

Libya Promises Retribution

U.S. Bombs Avenge Terrorism

By Marie Colvin

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — The United States, avenging Libyan-backed terrorism, unleashed its biggest air strike since the Vietnam War today, bombing Libyan military bases, an oil port and Moammar Khadafy's residence. At least two people were killed and 60 injured.

Libyan Radio said members of Khadafy's family were among the injured but it gave no details. The sole report about Khadafy's activity came from Syria's official radio.

Damascus radio said Khadafy telephoned Syrian President Hafiz Assad early today hours after the strikes and the two leaders "discussed the barbaric U.S. air attacks on innocent civilians in Libya."

One U.S. plane was reported missing after the raid. Sixteen of the 18 F-111s returned to Britain and one made an emergency landing early today at a joint U.S.-Spanish air base at Rota, Spain, because of an overheated engine. One bomber was still missing and U.S. rescue teams were sent out.

Libyan Radio, however, said three U.S. planes had been shot down and their pilots killed by angry civilians. The radio later said 20 planes were downed.

Weinberger discounted Tripoli's claim. "We don't think that there were any planes that we know of that were hit by fire," he said.

Eighteen F-111 bombers flying from Britain and 15 attack planes from 8th Fleet aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean struck a half dozen sites in Tripoli.

The eastern port city of Benghazi, site of a Soviet-built anti-aircraft missile base, also was a target in the raid — the biggest U.S. air strike since the

Reagan Khadafy

Vietnam War. The French Embassy in Tripoli was badly damaged in the raid but there were no reports of injuries to embassy personnel. Reporters were taken on a tour three hours after the bombing to survey the damage. Mountains of debris stood up to 20 feet high where homes once had been and the charred and twisted metal skeletons of cars littered the streets.

Water from ruptured water mains filled bomb craters.

At one bomb-scarred courtyard, rescue workers were trying to pull Mohammed Ibrahim M'aheri from a damaged home. He died before they could free him.

Another body — that of a man — was pulled from the rubble near a residential area in the French Embassy area.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said he had no information that civilians were hit.

"There were military targets very close in the area that we believe were hit," he said. "We don't know anything about any of the so-called civilian damages."

One shell landed near the French Embassy, caving in one side of the three-story modern building. An adjacent residential duplex was demolished.

Stretchers with bloody sheets lined sidewalks outside Central Hospital in the French Embassy area. Blood stained the steps of the facility.

People walked around dazed in pajamas. Power lines were downed, and the wrecked cables coiled in the streets.

Dr. Fathi Benghazi, director of Central Hospital, said 60 to 100 people had been treated and 50 of them were injured seriously enough to be hospitalized.

In Washington, President Reagan said U.S. forces conducted the lightning attack under the cover of darkness against "the headquarters, terrorist facilities and military assets that support Moammar Khadafy's subversive activities."

"Today we have done what we had to do. If necessary we shall do it again."

Yancey: City Big On Beauty, But Too Soft On Crime

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Chamber of Commerce's Goodwill Ambassador has charged city commissioners with emphasizing beautification over crime prevention to the detriment of the city.

Commissioners, however, contend they have already acknowledged that the city's growth has necessitated the Sanford Police Department's expansion in next year's budget.

Martha Yancey's allegations that commissioners have misguided "priorities" came during Monday night's city commission meeting.

The city's "expensive" efforts to upgrade its appearance cannot be enjoyed by a citizenry "afraid to go out at night," she said.

"I know I don't go out after dark," Mrs. Yancey said. "And yet nothing is being done to cut down on crime in the city. Our people deserve a better quality of life."

Mrs. Yancey called for commissioners to shift their concerns from beautification to crime prevention by expanding the Sanford Police Department, which is exactly what commissioners said they intend to do come budget time. "We're all aware of the situation," Mayor Bettye Smith said. "Our growth necessitates the department's expansion and we're fully committed to supporting Chief (Steve) Harriett at budget time."

Harriett said he will seek personnel and patrol unit increases "commensurate with the city's growth," although he has yet to determine exactly what the additions will entail. The department has 61 sworn officers, 43 of whom are patrolmen, Harriett said.

In regard to the city's crime rate, Harriett said last year Sanford showed a 6.8 percent increase, which was below the state average of 12 percent. However, "Any increase is too much," the chief said. "We want to hold the line and ultimately reduce crime." Harriett also acknowledged the department "could use more people" and said right now some officers are working overtime to patrol the city. He also called citizen involvement "the key to cutting down crime." "Residents have to involve themselves in Neighborhood Watch programs," Harriett said. "It's imperative... in any neighborhood."

School Board To Weigh Evidence Against Educators

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Suspensions of a Lake Mary High School teacher and administrator for misconduct and immorality in connection with their employment are to be supported or rejected by the School Board of Seminole County Wednesday afternoon. The board is to weigh evidence to substantiate the suspensions, a school official said.

The meeting will take place in the county school offices, 1211 Mellonville Avenue, Sanford, at 3 p.m.

Superintendent Robert Hughes suspended the two recently as an emergency measure, until the school board could take action during a scheduled meeting.

Suspended with pay by Hughes were social studies teacher Wilson Gordon, Jr., Sanford, and an assistant principal Jay Stokes, Sanford. Gordon was suspended effective April 3, while Stokes was suspended April 7. Each has been charged by Hughes with misconduct in office and immorality in connection with their employment, according to schools Personnel Director Ann Neiswender.

Mrs. Neiswender said Hughes' recommendation to the school board will be to suspend each without pay, pending dismissal proceedings. She said she supports those recommendations.

The alleged infractions have been under investigation by both the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and the State Department of Education's Professional Practices Services. No charges have been filed by the sheriff's department.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said last week his department had been investigating allegations for three-and-a-half years. Professional Practices Investigator David Worrell has spent much of the past two weeks gathering information on the allegations and left Seminole County April 11. A school official said Worrell's investigation is apparently wrapped up, and indicated he did not believe he would return to the county in reference to the present investigation.

Sources near both investigations have remained tight-lipped about the findings. Mrs. Neiswender said, however, that at Wednesday's meeting, "attached to the superintendent's recommendation (to the school board) will be material substantiating his recommendation of suspension without pay."

"Not necessarily all of the material we have will be presented," Mrs. Neiswender stressed. Presented will be "material that supports his recommendation, because of the on-going investigation."

Both educators will have the opportunity to address the board Wednesday. "They have the right to speak, or have a representative speak," Mrs. Neiswender said. But she said she does not know if either will appear.

The board can approve Hughes' recommendation of suspension without pay in advance of dismissal proceedings, continue the suspension with pay, or find the allegations unsubstantiated and return them to their jobs, she said.

If the board approves the superintendent's recommendation, the educators will have the right to a dismissal hearing before the board or an appointed hearing officer, Mrs. Neiswender said.

"At that hearing, all evidence would be brought to the hearing body," she said. In past cases, Mrs. Neiswender said the board has elected to act as their own hearing body.

Also on the agenda is a review of the Student Conduct and Discipline Code, the original reason the meeting was scheduled, plus an agreement for the exchange of water easement with the City of Oviedo.

Funds Sought For Paralyzed Man Facing $72,000 Legal Bill

ORLANDO (UPI) — Bert Burns, a 24-year-old former high school football player paralyzed when his car was struck by a teen-age driver who had been drinking, was not the only person taken aback by a court order to pay $72,000 in legal fees.

"I had not expected to see even $1 of that money unless I could win the case in court," Burns' attorney Jack Nichols said of the $80,000 in expenses his client was ordered to pay. "Bert does not have the money to pay me, and his parents don't have that kind of money," Nichols said.

Burns also is required to pay $12,000 to the insurance company for the Three-of-a-Kind bar, which he unsuccessfully sued because it served alcohol to the driver that injured him in 1982 in downtown Orlando.

The order to pay issued Thursday gave Burns 30 days to raise the money or lose his right to appeal the verdict against him.

To help Burns meet the deadline, friends have opened the Help Bert Burns Fund at Orange Bank, P.O. Box 1328, Windermere, Fla., 32786-1328.

Burns, who is confined to a wheelchair, and Nichols rejected as inadequate a $500,000 settlement proposed before a jury found last month for the bar.

"He's in an unfortunate situation," Nichols said. "Some of his bodily functions never will be the same. Life is just pure hell for him every day."

Florida law requires the loser in civil trials to pay reasonable court costs to the winner. The amount due Nichols is what he estimates as out-of-pocket expenses during four years on the case and not a fee, which Nichols would have collected only if he had won the case.

Nichols said he would like to appeal the verdict. But Burns first must meet the payments ordered by the court.

Crucial Piece Of Challenger Rocket Wreckage Recovered

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Shuttle investigators gathered at the Kennedy Space Center today to inspect a crucial piece of charred rocket wreckage from the joint where a deadly tongue of flame erupted Jan. 28, dooming Challenger and its crew.

The 4,000-pound piece of wreckage from Challenger's suspect right-hand rocket booster, including a part of the joint with a hole burned in it, was recovered Sunday by the crew of the salvage vessel Stena Workhorse and was expected to be returned to shore early today, officials said Monday.

Conveniently, acting NASA Administrator William Graham and Rear Adm. Richard Truly, associate administrator for space flight, were scheduled to be on hand at the spaceport today to review NASA's internal accident report before turning it over to the presidential disaster commission Friday.

The panel, chaired by former Secretary of State William Rogers, is scheduled to report to President Reagan in early June. Some members of the commission planned to inspect the wreckage from the right-hand rocket today in Florida.

The wreckage recovered by the Stena Workhorse is the most significant find yet in the hunt for remains of Challenger's right-side booster and the first from the area where the joint ruptured Jan. 28. Metallurgical and chemical tests may provide conclusive proof of why the joint failed.

"This piece is part of the aft-center segment (of the rocket) in the joint area where a leak was suspected," the presidential commission said in a statement Monday. "A burned out area of the joint... is evident."

The rocket segment measured 10 feet by 20 feet, with a burned hole in the joint area that measured 2 feet across. The location of the "burn through" was consistent with photographic evidence of where the leak occurred.

From the start, the primary goal of the salvage work has been obtaining wreckage from the rocket joint that failed between the lower two of four fuel segments that made up Challenger's

Legal Briefs Taken Seriously

It was a case of legal brink today when an Orlando man insisted on going to trial clad only in his underswear.

Sergeant Leo Shurge, 36, was scheduled for jury trial today on charges of being petty thief and aggravated assault stemming from an alleged shoplifting incident at Apple.

He reportedly said strongly personnel at the courthouse that his hairy shorts were the bare minimum he was going to wear as trial began at 9 a.m. Shurge's attorney, David Brown, ty van disturbed. "I think he's just trying to delay the process," Hastings said.

"He's in the holding cell. We really got a pair of pants on him but I don't know where it's going from here," said Lt. Robert Kunkler of the sheriff's division at the courthouse prior to the 9 a.m. court session.

According to court records, Shurge is charged with the crime in which a man reportedly tried to force a man's way into a store. Shurge's attorney, David Brown, said he was going to appeal the verdict.

WORLD IN BRIEF

'We Heard The Planes Coming... We Heard Bombs Exploding'

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — Tripoli residents, awakened at 2 a.m. by explosions, fled, terrified, into the streets on foot and in cars, jamming roads and honking their horns as smoke from the attack drifted across the city.

Tracer fire lit the sky and Libyan anti-aircraft batteries blasted away at the attacking planes as they roared over Tripoli, according to UPI reporter Marie Colvin. The fire did not appear to hit any of the American planes.

At the residence of the British consul to Tripoli, when the bombing started, "We heard planes coming in. We heard bombs exploding," said Ms. Colvin. "The windows started shaking. We went up to the roof. We saw tracer fire going up and could hear the pounding noise of anti-aircraft fire. The raid lasted about 25 minutes. The anti-aircraft fire continued about 15 minutes after the raid ended.

"Smoke came from the direction of the Wheelus air base, about a mile from my vantage point. I could see the smoke, but I did not see any flames.

"Everyone rushed into the streets. We tried to get back from the consul's residence to the hotel where the journalists were based. Khadafi's Revolutionary Committee guards poured into the streets.

A doctor at Tripoli's Central Hospital said between 60 and 100 people were wounded in the American attack, and Libyan Television appealed to the Libyan people to donate blood.

Bombs hit Khadafi's residence — where the Libyan leader lives with his wife and seven children — but the extent of damage was not immediately known.

Why Hirohito Surrendered

TOKYO (UPI) — Less than a month after Japan's surrender in World War II, Emperor Hirohito wrote a letter to his eldest son saying he ended the conflict to "preserve the seeds of the Japanese people," news reports said today.

In an apparent reference to the U.S. atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Hirohito also blamed the defunct Imperial Army for putting too much emphasis on spirit and forgetting the importance of science, the newspaper reports said.

"I swallowed my tears in making efforts to preserve the seeds of the Japanese people," his letter said. "If the war is continued, lives of Japanese will have to be lost."

The newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun and the Kyodo News Service said Hirohito made the remarks in a letter, dated Sept. 9, 1945, to his eldest son, Crown Prince Akihito, who was evacuated from the Imperial Palace and staying at a villa in Nikko, north of Tokyo.

Hirohito, the world's longest reigning monarch, who will turn 85 later this month, announced his decision to end the war in a recorded radio broadcast on Aug. 15, 1945.

Before his historic trip to the United States in 1975, Hirohito denied he participated in planning the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor.

His status was reduced from living god to a symbol of the state in the postwar constitution written in large part by U.S. occupation leaders.

Feminist De Beauvoir Dies At 78

PARIS (UPI) — Simone de Beauvoir, French author and philosopher who began the feminist movement with the 1949 book "The Second Sex," lived her last years in an apartment overlooking the cemetery where the only man she ever really loved — philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre — was buried.

De Beauvoir, 78, died Monday, nearly six years to the day after the death of Sartre, the existentialist who was her intellectual companion and lover for more than a half century. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

De Beauvoir, born Jan. 9, 1908, in Paris, is credited with launching the feminist movement in 1949 with the publication of "The Second Sex," in which she said, "One is not born a woman, but rather becomes a woman."

The book scandalized many people when it appeared, but in the 1960s it became the "bible" of the women's liberation movement.

De Beauvoir claimed that only with the development of socialism would the situation of women improve significantly. She told reporters a year ago she did not think today's women were liberated.

"Even after capitalism is defeated, we will still be far from overthrowing those patriarchal attitudes," she said.

3 Die In Political Violence

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — A labor strike and a protest against the replacement by the Corason Aquino government of a town mayor have left at least three Filipinos dead and 48 injured, police authorities said today.

The fighting Monday grew out of a protest against Aquino's replacement of the mayors allied to Marcos. Lawmakers friendly to Marcos met in a mock parliament session, urging local officials to stay put and mount a civil disobedience campaign.

In San Juan, police broke up a barricade set up at the municipal hall by supporters of popular movie actor Joseph Estrada to resist his removal as mayor, sparking a 45-minute clash. Estrada belongs to Marcos's party, the New Society Movement, or KBL.

Police said 18 officers and 15 civilians were injured in the melee. One of the injured, identified as Manuel Dimiao, who was hit in the head by a rock, died early today, police said.

In a second incident, two people were stabbed to death and 16 others were injured when a truckload of strike breakers plowed through a picket line at a strike-bound paper mill in the nearby town of Malabon, police said.

China To Finance Nuclear Power

PEKING (UPI) — As part of a policy of self-reliance, China plans to finance the construction of nuclear power plants by exporting 1,000 tons of uranium a year, the official China Daily newspaper said today.

Peking, currently building its first two nuclear power plants, said recently it would rely on domestic technology rather than foreign equipment to develop its nuclear power industry.

In an effort to improve energy supplies, China will turn between 60 and 70 percent of its nuclear industry over to civilian use by 1990, the paper quoted Liu Shulin, president of the China Nuclear Energy Industry Corporation and adviser to the Minister of Nuclear Industry, as saying.

At present, 40 percent of the country's nuclear industry is devoted to civilian use, the newspaper said.

Stalin's Daughter May Leave

MOSCOW (UPI) — Svetlana Alliluyeva, daughter of dictator Josef Stalin, has received permission to leave the Soviet Union just 18 months after rejecting the West to return to her homeland, a Soviet source said today.

Americans Rally 'Round The Flag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As U.S. bombers roared through the night to Libya, Republican and Democratic congressional leaders were called to the White House to be told — early enough so that the mission could have been stopped.

But there was no "outcry from Congress" and the bombs were dropped.

"I think it's fair to say a couple reserved judgment, but there wasn't any opposition," Senate Republican leader Robert Dole told reporters. "I think there was a feeling that maybe consultation could have been earlier."

Reaction of citizens appeared unified and reactions from world leaders, predictable.

Americans applauded the U.S. strikes against Libya as long overdue, even if they provoke an escalation of terrorism.

In Detroit, the mother of Sgt. Kenneth Ford, whose death in a terrorist bomb blast in Berlin led to the raids, said she reluctantly agreed with the decision to retaliate.

"All I have to say is President Reagan did what he had to do," Alice Beecham told United Press International. "I really feel sorry for the United States and Libya that it's had to come to this. We don't believe in violence and killing people, but we did what we had to do."

White House operators said they received 1,315 calls in the first hour after President Reagan's televised announcement of the bombing raids, with 940 — or 71 percent — supporting the action and 375 opposing it.

Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd, however, said, "We were not consulted. We were notified of a decision that had already been made."

Byrd conceded that "the element of surprise is important" but added, "As I said there (at the White House), there are surely some people on the Hill who can be trusted to keep a secret as much as anybody in the Pentagon or the White House."

Byrd said President Reagan "gets himself into a box when he says we'll do this again and again and again. I am concerned there won't be any end to that approach."

The war planes were still two to three hours away from their Libyan targets when Reagan told the Senate and House leaders that, after days of suspense, he had ordered the 11-minute air strike.

Despite questions whether the attack would eliminate or reduce Libyan terrorism, Reagan's decision was generally endorsed by Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill.

"Col. Khadafi is an international outlaw with blood on his hands and he deserves whatever punishment he gets," Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, said.

Rep. Dan Mica, D-Fla., chairman of the House subcommittee responsible for U.S. embassy security, predicted "a massive increase in terrorism," and Rep. Robert Torricelli, D-N.J., said, "We can't allow ourselves to think that by striking Libya we will end terrorism."

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said, "The strike indicates to Khadafi that the United States will respond in appropriate and proportional ways to the indiscriminate violence of terrorism."

Dole went further, indicating that the administration was prepared to strike again — in response to new terrorism — and told reporters: "Once you start down this road, there is no turning back."

Sen. Daniel Moynihan, D-N.Y., former co-chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, said the United States was compelled to strike against Libya.

In addition to Dole, Byrd and Lugar, those present at the Monday meeting with Reagan included: Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., president pro tem of the Senate; Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., ranking Democrat on the Armed Services Committee; House GOP leader Robert Michel of Illinois; Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, and the ranking Republican on the panel, Rep. William Broomfield of Michigan.

Reagan left the briefing about 5 p.m., followed by Vice President George Bush, Secretary of State George Shultz, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, CIA director William Casey and others.

On the basis of accounts given to reporters, the briefing was very detailed — including the size of the U.S. force, the jumping-off spots and the targets.

Dole, Nunn and Thurmond all said that one of the targets was, as Nunn put it, "the Praetorian Guard, the elite headquarters of Khadafi's top military and political supporters."

U.S. allies in Western Europe, which have opposed the use of U.S. military force to stem Libyan support of terrorism, withheld official comment on today's air strikes on Tripoli and Benghazi.

Nationally 40 Million Taxpayers Wait Until The Last Minute

Chamber And Post Office Will Help Sanford Procrastinators

From Staff and Wire Reports

Today is the deadline for filing 1985 income tax returns with the IRS using any of the variety of 1040 forms. The alternative is filing form 4868, an application for extension of time. Either way, check must be in the mail, according to IRS officials.

The Sanford Post Office will not be open late, but any mail deposited before midnight will have an April 15 postmark. Mail slots are in the lobby. Postoffices at Osteen and Lake Mary will observe normal closing times with no special provisions for postmarking.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has a variety of the most commonly used forms, including 2688, in its offices at 400 E. First St. and they are available without charge. Also, chamber employees will give guidance as to availability of tax assistance, including the AARP volunteer program.

The Internal Revenue Service said Monday 40 million taxpayers are waiting until the last minute to file their 1985 income tax returns.

IRS spokeswoman Johnell Hunter said the agency's hotline will stay open until midnight tonight to help beleaguered taxpayers who delayed completing their returns. The telephone number for Seminole County citizens is 800-342-8300.

Hunter, however, said it may be difficult to reach the taxpayer assistance service because a large volume of telephone calls is expected.

"People procrastinate with their taxes. That's all there is to it," Hunter said.

However, she said operations are running smoother this year and the IRS is prepared for the last-minute avalanche of returns.

"There are those who think we won't be able to handle last minute crunch," Hunter said. "We're doing well enough to handle it."

The Tax Foundation Inc., meanwhile, proclaimed May 1 as Tax Freedom Day, meaning that hour and 44 minutes of the average worker's daily earnings, and state and local taxes will claim the remaining 55 minutes.

Hunter said 58.9 million returns were filed as of last week, a decrease of 1 percent from the same time last year.

She said 45.9 million returns have been processed — an increase of 27.2 percent over last year, when the IRS was plagued with snags from a new computer system and a huge backlog in sending out tax refunds.

In many cities, post offices also are expected to stay open late so taxpayers can get their returns postmarked by midnight on April 15.

This year, 4 percent of all taxpayers are expected to seek extensions for filing their returns — nearly double the number five years ago.

Hunter said many people wait until the last minute because they have until April 15 to open Individual Retirement Accounts, which allows working taxpayers to open retirement accounts up to $2,000 and $250 for non-working spouses and get a tax break.

Banks and other financial institutions reported a flurry of activity from taxpayers opening IRAs to meet the April 15 deadline.

"You can open an account in literally 15 minutes," said Fritz Elmendorf of the American Bankers Association. "You can even do it by phone. It makes it a lot easier for the person who waited until the last minute."

To date, Hunter said the IRS has sent out 36.2 million refunds totaling $28.6 million — a 41.6 percent increase over last year. She said the average refund is $791.

Demo Chief Appointed To Anti-Casino Group's Board

TALLAHASSEE — Florida Democratic Party Chairman Charles Whitehead has been named to serve on the Board of Directors of No Casinos, Incorporated. Whitehead was appointed by Jack Eckerd who is serving as president of the anti-casino organization.

The purpose of No Casinos, Incorporated is to mount a statewide effort to defeat an initiative next November which, if passed, would open the door for casino gambling in Florida, Whitehead said.

In accepting the appointment, Whitehead stated: "I am fully committed to preventing the spread of casino gambling into our state. Floridians have fought long and hard to achieve the quality of life enjoyed today by all Floridians from families with small children to senior citizens. This record of accomplishment has made Florida the choice vacation spot in the country and our economic stability is dependent upon the continued development of our quality environment."

Whitehead further stated that "...the influx of casinos into Florida would be devastating and threaten not only our economy but also the quality of life to which we have become accustomed."

"I look forward to working with our elected officials and other fellow Floridians who share these same concerns by defeating the effort of a few to poison our state with casino gambling," said Whitehead.

Fired Workers Go To Jail, Did Not Collect Paychecks

Three Sanford men, fired from an Oviedo construction site job April 5, returned to the site for their paychecks Saturday only to be told that the checks weren't there, but would be at the office of Mohamed Excavating Co.

Oviedo police reported the three threatened to shoot the job foreman Randy Ellis, 27, of St. Cloud and left with a $7,000 laser leveling device, in lieu of their pay.

The confrontation occurred at about 9 a.m. Saturday at the Alafaya Woods construction site, police reported. The suspects were jailed at about 1 p.m. Saturday.

Charged with grand theft, trespassing and aggravated battery were: Kent Troutman, 36, P.O. Box 49; Donell Troutman 29, P.O. Box 121 Lake Monroe Road; and George A. Graves, 18, of Dunbar Avenue. All have been released from jail without posting bond and are scheduled to appear in court April 28.

FALSE ALARMS & FIRES
A 19-year-old Altamonte Springs man who allegedly set fires in two dumpsters, called in two false fire alarms, and filed four false fire reports has been charged in connection with those offenses.

Altamonte Springs police reported the fires, the alarms and reports all originated at the Monterey North Apartments, 101 E. State Road 436, within a 48-hour period, which ended with the arrest of a suspect at about 5 p.m. Sunday.

The man who was reportedly at the scene was questioned by Altamonte Springs and Seminole County fire inspectors. Damage to one dumpster was estimated at $500, police said.

David Chris Ball of #1937, 101 E. State Road 436, has been charged with arson, and making false reports and setting off false alarms reporting fires. He was being held in lieu of $3,000 bond.

HUSBAND-WIFE FIGHT
An Oviedo man who allegedly hit his wife in the forehead with a stick after she allegedly cut him on the throat and wrist was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond. The woman has been released without posting bond. Both have been charged with aggravated battery.

Oviedo police reported the couple began to fight in the street in front of their home at 430 Franklin St., after the woman came home from a night out at 8 a.m. Saturday.

She allegedly slashed the man who went into the home and returned to the street to allegedly club her in the head.

Brenda Williams was located across the street from her home and George Williams Jr., was found about a block away. Both were arrested and jailed at about 10 a.m. Saturday, police said.

Mrs. Williams is to appear in court April 28.

NO BUS
A 37-year-old Sanford man who reportedly kept his wife from boarding a bus and tried to force her into his car, pushing and shoving her, has been charged with battery-spouse abuse.

The woman, Mary Louise Black, flagged down a Seminole County sheriff's deputy at the Kmart parking lot on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, at about 1:30 p.m. Saturday. She complained that her husband, who was at the scene, was abusing her, a sheriff's report said.

Samuel Leon Black, 37, of Route 2, Box 4M Burrow Lane, has been released on $500 bond to appear in court April 23.

RESTROOM COCAINE
Casselberry police reported charging a Casselberry woman with possession of cocaine and less than 20 grams of marijuana after an employee of the ABC Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92, reported she saw the woman in the restroom apparently using cocaine.

An off duty Altamonte Springs policeman entered the restroom and saw the suspect. He and lounge employees held her for Casselberry police. Police reported finding marijuana, cocaine and drug paraphernalia in the woman's possession.

Carla Irene Wing, 19, of 851 N. Triplett Drive, was arrested at 10:49 p.m. Saturday. She has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court May 28.

AGENTS ARREST
Agents of the City/County Investigation Bureau reported weekend arrests of four suspects in connection with the possession and sale of illegal drugs.

Two men were arrested at Fern Park Station, Fern Park, after agents, who saw a group gathered around two cars, reportedly saw the suspects with a marijuana cigarette and allegedly overheard them "talk-

Marijuana and drug paraphernalia were reportedly found in the suspects' possession.

Arrested at about 1:30 a.m. Sunday, were Michael Allen Wright, 26, and Dennis Richard Swiernik, 19, both of Orlando. They have been released on $300 bond each to appear in court April 23.

In unrelated incidents, agents reported they bought a bag of marijuana for $10 from a man who signaled them to stop on Marker Street near Altamonte Springs.

Robert Earl King, 20, of St. John's Village #23D, Fern Park, was arrested at about 8 p.m. Saturday. He has been charged with sale of marijuana and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

In the final incident, Lloyd Deward Adams Jr., 24, of 461 Longwood Ave., Altamonte Springs, was charged with sale and delivery of marijuana after, as agents watched, he allegedly tried to sell $4 worth of pot to a passenger in a car.

The arrest was made at about 9 p.m. Saturday in the parking lot of Disco Foods near Altamonte Springs. He has been released on $500 bond to appear in court April 23.

ESCAPES ABDUCTORS
A 67-year-old Port Charlotte woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she escaped in Seminole County Friday from a woman and two men who were forcing her to drive to Daytona Beach.

The woman said she met the three in Publix in Charlotte Harbor at about noon Friday. They asked her to take them to Ft. Myers and after refusing several times she finally agreed.

Once they had started on the trip the three changed their minds and insisted that Mary Piero take them to Daytona Beach, a sheriff's report said.

At the Mobil station on State Road 434 at Interstate 4, Longwood, the three let Ms. Piero go to the bathroom and she locked herself in. While she was in the bathroom the suspects fled on foot, the report said.

DUI ARRESTS

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a suspect who may have stolen $1,700 worth of woodworking tools from Custom Craft Cabinet's warehouse at the Port of Sanford on Friday or Saturday. Owner George F. Kennedy of Oviedo, reported the loss.

Three books of food stamps and $40 were stolen from Venetta Rose Knight, 26, of 3651 Lincoln St., Sanford, on Friday or Saturday. Ms. Knight told sheriff's deputies she isn't sure where the items were stolen from her.

She waited until Friday to report the theft, because she thought she might find the earrings, a sheriff's report said.

leg. The accomplice, caught after he fled, awaits disposition of his case.

In other court action: —Leonard Hayward Hooks, 20, of 20 Majorca Ave., Altamonte Springs, pleaded guilty to trafficking in cocaine and faces a minimum mandatory sentence of 3 years when sentenced May 23 by McGregor. He was arrested in November after agents and a confidential informant watched him make a drug deal in the parking lot of a service station on Lake Mary Boulevard. Agents then moved in and arrested two men. The officers had received a tip that the drug deal had been set for that location and had been given a description of the suspects' vehicles. A second man arrested awaits disposition of a similar charge against him.

Charles Dexter Wills II, 28, of 2100 Howell Branch Road, Winter Park, arrested in November on a charge of possession of cocaine. He failed to appear for sentencing Thursday and a bench warrant was issued by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler for his arrest. He has pleaded guilty to possession of a controlled substance and could receive up to a year in the county jail. According to court records, a Seminole County sheriff's deputy who saw a hitchhiker staggering along State Road 436 in Casselberry and stopped when he noticed the man dropped something. The deputy retrieved the bag from the ground and determined it contained cocaine, whereupon Wills was arrested.

Alert Electorate Can Avoid Shame

For anyone seriously concerned about American democracy, the idea that two followers of Lyndon LaRouche would win a major primary election has to come close to the ultimate political nightmare. The nightmare is not so much in the consequences of the particular election as in its reminder of what, under the bleakest circumstances, a free election can produce.

Two such people have just won in the Democratic primary in Illinois, one in the race for lieutenant governor, the other in the race for secretary of state. Both are closely associated with LaRouche and his nuthouse views of history and politics. Although those views began on the far left and have since shifted to the far right, they've never fluctuated very far in their extremist paranoia. LaRouche, once a professor of economics and a virulent racist and anti-Semite, lives on a Virginia estate monitored by television cameras and patrolled by men with semi-automatic weapons because of what he believes are threats on his life by communists, Zionists, the Rockefellers, the Trilateral Commission, gangsters and the queen of England. The queen, his followers believe, is involved in a plot with Kissinger and the KGB to take over the world.

A spokesman for LaRouche said the election reflected "an unprecedented level of disgust with both major parties." And while that may in part be true, it's far more likely that it was the product of an apathetic electorate, which in many cases had no idea whom it was voting for; a sleepy press that failed to make it clear, and a low voter turnout. The result, though hardly fatal, is a major embarrassment for Adlai E. Stevenson III, the Democratic nominee for governor, and a far greater likelihood that incumbent Republican Gov. James R. Thompson will be re-elected.

More important, it's a portentous indication of what can happen in any state or locality when the gap between electoral opportunity and voter interest gets too great. If lesser officers are to be subjected to independent primary contests — a preferable alternative for states such as Illinois would be our system in Florida: candidates for governor and lieutenant governor run together in the primary as a ticket. The Illinois primary has demonstrated just what the combination of a lot of democracy and a lot of apathy can produce. Let's not forget, however, reports since the Illinois election reveal that LaRouche candidates are entered in elections throughout the nation, including Florida. An early American patriot said it well: "Eternal vigilance is the price we pay for freedom."

A Better Way

A tourist in Washington hails a taxi and tells the cab driver that he wants to see the city's monuments. "You got two or three weeks?" the cabbie replies.

The story is apocryphal, but the problem is real. At last count, there were 111 monuments in Washington that were approved by Congress. Some of them are in deteriorating condition. Congress has an unprecedented backlog of 17 requests for new memorials.

J. Carter Brown, chairman of the National Commission on Fine Arts, said officials are becoming alarmed. "Too many memorials, no matter how well designed, will detract from the dignity and appearance of the city," he said.

Brown has a point. Having too many monuments could dilute the impact the memorials are designed to have, to say nothing of the cost of maintaining them.

But how many is too many? And what standards exist for making choices between glider pilots, black Revolutionary War patriots, various military units and an organization pushing for a memorial to 1,000 years of Russian Christianity?

Brown and George White, architect of the U.S. Capitol, have called for a prohibition of new memorials in the center of the city. Perhaps such a prohibition would encourage Americans to come up with ways of commemorating individuals, groups or events without building a bronze or marble monument.

President Should Ban Nuclear Tests Now

The most valuable contribution President Reagan could make on behalf of common sense, economy and human survival would be to order a moratorium on all U.S. nuclear testing similar to the one ordered by Soviet President Gorbachev last August.

Neither side has anything to gain from more nuclear tests except a larger, more expensive and more dangerous arms race.

A mutual halt to nuclear tests is not only an easily verifiable agreement; it is also the quickest and surest way to check the nuclear arms race. No new weapons can be developed and deployed by either side without testing. And an end to nuclear testing would be a convenient way to halt the Star Wars nonsense and the militarization of space by both sides.

The only practical purpose for maintaining a nuclear arsenal is to deter the potential enemy from attacking. There can be no victory for either side if nuclear war were to come. As such, neither side needs more than enough weapons to deter the other from an attack. Both the United States and the Soviet Union long ago passed that level of deterrence, which means that much of the nuclear expenditure of the last couple of decades has been largely wasted on a senseless overkill.

When I first began my career in the U.S. Senate in 1963, discussions were underway between Moscow and Washington to end the tests of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere. Millions of people around the world were alarmed by the terrible danger of nuclear fallout from these explosions — explosions that were contaminating the air, soil, water and food supplies with cancer-inducing radiation. Negotiations were floundering, however, on questions of verification and the need to test additional weapons.

President Kennedy broke the stalemate by ordering an end to American atmospheric testing and by stating publicly on June 10, 1963, that we would not resume testing if the Soviets followed our example. The Soviet leadership did follow our lead and a few weeks later the treaty banning atmospheric testing was signed and ratified.

Taking a page out of Kennedy's book, Gorbachev has been adhering to the Soviet comprehensive test moratorium since Aug. 6, 1985. The Reagan administration has exploded eight nuclear devices since that time.

The Soviets are not only saving money by avoiding nuclear tests; they are also strengthening their political and moral position in world opinion. Virtually every arms-control and peace group in America and around the world believes that a comprehensive nuclear test ban is long overdue.

As one who speaks frequently on U.S. college campuses, I have become increasingly aware of the growing difficulties many students are experiencing in financing their education. The costs of higher education have escalated dramatically in recent years. The current squeeze on the federal budget threatens to aggravate this problem with expected cuts in student aid. These and other budgetary needs give added reason for a nuclear test ban that could permit the diversion of funds from the arms race to education and other valuable pursuits.

Haiti Needs U.S. Aid

"U.S. to Give Haiti More Military Aid"

Spotting that headline on the front page of the New York Times, I was instantly fired up to tear into the Reagan administration.

There it goes again. Arms before anything else in dealing with a client country. And a prostrate one at that.

Absolutely the last thing Haiti needs after throwing off a rapacious dynasty that had looted an already miserably impoverished people for three decades is an arsenal of shiny new missiles.

Haiti is the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere. The per capita income is on the order of $300 per year, a quarter that of its not exactly affluent neighbor on the island of Hispaniola, the Dominican Republic.

Half, at least, of the labor force is unemployed. Three-quarters of the population is illiterate. Medical services are almost non-existent. The infant mortality rate is the hemisphere's highest. And so it goes, on and on.

Haiti unquestionably needs aid. But military?

As it turned out, I was overfired. The Times headline was misleading. The story dealt with a visit to Haiti by Elliott Abrams, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs.

The focus — of the visit and story — was indeed aid but, other than the possible loan of American trainers to professionalize Haitian forces, not primarily of a military nature.

The emphasis was on economic assistance. Food and jobs. Abrams recognized, are Haiti's most pressing need and the United States has been attempting to respond. With some $10 million worth of emergency food shipments in recent weeks, he said, American aid is approaching $60 million so far this year.

Congress would have to authorize anything much beyond that, Abrams said, adding that there are "limits on what we can give right now."

Well, maybe so. Gramm-Rudman and all. But what one — at least this one — immediately thinks of is the case with which the administration found $20 million for a Honduras which may or may not have been invaded by Nicaraguan forces. Limits proved no problem there.

Reports Link Khadafy To Past Terrorism

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Until very recently, the Reagan administration offered no hard evidence to back up its charges that Libyan dictator Muammar Khadafy is responsible for much of the random terrorism that has made Americans nervous about traveling abroad. Now the White House and the State Department are giving the public chapter and verse on Khadafy's involvement.

Let anyone get the idea that the latest outrages laid at Khadafy's door are his only offenses — and may be a justifiable response to his Gulf of Sidra humiliation — we can now disclose some of the past evidence against Khadafy found in State Department files. The cables from U.S. embassies to Foggy Bottom were recently declassified.

The cables, reviewed by our associate Lucette Lagnado, make clear Khadafy's willingness — nay, eagerness — to finance terrorism and subversion virtually anywhere

JEFFREY HART

Portside Professors

Everyone can urge that higher education is important and that our colleges and universities are a vital national resource, but every so often an item tumbles into the light of day that indicates just how strange the political atmosphere on our campuses actually is. Then the item is forgotten or mentally filed, and the world outside the campus goes on as before, perhaps thinking that the academy may be a little weird but that basically everything is all right.

As a professor at Dartmouth, of which you have been hearing a lot in the national media lately, I can tell you that everything is not all right. In fact, it is worse than anyone who does not experience the day-by-day life of the academy can possibly imagine.

There comes now, for example, an item from Harvard. A couple of months ago it began to be reported that Harvard's thoroughly estimable president Derek Bok was considering an invitation to President Reagan to attend the celebration of Harvard's 350th anniversary, whereupon a horrified protest erupted from the Harvard faculty, which was especially incensed that Harvard might award Mr. Reagan an honorary degree. The university has now announced that Mr. Reagan will not be attending the celebration.

The ostensible complaint against Reagan by the Harvard faculty was that his administration has cut back on federal funding for education, and that this — though part of an across the board attempt to prune the federal budget — stamped him as an enemy of education and disqualified him for an honorary degree.

Now, of course, anyone with a room-temperature I.Q. can see the absurdity of that argument. The Reagan administration desires to cut back on innumerable federal spending programs, even though in its own right some or many of these programs might be considered desirable. If the administration wishes to cut Amtrak, that does not mean it's against railroad travel, and if it wished to de-subsidize cheese, that does not mean that it opposes cheese. It means, to adapt Dunning's famous resolution in parliament, that the administration believes federal spending has increased, is increasing, and ought to be diminished. Mr. Reagan is not out to get Harvard, and the Harvard faculty knows it.

The president's sin, in the eyes of the Harvard faculty, is that he is not a leftist and not even a liberal, and that is unforgivable. For the same sin, the faculty of Stanford University resisted the acceptance by the university of the Reagan archives, invaluable though such papers would be to their own graduate programs. And, of course, the faculty of Duke University resisted acceptance of the Nixon papers, even though, one would think academic Nixon-haters would be gleeful over the opportunity to examine the files at leisure in order to confirm all that they had previously thought.

But now Harvard weighs in again. When the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard decided to award a medal of merit to Attorney General Edwin Meese, all hell broke loose. Spearheaded by a number of liberal-left law professors, a faculty protest demanded that the Meese award be withdrawn. As Professor Lawrence Tribe put it, Meese "has a limited understanding of what justice means."

Inviting Terrorist Target

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With well-grounded justification, Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd is concerned about the threat of terrorism — not just in faraway places, but in the United States and specifically the U.S. Capitol.

And the nightmare that bothers Byrd the most is a terrorist attack of some type during an address by President Reagan to a joint session of the Senate and House.

He drew a worst-case scenario during a recent interview with the Charleston (W.Va.) Daily Mail that should send shudders through all government officials.

"The president is there, the vice president, members of the Supreme Court, the speaker of the House, whoever is presiding over the Senate," he said. "They're all there together."

And the list of those present is even deeper than Byrd said. Also present at a State of the Union address are the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the diplomatic corps.

In other words, without saying so, the ultimate terrorist act could wipe out the country's entire civilian and military top command. Left alone to lead the nation out of such a tragedy would be the one Cabinet member who is always absent in the event of such a catastrophe.

At no other time do all the leaders of the United States gather in one place, at one time. And Byrd, for one, does not feel the country should offer terrorists such an inviting target.

"I don't think they should be [all together]," Byrd said. "It isn't wise. In fact, I would prefer the president deliver his speech by TV within the confines of the White House. It would be a lot safer."

Certainly, Byrd would be the first to agree that you cannot put Reagan, or any other president, in a bullet-proof glass bubble for four years. Nor can anyone give an iron-clad guarantee of safety to a Cabinet member, a justice, a senator or a congressman.

But the Capitol is not immune to terrorism. Several congressmen were wounded when a group of Puerto Ricans opened fire in the 1950s. More recently, two late night bombings inflicted heavy damage on the Senate wing of the Capitol.

Perhaps these incidents could not happen today. Perhaps there is no way for a terrorist to disrupt a joint session. But why, as Byrd says, risk the possibility?

in the world, from assassination of Libyan dissidents to coups against vulnerable governments. He has also provided generously from Libya's oil wealth to give training and refuge to various terrorist groups.

Here are some examples of Khadafy's mischief-making:

— Nigeria. In April 1983, the American ambassador in Lagos sent Washington a detailed report on an alleged plot to overthrow the Nigerian government. The plot was "personally approved" by Khadafy and bankrolled by him to the tune of $40 million.

A Nigerian on trial for plotting the overthrow "had testified of several clandestine trips to Libya ... last year, and said he and seven other plotters had received cash payments of over a million dollars in Tripoli, Accra and Lagos," the cable stated. The ambassador added that the supposed plot may have been a scam "in which several Nigerians were able to con large sums out of the Libyans."

The authenticity of the plot was largely irrelevant. In fact, if it had indeed been nothing more than a confidence game it demonstrated that Khadafy was so enthusiastic about aiding the overthrow of the Nigerian government that he hadn't made even a cursory check of the supposed plotters' credentials or chances of success.

Con men or coup plotters, the Nigerian group "met with Khadafy at a military farm on the outskirts of Tripoli," the ambassador reported. The Libyan leader "approved and encouraged their scheme, telling the Nigerians that he had two other groups in Nigeria, but they were ineffective." The next day, the visitors met with members of the Libyan revolutionary council and were given money.

— Egypt. In November 1984, Egyptian intelligence held Khadafy up to worldwide ridicule by announcing — falsely — that a Libyan opposition leader had been assassinated in Cairo. Khadafy immediately claimed credit, whereupon the Egyptians produced the supposed victim at a press conference, alive and well. The Libyan hit squad assigned to the task had been captured by the Egyptians and persuaded to confess.

Among other things, as the Cairo embassy reported to Foggy Bottom, the gang that couldn't shoot straight had confessed that Khadafy also had plans "to assassinate various heads of state, including (West German) Chancellor Helmut Kohl, Saudi Arabia's King Fahd, the United Arab Emirates Sheikh Zayed Bin Sultan and Pakistan President Zia ul-Haq."

— Tunisia. When Khadafy complained about a supposed plot by Palestinians based in Tunisia to assassinate Libyans working abroad, the U.S. ambassador in Tunisia reported: "The Libyan charge might be 'a response in kind to the Tunisian public statement implying Libyan responsibility for the sabotage of the Algerian-Tunisian pipeline.'"

Magic: LA Relishes Role Of Underdog

NBA Playoffs

United Press International
The playoffs have yet to begin, and already the Los Angeles Lakers are engaging in psychological posturing for a repeat showdown against the Boston Celtics.

The Lakers, seeking to become the first team to retain its NBA title since the 1968-69 Celtics, expect to be healthy, but their hunger is questionable. Magic Johnson already has accepted his team's role as the underdog should they meet Boston for the championship again.

"I love the position we're in," he said. "It's the best spot to be in. I've always loved being the underdog. We don't get any respect. We could win 70 games and it would be the same; they just don't respect the Lakers."

The Celtics have demanded respect with their regular-season record: 67 victories, 40-1 at home, including 31 straight. The Lakers' 62 victories was second best in the league.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Los Angeles' leading scorer, sat out two weekend games with a throat infection, but will be recovered when the defending champions begin post-season play Thursday night against the San Antonio Spurs.

Reserve center Mitch Kupchak has been working his injured knee into shape, and power forward Kurt Rambis and playmaker Magic Johnson have rested theirs.

Boston's Larry Bird, Kevin McHale, Robert Parish and Bill Walton all are healthy for the Celtics' first-round series against Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls.

"It's really a coincidence that both teams have stayed as healthy as they have this year," Maurice Lucas said of the Lakers. "But if a key injury to Magic, Kareem or (James) Worthy; or Bird, McHale or Parish, you could have a totally different type of series."

In the other first-round games (with home-court clubs listed first), it's Milwaukee vs. New Jersey, Philadelphia vs. Washington, Atlanta vs. Detroit, Houston vs. Sacramento, Denver vs. Portland and Utah vs. Dallas.

Health should be a factor for the Spurs and 76ers; hunger will probably decide the evenly-matched Pistons-Hawks and Mavericks-Jazz matchups.

Key to what little chances the Spurs have against the Lakers are Artis Gilmore and Steve Johnson. San Antonio was contending for the Midwest Division lead before playmaker Johnny Moore was lost for the year with hepatitis; they collapsed when their center and power forward went down for extended periods.

And Philadelphia, which meets Washington in the first round, is hoping for a full recovery from their center, Moses Malone. He suffered a broken bone near his eye a few weeks ago and may wear goggles in the playoffs.

The series between the Jazz and Mavericks and Hawks and Pistons match the No. 4 and 5 teams in each conference. Both should be the closest of the first-round affairs.

"Basically, we have to defend Adrian Dantley and isolate Mark Eaton," Dallas coach Dick Motta said. "We need to slow down Rickey Green's penetration and stop their fastbreak."

The Jazz are one of the most lumbering teams in the league, and lately the Mavericks have been starting 7-footer Bill Wennington alongside burly center James Donaldson.

One of the more interesting guard matchups of the playoffs will pit 6-2 Isaiah Thomas against 5-7 Spud Webb. Thomas can actually post up Webb and get the Atlanta sparkplug into foul trouble.

But Dominique Wilkins of the Hawks, the league's leading scorer, should have little trouble scoring against Kelly Tripucka. The key to this series may be at the power forward slot: fast-improving Kevin Willis of Atlanta vs. wily veteran Kent Benson.

Concerned Friends Begin Laszaic Fund

Concerned friends of Anthony Laszaic, a junior baseball player for Lake Mary High School, have started a fund to defray the expenses of his hospitalization following a March 14 automobile accident.

Laszaic, who posted a 5-0 won-lost record and 1.95 earned run average before he was injured in a one-car crash, is currently under care at Orlando's Florida Hospital South. Anthony, who attended the Rams' win over Seminole Saturday, is in room 1403.

Anthony's father, Tony, said Saturday that his son has "some brain damage but it is to a dormant area of the brain." He said a blood clot, which developed as a result of the accident, has dissolved.

"Anthony's biggest problem is with his speech and some memory," Tony said. "He has to re-learn some things and it will be five or six months before the doctors know for sure about his condition."

Tony said the doctors were impressed with Anthony's rapid recovery thus far, and there is a chance that there will be a complete recovery.

"Anthony's physical skills are fine," Tony said. "He was throwing the football around and playing basketball just the other day."

Along with his mental exercises, Anthony is also undergoing physical therapy at the hospital. Tony said he expects Anthony to become an outpatient pretty soon. Then, he would stay at home and go to the hospital nine hours a day for therapy.

Contributions to the fund should be mailed to: Anthony Laszaic Fund, 690 Tudor Ct., Longwood, FL 32750.

Anthony's room is near that of Aretha Riggins, Seminole High School's superb freshman athlete who was a victim of Landry-Barre-Guillain Syndrome, a rare ascending paralysis.

Aretha said she has to learn to walk again before she will be able to come home.

"It's coming along slowly," Aretha said. "I'm sure I'll be able to walk pretty soon."

Both athletes said they welcome and enjoy visitors.

Lake Mary, which held the No. 1 ranking in the Florida Sports Writers Class 4A State Prep Baseball Poll for six weeks, has returned to the top spot.

"All of the teams in the top 10 lost except Lake Mary and Jacksonville Sandalwood," Frank Frangia, Jacksonville Times Union sports writer, said Monday afternoon. "Lake Mary deserved to be back on top."

The Rams, 23-2, have won six in a row since suffering back-to-back setbacks to Lake Howell and Apopka March 21-22. The were ranked No. 4 last week.

Mike Schmit, statistically the best baseball player to ever come through Seminole County, signed a scholarship with coach Mike Martin and the Florida State Seminoles Monday in Tallahassee.

Schmit, who said Florida State has been his No. 1 choice for the past two years, has been one of the few county players to have a four-year varsity career as an outstanding pitcher and stand-out hitter.

Schmit said he is unsure where he will play at FSU, but he was given the indication he would play first base. He said he would also like an opportunity to try his hand at third base and catching. "I'd like to pitch some, too, maybe as a fourth or fifth starter," Schmit said. "Hopefully, I'll play for three years, get drafted and sign a major league contract."

FSU, ranked No. 1 in the nation by one poll and No. 2 in another, knocked off defending national champion Miami 2 of 3 games this past weekend at Tallahassee.

Roberts' 1-Hitter Propels Cardinal By Atlantic, 12-2

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Anthony "Redman" Roberts, one of the top returning players in the Sanford Little Major Leagues, tossed a one-hitter Monday night as Cardinal Industries opened the 1986 season with a 12-2 victory over Atlantic Bank in Sanford Little American League action at Fort Mellon Park.

Cardinal managed just three hits of its own but Roberts displayed much better control than the opposing pitching. Roberts struck out 13 in the game and walked six while the only hit he allowed was a fifth-inning single by Marlon Knight.

On the other hand, two Atlantic Bank pitchers combined for 19 walks and that was the difference in the game. Five of those walks were issued in the first inning when Cardinal scored four runs. Britt Henderson's RBI double was the only hit in the inning.

Atlantic Bank came back with two runs in the top of the second to pull within 4-2. Tyrone Williams was hit by a pitch and eventually scored on a passed ball and Steve Lowery walked and went around to score on a wild pitch.

One of the top defensive plays witnessed in recent years in the Sanford Little Major League kept Atlantic Bank close in the bottom of the second. With one out and runners on first and second, Cardinal's Roberts unloaded a shot to right center field. Centerfielder Donnie Jones ran down the ball and speared it just before it went over the fence. Jones then turned and gunned the ball to second for an inning-ending double play.

The Bank's celebration was short-lived, though, as Cardinal pulled away with five runs in the third inning. Terry Williams' two-run triple highlighted the inning. Cardinal tacked on three more runs in the fifth with an RBI double by Roberts leading the way.

FORD DUMPS PETROLEUM
Jermaine Hartfield and Dallas Inman smashed a pair of homers apiece and Andreas Key tossed a three-hitter as Seminole Ford downed Seminole Petroleum, 13-5, in Sanford Little American League opening day action Monday at Bay Avenue Field.

Hartfield and Inman both blasted solo homers in the top of the first to give Seminole Ford the early lead. Hartfield then led off the third with another later and Inman later unloaded a three-run homer in the inning as Seminole Ford pulled away.

Richard Ransom's solo shot in the fourth inning was the fifth round tripper of the day for Seminole Ford which had 10 hits in the game. Luther Thornton added a pair of hits while Bill Kerns had an RBI triple.

Key was overpowering on the mound as he struck out 13, walked four and hit two. Tony Alme had two of the three hits for Seminole Petroleum and scored two runs while Dante Bell had an RBI double.

downed defending American League champion Sun Bank, 15-5, at Westside Field.

Control problems was the only thing that kept Holley from completely dominating the game as he struck out 10, seven on called third strikes, but walked 10. Tony Duncan's two-run double in the bottom of the fourth was the only hit for Sun

Bank. Adcock Roofing broke open a close game with eight runs in the top of the fifth. The score was tied at 5-5 going into the fifth but six consecutive walks enabled two runs to score for Adcock, two more scored on passed balls and Al Brown came through with the big blow with a grand slam homer.

Princeton Accepts Alvin Jones

Alvin Jones, the defending Class 4A state triple jump champion, will attend Princeton University this fall, Seminole High School track coach Ken Brauman said this morning.

"We received word Monday that Princeton had accepted Alvin," Brauman said about his senior leaper. "Alvin was very excited about it." Brauman said Princeton, which does not offer athletic scholarships, has arranged a financial aid package which will cover Jones's four-year education. Jones will also receive funding from the national merit corporation.

Jones leaped 49-11 1/4 in the National Junior Olympics in Seattle, Wash. last summer, which is his best effort.

Good Or Bad, Gooden Fields The Questions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dwight Gooden could have gone out there Monday and pitched his first no-hitter since he was in high school. He's capable of that.

Or the Cardinals could have bombed him out in the first inning and ruined the Mets' home opener. Neither happened. Gooden pitched eight innings but came away with a no decision as the Mets dropped a 6-2 13-inning decision to the Cards at Shea Stadium.

Either way, the Mets' 1985 Cy Young Award winner wouldn't have ducked the media the way Charlie Leibrandt did last October after he shut out the Cardinals for eight innings and they came up with four runs in the ninth to beat the Royals in the second game of the World Series.

No matter whether he has a good day or a bad one against the Cardinals, Gooden will be around after the game to answer as many questions as the media can throw at him.

It's part of an agreement he has made and he lived up to it in last Tuesday night's season opener in Pittsburgh where he was ushered into an unoccupied dressing room that was needed for all the newsmen who wanted to find out more from him about his 4-3 victory over the Pirates.

Milton Richman
UPI EDITOR Sports

Rather than stop whatever he's doing to answer questions every two minutes, Gooden has agreed to make himself available for group interviews after every game he pitches, win, lose or even no decision.

The group interview idea is an outgrowth of a never-ending avalanche of requests for interviews with the Mets' 21-year-old fireballing right-hander.

There was no way he could possibly accommodate the requests. He not only wouldn't have had much time to pitch, he wouldn't have had any time to sleep.

The interview requests for Gooden rose sharply after he struck out the side in the All-Star Game in San Francisco two years ago. After being named National League Rookie of the Year in 1984, the demands for him became so heavy the following spring that he had difficulty coping with them.

"I could sense something was wrong," says Mets' public relations director Jay Horwitz, whom the club has delegated to handle all of Gooden's interview requests. "He stopped smiling. He just wasn't happy anymore."

Gooden told Mets' pitching coach Mel Stottlemyre the constant demands on his time were interfering with his work and becoming too much for him.

Stottlemyre relayed the information to Mets' manager Dave Johnson and Johnson passed it along to Horwitz.

All agreed something had to be done.

Before Gooden came along, the Dodgers ran into something similar with Fernando Valenzuela. He didn't speak English, yet everyone wanted to interview him anyway. Even if it meant going through an interpreter.

The requests for Venesuela kept snowballing, especially when he was on the road with the Dodgers, and ultimately their PR man, Steve Brenner, arranged for group question-and-answer sessions after every game the popular Mexican left-hander pitched.

With that in mind, the Mets decided on the same policy Pete Rose refined into an art form while zeroing in on Ty Cobb's record last season.

Rose also held still for additional one-on-one interviews. So does Gooden. But whereas the Reds' player-manager personally made all the decisions as to whom he gave those unscheduled interviews and whom he didn't.

Gooden is getting more time to himself, but poor Horwitz is catching flak from all sides now. Any time someone can't get to Gooden, the blur-harried publicist immediately is blamed for it. One writer angrily described him as "a plastic plexiglass shield." A New Jersey paper printed his picture and captioned it "The Protector."

"I don't know why everybody's blaming him for something that's not his fault," Gooden says. "He's only doing his job. Some reporters get mad when they can't talk to me right then and there when they want. It's impossible for me to talk to everybody."

Juniors: 51 Bases On Balls

Moose Gets 1 Hit, But Lances Knights

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

The feet were made for walking, and that's exactly what they did on the opening night of the Sanford Junior League.

In two games Monday night, there were a total of 51 bases on balls. The big beneficiary was Moose which had only one hit but claimed a 12-10 victory over Knights of Columbus on the strength of 19 walks.

In Monday's second game, Rotary, the only team that really hit the ball, topped Smitty's Mower, 12-9.

The only hit Moose got of Knights' pitcher Anton Reid was a double by Al Perkins in the third. The game lasted only four innings because of the time limit and one person happy to get it over with must have Reid who pitched the entire game for KOC.

Moose pitcher Tony Chavers didn't have much better control as he walked 14, but it was five few enough to enable Moose to survive. Knights of Columbus had five hits in the game including two each by Reid and Floyd Henderson.

In Monday's second game, Rotary pounded out 12 hits to offset the 13 walks by pitchers Tim Hampton and Derrick Taylor in the victory over Smitty's, the new team in the Junior League.

Henry William had three hits including a single, double and triple and drove in three runs to lead the way for Rotary. Taylor, Tommy Hampton and Andre Stokes had two hits each for Rotary while Tim Hampton, Craig Eadell and Tommie Mathis each had one hit.

Smitty's managed just one hit in the game but took a 9-3 lead after two innings behind 12 walks. Keith Walk's RBI single in the second was the only hit for Smitty's.

Rotary came back from the early deficit with seven runs in the bottom of the third and sewed up the win with two in the fourth. The 12 hits were needed for Rotary as it received the fewest free passes of the night, only five.

Poised Ranger Rookie 3-Hits Milwaukee, 10-1

United Press International
Texas Rangers rookie starter Ed Correa, 19, displayed poise and patience beyond his years yesterday. Not even a 2:09 rain delay could fluster the youngest player in the major leagues.

Combining physical attributes to rival his emotional virtues, he led the Rangers to a 10-1 rout of the Milwaukee Brewers with a three-hit, eight-inning performance.

"I was anxious to pitch, to get out and do the job," said Correa, acquired during the off season from the Chicago White Sox. "I didn't think we were going to play, but Bobby (Valentine, Rangers manager) said they were going to try as hard as possible to get it in. I just wanted to go out there and do my job."

He did it with style, just as he won a spot on the Rangers staff with an impressive spring training performance. In his last three exhibition outings, he allowed just two runs in 16 innings and notched 18 strikeouts. He lost his first outing this season, dropping a 3-1 decision to Toronto.

"We're young, but I believe we can play... we can pitch." Correa said. "They (pre-season polls) didn't expect much of us, but we'll surprise a lot of people."

Correa posted a 1-0 record and a 6.75 ERA in five late-season games last year with the White Sox.

Royals 8, Red Sox 2

At Boston, Willie Wilson stroked three hits and keyed a six-run eighth inning that paced the Royals and handed the Red Sox the fifth loss in their last six home openers. Charlie Leibrandt, 1-0, worked seven innings for the victory, allowing four hits and two runs. Dennis Boyd, 0-1, was the loser.

Orioles 2, Blue Jays 1

At Toronto, Mike Boddicker tossed a four-hitter and Rick Dempsey and Alan Wiggins each drove in a run to spoil the Blue Jays' home opener. Baltimore played under protest, as the game repeatedly was interrupted by fans going onto the field. Boddicker improved to 1-0 while Doyle Alexander, 1-1, took the

Angels 7, Mariners 6

At Anaheim, Calif., Darrell Miller singled home Brian Downing from third base with none out in the bottom of the ninth in the Angels' home opener. Pete Ladd, 1-1, hit Downing to open the ninth. Donnie Moore, 1-0, entered in the ninth.

Tigers 10, White Sox 6

At Chicago, Darrell Evans belted a two-run homer in the fourth inning and ignited a six-run sixth with a single, leading Detroit over Chicago, losers of six of their first seven games. Dan Petry yielded seven runs, including a pair of solo homers by Greg Walker, in five innings, but improved to 1-1.

A's 7, Twins 6

At Minneapolis, Carney Lansford singled home two runs to highlight a three-run seventh inning and send the A's past the Twins. All three runs came off reliever Roy Smith, 0-1. Keith Atherton, who relieved starter Jose Rijo in the fifth, improved to 1-0. Jay Howell worked the ninth and picked up his second save.

White Sox shortstop Ozzie Guillen fires to first base. Chicago lost its sixth game in seven attempts Monday to the Red Sox.

Johnson Comes Up Short, Mets Fall

United Press International
One week into the season, the 24-man roster has become an aggravation to some teams and a blessing to others.

The controversial roster reductions are forcing some managers to think twice before employing their benches for defensive purposes or for pinch hitters and pinch runners. In some cases, though, one less player has had little effect on game strategy.

All three National League games went into extra innings Monday and nowhere did the 24-man roster come into play more than the Mets' home opener with the St. Louis Cardinals.

New York manager Davey Johnson had to use pitcher Rick Aguilera as a pinch hitter in the 12th inning of the Mets' 6-2 13-inning loss.

"It's going to force a lot of things I wouldn't want to do," said Johnson. "It's not good for baseball. But, if that's what they want to do, we'll have to make adjustments along the way."

Johnson's pre-season prediction that the 24-man roster would hurt the Mets more than other teams because of his platoon system, was proven Monday. The reduction in the roster, voluntarily put into effect to save money, has been a bonanza for Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog.

"I love it," Herzog said. "It's an advantage to us because we have five switch-hitters and I only platoon in one place."

Johnson platoons at two positions, second and third base, and sometimes left field. Herzog platoons occasionally at catcher and right field. The St. Louis manager still had two players — Mike LaValliere and Jose Oquendo — on his bench Monday if needed.

Aguilera, who hit .278 with 10 hits last season, walked and advanced to second on a wild pitch, but Len Dykstra flied out to end the inning.

St. Louis scored four runs in the 13th to win the game. Two of the runs came when third baseman Howard Johnson let Tito Landrum's one-hopper with the bases loaded go under his glove. Ozzie Smith followed one out later with a two-run double to give St. Louis some insurance.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh topped Philadelphia 3-1 in 10 innings and San Diego outlasted Los Angeles 4-3 in 11.

In the American League it was: Kansas City 8, Boston 2, Baltimore 2, Toronto 1, Texas 10, Milwaukee 1, California 7, Seattle 6, Detroit 10, Chicago 8 and Oakland 7, Minnesota 6.

Pirates 3, Phillies 1, 10 Innings

At Philadelphia, R.J. Reynolds doubled home the go-ahead run and Joe Orsulak added an RBI single in a two-run 10th inning lifting Pittsburgh. Cecilio Guante, who blanked Philadelphia in the eighth and ninth innings, gained the victory. Jim Winn worked the 10th for his first save. Steve Bedrosian, 1-1, who relieved starter Kevin Gross to start the 10th, took the loss.

Padres 4, Dodgers 3, 11 Innings

At San Diego, pinch-hitter Bruce Bochy cracked a leadoff home run in the bottom of the 11th inning to power San Diego. Bochy, battling for winning pitcher Craig Lefferts, slammed a 1-1 pitch from Ed Vande Berg over the left-center field fence. Lefferts improved to 1-0, while Vande Berg dropped to 0-1. The one-run decision was the eighth straight for both teams, extending the major-league record each set Sunday.

Hovis, Lyman Topple Hawks

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Chris Brock socked a three-run homer to get Lyman rolling while Dale Stevens' two-run single and Sandy Hovis' sparkling relief job applied the closers as the Greyhounds outlasted Lake Howell, 12-9, in Seminole Athletic Conference baseball Monday night at Lyman High.

The victory finally pulled the 'Hounds to the .500 mark with a 13-13 record. Lake Howell fell to 14-11. The Greyhounds also eliminated Howell from the SAC race. The Hawks are 4-5. Lyman improved to 4-4. Lake Mary, which hosts Howell today, leads with a 7-1 mark.

Brock, who was dropped to fifth in the batting order and moved to second base in the fifth inning, crushed a fastball from loser David Martin over the 360-foot sign in left center and onto the Lyman track. Brock's blast followed singles by Marty Martin and Darren Boyesen along with an error and an RBI hit batsman by Chris Radcliff.

Lyman's seven-run third inning erased a 3-0 Lake Howell lead, which came about as a result of Ed Taubensee's two-run double off the top of the right center field fence in the third inning.

After falling behind, the Hawks, though, bounced back in the fourth, knocking out starter Byron Overstreet with a five-run outburst. Four Lyman errors — two by Brock on the same play — helped the rally along with a clutch two-run single by Terry Gammons.

Hovis, who played shortstop and second base last year, came on to get the final two outs. "Sandy has been a pleasant surprise," Lyman pitching coach Ed Nuss said about his junior righthander. "He throws strikes and they know he's going to be around the plate."

Hovis, who picked up his first win against two losses, shut down the hard-hitting Silver Hawks on three hits over the final three innings. Gammons' rapped a bad-hop triple to right field and scored on a wild pitch for the final Howell run.

Sandy Hovis

Chris Brock

By that time, however, Lyman had a three-run lead, thanks to Stevens and John Banc. Banc, who has swinging the bat with authority the past two weeks, capped a three-run fourth inning with an RBI single for a 10-8 edge. Overstreet and Radcliff, each of whom had a pair of singles, preceded Banc's single to center field.

"I felt better after we got the lead," Hovis said. "I was just throwing my curveball at the batters' shoulder and it was breaking across to the outside corner."

Breaking too much for the anxious hitter, Lyman coach Bob McCullough pointed out. "Hovis keeps the ball down and throws strikes," he said. "If you're not a disciplined hitter — you're in trouble."

Lake Howell was in trouble the last three innings, often swinging at bad pitches. The Hawks also ripped several liners but each time they found the Lyman gloves.

Stevens, who had the big hit in Lyman's win Friday night over Oviedo, supplied the capper again Monday. Radcliff singled in the seventh and Burton followed with a hit but Radcliff was tossed out trying to steal by Taubensee.

Brock restarted the rally with a walk and one out later. Billy Henley drew another walk to load the bases. Steven followed with a base hit to center field to chase home two runs and close out the Hawks.

Lyman travels to Lake Brantley tonight for a 7 o'clock game with the Patriots.

Pants Breaks 501 Blues, Routs Bill Knapp's, 16-1

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

Being shutout on one hit over the first three innings didn't sit too well with Pants USA. But, down 1-0 after three frames, Pants USA broke out of the 501 blues and erupted for 14 runs on 11 hits in the top of the fourth en route to a 16-1 victory over Bill Knapp's in Sanford Men's Softball League action Monday at Pinehurst Field.

The win upped Pants USA to 4-1 for the season and moved them within one game of the Tim Raines Connection. Six Flags Nursery also improved to 4-1 with an 8-3 victory over McKee Development Monday night. In Monday's other game, AJ's rocked Prestige Imports, 20-2, to run its record to 3-2.

Carl Lee's three-run triple got the rally started for Pants USA in the fourth and he came back later in the inning to belt a two-run triple. Joe Benton added a pair of RBI doubles in the outburst. Steve Shapiro smacked a two-run double. Chuck McMullan added a run-scoring double and Joe Ervin and Tom Gracey contributed RBI singles.

Bill Knapp's had just three hits in the game including a double by Jeff Smith and singles by Doug Engel and Joe Grestini.

AJ's got their bats going right from the start in the rout of winless (0-6) Prestige Imports. Joe Liakos drilled a three-run double to highlight a five-run first inning and he added a solo inside-the-park homer in the six-run second. Mike Ferrell ripped a solo homer and Bob Newfeld added an RBI triple in the second. Russ Robinson's two-run inside-the-park homer paved the way to a seven-run fifth inning while Ferrell added a two-run single in the inning.

Robin Pannell's RBI double was one of only five hits for Prestige Imports. Kevin Polvani added a pair of singles.

Scott Williams and John Emmerson hit two homers apiece and combined to drive in seven runs in the 8-3 victory for Six Flags Nursery over McKee Development.

Bobby Von Herbulis and Pete Harrison had RBI singles for two of McKee's three runs. McKee was held to six hits in the game.

Coffey (.488), Merchant (.484) to Wage Bat War

Seminole's County best hitters — and scorekeepers — will be put to the test the next six days as the regular season comes to a close with several categories still up for grabs among the baseball leaders.

The regular season concludes Saturday and players from all six county schools have two or three games apiece remaining to fatten — or lower — their statistics.

Lake Brantley's Mark Coffey and Oviedo's Mark Merchant are just .004 of a percentage point apart for the batting championship. Coffey, who had nine hits in 12 trips last week, is hitting .488. Merchant, who went 7 for 14, is just behind at .484. Lake Mary's Shane Letterio (.430), Oviedo's Frank Torres (.426) and

Baseball

Brantley's Mike Davis (.420) are the long shots.

Brantley's Davis and teammate Mike Beams continued to wage their own personal duel for the home run championship. Beams socked two last week and Davis smashed one. Beams leads, 10-9.

Lake Mary's Mike Schmit drove four runs last week to push his RBI total to 35. Davis (33), Mary's Ryan Lisle (32), Beams (31) and Coffey (29) are in hot pursuit.

Merchant and Lyman freshman Chris Radcliff each have three triples.

Lake Howell's Tom Boucher, who also had three, quit the team, according to Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin.

Lake Mary's Mike Pinckes leads the way with 11 doubles. Seminole's Brian Sheffield and Mary's Letterio and Schmit each have nine. Coffey has eight.

Letterio and Brantley's Andy Dunn have scored 30 runs apiece. Davis and Beams are next with 28 each. Pinckes has 27.

Merchant has stolen 25 bases in 27 attempts. Teammate Frank Torres swiped eight last week to close the gap. Torres is 23 for 24. Oviedo has stolen 119 times in 129 tries, a 93 percent success ratio.

Seminole's Sheffield leads in innings pitched with 69 1/3. Lyman's Byron Overstreet is next with 64. Sheffield has the strikeout leadership wrapped up with 92 whiffs. Schmit is a distant second with 66.

Oviedo's Jimmy Barrett finally qualified for the earned run average lead when he pushed his innings over 30. Barrett has a sparkling 0.66 ERA. Overstreet and Lake Howell's Jim Read are next with 1.31.

Schmit has posted a perfect 9-0 record in 11 starts. Read is next at 6-1 in seven starts. Lake Mary's Steve Shakar has four saves to top that category.

IN BRIEF

Rogers Outguns Faulk In High Speed Late Model Feature Run

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — After a high speed battle with early leader Lee Faulk, David Rogers took the lead on lap nine and went on to win the 25-lap late model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway. Faulk held on for second, followed by Mike Goldberg, Joe Middleton and Bill Posey.

Driving the J.B.'s Fish Camp Firebird, John Cochran dominated the thundercar division by turning fast time, winning the fast heat and the 20 lap feature, beating Pete Starr, Scott Teed, Granny Tatroe and Mike Barfield.

After a race long duel with Bobby Sears, Gene Van Alstine edged ahead just enough to take the win over division's defending champion Bobby Sears.

Roadrunner feature winner was Mike Fitch. Finishing second was heat winner Gary Salvatore who also scored a win in the Great American Sack Race.

Peanut Northup was the demolition derby winner.

Tennis: Brantley, Howell Lead

Lake Brantley's boys and Lake Howell's girls advanced all five singles players through the first and second rounds Monday to take a commanding lead halfway through the Class 4A-5 District Tennis Tournament at Sanlando Park in Atlantone Springs.

Mark Mance, ranked 35th in the nation in his age group, Dirk Hortan, Mark and Peter Palus and Jonathan Bourne were all easy winners in the first two rounds for coach Frank Gooch's powerhouse.

The Dulce sisters — Emmy-lou and Edie — along with Renee Elasser, Bonnie Oliver and Mindy Gardberg also won convincingly for coach Mike Hargis' Lady Hawks.

The tournament continues today and Wednesday at Sanlando.

'Gades' Auction To Be May 10

On Saturday, May 10, the Official Orlando Renegades Booster Club, Inc. is hosting a charity auction at Howard Johnson's Executive Center in Orlando at the corner of Interstate 4 and Colonial Drive.

The auction will begin at 7 p.m. The doors will be opened at 6 p.m. to allow previewing of items to be auctioned.

All proceeds from the auction will be used to purchase season tickets for the Orlando Renegades' 1986 season. These tickets will then be donated to local youth-oriented, non-profit organizations such as the Boy's Club of Central Florida.

Coach Lee Corso, super-salesman Sam Behr and Renegades' players will be auctioneers. Admission is $3.

3 Sessions For Brantley Camp

Coach Steve Jucker's Lake Brantley Basketball Camp will be held in three sessions this summer for boys and girls ages 9 through 15.

The first session will be June 23-26; the second July 7-10; the third July 21-24. The cost is $40 and it will be held in the Lake Brantley high school gymnasium. The sessions are from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

"We'll stress a lot of fundamentals," Jucker said. The fee covers insurance, a tee-shirt and soft drinks. Jucker's father, Ed, who coached Cincinnati to a pair of NCAA championships will be one of the featured speakers.

Call Jucker at 862-1778 or 788-7880 for the brochure or further information.

Osborn, Howell Dump Mainland

Lake Howell used the solid pitching of Brian Osborn to post its 11th victory in 15 games Monday, a 14-3 romp over the Daytona Beach Mainland Bucs.

Bobby Moore led the hitting attack with a single and a double. David Dees and Steve Tricker each stroked a pair of singles.

Coach Dennis Codrey's Silver Hawks close the season today at home against Lake Mary at 3:30 p.m.

IN BRIEF

House Censures Legislator; Votes For 'Life Skills' Education

TALLHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida House Monday gave Rep. John Thomas, D-Jacksonville, the lightest possible legislative reprimand for his four felony convictions, choosing 109-8 only to publicly censure him.

Thomas was convicted last year of four federal felony counts of falsifying a 1980 Small Business Administration loan application. He was given four years on probation and ordered to repay the $12,000 loan, but has appealed that sentence.

Thomas could have been expelled from the Legislature, placed on legislative probation, or reprimanded for the convictions. Thomas said the affair had caused him "embarrassment and pain," and that the House had acted fairly.

In other Legislative action:
● A House subcommittee voted to allow terminally ill adults to starve to death. The bill is an amendment to the Life Prolonging Procedure Act, which took effect in 1984 and allows adult patients to instruct doctors to withhold life-prolonging medical treatment if two doctors agree that the patient is terminally ill and that death is imminent.

● The Senate Commerce committee gave unanimous approval to former Gov. Reubin Askew's plan to combat securities fraud through tighter regulation and penalties up to six times tougher than under current law.

The plan includes provisions that would effectively ban the sale of highly speculative "penny stocks" in Florida and would bring dealers in government securities under state review for the first time.

● The House Education committee narrowly voted to expand the life management skills course taught in the 9th and 10th grades, despite heated charges it would lead to sex education in the schools.

The committee passed a bill adding "parenting skills" and "assertiveness training to avoid...adolescent pregnancy and drug abuse" to the curriculum.

Supporters said the bill would reduce child abuse, teenage pregnancy and drug abuse, but a lengthy parade of conservative, anti-abortion and parents' rights advocates told the committee the bill was an attempt to turn sex education over to teachers.

● The House Criminal Justice Committee passed a bill that would make it illegal to transmit by computer images of sexual conduct with minors and information that promotes sexual abuse of children.

Federal Court Delays Execution

STARKE (UPI) — A federal appeals court agreed to delay the scheduled execution today of gang leader Daniel Morris Thomas to give the Supreme Court time to rule on his case.

Thomas, convicted of shooting a homeowner and raping his wife while the man lay dying, was scheduled to die today at 7 a.m. EST.

A three-judge panel of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected Thomas' appeal just before midnight Monday but granted a limited stay halting the execution until at least noon today.

"They granted the limited stay to give the Supreme Court time to hear the appeal," a clerk at the 11th circuit court said.

Thomas' death warrant expires at noon Wednesday, which would give the state time to carry out the execution if the Supreme Court refuses to grant a stay.

The court rejected arguments that Thomas should be spared on the grounds that a potential juror opposed to the death penalty was excluded from his jury, and that the state withheld evidence from the defense at the trial.

Thomas, 37, was identified as the leader of a gang whose members covered their faces with ski masks and robbed numerous Polk County homes in the mid-1970s.

Federally Insured Mortgages May Be Fewer, More Expensive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veterans and middle-income Americans could find the door to home ownership locked if Congress fails to restore quickly a key mortgage credit association's authority to guarantee home loans.

At issue is the expiration last week of the Government National Mortgage Association's authority to issue securities based on Federal Housing Authority-insured and Veterans Administration-guaranteed mortgages.

"Ginnie Mae," as the public corporation is popularly known, announced that its $65.3 billion ceiling for fiscal 1986 had been reached and officials said it could underwrite no new FHA- or VA-backed loans until Congress acts to raise the ceiling.

FHA and VA loans account for roughly one-fifth of all home loans.

"We think we speak for the home owner as well as the lenders in urging the President and Congress to immediately raise the ceiling on Ginnie Mae," Mortgage Bankers Association Executive Vice President Warren Lasko told a news conference Monday.

Cutting off the government housing credit program "would lock the door to home ownership for thousands of veterans, young families and moderate- and middle-income Americans," Lasko said.

The bankers lobby has forecast interest rate increases of up to 0.5 percent on FHA and VA loans if Ginnie Mae's credit authority is not immediately extended.

House Takes Up Contra Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has accused House Democrats of stacking a legislative deck against him to sabotage his plan to send military aid to the Contra rebels fighting to overthrow the Sandinista government of Nicaragua.

Even if the assistance is approved, Reagan warns, it will come so late that the guerrillas face certain defeat.

"If aid to the freedom fighters wins a majority in the House, but still loses, if the will of Congress is still thwarted by subterfuge and backroom deals, then those responsible will have served only to damage this nation's foreign policy," he said Monday.

The House today considers Reagan's $100 million aid request, and two alternatives, with a vote planned Wednesday.

Under rules set by the Democratic majority, whatever aid plan that passes will be attached to a $1.7 billion spending bill.

Because Reagan opposes many items in the spending bill, he may veto the legislation — and with it, the aid for the Nicaraguan Contras.

Chili Cook-Off

Stirring a pot of chili prior to a contest Saturday at Flea World in Sanford is Jack Watson, of St. Augustine, with his Six-Gun Chili. Watson was one of 14 contestants in the chili contest sponsored by the National Kidney Foundation. Winning the contest — judged on taste, thickness, appearance and after burn — was the entry Chili Ragout — by Mary Simms, also of St. Augustine. Second went to Damn Good Chili by Charlene Davidson, Sarasota, and third to Dutch Country Chili by Dick and Jane Ruhl of Lakeland. Chili Ragout now advances to the state finals at Marco Island this fall.

The chief's statement was supported on Monday night by Woodmere Boulevard resident Joe Schafer, who said crime has decreased in his neighborhood since it organized a Neighborhood Watch program.

However, Mrs. Yancey said her Highland Park neighborhood's crime watch program did not prevent the area's being victimized Sunday night by someone shooting a pellet gun. She said her neighbor's front window and the windshield of her husband's van were shot out. She also said a boat motor was stolen from a neighbor's yard on the same night and that someone "smashed in" the windshield of her son's car with a hammer last month.

Mrs. Yancey discussed the incidents with the Evening Herald on Monday afternoon and alluded to a lack of commitment on the part of the city to prevent the occurrences.

Her public criticism of commissioners that evening followed their discussion of soliciting citizen and merchant involvement in the city's ongoing beautification campaign.

"Beautification, that's fine, I'm all for it," Mrs. Yancey said. "But that's the wrong priority. The city's prime concern should be cutting down on crime and I don't see that."

Mrs. Yancey said she approached the commission at public session after receiving a less than satisfactory response earlier in the day during individual contacts with commissioners.

Farr disputed this, saying he had spoken with Harriet about the problem after receiving Mrs. Yancey's call and was also with the chief when he contacted Mrs. Yancey to discuss the Highland Park incidents.

Farr also said he didn't feel the Sanford crime rate was up, to which Mrs. Yancey replied, "The chief is sitting right here, you ask him."

Mrs. Yancey, who has announced her intentions to run against Milton Smith in the fall city commission election, also said to Farr, "I don't appreciate the way you're disputing what I'm saying. Don't you remember I'm the one who helped get you elected?"

Mayor Smith called for Mrs. Yancey and Farr to "take up your difference after the meeting," to which Farr responded, "No thanks, Mayor."

Mrs. Yancey also disputed the mayor's statement that the city commission shared her concerns about crime.

"I don't think you do," Mrs. Yancey said. "And I'm going to keep coming back here until something is done."

Mrs. Yancey also told the mayor: "You don't know what it's like," in regard to criminal victimization. Mayor Smith responded: "I certainly do; my home's been burglarized."

She also said the city commission "can't wave a magic wand and make crime go away overnight. We realize the city's growth has made it necessary to increase the number of city police and patrol cars."

"I'm in full support of the police department and feel Chief Harriet is doing a fine job," she said. "I also feel his budget request will reflect a viable proposal for the department's expansion."

right-side solid-fuel booster. The wreckage recovered by the Stena Workhorse included part of the "tang" portion of the joint, located on the lower end of the second fuel segment from the bottom.

The upper tang part of the joint fit into an upward-facing, U-shaped "clevis" joint, located on the top of the lower fuel segment. The corresponding clevis section has not been found.

With the salvage operation in high gear, the search for wreckage from Challenger's crew cabin has been on hold, with no sign from NASA on when that phase of the recovery work will be formally called off.

Most of the cabin wreckage, found in a compressed mound on the sea bed, has been brought ashore, along with remains of the seven-member crew. Sources have said some remains of one astronaut apparently have eluded recovery but the space agency will not discuss that aspect of the investigation.

The USS Preserver, the vessel that spearheaded the recovery of cabin wreckage and crew remains, returned to its home port in Virginia Monday and Navy divers gave grim reports on their somber task.

"It's a tough job. You kind of have to psych your mind up to do it," said chief diver James Starke. "It's a terrible job and nobody likes it. I can guarantee you that."

Reagan said, blaming Libya for a recent wave of terrorist attacks — particularly a bomb attack on a West Berlin nightclub in which a U.S. soldier was killed. Khadafy has repeatedly denied any responsibility for the that attack — and for a bomb that killed four Americans aboard a TWA jet over Greece.

Tripoli residents were awakened at 2 a.m. by loud explosions and rushed, terrified, into the streets on foot and in their cars, jamming roads and honking their horns as smoke from the attack drifted across the city.

Tracer fire lit the sky as the planes came in and Libyan anti-aircraft took aim on them. The bombing lasted about 25 minutes.

Afterward, men, women and children wandered the streets, stunned.

"I was sound asleep when I heard an enormous noise. I felt as if a circle of fire was brought down on me. I thought I was going to die," said one man, who stood, barefoot and covered with dust, in front of a tangled mass of metal that had once been automobiles.

"I can't believe this," said another man. "I have been working in Libya for 20 years as a doctor. Now my house is totally destroyed. What is your president doing?"

Mohammed Taher Gubbla, 39, who teaches English at a university, stood in the street in his pajamas, staring at his bomb-shattered home.

"Reagan should be responsible for all of this. The Americans were sleeping when this happened. They don't know what they did."

"I heard my neighbor crying but I couldn't reach him," he said. "We expected something would happen but we did not expect it tonight. My wife is injured."

Observers said at least six shells exploded in the upper middle-class residential neighborhood around the French Embassy.

Vasic Branco, 34, a Yugoslav, was among the injured at Central Hospital. His forehead was stitched and his face banded.

"I was driving along the road when I heard an explosion. I didn't see anything," he told visiting reporters. "A Libyan dragged me out of my car and took me to the hospital."

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher approved the use of Britain-based U.S. F-111 fighter-bombers for the attack — the first American bombing mission from British soil since World War II.

The United States has abundant air power aboard its Mediterranean-based carriers. But the Britain-based F-111 is an especially accurate, all-weather bomber whose low-level capability gives it an added edge in evading enemy radar.

Thatcher came under fire for what an opposition leader called her "groveling subservience" to Reagan in allowing the United States to use British bases to launch the air raids.

The U.S. planes had to take a circuitous route to their target — covering some 3,200 miles and refueling in flight because both France and Italy refused to allow the U.S. warplanes to pass through their air space on the mission.

Iran and Syria condemned the U.S. air attacks on Libya. Hours later an underground group in Beirut said it had decided to retaliate by kidnapping and killing American, French and British nationals in Lebanon.

The Soviet Union called the U.S. attack a "bloody crime" but Israel's ambassador to the United Nations said it showed Khadafy "the victims of his assaults and killers will not sit back and take it."

In Bonn, West Germany, Economics Minister Martin Bangemann lambasted the attack as "a step for which there can be no understanding. It is in any case not an appropriate way to combat terrorism in a lasting way."

Poland, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, the Soviet Union's Warsaw Pact allies, also condemned the attack, with the official Czech news agency saying it was a bid to bring the Arab world "down to its knees."

In Washington, CIA's

Maksoud, Arab League ambassador to the United States, said the entire Arab world supported Khadafy in his fight with the United States.

"We rally around the Arab flag," he told ABC News.

Grandma Doubts The Good That Grandson Is Receiving

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old grandson, "Mark," has an 18-year-old girlfriend who has taken over his life. He is sexually involved with her—with his mother's knowledge and consent. This girl has quit school, quit her job, stolen from her grandparents, and was kicked out of her parents' home, so my daughter-in-law is letting her live with them. She says this girl is "good" for Mark because he is now getting A's and B's instead of failing, and is not skipping school anymore. My son is not in favor of this setup, but says he feels like an outsider and can't do anything about it. Meanwhile, it's setting a terrible example for the two younger children in the house.

Dear Abby
 sirings around my fingers, but I forget to look at my appointment book, and I forget what the string on my finger is supposed to remind me of until it's too late.

NEW MEXICO MESS
DEAR MESS: If this situation is as you have described, the 18-year-old girl can be charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Furthermore, your son and daughter-in-law could be in trouble with the law for aiding and abetting this unlawful situation.

Whether you want to alert the authorities and blow the whistle on your son and his wife is something you should carefully consider. Unless you have proof that the young people are sexually intimate, it might be in the best interest of everyone to back off.

SPACE CADET
DEAR CADET: How long has this been going on? If it's fairly recent, see your physician for a checkup. If you're physically healthy, forget the strings on your fingers and the notes you will never look at until it's too late.

Get professional help. You are creating additional stress by trying to solve this problem alone.

Now, there are just two things to remember: First, make an appointment with a therapist. Then, keep it. Good luck.

along with other families who have the same problem.

What is wrong with a girl making a telephone call to a boy? I am a 16-year-old girl and my friends include boys as well as girls. If I want to call up a girlfriend to make plans, it's fine with my parents. But they frown on my calling a boy. They say, "Maybe we're old-fashioned, but we don't think it's proper for a girl to call a boy. Besides, what will his parents think of you?"

What do you say?

TO CALL OR NOT TO CALL
DEAR TO CALL: Much depends on the purpose of your call. To talk? Why not, but don't call a boy who never calls you to talk. To "make plans." Plans for what? A special occasion? Fine. But don't call a boy repeatedly to "make plans" unless he also calls you to make plans.

Your parents are probably afraid that you will come over as a pushy girl who aggressively pursues boys, which is what a boy's parents will think of you if you overdo it. So don't.

(So you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a simple question that has turned into quite a big issue in my family. Your answer will help my family

Bob Eland, mechanic at Volkshop for four years, poses with 1967 Volkswagen special being restored by the owner Ken Borhaug with the help of Volkshop. This VW has been in the Borhaug family for years.

Volkshop Offers Special On Volkswagen Tune-Ups

With summer weather and summer vacations coming up, now is the time for Volkswagen owners to take advantage of the Spring tune-up special at Volkshop. Call owner Marvin Wright for the exact price for your individual model.

The tune-up special runs from April 15 to May 15.

Located at 214 Palmetto Ave. in Historic Downtown Sanford, Volkshop specializes in repairs, maintenance and parts VW's, Toyotas, Datsuns, Nissans, Hondas, and Mazdas.

Volkshop specializes in engine and trans-axle rebuilding. They also do lubrication and oil change and repairs on brakes, front ends, transmissions, and exhaust systems.

Call Marvin at 321-0120 for an appointment to have your car worked on or a free estimate for your particular make and model. They will inspect your car for defects without charge.

"To some dealers, it's just another car," said Marvin. "But at Volkshop we take each one individually. We treat our customers right, that's why we have so much repeat business."

Marvin and his team of experienced technicians are dedicated to keeping your vintage VW Bug looking and running its best. If your VW is showing its age, the folks at Volkshop can completely recondition and refurbish it from the ground up for only a fraction of what a new car would cost. This includes tires, paint job, new engine and brakes.

If you are one of those car owners who prefer to do their own repairs, Volkshop has the quality parts you need for the job. They stock Truehall and Bosch parts, Continental belts and hoses and Castrol motor oils for VWs, Toyotas, and Datsuns.

Volkshop is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Professional Car Care Sanford's Auto Glass Tinting Specialist

Professional Car Care is Sanford's oldest and best auto window tinting business, according to owners Larry and Darrell Jackson, who along with Chris Lonis, have been serving Sanford at the same location for over five years.

Larry, Darrell and Chris would like to take this time to thank their many customers for their business and invite you to visit with them and experience the many benefits of solar window tinting.

Professional Car Care, which only installs legal window tints, is known throughout Central Florida for its craftsmanship and low, low prices! Larry and Darrell say "We strive to keep our prices low, because we believe in solar window tinting and want to keep it affordable."

Why auto glass tinting? We live in one of the hottest and sunniest areas in the country. That sun can actually damage your car, which next to your home is probably the most expensive thing you own, so it makes sense to protect your investment.

Heat: Auto glass tinting applied to your car will reduce the interior heat build-up and make your life more comfortable.

Glare: Auto glass tinting will cut the glare on your eyes by 35 percent. Many optometrists recommend the use of solar window tinting because of its shading qualities.

Interior Fade: You buy a new car and your beautiful interior, which you love, is already starting to fade. Reds to Orange, grays to pink. Solar window tinting blocks 97 percent of the sun's ultra violet rays. Guess what? Solar window tinting stops the fading.

Security: Auto glass tinting provides you and your family protection in many ways. Window tinting protects you from the heat we all live with. Window tinting protect the interior from the sun's fading rays and your skin from its burning rays, which make that drive to and fro so uncomfortable. Window tinting protects you from flying glass in the event of an auto accident because the film holds the pieces of glass in one place.

If this doesn't convince you and you're still asking "Why do you need auto glass tinting?" come into Professional Car Care and let Darrell, Larry and Chris answer all of your questions.

Professional Car Care covers you with quality and our limited lifetime warranty plus a price you can afford.

Professional Car Care, same location at the corner of Eighth Street and Highway 17-92 (French Avenue), Sanford, same number 323-7272, same hours, 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Look for the sign on the roof.

Professional Car Care is your auto glass tinter, come in and see why our customers say, "Once you have window tinting, you'll never want to drive without it!"

Larry says, "If you can beat our price and quality, you got a great deal."

No Cure For Disorder But It Resolves Itself

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Do you have any information on Guillain-Barre syndrome? I was hospitalized from May to October, completely paralyzed from the neck down. I still have no reflex actions from the knees down and no feeling in my hands, and my balance is poor. It's a very strange disease; I hope they find a cure for it.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 10-year-old girl and I've been taking piano lessons for six irritated. When this happens, patients may notice some pus or increased secretions around the lids. The situation is usually self-limited and is not serious. If it recurs, have your doctor re-examine you.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 10-year-old girl and I've been taking piano lessons for six years. I crack my knuckles. Will this hurt my piano playing?

 DEAR READER — No, cracking your knuckles will not hurt your piano playing. Some people feel that knuckle-cracking releases tension in finger joints.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

If you, as South, would consider passing after your partner has raised to two spades, you really need to revise your methods of evaluating your hand. Although South's cards contain only 12 high-card points (give nothing for the singleton heart jack), the fact that your partner has supported spades turns the hand to gold. You may want to give North a chance to sign off at three spades if he made a garbage raise, but no competent player would fault South if he went right to game. In fact, South tried with three clubs and North himself was happy to go to game. Now look how declarer mangled the play of the hand.

He won dummy's heart ace and immediately played a spade to his ace, not expecting trumps to split badly. Then a spade back to the king, and only now did our declarer play up to his king of clubs. Even with this bad start, he still would have succeeded if East had risen with the club ace, but no such luck. East played low, and South won the king and played another club. West rose with the jack and cashed the spade queen, and now declarer was able to ruff only one club loser and had to fail by a trick.

It's not a difficult hand. Since declarer will have to play clubs anyway, he should do so before either opponent can draw a third round of trumps. He can start clubs at trick two (or at trick three after first cashing the spade king) but he must manage so that, come what may, he will be able to trump the third and fourth clubs in the dummy.
