Business - Education Day Thursday

The annual Business-Education Day for teachers in Orange and South Seminole Counties will be held Thursday under the co-sponsorship of the Maitland-South Seminole and Winter Park Chambers of Commerce. Dr. Louis Perez of Sanford, a former Cuban resident, will speak to the teachers and business representatives at the kick-off meeting at 8:30 a.m. to be held at the Park West Theatre in Fields Plaza Winter Park, regarding his views on freedom and private enterprise.

Over 60 businesses from South Seminole, Maitland, Winter Park, and Orlando will be participating in this event, the purpose of which is to explain first hand the workings of the private enterprise system at the local level.

During the course of the morning over 600 teachers are expected to visit area businesses to observe their operation.

Co-chairmen for this year's B-E Day are Vivian Blessing of the First National Bank at Winter Park and Nell Cohen of Park Maitland School.

Among those businesses participating are Gale Associates, Kip Watson Dance Studio, Greater Construction Corp., Zayres, Barney Academy, First National Bank of Maitland, Security Federal, and J. M. Fields.

A country can't live on love alone.

There are a lot of things a man can do for his country. Including saying his piece, pro or con.

And talk is an important part of what makes a democracy like ours work.

But in the final analysis, talk is cheap. Personal involvement accomplishes a lot more.

Putting part of your savings to work for America is a step in that direction. To provide some of the economic strength it takes to make the whole system run.

That's one reason why Savings Bonds mean a lot.

They help to pay part of the cost of running a country where you're free to speak your mind.

And they help you at the same time. With interest and security.

So next time you have something to say about America, let your Bond purchases do part of the talking.

Special Meeting Held

By ANN RILEY

LONGWOOD — The city council held a special meeting to discuss annexing the Talmo Subdivision into Longwood. Mayor Ken Brown made a motion that the council adopt ordinance 235 which would annex Talmo from SR 434 to Oak Lane. The ordinance received its first reading and a special meeting was called for Aug. 27 at 7:30 p.m. for the second reading of the ordinance and to go over the city's budget.

City Clerk Onnie Shomate revealed that the controversial missing city ordinances have been missing for over 10 years. "When I took office in 1969, we started with ordinance 340 passed in December 1958. We found ordinance 1 through 34 and after much searching next picked up 88 through 67, but 68 through 142 are still missing."

No one seems to know what the missing 74 ordinances are about, yet Longwood has operated for over a decade without them. The town has been searched and no records found. There is a supposition that the rats chewed them up in the old city hall.

Cook up a bargain.

It's no surprise that the average family has 22 electric appliances in their home, ranging from electric frypans to automatic dishwashers and color TV. After all, why not take full advantage of the biggest bargain in your budget.

And that's exactly what clean, flameless electricity is. In fact, the average price paid per kilowatt hour by FPL-served families today is one-third less than it was in 1957.

So go right ahead and rely on flameless electric for cooking...hair drying ...dishwashing...shaving...cooling and heating your home. Because when it comes to serving you with economy, there's just no match for flameless electric...

Sanford Receives Dickinson Vote

Sanford's efforts to acquire the State Police Academy have resulted in the city being foremost in the possibility of being designated as the site for the advanced training facility.

This was opined by State Treasurer Broward Williams, who was the city's guest at a breakfast this morning at the Holiday Inn.

Williams, a candidate to remain in his treasurer's position during the present state political primary race, indicated that Sanford was now first among the cities seeking the police academy.

Another indication that Sanford would have at least one vote when the State Cabinet meets in a few weeks to name a site came from Seminole County Sheriff John Polk and Douglas Stenstrom, Sanford attorney and former legislator.

They revealed that Fred (Bud) Dickinson, state comptroller and cabinet member, had committed himself to naming Sanford's Building 210 as his choice for locating the academy.

Polk and Stenstrom were at Tallahassee Monday for an appeal of the sheriff's 1970-71 operating budget and called on Dickinson to request his help in securing the academy for Sanford's airport structure, which is available for lease or sale to the state.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said he had indications from Apopka city officials last night that a resolution would be passed by that city asking that Sanford be the school's site.

Mayor Moore also confirmed that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) would allow the sale of the property at a fair market price with the proceeds to be returned to the airport's capital outlay.

Mass 'Sick-Out' Seen

By BILL SCOTT

The probable participation by Seminole County citizens in a state-wide "sick-out" to protest forced busing of students to achieve racial balances in Seminole County schools loomed today after a meeting last night of the Committee to keep Neighborhood Schools Under Freedom Of Choice.

Committee Chairman William Foster will go to Miami Saturday to attend a meeting of state-wide importance with The United Citizens Inc., a group considering a mass statewide sick-out on Sept. 8, opening day of school.

The protest would be aimed at the U. S. Federal Court decisions and county school board plans which have led to the end of the neighborhood schools and freedom of choice concept within the state.

In addition to Foster attending the Miami conference, the committee last night indicated it planned to investigate filed lawsuits in Pinellas, Broward and Dade Counties by United Citizens Inc., seeking to enjoin local school boards from spending any state or county funds to move equipment, pupils or teachers for the purpose of racial balance attainment.

Plans were also made to contact Sen. L. A. (Skip) Bafalis about his plans to file suits against any school systems who use state or county funds to bus children to achieve racial balance since this would violate a 1970 legislative act.

Foster Tuesday received a telegram from Gov. Claude Kirk, after the governor had seen a picture and story in Monday's Herald showing the "burying" of the neighborhood school plans by a group representing the "choice" committee.

Kirk stated "this is a critical situation and I am asking for your assistance and support in helping me and the people of Florida stop busing of any time for purposes of integration." Kirk said he admired Foster and his group for their forthright stand.

Foster Tuesday also announced as a group of Pinecrest Elementary School parents opposed to transferring fourth and fifth grades at the predominately all-white school to Goldsboro Elementary School, a former all-black facility located in a Negro neighborhood.

The group now claims support from more than 1,000 pare

Dragline Permit Sought

By MARION BETHEA

A request has been received by the County Commission for a permit to operate a dragline by Sanford Boat Works and Marina Inc. The concern wishes to clean a shallow area leading into the boat houses, which lies in a slough off the St. Johns River. The application was received and approved by the Water Pollution Control and Advisory Board on Aug. 21. Estimated cost of the project is $3,600.

Zoning Director Robert Brown said that three property owners had complained of the proposed operation, but that the complaints had been satisfactorily resolved. The county had recently ruled that no dragline permits be issued during the summer months between May 1 and Oct. 1 due to swimming.

The request by the above concern left a question as to the county's authority in the matter since it is on a navigable body of water in which the county has no jurisdiction.

Brown has been requested by the commission to secure an opinion as to the county's authority and report to the board at next week's meeting in order that a public hearing on the matter may be set. If the county is not to be involved, Brown is to notify the applicant and advise them to contact the proper government authorities.

Commissioner Greg Drummond has raised the objection of the influx of signs of political candidates obstructing the view of motorists by being placed upon the county rights of way. Drummond suggested that the road department be authorized to take down the signs as well as the sheriff and his deputies.

Probe Due, On Rash Of Accidents

The current rash of accidents at the 25th Street and Onora Road extension has received the attention of the County Commission. Commissioner Sid Vihlen spoke of 5-7 accidents which had recently received publicity, and cited the probable main cause the lack of visibility as well as excessive speed. Vihlen questioned as to whether the roads were marked clearly enough. Vihlen charged that the county has left high banks on this road, which limited the visibility of motorists.

Vihlen said that at the railroad crossing of Onora Road and Lake Mary Road, that it becomes necessary to pull up to within five feet of the track in order to have 20 foot visibility.

Commissioner Greg Drummond suggested as a solution to the problem a community effort in clearing the road banks, as had been done in South Seminole by the Jaycees. However, it was pointed out that the county had no authority to do any work on private property. Vihlen injected that he had contacted the property owners, and that they were amenable to the county undertaking the clearing, but did not feel that they should privately incur the expense. Vihlen suggested two alternatives to the problem; either a through road to 29th Street instead of 29th Street being the through road, or building railroad crossing signals which would cost approximately $35,000.

INITIATES COURT ACTION

Suit Used To Prevent Transfer

Court action was sought Wednesday at Orlando's U.S. District Court to prevent the forced transfer of a Lyman High School English teacher to a former all-black Sanford High School.

Katherine B. Pipkins of Maitland, represented by her attorney-husband Royce D. Pipkins yesterday filed suit to stop the Seminole County School Board and Carlton Henley, Lyman High principal, from moving her to Crooms High, an all-ninth grade integrated school for the 1970-71 term.

In the complaint filed with the court, Mrs. Pipkins alleges that she had been nominated by a contract to teach at Lyman High School during 1970-71, and had notified on numerous occasions Principal Carlton Henley, that she could not return as a Seminole County School employe, unless she was permitted to remain at Lyman High.

Mrs. Pipkins says she was financially unable to pay transportation costs to teach in north Seminole County and had been advised by Henley on numerous occasions that she would not be transferred to another high school.

The complaint stated that she had turned down another teaching position in Orange County based on consoling advice received from Henley and his vice principal.

She alleged when she reported on Aug. 19 to Lyman for her first work day, that she was advised she was being transferred to Crooms High, a facility 20 miles north of Lyman High, to teach ninth grade English, a course she had never taught.

She further stated that she was advised that she must immediately accept the transfer or her employment would be terminated. An immediate restraining order was requested by the teacher to stop the school board from firing her.

Judge George C. Young is expected to set a hearing date on the complaint within the next two-or three days, according to a court spokesman.

Osborne Praises Herald; For 'Getting Port Started'

Florida Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne, at yesterday's Port of Sanford Dedication, praised The Sanford Herald for "doing so much to get the port project started."

The Lieutenant Governor was the featured speaker at the opening of the St. Johns River barge port held at the nearly-completed facility located at the outlet of Lake Monroe and adjacent to Interstate Highway 4.

Almost 500 persons including various waterway dignitaries and political representatives from over the state and area were on hand for the luncheon and speech-making that preceded the unveiling of a bronze plaque by Lt. Gov. Osborne and Becky Thornell, Miss Seminole County.

Osborne, in his 15 minute address, said the port was a good example of state and local governments banding together.

"I pledge to you that the state stands ready to assist you in every way, and we have already started to publicize the port," Osborne added.

ARRIVES BY YACHT

The lieutenant governor arrived at 11:30 a.m. by yacht from the Volusia side of the St. Johns River accompanied by Miss Thornell and Frank Kirk, son of the governor, who represented Kirk at the port dedication.

Other notables to speak at the ceremony included: Dale Miller, president of National Rivers and Harbors Congress, who reported that Sanford had the first inland port in the state and opens the city as a port of call in a route that extends from Trenton, New Jersey to Mexico eventually, when the Cross-State Barge Canal is completed.

JOHN KRIDER
. . . 'Father of Waters'

Col. Raymond Bunton of the Florida Waterways Association spoke in praise of the new port and said "This should put Seminole County in the forefront of waterways."

Bunton said he had always supported the St. Johns Indian River Canal that will have tremendous effect on Sanford and concluded that Palatka in Putnam County, which is also located on the St. Johns River, will open its own barge port later this year.

Randolf Hodges, Department of Natural Resources also heaped honors upon the port's possibilities.

George Touhy, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce president, served as emcee of the event and introduced a number of persons on the speaker's platform whose efforts to get the Seminole Port Authority started have been meritorious.

John Krider, Chamber executive director, was particulary singled out by several persons for his efforts in working on the St. Johns-Indian River Canal and other river facilities.

One of speakers referred to Krider as the "Father of Waters."

The port was financed with a $824,000 Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant; a $870,000 U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) loan and $63,000 a year from state race track funds.

Sanford and Duluth industrialist Jeno Paulucci, who attended Wednesday's dedication, was instrumental in working with federal officials, including the former vice president Hubert Humphrey, in getting approval of EDA and HUD grants and loans.

A legislative act passed by Mack N. Cleveland Jr., and S. Joseph Davis at Tallahassee, when these men were legislators set up the authority after it had its beginning as a Seminole County Chamber of Commerce project.

People Won't Suffer Load

By MARION BETHEA

"People won't suffer as much of a burden in tax millage this year," in the words of County Commissioner Greg Drummond, who has researched funding which would be needed for the county's new courthouse. Drummond, known for his conservative policies in commission discussions, said that the research was done in a "spirits of fiscal responsibility to keep the millage down."

Drummond voted against advertisement of the total millage for the county, in budget hearings, at 7.86 mills. Current millage is 6.32, and the millage increase was from .9 to 1.5 mills to offset a deficit in construction needs. Drummond, at the time of the vote for the millage increase contended that "not enough research was done."

Drummond has said that through the efforts of fiscal agent Kirk Gunby and the office of the Clerk of the Court, that it was determined that the bonding debt service for the next two years for the courthouse fund, which presently stands at .9 mill would be reduced to .8 and that the one mill additional funding needed for the facility would be reduced to .8 mill.

This makes a total of 1.5 mills on the courthouse portion the courthouse fund and additional funding reduced to 1.6 mills on the courthouse portion of capital outlay. This represents a one-third mill reduction setting the millage at 7.6 instead of the advertised 7.8.

Drummond stated that the figures were reached through a study into assessed property valuation that indicated an increase of $15 million over a three-year period from 1968-70. Figures on the property escalated from $22 million, $27 million to $37 million during this period. Therefore, Drummond contends, with the actual increase this year to 37 million that Gunby has confirmed that the county could increase the valuation increment by $15 million in lieu of $10 million that had been the debt service schedule for anticipated increments in the future.

Drummond re-emphasized that the assessed valuation times the .8 mill, during a two year period, would generate the $500,000 needed for the courthouse funding. He also feels that this reduction in millage would be the impetus needed to assure a favorable reaction by the voters upon the referendum on the ballot in November for a badly needed juvenile detention facility. Drummond had previously felt that taxxpayer's "up to here" with additional taxation, might place the issue in jeopardy with the millage increase.

Drummond explained that the "important thing is that we're not playing too close to the line." The 1.6 mills for the total funding will handle the problem comfortly, "Drummond concluded. He went on to say that $15 million is ultra conservative considering the increases in property valuation from $22 to $37 million in the last two years, as well as building permits for construction which is now taking place.

Millican Greets Visitors

Dr. Charles N. Millican, President of Florida Technological University today extended a special "warm welcome" to those who will be attending the Eighth Annual State of Florida Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs being held on the new campus of FTU from August 30 through September 4th.

The week-long session is designed to help educators and rehabilitative personnel understand and treat alcoholics and drug addicts. The institute is being jointly sponsored by the Department of Continuing Education at FTU and the Bureau of Alcoholic Rehabilitation. (It is ironic that the abbreviation of the name of the latter state agency is BAR.)

About 250 persons are expected to attend and participate in this year's institute. About 60 physicians and rehabilitation personnel from across the United States, in addition to the FTU and BAR personnel, will conduct general sessions, workshops, and films on the symptoms, treatment and prevention of the addictive diseases.

The sessions will run from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily in the FTU Science building. The drug program is a new one for the annual session.

Persons interested in attending the institute may contact Dr. Robert Humphrey, Dean of Continuing Rehabilitation, Box 1147, Avon Parg, Fla. 33825.

President Millican said that he was extremely pleased that the institute had decided to return to the FTU campus this summer for the sessions. "The matter of alcohol and drug abuse is obviously a serious national problem. I am glad that Florida Tech is serving in this area by helping sponsor an educational forum such as the institute to help us all learn the latest information and tactics in our battle against these social enemies. This is one of many, fine ways, in which we at Florida Tech hope to serve our east central Florida community by relevant means."

Total Desegregation Begins Peacefully

By United Press International

The South's first full school term of total desegregation has begun on a relatively peaceful note. There have been scattered protests, but no major incidents.

The early potential troublepoints are in Georgia, where Gov. Lester Maddox has called upon parents to boycott classes for 30 days in protest against integration.

Parents fighting to preserve neighborhood schools in Augusta, Ga., said they would stage a march and boycott classes today. Richmond (Augusta) County schools opened with a shortage of 50 teachers. One-hundred teachers had resigned rather than accept transfers under a faculty integration order.

Hancock County, Ga., set back the opening of its schools two weeks after blacks demonstrated against alleged overcrowded conditions in schools.

The Florida Education Board reported that integration had caused no incidents in seven counties where the new school term has begun. But hundreds of white children enrolled in private schools in rural Gadsden and Jefferson counties in north Florida, leaving blacks in the majority in public schools.

The Miami Herald called editorially for school boards in Dade (Miami) and Broward (Fort Lauderdale) counties to comply with desegregation orders, which require the bsing of about 20,000 students in Dade.

In Charlotte, N. C., where about one out of every four students would be bused under a federal court plan, the school board scheduled a televised meeting tonight to formulate ways to meet the crisis. School Board Chairman William E. Poe said the board would "commit itself to allocation it can reasonably take."

Two of South Carolina's largest school districts, Charleston and Greenville, opened without incident Wednesday and Ellen Chaplin, superintendent of education at Orangeburg, S. C., said she was "amazed" that everything went so well in her district.

Hagan Ruling Expected Shortly

A ruling is anticipated today or tomorrow in the complaint for a temporary restraining order and injunction against the county by a resident of Orange County, Katherine Gillespie.

The hearing on the allegation that Fred B. Hagan, a candidate for the Florida House of Representatives, was a member of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council at the time of his qualifying for office, and therefore was a public office holder, was held in the Orange County Courthouse chambers of Judge B. C. Musgrnaci yesterday.

The complaint stemmed from the recent changes in the election laws in which an individual who holds an elective or appointive office may not qualify for another public office unless first tendering his resignation not less than 30 days prior to the first day of qualifying.

The complaint asked that Hagan's name as a candidate from District 44 be removed from the ballot since his term of office holder runs concurrently with that of the office which he is seeking. The complaint further alleges that since Hagan failed to resign as required by law, that he was improperly qualified and that there is no contest in the Republican election for the post, with the only other candidate being E. Pope Bassett.

Attorney Harold Johnson, representing the county, stated today that he had no word, as yet upon the judge's ruling in the case, but that instead of a temporary restraining order and injunction, the judge took it as a full case due to the proximity to election time.

Seminole County Commissioners were involved as a nominal party, being elected officials.

Johnson advised that Harlan Tuck, attorney for the plaintiff, argued the case on the basis that Hagan was a public official within the meaning of the Florida statutes. Seminole and Orange County, who were also named in the complaint, took the opposite stand.

Hudson Is Sergeant

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Altamonte Springs Administrative Assistant Rolfe Wagner announced today the appointment of officer Richard Hudson to the rank of Police Sergeant.

Sgt. Hudson will assume command of the department until such time as the position of Police Chief is filled. The research and qualification process for filling the position of Chief of Police may require some time, as no fully certified applicant has, as yet, been recommended for appointment by the Administrative Assistant and Personnel Director Keith Nixon.

Sgt. Hudson, with the able assistance of senior patrolman John Cooper, assures a continuity of leadership and organization during the interim period. Also Sheriff John Polk has assured Mayor Lawrence Swofford of the full cooperation of his department.

Drug Evil Calls For Complete Mobilization

It is time that every household in Seminole County becomes aware of and recognizes the danger of drug addiction.

This evil has infiltrated into every aspect of normal life and has done so with such devilish smoothness that it often exists where every standard of the past would have said: "No, not here!"

Official knowledge of this gravest threat to normal life is not enough. Informed and conscientious law officers at every level have moved as fast and as effectively as the cumbersome and costly machinery of their profession allows.

Headline making exposures of drug use appear in the news with such frequency that this very fact could numb the public conscience to accept it as the normal.

Yet in every such sad event there are the heartbreaks, the mental and physical suffering which is the inescapable lot of the users, and those who love them.

During this political season the drug issue has been seized on by hopeful candidates as something which is current, timely and an effective vote-getting subject.

The insidious nature of this social challenge is concealed by the blanket of "it-can't-happen-here and it can't happen-to-us" which has hampered the all-out and all-inclusive attack which is needed without delay.

For it does happen here. It does happen to "us." No segment of society is immune. No barriers of race, religion, society, class or tradition bars drugs of every kind and of every description to be peddled, bought and used.

On this page today there is a column by the respected and knowledgeable Ray Cromley, NEA Washington Correspondent, which needs to be read, digested and acted upon by every reader of this newspaper and passed along to others.

We would also pay our respects to the National Broadcasting System's TV program — "Trip To Nowhere." Its soul-searching portrayal of the drug problem and youth needs to be repeated. Those who saw it would look again. Those who missed it should repair that neglect.

Drug use is not confined to the victims of the hard drug habit. It is also affecting those who rely on drugs to spark their vitality and to sooth this when it gets out of hand. An indication of this is the present federal concern with the advertising of such drugs and the extreme care with which they are being prescribed by many physicians.

The sneak-use of milder drugs contained in the household's medicine cabinet is recognized as one path to the drug culture which has snared many of today's youth.

As well-known and as highly publicized as the excesses of "rock music festivals" are, it is only when one of these ugly spectacles swing into the intimate family circle by the route of a victimized youngster that the shock and despair which result is realized.

Of course there must be mobilization of all the defenses which can be mobilized: Law enforcement, school activities — not at all excluding sports — church groups, civic clubs and fraternal bodies.

There is nothing new in this. Nor is it anything surprising to find that the public purse strings get drawn tighter and tighter when funds for supporting such endeavors are sought.

Even funded, such defenses are not enough. This was found to be true in Phoenix, Arizona, where its struggle to cope with the problem of youth and drug use was part of the NBC "White Paper."

In Phoenix the citizens mustered their own strength and formed CODAC (Community On Drug Abuse Control). This appears to be an answer for this problem in that community.

We suggest that some such development is needed right here and right now. Drugs are on the march. They can and must be stopped. Nothing less than the future of our nation and its youth is at stake!

Hard To Beat

It wasn't as if it couldn't be done, but New York City natives simply hadn't ever thought of doing such a thing. So when Mayor Lindsay cut off 9-to-5 traffic for 15 blocks on 5th Avenue for several Saturdays, the city dwellers discovered the pleasures of walking down a street without the risk of being maimed by a car or engulfed by waves of auto exhaust.

But there was another miracle on 5th Avenue: slowly, some New Yorkers began talking to strangers, exchanging pleasantries about how nice it was to stroll along. They could, perhaps for the first time, enjoy the sights of their city without having to listen to much of its harrassing sounds.

Whether merchants were hard hit by people shopping windows rather than stores will determine whether the experiment will be continued. But in general the merchants seemed satisfied.

One 16-year old girl commented on the traffic-stopping scene: "Some people didn't even notice there weren't any cars. Can you beat that? It shows you how much we need this kind of thing." — Roanoke (Va.) Times

Fine Advice

L. T. "Tex" Brewer, Texas Motor Transport Association's Driver of the Year, had some good advice for all motor vehicle operators.

"Leave your troubles at home. When you're driving, just drive," he said. Brewer, who has driven nearly 3 million safe miles with Roadway Express, also said that, "I enjoy helping people along the road, but I don't enjoy pulling people out of wrecks."

We congratulate "Tex" Brewer for his excellent safety record and, further, for his fine, human philosophy of "helping people along the road." — Dallas (Tex.) Times Herald

The Lighter Side

Approval Is "Kiss Of Death"

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Almost nothing will cool off a teen-age romance quite as quickly as the girl finding out that her parents approve of the boy she is dating.

I made this discovery on a recent evening when I went over to Harper Vallee's house to discuss some matters involving the PTA.

Harper, which isn't his real name, has two teen-age daughters, Echo and Peace, which aren't their real names either. (For some reason the Vallees like bogus names.)

As we were looking over the proposed PTA budget for the coming school year, Echo came in with her boy friend, Ashton Flakely. I was impressed by him.

He was a clean-cut lad with unusually good manners and a respectful way of speaking to adults that sort of restored my faith in the younger generation.

"Ashton sure seems like a nice kid," I remarked later. "He has a lot of. . ."

Harper whirled around and clapped a hand over my mouth.

"Sssshh!" he hissed. "Echo might hear you."

"What's the big idea?" I said, pushing his hand aside. "I was only going to say that Echo's boy friend has a lot of. . ."

Harper raised a finger to his lips. "For Pete's sake, keep your voice down," he said. "If Echo hears you say something complimentary about Ashton, she might not go out with him any more."

"Why?" I said. "What makes you think that?"

"Because that's the way we lost Donny Appleberry."

"Who is Donny Appleberry?"

That Was a Mistake

"Peace's ex-boy friend. He was a good, level-headed kid who was a pleasure to have around. Best of all, we felt safe about letting her go out with him. So we encouraged her to date him."

"And that was a mistake?"

"A dreadful mistake. As soon as Peace discovered that we liked Donny, she decided he was square and dropped him like a hot potato. Now she's dating a bearded creep who calls for her on a motorcycle."

"But, for the love of mike, for my sake, keep your voice down," he said. "If Echo hears you say something complimentary about Ashton, she might not go out with any more."

"Why?" I said. "What makes you think that?"

"Because that's the way we lost Donny Appleberry."

"Who is Donny Appleberry?"

Domestic Comment:

Research Bares Perils Of "Pot"

By RAY CROMLEY,
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One of the cruelest campaigns ever conducted in this country has been directed at convincing Americans marijuana is no serious danger—"no worse than alcohol."

The idea that marijuana smoking tends to lead users on to even worse drugs has been denied as fantastic and without evidence.

The words of prominent medical men have been twisted out of context and their denials ignored.

As a matter of truth, a series of not-yet-published research studies sponsored by the U.S. National Institute of Mental Health give the most horrifying picture of what marijuana may do to chronic smokers.

When these NIMH reports are made public, probably within the next few weeks, they most certainly will startle thinking people.

Listed below are some glimpses of what that research shows:

● There are indications, in some cases, that the marijuana-caused alterations in behavior "would be conducive to acts of violence." There is apparently a strong suggestion in some research that continued heavy use of marijuana may cause serious damage to the unborn children of users.

● Dr. Constandinos Miras, visiting professor at UCLA working under NIMH support, used radioactive marijuana to track the drug through the human body on subjects who smoked at least two cigarettes daily for two years or more. His tests revealed "abnormal brain wave readings patterned to behavioral changes." In some cases, with longtime users, Miras noted chronic lethargy and loss of inhibitions for two years after their last usage, indicating, he felt, significant and lasting organic brain change.

● Dr. William McGlothlin, a research psychologist, and Dr. Jolyon West, of the Department of Psychiatry at Oklahoma University, working under a NIMH grant, found that present day marijuana use plays "a role in initiation to other potent drugs, particularly LSD."

● Regular use of marijuana, they also report, contributes to characteristic personality changes—"apathy, loss of effectiveness and diminished capacity or willingness to carry out complex long-term plans, endure frustration, concentrate for long periods, follow routines or successfully master new material. Verbal facility is often impaired, both in speaking and writing." Some individuals show "a strong tendency toward regressive, childlike magical thinking . . ."

● Drs. Harris Isbell, D. J. Jasinski and C. W. Gorodetsky of NIMH, with associates in Germany, report that sufficiently high dosages of a substance extracted from the marijuana plant "can cause psychotic reactions in almost any individual."

Some NIMH studies (inter on marijuana from the standpoint of chromosomal breakage patterns. The objective is to determine the potential danger to future children of chronic smokers. The results of these studies (if there are any results thus far) are not known to this reporter. But the work of Dr. William F. Gebes, associate professor of pharmacology at Georgia University, certainly suggests the possibility of serious harm to the unborn.

Dr. Gebes has injected pregnant rabbits and hamsters with large doses of resin from marijuana plants. The resultant fetuses contained malformed limbs, spines, livers and brains. They often suffered edema, or excessive fluid, on the brain and spinal region.

There are also a considerable number of other Independent studies (non-NIMH-supported) which bear out the extreme dangers inherent in smoking marijuana.

Dr. Herbert A. Raskin, psychiatrist at Wayne State University, reports cases "in which marijuana high comes on again spontaneously, weeks after the person has had a high . . . We've also had some young people with acute psychoses brought on by marijuana.

Drs. Martin H. J. Keeler, Clifford Reiffer and Myren Liptzin, of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine's Department of Psychiatry, report that experience with marijuana users at the university's medical center suggests that this spontaneous recurrence of marijuana's effects may be relatively common and that it may often be accompanied by a degree of anxiety sufficient to constitute a psychiatric emergency.

Dr. James C. Munch, in his paper, "The Toxidity of Cannabis Sativa," states that (some) "humans smoking marijuana cigarettes . . . have developed . . . progressive brain damage and death from cardiac failure."

One of the most curious aspects of this whole miserable situation is that some who are most active in the fight against pollution and the use of some agricultural chemicals because of the potential harm to our bodies, are most strongly against restraints on the use of marijuana, where the danger is infinitely greater, at least for those who use this drug.

Proponents of marijuana continually harp that more proof of harm is needed.

Of course, continued research is necessary. But how much evidence do we need to stir us up to act more vigorously to find a solution before it is too late?

Don Oakley Says:

Gun Control Law

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Editorialist

One of the more popular bumper stickers has it that "When Guns Are Outlawed, Only Outlaws Will Have Guns."

Surprisingly, proponents of gun control legislation agree with the slogan — so long as it is understood that what they advocate is not the outlawing of private arms but the registration of them, just as we register all kinds of property from automobiles to sailboats to pedigreed chil...ahuas.

As a matter of truth, a large majority of gun owners favor registration.

Registration is not the same as confiscation. Registration is not the same as outlawing.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to own guns.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for legitimate purposes.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for self-protection.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for hunting.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for target practice.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for collecting.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for anything.

Registration is not the same as denying the right to use guns for anything.

BUSINESS NEWS — Whenever times get tough, more and more people buy hamburger, and it's a fact now hamburger sales are booming all over the country. Auto repairmen do well during depression, too, and they're making far more money now than ever. A third business that picks up when money gets scarce is the shop that rents bridal gowns, and most such shops at this time, it's reported, are earning record profits.

OPEN QUESTION — Douglass William Johnston — remember him? Nine years ago in Los Angeles he found in the street a package containing $340,000 in unmarked $10 and $20 bills. He was out of work. So had time to locate the owners of the money and gave it back, which he did. Where is he now?

Educators Will Answer Long Standing Questions

By PATRICK W. SULLIVAN
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—How does prime grade meat differ from choice?

In what way does add-on interest for installment loans differ from simple interest?

Why is thread count a most important factor in judging the quality of a fabric or garment?

Why is it wise to buy loudspeakers with a sound 20,000 cycles per second?

If you can't answer these questions, you are not alone. But the answers are in a new high school textbook.

Since the complexity of the market place has long confused the average consumer, educators have decided to explain it in the high schools. By getting the next generation young they may avoid the mistakes of their elders.

Kids Are Enthusiastic

"It's an off-shot of consumerism," says Robert R. Kibrick, vice president of Dicott Forward, Inc., an educational publishing firm in Hartisdale, N. Y.

"Until recently," he said, "most high schools offered consumer education only in some economics classes. Now the kids are so enthusiastic many schools are planning to work it into social science courses and some intend to offer it as a separate cost course."

The New York City high school system, one of the first to offer a separate course, expects enrollment to double this year even though the course is an elective.

Publishers are rushing to meet the swelling demand. Kibrick's firm, which specialized to supplement teaching plans, is now offering a kit that treats a wide spectrum of topics.

Answers To Questions

The textbook's opening questions were taken from "The Consumer in the Market Place," recently published by Pitman Publishing Corp. It covers such topics as credit, consumer laws, housing, food, drugs, clothing, insurance and even theater going.

And since Pitman was kind enough to furnish UPI with an answer sheet:

—Prime meat has more fat than choice meat.

—With add-on interest the borrower does not have full use of the money borrowed for the entire loan period. With simple interest he does.

—Thread count determines strength and durability.

—A 20 to 20,000 cycles per second range matches the hearing ability of the human ear.

High Cost

LONDON (AP) — Britain spends $14,186 a year to maintain each of its 385,00 servicemen, compared with $11,480 for each of 453,000 men four years ago, according to the Defense Ministry. It says the per-man increase is the result of pay raises and purchases of sophisticated equipment.

Army Sarge Replies To 'Clock' Question

Editor, Herald:

In regard to a comment in "Around The Clock" (Aug. 21, 1970) concerning the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Indo China, I offer this explanation as to why troops are continuing to be sent there:

To understand the withdrawal procedure you must first understand the set up of military organization there. We are not withdrawing the individual soldier by rather phasing out complete divisions and units containing thousands of troops. The remaining military units in that country must be replenished with manpower.

The tour of duty for the individual soldier in Viet Nam is nine to twelve months after which the individual rotates back to the States. This creates a loss of manpower in the remaining unit so another soldier is sent to replace the returned veteran. To do otherwise would cause the remaining units to descend in manpower and promote an unfair and hazardous situation for Americans serving in the combat zone.

It is a must that we continue this system until all American units have been withdrawn completely. In my opinion as a professional soldier we are years behind on that withdrawal now. The present withdrawal is working, however, it is considerably slow, as anyone can see.

I will be leaving this week for Viet Nam, it is my second assignment in Asia, both have been volunteer. In my opinion, the only soldiers that should be in Viet Nam combat zone are professional soldiers who, like myself, have chosen the military as a livelihood. Viet Nam is no place for draftees with only a few weeks of training.

Chamber Speaks

Editor, Herald:

John E. Polk,
Seminole County Sheriff
Seminole County
Sheriff's Office
301 N. Park Avenue
Sanford, Florida 32771

Dear Sheriff Polk:

The Directors of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce have asked me to express to you our appreciation for the outstanding law enforcement work by Deputy Sheriff Roy Hughey in the recent break-in of Dr. Bendler's office.

While passing through Lake Mary on patrol late at night Deputy Sheriff Hughey spotted a hole no bigger than a man's hand in a small window pane on the side of the building housing the Doctor's office. The pane itself is no larger than a foot square. Under the existing lighting conditions it is almost miraculous that the broken glass was spotted. Deputy Sheriff Hughey should be commended for the extraordinary degree of alertness and attention to duty. Further he showed good judgement in calling for reinforcements before entering the building. Because of his vigilance and professional skill the culprit was apprehended in the Doctor's office in possession of syringes and other drug paraphernalia. Further investigation indicates that the culprit is a regular user of heroin and that he had been sleeping in a public bath house in our village.

We consider Deputy Sheriff Hughey's performance to be police work of the highest order. We feel fortunate to have such a dedicated and skillful law enforcement officer on duty in our area. We in Lake Mary will rest easier at night so long as we have men like Deputy Sheriff Hughey protecting us while we sleep.

Yours sincerely,
Edwin C. Aikens, President
Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce

Good Officer

Mayor Swofford
Mayors Office
City of Altamonte Springs, Florida Aug. 5, 1970

Dear Mr. Swofford:

This letter is from a citizen of your neighboring community of Longwood. This letter is also requested to be placed in the file of one of your fine Police Officers, namely Officer John A. Cooper.

My son, Randy O'Dell, age 17, received a traffic citation from Officer Cooper this A.M. Since it happened to be the first time he ever received a citation of any kind, he became a little "Shook Up."

Officer Cooper proceeded to talk to him in a kind manner, was polite and carried out his duties in such a way as to calm Randy and acted completely like a gentleman should.

I want to thank Officer Cooper for his behavior and for his politeness, courtesy, and respect he has for the persons on the road.

Altamonte Springs should be proud to have such a man.

Sincerely,
Charles O'Dell
(Former Police Officer)

P.S. Randy has signed his citation and mailed in his check)

(Ed. Note — So many times you only hear of the complaints. It's our pleasure to reprint this compliment about Altamonte Springs police officer John A. Cooper.)

Wonders Why?

Editor, Herald:

I wonder why they didn't send the Nerve Gas to Geneva for dumping? Everything else has been dumped here, all the garbage and trash from Seminole County is about to be and now ORANGE COUNTY is going to send their sewerage! Yes, it will go thru the treatment plant first — one phase only! Sanford is to build a second phase. If it wouldn't "hurt" anything, why don't they keep it? That seems to be stretching neighborliness pretty far.

Compliment

Editor:

Most of the time we are quick to complain and pass judgement on people, businesses, etc. Not always do we remember to pass a compliment. I would like to do this now.

Recently I needed a surprise gift for a man for his birthday. I went to Mike Capko's store downtown. I would like to say I have never seen a cleaner more neat and organized business anywhere.

And Mr. Capko is without a doubt one of the most polite, very helpful salesman. He has great patience and he makes you feel you're the most important person ever. He cannot do enough to try to please you.

A very fine gentleman that I hope will continue to do well and will remain in Sanford.

I will return for more shopping in his store.

On Academy

(Ed. Note — The following is a copy of Sen. Bill Gunter's letter to Sanford Industrial Commission Director David Kelley, regarding the attempts to establish the Florida Police Academy in Sanford.

Dear Dave:

I want to wish you every success in your efforts to locate the Florida Police Academy in Sanford.

Jack McDavitt tells me that he hand carried to you some pertinent facts regarding the economics of the situation and that you will incorporate these facts into your presentation. I agree that this will strengthen your case.

He tells me that you will have a very comprehensive presentation to make to the Cabinet. This should materially assist you in getting a favorable decision. I am enthusiastic over the prospects and wish you every success. If I can be of further service as the negotiations progress, I will be happy to have you call on me.

In the meantime, please keep us up to date on the events and reactions of the members of the Cabinet who visit you in the next few weeks.

Also enjoying the occasion were the parents of the prospective bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Green Sr.

The delicious dinner included Rock Cornish hens with wild rice, green beans almondine, carrot and celery casserole, assorted relishes, hot rolls and butter and the piece de resistance, cherries jubilee for dessert.

Double Ring Rites Unite Betty Baker, A. S. Woodall

MRS. ARLIS STEVEN WOODALL

Miss Betty Jean Baker and Arlis Steven Woodall were united in Holy Matrimony, July 30, 1970, at 8 p.m., at the Wilson Place home of the bride-groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Woodall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Baker Sr., West Narcissus Avenue, Sanford.

Rev. James R. Wilkins of the First Baptist Church, Sanford, was the officiating clergyman at the candlelight and double ring ceremony before the fireplace which featured a background setting of potted palms and two spiral arrangements of fern and white mums enhanced with burning tapers.

Donald Whitemire, organist, presented a program of appropriate nuptial selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her gown a formal gown of peau de soie and Chantilly lace fashioned along the Empire silhouette with a lace bodice, long tapered sleeves and a sweeping chapel train. Her tiered veil of imported silk illusion was secured to a headpiece of lace and seed pearls and she carried a cascade of daisies with natural foliage, showered with white satin streamers.

Mrs. W. R. Tuggle of Sumiton, Ala., attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a yellow, sleeveless taffeta gown, trimmed with daisies, and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Kenneth Michael Woodall served his brother as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Baker chose a champagne polyester knit ensemble. Mrs. Woodall, mother of the bride-groom, wore a gray silk princess-line dress with a jeweled collar. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

A reception at the home followed the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Walter Bartlett, Orlando, bride's book; Mrs. Don Jean Knowles, punch.

Flamm, cake; and Miss

The newlyweds are presently residing at 212 W. 16th St., Sanford.

Miss Goldstein, of Milledgeville, Ga., was visiting in Sanford for a few days and Mrs. Stein invited friends and relatives to call and get acquainted with her future daughter-in-law.

The honoree greeted the guests wearing a two piece ensemble with white pleated skirt and red, white and blue overblouse of ribbon and lace in a floral pattern and a white carnation corsage, presented by the hostess.

Mrs. Stein wore a peach colored A-line sheer dress with matching embroidery, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Her son, Charles I. Stein introduced their guests to his future bride.

Two tables were set up in the Florida room. The punch table was overlaid with a white net cloth over pale blue and the centerpiece was an arrangement of assorted colored daisies and fern in a green container. A large silver coffee service graced one end of the table and on the other was a beautiful cut glass punch bowl filled with pineapple, grapefruit sherbet punch with a block of ice embedded with flowers floating on the top.

The second table, overlaid with a white lace cloth over blue held a bountiful array of petit fours, fig and orange balls, green and yellow mints and other party delicacies, all in silver containers. The centerpiece was a lovely arrangement of bronze tone dahlias, wheat spikes and greenery in a green container, flanked by two, five branched silver candelabra with tall yellow tapers and tiny wedding bells on white satin ribbon draped across the entire center decor.

Mrs. William J. Tull presided at the punch bowl, Mrs. Max Zuckerman poured the coffee and floating hostesses were Mrs. Gay Underwood and Miss Terry Bishlind.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last month I started to work in a large insurance office, and right off the bat I became attracted to a good looking young department head. Not bragging, but I've got a lot going for me, too. I'm 24, single, and a well-built readhead who never lacked for attention.

Well, "Department Head" and I started seeing each other a lot, but always at my place. (He was sort of secretive about where he lived.)

Yesterday he called in sick with a chest cold, so I decided to surprise him with some chicken soup. (I got his address from the office files.)

When I rang his bell, I was the one who got the surprise! A tall, skinny blonde about my age answered his door in a bath towel. At first she wasn't going to let me in, but I pushed her aside and went right to the bedroom to see my sick friend. He was sick all right, and he got sicker when he saw me. The bedroom looked plenty "lived in," if you know what I mean. Her stuff thrown all over the place along with his.

"Department Head" said Blondie was a childhood chum who had come to town to hunt a job, was low on funds, so he was putting her up temporarily. Now, Abby, how does this story sound to you?

RED

DEAR RED: Fishy. "Department Head" could have helped the blonde by giving her a few dollars for a pad of her own. (P.S. Too bad you didn't know in advance that you were going to cook his goose. You could have skipped the chicken soup!

DEAR ABBY: I know a woman who goes to "A. A." meetings all the time, and she's not an alcoholic. This is the truth, Abby. She told me so herself, but she asked me not to tell anybody. She has never had a drinking problem, but she says she goes there because she's "lonesome" and nobody asks her any questions.

She says she has met a lot of very nice men that way —and women, too. What do you think of such a person?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: She must be very lonesome. (And clever, too.)

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law isn't really a mean person, she's just ignorant. How else can you describe a person who introduces me and my children this way?

"This is my daughter in law and her two adopted children."

Abby, I have to bite my lip to keep from crying when I hear her say this.

My children are only one year old and two and a half —still a little too young to know what "adopted" means, but as soon as they are old enough to understand, I intend to tell them. But in the meantime, what can be done about such a stupid woman?

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR YOUNG: Someone should tell her in a nice way to disengage her mouth until she's sure her brain is in gear.

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to that poor mixed up teen-aged girl whose father called her a tramp because she slept with different boys. I was in that girl's shoes when I was in my teens and my father never called me a tramp. He helped me all the way because he knew I was a troubled, mixed-up kid.

I am now a happy wife and mother and I hope my father is proud of me now because I am very proud of him.

Girls who are called tramps by their fathers usually stay tramps all their lives. God bless my dad.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Jacoby and Son

When bridge teacher Mary Jane Farell of Los Angeles and librarian Marilyn Johnson of San Francisco won the Women's Pair championship at Stockholm last month, it gave Mary Jane her second World Title. In 1966, she won the mixed with the late Ivan Erdos.

Mary Jane also stands third among all players on the Life Master list on this continent and is well entitled to be acclaimed as the world's greatest woman player.

Marilyn holds up her half of the partnership beautifully. Marilyn's two-heart response was a Jacoby transfer and her four-club bid was Gerber to ask for aces. She finally placed the contract at six no-trump in order to get that extra 10 points for no-trump. They were playing match points, for rubber bridge.

Playing at spades, Mary Jane would have been able to set up her fifth diamond for the 12th trick. Playing at no-trump, and red card lead would have helped her out but West opened the 10 of spades. Mary Jane could count 11 tricks in top cards. It was up to her to find the 12th in hearts or diamonds.

She started to run off spades. East promptly discarded the four of hearts, followed by the three of that same suit. Then he started to shed low clubs. West's discard on the fifth spade was the nine of hearts. Meanwhile, Mary Jane had jettisoned a club and two diamonds. She also had made up her mind about what to do.

Her next play was a low heart. East played low and Mary Jane went right up with the king. She had believed East's delicate signal and paid no attention to West's play of the nine.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. Crane

By - GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D.

CASE 0-316: Eva D., aged 22, is worried.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my boss has been a hypochondriac all his life, I guess.

"But recently he consulted a psychoanalyst.

"Now he is such a zealot for psychoanalysis, that he is trying to force all of us in his personal office, to take a long series of treatments.

"He goes 3 times per week and the seances are supposed to continue for at least a year or more.

"But I am happy and well adjusted, so why should I spend my hard earned money lying on a couch and reminiscing about my private life to a psychoanalyst?"

EVA'S HORSE SENSE

:Eva has "horse sense" or dumption.

"The basic aim of medicine is really too free humanity from the need to consult physicians. So the more you can learn to handle your own problems, the more money you can retain out of your pay checks! And the lower will be taxes!

For Medicare and the current mad stampede to hospitals, is zooming our tax rates dangerously high.

Yet many people are such "Worry Warts" about their health that they squander literally BILLIONS every year on needless drugs, vitamins and medical consultation!

Indeed, in Hollywood, it has now become a fad to have your own personal psychiatrist!

That's ridiculous!

By 1972, the average cost per day per hospital room has been predicted at $100.

And that doesn't include X-ray, or your medicines, sleeping pills, etc.

If Americans would stop being such 'fraidy cats about their health and realize that 80 per cent of ALL medical cases get well IN SPITE OF WHAT WE DOCTORS DO FOR YOU, they'd save money!

Alas, millions are more concerned with making sure they can get into a hospital than to be admitted into Heaven!

This mad stampede for medical treatment is a direct evidence of the decline in religion and belief in a Hereafter.

One of my major reasons for launching this "Worry Clinic" column was to help give you laymen the basic facts for happy, healthy living.

If you apply your common sense, and have access to a few basic medical or psychological laws, you can free yourself from hypochondria.

Recently a medical friend of mine got so irritated at a young mother that he ordered her to get rid of her fever thermometer at once!

For this mother would rush to the doctor every time her child had even one degree of temperature above 98.6. Thus, she harassed the physician till he tried to save her money and soothe his own ragged nerves.

Whenever her child bumped its head, she would demand to go to the hospital 35 miles away for head X-rays and a stay in bed.

Use more common sense! And urge your high schools to teach a few basic facts about physiology, as well as everyday medicine.

If a child or adult suffers a severe head blow, keep the patient in bed. And look at his eyes to see if the pupils are unequal, for internal hemorrhaging often shows up first by the unequal pupils.

If after 24 hours he has no abnormal twitching or paralysis of arm or leg, and no unequal pupils, then you have saved yourself both a medical fee and a hospital visit!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Sanford Herald, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR GIRLS and Mrs. A. S. —Really old dolls do seem to be in great demand. As with other antiques, often the wrong sort of restoration can reduce the value of the article. A doll hospital advised me that as a rule repainting or recovering a worn body does not detract from the intrinsic value but repainting or even touching up the face can alter the value of an old doll. Before attempting such work, consult an expert to know what class your doll falls in.—POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—How can I get black shoe polish out of a white shirt?—DIANE

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for those people that have dogs who mark up a door by scratching when they want to get in. Tape a piece of coarse sandpaper on the part of the door where the dog scratches most. Then you can hear the dog scratch on the sandpaper. There will be no more ugly marks on the door.—VON

DEAR POLLY—I have a use for old curtain stretchers which no one seems to use much any more. My wife likes to plant sweet peas each year and since her curtain stretchers were just gathering dust I used them to make a trellis for the sweet peas. I worked them over, adjusted the height and strength and them with stakes so they will not blow over. It is easy to put strings on for the flowers to climb as the pins are already there. This makes a permanent trellis that can be used every year.—WILLIAM

TV Time Previews

Thursday, August 27, 1970

7:30-8 p.m. ABC. Animal World. "Killer Shark." This heretofore landlocked series takes to the seas to study a subject that always provides a hypo: sharks. Scientists from Marineland of the Pacific set out in a specially equipped trawler in search of a blue shark. This voracious killer rems in the area of 12 feet and 200 pounds. While sports fishermen have caught the beasts with hook, harpoon and high-powered rifles, the purpose here is to take one alive and bring it back unharmed. Bill Burrud narrates.

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Daniel Boone. (Rerun). Veteran actress Ethel Waters was persuaded to come out of retirement by this script, especially written for her. There's little excitement but tons of sentiment in her role as Gabe's (Rosey Grier) long-lost and aged mother. When he learns she is living, or rather dying, on a far in Virginia slave territory, he and Daniel go there. It seems she has little time to live and her only wish is to die on free soil.

8-9 p.m. CBS. Happy Days. Buddy Rich does the encore bit, leading his band with numbers like "C-Jam Blues" and "Airmail Special." Other features: Laara Lacey's "All Alone," "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" by Julie Mc Whirter and "American Patrol" by the Happy Days Band.

9-11 p.m. CBS. The Thursday Night Movie. "The Visit." (Rerun) (1964). It's difficult to say whether the writing or direcring is more to blame for the heavy-handed depression this so-called satire leaves in its wake. The acting, by Ingrid Bergman as the world's richest woman, and Anthony Quinn, a former lover, is highly marish, reminding one of a man struggling in quicksand without going entirely under. The wealthy lady returns to her small and poverty-stricken home town after a 20-year absence. Her purpose is vengeance. The townspeople are mildly shocked when she offers them $2 million for Quinn's head.

10-11 p.m. ABC. College Football 1970—The Year Of The Quarterback. This sports special investigates the claim of many sports writers that 1970 will see one of the biggest and best crops of first-rate quarterbacks in many a year. Using action films and interviews, the program will concentrate on such All-American candidates as Rex Kern of Ohio State, Mississippi's Archie Manning, Joe Theisman of Notre Dame, Jim Plunkett of Stanford, Florida's John Reaves, Lynn Dickey of Kansas State and Scott Hunter of Alabama.

10-11 p.m. NBC. Dean Martin Presents The Golddiggers. Although Marty Feldman and Charles Nelson Reilly have been stealing much of the thunder in this summertime series, tonight the ladies take charge. They have three complete numbers, "Anything Goes" "Applause" and a Twenties medley. There's also "On My Way Home" by Michelle Dells Fave and "When I'm in Love" by Paula Chinko. Tommy Tune sings "I'm a Brass Band."

Television Networks Battle For Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television viewers with aces for channels of the three major networks usually get a choice of entertainment categories.

A typically varied menu would be next season's tri-net. work bill of fare during an early hour on Friday evenings.

There will be a pair of situation comedies on one network, a doctor drama on another, and a family-type western on the third.

But either by chance or some arcane theorizing of audience research experts, Wednesday night will have an hour in which three police-action series will be slugging it out, toe-to-toe, for audience favor. Viewers who fancy the crime genre may feel they are being discriminated against, but actors who will be caught in the cross-fire are even more unhappy.

NBC will send out its six-part series, "McCloud" to do battle with an established series, "Hawaii Five-O" on CBS. Facing them will be ABC's Burt Reynolds playing a newly minted detective named "Dan August."

It is Reynolds' second series in which he has starred as a cop. Several seasons back Reynolds emerged briefly as one of Manhattan's finest named "Hawk." The ABC series, a slick production never took off, possibly because the hero, an Indian, never smiled and seemed to bristle with hostility.

Reynolds, who really is part Cherokee, actually is a witty attractive man whose sun-darkened face is often lighted by a grin.

This time he will be a homicide detective in a small West Coast community.

"August," he said reflectively, "will have charm, have a good relationship with his associates and will love people . . . he'll be just a little bit square."

The actor, whose home is still in his native Florida, has made a number of films since "Hawk," but done nothing earth-shaking.

"I wanted to get back into television," Reynolds said, "and I wanted to do something for elsewhere. Paul Monash or Quinn Martin, who I think are the smartest producers in the medium.

"I didn't want to be another private eye or one of those mod characters. I lucked out, because Quinn had this series for me."

Reynolds has remained a bachelor since his divorce several years ago from Judy Carne, who achieved fame on "Laugh-In."

An outdoorsman, he directs the operations of a 180-acre Florida ranch, and breeds and races Apaloosa horses.

That's 'Too' Much

By United Press International

An empty brassiere dangled in the city room of the Houston Chronicle.

Signs hanging from each cup proclaimed, "equal work" and "equal pay."

It was Women's Liberation Day in America—a day that saw 20,000 women marching for their liberation in New York City, 3,000 in Boston 2,500 marching in San Francisco, and about 500 strolling down Washington's Connecticut Avenue.

Only about 175 persons — nearly half of them men, attended New Jersey's biggest event. Some 150 women gathered in Madison, Wis., home of the University of Wisconsin, but only about two dozen women showed up in downtown Milwaukee.

Forty Gather At Columbus

Forty women gathered at noon in Columbus, Ohio. Three girls and a young man picketed in Louisville, Ky., and a solitary female graduate student with two picket signs carried the liberation movement to Laramie, Wyo.

President Nixon and assorted governors and mayors issued proclamations, radio stations gave time to women's rights advocates and some males scouted liberation rallies for possible dates.

About 3,000 persons attended a noon rally in Chicago's Civic Center. About half the audience was men who contributed such tion of the 50th anniversary of comments as "this is nuts," and "a bunch of kooks."

Organizers of a "Women's Lib" chapter in Little Rock Ark., said they did not take part in the day's activities because they "figured it would be waste of time."

Braless Women Scuffle

In Cleveland, a band of braless young women, their faces plastered with white powder, disrupted an observance with persons on the women's suffage. They scuffled with persons on the bandstand until the orchestra drowned them out with a rendition of "Happy Days are Here Again."

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., referred to the progress women have made. But then he added, "I fear this progress is being retarded by a strange and strident voice that professes to speak for all women everyphere. This small band of braless bubbleheads" is not a "valid voice" for American women, the senator said.

Judy Smith, 26, leader of an Austin, Tex., rally, confided that she wants women to define their role for themselves.

"I think the reason most women are so bitchy at home is that they're so frustrated," she said. "If you sat at home all day just waiting for somebody to come home to you, you'd be bitchy, too."

Schools Open In 3 More Counties

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Schools opened in three more counties today following the peaceful beginning earlier this week of Florida's most racially integrated school year in history.

The State Department of Education reported Wednesday that integration has caused no incidents or demonstrations so far in the seven counties where the fall term is already in session. Schools opened in three counties Monday and four more Wednesday.

However, hundreds of white children enrolled in private schools in rural Gadsden and Jefferson counties in north Florida, lowering the overall attendance in public schools. Black faces were well in the majority in most public schools in both counties, where black population outnumbers whites.

Gadsden (Quincy) County, Jefferson (Monticello) and Wakulla (Crawfordville) were all undergoing massive desegregation for the first time.

Schools in Marion, Glades, Holmes and Washington counties opened Wednesday under the same desegregation plan as last year and normal enrollment was reported.

The fall term began Thursday in Okeechobee, Sumter and Walton counties, while others open next week and the remainder of the state's 67 counties begin classes Sept. 8.

The Miami Herald called editorially today for school boards in Dade (Miami) and Broward (Fort Lauderdale) counties to comply in good faith with court-ordered integration plans involving cross-busing of black and white pupils.

"School boards of Dade and Broward counties, which face genuine problems of logistics in desegregating the balance of their schools under the orders of the lower courts, properly went to the U. S. Supreme Court for relief," the Herald editorial said.

"There, they lost," it added. "Chief Justice (Warren) Burger refused to stay orders which required additional busing of pupils. We trust, however, that he noted, and that the school boards will proceed to practice, good faith compliance, as a system has had its day in court."

About 30,000 students are expected to ride buses in Dade County this ear, compared to 30,000 last year. School officials are still working out bus schedules following Burger's ruling Tuesday.

In Coral Gables, Carver Elementary—a formerly all-black school which will be integrated with white Coral Gables elementary—held open house for parents Wednesday. Many of the parents visiting the school were whites curious about the facilities available for their children.

Professors Lead

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — University of Kentucky professors lead their profession in the state in average annual compensation—$15,190 during 1970. Transylvania led private colleges with a $12,314 average.

E. Estates To Register

Parents of children grades kindergarten through five who will attend English Estates School this year but are not registered, are asked to register their children at the school office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday through Sept. 4.

A "welcome back" coffee for the teachers will be held at 10 a.m., Friday, by the English Estates Parent Teacher Association executive board.

Despite Helicopter Crash

Battlefield Casualties In Vietnam Lowest In Years

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty-two Americans were believed dead today in one of the worst helicopter crashes of the Vietnam war, but the U. S. command announced that American battle field casualties last week dropped to their lowest level in 4½ years.

The weekly casualty report said 33 Americans were killed in action last week and another 358 were wounded. A spokesman said it was the lowest casualty total since the week ending March 5, 1966 when 61 Americans were killed and .77 wounded.

Enemy and South Vietnamese casualties also were down. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,033 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, the lowest in more than three years, while the Saigon government reported 247 of its troops killed, the lowest in a month, and 745 wounded.

The American report did not include the casualties in the shooting down Wednesday of the 50-foot-long, 14-ton Chinook helicopter. Two bodies were recovered, seven men were injured, and 30 other Americans were listed as missing and presumed dead.

The big U.S. Army helicopter was hit by an enemy rocket grenade as it was coming in for a landing at Fire Base Judy, in the northern part of the country. It was transporting troops being withdrawn from Khum Duc, a base 13 miles east of the Laotian border which allied forces abandoned Wednesday.

The chopper crashed just outside the artillery base, spraying wreckage in several directions. A rotor blade hurtled into the base, killing two soldiers stationed there and wounding five others.

There were 32 Americans aboard the twin-rotor transport, and only the co-pilot and one passenger, an infantryman, were rescued. Both were injured. Late today no word has been received on recovery of missing bodies.

Agnew, 'Doves Are Dangerously Wrong'

By JOHN F. BARTON

SAIGON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today Senate leaders such as Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., who demand early withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam are "dangerously wrong" and "must be disagreed with on very firm terms."

Agnew arrived in Saigon in a monsoon rainstorm on the third stop of his Asian tour, flying from Taiwan where he assured Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek the United States will stick by its treaty commitments to Nationalist China.

The government of South Korea, Agnew's first stop, today denied that President Park Chung-Hee gave Agnew his consent to a U.S. plan to withdraw 20,000 of the 64,000 American soldiers in Korea.

"Our basic position stands unchanged," said Information Minister Shin Bum-Shik. "Measures to modernize the Korean armed forces should be agreed upon first before any U. S. troop cutback."

Agnew said today in Saigon the only kind of coalition government the United States would stand for in Vietnam was one elected by the people.

An imposed coalition government to include the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is a basic demand of Communist delegates to the Paris talks.

Agnew said there was a diversity of opinion over U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, but that:

"I find myself in violent disagreement with people such as Senator Fulbright. I don't impute his motives or I don't think he's less patriotic for expressing his convictions, but I think he's very, very wrong and dangerously wrong and since he is, he, in my opinion, is in a position where he must be disagreed with and on very firm terms."

Agnew's jet landed at Bien Hoa Air Base, 18 miles northwest of Saigon during a torrent of rain and the vice president was greeted by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, wearing a gray Nehru style suit. Both got caught in the downpour, but remained on the flight line to review an honor guard of South Vietnamese troops in white summer uniforms.

ects who want the freedom of choice concept restored to the Seminole school system.

Quoting the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the committee said "in a few days well over 8,000 children are being displaced from their neighborhood school, the school where they have made friends, gained school spirit and even bought class rings, just to do something that according to our own civil rights law, is absolutely unconstitutional and un-American."

The Civil Rights Law contains the following "Desegregation shall not mean the assignment of pupils to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance. "Nothing herein shall empower any official or the court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils from one school to another in order to achieve racial balance."

This is the law as it is written, but the courts have been pondering decisions that are contrary to this law, the committee continued. "This committee feels that Freedom of Choice can serve all races equally."

The next meeting of the "choice" committee has been scheduled for the first week in September to discuss plans for further action.

Programs Tearing Society Apart

By CRAIG A. PALMER
WASHINGTON (UPI)

Headstart and similar poverty programs are tearing society apart and contributing to social polarization, the new national director of Headstart said today.

"It's an flagrant error to set up children's programs in this country for specific sections of the population," Dr. Edward F. Zigler told UPI in an interview. "We can't continue programs that send poor kids one place and rich kids another. That's what is causing polarization in our society today.

"We've got to find a way to bring the society back together and one of the places to do it is with children in programs like this," he said.

Headstart is the pre-school program which offers medical, nutritional, educational and other services to give children with poor parents a boost before they start school.

Headstart regulations have permitted only a 10 per cent involvement of children not considered poor.

Zigler said he did not want to discard Headstart but wanted to broaden its services and make it available to other social and economic groups. He said he hoped the President's proposed welfare reform, now stalled in the Senate Finance Committee, would give him the opportunity for expansion by providing new day care services that could be combined with the Headstart services.

Zigler, 40, is a former director of the Yale University Child Development Program. He was named in June as the first director of a new Office of Child Development, which administers Headstart and other children's programs.

After criticizing Headstart in the interview, Zigler called it "one of the most revolutionary social action programs I have seen in my lifetime."

Friends Guarding Soldier's Casket

MIAMI (AP) — Friends stood vigil today beside the body of a young black soldier killed in Vietnam as lawyers prepared to argue the refusal of a whites-only cemetery to bury him.

MIAMI (AP) — A federal judge today ordered an all-white cemetery to bury a black soldier who was killed in Vietnam and refused interment because of his race.

Attorneys for the family Spec. 4 Pondexteur E. Williams said he would be buried Saturday at Hillcrest Memorial Gardens in Fort Pierce with full military honors.

Federal Judge William O. Mehrtens was to hear arguments in a suit filed against Hillcrest Memorial Gardens in Fort Pierce which denied Spec. 4 Pondexteur E. Williams burial because of a contract clause which says, "no bodies except those of persons of the white or Caucasian race may be interred in said lots."

The suit which also named the cemetery manager, James A. Livesay, was filed Monday by Fort Pierce attorney Ralph Flowers and James W. Mat thews, a former assistant U.S. attorney from Miami. It invoked the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Consitution.

Law Allows Consumers To Band In Courts

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation permitting consumers to band together in suits against deceptive selling practices, already approved by one Senate committee, is getting another going-over by the Judiciary Committee.

The Judiciary panel, starting its own hearings today in the unusual double-barreled committee consideration of the bill, has agreed to submit its recommendations by Sept. 14.

Its list of opening witnesses included Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard McLaren, head of the Justice Departments antitrust unit, and consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

The Senate Commerce Committee recently approved the bill by a divided vote. But Chief Justice Warren E. Burger later warned against legislation placing additional burdens on the federal courts "without adequate consideration of the consequences in terms of caseloads."

Burger specifically mentioned laws to allow class actions by consumers. He suggested looking more to state courts to handle such problems.

The bill, as approved by the Commerce Committee would permit consumers with claims of $10 or more to join together in federal court suits for damages arising from unfair or deceptive sales practices.

The committee rejected the Nixon administration's proposal that such suits be permitted only if there had been a prior successful prosecution of the seller by the Justice Department or the Federal Trade Commission.

Those funds are starting to come in toward the dugouts at the Ft. Mellon Softball field. Both contributions of money and materials have come in.

Now if you haven't donated to the cause, just write that check today and drop it in the mail to me, c/o The Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, Fla. 32771.

Here is a partial list of those that have donated thus far. Among them are Bill Lamber, Gator Hardware, Manuel Jacobson, Sanford Shoe Center, Bo-Jay Dress Shop, Party Time, Coquette Beauty, Sanford Lincoln Mercury, Jack Prosser Ford, Celery City Printers, Sherwin Williams Paint, Dickie's Gulf Station, Crumley-Monteith, Inc., Dave's American Station and Bemel's Furniture.

Other businesses and individuals have also committed themselves to donations of either materials or money. Several much appreciated donations have come from businesses and individuals who wish to remain anonymous.

Everyone can help in this drive. No matter how small the donation, it will be grouped with the others to construct these badly needed dugouts.

This drive is not just limited to the Sanford area. Merchants from the South Seminole area are also giving. In the men's and women's softball leagues, many of the players come from that end of the county. In addition to these two leagues, there are two pee wee baseball leagues and a girl's softball league that uses the field.

So if you haven't donated, please do. If you have, then I would like to take this space to say "Thank you."

The Seminole County Women's Softball Association is working hard in preparation for their Labor Day weekend tournament which will be held at the Ft. Mellon Softball field.

Seven teams will participate in the tournament. They come from throughout Central Florida. Representing the local association will be Wilson Maier and Motor Parts. Also in the tournament are Kissimmee, Firestone of DeLand, Auburndale, Ocala and Cola Homes of DeLand.

The tournament will begin at 9 a.m. on the Saturday and Monday of the tournament and at 1 p.m. on the Sunday. Six games are on tap for the opening day of action.

It's a big "job well done" to Jo Helms. Jo, who is in the Winter Park Hospital recovering from burns, is doing a dandy job running this tournament from her hospital bed. We sure hope she hurries up and gets well. She really is an asset to the Seminole County Women's Softball Association.

The end of the Florida State League season is nearly here. Some of the best action anywhere can be witnessed at either Orlando Twins or DeLand Sun Caps games.

How about this. Orlando meeting DeLand tonight at 7:30 p.m. at DeLand's Conrad Park. nd there's a special reason you should attend.

Tonight is Frank Purcell night. Frank did a fine job in the capacity of general manager of the Sun Caps and the merchants and residents of DeLand and the surrounding area want to show him that they appreciate it.

It's been a long and rough season for Frank and the other officers of the Sun Caps. They have not had real good crowds and the team has not been in competition for the title.

If you can get to DeLand tonight, be sure to take in the game just to show Frank that we really do want the Sun Caps back again next year.

Had a real nice talk with Rick Sires last Tuesday night after he finished hurling a two-hitter at the Sun Caps. Rick is currently pitching for the Tampa Tarpons.

Rick now had six straight wins and has completed every game he has started for the Tarpons. He is 6-1 on the season and has a pair of saves in relief.

Rick will be going to South Fiorida. He was with Asheville, but came to Tampa so he can start school on time. He will likely be with the Tarpons again next season.

The Orlando Panthers are home this Saturday night against the Indianapolis Capitols. It was the Capitols that defeated the Panthers in the playoffs last season and went on to win the Continental Football League crown .

The Sanford-Seminole Jaycees are the outlet in this area for Panther tickets. Drop by and buy your season ticket and see all the games.

To buy your reserved tickets for each game, or to reserve seats for games in the future, stop by or call the Jaycees or see Carl Smith at Carp's Men's Wear.

The Panthers play an exciting brand of football, and besides that, you'll get to see Pat Palinkas in action. Pro football's first female player will hopefully be in action this week holding the ball for her husband.

If you're interested in purchasing a season ticket for Seminole High football, Sweeney's Office Supply is the place to go. They are the only place where they can be bought.

There is a limited amount of these reserved seat season tickets, so you should act today. Local fans will be treated with a seven-game home schedule, beginning with their opener Sept. 18 against the Oviedo Lions.

That was really a fine turnout we had at last week's amateur boxing matches at the Sanford Armury. We really were treated to some fine bouts under the promotion of R. C. Kondracki.

We'll be looking forward to the next card which should come some time in the later part of September. Tomorrow night in Eustis, Soloman McTier will promote matches at the Eustis Armury for the second time.

All the Sanford fighters will be in action and there will be as many or more matches as were presented at the Sanford shows.

Local fans are expecting a real treat if Victor Perez and Jimmy Pender square off in the ring. Pender told this writer that he would make Perez regret stepping into the ring.

Female Managers

Seminole High May Be First In Nation

By GREY BOYLES
Herald Sports Staff

The Seminole High football team has come up with a first in the county and very possible a first in the state and nation. The first refers to Christine Plapp, Pip Lingle and Betsy Gant as they will be the managers for the football team. The new or unusual aspect to this is they are all girls.

All three girls are top students and it is also planned for them to keep team statistics at the games. Christine is a member of the National Honor Society and was a Girls State delegate. The team members are very pleased at the prospect of girl managers and they have a lot of respect for the girls as they are taking on a job that is very important to a well organized team and one that requires a lot of hard work.

The Seminoles had a defensive scrimmage in the morning practice yesterday and it was very impressive as there was some real hitting and excellent pursuit. Improvement must still be made in containment of sweeps and line adjustments but it was by far the best defensive effort of the young season. Everyone on the line did a fine job and the linebackers were picking up their keys and the secondary played their positions very good. The line was very quick in getting off on the ball.

The goal line defense was another story as there is much work to be done here. The linemen must stay low, penetrate and not be blocked out or in.

Mike Hardin will be out for two days with a slight shoulder problem and not having Dallas Brown and Mike Stephens as well as Hardin most surely had an effect on the goal line defense.

The afternoon practice was to be mostly offense but the rain cut practice short. The offensive line was getting off with the count faster and the guards showed improvement but they must learn not to tip the play off. Tommy Whigham, as usual, ran hard and was very effective but all the backs are improving daily. The Tommy Barks to Ricky NeSmith combination is hard to stop in practice.

Coach Guy Garrett announced that Jaycee football practice will start August 31 at 3 p.m. with the squad meeting at the gym. Coach Garrett will be assisted by Coach Darvin Booth and Coach Steve Nephew.

Nephew is new to Seminole this year but is a very dedicated young coach. The Jaycees are fortunate to have such a fine coaching staff and there is no doubt that the team will have a good understanding of the game.

All young players are urged to attend this important meeting and help get off to a fine start in their eight game schedule.

Scruggs At Halftime In Courtroom Battle

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Steve Scruggs, called "the best black quarterback I've seen" by his Florida A&M coach, wishes he was awaiting football maneuvers instead of trial.

Instead, the left-handed Scruggs is at halftime of two court cases. He won the first half, being declared innocent of possession of marijuana. Steve faces two more similar charges Sept. 15.

"Right now I'm working for a cement company, trying to help my momma pay some bills," said the St. Petersburg product. "I'm not in shape like I should be. With these court cases, somehow my mind just can't face up to other things."

Scruggs is a 6-foot-1, 185-pounder with eyes on a pro football career, if he wins that second half of the court case. Steve can perform in Florida A&Ms opener Sept. 26 against North Carolina A&T. If not . . . well, he only says "They made a mistake. It'll all come out in the trial. But I'm ready to get through with this mess."

Scruggs wont discuss the actual case that led to the charges. His expansive eyes hint of tears and he says, "I just don't want to talk about something that has been the worst experience of my life."

Asked if he could be classified an innocent bystander in the case, Scruggs said "yes."

Steve played at predominantly-black Gibbs High School here. His dad, Sidney Scruggs, drives a cement mixer and the family has a comfortable home with two cars.

"I was lucky," he said. "My parents have always been great to me and I had about 20 offers for college scholarships. It did not matter whether I went to an integrated school or a mostly-Negro school. Actually I hadn't intended on enrolling at Florida A&M until the last moment."

Scruggs' mind was changed by Jake Gaither, who retired as Rattler coach after last season.

"Jake just walked into town one day and took Steve back with him," said Scruggs' mother, "Tuskegee had been calling and wiring almost daily. But Coach Gaither seemed to take Steve by surprise and captivate him. They have been awfully nice at Florida A&M."

Scruggs is temporarily suspended from the team, pending outcome of his mid-September court trial. "My lawyer is trying to get the Board of Regents to allow me to practice with the Rattlers, pending how the trial turns out. I sure hope they do, because I want nothing more than to get back to football."

Scruggs did say his arrest came at "a house near the FAMU campus. Just a place a lot of kids went."

However, the soft-spoken athlete said "No matter how this comes out, I have learned a lesson. It has made a man of me. I now know where not to be caught standing around."

Jaycee Fishing Rodeo Slated This Saturday

The 18th annual Sanford-Seminole Jaycees fishing rodeo is just around the corner. The fishing rodeo will be held this Saturday, 12-2 p.m.

The fishing rodeo is held at the little pond located between the Sanford Civic Center and the Ft. Mellon Softball Field.

Refreshments will be served and the bait will be furnished. The participants are requested to bring their own cane pole. The cookies are being furnished by Park and Shop and the cups for the drinks are being provided by Publix.

Competition will be held in three age groups. The boy and the girl with the smallest, largest and most fish in each age group will receive a prize. The three age groups are five and under, six to nine and 10-12 years of age.

Some of the prizes are rods, reels, watches, tackle boxes, toys and others. Those merchants who have donated prizes are Crown Pawn Shop, T. G & Y, Robson Sporting Goods, Touchton Drugs, Gordon's Drugs, Roumillat and Anderson's Drugs, White's Auto Store, Super-X Drugs, Howell Industries, Florida State Bank, Goodyear, Faust Drugs, and U. S. Bank.

Jack Hunt is the chairman of the fishing rodeo. The Jayeettes and local Game Wardens will be on hand to help with the contest.

Tampa Dropped In World Series

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Tom Pokorski, a 16-year-old left-hander, pitched a one-hit shutout last night as Covina, California defeated Tampa 6-0 in the final game of the 1970 Colt League World Series.

Tampa represented the Southeastern Region after they captured the Southeastern Regional Tournament staged earlier this month in Seminole County at Cooper Field.

Tampa defeated the Seminole County all-stars in the finals and went to Houston, Texas where they won and earned the right to play in the Colt League World Series.

In the Little League World Series, Tampa played at Williamsport, Pa., the fans were treated to back-to-back no-hitters.

In the first game, Highland, Ind. defeated a U. S. armed forces dependents' team from Wiesbaden, Germany by a score of 2-0. Brian Pahuja fired the no-hitter.

In the second game, Steve O'Neil hurled Wayne, N. J. to a 10-0 rout of Vallerfield, Que. He also had a no-hitter.

Today's semi-final game will match Chinandega, Nicaragua against Campbell, California and Highland against Wayne.

Oviedo Lions Expecting A Better Season On Gridiron

By CLAY HARTSOE
Herald Sports Staff

Oviedo High School struggled through a 2-8 football season last year. "Things should be much better this fall," stated Athletic Director, Ralph Stumpf. "We have twice as many boys out this year. Even with twice a day practice, we haven't had any drop outs."

The Lions are in good shape as far as returning lettermen are concerned. "We have ten returning lettermen (only eighteen boys turned out for football last year) and only three of them are seniors this year. Eight of our starters will be sophomores or juniors," added Stumpf.

"Our biggest problem will be lack of depth. Most of our starters will probably have to play both ways. We may even have our quarterback going both ways and I don't like having to do that."

Oviedo had problems with their line being run through, around, and over last year, but Stumpf feels that it will be the Lions strongest point this year. "Last year we had problems with our line. A good example would be the Mt. Dora game (Oviedo lost 14-0). They only had one way to move the ball, and that was to give it to Durias (Melvin, All-State Fullback). He would then run an off tackle slant, we knew where he was going and yet we couldn't stop him."

"This year that won't happen. Many of our returning lettermen are on the line and they will be bigger and better this year," Stumpf stated.

Stumpf feels that he will have a good backfield, although he will be in bad shape as far as depth is concerned. He feels that his quarterback, Lyn Birch, should have a good year. Birch is a junior and he was starting quarterback last year. Stumpf also pointed out running back Dwayne Boston as having the potential of being a great one.

"Although Boston hasn't been at practice yet, he should be out shortly. The way he runs with the ball and our improved line, we should score many more points than we did last year," Stumpf stated.

Two other players that Stumpf pointed out were Larry Whipper and Bruce Carwise. Whipper is a tight-end and Carwise will play split-end or running back. Both are senior lettermen.

What the Lions lack in numbers, they should make up for in spirit and enthusiasm. Stumpf stated, "If the boys keep their spirit, they'll win ball games."

Pat Palinkas Makes History With PATs

By HUBERT MIZELL
(First of a Series)

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Pat Palinkas packed her game equipment: helmet, shoulder pads, jersey, trousers, bra, panties.

"I wear everything—well, almost everything — the boys wear," grinned pro football's first lady, "and a little more."

Gridder or not, the curvy little blonde is still very much a woman.

Tradition-smashing Pat broke into pro football two weeks ago olis Capitols.

with ceremony and a nasty wallop from a 235-pound linebacker. Her job is holding the football for placekicks by husband Steve Palinkas, but Pat bobbled her first center snap for the Orlando Panthers and got creamed.

"That linebacker, Wally Florence, took a cheap shot at Pat," says Steve. "Films prove that. I was horified when I saw my wife lying on the turf, but knew all was fine when she shoved me that wonderful little smile."

In their first two games, the Palinkas family hit three straight extra points after the opening miscue. The Panthers defeated Bridgeport and then lost to Norfolk prior to Saturday nights game with the Indianap-

A mild furor was created among league principals when Orlando hired the 5-foot-8, 129-pound schoolteacher to take part in pro football action.

They wonder: Should we uphold our male egos or should we allow the league's top drawing card to continue as the world's most beautiful placement holder?

"That smashing I took in the first game left me only with a sore neck for a couple of days," said Pat. "It's not my first football injury. I sprained my finger playing catch with Steve and cannot wear my wedding rings. Also, there's this scar on my hand from playing touch football with the neighborhood boys back home."

The Palinkases work only as a team in this highly-successful gimmic of the Panthers. "If one is cut, the other retires," says Pat. "I couldn't bear holding for another man kicker. We plan playing as long as Coach (Paul) Massey of the Panthers wants us."

Playing for Orlando doesn't make anybody rich. Players average $100 per regular season game and a scant $25 for pre-season battles.

"We are very unrich and can use extra money," said Steve. "But, we're playing because we both enjoy it. Away from the football field, we're just an average pair of 27-year-olds."

PROSPECTUS — Despite brouhaha with press most of '69, new coach Clive (pronounced Cleve) Rush actually put Patriots outtracked by end of season. Were 4-1 at one point after mid-season. That doesn't make 'em champs yet, but they'll make strong stab at .500 this year.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Best thing Mike Taliaferro has going for him is Rush's faith. Clive liked Mike's work when they were both with Jets. Has licked his proclivity for throwing long bomb. Will never be brilliant but he's big and strong enough. Kim Hammond is chief relief. Rating—B—

RECEIVING—Only Ron Sellers got over early injury, showed why Pats drafted him tops year ago. He's got it all—size, speed, glue fingers. He's a good one. Considerable drop in quality when you go to Charlie Frazier or Bill Radamacher as wide outs. Tommy, another of Richardson pass-nabbing brothers, is long shot to oust both. Got Tom Beer for better blocking at tight end, but he's being challenged by Barry Brown. Rating—B

RUNNING—Gone Jim Nance signs contract (expected), they'll be strong enough. Carl Garret was whiz of rookie as running aide and will get better. Behind them are R. C. Gamble, Sid Blanks—unspectacular vets—but watch for Eddie Ray, LSU rookie, to get some work. Rating—B plus.

LINE—Pats feel this was most unappreciated unit on club. Got testimonials from opponents late in season. Hub is Jon Morris, who could be best center in league, despite what they say about Oakland's Otto. Len St. Jean, Mike Mootler make good rugged guard tandem. The Toms—Neville and Funchess, are solid at tackle. And it's nice to have old Charlie Long around for swing duty right down the line. Rating—B plus.

DEFENSE

LINE—More than Phil Olsen's knee got hurt when prize rookie tore it up in camp. He's out for year, leaving glaring hole at end. Inevitably they've got to trade, though Ron Berger (6-8, 275) is big enough. Couple of solid defensive ends would take load off veteran tackles Jim Hunt, Houston Antwine, who've got 22 years experience between them. Rating—C

LINEBACKING—Didn't skip a beat when Nick Buoniconti went off to Miami last year. Jim Cheyunski stepped right in and set new team record for tackles, as middle man. Couple of head hunters, Ed Philpott and John Bramlett, flank him. But they'll have to step lively because Mike (Cat) Ballou of UCLA is on thier tails. Vet Marty Schottenheimer, rookie Bob Olson can help out, too. Rating—B plus.

SECONDARY—Coaches consider this best part of team. Lively bunch of steppers. Coach Bill Elias calls 'em his Bantam Roosters. Only oldster is all-league Don Webb. Jazzy Darryle Johnson, steady Larry Carwell man corners; John Charles holds up at strong safety. And there are half a dozen qualified subs pressing for action behind them. Rating—A—

KICKING—Tommy Janik, sub safety, jacked up quality of punting. Gino Cappelletti, original Patriot, still boots field goals and can fill in as receiver, but he has challenge

Rating—B plus.

Cincinnati Looking For Quarterback

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Virgil Carter, who recently shuffled off to Buffalo, has been shuffled off to Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Bengals, sorely in need of quarterback help, picked up the signal caller from the Bills for an undisclosed future draft choice Wednesday.

Carter, a Brigham Young star, played two years with the Chicago Bears before going to Buffalo during the off-season.

The Bengals, who lost No. 1 quarterback Greg Cook to injury recently, also picked up Bob Davis, from the New York Giants. Davis, placed on waviers by the Giants, had been a reserve quarterback for the Houston Oilers for three years.

Carter completed 36 of 71 passes for 342 yards in a little-used role last year. In 1968, he passed for 769 yards while starting seven games.

Elsewhere in the National Football League, the Detroit Lions traded rookie guard Bob Parker to the Philadelphia Eagles for veteran receiver Chuck Hughes. Hughes, a four-year veteran, was a fourth-round draft choice of the Eagles in 1967.

The Baltimore Colts acquired running back Eugene Moore from San Francisco on waivers and announced the retirement of reserve linebacker Butch Riley.

The Minnesota Vikings cut defensive back Seth Miller, wide receiver John Spinks, kicker Les Perry and tackle Andy Kolstad.

Washington asked waivers on veterans Carl Kammerer, a defensive end, and Tom Brown, a strong safety, and named Floyd Peters as player-coach on the defensive line.

The Atlanta Falcons later claimed Kammerer.

The Dallas Cowboys traded an undisclosed draft choice to the New Orleans Saints for veteran safety Bobby Thompson.

Boston placed two players on the injured waiver list—quarterback Aaron Marsh and Ed Toner, a defensive tackle.

Receiver Willie Richardson returned to the Pittsburgh Steelers camp after three days' absence because of a contract hassle.

Coach Chuck Noll spoke with Richardson by phone in Baltimore and suggested he try to solve the problem in camp, a Steeler spokesman said.

Jim Merritt Reaches Twenty Wins

By JIM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Merritt must have known something. Why else would the slick Cincinnati southpaw stash away nearly a case of champagne in his locker ... before the game?

"You don't win 20 games every day," said the 26-year-old hurler, referring to the 10 bottles of champagne, after he became the first left-hander in 43 years to win 20 for the Reds.

Merritt didn't last all the way, going 6 2-3 innings before Wayne Granger came on to save the memorable victory as the Reds edged Philadelphia 6-5 Wednesday night.

"It was a nice win," said the slender Merritt. "I would have liked to have gone all the way but I got tired. Wayne came on through and slammed the door for me." It was Granger's 20th save of the year.

Merritt, who has lost 10 decisions, became the National League's first 20-game winner this season although he gave up 15 hits before Granger bailed him out. Dave McNally of Baltimore has 20 victories in the American League. The last Cincinnati lefty to win 20 was Eppa Rixey, who was 21-11 in 1925.

In other NL action, Atlanta dropped New York 9-7, San Diego edged Pittsburgh 3-1, Los Angeles beat Chicago 8-3, Houston tripped Montreal 5-4 and San Francisco edged St. Louis 8-7.

In the American League, New York blanked Kansas City 6-0, Minnesota trounced Boston 7-0, Cleveland ripped Milwaukee 7-2, Baltimore topped Oakland 5-1 and Chicago downed Washington 3-1.

Merritt, 17-9 last year after being obtained during the winter of 1969 from Minnesota for Leo Cardenas, was given a 6-2 edge before the Phils unloaded for three runs in the seventh, knocking the lefty out.

Tony Perez slammed his 30th homer of the year and Bernie Carbo had a three-run shot for the Reds, his 21st. Don Money cracked a two-run homer for the Phils.

Hank Aaron slammed his 35th homer of the year, triggering a three-run Atlanta ninth inning that overcame a 7-6 Mets lead. Aaron's two-run shot and No. 589 of his career capped an uphill battle by the Braves, who at one time trailed 7-1.

Orlando Cepeda, Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman added homers for Atlanta while Art Shamsky and Wayne Garrett had two-run blasts for New York.

Sanford Boxer In Eustis Friday

The Sanford Boxing team will travel to Eustis tomorrow night where they will compete in matches promoted by Soloman McTier, being held at the Eustis Armory. The first bout will get underway at 8 p.m.

The big match up is a possible fight between Sanford's Victor Perez and Daytona Beach's Jimmy Ponder. This fight is not for certain yet, but both fighters agreed to meet last week.

"The Dark Angel," Leon Ellzy, will finish on a tenrounder with Lee Thompson, a promising young fighter from DeLand.

Both fighters have just two fights under the belt, and they are against each other. Ellzy won the first one and Thompson took the second.

Ellzy challenged Thompson to a ten-rounder and said it would be "ten or nothing." Thompson was unavailable for comment.

Also on the card from Sanford will be Russell Hudson, Tony Romo, Johnny Foster, Kip Braden, newcomer Clyde Hankins and possibly Wayne Carter.

Sanford almost swept the matches in Sanford last week.

The only fight they lost was the one between Thompson and Ellzy.

Also on the card tonight are pro exhibitions between McTier and three other fighters. Two of the fighters will be Tiger Brown and Roy Alexander.

China's Spending Big Money

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China is spending big money in Japan these days, and making big headaches for pro-American Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

Japanese businessmen are making more money than ever in their trade with the Chinese mainland. Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai is boldly using the trade as a lever to stir up trouble between Japan and the rival Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa.

Japan's trade with Communist China reached a record level of $625.3 million in 1969. Japanese firms sold far more than they bought from the Chinese mainland, and the balance was $146.3 million in Japan's favor.

This year Peking is spending money even faster to buy Japanese goods. There are estimates from some businessmen the trade volume will hit $800 million in 1970.

A combine of chemical companies signed a contract in mid-August to deliver $19.45 million worth of chemical fertilizer to China.

At about the same time, Komatsu, a maker of earth moving machines, won an order for $8.89 million worth of road building equipment, including 200 18-ton bulldozers.

Chou has created turmoil in Japanese business circles by threatening to close the Chinese mainland to any Japanese firm deeply involved in investment or sales of technical know how to Nationalist China.

As a result, big Japanese companies have been forced to choose between the two Chinas. Nippon Steel, the world's second largest steel maker after U.S. Steel, already has been banned from Communist China.

The Taiwan Chinese, headed by President Chiang Kai-Shek, retaliated by closing their country to about 2 Japanese firms doing big business on the mainland.

Action Waits On Candidate

By United Press International

The controversy created by Jeptha Tanksley running for governor but refusing to resign as a superior court judge while doing so was rekindled Tuesday.

LaFayette attorney Irwin Stolz, president of the Georgia Bar Association, said the GBA's executive committee has delayed action until after the November elections.

Tanksley, seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination, dismissed the GBA's criticism as "poor judgment."

In the Democratic race Tuesday, Jimmy Carter blasted former Gov. Carl Sanders for allegedly causing a serious rift between state governments in Georgia and Alabama, while Sanders speaking in Rome called Carter's alleged innuendoes "snake oil."

Tanksley spoke in Atlanta Tuesday and again claimed that he had "not violated any law in any way whatever."

Stolz had earlier said, "for a judge to say that he does not feel bound by Judicial Canon 30 is like a person who is accused of a crime saying he is not bound by the law because he disagrees with the law."

The Atlanta Bar Association's executive committee several weeks ago found the judge guilty of violating the Canon of Ethics by refusing to resign as a judge while running for political office.

"The truth is," Tanksley said, "that neither the American Bar Association nor the Atlanta Bar Association nor any other group of lawyers has the right to use any so-called ethical rule to deprive me of my lawful rights as a citizen."

Carter was in Columbus and charged Sanders with breaking off relations with Alabama when he and Gov. George C. Wallace were both chief executives.

IS THAT A GOOD AD . . . ?

If your advertising in the newspaper was printed with a special kind of ink that became visible only between 6:00 and 6:01 Monday, and then disappeared, the chances are you wouldn't think such an ad was worth much. You'd reach only a small number of your total potential customers — those who happened to be reading the newspaper Monday evening at precisely the time your ad appeared. And who, in fact, happened to be turned to the particular page on which your ad appeared at that precise moment.

And yet, this is exactly what happens to advertising in media other than print. If your customers are not tuned to the right station, or channel, at the right time and paying close attention, your advertising message can slip away, never to be recovered.

Newspaper advertising is available at the buyer's convenience. He doesn't have to be at a certain place at a certain time to get the Message. The buyer can read and re-read your offer . . . he can clip the advertisement for future reference.

Perhaps, equally important, the prospective customer looks at newspaper advertising because he wants

One thing about a used VW. It looks as homely as a new one.

So when you get last year's model it's almost like getting this year's.

Especially since these cars have passed the VW 16-point safety and performance test. And have our 100% guarantee that we'll repair or replace all major mechanical parts for 30 days or 1000 miles, whichever comes first.

What you're getting is a car that not only looks almost new. It runs that way, too.

Engine, transmission, rear axle, front axle assemblies, brake system, electrical system.

A Respected Opinion Offered

Young People Get A Boost From Supreme Court Jurist's Wife

By KARREN A. MILLS
Associated Press Writer

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Dorothy Blackmun, wife of the nation's newest Supreme Court justice, thinks the current crop of young people are more honest than when she was a girl and says that speaks well for the country's future.

"They want to be honest about their lives, and I think I'd rather have them to be honest than to be covering up," Mrs. Harry Blackmun said. "I think it's more healthy."

She said she thinks it is all right for young people to protest and work for changes in society, "If they have something to offer ... You don't get any progress without somebody willing to go out and fight for it."

"If they're just going out and protesting and destroying and don't have any concrete ideas for change, or aren't trying to find some ways of bettering the situation that they don't like ... then I think they should get jobs and work up the way we all did," she said.

Mrs. Blackmun, who has daughters 27, 23 and 21 years old, took time out from packing at her Rochester home for an interview. The Blackmuns are moving to Washington, D.C., in early September.

The new justice's wife, known as "Dottie" to her friends said as the so-called hippie segment of society is usually complaining about something. "I think they should get going and combine, rather than just possibly find happiness if you're not contributing to somebody, someplace, or to some cause.

"I feel the only true happiness is the happiness that you can get from giving of your self of your ideas, of anything that you have to give," she added.

The trim, 59-year-old Mrs. Blackmun said she feels young people are often criticized because they are thinking only of "You've got to think about others. And until you do think about others, you can't possibly be happy."

If the hippies and other alienated youth would offer something to society, she added, "I think they'd be surprised at what they would find, at the personal satisfaction they could get."

Mrs. Blackmun, dressed in platform sandals and a swinging pants suit with a bright gold sleeveless tunic top and white, wide-legged pants, said she finds it sad that some young people can't have a good time in a normal, healthy manner such as swimming, which was young.

"It's too bad today's rock festivals can't be the kin of affairs that I remember in the days of my youth where young people had fun over H.ore simplistic things," she said.

SECTION 18. Grand juries.—
