SCC graduation set for tonight

SANFORD — Florida State University president Dr. Dale W. Lick will address the 300 graduates at Seminole Community College this evening.

Lick, who until his appointment as president of president of FSU in 1991 was president of Georgia Southern College, will address the graduates about the next step they will be taking in their educational lives.

The 26th annual commencement ceremonies will take place in the college's Health Center (gym) at 8 p.m.

The students will be receiving their associates degrees in a variety of subject areas.

The public is invited to attend the graduation ceremonies at the college, but they are encouraged to arrive early as seating is limited and attendance is usually high.

Westside homeowners to meet

SANFORD — Westside Community Association will meet this evening at 7:30 p.m. at the West Sanford Boys & Girls Club, 919 Persimmon Ave.

All residents living in the Goldsboro community are invited.

The association joins together every other Wednesday to organize meaningful, positive and productive communication with city officials and district commissioners of concerns in the neighborhood. The organization also seeks solutions that will help motivate and improve neighborhoods through resident participation.

GoldenRule sign-up day

SANFORD — GoldenRule Housing and Community Development Corporation is holding an official sign-up day today, for very-low and low-income residents of Seminole County.

The registration will be for residents needing very-low and low-income housing in Seminole County, or who need or want to purchase a home, or move into better quality rental accommodations.

Families whose total household income does not exceed 80 percent of the area median are eligible to apply.

The organization is applying for grants and loans from several federal and state programs to enable it to provide downpayment, rehabilitation, and rental assistance to qualified applicants.

Registration will close at 4 p.m. today, at the GoldenRule's offices located at 2968 S. Orlando Drive, the former Zayre Plaza, in Sanford.

For further information, phone 324-9123.

Historic Trust to give awards

SANFORD — Ten residents of the Sanford Historic District will be notified this week that will be recipients of awards during a banquet of the Sanford Historic Trust Saturday night.

The awards are being given in observance of National Historic Preservation Week, which begins May 10.

"We will be giving banners to each winner," Nestl said, "to be displayed in front of each winning building for the week prior to, and week of the Preservation Week," said Carmen Nestl.

The presentation will be made this Saturday night, beginning at 7 p.m., at the First Street Gallery, 203 E. First Street, in downtown Sanford.

The public is invited to attend. The cost, including a banquet meal, is $20 per person. Advance reservations are required by phoning Carmen Nestl, 657-6005, ext. 213.

Planning for growth

'Town' the size of Sanford envisioned

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — A new "town" the size of Sanford may exist west of the city within the next 13 years.

How that town will look is the subject of a Seminole County study unveiled this week. The public will have an opportunity to view the plans in a series of three workshops during May and June. The first workshop on May 19 will present the methods and data going into the study. The formal adoption process begins in August.

The Northwest study area plan will serve as a guide to future planning, zoning and development decisions made by the county. The study suggests such amenities as landscaped parkways, a central drainage system and natural preservation areas to consolidate the areas.

Fees may aid expansion of jail and courthouse

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners will pursue creation of a countywide "impact fee" on new home construction to raise money for a jail expansion and additional county fees on traffic tickets and other civil matters for a courthouse expansion.

Commissioners said Tuesday they were interested in the new fees and asked two consultants to investigate the amount of money that could be raised from the two fees. They said they were not ready to spend $75,000 to create the fees, especially if the fees only generated

Students: Making an appointment schools policing morals

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Despite the protests of nearly two dozen students, teachers, parents and community members last night, the Seminole County school board passed the citizenship policy that has been nearly three years in the making.

Students, most of whom are members of the Oviedo High School student newspaper, Lion's Tale, stood one by one to oppose the policy on various grounds.

In the end, however, the board voted unanimously (though board member Barbara Kuhn was absent)

Principal recovering from beating

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A school official said Principal Sallie Jenkins is resting a little more comfortably this morning after a severe beating yesterday afternoon.

A school employee has been charged with the assault.

Jenkins, principal at Wekiva Elementary School in Longwood, was allegedly battered by Leroy McMillon, a maintenance worker, during a job performance evaluation.

McMillon had just been reinstated to his position last week after a district union arbitrator ruled in his favor. Records show that in September, McMillon had been absent from work without a proper excuse. They show that it was Jenkins who had recommended that the school board suspend him.

Newspaper boxes reported stolen

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Over two dozen newspaper vending machine boxes in the Sanford area have been reported stolen in the past eight weeks.

The Sanford Herald has had 13 boxes stolen including three this past weekend.

Jeff Hill, zone manager for the Orlando Sentinel reported 12 missing, with almost all of them in the downtown Sanford area.

"The latest theft was Monday," Hill said, "when a box was stolen from the Sanford Post Office." Hill said it was the third theft of a box

Sanford hikes garbage rate

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford garbage rates are going up because the city says expenses are exceeding projections.

Commissioners Monday night approved a resolution increasing the fees for solid waste collection services. The new rates will be effective beginning with the May billing.

The cost per month for a single-family residence will increase from $13.74 to $14.43, which would amount to $8.28 per year. For a multi-family residence, the monthly rate would climb from $9.20 to $9.66 per month, per family.

Public Works Director Jerry Hermin has determined that by mid-year, the city's Solid Waste Fund will be approximately $116,000, or 4.9 percent below predictions. To bring the rates up to expectations, he recommended a five percent increase.

"Expenses are currently exceeding projections," he said, "while revenues are about even with budget projections."

He said the increase has been primarily caused

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Jump kills university student

GAINESVILLE — A 28-year-old University of Florida graduate student apparently jumped to his death from the top of Ben Hill Griffin Stadium, a university official said.

The student, identified as Pavel E. Tyulkin, was taken across campus to Shands Hospital, where he was pronounced dead from injuries suffered in the six-story fall, according to University of Florida Police Department reports.

Emergency crews treated Tyulkin, a Russian native who was a doctoral student in physics, in a parking area but were unable to resuscitate him.

A University Athletic Association employee had observed Tyulkin acting peculiarly and alerted police moments before he jumped Tuesday, said Angie Tipton, a spokeswoman for the university's police department.

Food vendors in skimpy attire cited

CLEARWATER — Four hot dog vendors wearing skimpy bathing suits have been accused of violating a Pinellas County ordinance against selling food while exposing buttocks.

The four women received the citations Monday and were ordered to appear before a judge early next month. The ordinance bans food sales while having exposed "genitals, public hair, pubic hair region or buttocks."

Hala Salaman, 25, who owns eight carts, was back on a Clearwater street in her T-back bathing suit Tuesday serving customers in defiance of her citation.

Her sister, Sahar, 19, and colleagues Tammy Stoddart and Cynthia Gray also were cited.

Vendors who violate the ordinance risk $500 fines and loss of license.

Man killed tampering with power box

MIAMI — A man was electrocuted trying to steal copper wiring from a street-light power box underneath Interstate 95.

Authorities were trying to identify the man, who apparently was homeless, police spokesman Angelo Bitais said Tuesday.

The victim climbed up the embankment, reached over a concrete column and tore open the power box Monday, said police spokesman David Magnusson.

"He really couldn't see what he was doing. He was just pulling wires," Magnusson said. "Unfortunately, there are very high electrical currents running through these boxes."

The man was dead when fire-rescue units reached him, said fire Capt. J.M. Tolbert.

Man convicted in bond heist fraud

MIAMI — A federal jury convicted an Irish-Canadian man suspected of trying to launder bonds from a massive 1990 London bond heist on a count of conspiracy to transport stolen securities.

Stephen Orr, convicted Tuesday, could face up to five years in prison and a $850,000 fine when he's sentenced June 28.

Orr, 44, and two co-defendants allegedly were trying to launder millions of dollars worth of stolen bonds on behalf of the Irish Republican Army.

The government says Raptier, Jean Paul Giudicelli and Orr offered the stolen bonds to undercover FBI agents who were posing as drug transporters and money launderers.

Giudicelli, a Costa Rican who pleaded guilty to a conspiracy count March 9 will be sentenced May 3, and Raptier, a Canadian who pleaded guilty to conspiracy April 21 on the first day of trial will be sentenced June 28.

Customs intercepts ship carrying Chinese

MIAMI — Customs chased down and intercepted a freighter carrying 100 U.S.-bound Chinese, part of what the Coast Guard said is a growing trend in illegal immigration.

The 144-foot Honduran-registered Mermada 01 was first spotted 290 miles east of Jacksonville April 21 with a hundred people on deck, said Coast Guard spokesman Joe Dye.

When a cutter approached, the captain claimed to have only 35 Chinese and Korean crewmen on board. He said he was fishing for tuna and refused to allow a boarding party.

On Friday, the 370-foot cutter Forward received permission from the Honduran government to board the boat.

Deadly pesticide may affect burglar

TAMPA — Police are searching for a burglar who may have been exposed to a deadly pesticide while stealing a television from a home undergoing fumigation for termites.

The break-in occurred late Monday or early Tuesday at a leased home that had been pumped with the pesticide product Vikane, which can be absorbed by both breathing and through the skin.

"Whoever it is needs to be treated within 48 hours or it could be too late," said police spokesman Scott Gaudy. "And if the person does go to the hospital, it's very important to say the name of the chemical so they know what to treat."

The spokesman said authorities have no suspects and by late Tuesday had received no reports of a pesticide poisoning case from area emergency rooms.

Changes made on PSAT

Calculators now allowed on math portion of test

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Students who take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) in 1993 will be the first to be allowed to use calculators on the mathematics portion of the test.

Four function or graphing calculators, which will be allowed, have always been banned from test rooms in the past.

While some consider the change a significant breakthrough, others argue that students in the future will have an unfair advantage over those who took the test in the past.

Carol Jackson, director of the Mathematics Test Development Division of the Educational Testing Service (ETS), will be visiting Seminole Community College in May to offer some insights about how and why the decision was made to make the change.

"We felt it was imperative that the math department learn as much about this as possible," said Dorothy Holtgreve of the mathematics department, who helped arrange Jackson's upcoming visit.

Holtgreve said Jackson told her that the Educational Testing Service has been developing a new PSAT test so that the scores earned by the calculator-assisted students in 1993 will give colleges the same information regarding a student's potential college success as the score from any other year.

The changes are still being formulated and have not been discussed publicly yet, though Jackson is expected to reveal the nature of the changes to those who attend the meetings at SCC.

Jackson's group is responsible for making all the decisions regarding calculator use on the PSAT, as well as on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and the Graduate Record Examination (GRE).

It is possible that the CLAST, a test given to college sophomores and to those hoping to get their associates degree at the community college level.

Her visit to Sanford will be the first time she will be addressing a group other than her colleagues or national professional organizations.

"This is a real exciting opportunity for us," said Holtgreve.

Jackson will speak at SCC on Thursday, May 20 at 4 p.m. and on Friday, May 21 at 9 a.m. The meetings will be in the college's Fine Arts Hall.

Reservations are being requested so that the college can make appropriate arrangements. To make reservations, call Holtgreve at 323-1450, ext. 203 before April 29.

Robber beat to death

By Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — A store employee who fatally beat his attacker with a pipe could face homicide charges, authorities said.

Donald Sondej, 24, of Sunrise was working at Recreational Lighting Systems Monday when two men entered. Johnny Banks, 37, grabbed Sondej by the throat, according to witnesses and police reports.

The two scuffled, and Banks sliced Sondej's back with a razor or other small blade. Meanwhile, Banks' accomplice fought with another worker.

Then the intruders fled. Banks was caught and allegedly fatally beaten by Sondej.

The results of an investigation will be turned over to the state attorney's office.

"He can pursue him, but what happens when he catches up with him? That's what the investigation is about," said Broward Sheriff's Office spokesman Ott Ceikin. "It is a situation that the guy turns and starts coming at him?"

Some witnesses said others were involved in Banks' death as well, but authorities couldn't confirm the report.

"Oh my God, I saw it," said Tony Perez, who works nearby. "It was horrible. They were beating him like Rodney King."

Gary Taylor said one man "hit Banks and split his head open. ... I'm pretty sure that's what killed him."

Banks, whose criminal record goes back at least 17 years, died shortly after the beating at Memorial Hospital in Hollywood.

His accomplice locked himself in a car in front of the warehouse and tried to start it, witnesses told deputies.

Another worker, Peter Anderson, 23, broke the car's window with a crowbar to get to him and may have broken his jaw, witnesses said. The accomplice escaped on foot before police arrived.

Hole swallows 2 I-95 lanes; stretch of highway closed

By Associated Press

PALM BEACH GARDENS — A hole swallowed two northbound lanes of Interstate 95 in Palm Beach County, forcing authorities to close a stretch of the highway Tuesday.

Two cars ran into the hole and were damaged, but there were no reports of injuries, said Capt. Richard Carpenter of the Florida Highway Patrol station in Lantana.

"This is something new for us," he said. "The road just kind of opened up — we're calling it a sinkhole."

The hole appears to be spreading, he said. It opened in the center lane of the highway near Palm Beach Gardens and later widened to include the outside lanes.

Carpenter said he knew of no construction in the area, but eyewitnesses at the scene said it appeared a large pipe was being laid alongside the highway embankment.

The FHP shut down the northbound lanes and could not say when it would reopen. State

Transportation Department employees, troopers and police were on the scene inspecting the hole.

"Until the engineers tell me what happened and why, and how it can be fixed, we're just waiting," Carpenter said.

Geologist Walt Schmidt of the state Department of Natural Resources said sinkholes are common in the area, although they are not as big as the house-swallowing variety known farther north in Central Florida.

"That area has shallow sinkholes and shallow depressions," he said. "They leave a void, but generally they're not large."

Sinkholes are caused when underlying limestone dissolves and the soil above collapses into the empty area, he said.

The I-95 hole also could be manmade, he said. Highway fill should not collapse, but a depression could form if the road were built over debris or decomposing vegetation.

The highway is the main north-south link along Florida's East Coast.

Elderly man may have been exploited

An attorney for a 78-year-old Longwood resident has asked the Seminole County Sheriff's Office to investigate the possible theft through fraud of more than $100,000 from his client.

The attorney, Mark Herr of Oviedo, filed a complaint Monday on behalf of his client. The complaint alleges a woman sold the man's Longwood home and instead of paying the man, used the money to buy an Oviedo home in her name. Herr also alleged the woman transferred large amounts of cash from his client's bank account to her account.

George Proechel, spokesman for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, said the complaint is being investigated by the sheriff's Property Crimes Division as a possible violation of elderly exploitation laws and grand theft. Proechel said the woman had power of attorney for the man.

Domestic violence charged

John Purvis Silvia, 25, and his wife, Tammy Lynn Mchale, 22, both of 4535 Bedford Road, Sanford, were arrested on battery-domestic violence charges Monday.

Seminole County deputies, on investigating a neighbor's complaint of a fight, report seeing scratches on the faces of Silvia and Mchale.

Disorderly conduct

Denver McCauley, 56, 1110 W. First St., Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police on a disorderly conduct charge at about 3:15 a.m. Tuesday.

The arrest followed three previous complaints by a sleepless neighbor who reported McCauley was breaking things in his apartment and banging on the walls.

Arrest made for marijuana possession

Michael Burch, 19, 500 W. Airport Blvd., Apt. 1503, Sanford, was arrested on a marijuana possession charge by Sanford police Monday afternoon.

A policeman reported seeing Burch remove a bag found to contain marijuana from his pocket and place it under a car seat.

Traffic stop leads to arrest

Emil M. Kolnick, 26, 774 E. Magnolia Trail, Longwood, was arrested on a suspended license charge by a Longwood policeman following a traffic stop Monday evening.

Disturbance complaint

Scott D. Muetzel, 41, 910 Woodgate Trail, Longwood, was arrested on a suspended license charge by a Longwood policeman responding to a disturbance complaint Monday afternoon.

Warrant arrests made

The following wanted persons have been taken into custody:

• LaGloria Law, 28, 1514 Summerlin Ave., Sanford, was served with a warrant at the Seminole County jail Monday. Law was wanted on a charge of failure to appear in court to answer to an open container charge.

• Freddie Lee Davis, 26, 1302 Cedar Creek Court, Sanford, was served with a warrant at the county jail on a probation violation charge for an affray conviction.

• Deborah Denise O'Shea, 27, 459 Sand Cove Drive, Sanford, was arrested at his home on an outstanding warrant Monday. O'Shea was wanted in Orange County on a third-degree motor vehicle theft charge.

• Kevin Frederick Valentich, 36, 898 Shriver Circle, Lake Mary, turned himself in to deputies at the county jail Monday. Valentich was wanted on charges of vehicular burglary and battery.

• Talmadge Franklin Thomas Foster, 39, 1322 Oleander Ave., Sanford, was charged with violating the terms of his probation on charges of selling cocaine. After many attempts to find him at his last known address at 1320 W. 8th Street, he was found at the Oleander address. He was held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $5,000 bond after his first appearance in court.

• Freddie Davis, 34, 126 Academy Ave., Sanford, was charged with violating the terms of his probation on battery charges. Deputies said they found him at his girlfriend's house at 6 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford. He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $1,000 bond after his first appearance in court.

• Reginald George, 27, 17 William Clark Court, Sanford, was charged with failure to appear in court on charges of driving without a license. He was held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $500 bond.

Incidents reported to authorities

The following incidents were reported to Seminole County deputies and Sanford police Monday:

• Jewelry valued at nearly $5,300 was reported taken from a home in the 2500 block of Westavia Way of Longwood sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

• A soft drink machine at the Humane Society of Seminole County shelter was reported burglarized sometime between 6:30 p.m. Sunday and 7:45 a.m. Monday. Forty dollars in coins was reported missing and $250 in damage was reported to the machine. The machine is owned by an Orlando vending machine company.

• Door hardware valued at $600 was reported taken from Midway Elementary, 2321 Jitway, sometime between 7:30 p.m. Friday and 7:20 a.m. Monday.

• A yellow John Deere backhoe, valued at $65,000, was reported taken from a construction site on Keyes Court near Sanford sometime between 2 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday.

• Unspecified items and a pink pillowcase were reported taken from a residence in the 2700 block of Ridgewood Avenue, Sanford, sometime between 6 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. Monday.

• A Midway man reported he was robbed of a gold chain, $24 in cash and a pocket pager on 13th Street at noon Monday.

• A Sanford woman said she was approached by a man on bicycle near a Poplar Street grocery at 2 p.m. Monday. The woman reported the man asked for a quarter and when she refused, he punched her in the mouth.

• A pager and charging unit were reported taken from a back room at the Animal Control Division shelter on Bush Boulevard sometime Saturday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Couple honored for humane effort

LAKE MARY — Kathy Boughton and her husband Kevin were returning home from work on a Wednesday evening two weeks ago when they found U.S. Highway 17-92 darkened with thick, black smoke.

With that began an adventure that will cost them more than $1,000, but has earned them praise and some new friends.

The Boughtons, who started their own landscaping business when they moved to this area in October, spotted the smoke and knew immediately that there was a fire at the Humane Society of Seminole County on County Home Road. They did not hesitate to turn around and return to the scene.

Kevin, 32, was the first to leap the fence that surrounds the compound. Another man who was there also jumped over the fence. But when Kathy, 28, tried to leap over, she landed wrong and fractured her heel in three places.

"Oh, I was in horrible pain," she said. "Kevin went on ahead and started pulling animals out of the building next to the kennel that was on fire."

She said when police and fire rescue officials arrived on the scene a short while later, they were unable to get the gates open right away and she was forced to climb back over the fence with a broken foot. She said she got a large gash down her leg in the process.

"Some of the other volunteers helped me back down," she said.

She said she watched in excruciating pain as her husband rescued puppies from the main building. She said she saw her husband working frantically in the intense heat, but could do nothing to help.

"Other people started arriving and the fire department got in to put out the fire," she said.

When the fire was extinguished, she said, her husband brought her to the hospital.

Despite the fact they had "not gotten around to getting" medical insurance, doctors at South Seminole Community Hospital in Longwood, treated Kathy in the emergency room.

The bills are adding up quickly, she said. There was a $550 bill for the CAT Scan, another $300 for the doctor's services and at least another $500 for the hospital.

"I'll deal with those later," she said. "Right now, I'm concentrating on healing."

Yesterday, Dr. Joseph Vaughan, a veterinarian at the Lake Mary Animal Clinic and president of the Humane Society of Seminole County, gave the Boughtons a $200 personal check to help defray the medical costs.

A new family member found his way into their hearts the night of the fire as well, she said.

Kathy said that Kevin "fell in love" with a cute little puppy he pulled from the building at the Humane Society and they adopted him to come home to play with their 2½-year-old son.

"We wanted one of the burned ones, but Kevin fell in love with this other one so we took him home," he said.

The Boughtons already have two other dogs and a bird in their menagerie.

The Seminole County Commission honored the Boughtons and others who volunteered their time to save the animals at the humane Society shelter in a ceremony yesterday.

Florida lowers drivers' blood-alcohol limit to 0.08

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Florida will become the eighth state to consider motorists guilty of drunken driving at a blood alcohol level of 0.08 under a bill signed by Gov. Lawton Chiles.

Chiles signed the bill lowering the limit from 0.10 to 0.08 and two bills to help crime victims get restitution in a Capital courtroom ceremony Tuesday.

A band formed by a father whose 11-year-old son was abducted and killed two years ago performed as wind ruffled the palm trees and banners promoting Chiles' "Safe Streets" prison proposals.

"Every three minutes somebody in Florida becomes the victim of a violent crime," said Chiles. He said he intended to call lawmakers into special session in a few weeks to act on his prison-expansion plans.

Later Tuesday, Chiles fired off letters to House Minority Leader Sandra Morham, R-Largo, and Republican Sen. Bill Bankhead of Jacksonville, both of whom have criticized the prison plan and its proposed cigarette tax increase.

"Frankly, your escape behind the 'no new taxes' rhetoric is disingenuous and callous," Chiles wrote. "I find it hard to believe that you would jeopardize the lives and property of your fellow Floridians just to maintain a shallow, inadequate plan that talks tough but isn't enough."

The drunken-driving bill (HB 541) takes effect Jan. 1.

"People must remove the image of the falling-down drunk from their minds and think impaired," said Mothers Against Drunk Driving spokeswoman Susan Isenberg. "Everyone regardless of size or alcohol tolerance is seriously impaired at 0.08."

California, Kansas, Oregon, Utah, Maine, New Mexico and Vermont have lowered blood-alcohol limits for motorists to 0.08 and New Hampshire has a bill pending, Isenberg said.

Backers cited a National Highway Traffic Safety Administration report that of 22,088 alcohol-related deaths nationally in 1990, about 20 percent — 4,500 — occurred in crashes in which the driver's blood-alcohol level was lower than 0.10 percent.

The Florida Highway Patrol has said 42.4 percent of all Florida traffic deaths in 1991 were alcohol related.

"DUI is a violent crime where the weapon happens to be a vehicle rather than a gun," Isenberg said.

According to a U.S. Transportation Department chart, a 100-pound person would reach the 0.08 percent limit after two drinks in one hour, while it would take three to reach 0.10 percent.

In the same period, a 160-pound person would take 3¼ drinks to reach 0.08 percent, compared with 4¼ to reach 0.10 percent. A 200-pound person would reach 0.08 percent after four drinks and 0.10 percent after 5¼.

The chart defined one drink as a 12-ounce beer, a 3-ounce glass of wine or one ounce of 80-proof liquor.

Chiles also signed: — SB 488, updating statutes on restitution to crime victims and calling for a study on the use of any unclaimed restitution funds to pay for victims' services.

— HB 81, extending a one-year limit on the time crime victims under 18 years old have to file for state compensation.

Performing at the bill-signing was the band "Papia," formed by Junny Rios-Martinez of Cocoa, whose 11-year-old son, also named Junny, was abducted, raped and killed two years ago. The boy's mother, Vicki Rios-Martinez, read a poem after the bills were signed.

End of an era, start of new one

John Kader has retired. Kader's Jewelry, at 112 S. Park Avenue in downtown Sanford has officially closed.

Last Friday, Karns Insurance Agency, 413 W. 1st Street, merged with another agency and moved out of Sanford.

The management of Karns Insurance Agency will now be part of Sihle & Williamson Insurance of Altamonte Springs.

To some long-time residents of the city, these events may mark the end of an era. Both have served Sanford area residents for many decades. The owners of the two businesses that carried their names were good friends to their customers and knew their needs.

If this is truly the end of one era, we suggest the start of a new one. A time in which new merchants pledge to emulate the work-ethics of these two long-term businesses.

Serve the people as they would like to be treated. Be friends to customers, and join in area endeavors such as improvement or beautification projects.

John Kader, and his father, previous jewelry store owner William E. Kader, were leaders in the business sector. The dedication they had to their job may be difficult to equal by some, but for those who succeed, several decades of good business may be the result.

Young business owners and managers will do well to follow in their footsteps.

In support of Rick Sheaffer

Re: Rick Sheaffer and his complaint before the state ethics committee regarding two Sanford commissioners. I think a lot of the citizens should thank him for his job of standing up to the commissioners and not letting them walk all over him.

I'm sure so many of us feel the same way but didn't have the guts to speak up.

He has gone to great lengths to follow up on what he felt was right.

I'm sure more than half of us out there feel the same and for one reason or another say nothing. When we know what he said is true.

As I was taught, I'm just as good as the next guy.

Don't the commissioners feel he should get an apology??? I think what (commissioners Whitley Eckstein and A.A. McLanahan) said and did calls for an apology and much more to Mr. Sheaffer. After all, it all started with an opinion.

If someone isn't guilty, my question is why wasn't it treated like an opinion. As it goes, if the shoe fits, wear it.

Positive coverage

Why is it that the Sanford Herald never prints anything positive about the young people at Seminole High School? If you have something negative for your paper you do not hesitate to print it.

Well I and a lot of other parents are fed up with this. Show us the good for a change. Be positive with our kids and give them some encouragement.

My daughter is on the Dazzler dance team and these girls work long and hard and keep out of trouble. These girls win most competitions, they travel many miles representing our town and they get no acknowledgment from the Sanford Herald. This is a crying shame. What better way to show the kids how proud we are then to let everyone know by printing it in the paper?

You send out photographers and they take pictures and we wait and wait and nothing ever comes out in the paper. Our girls have been on television many times. Some say you're prejudiced, some say it's politics. Personally, I think it sucks.

Why not print the fact that our girls won over Lake Mary in competition (over 30 schools). These kids are good. Let a show it.

I know I may never hear a reply from the Sanford Herald, but at least I have had my say.

Betty Murphy
Sanford

Editor's note: Perhaps because Mrs. Murphy is not a subscriber to the Herald, she missed some of our coverage of the many positive events at Seminole High School. On March 26, we announced the Dazzlers won the competition referred to in Mrs. Murphy's letter. On March 21, we ran a feature story about the Dazzler's director, Maureen McGuire. Six months ago, we began featuring a Dazzler of the Week every Sunday. A photo and short biography appears in the People section. Every Sunday, the Herald prints a column written by a Seminole High School student, in which the positive side of student life is explored. This column appears on the Education page.

Although it is our job to report negative events that are newsworthy, we welcome and encourage suggestions for feature stories concerning caring and productive students from all area schools.

Testing Clinton on crime problem

Crime Time: tension about riots in Los Angeles; a drive-by killer in Washington, D.C.; a prison revolt in Ohio; a loco in Waco; terror bombing in New York City. And on an average day, 70 homicides. It's America's biggest problem.

Are the rates for crimes of violence going up? Some of the data are ambiguous, but mostly the answer is yes. Three items are not ambiguous: The violent crime rate is obscenely high, the fear rate is way up, and so are tensions between blacks and whites.

We have a new president with a flatful of remedies for crime: "community policing," 100,000 more police, a "Police Corps," "boot-camps" for first-time non-violent offenders, more drug rehabilitation, a gun-control law, a "safe schools" proposal, $2.5 billion more for federal crime programs in the next budget cycle, the "Community Partnership Against Crime" — and the list can go on.

In some large measure it should be crime, and the social issues like it (welfare for another example), by which we should judge Clinton. Those are the items that allowed him to portray himself as a "different Democrat," and which made him a winner.

So how shall we evaluate Clinton on this issue? Four ways come to mind:

1) Will he be able to enact what he says he wants to enact? It's expensive: 100,000 more cops, whose total costs run about $100,000 per year each, equals $10 billion, every year.

2) If the programs pass, will they work? The ideas sound nice. Professor James Q. Wilson of UCLA — America's leading thinker on crime, and no Clinton booster — believes the 100,000 more cops and the community-policing ideas are solid. If he thinks so, so do I. But by 1998, the evidence should be apparent on the street. Maybe the emphasis should have been on still-more prisons and still-longer sentences. 3) Does Clinton get the rhetoric right? Presidential words can count as much as programs. Voters want to know: "Does he see the world the way we do?"

There are two ways of describing the nature of the crime situation. The first (standard liberal) is that crime mostly comes from "root causes" (like poverty). Therefore the principal solutions run to job training, moving jobs into the inner city, more money for education and more subsidized housing.

The second view is that the appalling criminality we now see has come mostly from a moral breakdown, in part brought about by governmental soft-headedness.

Public policy should be a blend of the two points of view. I believe the second view is more accurate. And it is certainly the more popular one in America. This is so among the "Reagan Democrats" who gave Clinton his victory, and whose votes he needs in 1996, but also true among many who live in or near the combat zones.

Americans want to hear that their president has his priorities straight between the two points of view.

The violent crime rate is obscenely high, the fear rate is way up, and so are tensions between blacks and whites.

What would AARP cost taxpayers?

WASHINGTON — For a mere $8 per year, any American over the age of 55 can subscribe to an almost irresistible bargain, and 34 million of them do. Joining this club gives members access to everything from discounted movie tickets and hotel rooms to specialized financial services that include group health insurance, no-load mutual funds and low-interest credit cards. It's a hard deal to pass up.

But joining the American Association of Retired Persons also ties one in to the largest lobbying juggernaut in Washington. Its size and sophistication make it the envy of its competitors. There is only one thing the AARP doesn't disclose to its members: the cost of its advocacy.

The AARP's agenda would make even the most free-spending member of Congress choke on his pork — lobbying for $300 billion in new government spending for 1993 alone.

That's how much the National Taxpayers Union estimates that the AARP's legislative agenda would cost the government this year if its entire legislative wish list were passed. It's an agenda that looks great until the sticker-shock sets in, and it's not surprising to find the costs scarcely mentioned in the association's policy papers. In a study to be released later this week, a draft copy of which was obtained by our associate Jan Moller, the NTU puts the taxpayers' money where the AARP's mouth is.

By far the most bank-busting item on the AARP's agenda is health-care reform. White House officials privately estimate that their package may cost between $30 billion and $90 billion in new spending, an amount that pales in comparison to the package that AARP wants. AARP is lobbying for HealthCare America, a version of the "pay or play" model Clinton was advocating early in his campaign — but with a much higher price tag. The NTU study estimates that AARP's plan would come at a cost of $207 billion in new health benefits spending.

AARP's health plan calls for large expansions in care, including the "universal long-term care" bill that would cost about $80 billion, according to the NTU estimate. The group's platform even calls for reinstatement of the "catastrophic care" legislation that led to one of the most embarrassing episodes in the group's history.

The AARP fought for years to have catastrophic illness covered by Medicare, and finally got it signed into law. But the law repealed two years after its passage when AARP members revolted over the $9 billion in new taxes that were required to pay for it. The NTU study estimates that catastrophic coverage would cost taxpayers about $15 billion per year if it were passed today.

Ironically, the organization that today rarely sees a government program it doesn't like was launched with a credo of self-reliance for the elderly. In the early days, the AARP's main concern was obtaining health insurance for the elderly. In 1964, retirees were the only age group to vote for Barry Goldwater — a presidential candidate who opposed, among other things, the Medicare program. In 1965, AARP co-founder Ethel Percy Andrus would write about the group: "AARP holds no meetings to bewail the hardships of old age, nor to formulate pressure programs, nor stress potential political strength of older folks, nor to urge government subsidy."

The AARP of today is a far different animal. It has an annual budget of more than $300 million, which doesn't include income from its related organizations.

There is only one thing the AARP doesn't disclose to its members: the cost of its advocacy.

Don't blame president for Waco

BOSTON — How quickly the plot turned from Greek tragedy to theater of the absurd. There wasn't even time to clear the bodies off the stage.

One minute the compound in Waco was burning, live and vivid in color. The next minute, an entire Rolodex of experts, fled under "C for cult," had been called for their opinions.

We weren't even allowed time to be simply appalled. No time to absorb the images of the Korean children who had died by fire and/or by father.

Before the grisly business of identifying bodies by dental records had begun, the analysts were delivering second guesses. He was suicidal. He wasn't. By nightfall, each television broadcast had lined up its own present or former member of the Branch Davidians to say that the end was inevitable. Or it wasn't.

By the next day, virtually every network and every talk show and every tabloid TV show had reconstructed The David Koresh Story. The Standoff in Waco. The Fiery End. Reality, even when it included the death of small children, looked like nothing more than the rough cut of the made-for-television movie that will soon follow. Only there will be much more attractive actors playing the main roles.

And before anyone knew who in the compound had committed suicide and who had been murdered, the focus too had moved from the mind of David Koresh to the behavior of the FBI. This time, the media broke the record for the speed with which we shifted attention from Waco to Washington, from bewildering questions about the Branch Davidians to insider questions about the president's loyalty to the attorney general.

Late at night, one anchor asked Janet Reno if she should resign. Early the next morning another reporter asked if the president should take full responsibility.

Well, I do not share the point of view that sees every event through a political lens focused on only one question: "Was it good for the president?" I don't think that every buck stops on the desk of the Oval Office or that the president is responsible for every irrational force boiled up in a compound with an arsenal and a belief in Armageddon.

I, too, was struck by the miscalculations that led to this tragedy. What happened in Waco was the clash of two irreconcilable cultures. One that talks about "the next logical step," and another that proselytizes a leap of faith into an apocalypse.

One hopes for some "maternal instinct" to save the children from death. Another may believe in "saving" their children even through death.

The believers in legal authority went up against the true believers in a higher authority. It was a mismatch if ever there was one.

But I am less certain than many of the second-thinkers that we should have known how it would turn out. I am even less certain that there was a happy ending on some other, unused, script. If we had waited 81 days or 91 days would they have come out, hands up, children singing? I don't believe so.

If, on the other hand, the children had been killed on the 57th day, or if a mass suicide had been carried out on the 76th day would we have rounded up a fresh crop of experts to explain why the FBI should have stormed the compound much earlier?

Surely a television anchor would have asked then whether the attorney general should resign. And, of course, whether the president should take full responsibility.

I share the desire to unravel the mystery of Waco. What goes awry in one man's psyche, when he decides that he is the Messiah? These are mysteries of the mind and mysteries of madness.

But there is something both bizarre and out of focus in the way blame seems to routinely race back along the television cable wires and bounce off the satellites from the scene of any tragedy to the desk of a president. We seem to have centralized responsibility for every event in the Oval Office.

Our politics have become personalized and the person is the president. There is now a shared delusion or a need to believe that everything is or should be within the government's control. Even the mind of a "messiah."

But the truth is that in the book, in the made-for-TV special, in the upcoming documentary, David Koresh has the pivotal role. The president of the United States is just a bit player.

We weren't even allowed time to be simply appalled.

Mother believed girls were molested, attorney says

By Associated Press

HUNTERTOWN, Ind. — An Allen County woman who confessed to killing her young daughters in a Florida motel room feared the children were being molested and that she would lose her job and her home, relatives and associates said.

Donna J. Brown, 38, of Huntertown feared she was about to lose her job as an assembler at the Philips Industries electronics plant in Auburn for missing work too often to care for her daughters, Carrie Elizabeth, 5, and Casey Renee, 3.

Brown also feared her daughters were being molested despite three police and welfare investigations which concluded otherwise. She also worried about losing her children to their father, Gregory Brown.

"She said she would leave the country before she would let them get hurt by him," said friend Cheryl Rosener, who last talked with the mother a week ago.

Friday, Donna Brown quietly left for Florida with her daughters and on Saturday rented a motel room a mile from Walt Disney World outside Orlando. Within two days, the children were dead, smothered in bed.

No charges have been filed against her. Capt. Larry Taggett of the Ocoola County Sheriff's Department said she was transferred Tuesday from Ocoola Hospital to nearby Charter Hospital, a psychiatric hospital, for observation.

Donna and Gregory Brown were divorced in 1980, and shortly afterward the woman began to have financial and other problems, her mother, Patricia Jenkins, said.

"She only brought home about $200 a week, and she had a lot of medical bills because both girls were asthmatic," Jenkins said. "She was ready to lose the house, her job and her children to her husband."

"Donna loved those babies; they were her whole life." The family was living on food from the emergency food pantry at Calvary Temple Church in nearby Fort Wayne, said its pastor, the Rev. Jerry Clark.

"We provided food from our storehouse for her family, and we also worked with her on how to budget her finances," he said.

Brown's attorney, Howard Hanson of Kendallville, said he had spoken with her Thursday about a hearing scheduled for today. She was emotional, but that "was not unusual," he said. She had been molested as a child and was "taking this very seriously. She was more than just making allegations."

Stan Lesley, Donna Brown's brother, said the girls had told their mother they were touched "on their bottom" by their father and another relative. "The girls said they had been touched but when they went to the counselors they clammed up and wouldn't talk about it," Lesley said.

Gregory Brown could not be reached for comment by telephone Tuesday. His attorney, Linda Peters of Fort Wayne, said she had no comment.

Boxes

from the same location in a matter of weeks.

Sanford police Lt. Dennis Whitmire said almost all of the thefts reported have been in the northern part of the city. "Right around the post office and the downtown area," he said. "Only a few have been stolen in the outlying areas."

Whitmire said he brought the problem up during a recent intelligence meeting between members of all law enforcement agencies in Seminole County. "I asked if anyone had similar problems and no one knew of any," he said.

Each box is valued slightly over $300, not including the amount of coins which may be in the container. "With that value," Whitmire said, "anyone caught taking one of the machines would be subject to a charge of grand theft."

Both Whitmire and Hill said they believe the boxes are being taken by transients, drug users and youngsters. "They are taking these expensive boxes and chopping them open just to get the money out of the coin box," Whitmire said.

"These are well-built boxes," Hill said. "It's not easy to break them open. A person would have to use something pretty powerful in order to break them open.

That's why they are being stolen, then carried off to where the noise won't be heard. They don't really want the boxes, they just want the coins that may be in them, probably for drug money."

Whitmire agreed. "We have found a few of the boxes, all of which had been broken open, out in the wooded areas where the vagrants live," he said.

"What would really help," he said, "is if people would call us any time they see someone removing one of the vendor boxes. Hopefully they could give us a license number or some type of identity so we can stop these thefts."

Beating

It is not yet known how Jenkins planned to evaluate him since his return to work. It is unclear if yesterday's beating was related to that incident.

School officials report that Jenkins would not be in school today, but that she was resting at home.

When Seminole County sheriff's officers arrived at Wekiva Elementary yesterday about 10 minutes after the incident, she was drifting in and out of consciousness.

She was transported to Florida Hospital-North, in Altamonte Springs where she was treated for facial and cranial cuts and bruises, a hospital spokesman said this morning. According to the spokesman, Jenkins was released after it was determined that her skull had not been fractured.

McMillon, 34, turned himself in to sheriff's officials about an hour later and was held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in lieu of $1,000 bond.

He was charged with assault on a school district employee, a third degree felony.

Later in the evening the school board voted unanimously to suspend him once again without pay until the next meeting when he could be terminated.

According to the arrest report, McMillon, of 143 Holderness Dr. in Longwood, was called to Jenkins' office for a 5:20 p.m. meeting to discuss his job performance.

The report noted that Susan Almon, the assistant principal at Wekiva Elementary, was present during the meeting.

She told sheriff's deputies that McMillon had told Jenkins that he wanted to have union representation during the meeting and that Jenkins had asked her to make a written note of that request.

Deputies said they were told that McMillon then "lunged across the desk" and began hitting Jenkins in the face with his fists.

Almon told them that she ran from the room to call for help from 911 and said that she saw Jenkins come to the door of her office where McMillon hit her again before he left the building.

Neither Jenkins nor Almon was available for comment this morning.

by a greater than anticipated increase in materials sent to the Seminole County landfill. "Increased commercial activity and increased weight of collected materials due to rainy weather have contributed to the higher tipping fees," he said.

In making the presentation,

Herman also listed figures for similar collections now being charged in other municipalities. He listed Altamonte Springs at the lowest with a charge of $13 per month, and Oviedo highest at $14.89.

Herman's cost figures for Longwood showed a charge of $14.68. The charges however, will be dropping in the near future. Longwood contracts its solid waste collection to an outside firm. Following complaints from citizens and concern from the commission, a re-bidding was recently called for.

As a result, Longwood will be reducing the charges from $14.68 to $10.95 per month for single-family collection rates, the lowest in the county.

"Our rates will be in the upper level," Herman said this morning, "but I believe we offer many advantages such as allowing up to four cans of solid waste where many put a limit of two."

"We also pick up yard waste at no additional cost and others charge extra for that," he added.

The solid waste rates were last raised in Sanford on Oct. 1, 1992, Herman said that was in keeping with Seminole County's increased rates charged for tipping (truck dumping) at the county's landfill area.

Policy

to pass the policy which will punish students who engage in illegal activities while being involved in extra-curricular activities.

Carrie Bisceglia, a member of the newspaper staff and the cross country team, said that the policy is based on moral and ethical beliefs not on law.

"The school board policy champions segregation," she said. "They are more interested in our manners than in our academic futures."

Beth Pratt, another member of the student newspaper staff, said that she is also a member of five clubs and the varsity softball team.

"I think the school board should spend more time and money on keeping students from skipping class and on raising the minimum grade point average (required for student participation in extra-curricular activities)," she said.

Other students were angered by the board's invasion of their privacy.

"Who is the school board to determine my morals?" asked Terry Simmons, a member of the newspaper staff and the English honors society. "It is the duty of my parents to guide me until I reach full majority. I already have a father and a mother. Two guardians is enough."

Jim Hatfield, an Oviedo busman, called the policy "ridiculous and unenforceable." He added that the students who are involved in extra-curricular activities are among the best students in the schools.

"This policy can not and will not stand," he concluded.

As a future journalist, Jessica Peccino, is concerned that the policy will hamper her ability to write strong stories on controversial subjects.

"How can we ensure the moral quality of our sources if we are going to be required to turn people in (who violate this policy)?" she said.

Board member Nancy Warren said she had "no problems" with the policy.

"The things we ask (extracurricular students) to not do are illegal in this society," she said. "No one is going to be punished if no one violates this policy."

Larry Strickler, another board member, said that he didn't understand why the students were objecting to the policy.

"I think it's much ado about nothing," he said. "There is no requirement for policing or monitoring. And, the policy will provide a way out for students who might get involved in something they shouldn't."

Supt. Paul Hagerty said that he believed some of the students' objections were valid.

"There are some real disadvantages to this policy," he said. "But the advantages far outweigh them. What we are asking the students to do is very simple: obey the law."

Students were irate as they left the school board meeting room.

"Smoke 'em if you got 'em," said one student, pulling a cigarette from a package and handing several out to eager hands. "These could be your last."

Growth

The study focuses on two separate areas along the Interstate 4 corridor between Lake Mary Boulevard and Lake Monroe. The northern "Mall District" is based on the two malls planned for the area: the Seminole Towne Center and the Heathrow Town Center. The "Rice Lake District" takes in the Heathrow-Lake Mary section east and west of I-4.

The 7,527-acre Mall District is bounded by CR 46-A on the south, Orange Boulevard on the west and north, Lake Monroe on the north and northeast, and generally, Persimmon Avenue and the CSX Railroad line on the east.

The study finds the Mall District now has about 10,000 people living in it, but by the year 2010, projections suggest more than 24,000 people will be there. Most of the residents will live west of I-4 in Lake Forest, Heathrow and other subdivisions that are planned for the area. Up to 24,000 people will work in the area by 2015, more than quadruple the current number of about 5,400.

The study suggests the area north of the planned expressway, south of SR 49 and between Rinehart Road and I-4 be the "Town Center" of the area. It should be the transportation "hub" of the area with a "park and ride" facility connecting into a commuter rail service, the interstate and expressway. Public parks and other amenities should be provided.

The study recommends a maximum building height of 120 feet, nearly four times the current limit, in the Town Center. "Walls" of buildings should be encouraged in some internal roadways, the study recommends.

In the Lake Monroe community, the study recommends encouraging primarily residential uses of up to 18 units per acre to provide residences close to the Town Center. The study recommends extending Rinehart Road into the area and widening Monroe Road to five lanes. Other roads in the area are recommended for widening.

In the 4,711-acre Rice Lake District, a current population of about 4,000 people is expected to increase to more than 8,000 by 2010. Again, most of those people will live west of I-4 in planned communities such as Heathrow. A major employment center, the Rice Lake area will treble its workforce from about 11,000 to more than 32,000 by 2015.

The Rice Lake area is bounded by Markham Woods Road on the west, CR 46-A to the north, Rinehart and Lake Emma Roads on the east and Long Pond Drive and Long Pond Road on the south.

Much of the study focus is on the southwest quadrant of the I-4, Lake Mary Boulevard interchange, which is currently unplanned. Most of the other sections are either planned for specific developments or under development.

A proposal for the L&L Acres commerce center in the southwest quadrant has been considered by the county, but is in a redesign phase due to county environmental and traffic concerns.

The study recommends concentrating buildings of up to five stories near the intersection with lower buildings farther away. The study also recommends creation of a large preservation area east of Rice Lake. Developers in the vicinity could be allowed to build a higher concentration of uses in return for preserving portions of the area, the study suggests. The area would be preserved as a park.

Fees

$50,000 or so annually. Consultants said a $50 per unincorporated home fee would raise $50,000 to $55,000 yearly.

Commissioner Larry Furlong had proposed a law enforcement impact fee shortly after his election in 1990. Furlong said few residents should pay their fair share of the expenses caused by population-driven increases in crime and justice. Furlong had also proposed the school impact fee adopted by commissioners last year.

Commissioners are investigating an estimated $30 million proposal to expand the courthouse. Sheriff Don Eslinger said a jail expansion could be needed within two to three years if the Legislature extends the terms of county jail incarcerations to beyond a year.

Impact fee attorney Robert Nabors told commissioners the home fee could be charge for jail expansion, but not for sheriff's policing operations and possibly not for courthouse expansion. Nabors said the fee can only be used for improvements, not for increases in manpower or vehicles. Nabors recommended a "user fee" on traffic tickets or civil case filings to raise money for the courthouse expansion.

Commissioners directed Nabors and consultant Randy Young to further investigate the fees. The county now charges $5,761 per home in road, water, sewer, fire, library and school fees. The builder of a 40,000-square-foot office building pays $135,200 in county impact and connection fees.

Holy flying rodents! Batman is on the way

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Holy Flying Nocturnal Rodents, Batman is coming to Fun World at Flea World.

Well, it's not the caped crusader made famous in comic books, television shows and films. But it IS the real Batman.

Dr. Makeohn Garey, a specialist in the field of bats, spiders, snakes and other "creepy-crawlies" will be visiting Fun World for two consecutive weekends beginning April 30.

Garey, who calls himself a doctor of "Batology" will be swooping into Fun World with 10 Egyptian Fruit Bats, a collection of Emperor Scorpions, several huge Tree Crabs and Tree Frogs and an albino Python.

The live animals will be available for observation and some will be available for petting for those stronger souls who don't shrink from the darker side of the Wild Kingdom.

A video presentation will help educate the public on the positive effect these mysterious creatures have on the environment, on plant and animal life and even on man.

Bats will visit Fun World this weekend.

Garey promises that his presentation will forever change your mind about bats.

Bats, he will explain, do not suck blood or attack your hair. They rarely bite at all and they don't carry rabies.

The flying rodents are one of the finest methods of bug control available to man. One bat, he said, can eat over 600 bugs in a night.

The creatures of the night will be creeping into Sanford's Fun World on U.S. Highway 17-92 on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 30, May 1 and 2 and again on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 7-9.

The continuous shows will begin when Fun World opens at 10 a.m. each day and continue throughout the day.

Aspin said ready to order air combat role for women

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFER
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON — Female pilots could be flying Navy and Air Force warplanes within months and Army combat helicopters within a year under a new directive set to be signed Thursday by Defense Secretary Les Aspin, Pentagon officials say.

The directive also will tell the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps to provide justification if they want to put any battlefield role, including ground combat units, off limits to women.

"It's big, it's a very big move for Aspin to be making," said one senior official, who like the others spoke Tuesday night only on condition of anonymity.

The action means Air Force and Navy women could be in fighter cockpits within months, but female pilots in the Army will have to undergo special training before flying front-line Apache attack helicopters, officials said.

Because the Marines have no women in training in any aviation unit, changes will take longer in that service. The law banning women from warships prevents them from serving on an array of vessels ranging from small frigates to aircraft carriers.

The New York Times published the first account of Aspin's plan in its editions today and the report subsequently was confirmed by Defense Department officials.

Aspin's directive is clearly designed to upgrade the status of women in the military. It comes at a time when the Navy has suffered a black eye resulting from a 1991 convention of the Tailhook Association, a private group of pilots and other supporters of carrier-based aviation.

The Defense Department issued a report last week saying as many as 175 officers could face disciplinary action as a result of the three-day meeting in a Las Vegas hotel in which 83 women were assaulted.

Even before Aspin's plan became known, Adm. Frank Kelso Jr., chief of naval operations, had been preparing to create more postings for women on combat support ships. And Aspin himself had taken note of the Navy's move, expressing concern to reporters that the services should be synchronized in making greater combat roles available to women.

Women in the services have long campaigning for more direct combat roles, but in recent weeks their efforts have been somewhat eclipsed by President Clinton's efforts to drop barriers to homosexuals in the military.

The Defense Department sources said Aspin will direct the services to make "fiscally feasible" changes and has made it clear he wants to avoid expensive renovations to warships to accommodate a small number of women.

"It has to be reasonable," the senior official said. "It doesn't make sense to put women on small ships, such as mine sweepers."

But women flying the Navy's top-of-the-line combat aircraft could be aboard carriers within the year, the official said.

"We have women who are ready to go," the official said.

Clinton warned not to make hasty move in Bosnia

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Clinton failed to find a quick consensus in Congress for tougher steps to end the war in Bosnia amid warnings that he should go slow and that military action risks dragging the United States into another Vietnam.

Administration officials said Clinton still was considering bombing strikes against Serb artillery sites and lifting the embargo on arms for besieged Muslims in Bosnia.

The president met for about three hours Tuesday with Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate and House. Defense Secretary Les Aspin, Secretary of State Warren Christopher, Vice President Al Gore and national security adviser Anthony Lake also participated.

"I must say, after all the work we've done on it, the members in there raised some new questions, some new issues and made some interesting arguments," Clinton said afterward. "It was a good meeting."

An administration official said Clinton did not present a preferred course of action, instead soliciting views from lawmakers.

Frustrated by the refusal of Bosnian Serbs to end a war that has left 134,000 people dead or missing, Clinton had committed himself to a stronger policy in the Balkans, promising a decision in a few days. Tuesday's meeting with members of Congress was part of the process of consulting with lawmakers and allies before announcing a new strategy.

At the Pentagon, Adm. David Jeremiah, the vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, spoke of difficulties of using force — in particular limited air strikes — to end the Serb aggression.

"Hitting tanks spread out against the desert is one thing ... hitting artillery pieces hidden near barns ... schools and civic centers is another," Jeremiah said. "It is not a simple or easy thing to use air strikes against guerrilla warfare units" spread out around the countryside.

Reservations also were expressed after the White House meeting.

Rep. John Murtha, D-Pa., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on defense, said, "There was no consensus, none whatsoever. Opinions from A to Z. I told (Clinton) to stay the hell out of there. I see it as another Vietnam."

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., cautioned Clinton not to make a hasty decision. "I don't believe in arbitrary time limits in decision-making in a matter of this importance," he said. "I think he needs to make sure he makes the right decision."

"I don't think there are easy answers to this," said Nunn, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said he favored lifting the arms embargo on the Muslims. "I was here to indicate my support for whatever judgment he (Clinton) makes," Dole said.

CINCINNATI — Cincinnati left fielder Cecil Espy misplayed Dave Magadan's liner into a three-base error, allowing the winning run to score as the Florida Marlins beat the Reds 4-3.

Orestes Destrade singled with two out in the eighth off Bobby Ayala (0-1), and Magadan followed with a sinking liner to Espy's right. He charged the ball and tried to make a basket catch, but it went under his glove and rolled to the wall, allowing Destrade to score easily.

Trevor Hoffman (1-0) got his first major-league win working three in two innings before yielding to Bryan Harvey, who struck out the last three batters in the ninth for his sixth save.

Rams are county's top seed in 4A-5 tournament

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — According to Lake Mary High School softball coach Jeannie Fisher, the 1993 season keeps getting curiously and curiously.

The latest twist came when the Spruce Creek Hawks were awarded the No. 1 seed in the 4A-District 5 tournament, which cranked up Tuesday night with DeLand playing Mainland for the right to play Spruce Creek tonight.

Traditionally, Seminole County schools have dominated this district. Spruce Creek broke that string by compiling an 11-2 mark against other Class 4A schools this season, including a split with Lake Mary.

"It's been an unusual season," said Fischer, whose team received the No. 2 seed and will host seventh-seeded Oviedo in a 4 p.m. game this afternoon at the Lake Mary Sports Complex.

In other games this afternoon, third-seeded Lyman is at home against sixth-seeded Deltona and fourth-seeded Lake Howell hosts fifth-seeded Lake Brantley.

The semifinals will be played at 6 and 8 p.m. Thursday at Lake Brantley High School with the championship game scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday night at Lake Brantley.

Describing just home competitive this district tournament should be, Fischer pointed out that neither of the Seminole Athletic Conference co-champions (Lake Mary and Lyman) are seeded No. 1 while Oviedo, which was in first place in the SAC as late as April 13, is seeded seventh.

Then there's Lake Howell, traditionally one of the district's best-hitting teams, and Lake Brantley, which has the homefield advantage should the Patriots survive their first round game with the Silver Hawks.

"We knew coming in that Lake Howell was going to have a strong team, hittingwise," said Fischer. "Spruce Creek, Lyman, Lake Mary, Lake Brantley, Oviedo... we all have the potential to be strong hitting teams and be

SANFORD — Two games won with runs in the bottom of the last inning highlighted opening night action in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Spring Slowpitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park Tuesday night.

Myer's Tree Service and Beer:30 got the season started with a bang as, after Myer's rallied for six runs in the top of the seventh inning, Beer:30 got a single and three walks after two were out to force in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning for a 20-19 victory.

Hopkins Meat Packing and Suzanne's also played an exciting game with Renee Lanza singling in the winning run with two out in the bottom of the eighth inning as Hopkins came back from an early 7-3 deficit to win 6-7.

The other game had Papa Joe's pounding out 26 hits during a 17-0 five-inning victory over Vicky's Permit Service.

Doing the damage for Beer:30 were Lannie Monhollen (triple, three singles, two runs, five RBI), Karen Lowman (double, three singles, four runs, two RBI), C.C. Dawson (dou-

Carr scavenges another relief win

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO — Mike Carr scavenged yet another win in relief for the Lake Mary High School baseball team Tuesday night, helping the Rams to a 9-7 victory over the Oak Ridge Pioneers.

Pitching in relief of starter Brian Marotta, Carr worked 2 2/3 innings, allowing one run on one hit while striking out three and walking one to earn the victory. Six of Carr's seven wins this season have come in relief.

Marotta gave up six runs (four earned) on seven hits over 4 2/3 innings, striking out eight and walking two.

Mike Werner led the Lake Mary offense by going 2-for-4 with three runs scored, an RBI, and four stolen bases. Chad Kessler went 2-for-3 with a double, single, one run, and an RBI. Rene Perez doubled, singled, and had an RBI.

Jason Rasmussen hit two singles, stole two bases, and scored a run. Scott Johnston contributed a double and two RBI. Dan Storey and Marotta each chipped with a single and one run scored. Mike Bukey had a single and an RBI.

Cook of the Week

With a low budget, meals can still be adventurous

By RENEE KEITH
Herald Correspondent

"I enjoy making up my own recipes," says Trudy Pugh, Cook of the Week. Single mom of a 3-year-old son and living on a very tight budget doesn't leave much, if any, room for extravagances. So, meal time can often be a downright adventure.

Trudy was born in Indiana; she moved to this area with her family in 1966. Due to childhood disabilities, she is unable to work outside of the home at this time, however, with her upcoming reconstructive hip surgery which she will undergo this summer, Trudy has hopes of being leading a richer and more productive lifestyle.

Trudy's primary focus when it comes to cooking is nutrition. Although there are many other considerations especially when you're trying to please the palate of 3-year-old Ryan, nutritional balance will always be the most important factor.

Ryan, as Trudy states, "a very picky eater." She's read many articles and has picked up on several good ideas that she's tried and was really amazed at how applying the simplest methods can and do work. For instance, "taking and cutting a sandwich or cheese slices into triangles can make the difference between Ryan finding the food appealing or if he'll just decide to give it to the family pet before he has even tried it."

Trudy's recipes are a collection gathered over the years from cookbooks, magazines, friends and family. She'll add a little of her own flare and come out with a new slant to an old recipe. A well-received family recipe is Carol's Lasagne. This is a creation from Trudy's sister, Carol. "A tight or fixed budget should never mean that one has to compromise on nutrition," says Trudy. A few of the ways that she had found that will help the food budget is buying meat in larger quantities. Most often, you'll find the price per pound is less and by separating the meat into smaller portions you can freeze the rest and have it readily available. "Coupons are a must and a 'can't be beat' method when it comes to saving money," says Trudy. As she goes through the newspaper clipping coupons, along the way she will often find one or two new recipes she hasn't tried.

That's where she found the recipe for Mini-Meat Loaf "I could have never turned out a good meat loaf until I tried this recipe." "It takes very few ingredients, but it's a crowd pleaser every time."

CAROL'S LASAGNE

- 1 1/2 lbs. lean ground beef
 - 1 onion, chopped
 - 4 garlic cloves, chopped
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. pepper
 - 1/2 tsp. oregano
 - 1/2 tsp. basil
 - 1/2 tsp. rosemary
 - 1/2 tsp. crushed red pepper
 - 1/2 tsp. Italian seasoning
 - 1/2 tsp. thyme
 - 2 bay leaves
 - 1 12 oz. can tomato paste, add 1 can water
 - 1 15 oz. can tomato sauce, add 1 can water
 - Extra water and seasonings if needed
 - 3/4 cup Mozzarella cheese, grated
 - 3/4 cup Monterey Jack cheese, grated
 - 3/4 cup Muenster cheese, grated
 - 1 cup cottage cheese
 - 1 8 oz. package of Lasagne noodles

May Day Brunch set May 2

A May Day Brunch, sponsored by the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., will be held on Sunday, May 2, from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center. The menu will include Denver baked eggs, sausage, Danish, gravy and biscuits, grits, orange juice and coffee. Tickets, available at the door or from any club member, are $3.50, adults, and $1.50, children under 12. The public is welcome. Some of the hostesses are front row (from left): Isabel Wilson, Fran Morton and Viola Frank. Back row (from left): Hazel Cash, Emily Sokol, Eve Rogero and Winifred "Bill" Gielow.

Ground beef delicious in variety of family recipes

There have been many times when I have taken some ground meat from the freezer in the morning with nothing particular to do with at the time, but knowing that by the middle of the day or thereabouts I would have decided what the evening meal would be using that ground meat. There are so many, many delicious recipes that are built on a pound or more of ground meat. I prefer ground chuck or ground round because the flavor seems to be best. I also prefer the meat to be lean for dietary reasons. The recipes in today's column are good family recipes that would appeal to young children and teenagers as well as the adults.

MICROWAVE MAGIC

This is always a good one-dish meal that takes little time to prepare.

JOHNNY MARZETTI

- 1 lb. ground chuck, crumbled
- 1 cup onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup celery, chopped
- 1/4 cup green pepper, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, chopped
- 1 tsp. Italian seasoning
- 1 1/2 cups, can tomatoes, chopped
- 1/4 cup tomato paste
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 Tbsp. parsley
- 1 8-oz. pkg. elbow macaroni, cooked and drained
- 1 cup Cheddar cheese, grated generous servings. Place on sandwich buns.

Not all meatballs are Italian or Swedish. A German meatball that tastes like Sauerbraten (sour meat) is full-flavored and makes a hearty meal.

SAUERBRATEN MEATBALLS

- 1 lb. ground chuck
- 3/4 cup soft breadcrumbs
- 1/4 cup onion, finely chopped
- 2 Tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 Tbsp. water
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 10-oz. can beef bouillon
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 3/4 cup gingersnap crumbs
- 1 8 oz. package egg noodles, cooked and mixed with 4 Tbsp. butter and 1 tsp. poppy seeds
- Combine meat, breadcrumbs, onion, lemon juice, 2 tablespoons water, salt and pepper. Shape into 12 meatballs.

Place in 8 1/2 x 11-inch, oblong baking dish. Cover with wax paper. Microwave on 100 percent power 7-9 minutes. Rearrange meatballs, halfway through cooking.

Remove meatballs. To drippings add 1/2 cup water, bouillon, sugar, raisins, lemon juice, and gingersnap crumbs. Microwave on 100 percent power 3-5 minutes or until sauce thickens, stirring once. Return meatballs to sauce. Microwave, uncovered, 5-8 minutes on 100 percent, spooning sauce over meat and rearranging once. Serve with noodles.

Prepare Cheesy Double-Corn Bread in minutes and reheat in the microwave.

Microwave a batch of quick, tasty corn bread

Microcooked breads and muffins are moist, light and ready to enjoy in a fraction of the usual baking time. Cheesy Double-Corn Bread is an excellent choice for microwave "baking" because of its appetizing yellow color and cheese topping. The hearty corn flavor makes this bread a delicious companion to beef or poultry main dishes. Cut and reheat individual wedges in the microwave oven when the first of the meal is ready to serve.

CHEESY DOUBLE-CORN BREAD

- (8 servings)
- 1 cup all purpose flour
 - 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
 - 3 tablespoons sugar
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 egg
 - 1/2 cup cream style corn

- 1/4 cup margarine or butter, melted
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 3/4 cup shredded Co-Jack or American cheese, divided
1. Stir together flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder and salt. Set aside.
 2. In medium-size bowl, beat egg slightly. Stir in corn, margarine and milk. Add flour mixture, stirring to combine. Stir in 1/2 cup of the cheese. Spread batter evenly in ungreased 8-inch round glass baking dish.
 3. Microwave at Medium (50%) for 6 minutes, rotating dish a half turn after 3 minutes. Then microwave at High (100%) for 3 to 3 1/2 minutes longer or until wooden pick inserted in several places comes out dry. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Let stand at least 10 minutes before cutting into wedges.

Cook

1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
Sauté onion, garlic in olive oil. Add hamburger, salt, pepper, oregano, basil, rosemary, crushed red pepper, Italian seasoning, thyme. Mix and brown. Add tomato paste, tomato sauce, water and bay leaves. Simmer about 4 hours.

Cook lasagne noodles according to package directions. In 13x9 inch baking pan, layer sauce, noodles, sauce with one half of cottage cheese, Parmesan cheese and grated cheeses. Repeat sequence until all noodles are used. Top with any remaining cheese and bake at 375°-400° until cheese turns brown. Let cool 15 minutes before serving.

MINI MEAT LOAF

1 egg
1/4 cup ketchup
1/4 cup sweet and sour sauce
2 Tbsp. brown mustard
1 Tbsp. soy sauce
1/4 tsp. pepper, optional
1 lb. lean ground beef
1/2 cup uncooked oats
Mix egg, ketchup, sweet and sour sauce, mustard, soy sauce and pepper. Preheat oven to 375°. Add ground beef and oats. Mix and mold into a heart, round, or traditional rectangular-shaped loaf. Bake 25-30 minutes. Yields 4-6 servings.

CHICKEN-BROCCOLI MUFFIN MEAL

4 oz. boneless and skinless chicken breast (about 1/4 breast)
1/2 cup chopped broccoli stems
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 Tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
1/4 cup evaporated milk
2 eggs
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground pepper
Poach chicken in boiling water over medium-high for 6 to 8 minutes. Cook thoroughly. Heat oven to 400°. Coat muffin pan with nonstick spray. Put all ingredients in food processor and pulse to coarse. Spoon into muffin cups. Bake for 40 minutes, firm to touch and light golden brown. Serve cool enough to eat. Makes 6 muffins. (The muffins can be served cold as well with slices of fruit or tomato.)

CHILI PIE

2 tsp. olive oil
1 lb. lean ground beef
1 packet chili seasoning mix
1 can (1 lb.) kidney beans, drained
1 can (1 lb.) crushed tomatoes, drained
2 boxes (8 1/2 oz. each) cornbread mix

Heat oven to 375°. Heat olive oil in large skillet, add ground beef and brown, stirring frequently. Add chili mix and cook according to package directions. Add kidney beans and tomatoes, cook for 10 minutes. Turn chili mixture into a 2-quart casserole. Prepare cornbread batter according to package, spread on top of the chili. Bake 20-25 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

COWBOY COOKIES

1 cup margarine (softened)
1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 Tbsp. vanilla
1/2 Tbsp. baking powder
1 Tbsp. baking soda
2 cups flour
2 cups oats
1 cup peanut butter
Raisins, nuts, chocolate chips (all optional)
Cream first 7 ingredients well. Add flour, oats and peanut butter and optional items if desired, mixing well before each addition. Drop tablespoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheets and bake at 350° about 12 minutes (ovens may vary as to baking time.)

Dad deserves credit for swatting name-calling son

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter about the divorced father who slapped his 14-year-old son across the cheek for calling him a nasty name. I say, "Hurray for Dad!" I would have slapped the kid, too — and after he called me a nastier name the second time, I would have made him drop his trousers and warmed his butt with my leather belt.

ANOTHER DAD
DEAR DAD: That's where you and I part company. Responding to a teen-ager's disrespect with violence teaches him that violence is the only response.

However, I do think there is an age, and a time, when a swat on the rear is appropriate. Rea.Lon:

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in reference to the letter signed "Lucky Father," who gave his 8-year-old son's behind a whack in public. Hooray for him for taking responsibility for his son's unacceptable behavior. One quick swat on the butt does not constitute child abuse. Just ask my 3-year-old, as he has received a few on various occasions, and in no way has he ever been abused.

There are times (always in

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"Mrs. Downey."
Try the name "Self." We have had mail sent to us as "Elf," "Selsa," "Felsa," "Pelf," and our son, whose name is Brian Self, actually received a package in the mail addressed to "Brain Cells!"
We get a laugh out of all these variations on our name. Having a sense of humor helps.

DEAR ABBY: Can you handle another fractured name? My son changed his address, and telephoned a department store to inform it of the change. When asked what his middle name was, he said "Stephen — with a p-h."

Sure enough, his next bill was addressed to "Mr. R. Pheven Angle."

Our goals at Food Lion are Extra Low Prices and Great Customer Service. To help make sure you receive great customer service at Food Lion, we are offering two new guarantees. They are our scan guarantee and parcel pick-up guarantee.

SCAN GUARANTEE Each Food Lion store uses scanners to help speed you through check-out. The use of scanning reduces labor costs and helps Food Lion keep prices extra low. Scanners are more accurate than the traditional method of a cashier entering the price of each item. However, if you are charged a higher price for the item than the price on the shelf tag for that item, you get one item free (excluding alcohol and tobacco).

PARCEL PICK-UP GUARANTEE Many years ago, Food Lion devised a way to more efficiently load your groceries into your car. We call it Parcel Pick-Up. With parcel pick-up, you simply bring your car to the front of the store. Within 30 seconds, one of our friendly store personnel will be available to place the groceries into your car. If you do not receive attention within 30 seconds, Food Lion will give a $2 Food Lion gift certificate.

GARAGE SALE GUIDELINES

- 1. Advertise what people want. Children's clothing, shoes, collectibles, toys, books and antiques are the most popular items. 2. Make it convenient to shop at your garage sale. Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors. 3. Make it easy to pay. Have plenty of change and a system for handling. Make sure you possess an ID card at all times at a centralized location preferably with a calculator or adding machine. 4. Provide prices. Do not make every person ask. "How much is this?" Prices make for quick, effective sales or a good place for customers to start bargaining. 5. Get an early start. Set up displays the evening before, if possible. 6. Departmentalize. Separate the merchandise into bins from the more costly areas. Group furniture, clothing, toys, lawn equipment and other items together. 7. Specialize. Establish one area for "Under $5", another for "Under $1". Consider having a bin of items that are "FREE with purchase of $5". Remember the youngsters, too. Encourage the use of small, low-priced items that are popular for this purpose. 8. Time your sale carefully! Have it at a time when most people are at home and unconcerned with special events. 9. Complete your effort! Incorporate your sale with a shopping for more variety and greater profits. 10. Be a good neighbor. Don't make a mess. Don't play loud music. Each time you list an item, you are broadening the list of potential customers.

NOTICE FOR BID. NOTICE IS HEREBY given that sealed bids will be received by Seminole Community College at the Administration Building, District Board of Trustees Meeting Room A-108, Sanford, Florida, 2:00 PM on May 18, 1993, at which time bids will be opened for the construction of:

Project: Maintenance Facility Seminole Community College Sanford Campus Bids must be submitted to Andrew J. Vavreck, Vice President, Administration and Financing, Seminole Community College, Room J-207, 100 Walden Blvd., Sanford, Florida 32773-6199. Any bid received after the specified time and date will not be considered.

A Pre-Bid Conference will be held for the purpose of providing an overview of the project and to answer any questions which might arise. All bidders are requested to meet on 27 April 1993 at 2:00 PM, on the Sanford Campus of Seminole Community College, Administration Building, District Board of Trustees Meeting Room A-108.

The Bid Documents have been prepared by Stotter Slagg & Associates, Architects, Engineers, Planners, Inc., 334 N. Orange Avenue, Orlando, Florida 32801. Copies of Plans and Specifications may be obtained by General Contractors from Canaveral Technographics Co., 6445 Astronaut Blvd., Cape Canaveral, Florida 32920, for a deposit of $100.00 per set. The telephone number is (407) 783-1473.

Any successful bidder, upon returning such set within 48 (48) days after the opening of the bids, or before, and in good condition will be refunded one-half their deposit. General Contractors may receive a total of two (2) sets on deposit. Additional sets may be purchased at $80.00. All other contractors, suppliers and manufacturers may review plans and specifications in local plan rooms and Builders Exchanges or purchase partial sets of plans and specifications at the cost of $1.25 per sheet of plans and $2.50 per page of specification. The cost of additional full sets and partial documents is not refunded.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a bid bond in the amount of 5% of the base bid payable to Seminole Community College, as evidence of good faith and guaranteeing that the successful bidder will execute and furnish to Owner a Performance Bond and Labor and Material Payment Bond meeting the standards outlined in the specifications for 100% of the contract price. The 100% bond shall be provided by the successful bidder within 10 (10) days after being awarded the contract, said bond guaranteeing the performance and payment of said contract, the amount of said bond to be paid by the said contractor. Each bid shall be made in strict accordance with the instructions to bidders and all applicable conditions and requirements specified in the project bid and contract documents. Bid and Bid Bonds shall be sealed in a single envelope marked clearly with the project name and the bidding contractor's name.

Each successful bidder, if any, will be notified after the client has awarded the contract. The Contractor will be required to complete said project within the time set forth in the contract documents. The Contractor reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any information or irregularities of bids, or to accept any bid in part. Publish: April 14, 21, 28, 1993 DED-199

CHANGES ARE MADE IN DETERMINATIONS OF THE UNINCORPORATED AREA OF OSCEOLA COUNTY, FLORIDA. BASE FLOOD ELEVATIONS UNDER THE NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM. On May 3, 1991, the Federal Emergency Management Agency identified Special Flood Hazard Areas in Seminole County, Florida, through issuance of a Flood Insurance Rate Map.

The Administrator, Federal Emergency Management Agency, has determined that modification of the base flood elevations (base flood) for certain locations in Seminole County, Florida, is appropriate. The modified base flood elevations amend the Federal Emergency Management Agency Flood Insurance Rate Map for the community.

These modifications to the effective Flood Insurance Rate Map reflect a change in the base flood elevations (base flood) for certain locations in Seminole County, Florida, and a narrowing and a widening of the floodplain for Lake Myrtle. These revisions are based on an updated hydrologic analysis of Lake Myrtle and updated topographic information for the area surrounding Lake Myrtle. The revised base flood elevations are as follows:
