acclaim from the writers.

"It sends chills down my spine to be in the same category as Mario Andretti and the other drivers who have won the award. It's hard for me to imagine being in the same league as those great drivers."

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Renee Johnson, Aaron Keith

Renee Marie Johnson and Aaron O. Keith were married at 7:00 p.m. Aug. 10 at the Police Benevolent Building, Sanford. Pastor Daniel Coy was the officiating clergyman for the double ring candle light ceremony, assisted by Judy Long. At the beginning of the ceremony, the bride gave her mother and the bridegroom's mother a long stemmed, red rose.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Walters of St. Paul, Minn. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Keith of 205 E. 18th St., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her son, Robert, the bride chose for her vows a gown of chantilly lace over satin. The form-fitted bodice featured a square lace neckline with seed pearls and lace sleeves which ended in points over her hands. The full skirt gently flowed into a full chapel train. The V-neck back closed at the waist with satin covered buttons. Appliqued sequins accented the dress from waist to hem, which was highlighted by a lace border framing the full skirt. A band of satin and lace with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of pink roses with baby's breath.

Margie Davidson attended the bride as matron of honor. Shawn, daughter of the matron of honor, attended the bride as maid of honor. Each wore a V-neck gown of sheer over satin. The fitted bodice flowed into a full skirt. The back draped in an upward fashion to give a layered ruffle effect.

Bridesmaids were Gail Worsley and Kim Long. Their gowns were similar to the honor attendants. All attendants wore headpieces of rosebud combs with baby's breath, matching the color of their dresses. The bridesmaids flowers were daisies and roses with matching streamers.

The mother of the bride wore a lilac and beige street length dress. The mother of the groom wore a mint green street length dress with gold accents. Each had matching corsages.

David Lowe of Sanford attended the bridegroom as best man. Usher was Joe Hartle and groomsmen were Dale Long, Tommy Keith and Rick Bradley. Joetta Campbell was the flower girl and carried a basket of rose petals.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Police Benevolent Building. Mrs. Dottie Bernowsky coordinated the reception. Beth Outlaw kept the guest book and Bobby Worsley served punch.

The bride and groom are making their home at 2533 Georgia Ave., Sanford. The bride is employed by the Seminole County School Board and the bridegroom is an officer (PFC) with the Sanford Police Dept.

'Christian' Raid Broke Legal Commandments

DEAR ABBY: I wish you had gone a bit further in your criticism of the terrorist raid on the children's camp reported by "Angry in Richfield, Minn."

First, there is a criminal matter. Two men displayed guns, apparently threateningly. This is (in California, at least) a crime—brandishing a firearm. Children were shoved and cuffed. This is battery. The threat with a loaded gun is assault. Subjecting children to assault and battery is child abuse. Two girls were taken from the others and shots were fired. This is kidnapping. Not allowing the other children to leave is false imprisonment. Some children did escape and left the area unsupervised. This, given the responsibility of the camp, which staged this farce, is child endangerment. The fact that it was planned makes the entry of the armed men into the children's sleeping quarters burglary. There may be others, but I count eight crimes for certain.

The second point is one of civil law. Since the father was "surprised," I assume neither his prior assent nor that of his child was attained. If that's the case, he and his child have direct cause for civil action against each of the "terrorists," the camp director, the camp itself, and the church that sponsored the event for each of the crimes listed, even if the district attorney doesn't bring criminal charges.

Third, the lesson the children will learn from this episode: it is all right to engage in criminal behavior and terrorism in the name of Christianity. I really doubt that this is what Christ had in mind, and I can find no scriptural justification for such an attitude, though there are many Scriptures that seem to argue to the contrary.

I realize that this letter is long but, if you print it, it might encourage other "Christians" to think again before they do something similar. Sign me.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

DEAR ABBY: Please print the enclosed item from your column. I used this idea and it worked wonders.

"Dear Agnes: Now that it's almost Thanksgiving, I'm thankful for relatives like you with whom I can be perfectly frank!

"For years our families have been exchanging Christmas gifts. At first they were modest little toys for the kids, and some inexpensive doodad for the grown-ups. Somehow, it got out of hand, and every year the gifts became more costly.

"Let's face it, the spending, shopping, gift-wrapping and delivering have become a chore, so let's knock off buying presents for the adults, and just send gifts to the youngsters this Christmas. I will if you will, OK?"

"This idea isn't original. I got it from Dear Abby's column. It makes a lot of sense, doesn't it? Love, Your Cousin Sue"

DEAR ABBY: With reference to the people whose uncurtained bathroom window caused their neighbors much concern: I read somewhere about a family that built a new home and ordered a floor-to-ceiling one-way glass window for their bathroom. Well, they found out much later that it had been installed wrong-side out!

MARY F. COLE, HOUSTON

(Every teen-ager should know the truth about sex, drugs and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.)

DEAR ABBY: Next year my husband and I will celebrate our 10th wedding anniversary. We never had much of a wedding the first time. We were married by the mayor in a five-minute ceremony at the courthouse.

For our 10th anniversary, we want to renew our vows at a big church wedding with our children — ages 7 and 9 — in the bridal party.

I never had a wedding gown, so I want to wear a white, antique lace dress, but my mom and mom-in-law say I can't wear white because white stands for purity, and I am no longer a virgin.

Is that true? And do you think I'm being foolish to try to make up for something I missed years ago?

PAT M. IN BRICK, N.J.

DEAR PAT: With all due respect to your mom and your mom-in-law, a white wedding gown does not — and never did — stand for "purity." In renewing your vows, you are entitled to have any kind of celebration you desire. Go for it!

DEAR ABBY: My stepdaughter, with whom I have always had a good relationship, married recently in a small ceremony (no family members present).

My husband (her father) suggested that we send printed announcements of her marriage. She agreed and suggested this format, which I find unacceptable:

Mr. John Johnson and Mrs. Johnson (in loving memory) announce the marriage of their daughter, "Alicee" etc.

Abby, Alicee's mother died three years ago, and although I understand her wish to remember her mother, I am "Mrs. Johnson," and I would be extremely offended by the above form.

I think the following form should be used:

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson announce the marriage of his daughter, "Alicee" etc.

Would you advise me to convey my feelings to Alicee? Should I ask my husband to do it? Or should I just let it go?

OFFENDED IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR OFFENDED: Although your stepdaughter is to be commended for wanting to remember her mother at this time, this is not the way to do it. Ask your husband to tell Alicee. The form that you prefer is proper. The other is not.

SCC Choral Groups To Perform Fall Concert

Seminole Community College announces a Fall Concert of choral music to be held in the Fine Arts Concert Hall on the college campus on Sunday, Nov. 24, at three o'clock. The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge.

Four choral organizations at the college will perform on the concert program. The S. C. C. Chorale, a chamber group, will perform a varied repertoire including seasonal sacred music and Renaissance madrigals.

The Chorallers will include music from the Broadway stage as well as a favorite folk spiritual, "Set Down Servant".

Soloists will be Jason Hoag and James Wright, Jr.

A highlight of this concert will be the presentation of Franz Schubert's "Mass in G" by the S. C. C. Community Chorus. Soloists for this major work will be Melba Daniel, Gracia Miller, Jeffrey Bauder, Patricia Meredith, Preston Greene, and Lanier Noles. The Community Choristers will sing several holiday numbers and Cole Porter's "In the Still of the Night."

Dr. Burt Perinichief is Director of Choral Activities at Seminole Community College and Robin Lee Parker is staff accompanist.

Colors Update Fashion Gifts For Men

By Florence De Santis
 Knits in fashion colors and patterns put sweaters at the top of the list for men's gifts this year. According to Alexander Julian, winner of the Outstanding U.S. Designer title in this year's Catty Sark Men's Fashion Awards, sweaters have moved from the traditional to a variety of new ideas.

In Julian's own "Colours" collection, the cardigan makes news in shades of soft violet, with wide stripes of magenta, sapphire and rose. A deep violet cardigan is sparked with stripes of fuchsia, sky blue, moss green and brown.

Multicolored striping also appears on many pullovers for men, such as Countess Mara's white cotton knit with a deep yoke in navy and thin, spaced stripes in blue and tan.

France's Yves St. Laurent, winner of the Career Achievement Award, points out that dress shirts are also much more exciting gifts than they used to be. "Collars take the spotlight, often with longer points and closer spread for elegance," he says.

As with sweaters, stripes have become quite bold. Geoffrey Beene's charcoal gray shirt for Van Heusen is pencil-striped in white. Its white collar is held beneath the tie by a gold collar pin to emphasize that the new striped shirts aren't sport shirts.

Sportswear, however, continues to offer the widest number of gift possibilities, as noted by Gianfranco Ruffini, voted Outstanding Sportswear Designer. "Texture and color, especially in knitwear, make coordination possible with shirts. Buy a sweater oversized. If it's in a good yarn, like cashmere, it will drape well."

In the Countess Mara collection, sweaters come with coordinated shirts. The Jack Nicklaus group at Hathaway features a polo shirt with a tailored rather than soft collar so it looks sharp above a coordinated knit vest. A red vest striped in yellow, blue and taupe goes with a yellow shirt.

Warm jackets combine function with fashion. At Trappings, panels of paddle-washed duck and corduroy section off a batwing, fleece-lined jacket, ribbed at wrists and waist. Similar panels make double lapels on an elasticized, side-zipped style. Colorful ski-styled jackets in the Golden Fleece collection, with Vclero closings and Thinsulate insulation will please younger men.

At this time of year, fragrance creators often introduce new scents to interest gift givers. At Avon, they've moved from traditional citrus-based men's colognes to a lavender fougere blend, called Aurea to indicate its more European tone. Caron has brought out the third in its series of men's fragrances, calling it Le SEME De Caron — The Third Man — a blend of wood, moss, spice and floral tones. A man who's been a fan of Polo might well enjoy trying Ralph Lauren's new cologne, Monogram.

Many men's fragrances come packaged with a gift, such as the leather key case in the after-shave and cologne duo of English Leather. Those seeking small but unusual gifts might want to look at collection of accessories made by makers of sport cars under their names. A hi-tech group by Porsche Design will please men who appreciate such new ideas as titanium sport watches.

"Wage Peace", a fireside discussion on the need for immediate world peace, sponsored by the Baha'is of Seminole County, will be held on Saturday, Nov. 23 at 8 p.m. at 206 Lake Gene Drive, Longwood. The public is invited. For further information, please call 323-2620 or 1-800-59 BAHAI (1-800-592-2424).

In A Sea Of Fashion

Brazilian Designs Create Waves

By GERRI SMITH

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — Once accused of being fashion copycats, Brazilian designers are creating their own fashion waves these days in a billion-dollar export industry that is sending tropics-inspired fashion to Europe and the United States.

In the past five years, exports of Brazilian shoes, lingerie, bathing suits, sportswear and formal wear have more than doubled, from about $500 million in 1980 to more than $1.2 billion in 1984.

Jewelry designers exported another $19 million in high-fashion silver and gold jewelry and nearly $1 million in avant-garde costume jewelry inspired in part by the fantastic costumes of Brazil's colorful annual carnival.

Brazil's top designers say the time is right to capitalize on the country's low labor costs, creative stylists and colorful fabrics to make major inroads in international fashion.

"I consider Rio to be the world capital for 'sun' fashion," said prize winning designer Gregorio Faganello, 40, recently named as Brazil's best women's ready-to-wear designer of the year.

"Five years ago, the French considered Brazil to be copiers of their designs, but since then we have made incredible leaps," he said. "I have a real feeling that the international market is much more aware of us now, and we are invading many regions — especially the United States."

In mid-January, more than 40 Brazilian designers will show their creations at Club A in New York at a show organized by businessman Ricardo Amaral to promote the country's fashion industry.

"Our aim is double: to present buyers with Brazilian fashion, and to present Brazil as a new alternative for producers who would like to manufacture here," said Amaral, who owns Club A.

"It's absurd, when you think about it, that the linen we produce here is flown to Hong Kong to be transformed into blazers that later are exported to the United States — we are going to propose that everything be done right here in Brazil," he said.

Brazil's textile and fashion industry has many things going for it: the country is a significant exporter of silk; its linen is of excellent quality; and few countries — perhaps only Italy — can match its colorful, creative cotton and Lycra prints.

Labor is so cheap — the average seamstress makes only 30 to 50 cents an hour — that many American and European manufacturers are licensing Brazilian factories to produce bathing suits, jeans and sportswear.

"For all these reasons, Brazil is a favorable place to manufacture," Faganello said. "And with Hong Kong returning to control of communist China at the end of the century, Brazil becomes even more attractive as an inexpensive place to produce high-quality clothing."

Brazil's emergence on the clothing export scene came in 1982, when the country nearly defaulted on its foreign debt payments. The government drastically slashed imports and launched an ambitious campaign to boost exports.

Wooed by tax incentives and special export credits — that have since lapsed — clothing manufacturers, their local sales stymied by a recession in Brazil, needed no further convincing to go into exports.

Eugenio Ferreira, export manager for the popular Ellus sportswear and jeans line, said his company's exports have grown 15 percent to 20 percent a year since 1982. Ellus' exports sales, mostly to the United States, totaled $2 million in 1984.

"Brazil has established its own fashion personality," Ferreira said. "The secret in our export boom is that the products are of high quality and the styles are very original, fun and tropical."

A stroll along Rio de Janeiro's posh beaches and a visit to its glittering night spots provide ample proof that Brazilians are quick to adopt new, audacious fashions and colors — the more exuberant the better.

Now that spring has arrived in the southern hemisphere, Brazilians are wearing fashions that won't grace American and European bodies until June of 1986. Clothing companies send representatives to the European fashion shows, take note of major trends and colors, and then come home to develop uniquely Brazilian styles, which they then export.

"There's something about the way they put the ideas together — they take a normal design and somehow make it more fashionable than in the states," said Lynne Crawford Robinson, 30, who worked as a buyer for Macy's and for Bloomingdale's before moving to Rio three years ago.

Designer Biza Vianna, recently named "revelation of the year" at Brazil's biggest fashion awards show, said Brazilian designers have contributed many unique touches to international fashion.

"Brazilians have made many important statements concerning texture and color that have influenced international designers," Vianna said, showing one of the sheer, lace-patterned fabrics that she is using for extra-long blouses this season.

"It would be a mistake to ignore Brazil's fashion trends, especially considering the worldwide trend toward more informal and fantasy looks."

Eager to capitalize on large markets interested in Brazil's tropical fashion trends, clothing manufacturers and designers are opening dozens of new showrooms in New York and Miami.

Kickapoos Surrender; Become New Citizens

EAGLE PASS, Texas (UPI) — Poverty and disease are forcing a renegade band of Kickapoo Indians who have roamed North America for nearly two centuries to become U.S. citizens, qualifying them for sorely needed public welfare.

At a ceremony near the Mexico border today, 140 members of the tribe were scheduled to take their oaths and receive citizenship.

A tribal spokeswoman said recently forced to become impoverished, but proud Kickapoos to become citizens, enabling them to become eligible for state and federal welfare programs. She said they still intend to hold onto their traditional religion and customs.

"The thing was so messed up years ago that even the ones born here (in the United States) had no paperwork," said spokeswoman Nakal Breen. "They had to have [citizenship] certificates to get state or federal aid."

Until now, the Kickapoos have used cards stamped "citizenship pending" to travel to and from holy grounds granted to them at Nacimfento, Mexico, by the late Mexican President, Benito Juarez.

The Indians — whose ancestors gathered and hunted through present-day Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois until they were displaced by white settlers in the early 1800s — have made their home for decades in a village of cardboard wickiups beneath an expressway bridge to Piedras Negras, Mexico.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs refused them any aid because they would not return to the main Kickapoo reservation in Oklahoma.

Leaders of the group, which numbers 650 members in Texas and Mexico, have steadfastly resisted attempts to convert them to Christianity, educate their children or interfere with tribal privacy and customs.

The Kickapoos, whose per capita income is less than $2,000 a year for picking apples and doing other farmwork in Wyoming, Utah, the Dakotas and Colorado, still speak their Algonquin dialect and live much as they did in the Great Lakes area at the time of George Washington, said Breen. Few speak English, although several members can communicate in Spanish.

A 1983 congressional act sponsored by former Rep. Abraham Kazen, D-Texas, authorized the group to purchase a 125-acre plot of land earlier this year and made members eligible for Bureau of Indian Affairs trusts.

Land Acquisition Committee raised more than $300,000 to purchase the land, with the help of a fundraiser put on by entertainer Connie Stevens, and a contribution from the Kennedy Foundation administered by Catholic Bishop Rene Graida of Corpus Christi, Texas.

Breen said the tribe was struggling against disease, malnutrition and a high mortality rate when Kazen became interested in their plight in 1980.

Rest Can Help Back Problems

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My wife has something wrong with the muscles in her back. Her doctor has ordered her to stay in bed. I think maybe if she would get out in the sun, it would help her back. What do you think?

DEAR READER — The sun may feel good on your wife's back, but it is unlikely to affect the deep muscles. Neither does Ben-Gay or any other liniment. After trying a period of rest, your wife will need back X-rays to make sure she does not have a problem, like osteoporosis, with her spinal bones. If her problem is truly muscular, she may be helped by massage, hot packs, ultrasound, chiropractic, pain medication or a full course of physiotherapy. She should try the bed rest for a week, then move on to other options as indicated. Perhaps the bed is contributing to her back problems.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had sinus trouble since I was a teenager and I will be 70 next birthday, providing the good Lord spares me. My nose runs frequently, and especially when I eat. I asked my doctor, but didn't get any help. I think this is rather strange. Can you shed some light on the subject?

DEAR READER — Your long history of sinus trouble is probably a manifestation of allergy, a form of hay fever. There are many antihistamines now available without a prescription. I suggest you ask your doctor to recommend several; try each until you find out which agrees with you and controls your symptoms. I think you should first ask your doctor, because at the age of 70, you may have some condition — such as high blood pressure or heart trouble — that would rule out a specific remedy.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband is 67. He has a spur on the bottom of his foot. He refuses to take any calcium, saying this has brought on the spur. I feel that, at his age, he needs calcium for his bones. Who is right?

DEAR READER — You are right. Bone spurs are not produced by dietary calcium. They appear with age in some people, through no fault of their own.

Your husband might be aided by cortisone injections administered by an orthopedic surgeon. An operation to remove the spur would be curative. Meanwhile, calcium supplements — in the form of milk or pills — are appropriate for a man of 67.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

At this moment, Chip Martel is vying in the World Championships in Sao Paulo, Brazil, as part of the United States team. Here is a sample of his handwork when he was a member of the winning Grand National team in Las Vegas.

When his partner raised diamonds, Chip selected what he felt would be the safest game contract. Spades were led and continued, ruffed by declarer. Now the natural inclination — to draw trumps — must be avoided. If not, the unfriendly defenders will win the first club and continue spades, forcing South to ruff with his last trump before the club suit is set up.

Chip Martel had the answer. Without touching hearts, he played a club. East won the queen and returned a trump. Now declarer could pull the opposing trumps and play a second club. He made six heart tricks, the diamond ace and three club tricks for his contract. Best defense would be for East to switch to a low diamond after winning the club queen. Chip Martel told me that he would play low, forcing the king from West and then pick up the jack from East by leading dummy's 10 before drawing all the trumps. After his many national team championships, I believe him. Now let's hope he has made believers out of his international opponents in Brazil this week.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 23, 1985

In the year ahead, you will figure out ways to breathe fresh life into ventures that you were considering writing off. What didn't work before will work now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Material conditions look extremely favorable for you today. Be alert for ways to increase your earnings and holdings. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. Mail 82 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Enterprises or projects that you originate or personally control can be advanced in a beneficial manner today. Get things moving without waiting on others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something that could turn out to be materially fortunate for you is now stirring behind the scenes. It's in an area where you were lucky previously.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're now in a cycle where friends can play helpful roles in your personal affairs. Go to pals first if you're in need of a favor.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Things that seem to be too difficult for others to accomplish can be achieved by you today. This will be especially true in matters relating to your career.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Fresh ambitions may be awakened in you today for something that will bring future rewards. Begin to program the event as of now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to be both protective and ethical in your commercial dealings today. Treat the other guy fairly, but also guard your own interests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might not be able to accomplish what you want to do on your own today, but it can be achieved with the assistance of competent associates. Seek constructive alliances.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) If you set an industrious example today, it will encourage those who labor at your side to also be more productive. Use action, not words.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The key to success today is to commit yourself totally to the activity in which you're involved, regardless of whether it's a pleasurable pursuit or a tedious task.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Everything should begin to fall into place today pertaining to an important matter you've been anxious to conclude. Wrap it up now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't worry about things today that may never happen. Instead, do what needs to be done with a positive attitude. Visualize victory.
