City Captures Beautification Honors

City of Sanford today was awarded top honors (in its class) in the Municipal Beautification Competition for 1967. The contest is held annually statewide by the Florida Association of Landscape Architects.

Scenic Improvement Board of Sanford entered Sanford's new multi-million-dollar Holiday Isle complex in the state contest. The City was named winner today for cities in the 15-25,000 population class.

It now will be judged among other class winners for overall winner.

In a letter to Sid Vihlen Jr., chairman of the Scenic Improvement Board, Mrs. Alice Smart, director of information for FALA, said that competition was keen state-wide but that Sanford presented an outstanding project that was well compiled. She said the new lakefront complex in Sanford represented one of the most advanced beautification and recreation projects carried on in the state for several years.

Charles R. Wedding, president of the Florida Association of Landscape Architects, will present the award to Vihlen and James Jernigan, city parks and recreation director, in Hollywood on May 17 at the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs' annual state convention.

On behalf of the Scenic Improvement Board of Sanford and the city, Vihlen said that Sanford residents should feel honored that their city has received this recognition and that the lakefront complex should be just the beginning project in the redevelopment of the greater Sanford area.

Sanford long has been seeking a "gimmick" to bring tourists dollars to the area. While thousands of out-of-towners visit the Sanford zoo, somehow it hasn't caught the imagination of the local promoters... or else we would have a grand facility already up and going along the lakefront. Now there is another "grand show" developing in our own backyard and some civic-minded group should get behind it and push it for all it is worth... and that is the Seminole Junior College Circus. Makes its debut here next week. Look what the FBI Circus has done for Tallahassee, publicity-wise.

Just about the last call... Sportsman's Club having a family night steak supper Saturday at its park on West 46 at the Wekiva River. Proceeds for the benefit of conservation.

Look for Jimmy Crappe to jump into the Democratic race for county commissioner, district 1.

A minister in a local church has warned his congregation not to be surprised if for the next few weeks he concludes his sermons by saying: "And, now, brethren, let us give in accordance with what we reported on Form 1040."

Ten-year-old Ricky Buss of English Estates had a dream come true Tuesday when he served as bat boy for the New York Yankees at Tinker Field in Orlando. A fan of the Yankees through their "ups and downs," Ricky is quite a baseball player himself with the Casselberry Major League Team and with the YMCA Gra-Ye. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Buss, 1234 Stratford Road.

Each city in our country will have an opportunity to "light the way" into town. That is, they will if the funds for material for the "white ways" may be gotten from the secondary road funds.

Oh yes, there's another IF on that. It will require acceptance by the County Commissioners of the favorable report made by their investigative committee, Fitzpatrick, Swoford and Parkers.

All the city must do to "get in the act" is furnish the labor to install the poles — and the EIGHTS, of course! — maintain them — and pay the modest charge for current.

President James McIntosh of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce convincingly will tell you that this is the "best deal" for municipal identification, highway safety and civic pride welcome to visitors that the city and, of course, the county can provide.

Or the "era of revolt." When dictatorship or autocracy (no matter by what name) finds its constituents vocally and vigorously resenting the "accepted procedures," the objectors are called names. Like "violators of principle" or "formulators of dissent." And you'll probably be hearing more of this as the year goes on.

Rabbit Reveals Need For Dog Leash Law

What can a citizen do about a nuisance neighbor who destroys property and maims pets in Seminole County?

Mrs. Molly Royston, of Oakland Shores, put the question to the Board of County Commissioners late Tuesday afternoon.

She was promptly told by Commission Chairman John Alexander that the county has no leash law, in fact, he would oppose such a law if it were proposed.

Mrs. Royston told a story of a dog in her neighborhood that has been so vicious it has been muzzled and yet it continues to harass children and other pets with apparent approval of its owner.

"On Monday even though it was muzzled it came into my fenced yard and maimed my pet rabbit, probably for life," she declared. "Where do I turn for help?"

She said she had spoken with Peace Justice Thomas Lovett and Constable Grady Hall and was informed a warrant would be issued against the dog's owner only if her pet rabbit died.

"If I can get help from no one, I know what I can do," Mrs. Royston stated. "I can take the matter into my own hands and put poison in my yard."

Meanwhile, Sheriff Peter Millot told The Herald today that his office recently has received a rash of complaints about roaming and possibly dangerous dogs which some times travel in packs.

"This department is restricted by law, in the action we can take against these dogs and their owners," Millot said. "There is not a leash law in Seminole County. Dogs that are properly licensed and tagged are free to roam, unless they have been declared to be vicious."

Val Robbins, Seminole County animal welfare officer, is the county officer who is actually in charge of the control of dogs. He and his men will handle dog bite cases directly. When a dog has bitten is caught, it can be confined for 10 days, either at the home of the owner, or at a veterinarian's. It must then be turned loose, unless declared vicious. Dogs that are found roaming, that are not properly licensed and tagged, can be captured and turned over to the Humane Society after Robbins has been given an opportunity to issue a pick-up order.

Statistics reveal where sale prices are reduced to what a majority of students can afford, participation in school lunch service increases substantially.

Mrs. Charlotte Whitmore, school lunch director, stated that with participation in the PEER program, it is hoped that student participation at 80 per cent.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WEEK is being observed nationally... and so today presidents (past and present) of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce gathered for The Herald photographer. From the left, seated: DeWitt T. Matthews Jr., 1967; Cliff McKibbin, 1957-8; Kenneth W. McIntosh, current; Karyl Housholder, 1964; standing: C. Vernon Mize Jr., 1956; B. L. Perkins Jr., 1960; John Krider, manager; Richard Deas, 1962; Francis Roumillat III, 1963; and Mack N. Cleveland Jr., 1959.

Auto Inspection Rules Outlined

Some 40,000 Seminole County motorists will begin having their motor vehicles inspected in compliance with state law on June 1 at the two county inspection stations to be located in Sanford and South Seminole.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper P. W. Harris, with the motor vehicle section for Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties, reported some of the little known requirements of the law today.

Trooper Harris said horns, windshield wipers, brakes, parking brakes, tail lights, directional signals, stop lights, license plate lights, headlights, steering mechanisms including ball joints, and tires will be thoroughly checked during the inspection of autos. Trucks and buses will be given the same going over in addition to reflectors and clearance lamps being checked.

"The primary purpose of the law which requires the inspections is for safety," Harris said. At the same time Seminole's monetary benefits from the inspection fees has been estimated at $50,000 to $80,000 annually.

The law requires semi-annual inspections. Harris said, inspections must take place during the month of June if the last digit in auto license tag is a four or five; in July for six or seven; August for eight or nine; September for 0 or 1 and October for two or three. Vehicles not covered in the above will be inspected in November. Inspections will begin over again in December in the same order.

Cost of the inspection is $1.75 semi-annually with $1.50 of this amount going to the county and the remaining 25 cents to the state.

In the event a vehicle should fail inspection, the motorist will have five days to correct the problem to have his auto reinspected at no charge. If, however, he does not return to the station with the problem corrected during the five days, he will be required to pay the fee again.

Trooper Harris pointed out that any person with five or more vehicles can be designated self-inspectors by making application to Tallahassee. He advised fleet owners to obtain applications for such designation from the Orlando office at 1616 McCrocy Place as soon as possible, or from Tallahassee.

Harris will be working in conjunction with counties in his district during the inspections more or less "inspecting the inspectors" periodically.

Seminole County is one of 12 of the 30 counties in Central Florida area which will be conducting its own inspections. Only two counties in the area which are not handling inspections are Citrus and Sumter.

Preparations are under way for the construction of the north end station for Seminole at 25th and Grandview. The station will be able to handle two lanes of traffic at the same time.

Meanwhile negotiations are still underway for this site for the station to be located in the south end. Property being considered is a site owned by Hubbard Casselberry near the post office.

Buildings to be constructed are metal type structures with brick fronts.

Council In Hornets' Nest

Altamonte Springs City Council Wednesday night found itself with a bee in a hornets' nest.

On the one hand appeared two businesses allegedly operating in a residential district in violation of the zoning ordinance while on the other hand Council was faced with a standing-room-only audience of citizens showing in operation for several months with proper licenses are a dance studio and a beauty salon in the 700 block on Main Avenue in the West Seminole Professional Building.

The name of the persons who originally complained to the board that the businesses were not professions as apparently required by the zoning ordinance for R-2 zoning were not recalled.

Meanwhile, City Attorney Joseph Davis Jr. wanting "to make certain his opinion is a correct one" regarding designation of the enterprises as professions or non-professions requested more time to research the question.

In any event, it seemed highly probable the Council will amend at a future date its zoning ordinance which now permits lodging houses in R-2 zoning while leaving in dispute other permitted uses.

Attorneys appearing on behalf of the two proprietors pointed out considerable money had been spent by their clients in establishing their operations with reliance upon the city's correct issuance of their licenses.

Council also: Adopted on first reading an ordinance giving a natural gas franchise to Florida Gas Company with the utility agreeing to underwrite the cost of legal work in preparing the ordinance.

Heard report from City Engineer William Palm that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved plans and specifications for the proposed sewerage system. Palm further assured the Board the water extensions can be in operation in the next 30 days.

Agreed to notify Bill Reneka on Mainland Avenue that his business in operation is a non-conforming use and the city will not renew his license.

Crooms Hi. In Food Program

Crooms High School has been selected by the State Department of Education and approved by the local School Board to participate in a pilot program for the School Food Service.

Known as PEER (Pilot Experiment Extra Reimbursement), the project provides the sale price of pupil lunches to be reduced from 35 and 25 cents to 25 and 20 cents. The decrease in the sale price is made up by federal funds and released through this pilot program.

Moonship Test Hop Slated Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—Launch crews today rehearsed the complex countdown for America's second Saturn 5 2 1/2 stage rocket, aiming to fire the towering space machine into orbit next Wednesday on a busy mission that could accelerate the nation's march to the moon.

Space Administration spokesmen said preparations were proceeding "on schedule" toward a 7 a.m. (EST) liftoff Wednesday for the 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 and its unmanned Apollo moonship payload.

On a complex flight lasting nearly 10 hours, the super booster is to propel its last stage 230,000 miles into space to simulate a trip to the moon, while dropping off the Apollo moonship into another orbit that will carry that craft to a high point about 110,000 miles above Earth. Recovery ships plan to pluck the cone-shaped capsule from the Pacific Ocean after its parachutes to earth north of Hawaii.

To Our C. of C.

It was in 1793 that a group of New York merchants assembled and formed the first Chamber of Commerce. From that beginning, down the peculiar circumstances which surrounded the covered wagons across the plains, floundered the rivers through the heartland of America and—in short—made him an integral part of the saga of the Republic.

This week, in keeping with the custom of the Chamber, we are observing national "Chamber of Commerce Week." Here in Sanford there is unusual meaning in this observance. For it finds the Chamber County Chamber of Commerce, as usual, on the move.

Chambers of Commerce have, deservedly or not, been tagged as more to be identified with downy, with words than with deeds, and have been short-shrifted by hard-headed observers as "dreamers" whether or not there was anything to be done.

In St. Petersburg, a happy occasion to be able to have a Chamber of Commerce, as one which has been doing the best it can for the last 100 years, and its officers to correct drawbacks, to help in our economy and to let the Chamber be established in accomplishment.

This kind of program is one of action. In making the savory omelets which make us look over the results, there had to be some egg-breaking. It would be foolish to even think that the path has been one of roses. But it has had definite goals, it has pressed towards those goals wherever possible and when those objectives were found to be impractical has chosen other paths to follow towards the same end.

Sanjole countians are well aware of some of the chamber's accomplishments. Certainly the most dramatic is its persistent emphasis on waterfront development which has given our city the marina with all the favorable aspects this provided.

A look at the record will disclose that there are two factors which have produced this enviable record. Most important is the membership. Here can be found 350 leaders in every field of endeavor in the county.

It is a pool of manpower which could not be hired for money but which does stand as experienced, intelligent, wise men who know that the future of each is closely tied with the future of their home city and county and are willing to take part in this continuing co-operative drive.

Then there is the need for one man to assume the presidency each year. These have been quite properly, key figures in our community. Last year there was DeWitt T. Mathews Jr., of the Sanford Atlantic Top-Flight. This year Kenneth W. McIntosh, a top-flight attorney, is president.

Every president has brought his own special talents into use as the main objectives of the chamber—solid growth in every section of the county—in pursuit. Offering his experience and hand to aid the various administrations is the manager of the chamber, John Krider.

This combination of membership talent, presidential leadership and managerial guidance is the intangible on which rests the past record and future accomplishments of our Chamber of Commerce.

While we cannot boast any 200-year's of service for the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce we can and do, say "thanks" for the 50 years local records give to its existence and look forward to even greater steps ahead in the next half-century.

James Marlow Says:

Nixon: The Editor-In-Chief

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

(James Marlow who usually writes this column is in WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless something untoward happens to him on the way to the nomination at the August convention, Richard M. Nixon is likely to become editor-in-chief of the Republican platform. The governors contended publicly they wanted representation of their generally moderate viewpoint in the platform.

Privately they were arguing about Nixon's nomination. They feared it would divert the spotlight in reading that platform to the convention. They feared it would divert the spotlight in reading that platform to the convention. They feared it would divert the spotlight in reading that platform to the convention.

While Nixon has supported use of whatever military force is necessary in Vietnam, he will want an alternative to President Johnson's war course that will give him the opportunity to promote peace if elected.

He will have had part of a hot summer to come up with some suggestion on how to curb and cure the rising in the slums.

Those who now profess that Nixon is too conservative for their tastes may be pleasantly surprised by the results. They have forgotten that in 1960 he was an "Eisenhower" Republican, a label that then meant progressive.

A BRIEF CASE

More Than Gold At Stake

By RAY CROWLEY
NEA Staff Correspondent

BANGOR (NEA) — Spot checks in several Middle East cities, travel in Pakistan, Laos and Thailand, and talks with Indians, Japanese and trade representatives from the half dozen other countries operating in this part of the world make it clear the dollar problem is much more than a run on gold.

The fact is the United States is being undersold on the world market because U.S. products are too high in price, because foreign companies and their subsidiaries are more adaptable in what they will give in return for customer requirements and because in many cases U.S. products are far too sophisticated, considering the rate of economic development and education.

If one reads the statistics, U.S. exports are doing quite well. We export more than we import. But when one adds in foreign aid, the cost of the Vietnam war and other military commitments and other foreign exchange "invisibles," then it is clear the United States must either cut back its military commitments or, if it is to remain a major power, export a great deal more or lower the standard of living of its people.

The remedies the U.S. government has so far proposed are not enough.

Talks with U.S. businessmen with wide experience abroad make it clear that if we are to maintain our high wages and living standards, U.S. industry must automate and computerize operations at a rate much greater and on a wider scale than in the past.

Certain sections of American business have done quite well in the past few years. Much of U.S. industry has computerized operations at a much more rapid rate than in Britain or Europe. But that's not the point. So long as the U.S. government carries a much heavier aid-military burden than our competitors and maintains a higher standard of living, we must make up for these costs by an extensive overhaul of our production.

The new equipment is available, in production or on the drawing boards, which could revolutionize operators and cut

Political Notebook

Crane's Worry Clinic:

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case F-528: Alan K., aged 5, probes his father unmercifully.

"Dr. Crane," Alan's daddy began, "I come home from the office tired and hopeful of a little rest before dinner."

"So I sit down with my newspaper to read."

"Well, as soon as Alan knows I am in the house, he rushes to greet me, which is fine."

"But then he keeps pestering me with incessant barrage of questions of the Who-What-Where-Why-How-When variety."

"He may ask how I feel, how I am walking on the ceiling or why dogs can't climb trees or where the sun goes at night."

"In fact, he can stump me with some of his queries, for I don't know the answers, nor has any scientist even offered an explanation for some of his questions."

"But I realize that a good parent should encourage his son's mental development, so how can I do it with the minimum of strain on my own weary brain?"

"First, be grateful when a child is full of questions! For that indicates a fertile brain and a high I.Q., plus a lot of vitality."

"Frequently kiddies don't raise many queries."

"And when a child is scrupulously ill, it then becomes quiet. That is a dangerous sign in medicine!"

"For the act of thinking, and then of phrasing a question, takes energy."

"Even idle conversation does grovel me, which is fine."

"But then he keeps pestering me with incessant barrage of questions of the Who-What-Where-Why-How-When variety."

BERRY'S WORLD

Keep The Questions Coming

Hal Boyle Says:

Beware A Hangdog American

It is hard today to name a thing that doesn't afflict the typical American with a sense of being in the wrong.

If he is over 40, he feels guilty because he isn't younger.

If he has children and can't give them everything they ask for, he feels he is letting them down. If they turn out badly, he is sure it must be his fault, not theirs.

He feels guilty if his wife has to wear a cloth coat instead of a fur one, or if the refrigerator in her kitchen is more than 10 years old.

If she opens her bin, he feels he is a munificently illiterate boob, because everyone is supposed to be cultured today and enjoy opera, whether he likes it or not.

If he is 10 pounds overweight, he feels guilty because he reads that half the people in the world go hungry overnight.

If he goes to war—and he does—he feels guilty because his enemies fight back and his faithful allies don't rush to his support.

If he gives away billions to other lands—and he does—he feels guilty because his beneficiaries do not stun his ears with their applause.

This crippling posture of the hangdog American is something relatively new to our national life. Never before did we insist on our rights, or require that the rest of mankind live as we should we now? Never before have we looked down upon ourselves, and we looked down upon ourselves in conduct, or our motives; why should we now?

Uncle Sam should never let himself become another Utah Heep, burdened with a pretentious humility, nor should the average American ever let him-

Letters To The Editor

How About It, Mr. Milliot?

Editor, Herald:

I have been reading that the Seminole County sheriff's department was unable to investigate a murder recently because of no one capable of conducting such an investigation in the department.

I take personal offense at this because Mr. Milliot had a capable qualified, dedicated law officer and fired him Nov. 8, 1967.

My husband has been every police and FBI school available; and to better himself in law enforcement (at no cost to the county) enrolled in the Institute of Applied Science.

The full course of instruction consists of exhaustive studies in fingerprint, police photography, fire arms identification, criminal and civil investigation, identification of handwriting and identification of typewriting.

This course alone took about 14 months to complete but to acquire the knowledge he wanted it was necessary to do so.

I can't imagine any man, especially in law enforcement, not trying to learn all he can about a job he has been hired to which he has been elected.

Perhaps I'm spoiled. My husband does a good job for anyone he works for and I am proud to have been his wife these past years.

Beware A Hangdog American

It is hard today to name a thing that doesn't afflict the typical American with a sense of being in the wrong.

If he is over 40, he feels guilty because he isn't younger.

If he has children and can't give them everything they ask for, he feels he is letting them down. If they turn out badly, he is sure it must be his fault, not theirs.

He feels guilty if his wife has to wear a cloth coat instead of a fur one, or if the refrigerator in her kitchen is more than 10 years old.

If she opens her bin, he feels he is a munificently illiterate boob, because everyone is supposed to be cultured today and enjoy opera, whether he likes it or not.

If he is 10 pounds overweight, he feels guilty because he reads that half the people in the world go hungry overnight.

If he goes to war—and he does—he feels guilty because his enemies fight back and his faithful allies don't rush to his support.

If he gives away billions to other lands—and he does—he feels guilty because his beneficiaries do not stun his ears with their applause.

This crippling posture of the hangdog American is something relatively new to our national life. Never before did we insist on our rights, or require that the rest of mankind live as we should we now? How About It, Mr. Milliot?

Editor, Herald:

I have been reading that the Seminole County sheriff's department was unable to investigate a murder recently because of no one capable of conducting such an investigation in the department.

I take personal offense at this because Mr. Milliot had a capable qualified, dedicated law officer and fired him Nov. 8, 1967.

My husband has been every police and FBI school available; and to better himself in law enforcement (at no cost to the county) enrolled in the Institute of Applied Science.

The full course of instruction consists of exhaustive studies in fingerprint, police photography, fire arms identification, criminal and civil investigation, identification of handwriting and identification of typewriting.

This course alone took about 14 months to complete but to acquire the knowledge he wanted it was necessary to do so.

I can't imagine any man, especially in law enforcement, not trying to learn all he can about a job he has been hired to which he has been elected.

Perhaps I'm spoiled. My husband does a good job for anyone he works for and I am proud to have been his wife these past years.

Oust LBJ' Petition Out

NEW YORK — (UPI) — If an obscure but angry attorney from the Midwest has his way, Lyndon Johnson will soon become the first president to face a formal congressional trial for impeachment.

The attorney, James Williams of Minneapolis, has formed what he calls a bipartisan citizens group to enlist public support. The plan is readily blunt: to have Congress publicly judge the President and thereby determine his legitimate right to continue in office.

Williams' group is currently circulating "petitions for the removal of grievances" calling for immediate impeachment proceedings. Workers claim as many as one million Americans will sign such requests for the President's ouster.

The campaign is co-ordinated, serious and in full swing. "We're not just another hobby organization," says a lawyer Williams. "We're very concerned. We have the constitutional right to request our government to declare war by impeaching the President."

Williams, 42, has practiced law in Minnesota for 18 years. He has had one unsuccessful foray into politics, losing the 1960 Republican primary for the Senate. He says he does not belong to any other political group.

He describes himself as a liberal in foreign affairs and a conservative at home. He says his movement has attracted support from all areas of the spectrum.

Williams asserts that the first amendment to the constitution gives every citizen the right to petition his government, thus providing "the only meaningful method of curtailing the President, short of revolution."

He admits some people have already petitioned President Johnson—in newspapers, ads, letters, etc.—but he claims that they have been completely ignored.

So, he has decided now "to go all out."

The attorney cites history's only presidential impeachment trial as precedent. "It was held exactly 100 years ago this month, in 1868, and ironically involved another president named Johnson."

Andrew, the 17th holder of office.

Like his modern namesake, Andrew Johnson had ascended to his rank by the assassination of his predecessor (Abraham Lincoln). Also like LBJ, the earlier president became engaged in bitter controversy after taking command.

Andrew Johnson's critics claimed he had surpassed his authority by ignoring Congress (another parallel with today). Both houses demanded his trial.

There were 21 articles of impeachment against the 18th-century Johnson. But after two months of debate, Senate opposition did not muster sufficient votes to make any of them stick. Thus the president was weakly acquitted.

Today, the foes of Lyndon Johnson feel the involved issues reflect 1868 in that "the too has exceeded his authority."

Over To The Opposition

DENVER (AP) — Soon after Dr. Maurice B. Mitchell became chancellor of the University of Denver, the World Book Encyclopedia asked him to write an article on the university. Mitchell was president and editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica before resigning to take the university position.

But they say his excess is more serious.

Specifically, they disapprove of the President's methods and actions in the Vietnam war. They deplore what they say is his "manipulation" of the conflict, his "lies" about the battle, and his alleged responsibility for the deaths of U. S. soldiers.

Johnson has, says Williams, "taken away the American right to live."

The impeachment grievances set down in a carefully worded, four-page petition, and also in a 20-page booklet. More than 2,000 petitions have been sent to sympathetic addresses in 30 states.

The petitions list 12 separate protests, including: "The taxpayer defrauded the nation in the 1964 elections by stating over and over that, if elected, he would not involve us further in Vietnam."

"The President has effectively and unlawfully usurped the exclusive congressional power to declare war by invading the U. S. in war defacto."

"The President has brought our beloved country into disrepute throughout the earth and in the very heart of his own countrymen as well."

Despite the harsh language of the document, Williams says the impeachment petition does not constitute a condemnation of the war itself. It is, he insists, only a complaint against presidential escalation of the war.

"I'm not a pacifist," the attorney says. "But I believe in defending the country only when it's in need of defending; that is, under attack. By no stretch of the imagination can Johnson convince me we are now under attack."

Williams says his impeachment papers "imply no guilt," but are merely the constitutional tool to use to initiate a discussion of guilt or innocence.

He plans to have all the petitions completed by the end of March. He then proposes to present the particulars to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in April, "to see if they will or won't recognize them."

And what if they won't? "If they refuse to honor the trial as precedent," Williams insists, "it must be considered as an implied admission to all of the petition's allegations."

And what if they will? "Then the House may vote for impeachment and, following that, the Senate must hold court and try this President for high crimes and misdemeanors."

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A television set and taught a monkey to play the piano for a TV show.

The IQ Zoo houses 90 birds, two baby llamas, 10 monkeys and two chimps.

Smith said he anticipates some opposition from those who believe it is cruel to teach animals to work.

"But," he said, "many of these are the same people who would keep a pet monkey in a cage, which would be one of the worst punishments in the world for the monkey."

"A monkey will work—just to get out of a cage."

Women Are Too Trusting

NEW YORK (AP) — A housewife arrives at her newly purchased home and finds it has no appliances. A quick check of the fine print in her deed shows appliances were not included in the purchase.

Another woman gives her neighborhood grocer a blank check with the tracing instruction, "Fill in the amount. The grocer fills in the amount—and a little more."

"These housewives are not stupid," says Prof. Henry Seligson, 51, who has been teaching a two-semester Women's Law Course at New York University for 13 years. "It's a combination of being in a hurry and being too trustworthy."

The Women's Law Course was established in 1969 for the better protection of women's rights.

At that time they had few rights to be protected. Women were not allowed to vote. They could own property, but it was subject to the dictates of their husbands.

And of more importance to the small band of suffragettes who endorsed the course, they were not being admitted to law school.

In these swarming sixties, the woman's lot has improved—but the problems she faces have grown more complex. Even a small purchase can present problems if a shopper learns the hard way that a warranty differs from the salesman's promise.

Over the years, women attending the course have ranged in age from 18 to 73. Seligson says they're enrolled for varying reasons. One woman is simply curious; another "wants to check up on her lawyer," and there is always one who is going through a divorce procedure.

"We don't want to make lawyers out of these ladies, although some have gone on to law school and even have become judges," he says. "We just want to make them aware when they need a lawyer."

For instance, he says, he tells his classes, beware of what you say about the neighbor over the backyard fence.

"You might be leaving your self open for a slander suit."

Let The Guy Alone

I think that there are some writers who are confusing the issues between Cassius Clay and basketball star Elvin Hayes.

There was actually one who was comparing Hay's loyalty to this country to Clay's induction refusal. I think the two are as different as... as a hole-in-one in golf and an inside-the-park home in baseball.

... trying to hide behind the "issues" while the other is... enough to admit that he's interested in his career and a chance to make a fantastic sports book.

Now what in the heck does that have to do with loyalty? Isn't it a fact that a great deal of the success of our democracy revolves around that long green stuff?

And here's another moral for you to chew on... how can there wasn't a stretch created when Florida's Neal Walk turned down an invitation to play in the Olympics? His reason... "The time required to practice and get ready for the event would severely penalize him in his studies."

As a matter of fact, I find it quite refreshing to hear someone actually speak the truth on the subject. And that leads us to the next subject... amateurism at the Olympics.

Whom are we kidding? All of the other countries certainly disregard the "amateur" attitude. So, why not worth the very best that this country has (and make it worth while for them), and then sweep to victory in whatever event we'd want to enter.

But, to criticize a guy cause he wants to get ahead???? That's dumb.

Joys Of Racing Or B-R-O-T-H-E-R!!!

So, there we are dear readers... anxiously awaiting word on whether our two intrepid sports buff's would get their super chargers into the Sebring 12 Hour Endurance, when we ran out of space and time in last week's 808 ramblings.

Now we'll try to bring you up to date.

Perhaps Rich Kondracki would just as soon not have had the "pleasure" of seeing his Spiffie accepted, cause it wasn't more than six hours into the race when... AWAY SHE ROLLED!

It got out of control (not with Kondracki behind the wheel) and rolled, flipped and ended up with something like a $1,000 bill facing him for repairs.

"I'm going ahead in your money dealings or dipping into the red ink!" says I.

"John, let's just say that I'm hoping for the ONE BIG RACE where I'll be able to cash in... and then just hope to break even," was his reply.

On a happier note, the GT-6 which was driven by Sanford's Richard Cline and Ed Michael Pickering of Gainesville, finished 22nd overall, and fifth in their class.

"Who knows... maybe we'll be able to repair some cash collections for you yet, eh?"

Dolphins Sign Up Hammond

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Miami Dolphins of the American Football League signed Florida State quarterback Kim Hammond to a professional contract Wednesday.

Joe Thomas, the Dolphins' vice president, said terms of the contract would not be revealed.

"It's a relief just to get off my mind," Hammond said, adding he was pleased with the contract. "I'm going to be out here doing the best I can and I'll let the coaches make the decisions as to who will play."

He referred to the Dolphins' No. 1 quarterback Bob Griese and stand-by Rick Norton.

FIGHT RESULTS

NEW YORK — David McLean, 147, Puerto Rico, outpointed Dorman Crawford, 148 1/2, Costa Rica, 8.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Chuck Leslie, 176, Los Angeles, and Billy Joener, 188, Cincinnati, panned in 241 attempts for 1,991 yards and gained more than 2,000 yards after bumping Gary Pajic for the starting quarterback's job at Florida State last fall.

So, Now I Know . . .

Read where my friend in Washington, Congressman Claude Pepper is working for early action on legislation to save from extinction the Green Sea Turtle, the Alligator, and other endangered species of wildlife. (Ah, how about sports editors, Senator?)

"One of the most recent threats to the survival of the green turtle is a new cosmetic product called the "Oil of the Turtle." Pepper declared "It is being promoted as a wonder-working beauty aid, and this fact is threatening the extermination of a magnificent species."

See, I feel lots better already. Here all along I thought people were insulting when they called me an old turtle (among other things), and yet what they were really saying was that I'm a wonder-working beauty aid?????

Somehow I get the feeling that they were still digging me, eh?

How Are Your Chances, Coach?

Jack McCloskey, Wake Forest basketball coach, after his team lost to St. Joseph's of Philadelphia said, "I don't mind when we play a Catholic school and the referee is Catholic, but when the game is on Ash Wednesday and the ref winds up with a smudge on his forehead... I know I'm in trouble."

A Star Head . . .

When you're a loser, things take on unusual proportions. A story in the current issue of Sports Illustrated recalls the case of Arizona State Basketball Coach Ned Wulk, whose team was 11-17 for the season.

In a recent game in Laramie, Wyoming, a fan threw an object that hit Wulk on his bald spot. Wyoming officials said it was a peanut.

Wulk retorted, "It hurt more than a peanut... and besides, it didn't feel salty."

First Place Battle Raiders Vs. St. Johns For Top Title!

By TOM ALEXANDER
Herald Sports Staff

The Seminole Junior College Raiders take their first place aspirations to Palatka this afternoon as they face the team they are presently tied with for the first slot, St. Johns River J.C.

The Raiders started with three dismal losses to out of district teams like St. Petersburg J.C. who took three games out of the first four the Raiders played.

They are now riding a three-game winning streak and are seeking to extend that to four when they meet the Vikings at 4 p.m. this afternoon.

Coach Jay Bergman probably will start Steve Simpkins on the mound.

Simpkins now stands (2-2) another pitcher that may see some action. In fact, Walter Charlie Newell (3-1). Newell started just like the rest of the event would severely penalize him in his studies.

As a matter of fact, I find it quite refreshing to hear someone actually speak the truth on the subject. And that leads us to the next subject... amateurism at the Olympics.

Whom are we kidding? All of the other countries certainly disregard the "amateur" attitude. So, why not worth the very best that this country has (and make it worth while for them), and then sweep to victory in whatever event we'd want to enter.

But, to criticize a guy cause he wants to get ahead???? That's dumb.

The Raider nine had picked up two straight wins with Florida's initial game and it looks like it may be a fine season for this young player.

The leading hitter on the Raiders is also the leading pitcher in the State of Florida. Carl Shumaker is pacing the Florida State Junior College League with a tremendous .315 average. This also is one of the highest ever to be recorded in Seminole County after five games. Shumaker had one of his best days this past Friday when he went four for five at the plate against South Florida. Right behind Shumaker is Simpkins with a .406 batting average. Simpkins has been to the plate 15 times and picked up seven hits while scoring twice, in comparison to Shumaker who has been to the plate five times and picked up 15 hits and five runs. The extra base hitter for the Raiders falls on the shoulders of veteran Jim Gruber. Gruber has a .390 average. He has been to 14 games and has picked up 14 hits.

Seven of these 14 have been for extra bases with two of them being doubles, one a triple and four home runs. Brent Helms is the next Raider over the .300 mark as he has a .335 average. He has been to the plate 32 times and has picked up 12 hits and scored six runs. Helms also has had three stolen bases. Jimmy Bradley leads the Raiders in steals as he has picked up five while batting a cool .269.

Ray Joiner and Jim Rupp are part of the Raider mound staff but as yet their fortunes on the hill have not turned out badly. Joiner stands 0-1 while Rupp is 0-2. The ace reliever for the Raiders is Tom Hickson 0-1.

This afternoon's contest should be one of the big division II banners to the state tournament. In the Division II Raiders have a 2-1 record in the state championship game. Both have suffered losses at the hands of upstart Central Florida.

Harper No. 1 Pick

MIAMI (AP)—Florida's leading high school scorer, Ovidio Ramirez, topped the separate Class B and C all-state basketball teams selected by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

The 6-foot 3 senior, who averaged 34.1 points per game, led the Class B list that included Blountstown's Jeff Trammell, Chattahoochee's Danny Allen and Wymore Tech's twosome of Chris Coleman and Walter Smith.

David Burke, a 6-foot-4 1/2 star from state champion Freeport, topped the Class C list. Burke averaged 31.3 points per game, led the Class B and C teams and was the first selected by the Sports Writers Association. Previously only two teams including the White Sox #2 at Sarasota, Fla., for their 12th victory in 11 games.

While the Red Sox troubles continued, St. Louis' world champions buried the Chicago White Sox #2 at Sarasota, Fla., for their 12th victory in 11 games.

The same club staged a free-for-all last June at Yankee Stadium after Boston ace Jim Lonborg and New York's Thad Tillson took turns low-bridging the hitters.

The Braves were stunned by the announcement that outfielder Rico Carty, a .335 lifetime hitter, will undergo extensive tests to determine if he has leukemia. Carty, 27, has lost weight and complained of feeling run down in recent weeks.

Mike Ferraro, the Yankees' rookie baseman, and San Francisco catcher Dick Dietz also came up with distressing ailments.

An eye examination disclosed Ferraro is suffering from glaucoma but a Fort Lauderdale doctor said he should be able to continue playing. Dietz was rushed from Scottsdale, Ariz., to San Francisco for tests after he had high blood pressure.

The Braves cut nine players, including former Boston baby slugger Steve Garvey, who is a hospital for extensive examinations to determine if he has tuberculosis.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a routine eye checkup disclosed that rookie third baseman Mike Ferraro of the New York Yankees is suffering from glaucoma — an incurable but controllable eye disease.

At San Francisco, catcher Dick Dietz of the Giants was to undergo tests to find the cause of high blood pressure that has troubled him for nearly a week.

DAN SIKES

Dan Says He's Tired, So Tired

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "I'm tired, so tired," Dan Sikes said on the eve of today's Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

The hometown hero's actions belie his words, however. Sikes opened the tournament activities by shooting the lowest score in the pro-am preliminary at 67—five strokes below regulation for the toughest 7,200-yard Deerwood Club course.

Sikes, who won last year's Jacksonville Open with a nine-under-par 279, said he played the best golf of his life when he won the Citrus Open at Orlando two weeks ago. He was 14 under par in that tournament, but figures 10 under will be good enough to take this one.

In addition to his second straight victory at his home course, Sikes will be shooting for the Florida Governor's Cup based on the total scores in 11 four tournaments in the state.

He and England's Tony Jacklin are tied at 837 after play in Doral, Citrus and Pensacola tournaments. Bob Murphy, former National Amateur champion and former University of Florida golfer, stands 841. Ray Floyd is at 842.

Tom Weiskopf would have been in great shape for the trophy if he had not passed up the Pensacola Tournament last week. He is second in both the Doral and Citrus.

Arnold Palmer, Nicklaus and Gary Player of South Africa are in the top 10. Murphy, former National Amateur champion and former University of Florida golfer, stands 841. Ray Floyd is at 842.

Killy, Green Lead World Cup Meet

ROSSLAND, B.C. (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy and Nancy Green have said they will retire from competition after this season.

Miss Green took a spill during the Philadelphia 7ers game, but she was not hurt, and said, "It's very smooth with fresh snow. It's excellent."

At San Francisco, catcher Dick Dietz of the Giants was to undergo tests to find the cause of high blood pressure that has troubled him for nearly a week.

Colavito Ready

VERO BEACH (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers are expected to acquire outfielder Rocky Colavito after all.

When Colavito's acquisition from the Chicago White Sox was announced Tuesday, the slugger said he didn't know whether he would report to the National League club "or call it quits." He said the team action had upset his plans but he thought he'd be able to re-adjust.

Wednesday, Dodger General Manager E. J. "Bud" Huzar said he would report to the club Sunday in Arizona.

California's Rojas Is Slight Favorite

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Paul Rojas is slight favorite to defeat Enrique Higgins of Colombia tonight in their 15-round fight for the World Boxing Association version of the vacant featherweight championship.

The nonleveled scrap, which shapes up as a slugger's match between two boxers who have never been knocked off their feet, is billed to fill the gap produced when Mexico's Vicente Saldivar retired.

Higgins, 25, whose boxing has been confined to Colombia and Venezuela, has won 30 bouts, scoring 23 knockouts and losing twice. Rojas, also 25, has won 25, lost only one, to Saldivar here in 1965, and stopped 25 opponents.

Flying Beanballs Yankees And Red Sox Aiming At Each Other

EVERYBODY'S been tagging Boston pitching this spring, but the Red Sox won't turn the other cheek. Not by a long shot.

Beanballs flew at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Wednesday as the American League champions showed the New York Yankees for their 12th setback in 19 exhibition games.

Dick Williams, the Red Sox' pilot, and Coach Eddie Popowski were ejected in an eighth inning tangle with umpire Frank Littant after Boston pitcher Lee Stange clipped the Yanks' Roy White in the back with a fast ball.

Jerry Seipenstein, the Red Sox' starter, had hit Bob Cox with a pitch in the sixth and the Yankees Dale Spier had fired a pitch over Joe Foy's head in the top of the eighth. When White was plunked leading off the bottom of the inning, Umpire Howard Williams, then tossed him out.

THE CHICAGO BULLS won a late reprieve, the Philadelphia 7ers saved themselves from an embarrassing predicament and the Detroit Pistons kept right on killing the giant.

The first round of the National Basketball Association playoffs provided surprises all around Wednesday night when Chicago beat Los Angeles 104-98 in the Western Division, and Philadelphia outlasted New York 128-122 in double overtime and Detroit took Boston 109-98 in the East.

NHL Title Up For Grabs?

IT LOOKS like nobody wants to win the National Hockey League's West Division title.

The lowly LA with 71 points kept New York as Philadelphia — and only one regular season game remaining.

Glenn Hall's 73rd career shut-out stilled the Flyers, who have staked the Blues closer to a playoff berth.

St. Louis could have locked up fourth place if Oakland had knocked out Pittsburgh and, for awhile, it looked like the Seals would oblige. John Brennan scored two first-period goals and Oakland took a 2-1 lead.

But veterans Ab McDonald and Leo Bolin each hit twice as the Penguins came back. The victory left Pittsburgh three points behind St. Louis.

The Blues have three games to play and Pittsburgh two.

Murray Oliver scored twice and assisted on another goal as Toronto thumped Montreal. It was a meaningless game for both teams since Montreal already has clinched the East Division title and Toronto is destined to finish fifth.

Charity Night Feature At SOKC

THE SECOND charity night performance of the season is on tap tonight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club with 26 area charity and education funds receiving a share of the contributions.

Earlier this year, Track Gen. Mr. Jack Ledoux reported that more than $20,000 had been raised as a result of the first charity night.

A big night tonight could put the track over the $100,000 mark in total contributions since the charity night events were initiated by the track back in 1955.

In addition to various medical aid funds and research funds, two junior colleges will receive benefits from tonight's card-Seminole Junior College and Florida Institute of Technology. charity night events are on hand for the trophy presentation to the winning owner after the running of the Ashe Picks Up Chips In Davis Cup Play...

NEW YORK (AP)—It's nine months until the Davis Cup Challenge Round, but Nickie San is getting his appetite whetted again.

The Yanks, it seems, are always winning the Davis Cup in the spring.

The newest fever is inspired by Arthur Ashe's victory over Spain's Manuel Santana in the Garden Challenge Trophy Tennis Tournament Wednesday night. The score was 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

Not only that, but Clark Graebner, Ashe's Davis Cup teammate, also moved into a 19.75 triumph over Yugoslavia's Zeljko Franulovic and there are a pair of other Americans in the wings.

Ashe and Graebner clash in the semifinals Friday. The other semifinals will be decided tonight when Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., plays Herbert Ziegenfuss of Garden City, N.Y., in one match and Tom Okker of Holland faces Tom Okker of Holland's Tom Okker in the other.

Billie Jean King, the women's favorite, plays Winnie Shaw of Scotland tonight in the women's quarter-finals. The winner goes against the survivor of the

"GROVER WILLIAMS DAYS!"

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Grover Williams, head of the menswear department at Penney's Sanford Plaza store, is retiring after 25 years with the company here in Sanford. He will be honored by all Penney's employees at a farewell breakfast Saturday at 7:30 a.m. at House of Steak. Born in Live Oak, Williams first came to Sanford in 1927 to work in a drug store. In 1943 he went to work at the J. C. Penney Store located on First Street in the building later occupied by Western Auto. None of the other employees there at the time are still with the store. Looking back over the past quarter century Williams sees many changes in Penney's.

Charles Robinson, present manager. Williams has seen Penney's go from "cash and carry" to charge cards. He can remember the "good ole days" when a man could buy a good suit for $25, when everything was either cotton or wool, and he knew everyone by name who came in the store.

He recalls the days of World War II when merchandise was scarce and customers queued up outside the door when such scarce items as sheets were received. He has seen prices go up and the variety and quality of merchandise offered by the store increase, not to mention the advertisement of wash and wear and permanent press. Williams lives at 2474 Sanford Avenue with his wife, Marian, who is employed in the office of Florida Power and Light Company. As for the days ahead, he has no definite plans for his retirement, but is looking forward to putting in some time gardening and fishing.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON
We have a request from one of the nurses at Seminoles Memorial Hospital for Strawberry Pie—so here are two. One for fresh strawberries and the other using frozen berries.

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE
1 qt. fresh strawberries
2 tbsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
¼ cup boiling water
1 baked pie shell
whipped cream or meringue

Wash, hull and sort berries. Mash enough to make 1 cup. Mix sugar, salt, cornstarch, crushed berries and boiling water. Cook stirring constantly, directly over flame until thickened. Cool thoroughly. Just before serving place reserved berries in the cooled pie shell. (The reserved berries are the perfect ones saved after cleaning and not mashed.) Pour the cooled cooking berries over the others. Garnish with whipped cream or egg white meringue. Serves 6-8.

SPANISH RICE AND HAMBURGERS
1 lb. ground beef
1 tsp. salt
1 med. onion, diced
1 green pepper, chopped
1 tsp. mustard
¾ cup tomatoes
¼ tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. meat
1 cup Worcestershire sauce
1 cup uncooked instant rice
Preheat skillet. Shape beef into 6 patties. Melt shortening in skillet; saute patties 4 minutes on each side or until brown. Remove from skillet. Sauté onion and green pepper in fat. Add remaining ingredients; mix thoroughly. Arrange patties on top of rice mixture; freeze under heat to 300 degrees. Cook 20-30 minutes or until rice is fluffy and tender. If more liquid is needed add ¼ cup water. Serves 4-6.

TOASTED ALMOND PIE
½ cup sugar
¾ tbsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
2 egg whites
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 tsp. almond extract
1 baked pie crust shell
Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a small bowl. Stir in cold milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and boil 15 minutes longer. Stir in a little hot milk. Pour into slightly beaten egg yolks. Add remaining mixture, cook 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Cool and add almond extract. Pour into baked pie shell. Cover with meringue. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-60 minutes. Serves 6.

ICE CREAM FRUIT PUNCH
½ gallon vanilla ice cream
6¼ cups (46-oz. can) pineapple juice
6¼ cups (46-oz. can) apricot nectar
¼ cup (6-oz. can) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
1 qt. sparkling water, chilled
Put ice cream into punch bowl over crushed or cracked ice. Pour over other juices and stir gently. Makes 50 cups.

WINES & LEGENDS
By Bob d'Avanzo
"It's a much better idea to teach girls how to cook than how to play the piano." — Michael Field, concert pianist and college professor, turned cooking school instructor.
Mr. Field is one of the foremost "wine cooks." He believes wine can transform simple recipes into masterpieces—or disasters.
The cuisine of countries which produce fine wines is usually of note. Conversely, countries which do not produce wine usually have little to boast of food-wise. Perhaps this is why France and Italy have produced some of the world's best food dishes.
California started producing wine in quantity about 1870.

W. W. Club Of Deltona Stages Fashion Parade

By MILDRED HANEY
Over 160 persons, including many gentlemen, enjoyed the Fashion Show and Luncheon offered by the Deltona Welcome Wagon Club.
Fifteen lovely ladies modeled the delightful Spring fashions under the direction of Mrs. Grace Yoh. The show was narrated by Mrs. Edna Payne who interspersed the descriptions of the gowns with sprightly bits of wit and humor. Music which accompanied the parade of chic fashions was presented by Tom Turner. Luncheon and card games followed the show with the awarding of many door prizes, beautiful potted rose bushes in bloom featuring the new lovely colors.
Models for the event included Mrs. Florence Durand, Elaine Iatoca, Edna Payne, Sally Worman, Helen Moody, Olga Ashman, Kathryn Smyth, Betty Kolmarmark, Betty Hower and Mary Tucker.

Geneva Personals

MRS. JOSEPH E. MATHEUX, home on Lake Harney Beach and after August they should become permanent residents.
It is with deepest regret that we must extend sympathy to Mrs. Grace Straub because of the untimely death of her father and to Mrs. Daisy Williams in the recent loss of her daughter, Mrs. Lucy Thorpe who was a frequent visitor to Geneva for many years.
Mrs. Helen McGill is recuperating from the virus and Joe Enzor, Sr. is home from a sojourn in the hospital.
Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Heath on Lake Harney Beach are Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Pearce of Behavon, N.C. Jean tells us that she and Hank and the Peareces have been friends for more than 40 years—come on Jean you don't look 40?!! Also visiting the Heaths are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rein-smith from Deatur, Ga.

Casino Night Sponsored by Rolling Hills Club

By JANE CASSELLERY
The Rolling Hills Country Club was transformed by the South Seminoles Women's Club to a Western setting for its benefit "Casino Night" Saturday for the mental health clinic.
Black Jack and other pastimes familiar to the Las Vegas scene were set up upstairs and downstairs so that everyone could "bet" their play money with reckless abandon.
Radio personality, Tony Girard, was master of ceremonies, and President Dixie Miller made him an honorary member of the club. Entertainment was provided by John and Irene Frances, who presented a pantomime; the Kip Watson Dancers; and Kip Watson and wife, Pat; danced an "Alter Cat" number.
Those fortunate enough to have some of their "funny money" left at the end of the evening were given the opportunity to choose from the list of fabulous prizes.
Top three winners were All Ferris of Orlando, who chose a weekend for two at the Colony Inn in Sarasota; Lewis Cote of Casselberry, an evening with reckless abandon; and Mrs. Don Sanderson of Altamonte Springs, who took the autographed baseball and her seat tickets for the Twin-Yankees game.

Do Not Skip Breakfast

It's ironic that Americans—the busiest people in the world—are also the least active physically. Largely because Americans are inactive, over half the adults in the nation are overweight. And frequently busy, overweight people try to save time and cut calories by skipping breakfast.
It doesn't work. A breakfast skipper will probably take in more calories for the whole day than the person who doesn't. In fact, nutritionists have found that there are more breakfast skippers among heavyweights than among those who weigh what they should.
Starting the day with a poor breakfast impairs the body's efficiency. Like any inefficient system it works harder, but gets less done.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Horoscope Forecast

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I gave birth to a baby boy. I was so happy and proud and I could not wait to see him. I gave him a name and I gave him a home. I gave him a mother and I gave him a father. I gave him a home and I gave him a mother and I gave him a father. I gave him a home and I gave him a mother and I gave him a father.

I have eight years, eight kids and a mountain of love. I don't think I could ever love another man. I don't think I could ever love another man. I don't think I could ever love another man.

DEAR MRS. J. R.: I have the kids, of course. But while you're raising them, teach them to love. Teach them to love. Teach them to love.

DEAR ABBY: I plan to announce my engagement soon, and my problem is this: My fiancé's mother wants to have a big wedding, and I don't want to have a big wedding. My fiancé's family is quite wealthy, and his mother says they will pay for everything. I don't want to accept this kind of a gift from my fiancé's mother. I don't want to accept this kind of a gift from my fiancé's mother.

DEAR ABBY: I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem. I do have a problem.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

Overall Jacoby will take over today's column to write about an old friend. Sidney is a friend of Cleveland's who died suddenly last December. He was doing what he had been at the time—playing duplicate bridge.

Sidney was one of my toughest opponents. We never played together but we always got together. I didn't require much effort on my part. Sid was up to everybody, and everybody liked him.

The last several years he served as chairman of the A.C.L.U. charity committee and played in very few events, but whenever he did play he made the game more pleasant for everyone.

Here is a hand he played a few days before his death. The bidding was optimistic with the ace of clubs after Sid played low from dummy. If he had returned a club it would have been impossible to bring the slam home, but East led back the jack of diamonds.

Sid ruffed and proceeded to run off all his trumps. The third trump lead didn't bother West. He let the eight of diamonds go, but the fourth trump put him in a vice. He couldn't throw the ace of diamonds, he was sure he couldn't afford a spade, and the best play appeared to be to let West win the trick.

Sidney led his deuce of clubs (he had been careful to drop the jack on the club lead), but whenever he did play he made the game more pleasant for everyone.

and the contract not the best, but the older we get the more we like to bid, and Sid never was an underbidder, even in free days before his death.

The bidding was optimistic East won the first trick

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY: Can anyone tell me what I can do with my little girl's wool skirts as she complains about them irritating her skin when she wears them?

Also, another question: I have some old sheets that are beyond repair for using as such but still are too good to throw away. Can anything be done with them? Any suggestions will be appreciated.

DEAR POLLY:—BETTY DEAR POLLY—I gave my old lightweight plastic tablecloth, shower curtains and window curtains to use for making kindergarten art aprons. These with designs make pretty ones. I fold the plastic and cut them out, with or without sleeves, all in one piece. Cut as you would a tablecloth and use the plastic as a backing. This can be done with the pinking shears. Add strips of bias tape on the back of the neck to it in place. Snaps could be sewn on if one prefers. If you do not have a sewing machine, the side and sleeve seams can be held together with safety-backed mending tape. When the aprons become soiled I just wipe them out, with or without sleeves, all in one piece. Cut as you would a tablecloth and use the plastic as a backing. This can be done with the pinking shears. Add strips

Beauty after Forty

By Edyth Thomson McLeod

New Look For The Office: "Dear Edyth Thomson McLeod: I'm trying to establish a new look for myself. I want new clothes, as I'm getting a very good job, purely on my past employment record. My new office quarters will be elegant and I'll have my own secretary. I have blonde, dull hair. How should I dress?—Career Woman.

Congratulations. Why not have your hair styled and colored in a lighter blonde? This should be nothing obvious. This would be wise. I like black for dress and very blue for smart. Your clothes should be in simple styles, with white or colorless accessories. I still think that those "wit" prints are NOT for career women in elegant offices. A new haircut and lesson in makeup will improve on the idea for the look you wish to create.

"Can a fair-skinned, gray-haired woman at 40 wear brown successfully? I know that I have a smart color now and I love brown."—MRS. E. Brown is one of the top colorists in fashion, has been for the past season, and once again we're hearing about it. Gray and brown make an interesting combination. It is a new look that will blend perfectly with this new concept. I like silver jewelry. I like your jewelry. Also silver-toned pearls and/or gray pearls look wonderful. Choose makeup which will harmonize with gray and brown. Keep away from any tones with yellow in the lipstick.

"I'm 50. I must attend a large luncheon in my civic auditorium the last week of April. What will be suitable?"—ELLA J.

In your climate, I would choose a print suit. You can dispense with the jacket should the day be very warm. Have a smart hat to match the color tone in the print which is most becoming to you. A hat is important. Wear gloves, shoes and bag in a neutral color, perhaps to match the background of the print.

"I'm frightened of the menopause after hearing some friends discuss it. Have you anything that might enlighten me on this subject?"—LADIES

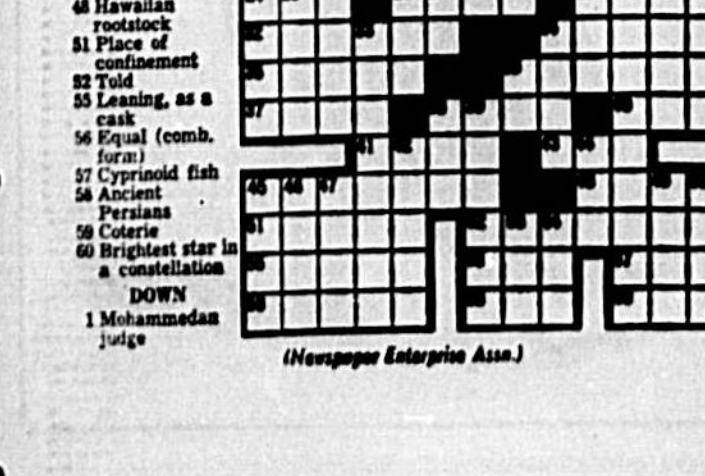

Stop listening to those "old wives tales." Some information will dispel any fears. For a copy of my "Menopause and Friends" send me a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin. Please send along what is desired to tell them. We don't have time to re-fold leaflets. Please cooperate. Tomorrow: "What's Old Is New."

Wrong Animal RIFLE, GOLF (AP) — During the hunting season, two gentlemen asked Lucien Fremont, "Can we get a picture of your bear?" Freddie told them to go along. What he didn't tell them was the "bear" lashed to the top of his truck cab was the dressed carcass of a Herford cow that he had bought.

THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1968
8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. In "Dues Process of Law" (Color) Drugs and the predictable tragic outcome of their use is the subject of an hour tonight's drama focuses, as well as the sorrow and guilt that affects all those in any way connected with junkies. Mark Sanger takes his girl to party life, is persuaded by Inoué to leave home early. Against his better judgment he leaves Helen there, and hours later her body is found in Golden Gate Park, dead from an overdose of drugs. Desperate, he attempts to solve the murder himself, with calamitous results. April 15, 1912, when the giant liner speeding across the ocean for a crossing record, hits an iceberg off the coast of Newfoundland and rips a 306-foot gash in her hull beneath the waterline. Perfectly done and not to be missed. 9:30-10 p.m. NBC. "The Big Problem." (Color) The big problem is police brutality and at the end of tonight's episode Los Angeles Police Chief Thomas Reddin comments on the issue. In the story, a respectable Negro couple complain to the department about their treatment when they are stopped by a patrolman as burglary suspects. Friday and Gannon conclude the problem in this case wasn't brutality but lack of communication. A second brutality charge is filed by Negro Billy Jones (George Stanford Brown) after he is stopped for a minor traffic violation. 10:11 p.m. NBC. The Dead Martin show. (Color) Some really good songs are belted out by Dean and his guests this evening. Among them are "Seaside Hand Rock" and "Always" sung by the host, and "Goody Goody" by Linda Bennett. Other singers presenting notable numbers are Morgana King, Vince Edwards (who also dances) and the Kids Next Door. All solo and then duo with Dean. Comics for the evening are Billy De Wolfe and Colvin and Wilder, who manage to hold their own against the melody makers.
