MISSING DRY IS FOUND IN MOUNTAIN INN

Raymond Robins, Who Disappeared Last Fall, Believed To Be Amnesia Victim

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 19.—(A.P.)—Col. Raymond Robins, dry leader and close friend of President Hoover, who disappeared yesterday in an obscure mountain village of Western North Carolina, a victim of amnesia, it was announced last night.

Colonel Robins was identified yesterday by his nephew, John Dierker, of New York, who said his uncle "is suffering from amnesia and has been spending the past two months in the mountains near here."

He was brought to an undisclosed place near Asheville yesterday for treatment, Dierker said. "Colonel Robins is in sound physical condition and is in perfect control of his ordinary mental faculties," a statement issued by the nephew said. He did not explain the apparent discrepancy with the statement his uncle suffers amnesia.

The Associated Press learned that for the past two months the philanthropist has been living in the village of Whitler, deep in the mountains, at a boarding house, under the name of "Rogers."

Stetson Symphony Concert Is Heard By Small Audience

An audience of about 150 persons last night gathered at the City Hall to hear the second musical event of the local winter season, a concert by the 40-piece Stetson Symphony Orchestra under the leadership of Donald Foulkner.

The orchestra was introduced to the audience by Karl Lehmann, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the concert for the benefit of the Sanford Elk Club fund in farm fund. In his remarks, Mr. Lehmann declared that what made up in numbers was made up in enthusiasm and in the efforts of a splendid organization.

The first part of the program was devoted to Mozart's Symphony No. 41, Jupiter. The first movements of the Symphony, allegro vivace, andante, and finale, were rendered to the applause of the throng.

Popular music comprised the second half of the program which opened as the orchestra played "Stars and Stripes" march in memory of the late John Philip Sousa, its composer.

The remainder of the program consisted of "The Mill in the Forest," Rimski Korsakow's "Song of India," "Song of the Volga Boatman," Kolar Belak's "The Hungarian Tarnopel," and as a concluding number the Klara University Alma Mater song.

Following the concert, Louis Martin's Collegium, a dance or choral group recruited from the Symphony, played a dance that kept a crowd of about 40 couples engaged until about 12:30 o'clock.

Mr. Lehmann said this morning that the concert was not a financial success for only enough was collected to take care of the expense in bringing the orchestra to Sanford.

GEORGE MOYE IS REPLACED AS 1ST STRING STARTER

Brown Given Big Local Boy's Spot On Team That Will Play Tech

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 18.—Two major changes were made in the Florida varsity lineup yesterday as the Gators ran through their final practice on the home field before the Georgia Tech game. Today the team went out to Kivestone Heights to spend the night before the homecoming classic and Coach Bachman will give his protégé a last grooming out there.

Bill "Blu" McLean, sophomore flanker, worked at right end on the first eleven this afternoon in the place of Chuck Rogers, who has recently been hindered by illness. Rogers, also a senior, is not in the best physical condition and it is probable that McLean will be in the starting lineup against Tech.

The other change instituted yesterday places Wallie Brown, a speedy south ball-carrier, at the right halfback slot in the "wrecking crew" backfield in the place of George Moye. It is logical that Brown will alternate with Moye at this position in the Tech clash because he is the fastest back on the squad and is too good a ball-carrier to stay on the bench. Then, too, Brown's speed will be an asset on the defense against Tech's aerial game, which is, according to scouting reports, dangerous.

Harrison, stellar Tornado back, is a particularly good passer-receiver and Brown will probably be called to spend a portion of the game guarding this man.

Backfield Mentor Joe Hillinger has also been experimenting with Moye at the left halfback post but nothing definite has been accomplished along this line. Coach Bachman has definitely

INTERIOR VIEW, FLORIDA BUILDING, CHICAGO FAIR

The architects entrusted with the construction of Florida's building at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, next year have undertaken to reproduce as nearly as is humanly possible, a Florida atmosphere even to Florida skies, and the accompanying illustration shows the building itself, its windowless and the lighting effects—the sunshine and clouds by day and the star constellations by night must be artistically produced and they will be so produced by up-to-date lighting equipment. The drawing is illustrative of the state's most important industry and will occupy the first floor, as shown in the illustration. The second floor will be made up of mural paintings representing episodes in the history of Florida and of silhouettes of the four or five leading cities of present day Florida. Towering living palms and flowering vines and shrubs, will form part of the embellishment of the building, while the "Spirit of Florida" holding aloft an orange, typical of one of the state's great industries, will guard the entrance to the exotic garden which will be established in the rear of the exhibit hall. The whole conception has been pronounced by the Century of Progress management as being one of the finest yet submitted by any of the 46 states which will be represented at the great exposition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A general forward trade and market movement by early December was forecast today by Samuel Weston, expert on newspaper operations, based on the percentage of increase of classified advertising linings used in 52 major cities last month.

The net amount of the loans authorized and outstanding is $38,226,119.

McKee In New York

When Joseph V. McKee became mayor of New York last summer, through the accident of Jimmy Walker's resignation, he started something which seems in no small way to be easily stopped.

Mayor McKee has not succeeded in securing the reductions which he demanded. Even the insistence of leading bankers that expenditures must be reduced before further loans would be made have not entirely blocked the greed of a powerful Tammany machine which rides ruthlessly over the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

In the recent election one of the most amazing things which has ever happened in this country occurred in New York City. In spite of the defects of a political system which denied the people the opportunity of voting for the man of their choice, in spite of the handicaps of complicated voting machines which make it difficult to write in names, no less than 150,000 New Yorkers voted for McKee though Pounds and O'Brien were the regular party nominees.

The difficulties encountered by an irate citizenry revolting against a corrupt system is illustrated by the fact that no less than 78 variations of Mayor McKee's name were found on the ballots. Only 150,000 knew what his name was. Thousands of others attempted to vote for him knowing him only as the personification of something good for the city but not knowing fully who he was.

When a favored politician named O'Brien was nominated by Tammany Hall for the mayorship of New York, McKee announced that he was a Democrat and would not bolt the party though thousands of requests were made by both Democrats and Republicans alike that he run as an Independent.

In a recent extemporaneous address at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York, Mayor McKee gave full expression to his resentment against corrupting influences which have been dominating the city's financial affairs. He promised a real crusading movement which would not be culminated until the funds of the taxpayer public had been fully protected.

Mayor McKee is setting a fine example in Democratic politics. We expect to hear a great deal more of him as the months go by.

Advice To Hunters

As the hunting season gets under way we are apt to find an uncomfortable amount of advice, some good and otherwise, on what to do in the woods. However, it should be recalled that every season brings forth its hunting accidents, its forest fires and its damages to the properties of others.

- 1. Remember, the farmer is your best friend.
2. Ask permission to hunt on his land.
3. Put up his bars and close his gates.
4. Crawl through, over or under his fences, without breaking them down.
5. Don't destroy or injure his chickens and cattle, or let your dog worry them.
6. Put out your camp fire and protect his property and your hunting ground.
7. Never in sport endanger human life.
8. Never kill, wantonly, needlessly or brutally.
9. Obey the laws, work for better laws and uphold the law-enforcing authorities.
10. Respect the rights and feelings of farmers and property owners.
11. Always leave seed birds and game in converts.
12. Never be a game hog.
13. Discourage in every way the taking of game for commercial purposes.
14. Be a gentleman.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

A. T. Rositer, F. H. Chappell, L. A. Brumley, and D. R. Brisson went to Jacksonville Monday night on a short trip, combining business and pleasure. These gentlemen will attend a conference at the invitation of the railroad authorities, who with the growers and shippers of Florida fruits and produce of every kind are seeking to decide upon a standard size of crates, for everything in the fruit and vegetable line that is shipped out of Florida.

was greatly enjoyed by all. County division is rampant now in several counties in the state and the matter will become so popular by the time the next meeting of the Legislature takes place that all the counties that are too large and where the inhabitants thereof are dissatisfied will certainly separate and the legislators can be depended upon to give the majority what they want. Among the counties now talking county division are Volusia and Orange and it is already conceded that these counties will get division.

SANFORD FORUM

Dear Editor: There is only one way of escape for cities and towns out of the impossible debt situation that is rapidly destroying them. And that is through the extension of the federal bankruptcy court to cover cities and towns. The federal bankruptcy court will today take up individual, firm or corporation, regardless of how it failed, take charge of its liabilities and assets, sell what it has, distribute what it has to its creditors, wipe the slate clean, and start it loose, free. There is more reason why the federal government should take over a city or town that is debt-ridden and be rapidly destroyed by creditors who realize that to collect is impossible without adjustment, than on account of being heavy in-

Carlton Surveying Term Calls It Big Success As It Ends

(Continued From Page One) supervised mass buying; extension of farming activities at state institutions so as to make the institutions nearly self-supporting in respect to food stuffs and many other commodities.

Commenting on his record of accomplishments, Governor Carlton said Florida balanced its budget, cut expenses and aided its counties and schools "while the federal government has gone in the red and while other states have been unable to meet their obligations."

Speaking of reduction of state expenditures to $15,328,218.87 for the fiscal year 1931-32, the Governor said: "This sum, of course, does not include the amount sent back to the counties for local tax relief in support of the schools and retirement of bonded indebtedness. These are not expenses of the state government. Nor does the amount include all state moneys expended for road construction—which has been reduced nearly to 70 percent since boom days—and the maintenance of 6,000 miles of highway."

The 1931 legislative act allocating revenue from three cents tax of the seven cents per gallon state gasoline tax to the 67 counties to meet road and bridge bond debts "already has lifted or prevented well over 300 bond defaults in the state," the Governor said.

"Prior to passage of this act," he continued, "the maturity of boom-day bonds was leaving many of our counties on the verge of bankruptcy which naturally reflected on the credit of the entire state. The general property tax could not carry the load. Therefore, the $6,000,000 annually raised by the three cent gasoline tax, which is going back to the counties for their highway indebtedness, will save the credit structures of every county which is involved."

In addition to this county relief, the Governor's statement said, "we have cut off approximately nine mill from the high point forced tax to which it was assured of revenue have been provided but to a limited degree."

"Contrary to the general impression, the burden on the automobile has not been increased. While the license tax was increased the ad valorem tax was removed, which leaves the tax on the average car lower than it was before. The gasoline tax has been increased but it might be observed, however, that gasoline is costing no more than it did before the increase was made."

The new state inheritance tax, the governor said, is producing little revenue but he predicted that "in ordinary times it will produce $2,000,000 a year and investors in other municipalities who would expect, though able to pay, the same treatment that creditors accorded those that were broke, thereby making it impossible to take up five million, and cancel the five million, distribute the one million on a per rata basis, that would place the debtor and creditor back on a sound business basis."

We might as well stop kidding ourselves and face facts. We know that our creditors are destroying town after town and not only the debtor's property, but rapidly destroying their securities. It makes no difference who holds these securities, the fact remains that if they are against a number of towns in Florida (that I could name), and also a good many in other states) they are practically worthless, with no hope in the present set-up for relief, for either debtor or creditor. By getting a law through, extending this power of the court, we would give our federal courts something else to do beside hold prohibition poller courts. Yours, very truly, C. W. ENTENINGER.

at $100,000 a year less than for 1,340 were maintained four years ago," his statement continued. "This has been accomplished," he explained, "by adjustment of salaries and elimination of unprofitable activities at a saving of $76,000 per year. The hospital farm with 2,000 acres under cultivation for the first time is producing vegetables in season to meet the requirements and our schedule of fall and winter planting will provide sufficient to care for the off season."

He added that the farm's livestock pens, dairy, poultry yards, saw mill, cabinet shop, broom factory, mattress factory, building stone factory, light plant, water plant, ice plant, laundry and telephone system are operated efficiently. Inmates are used for the work "wherever practical," he said. The prison at Raiford "is now maintaining approximately 1,600 prisoners at $125,000 less than the game department. "The hotel commission is operating at a cost of $68,000 annually as against boom day expenditures of $135,000 per year."

"The shell fish commission is being operated on approximately 50 percent of its original cost." "The office of superintendent of industries and of tax equalizer have been abolished."

"The purchasing department is effecting a saving of 10 percent on all supplies bought by the state."

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY THE FOUNTAIN OF PRAISE: O Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise. For thou desirest not sacrifice; she would I give it. Psalm 51:15, 16. Looks like Sanford is going to lose its prezials, just in case. The Times-Union points out that the rich also soak the tax. Undoubtedly it soaks the tax collector whoever he may be. An investigation is said to have brought out the fact that voters brought in the recent election by Republican committeemen. We don't know the Republicans got any votes. It's funny how the same thing affects different people differently. Now O. O. Maloney, for instance, says he never did like Marilyn Miller's smile. Hoover says he will fight any extension of the war debt moratorium. Who's he going to fight? Looks like opinion is fairly unanimous among Congressmen on that subject. The estate of W. J. Matheson, Ala. Magna-millionaire, shows an enormous inheritance, according to a report filed by his son recently. Now the heirs will have to struggle along on a mere $17,000,000. Some doubt still exists as to the possibility of modifying the Volstead law in next month's meeting of Congress. The Literary Digest should conduct a straw vote among this body in order to find out for sure. Increased classified advertising charges in October over September, indicates, according to a prominent newspaper operations expert, that general business conditions have improved. Or it may indicate that more people are trying to sell their furniture. Mr. Dittmiller's suggestion regarding federal bankruptcy courts for over-burdened municipalities offers food for thought. If European countries can get Congressmen to treat reductions in war debts, we ought to be able to get some consideration from them for boom debts. Those who would like to know what caused the depression, why millions are unemployed after a period of unprecedented prosperity, what happened to American money in Europe, and why foreign countries are now asking cancellation of war debts, should read "A Schick That Broke the World," or "The Rape of American Credit," by Gabe Caswell, published by Smith, Little, Brown and Company. Will Rogers, usually wise, but sometimes more humorous than a comedian, says all that's necessary to get European countries to pay their debts is to say to them "Pay or default." However, they might default. Or they might pay, and in doing so set up a European boycott of American goods, completing the ruination of our wheat and cotton farmers, and by demanding foreign balances held in this country force us off the gold standard. It's kinda like Sanford telling our shareholders to go to hell. They don't not go. Von Papen has resigned as chancellor of the German republic. He has been unable for several weeks to command a majority of Reichstag. Von Hindenburg's appointing a successor is no longer far out of the twenty political parties in Germany. There is no single leader who can command a majority. It is the same as in this country Mr. Hoover has been defeated by the anti-prohibition majority, and Mr. Hoover also had been defeated by the anti-prohibition majority, and everyone was saying that the anti-prohibition would win.

Will Rogers Has Fine Cast in New Movie
Backed by an impressive cast that is headed by Will Rogers, "Too Busy To Work," the celebrated wit's latest picture will open an engagement at the Milano Theater Sunday where it will remain for two days.

The story of "Too Busy To Work" revolves around the adventures of a philosophical and kindly vagabond and his search for his daughter, whom his unfaithful wife took with her when she ran away with a more artistic man while he was away fighting in the war.

He finds her living luxuriously and in love, and rather than make her unhappy by revealing himself to her, he goes on his wandering way, contented by the thought that she is enjoying the blessings that he could scarcely provide for her. Will Rogers is said to be graded more than the usual number of chances for witty comments, his role is also highly sympathetic.

Marian Nixon, who scored successfully in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "Amateur Dad," portrays the leading feminine role, dividing the love interest with Dick Powell, a newcomer to the screen who made his debut in "Blessed Event."

Other important roles are Constantine R. Manoff, Douglas Cosgrove, Louis Beavers and Jack O'Hara.
