Castro Seizes Second American Oil Refinery

Cubans Take Esso Over

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba seized the multi-million dollar American owned Esso refinery today because they refused to refine Russian crude oil, the move would mean economic disaster for Cuba.

The seizure of the Esso almost completely dependent upon Russian sources. It is a possibility that some supplies could be obtained from Venezuela.

Castro took over the $25 million American-owned Esso refinery Wednesday and already had it in operation. The Russian refused to supply the refinery in Havana and the $25 million refinery in Havana was shut out of crude oil and exports. Castro could get it quickly enough to prevent economic paralysis.

Today's takeover placed all refineries in Cuba under control of the Castro government.

Informing sources said takeover of the American-owned $300 million Cuban Electric Co., and the $125 million Cuban Telephone Co. also appeared by hour away.

The government dispatched two large Cuban planes from the terminal of the Cuban Petroleum Institute with cargo for the companies to refine. The refineries adjoin each other on the bay.

Officials said the Esso plant first and other refineries refused to accept delivery of the Russian oil. The Shell plant and again met with a refusal.

The government immediately appointed "inspectors" to run the two plants. The government alleged that the Esso plant was "sabotaged" during the takeover and that the law now was in effect.

The takeover came as no surprise following the takeover of other American-owned industries in Cuba. Both the American and British banks expressed concern at today's action but made no official statement.

Today's action was announced officially first by the state radio and then by the semi-official newspaper Revolucion.

Cassberry Mail Delivery Begins

House-to-house mail delivery began in Cassberry today. Two city delivery routes with one complete delivery daily, have been set up under the direction of R. E. Sanderson.

Assistant Postmaster Don Willson and Sanderson said that the people to be served from the Cassberry office are fortunate in having the services of two experienced mail delivery men. Starting on their first trips at approximately 9:30 a. m. with heavy packs were George Messick, a former Orlando carrier and Richard Foley, formerly a clerk at Orlando with prior service in mail transportation at Akron, Ohio.

The two routes operating from the Cassberry office are classified as mounted city routes but each carrier will make many deliveries by foot. The two routes have a potential of 1,400 patrons.

Route One includes south and east Cassberry and Howell Park and will be serviced by Messick. Foley will travel north Cassberry, Seminole Blvd. and North Orlando.

Collection boxes will be placed at the intersection of Fairfax and Longwood Rd. in North Orlando; at Lamm Lane and Highway 17-92 in Cassberry; N. Lake Griffin Dr. and Highway 17-92; Cassberry and of Wilshire Blvd. and Cannon Way, Howell Park.

Carriers will pick up mail deposited in the collection boxes on their regular line of travel according to Sanderson. Clyde K. Sanderson, postmaster said that the collection will be made on the buses at approximately 3 p. m. and about 3 p. m., Sundays and holidays.

Sanderson and acting postmaster Don Willson respectfully asked that patrons cooperate with the carriers and use office clocks by leaving prepaid receipts available for deposit of mail and by leaving correspondence for pickup by mail delivery.

R. W. ABE LONG, 229 E. Main St., Cassberry, completed the job of installing the first house-to-house mail delivery in this town. He was assisted by the first mounted carrier, who will make complete delivery daily on the Cassberry route.

Japan Bristles At Red Protest

“Utterly groundless.”

It was a highly unusual exhibition of diplomatic anger from the Japanese, whose traditional politeness usually carries over into international affairs.

It also was the strongest Japanese reaction against the Communist camp since the recent anti-treaty demonstrations which forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit. It was dramatic affirmation that Japan, regardless of leftist influences in the nation, was still firmly on the side of the West, particularly the United States.

Russia's protest, the note said, “is nothing but undue interference in the domestic affairs of Japan.”

The Japanese government chided the Soviet in strong terms for suggesting that Japan become “neutral” and made a strong reference, although the nations were not named, to Hungary, Poland and Yugoslavia.

“The Soviet government has,” it said, “on several occasions, advised the Japanese government to do away with the foreign military bases in Japan and to adopt a so-called ‘neutral’ policy.”

“But it is still fresh in our memory that the Soviet Union has bitterly denounced certain countries in its own camp when they sought to take an independent, neutral policy, or forced them to give up such plans by oppressive measures.”

Japan took strong exceptions to Russia's accusations that the three U.S. stationed here were used for spying.

It also told Russia that it was Japan's business whether it should accept the word of the U. S. to spy on Russia and Communist China.

Today's takeover placed all refineries in Cuba under control of the Castro government.

Informing sources said takeover of the American-owned $300 million Cuban Electric Co., and the $125 million Cuban Telephone Co. also appeared by hour away.

The government dispatched two large Cuban planes from the terminal of the Cuban Petroleum Institute with cargo for the companies to refine. The refineries adjoin each other on the bay.

Cdr. Lewis Tamny Reviews Marine Guard

Navy Man Gets Fenced In In Auto Mishap

A Navy man took the “Don't fence me in” lyrics to heart this morning when he crashed into a fence at 1400 West 14th Street, but ended up “fenced in” anyway.

Joseph Leonard Garrett of VARS at NAS, was driving west on 14th when he lost control of his car and ran into a fence bordering the road, police said.

Garrett was held and charged with operating a vehicle while under the influence of an intoxicating beverage and failure to have his vehicle under control, police added.

Cdr. Lewis Tamny Retires After 23 Years In Navy

Sanford Naval Air Station officials Thursday honored retiring Cdr. Lewis B. Tamny with a colorful ceremony at the base.

Tamny will be retiring after 23 years of service, three of those years at the Sanford base.

At the ceremonies, Tamny was thanked by Capt. Robert Slye, NAS commander and other officers for his fine sense of duty at the base.

He was one of the organizers of the safe driving committee at the base and spearheaded a drive for improvement of the recreational facilities at Lake Golden.

Cdr. Tamny began his career in the Navy in 1933 when he attended the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He served aboard cruises until 1940 and then was sent to Pensacola. Cdr. Tamny served aboard the USS Tennessee during the war.

He is holder of the Navy Unit Commendation Ribbon, the Distinguished Flying Cross, six medals and six gold stars.

Sinclair's disclaimer of responsibility came as the trial of 14 former RAF guard accused of violating the constitutional rights of 21 convicts by cruel and unusual punishment, closed its first week.

The trial recessed late Thursday afternoon and will resume Tuesday morning.

Sinclair said it was Colver, fired by Gov. LeRoy Collins after a state investigation of riots and brutality at the prison in 1959, who hired ex-guard Capt. James Dunn, telling Sinclair to listen to Dunn “and learn something.”

Dunn then placed Earl Lally Chester in charge of the maximum security building where the alleged brutalities occurred, said Sinclair.

Dunn and Chester are two of the 14 defendants.

Lawyer Disbarred

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Supreme Court today disbarred Tampa attorney Robert Z. Finkler on charges of professional misconduct. The Florida Bar recommended disbarment, charging that Finkler accepted money from clients for professional fees, then failed to render the services.

Holiday Travelers Warned: Be Alert

Hundreds of Seminole County residents and millions of other Americans will hit the road tonight for a July 4 weekend of picnics, swimming and boating, but as many as 870 of them may die on the highway and 170 to 180 may drown.

The Sheriff's office will run its normal “around the clock” shifts while Highway Patrol officers said today they will “watch carefully for speed-ers.”

County residents were warned by law enforcement officials to be alert, courteous and “use common sense” during the three day holiday weekend.

According to United Press International, the National Safety Council said the traffic death toll could run as high as 870-80 more than on a normal three-day weekend—unless drivers use extra care. Another 18,000 may receive disabling injuries.

Popularity of water sports has increased substantially, the council said, and “people must take extra care to keep the drowning toll from going higher.”

The Safety Council advised: “On the highway, don't speed, don't drink and don't use and fumes.”

“In the water, don't overdo, don't swim alone, don't show off, wherever you are, be patient, be courteous, use common sense.”

The Safety Council estimated 73 million cars, trucks and buses will crowd the highways this weekend. It said the traffic toll could be halved if a billion more than on a normal three-day weekend.

Last year 280 died on the road in a two-day weekend and 173 drowned. In the 1958 three-day traffic death records are 391 in three days in 1958 and 361 in four days in 1959.

It Doesn't Pay For Bank Bandit To Be Too Perfect
MALONE, Fla. (UPI) — Robert Dean Dickey, a stubby little bandit with a yen for perfection, returned to the scene of his crime Thursday and made every mistake in the bank robber's rule book.

“It just wasn't worth it,” the defunct Dickey told police who captured him, his girl friend and $20,000 in stolen money in a Gator-gig confined.

Two weeks ago Dickey had robbed the Farmers Bank of Malone of $1,500 and escaped to a car police said was driven by his girl friend, Sarah Ann McAlpin, 26, of Seaside.

Newspapers commented on the robbery and Dickey's perfect crime. It was reported that Dickey had a plan that lay in his mind since the year on the counter and in a safe. He decided to go back and perfect his mistake.

Shortly before noon Thursday Dickey and Miss McAlpin were again.

There were three employees in the bank when Dickey charged in. He waved a pistol, all the money, and I mean all of it.”

The bank workers hurried about $10,000 into a cloth bag and Dickey tried to lock them in the vault. He failed to notice that the vault door caught on a pin and did not swing entirely shut.

On his way out he ran into a customer, Orbie Williams, coming in. Williams saw an eye in the bank and asked Dickey if the bank were closed. Then Williams noticed the handbag and the gun and ran for Bank President Sam Johnson who chased Dickey but could not catch him.

Dickey and Miss McAlpin, who drove the getaway car, roared northward into Georgia and made another mistake — they took a dead-end road.

They flew on foot into a cornfield near Ocala, Fla., where Georgia officers fired a volley and surrounded the cornfield. Florida officer L. B. Jones walked up to Dickey and found him with a “run in one hand and the money stuffed in the other. I told him to drop the gun, and he did. It was over in ten quick.”

Dickey and Miss McAlpin were taken to jail at Marianna to await arraignment.

The bill passed Congress almost in the identical form Eisenhower had requested. His signature on the bill preceded the taxes from lapsing at midnight tonight.

Other excises continued for another year apply to auto parts, local telephone calls and travel fares.

Despite pressures for some election-year tax relief, Congress heeded Eisenhower's plea for a one-year postponement of all of the July 1 tax reductions scheduled under existing law.

It was on the assumption that the taxes would be maintained that he forecast last January a budget surplus of $4.2 billion for the new fiscal year that starts Friday.

Rev. Boman expressed his thanks to Mrs. Ray R. H. Chambers, J. P. Beal, Betty Wigham, O. Westmorland, Marquerite Townsend, Floia Grester, Duke Dodson, Helen Eguston, Evelyn Varn, Mrs. W. T. Wansley, G. Rickelton, and An Armstrong, who helped by contributing cookies.

The school had an enrollment of 128, with an average attendance of 91 each day.

Violence Flares In Tennessee City Over Mixing Protest

By United Press International

Violence flared briefly Thursday in Knoxville, Tenn., when four sign-carrying Negroes picketing a store were charged by a gang of white youths. The signs were knocked from the Negroes' hands and an elderly Negro was knocked to the ground.

The outbreak was the third such violence in the city in the past four days.

The Rev. W. T. Crutchen, a Negro leader in the sit-in demonstrations, said two gangs of "hoodlums, one white and one Negro, were making a "precarious situation" in the city.

Young Negroes staged more sit-ins at downtown variety, department and drug stores. A group of white youths moved from store to store but left without trouble when store managers threatened police action.

The all-out effort to break down segregation at Knoxville lunch counters started Monday when pickets patrolled in front of one of the city's largest department stores.

In Nashville, Tenn., Negro college students picketed four stores of a chain supermarket with signs proclaiming the stores did not hire Negro clerks. The students called for a boycott of the stores, all of which were located in Negro neighborhoods.

Marine Dies Trying

NEW YORK (UPI) — Death struck down Capt. Colin Antony Laurence Easterbrook, British Royal Marines, not at Dunkirk or Dieppe but in the dingy arena of Madison Square Garden—no less a hero for dying today in a slow-motion, victim of circus mishap.

Easterbrook, 31, of Marlborough and Cambridge and aristocratic, came to America to convince us there's guts yet in the British race. That is how he died proving his point.

He plunged nearly 80 feet Thursday night in the climactic aerial act of the British military forces' first "Tattoo" military exhibition in the United States and died four hours later.

Star of the show, Easterbrook nightly somersaulted out of a cage near the arena ceiling.

He was billed as "Our Man From Havana" — British in the seams in dark suit, white gloves, bowler hat and umbrella.

by Ed Koterba

MOBILE, Ala.—The two men were playing gin rummy at a small table inside a roadside shop that sold firecrackers. This was in Georgia. I waited until the hand was over, and then said: "Who're you for, for President?"

That was the end of the gin? We talked on through seven customers. And that's the way it was across six southern states—Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida and Alabama. People in these parts will hold your ear for hours at the drop of a word about politics.

These people of the crossroads then go on and spell out—each in his own colloquial way—the paradox of Southern politics.

Take what the firecracker man said: "The North will never vote for a Southerner into the White House—Lyndon Johnson doesn't have a chance." He went on: "Even though I think he's the greatest man we have, the pros won't nominate Johnson because they don't want to risk losing the Northern states in November."

The man's partner listened thoughtfully, tapped the edge of a playing card on the table, pursed his lips and nodded his agreement.

I pointed out that the Majority Leader from Texas had performed a civil rights feat no one else had been able to do in 90 years. He had pushed through two bills assuring Negroes greater rights in the last two sessions of Congress.

"Yeh, I know," he said, "but they still don't like him in the North because he's a Southerner."

The paradox of civil rights in the South had another painful twist for the Texan in a talk I had with the owner of a modest motel in northern Florida.

The elderly fellow got so wound up talking politics in the doorway of his office that his Mrs. had to call out twice. "Shut that door, y'wana leave all those mosquitoes in?" before he heard her.

"Johnson sold us out to the Northerners," he said bitterly. "He knew he was going to run for President, so he coveyed up to them birds just so he'd get their vote." The motel man called it "dirty politics."

I asked him who he was rooting for. "Bos," he said, "I'm for Kennedy." When I mentioned that Senator Kennedy's philosophy on civil rights was much more liberal than Senator Johnson's, he shot me a fast look.

"But Kennedy," he said, "didn't turn against his own people like Johnson did."

While a gas station attendant filled our tank in Tallahassee, I threw him this quick one: "Do you believe Richard Nixon is the most qualified man for the Presidency?" His reply: "I'm a Democrat."

"Well, then, what quality would Nixon have to have," I said, "to get your vote in November?"

The man didn't even turn his head. "He'd have to run on the Democratic ticket."

I elicited from him the admission that he'd happily vote for any of the present Democratic contenders—except one.

"If they run Adlai again," he said, "I'm quitting the party. Where did they find him in the first place? Nobody heard about him until they drafted him. No They should have left him there—wherever he was before they found him."

One thing about Southerners: You know where they stand politically—individually, at least.

Three Minutes A Day

By JAMES KELLER

Falling to cash 37 pay checks totaling $5,575 was the casual habit practiced by the head nurse of a city hospital in New Jersey.

Instead of turning her semi-monthly salary checks into money, she just "let them lay around" her room.

This caused so much of a book-keeping headache for city auditors that they threatened to cancel the uncashed checks.

The 50-year-old nurse, who had been on the staff of the hospital for 31 years, agreed to cash future checks promptly, but not without declaring: "I don't think it's anybody's affair. It's my money. I earned it."

When reminded that she had lost considerable interest by not banking her pay checks, she retorted: "It's my money."

A healthy detachment from money helps keep God and others in first place and avoids making us slaves of possessions. But it is important to avoid extremes, lest others suffer by our excess.

"We brought nothing into this world, and certainly we can take nothing out." (1 Timothy 6:7)

Help us, O Lord, to maintain that sense of balance which keeps us true to You, to self and to others.

"IF YOU KNOW OF A BETTER 'OLE, GO TO IT!"

Students Forget It's Privilege To Lead Anti-Red Fight

BY HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON — "The 'Illud' is not about world peace; 'King Lear' is not about a well-rounded man; 'Madame Bovary' is not about the judicious employment of leisure time."

Thus writes Jacques Barzun, dean of faculties and provost of Columbia University — one of the "good" eggheads, and it's to be hoped that some of the presidential candidates get the meaning as applied to the serious business of national politics.

The hope is pertinent because the first picture (I think) of a candidate wearing Indian head-dress has now turned up at Richard Nixon on the Dakota badlands. Also there was a recent picture of Lyndon Johnson bending his long length to kiss a baby.

And we have already had numerous shots of John Kennedy and Nelson Rockefeller accommodating the autograph fiends.

Some of this foolishness, perhaps, is unavoidable — but in 1960 we ought to have a little as possible. All the trappings of tragedy hover about us, yet the two young men most likely to be our next Presidential candidates have not yet begun to speak to us in the passionate language of peril and tribulation. The latest Nixon book, "The Challenges We Face", a digest of his speeches and papers, is familiar and rhetorical. On the front of the dust jacket Nixon is posed with a chummy smile, while on the back he is pictured with his jaw photographically set and his index finger poking Khrushchev on the lapel. Both poses are synthetic, theatrical and unreal. The front page of my morning newspaper has just reported a Nixon farm speech with these dreary platitudes: "A sound fiscal policy... act vigorously... cultivate a climate favorable to freedom."

Kennedy, despite his youthful and debonair appearance, comes much closer to being a serious intellectual. His biographer, Prof. James MacGregor Burns, accurately describes Kennedy as "a serious, driven man, about as casual as a cash register. . . (he) loves to read, to ruminate, to analyze." Well, this is what we need — but it is not the side of the Kennedy character that he has so far shown to the American public.

Deeds are better than words, and it is here in the lack of deeds that the present images of the two leading candidates are most disturbing. Nixon has been the most active vice president in history, but in solemn fact he has done next to nothing in forwarding the American cause. His job just doesn't allow him to call signals or carry the ball for the administration.

As for Kennedy, if he is destined for "greatness" (as I would like to believe), it will not be on his record to date. Should he leave the Senate next year, he will have left almost nothing memorable behind him. In 1958 he started out with the Kennedy-Ervin Labor bill on pension and welfare funds. But the bill was rewritten in the House and became the Tuller bill before it passed into law. In 1959 he co-sponsored the Kennedy-Ervin Labor reporting and disclosure bill, but it was amended with a "bill of rights" in the Senate and in the House was so thoroughly rewritten as the Landrum-Griffin bill that Kennedy once complained to this writer for even referring to it as a "Kennedy" piece of legislation.

As chairman of the labor subcommittee on legislation, Kennedy drew a minimum wage bill, at one point, called for additional coverage of some 11.3 million persons, but it has been cut down in substance to something like $1 million. Last September he pledged on the Senate floor to give early consideration to a secondary boycott measure. Five months of this session passed before he got to it.

Finally, the senator undertook last year to rip (a) the oath of allegiance and (b) the anti-Communist disclaimer from the student loan program. In 1959 the first provision was defeated in the Senate debate, and in 1960 the second provision was radically altered by the Prouty Amendment.

Are Nixon and Kennedy the best candidates for the presidency? It doesn't say so in their records.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Here is a follow-up of Mal's case, which I described yesterday. A year has intervened and now he reports his progress in his quest to regain idealism. Better parts these Case Records in your scrapbook, for someday you'll wish you could have access to them again.

CASE 7-403: Hal R., aged 32, is the cynical playboy whom I described yesterday. But an intervening year has now elapsed.

"Well, Dr. Crane, I thought you'd like a report on my progress." Hal grinned, as he invited me to lunch.

"At the end of your six months' program, I was completely in love with the girl. But I had faithfully followed orders so I hadn't even kissed her yet.

"She took me to church and to the theater; to the opera and to the Aragon. We went on picnics and hikes along the North Shore, and field museums. Then we parked the car in Evanston one Saturday night and went out to sit on the pier. It was dark, but the stars were shining.

"We got to talking about life and humanity and God. She said she was worried about me because I seemed so cynical. She spoke to me like a mother reconstituted with a wayward child.

"All at once I felt as if I were sitting by an angel. I realized I loved her, but my love was so ethereal, I was afraid to kiss her. I just held her hand.

"Funny, isn't it, that an old rounder like me would actually get stage fright around a girl? But I did.

"And I still worship her, despite the fact we've now been married three months."

There are two stages of idealism. One is during childhood or adolescence when we are still not far from the origin of life. The other comes when we begin to turn our eyes towards the setting sun.

During the middle decades, we are likely to become so smug of earthly things that our quest for success or gold distracts us from our quest for idealism.

I have told you that idealism and faith can be consciously cultivated. But we need to use our brains in the process and deliberately go through the proper motions.

Fools and idiots can steal or kill. It requires conscious forbearance and intelligent self-control to act honest and upright.

Fools can make noise, but intelligently controlled behavior is required to bring forth melody from a piano or violin.

Fools can drink and gamble or deplete a woman's virtue, but only a man who diligently curbs

Headache Is A Symptom: Cause Lies Deeper!

(By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Just a few centuries ago it was believed headaches were caused by little devils prod- ing the brain with forks, and the treatment consisted of driving them out. In this generation there has been a great deal of theory substituted for the devils, and the pain-killing drugs have lessened the effect of their work.

Yet very little factual evidence has been submitted as to the cause of headaches. Through chiropractic adjustments the cause of headaches is found and removed resulting in complete recovery in most cases, even to the supposedly incurable migraine type. Have your Chiropractor help you!

We live next to Nature in the Raw. It is a gorgeous life and many writers have made a small bundle by writing about it: "Back to the Woods." "Return to the Farm." Things like that.

I read all these things in a city apartment — steamheated, screened, laundry-called-for-and-delivered. And I yearned for the simple existence.

Now I have it. Simple Simon.

One thing we try to do is keep Nature from getting too raw. A bird is nesting in the house ivy. We also have a couple of garden snakes in the Nvy. We suspect snakes may climb the vine and have a little bit of wren-on-toast. I have more emergency calls than a house doctor.

"Come quick! The snake is going up the ivy!"

Well, I go out and poke around the ivy with a stick (we have a long snake-poking stick).

I cannot find the snake and the small birds seem content in their nest.

However, this reminds everybody that a snake might come in the house. Ugh!

"Close the doors! Close the windows!"

"Snakes don't come in houses. Do you want us all to suffocate in here?"

It seems they do so come in houses. And everybody—everybody except me, that I has heard some horrid stories. Snakes having a cup of rice right in the kitchen.

When I was reading those books, I was informed by Nature kept a wonderful pace. (Nature, they said, was kind of CPA.)

You ask me, I think Nature is unbalanced. I try to be it balanced. But it is like when you try to carry a plate of sandwiches and your milk at the same time.

Only this morning I was miffed—the coffee was still cold anyway since I was given snake-chasing. I was given emergency siren.

The dog and deer arching—

Deer come down in third regularly. Not because I in such a primitive area. No is because the county has deer game preserve. They have ten all sorts of rules to praise deer.

The dog and deer warbling all right. It is a dog lives up the street. There was a young spike buck. He had read the rules.

As I remember in "Call the Wild" or in "Tom Swift and His Electric Ice Breaker," this is a Law of Fang and Claw. The dog was supposed to this deer in the throat. The deer was supposed to knife the dog with his sharp front feet.

Instead of this, the dog was biting the deer. And the deer could not give him the boots because the dog was biting him in the after decks. They both made a terrific amount of noise. But you could see they were not up on their literature.

Now this is the time you should let Nature stay in balance—though I must say Nature was doing a pretty poor job.

This is the time (according to the books) where your French-Canadian guide turns to you and says: "Yes, Monsieur, life is cruel in the North country. C'est la vie." You then go on to mine gold, sobered and wiser.

But the kids were screaming. And neighbor ladies came out, flapping dish towels and getting generally hysterical.

So I pegged a few rocks at the dog. He let go the deer who went off in a huff. So back to the cold coffee.

Look For Quality When Buying Suits

MYRTLE C. WILSON

Home Demonstration Agent

MEN: Buying a new suit? Ivy League, continental or natural style? Woolen, worsted, synthetic or blend Solid color pattern Blue, brown, charcoal or new color blend?

Learn how to buy quality workmanship — the quality that adds to cost, wear and comfort.

Invisible cost — the parts of the suit that you can't see, and the amount of hand tailoring to fasten them in place — make wise choices difficult.

For example, prospective buyers cannot see the interlining of the lapels and collar. But they can test it by crumpling a corner of the lapel forward. If it springs back in a jiffy, the lining is resilient and will hold its shape. But if it stays limp, the lining is probably a sleazy cotton that won't hold the desired shape and position. In quality suits, lapels roll back to the coat and never fall forward. Good collars turn over smoothly and set properly to the neck for the lifetime of the suit.

The padding that forms the shoulder and chest line is another invisible cost. Firm, light-weight padding permanently shaped with hand stitching creates a straight, firm shoulder line and smooth, rounded chest. Inexpensive, lumpy padding causes the front and shoulder lines to break or ripple over the padding and where it ends.

Narrow, pre-shrunk, firm tape stitched around armholes, front coat edges and the bride stay (the V-line of the coat) are other tailoring techniques that add to cost, wear and comfort. If the tape isn't there or is of poor quality, armholes and edges may stretch or pucker, the V-line may buckle out and the roll won't hold.

Plan Summer Fun And Recreation For Entire Family

Recreation and summertime just naturally seem to go together. Wholesome recreation is a year-round need for old and young alike. More of us are realizing that fact all of the time. It's part of the training program in much of our work with 4-H clubs, home demonstration clubs and organized communities.

With summertime at hand, and some activities already scheduled, this is a good time to take a look ahead. Call a family conference sometime soon to plan for the best use of leisure time, energy and recreational dollars for summer months.

First, study the recreational interests and needs of each family member. Help each one develop a greater variety of outside interests.

Next, plan time for recreation in the family schedule. Talking this over often helps family members to see how adjustments can be made so that everyone has some individual time for recreation, and that all members plan some time for family recreation — at least once weekly.

Next, plan and provide a place that's comfortable and adequate for each family member. For indoor recreation, an unused room or basement would make an ideal room for the T. V., piano, record player, radio, or indoor games. For outdoor recreation, the family might arrange a court for horse-shoes, volleyball, badminton, or croquet.

A cement porch or driveway makes a good shuffleboard court. The garage or car port provides floor space for table tennis or other outdoor games. A simple fireplace for outdoor cooking is easy to build and provides lots of enjoyment. If you are really ambitious, the family might develop an outdoor living room for all forms of recreation.

Money is usually an item in planning recreation. Family and community recreation can keep the cost down. Check on the recreation provided in your own community and county for the summer.

Shopping Sense Controls Food Bill

MYRTLE C. WILSON

The family food bill will be more or less, depending upon your choices. What you buy involves a choice within food groups. In spite of improved marketing, prices vary between certain cuts of meat or types of fruits or vegetables. For example, sirloin steak costs more than hamburger, asparagus more than cabbage and asparagus more than bananas.

Deciding what to buy is only part of the cost picture, however. Many elements of how you buy also alter your food bills. These include the state or form of the food, whether it is fresh or processed, the grade, the size and kind of packaging and the type of market in which you shop.

The extent to which you take advantage of abundant food supplies and special sales also affect your total bill.

With marketing advances, "seasons" for food are almost obsolete. Many foods are available the year round anywhere within the continental U. S. A. Peak supplies of food now determine the time when the food will usually cost the least.

The amount of service purchased enters into the cost picture, too. If you buy heat-and-serve foods, you must expect to pay for the convenience. For example, a ready-prepared frozen pie costs more than one you make yourself.

Try A Variety Of Seasonings For Vegetables

Home Demonstration Agent

Sometimes it is the seasoning that makes a dish so good the family calls for second and third helpings.

A variety of seasonings will make fresh vegetables more popular — and plenty of vegetables means improved diet.

Give these simple seasonings to try those vegetables new life. Cook a tablespoon or two of minced onion, green pepper, or parsley with snap beans or yellow squash. Cook a few mint leaves with English peas.

Put a pinch of your favorite herbs in water when you cook lima beans. Or easy with the seasonings. Their pungency easily overshadows the delicate flavors of vegetables.

Point up the flavor of cooked vegetables by seasoning with flavorful fats such as bacon drippings, butter or margarine, or salad oil to which lemon juice, horseradish or a whisper of garlic has been added. If you use bacon drippings, add bits of crisp bacon. These are especially good with greens.

Women on the Go

JEANNE WARNE

A SURPRISE PARTY recently honored Lottie (Mrs. Charles B.) Smith who left this week from Tampa on a freighter to Europe. The party was given by Billie (Mrs. George) Kimmons at her home on Pine Lake in Loch Arbor.

The hostess said the party was a "lunch and punch" affair and included the following wives from VAH-1: Mrs. William Blakemore, Mrs. Kenneth L. Coskey, Mrs. Donald Ethell, Mrs. Harvey E. Fisher, Mrs. Charles E. Guthrie, Mrs. Charles Hodgate, Mrs. J. D. Koehler, Mrs. Harold McCumber, Mrs. Robert J. Provencher, Mrs. Wes Ralston, Mrs. Charles R. Smith, Mrs. Barton W. Bartholomew, Mrs. Larry speaker, Mrs. Keith Tournay and Mrs. William Reyn.

Table attraction was a clever scene made by Mrs. Kimmons. A huge mahogany bowl depicting a ship had a mast made of bamboo. A paper sail said "Bon Voyage Lottie". A figurine represented the honoree as she "sailed away" and adding to the decoration were pretty hibiscus.

MRS. BARTHOLOMEW

A GROUP OF NAVY WIVES, under the leadership of Kay (Mrs. Barton) Bartholomew, are to be congratulated for organizing a discussion group that should be a worthwhile way to spend an afternoon. Mrs. Bartholomew, who has taken part in discussion groups and receiving mental stimulation by verbal participation and listening to others express their views. "Communism and Moral Decay of Our Society" was the chief topic at the first meeting and will be continued in a series.

Although the ideal number for a discussion group is between 8-10 a large number of both Navy and civilian wives have shown such interest that various groups are expected to branch out from this initial start.

Oviedo Resident Wins Scholarship

Mrs. Warren McCall, of Oviedo, has received word that she is the recipient of a state scholarship to the college of her choice. Mrs. McCall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Miller of Oviedo. She is an active worker in community affairs, including church and club work. She is currently the leader of the MYF of the First Methodist Church.

She hopes to attend the University of Florida with her husband, who has been accepted for the fall term. They are both graduates of the Oviedo High School.

After being discharged in military service Mr. McCall studied electronics in St. Louis, Mo. He has recently been employed by Dynatronics near Sanford. He plans to continue his electronic work in Gainesville.

Among "disciples" at the first meeting were Ann Allen, Virginia Burney, Mary Joyce Bateman, Louise Andrus, Helen Tucker, Lottie Smith, Billie Kimmons, Shirley Risher, Donna Coakley, Audrey Brownlee, Bet Stalpe, Jean Michael, Marge Wood, Gladys Smith, Katherine Ladd, Carolina Fine, Blanche Ter Horst and Helen Smith. Special guest was Andrew Bracken.

JULIE (Mrs. Gly K.) BISHOP, minister of music at the First Baptist Church, left with a large group, Wednesday, for Ridgecrest, N. C. to attend Music Week at the Southern Baptist Assembly. Around 3,000 will be at the meeting with 500 participating in the voice choir. On Saturday night a quartet from Sanford, composed of H. E. McSwain, Ed Alderman, Dalton Cates and Bob Hasty, and under the direction of Mrs. Bishop, will sing.

The young people in the group, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. McSwain, Mrs. J. V. Jones, W. I. Crabtree and Mrs. Christine Woodruff, are Jim Swaim, Lynn Crabtree, Bettye Ann Sison, Linda Sue Koke, Linda McSwain, Douglas Stenstrom, Barry Brown, Allen Abner and Randy Jones.

WHILE PHONE CONVERSING with Mrs. Bishop there was background chattering interspersed with an occasional whistle—and inquiry brought forth the information that she has a blue parakeet named Toscanini that talks almost incessantly. "Nini," for short, has an amazing vocabulary and isn't the least bit modest as he reminds everyone that he is a "good" or else "sweet" bird! But Mrs. Bishop said that Toscanini thinks that he is really a person. He probably feels superior, too, because he can say "Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers" better than the best of us!

ANN (Mrs. Ralph, Jr.) COWAN recently drove all the way to her parents home in Monroe, La., and with her three children, too! But she was assisted by her maid and the trip was uneventful. It was her first time home in three years so she was royally welcomed with a luncheon and a bridge party nearly every day. While his family was gone, Ralph Cowan went to New York City to buy merchandise for Cowan's Department Store.

Greyhounds Start Out FSL Second Half On Right Foot

Locals Slug Leesburg Here By 9-6 Score

By JERRY COVINGTON
The Sanford Greyhounds, playing their first game under Manager Lloyd Brown, battled the Leesburg Orioles to a 9-6 victory to open the second half of the Florida State League season.

A noisy crowd of 275 fans were on hand as the hard hitting Greyhounds began to lash out base hits in the first inning and jump off to a 6-1 lead.

Rookie right-hander Ken Sanders started on the mound for the Greyhounds and registered his 11th win against six defeats although he had to receive help from Ken Banovic in the sixth inning.

He was touched for two base hits in the first inning and gave up a run but then he got tough until the fifth inning.

He was lapped for three rallies and two runs in that inning. In the sixth inning Roger Pearson led off with a double and Sanders retired the next two batters. He then began to tire and was touched for two more singles. He hit the next batter to lead the bases and Brown called in Banovic.

Banovic found trouble with his control and threw wild hitting two runs score. He walked the next batter but was able to get the next batter to ground out to end the inning. From here on out he was tough striking out five and allowing but one base hit.

In the first inning with one out Bill Dukes received a walk. New infielder Frank Cipriani was also walked by the pitcher, Young. Then Ken Harroson, sent a line shot to the right centerfield fence for a double driving in Dukes. Bolivar Hinojosa then singled through the box driving in Capriani and Harroson. Bob Perez followed with a walk and Dick Green singled sharply to left leading the bases once again. Third baseman George Arroyo then sent a singling double down the right-field line driving in three more runs.

The Greyhounds pushed across three more runs in the fourth inning on two hits, two sacrifices, a base on balls and two Leesburg errors.

In other FSL action Lakeland, first-half pennant winners capitalized on four innings of shut-out pitching by $78,000-bonus rookie Sam McDowell to defeat Orlando 4-2.

McDowell, who picked up the five-figure bonus from the Cleveland Indians, turned over a 3-0 lead to reliever Jim South, who was awarded the decision. McDowell apparently tired after limiting the Dodgers to one scratch single in his professional debut.

Daytona Beach, which finished last in the first-half race but has been bolstered since by several new players, got a pair of two-run homers from second baseman Larry Fogley to edge Palatka 7-6.

Fogley's second roundtripper broke up the game in the last of the ninth. Bill Kesack also homered for the Islanders.

Tampa pitcher Jesse Hickman struck out 11 en route to a 9-2 win over St. Petersburg. Tarpon outfielder Ovidio Maldonado singled four times.

Tonight Sanford plays at Leesburg, Lakeland at Orlando, Daytona at Palatka, and St. Pete at Tampa.

Stuart Returns To Haunt Doubters With Three Homers

United Press International
Dick Stuart has three good reasons to believe he has finally silenced the "wolves" at Pittsburgh's Forbes Field — at least until tonight's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Benching by Manager Danny Murtaugh last weekend for weak hitting and booby by Pittsburgh fans all season, the husky Californian turned those jeers to cheers Thursday night when he hit three consecutive home runs in the second game of a doubleheader against the San Francisco Giants.

Stuart's "bat trick" propelled the Pirates to an 11-4 victory after the Giants had won the opener, 11-0, with a 17-hit attack.

In the first game, Stuart was booed loudly when he struck out as a pinch-hitter. But Murtaugh injected the husky first baseman into his second game lineup and Stuart reacted quickly — tagging starter Mike McCormick for a three-run blast in the first inning.

It was his ninth homer of the season but his first at Forbes Field this year.

Stuart, though, didn't stop there. He hit a solo homer off Billy Loes in his next at-bat in the third inning and then made it 3-for-3 with another base-empty clout off loser Stu Miller in the fifth frame.

It was Stuart's best performance since he joined the Pirates two years ago after a sensational career in the minors.

Willsie Mays also enjoyed a big night at the expense of the Pittsburgh pitchers. The Giants' center-fielder collected six hits in seven at-bats, including his 13th and 16th homers, drove in five runs and regained the National League batting leadership with a .341 average.

The second-place Milwaukee Braves dropped three games back of the Pirates by losing to the Chicago Cubs, 11-5, and the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-6, Cincinnati and St. Louis were idle.

The Baltimore Orioles regained second place in the American League with a 9-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians; the New York Yankees handed the Kansas City Athletics their seventh consecutive defeat, 10-3; the Chicago White Sox downed the Washington Senators, 4-2, in 10 innings, and the Boston Red Sox ripped the Detroit Tigers, 11-7.

Ernie Banks smashed the 250th home run of his major league career and Richie Ashburn collected his 2,300th major league hit as the Cubs chased Law Burdette with a five-run rally in the sixth inning.

The Cubs collected 14 hits, including four by pitcher Don Cardwell.

Sturdy relief pitching carried the Dodgers to victory at Philadelphia. Roebuck took over in the fourth inning and allowed only three hits and one run the rest of the way to pick up his sixth

Bowler Sets Scratch Game Record Here

Clarence Wallis, Sr., rolling for Leroy Benton's General Contracting team, rapped up a big 270 scratch game, Tuesday evening in The Seminole County Businessmen's Bowling League.

This set a new record for sanctioned games here in Sanford. Another player who also was not, this week, was Johnny Johns, as he put together a 211-211-199 to make him a 621 scratch series.

Sanford Atlantic National Bank, climbed on the bandwagon also, and took three wins from Pol-Air making the bankers a total of 33 wins in first place. Harvey's Plumbing still holds second with 30, followed by Sanford Auto Parts, 29; Owen's Gulf Service, 27 1/2; Wall's Plumbing, 27 1/2; Benton's, 26; Wally's Phillips 66 with 25; Abstract Corp., 25; Gator Lumber, 24 1/2; Sanford Electric, 24; Horne's Distributors, 21; Ride-A-While Stables, 21; Pol-Air, 20; Vulcan Materials, 17 1/2; Atlantic Coast Line 17, and Florida State Bank 16.

Filling in the split circle with a pick-up of the 3-10 split, was Jim Carmichael, Elston Bard, Z. Marcel, E. Marion, Ken McIntosh, and Fred McMurray.

People can say what they will about the North's fighting small-mouth bass, but for sheer strength the St. John's River black bass takes the cake.

Polished Performances Fail To Save Contrived Steel Hour Melodrama

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—A polished performance by Burt Brinckerhoff was the most lustrous nugget in "The Great Gold Mountain," Wednesday night's "U.S. Steel Hour" drama.

Set in a small Indiana town called Barcelona during the summer of 1927, the lead-filled story attempted a souped-up "teen town" sort of study. It depicted the impact on the villagers' morals and morale when a cool, alcohol-guzzling cookie, played by Polly Bergen, landed in town.

Aided by her boyfriend, played by Robert Lansing, Miss Bergen attempted to be working a profitable phony stock game on the restless natives. The caper led to the suicide of the town's elderly newspaper editor, played by Ed Begley, after he learned (1) that his lovely young wife was carrying on with Lansing, and (2) the stock he bought with his hard-earned cash was worthless. At the end of Ron Sproat's CBS-TV teleplay, from a novel by James McCague, Miss Bergen was gruesomely filled with remorse and young Brinckerhoff, the eager, fawning young cub reporter, took over the paper and married his childhood sweetheart. Presumably, he never had cause for remorse.

Brinckerhoff's performance, in a play that was too contrived to be effective, succeeded in creating an honest, believable portrait. He was fine. Everyone else did their best with the material at hand. It wasn't gold.

Garry Moore pulled a Jack Paar Wednesday night. He walked out.

Garry's departure, when his CBS-TV "I've got a Secret" show at the instigation of guest Vic Borge, who suggested that Garry take his vacation effective immediately, Moore picked up a suit case and toddled off. Bill Cullen took over Moore's chair and Borge subbed for Cullen. Cullen, of course, but it was good fun. One of the guests was Henry Feldman, the new U.S. spelling bee champ, who triumphed with the word, "eudaimonic." Eudaimonic? That describes the show.

Dialing and Filing: ARV-TV hour-long documentary, "Japan—Anchor in the East," contains its own apology for only scratching the surface of the story, so

Later, he had his chair too far back during the excitement of the game and went sprawling, struggling to his feet, he was entangled in the curtain. He could laugh, since he left show with more than $30,000 prize.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Sandburg To Write Film

FLAT ROCK, N. C. (UPI)—Carl Sandburg, 42-year-old poet of the woods, the workman and the world, signed a contract Thursday to write a motion picture for 20th Century-Fox on the life of Jesus Christ.

The movie company will spend a year and $15 million in filming the life of Christ. It will be an adaptation of Fulton Oursler's best-selling book "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Sandburg, who dressed up for the occasion by putting on a baggy vest and bow tie, signed the contract with producer-director George Stevens on the porch of his mountain home here.

It will be the first movie venture for Sandburg, who holds two Pulitzer Prizes for his poetry and his massive biography of Abraham Lincoln which was 18 years in the writing.

"I have written in more diversified fields than any American author," he said. "Why ain't I got a right to write for movies?"

Sandburg recalled the day in 1921 when he reviewed the motion picture "The King of Kings" for the Chicago News.

"My lead for the story said, 'Today I picked a pink carnation from a papier mache tomb of Jesus Christ,'" he said.

Stevens said he considered Sandburg "a natural" for the writing job and said the white-haired poet "has a large accumulation of material on the subject."

Sandburg said the movie would show compassion, wisdom and great mystery because "there has never been a more mysterious stranger than Christ." He will arrive in Hollywood July 18 to start work.

Bees And Other Insects Called Bigger Killer Than Snakes

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bees and other insects kill more Americans each year than all poisonous snakes combined, the Journal of the American Medical Association said today.

Insect stings may even lie behind fatal heart and heat prostration attacks in summertime, the magazine said.

The worst killers are the honeybee and bumblebee and three wasps—yellow jacket, hornet and polistes—the article quoted Dr. Harry L. Mueller of Boston.

"Most medical authorities are convinced that severe reactions to insect stings are the result of an allergy," the article said. "Severe reactions... occur more commonly than is generally supposed."

"In fact," Mueller said, "it is possible that unrecognized cases account for some of the sudden deaths attributed to heart failure and heat prostration in the insect season."

The article warned homeowners and hikers to watch out for bee and wasp nests and to guard against insects through spray repellents. It also said bees and wasps are attracted to dark clothing and to hair oils and perfumes which contain floral odors.

The heart disease death rate in overweight women is about 50 per cent above that for the non-obese.

Smathers Urges West Hemisphere Police Force

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) in a Senate speech Thursday, called on the United States to take the lead in organizing a Western hemisphere police force.

Such a force, Smathers said, was needed to guard against "the menace of Cuban Communism and dictatorship."

He said U. S. initiative in the matter "would be welcomed by most if not all the Western hemisphere republics, excluding Cuba."

West Gets New Friend As Somalia Gets Independence

MOGADISHU, Somalia (UPI)—The independent East African republic of Somalia was born today in pride and poverty.

The infant nation, tied firmly to the West through pledges of long-term economic aid, merged Italian and British Somalilands with a total population of about three million.

Italian Somaliland, for the past 10 years a United Nations trusteeship, had represented the last remnant of an overseas empire built and soon lost by Fascist Dictator Benito Mussolini.

The United States, Italy and Britain pledged $6.2 million in aid to Somalia in its first year. This and the crude agrarian economy were about the only immediate assets of the youngest of the large crop of African states to reach independence in the last 15 years.

All cares were forgotten today, however, as dignitaries from scores of foreign nations mingled with farmers and nomadic tribesmen in colorful ceremonies under a blazing hot sun.

Unlike the sprawling and potentially rich Congo which attained independence Thursday, Somalia was not threatened with any heated tribal disputes or political discord.

If May Be The Heat But Several Politicians Become 'Uncomfortable'

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—It could be the heat, as Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) suggests or, perhaps, it could be the humidity. Whichever it may be, it made several politicians extremely uncomfortable. Johnson's discomfort was caused by Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams of Michigan.

Williams told a questioner at the Glacier Park governors' conference that Johnson had threatened to block the Farand bill for medical care for the aged if Williams announced support of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) for president. Williams said the threat was made to Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers of America. Johnson and his associates sharply denied the story, which the governor conceded he had second hand.

"It is very unfortunate," Johnson said, "that political campaigns are carried on in the summer months when the heat affects some people's judgment. The story is untrue—the usual pre-convention nonsense." And Reuther said the story "has no basis in fact."

Another brush fire of misunderstanding burns around Kennedy and what he told Liberal Party leaders in New York about his attitude toward southern delegates to the Democratic national convention. A headline on June 23 said: "Kennedy assure liberals he seeks no help in South." The story lead off like this:

"Sen. John F. Kennedy told the Liberal Party yesterday that he hoped to win the Democratic nomination for president without a single southern vote in the convention. Immediately after his statement, the Massachusetts senator was assured of a Liberal endorsement of the vote."

Such an endorsement could be vital to his chances of carrying New York in the election.

North Orlando Youths Get Set For Camp Trip

More than 14 North Orlando boys and girls attended the special 4-H club meeting held at the home of Mrs. Anton Kreck, 140 Edgemon Ave. to prepare picture stencils for the youth's Kraft aluminum project.

Mrs. Kreck said the picture stencil project is being made ready for the 4-H competitions to be held at Camp McQuarrie next week.

Approximately 70 youths from Seminole County are expected to attend the camp, located near Ocala National Forest.

Lots Of Luck

KEENE, N. H. (UPI)—Horse shoes may be a lucky omen for some people—but not Norman G. Gauvin of Marlboro, N. H.

He was driving in South Keene when suddenly a horse shoe crashed through his windshield and landed in the front seat next to him. He said a horse was going in the opposite direction and somehow tossed the shoe.

Big Order

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—If all the midwife kits supplied by the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) to the world's health and welfare programs were stacked up, they would reach twice as high as Mt. Everest.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a bunch of free-loading relatives who pile in on my poor mother every Sunday. Cars with as many as eight of them drive up and they all stay for supper. Ma is in her eighties and that is a lot of work for an old woman to do all by herself. Nobody even stays to help her with the dishes.

I can't get over these every Sunday to take some of the load off her. These relatives are so cheap they don't even bring anything towards the meal, so Ma has to dig into her deep freeze. She is too good-natured to tell these freeloaders what she thinks of them. Pa almost blew his top last Sunday when the relatives brought some of their friends. Is it my place to say something or not?

CONCERNED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: You bet it's your place. Tell them off, and do it before next Sunday.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get my wife to remember what she should remember and forget what she should forget? When I take her to the grocery store she forgets what she went in to buy. But she can remember when I got drunk at the Elks Club dance New Year's Eve in 1922. She is 76 and I'm 77.

HENPECKED

DEAR HENPECKED: Forgetting what happened yesterday and remembering what happened 40 years ago is not uncommon in folks your age, and it's not serious. Just remember to thank your lucky stars every night that you still have each other.

DEAR ABBY: When I married Alfred 18 years ago, he was a widower with two tiny tots—one daughter and one son. I raised them both to adulthood and saw them married. I prided myself on being a good mother and everyone will tell you I did a fine job.

Last year Alfred's daughter fell victim to a fatal disease. I nursed her night and day until she died. It was a great shock and loss to all of us. What I want to know is, when do stepmothers start getting a little credit along with the hard work of raising another woman's children?

When the death notice appeared in the paper, I wasn't even mentioned. It read: "She left her husband, her father and one brother."

Would there have been anything wrong in mentioning the stepmother who raised her?

STEPPED ON STEPMOTHER

DEAR STEPPED ON: In a routine obituary or death notice, only blood kin are mentioned. There was no intentional slight here.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KAREN: A smart girl doesn't show her hand until she's asked for it.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YUL BRYNNER and lovely Kay Kendall keep the laughs rolling in "Once More, With Feeling," coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Comedy Film Coming To Movieland

Yul Brynner demonstrates in "Once More With Feeling" that he is as much at home in modern comedy as he is in a swashbuckling spectacle.

Lovely Kay Kendall co-stars with Brynner in the film coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday. The film is a happy comedy about a musical genius whose eccentricities are kept in check by his wife... until she discovers him auditioning a sultry young pianist. She walks out on him and his career promptly starts skidding.

In time, the maestro decides to forgive her, only to discover she now is in love with an atomic scientist and is determined to marry him once her divorce comes through.

The other feature on the program is "Drums Along the River." Both films will play through Monday. On Tuesday and Wednesday, "Green Mansions" and "Legion of the Doomed" will be shown. Three films will play on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are "The Unforgiven," "Timbuktu," and "Ain't Misbehavin'."

'Circus Of Horrors' At Ritz Sunday

"Circus Of Horrors" coming to the Ritz Theatre is a pageant of color, a triumph of Big Top entertainment, and a parade of crime that culminates in one of the most suspenseful scenes the screen can offer.

Starred as circus owner Dr. Goethe, is British actor Anton Difting, familiar to American audiences through appearances in Douglas Fairbanks' television series. Also starred are Erika Remberg as Elissa, a trapeze artist, whose beauty he created—Yvonne Monlaux as Nicole, beautiful young equestrienne-ballerina. Circus scenes were filmed at the Billy Smart's Circus right outside London, with the real performers in their roles. In spectra—and wide screen, the Julian Winde-Latin Parkyn production is a blending of the most suspenseful action and color in the entertainment world.

With all the trappings of the circus, plus the horrors of a plastic surgeon gone mad from his pursuit of beauty, "Circus Of Horrors" brings excitement at fever pitch to the screen.

Butler Says That Nixon Looms As Nikita's Choice For President

By LYLE WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—United Press International reported last week from Milwaukee that Democratic National Committee Chairman Paul Butler had spotted Nikita S. Khrushchev's candidate for president of the United States. Butler said Mr. K wanted Vice President Richard M. Nixon to be elected. The chairman was in Milwaukee denouncing the Wisconsin Democratic convention.

Butler said Mr. K felt that Nixon would be the easiest for the Communists to deal with. It is Khrushchev's strategy, Butler said, to say that he dislikes Nixon on the assumption that Americans will react by voting for the vice president.

Perhaps Butler is right about that. If so, however, the Communists appear to have some other favorites, several of them. For example, the principal Communist publication in the United States is a weekly, The Worker, published in New York.

The Worker's current edition devoted most of its editorial page to a discussion of American presidential politics, especially with respect to foreign relations. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was the editorial's principal target. The caption was "Kennedy's Retreat."

The editorial finds Kennedy and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, of New York, alike on foreign policy in support of the "bankrupt Eisenhower - Dulles - Truman-Acheson policies... the cold war policy, the 'positions of strength' policy, the policy of war preparations leading to the danger of a third world war."

Kennedy and Rockefeller, the Worker said, were not only political spokesmen but were class symbols of "the decisive imperialist circles."

Accompanying the editorial was an article by Clarence A. Hathaway, chairman of the Communist Party of New York, accusing several presidential prospects of offering "simple minded solutions" for the foreign policy problems confronting the United States, notably with respect to communism and national defense.

Linked together by Hathaway as simple minded statesmen were Rockefeller, Kennedy, Nixon, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.).

"Nelson Rockefeller stated the issue," Hathaway wrote, "for all others to echo."

"I believe," he says, "that the future development of our foreign policy must begin with the fact that our position in the world is dramatically weaker today than 15 years ago."

"They - Rockefeller, Nixon, Symington, Johnson, Kennedy - have simple one-word explanations. With variations in tone, they rush to microphones to castigate - communism - Khrushchev - China! Their solutions are just as simple-minded - anti-communist! - devastating military strength! - accelerated war preparations! - war on the Soviet Union and China!"

The Worker believes it would be best to nominate Adlai E. Stevenson.

U. S. Takes Paper Step Forward In Space War

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — You might say that America took a "paper step" forward into space today, but space scientists here hardly looked up from their drawing boards—too busy.

Judge Shaken Over Verdict On Whitney

MIAMI (UPI) — Judge Harold Whitely seemed more emotionally shaken than Dennis Whitney Thursday when he sentenced the youthful red-haired gunman to death in the electric chair for killing service station attendant Arthur Kessler.

Whitely, 37, of North Hollywood, Calif., stood with his habitual lack of expression or apparent interest as Vann doomed him.

But Vann had to halt twice, his voice breaking first on the phrase, "May God have mercy on your soul," and then on a brief comment he inserted on his own into the ritualized sentencing, "I'm sorry for you."

Whitely was executed before he was 20, Whitney will be the youngest white person in Florida's history to die in the electric chair.

His lawyers said they planned to exhaust every legal appeal. If these fail, the governor will sign the execution order directing the warden at Raiford State Prison to have Whitney electrocuted during the specific week.

The tall, slim youth admitted shooting seven men and one woman in the head with a .25-caliber pistol as he fled from a Callahan home in Florida during February and March.

All but one of the men died. Whitney received a life sentence May 4 for killing the woman, Mrs. Virginia Selby of Hialeah.

A jury of 11 men and one woman convicted him Thursday in the death of Kessler.

through of major proportions may be in the making.

The newsmen to this space port on the Florida sands quickly get the feel of this "Cape Canaveral spirit." It's everywhere, but it grows keener the closer you come to a triangular pattern of launching pads outlined against the sky like so many oil derricks.

On the night of June 21 three men paced nervously on a platform not far from the spot where a rocket with a double satellite in her nose was being prepared for space flight. They were scientists who had helped with the payload, working 18 hours a day. But they had come in this final moment to watch their precious product soar away.

"Worked pretty hard on this one, did you?" a reporter asked, "night after night," one of them said fervently. "In and out of divorce courts. That's the price."

Hundreds like them have come here to pour their energies into America's missile and space program.

It was in 1956 that the decision was made to concentrate missile and space development at this one-time dot on the map that has become of major military, scientific, political and ideological importance in a short decade.

That was the year Edwin J. Boyle of Providence, R. I., was 22 and had just graduated from West Point.

Today Boyle, an Air Force captain, has the responsibility for watching the functions of space-assigned missiles from the time they arrive on the pads until the final count-down starts. He is a veteran of seven satellite launches.

A decade ago Postmaster Oliver Halsten had charge of a fourth class postoffice at Cocoa Beach, the Cape's home town, and did a business of less than $1,500 a year. Today, he has a first class office and has close to $45,000 in annual revenue.

From a 1950 population of 250, the town's populace has boomed to 2,600, not counting thousands who live outside the corporate limit. The city's budget was only $37,000 seven years ago. Today it is $320,000.

"I believe this will be the longest lived of any of our military installations, Brig. Gen. William L. Rogers, vice commander of the Air Force Missile Training Command, predicted in an interview.

'Swinging' King Of Thailand Looks Out Of Place In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the son of a Harvard man, the king of Thailand surely must know that crimson is the color of the old school that.

But when he appeared before a joint meeting of the U. S. Congress, King Bhumibol had on a necktie that looked suspiciously like Yale blue. This made me wonder if he and Queen Sirikit might be color blind.

Before the royal couple arrived for their state visit here, I read a report that the Queen planned to follow the ancient Siamese tradition of wearing a certain color for each day of the week.

The color chart for Wednesday called for her to wear green. But when she appeared in the House chamber Wednesday to hear the King's congressional address, she was dressed in something orange, which is Thursday's color.

At any rate, the King is a very interesting fellow, being, as far as I know, the only monarch who plays jazz on the clarinet and saxophone.

As one who has matched hot licks with Benny Goodman, he may have felt a bit out of his element at the White House dinner where the music was supplied by Guy Lombardo.

Lombardo, as you know, plays "the sweetest music this side of heaven" with the soggiest saxophones this side of Lawrence Welk. Fortunately, he did not play a medley from "The King and I."

The main character in this Broadway and Hollywood musical was supposed to represent one of Bhumibol's ancestors. I understand the King was not enchanted by it and I can't say that I blame him.

I would be upset, too, if people got the impression that one of my ancestors looked like Yul Brynner.

Defense Expected To Start Case In Voting Trial

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—Defense attorneys were expected to start presenting their case today in the Terrell County voter registration trial, in which the U. S. Justice Department accuses county officials of discrimination in registration of Negro voters.

The chief voting registrar of Terrell County Thursday made the first outright admission that any official involved in registering voters was prejudiced against Negroes.

James G. Raines, a defendant, testified that the deputy voting registrar in 1958, now dead, had "no intention" of giving registration tests to Negroes.

U. S. District Judge William A. Boodle had asked Raines to explain why he said earlier that F. Lawson Cook had been "vehement" in telling him he had given no literacy or good citizenship tests to Negroes who applied between 1946 and 1956.

"Cook had a strong opinion on the subject," Raines said. "He was a person who had no intention of giving the tests. I could not change that."

Defense attorney Charles J. Bloch immediately asked Raines if he shared those views.

"I do not," Raines said. The defense has said repeatedly throughout the four days of the trial that none of the present Terrell registrars discriminated against Negro applicants seeking to vote.

Indications were the trial may end Saturday, or at least be recessed, to allow Raines, Bloch and other members of the defense team to attend the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles.

The government has served notice it will ask Judge Boodle, who is hearing the case without a jury, to appoint a federal voting referee under the 1960 Civil Rights Act.

New Congo President Looms A Man Of The Week

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign Editor

The man-of-the-week: Patrice Lumumba, premier of independent Congo.

The place: Leopoldville.

The quote: "Our primary concern will be social justice and progress. There will be no dictatorship. We want to maintain friendly relations with all nations and we will join neither of the two blocs now dividing the world. In international relations we will always fight for freedom and just cause."

The words were high-flown as he sits in the family of independent nations.

And for the Belgians who for 75 Congo, he had these reassuring words: "Now European residents and Congolese will build together. More than ever we will need Belgian help."

But Europeans sipping drinks in the sidewalk cafes of Leopoldville remained plainly worried. Sabena Airlines had had to call in extra planes to handle the mass exodus of wives and children.

The sources of their worries were manifold. There are other natural boundaries not so well known to the people of the rich, sprawling Congo as to the nation. Here, the Belgians had been the sole unifier.

Trials had run deep as had strong influences on wide split political parties.

It was the machete-wielded arguments as often as measured debate.

If suspicion and fear, rattling the Congo's future courted on any one individual, flitted on Patrice Lumumba, steed, one-time postal clerk, organizer and trouble-maker.

Lumumba gained the membership by virtue of the fact that his National Congolese Movement won 31 seats in the 137-member Parliament—farm on a majority but still none in any other.

The choice was (from popular was illustrated by rival politician who said: "A Congolese government without Lumumba is impossible. But a government with him is unthinkable."

Lumumba's dreams are unfulfilled. He plans a United States of Africa, stretching from the Sahara to the borders of white-dominated South Africa. He has plenty of time. He is only 34.

Drive Picks Up To Stop Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Stevenson-for-president organization lined up today with the stop-Kennedy coalition.

A memorandum to Democratic national convention delegates friendly to Adlai E. Stevenson advised them not to panic if Gov. Edmund G. Brown of the pivotal state of California should endorse John F. Kennedy for the presidential nomination.

The memo was sent by James E. Doyle, manager of the organization trying to draft Stevenson for a third try at the White House. It said Brown's endorsement "cannot assure the nomination of Senator Kennedy."

This move came while Kennedy was already under fire from former President Truman, who favors Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the nomination, and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, now Kennedy's chief rival. Both accused Kennedy of being a party to a rigged convention.

Kennedy gets a chance to give his own answer in a televised news conference today from New York, just a week before the national convention opens here.

Doyle's memorandum was understood to have gone to Stevenson delegates in California and other states. It said "persistent reports" indicated that Brown might endorse Kennedy soon and that the action "would be arranged to make it appear that it is the decisive factor."

He said the Stevenson organization's best estimate indicated that Brown's active support of Kennedy would mean no more than an additional 20 votes for the Massachusetts senator.

"This will leave Senator Kennedy about 80 votes short of a first ballot nomination, even if he exhausts his entire ammunition," the memo said. It said he would lose votes on the second ballot.

Kennedy flies here from Hyannis, Mass., to make his reply at a news conference which will be nationally televised as was Truman's from Independence, Mo., Saturday.

Congressmen Head For Conventions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress headed today for the political conventions, leaving behind a half dozen major bills to be acted upon when they return to Washington next month.

The House and Senate recessed early Sunday morning for the presidential nominating conventions. The Democratic convention opens in Los Angeles next Monday and the Republicans meet in Chicago on July 25.

The Senate voted to reconvene on Aug. 8. The House, with less of a backlog of legislation, decided to stay in recess until Aug. 15. Congress is expected to finish its work by early September.

Awaiting the lawmakers upon their return will be such key election-year items as minimum wage legislation, medical care for the aged, and bills affecting school construction, housing, agriculture and payola.

KEVIN DEKLE shows how the robber did it. Insert, Gas Station was entered in the same way. (Herald Photo)

New Gimmick

A robber with a bent for glasscutting broke into two gas stations Saturday morning.

According to police, the robber used a glasscutter to get into Dekle's Gulf station at 2518 French Ave. The door to the wash and grease rack was opened after the glass had been removed. Then the thief used the oil on the door separating the garage from the inside.

The cash drawer was pried open and $40 in bills and $10 in change was taken, police said.

Harold E. Riggs' Sunoco station at 2711 Orlando Hwy was also entered the same way.

The glass in the front door was cut and knocked through with a rock. The whole cash box was taken, Riggs said. He lost about $40 in change and a title to a Buick. The thief also got the keys to the Coca-Cola machine.

Accidental Nuclear War Possible, Study Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A research group says there is a "significant" chance of accidental nuclear war in the 1960s and Red China presents a special cause for alarm.

The study, prepared by a research team from Ohio State University, said that when Communist China gets nuclear weapons, the danger of war over Formosa will be greater than the chances of conflict over Berlin.

The researchers said that international tension may increase in the next decade so that "any spark—a false radar warning, an accidental overflight, a failure in communications—could trigger" catastrophe.

They said that among possible causes of a major accidental war, the most serious danger would be the "unintended spread of limited wars."

They said limited wars are a near certainty in the 1960's.

The five-month study was headed by Dr. John B. Phelps, a member of the Ohio State Physics and Astronomy Department. It was one of several financed by the estate of the late Col. Ralph D. Meraban, a founder of the Reserves Officers Training Corps (ROTC).

State's Death Toll At Nine

By United Press International Florida's holiday weekend death toll is running well behind the Florida Safety Council's prediction 20.

United Press International today counted nine accidental deaths during the long weekend which started at 6 p. m. Friday and which ends at midnight tonight.

J. T. Morgan, 33, Fort Lauderdale Negro, drowned while swimming in a rock pit near Fort Lauderdale Saturday afternoon.

The state's first double tragedy of the weekend occurred Sunday afternoon when two Orlando Negroes, Dave Owens, 42, and Lester Ward, 36, drowned in a lake near their home.

Flash Floods Lash East

By United Press International Tornadoes, high winds and thunderstorms so heavy they touched off flash floods raged through the eastern half of the country over the weekend.

The violent weather turned a July 4 holiday into a cleanup day for countless Americans. The heaviest hit appeared to be Indiana. Near disaster conditions were reported around Logansport, Peru and Wabash. All state police were called back to duty to help victims of a storm which killed one woman and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage. Moving eastward, the storm lashed New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Greenwich, Conn., police estimated that 6,000 persons were without electricity when gusty winds toppled trees on power lines. Two New York State radio stations were knocked off the air for up to 40 minutes.

The storm disrupted traffic, flooded subways and basements and inconvenienced millions in New York City. Fifty passengers on a subway bound for Coney Island had to leave the train along a tunnel catwalk when the train stalled in a flooded Brooklyn track. Power failures were reported in Brooklyn and Queens. Some homes in Suffolk County, on Long Island, were blacked out for several hours.

Flash floods in Morehead, Ky., sent 100 families from their homes after a 3 1/2 inch downpour in about an hour. Jacksonville, Fla., was soaked with 2 1/2 inches of rain in an hour. The Florida city also was buffeted by 75 mile an hour winds.

A tornado struck the Medicine Bow National Forest 38 miles west of Laramie, Wyo., injuring a fisherman and causing extensive damage to forest land. Another hit near Boxley, Ga., and two persons were injured.

A weekend windstorm with the "express-train roar of a tornado" ripped into the extreme western edge of Kankakee, Ill., demolishing two houses and pulling the roof from a third home.

Holiday Death Toll Over 300; Record Predicted

By United Press International The nation's highway death toll for the July 4 holiday passed the 300 mark today and experts predicted motorists would set a new record before the three-day weekend ends tonight.

"It is becoming more and more apparent that motorists are speeding to a new all-time toll for any three-day Fourth of July," the National Safety Council said.

By 8 a. m. today, the highway toll had reached 304. Another 79 persons drowned and 36 died in miscellaneous accidents for an overall fatality count of 439.

Ohio led the highway slaughter with 25 dead. New York had 21, California 20, North Carolina 16, Texas and Wisconsin 15, Pennsylvania 13, Colorado and Georgia 12, New Jersey 11 and Missouri 10.

The only seven states with fatality free records were Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, New Hampshire, South Dakota and Vermont.

The Safety Council, before the weekend started, had predicted a highway toll of 370. But with the death count rising alarmingly, the council said it now appears the previous record of 376 fatalities in a three-day 1958 July 4 weekend would be broken.

Last month, in the three day Memorial Day weekend, 367 persons lost their lives.

Although most accidents this weekend claimed only one or two lives, death came in large doses, too. Six persons were killed in a head-on collision between two automobiles near Gladida, N. M., and seven died in the nation's worst accident near Spring Green, Wis.

In the Wisconsin mishap, a father and his six young children were killed after a runaway trailer carrying horses tore through the camp. Only 94-year-old Mrs. Lorraine Meister, 28, survived.

Two Accidents Mar Weekend

The July Fourth weekend started out with a bang at the intersection of Sanford Ave. and Seventh St., as two auto accidents in as many days occurred there.

Saturday, police said, Sam Brooks, a 44-year-old Sanford Negro laborer, was driving west on Seventh St. without lights when he ran the stop sign and smashed into the car operated by Sam Penerton, a 34-year-old Negro who was also driving without lights.

Penerton and his passenger, Ivey Penerton, were treated for bruises and lacerations. Penerton was charged with operating a vehicle without lights and also failure to yield the right of way, police said.

Sunday at 12:15 p. m., Jeannette Estelle Laing, 60, of Sanford, who says she blacked out, ran the stop sign at Seventh St. and hit a car driven by David Michael Roberts, 17, of Sanford. Edgar H. Vickers, a passenger in the first car and the driver were treated for abrasions as they were both thrown out of the car on impact, police said.

Jeannette Laing was charged with failure to yield the right of way, police added. Damage amounted to well over $1,200.

Ke Holds New Weapon Over Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower held a powerful new economic weapon today to retaliate against Cuba's Castro regime for its seizure of U. S.-owned properties and other anti-American actions.

Congress approved legislation giving the president the authority to seek to halt or curtail marketing of Cuban sugar in the United States.

Key lawmakers predicted that Eisenhower would use the new power quickly but some diplomatic officials said they hoped a way could be found to avoid such measures.

These officials were fearful of cracking down on the Cuban sugar quota might boomerang against this country elsewhere in Latin America and bring fresh cries of "Yankee imperialism" from nationalists.

But the chances of avoiding use of the economic weapon appeared slight. The administration itself insisted upon the new authority and there was strong pressure in Congress for action against Castro.

With Castro threatening to seize more American-owned property for every cut in the sugar quota, the two countries appeared to stand on the brink of an economic war that could have far-reaching repercussions.

NO ARGUMENT — Mrs. Elmer Lego umpire of the father-son baseball game played at Casselberry gives the thumb (and more) to her son, Mike. Mike caught regularly for the Casselberry Little League Indians and demonstrates he knows how to block a runner off the plate. The sons won 11 to 10, but Mike might be subject to protest by the dads.
