

Celebrating Abe Lincoln's birthday

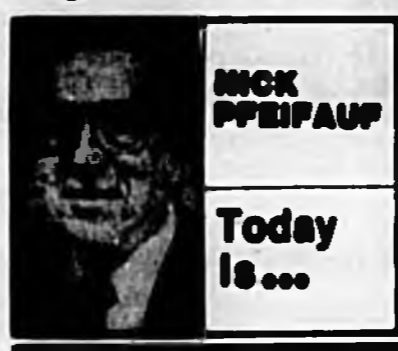

SANFORD — At local Christian churches as well as throughout the world, the season of Lent begins today. It's known as Ash Wednesday. Today is also the 188th anniversary of the birth of the 16th President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, Feb. 12, 1809.

With both Lincoln and George Washington being born in February, Congress decreed, some time back, that we observe both birthdays on "Presidents' Day" thereby reducing some of the traditional holidays.

Lincoln was born in a log cabin on a farm in what was then considered Hardin Co., Ky. (now called Larcue). He moved to Spencer Co. Ind. when he was seven, and to Macon Co., Ill. when he was 21.

As for Lent, the observation consists of a period of fasting and penitence (40 weekdays and six Sundays, with Saturday considered as a weekday). The period ends on the Saturday before Easter.

Some people go all out for Ash Wednesday. In Gradoli, Italy, on Ash Wednesday they conduct a Purgatory Banquet. Gourmands gather for a banquet of penitence for the souls in purgatory. The event is held on the premises of the local winery.

NICK PFEIFAUF

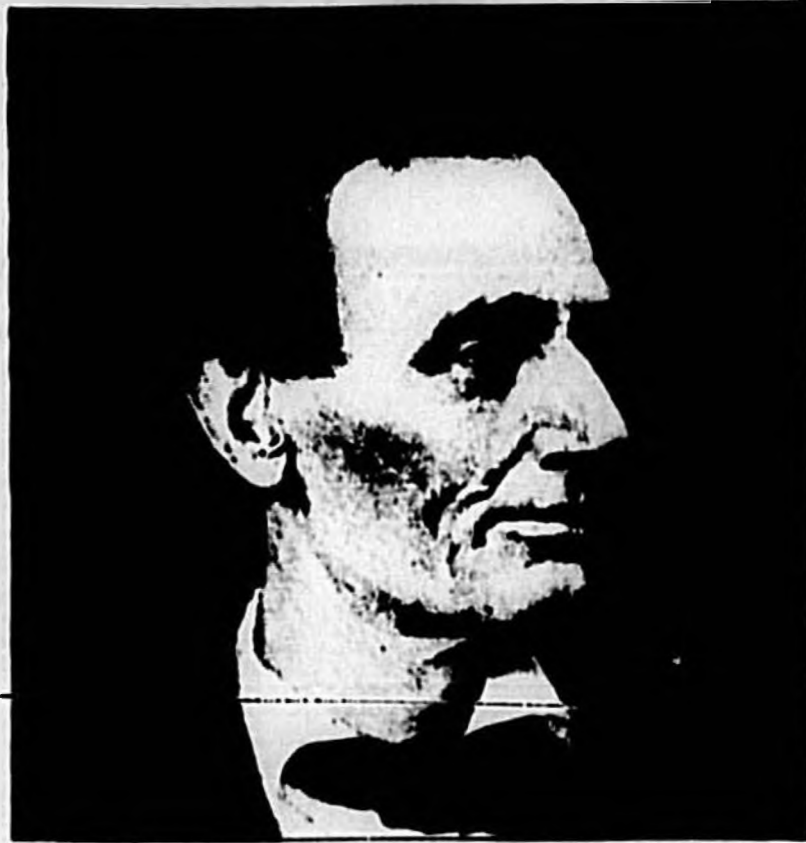

Today is...

And to save looking it up, "gourmands" are people, "who like good food and drink, often to excess." (Webster's).

In some areas, today is "Lost Penny Day." (that makes cents). People are supposed to gather all of those pennies they have laying around, put them together, and donate them to their nearest Humane Society. Sounds like an excellent idea in Sanford as well as elsewhere in the nation.

The Puna Corps in Falls Church, Va., says today is "Nothing Day." This is to help people filling out job applications to determine what to put in spaces they would otherwise have left empty. Fill up that blank space and hopefully get that job.

In historical birthdays, in addition to Lincoln, Author and naturalist Charles Darwin was born in England in 1809. Labor leader John L. Lewis was born in Iowa in 1880.

For today's birthdays, actor Joe Don Baker is 61; sports-caster Joe Garagiola is 71; comedian Arsenio Hall turns 42; basketball Hall of Fame Center and former coach Bill Russell is 63, and film director Franco Zeffirelli is 74.

Mom needs to have the backbone to say no

DEAR ABBY: I have a major problem and don't know how to get out of this situation. I seem to be another parent's answer to free day care.

This woman calls me frequently to pick up her son from school. At first she told me her son hated the day care he went to and she had promised him he wouldn't have to go — adding that her meeting had run longer than she thought it would, and if I could pick him up that would be really great. I did it several times.

Now she says she has taken him out of day care all together, and he'll just have to go to a friend's after school; that it shouldn't be much of a problem because it will only be once a month. I know she wanted me to offer, but I didn't because her child is very difficult.

She has started calling me at 2:50, right before I'm about to leave to get my son from school, saying her meeting ran long and asking me to get him for her. If I refuse, saying I have things I have to do, she gives me the third degree and asks why I can't take him along.

ADVICE

My youngest is enrolled in a drop-in program so that when I have a doctor's appointment I don't have to take him with me. That way there's less stress on the doctor and me. Yet, I find myself taking another person's child with me, which is more stressful than taking my 21-month-old because he, at least, minds to some extent. This other child will do nothing I ask him to do.

Abby, her son says words my son is not allowed to say, and he throws my son's expensive toys when he doesn't get his own way. My older son has asked me to please stop bringing this child home with us, and I have tried — but his mother will not take no for an answer. What should I do?

HAD ENOUGH IN TEXAS

DEAR HAD ENOUGH: This woman will continue to take advantage of you until you develop the backbone to tell her bluntly that you are no longer willing to be used in the way she is using you. You owe her no explanations and no excuses. You are treating her as you would a friend. But friendship is a two-way street, and she is not a friend — she is a user.

What's sad about this is that the person who is suffering because of her lack of time and parenting skills is a little boy who is turning into a social pariah. But that's not your problem.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle something between my mother and me. I always wash new clothes before I wear them. My wife also washes her clothes and our twins' before they are worn.

My mother says this is ridiculous and unnecessary. I say that one doesn't know what the garments have been exposed to, or who has handled them or tried them on. She says I am the only one in the world who thinks this way.

In my way all that unusual? I have a small stack of new clothes that await your answer.

DALE GAMMELL, OMAHA, NEB.

DEAR DALE: No. Your way is not all that unusual. However, most people who like the look and feel of new clothes are reluctant to wash them. Others like you, who worry about where and on what clothes have been, or who prefer to launder their own clothes wearing them. To each his own.

Day of Discovery

The Space Shuttle Discovery blasted off from Cape Canaveral, to make repairs to the Hubble telescope. The view of the Hubble from Sanford, as Discovery headed up and east, gave the appearance of an arch of light.

High court says Hall can't kill himself

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

TALLAHASSEE - The State Supreme Court told AIDS victim Charles Hall on Tuesday that he is no longer free to kill himself with his doctor's assistance. The high court agreed to hear Hall's arguments in favor of physician-assisted suicide and set a hearing for early May. This is little comfort to Hall, who is seriously ill and could die before then, his attorney said.

"It's possible he (Hall) may live through May...but I believe he will not live to see this case resolved," said Robert Rivas, a Boca Raton attorney. "I just feel terrible for Charles Hall."

Judge S. Joseph Davis of Lake Mary, ruled on Jan. 31 in West Palm Beach that Hall did have the right to physician-assisted suicide, marking the first such ruling in the nation. The state immediately appealed the decision.

If Hall dies before he has his day before the state Supreme Court, supporters of physician-assisted suicide will be back at square one.

Hall, 35, of Beverly Hills, Fla. contracted AIDS through a blood transfusion and has battled pneumonia, arthritis, partial blindness, a brain cyst and other AIDS related illnesses. Once a sturdy 170-pounder, he now weighs little more than 100 pounds. His condition, his attorney said, is "pretty bleak...he is very sick."

Dream of an auction for education breaks records

By JENNIFER EDWARDS
Herald Staff Writer

This year's Seminole Community College Foundation's 13th annual Dream Auction raised about $140,000. College officials are saying this is a 28 percent increase over last year.

"This is probably about $25,000 better than we ever have done before," said SCC Director of Institutional Advancement William H. Baker.

The auction was held Friday at the Hilton in Altamonte Springs. The SCC Foundation sponsors three kinds of auctions yearly—silent, board and live. The traditional live auction is led by Art Grindie, one of the auction originators.

This year, Grindie took a moment to acknowledge the memory of William Schaffner, who worked with him to create the fund-raising dream over 13 years ago. Schaffner, along with his wife Dede, was an avid supporter of the college and fundraiser. Last year's auction was dedicated to his efforts; Schaffner lost a battle with cancer in August.

The purpose of the Foundation is to seek, receive and administer gifts to promote and support education.

Individuals and businesses donated vacation adventures to Australia, Alaska and Ireland. One new offering this year was a 13-day residential program at the Pitkin Institute in Miami Beach.

The $140,000 comes from a purchased at the event, orate table proceeds and matching state dollars. The money will go into an endowment fund for scholarships and enrichment programs for SCC students.

This year, students received an extra bonus—money from establishing endowing teaching chairs also will go into the Foundation. Set up to recognize excellent instructors, these chairs are established by $100,000-60 percent of the money comes from a private donation. The state will contribute the remaining 40 percent with lottery funds.

The first chair was established by Sprint. Friday evening, SCC President E. Ann McGee made a surprise announcement: a second chair had been funded by Sun Trust Bank.

The goal of this endowment is to eventually establish 14 chairs made up of approximately 10 percent of full-time faculty members. Selection will be very competitive, according to Baker: "The most outstanding professors will be the ones who benefit from it—and, of course, the students."

Chair occupants will not be chosen immediately, according to Baker. Guidelines for these seats will be developed next year for the faculty, he said. "We won't know for some time exactly which teachers will occupy them," he said.

SCC's Phi Theta Kappa, Phi Beta Lambda, Honors program and Women's Basketball served as volunteers at the Dream Auction. Faculty, staff and community members also volunteered.

Auction co-chair dedicated to Sanford business and schools

By JENNIFER EDWARDS
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Community College's Dream Auction was chaired this year by a second-generation supporter with strong business ties to Sanford.

Brent Adason, along with his wife, Patricia, were co-chairs with Randy and Sharon Berridge. In the late '80s, Adason's parents, Duke and Donna, also chaired the annual fund-raising event for students' scholarships and programs.

In addition to fund raising for education, Adason, 36, operates a Sanford business that has been an economic staple for the community for 37 years. He is the owner and CEO of Rich Plan Corp., a health food supplier and service.

Located at 410 W. 13th St., this business supplies approximately 8-10,000 customers. Company services include food delivery and appliances—anything that has to do with cooking," according to Adason. Rich Plan serves customers state wide as well as employing nearly 60 Sanford citizens.

Supporting the college and Sanford is a vested interest for Adason. "If I went anywhere else in Seminole County, I could not get the feeling of a small-town community as I do in Sanford," he said. "But business and success is not seen as being related to Sanford success. I feel the need to stay and be a part of the Sanford community."

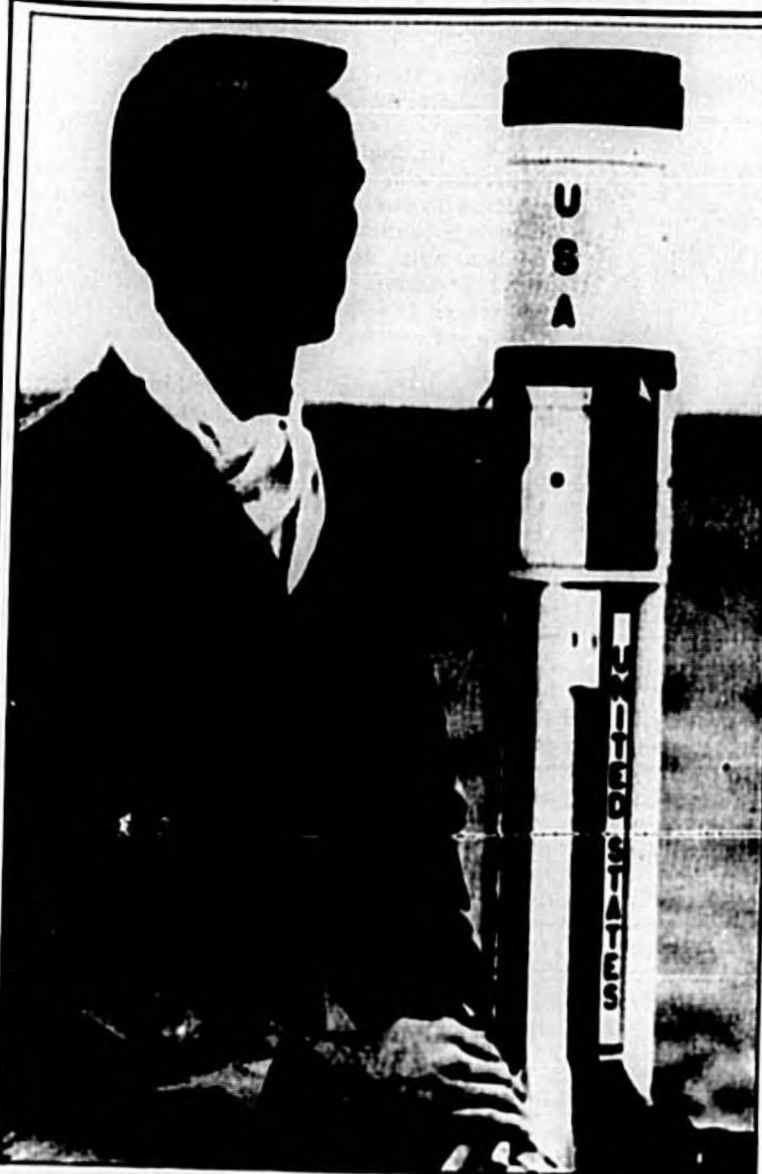

Adason credited SCC President E. Ann McGee for involving the business community in raising college funds. "She's such an involved, dynamic leader," he said. "Working the auction is an easy fund-raising job because the community loves the college."

He said he enjoyed his duties at the microphone Friday night: "I'm a ham, anyway!" On a more serious note, Adason said he is looking forward to new Sanford leaders Mayor Larry Dale and the city commission to improve and expand the city. "We need to think positive," he said. "Everyone wants change—we do not know what we want, but we know we want something better." Although the downtown courthouse expansion will help revitalization, Adason said establishing the light rail transit station will bring more businesses to the area. "Sanford is a working man's town, and it is always going to be that way," he said. "I hope it does not become a welfare town. We have to decide what is going to be best for us. Otherwise, it will be decided for us, and we may not like the result."

In celebration

Astronaut Walter Cunningham will visit Lake Mary High School as a part of the Black History Month celebration. Cunningham is currently the managing general partner with Genesis Venture Partners. While with NASA, he was the pilot of Apollo VII and served as Chief of the Skylab Astronauts. He will be speaking at LMHS on Thursday, Feb. 13 from 12:20 to 1:15 p.m. and from 1:20 until 2:15 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

POLICE BRIEFS

What's in a name? Add Social Security to list

BOSTON--A few years ago, I started a small file of those items in American life that do not live up to their billing. This project was inspired by my word guru Frank Mankiewicz and his brother's piece of pie.

One day, this brother had gone up to a racetrack vendor boasting "Hot Meat Pie" in

"This is a country with zero tolerance for certain kinds of risk."

State of the County

Next Tuesday morning, Feb. 18, 7:30 a.m., Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris is scheduled to give a State of the County address before a gathering of the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

While the meeting is open to the public, the cost is $12 for members and $25 for non-members, with reservations required (426-2570).

It is good the chamber is holding this event, because we firmly believe the citizens of the county deserve to hear of its future, its potential progress, and perhaps a few pitfalls as well.

Unfortunately, except for press coverage, the general public will not hear Morris' opinions and projections as delivered before the Chamber. Even with what the people will learn about the State of the County, the entire speech cannot be presented by the media due to a lack of space and/or time.

This Sunday however, the Sanford Herald will be publishing its annual Progress Edition. In it are points of view from various areas, including county officials, regarding hopes for the future. Most officials who have helped compile this special edition paint a relatively rosy picture, but a few caution about potential difficulties en route to achieving these goals.

Commission Chairman Morris is included in the reports on the county, and we highly suggest this edition be closely studied.

Naturally, as with any government entity, progress is always sought. Officials want more industry, preferably clean and quiet industry, with plenty of job opportunities and above-normal salaries.

They want a higher tax structure to obtain more money to pay for law enforcement, road maintenance and construction, and other needs of a community.

Reading (in advance) the stories to be presented in this edition, we know people will be pleased with the promise for the future.

For those who can, attend the Seminole County Chamber's breakfast meeting next week. And for one and all, we highly recommend not just reading, but studying this Sunday's Progress Edition of the Sanford Herald. There's a pot of gold at the end of the Seminole County rainbow, but it's going to take every government body, every board, committee and organization, as well as every individual citizen, to bring it about.

Let's work together and help bring all the promises for a brighter future into existence.

LETTER

Get involved

Was there a crime of non-feasance committed against the public concerning the proposed charter amendment on the ballot during the last city elections?

This question was driven home as I stood outside the Supervisor of Elections office in the crowd awaiting the election results. I asked a gentleman if he could tell me anything about the proposed charter amendment that Sanford residents had voted on that day.

His reply was, "I am a candidate, and I don't have a clue! I tried to find out. I find it incredible that no one seems to know, and yet it was voted on!"

That young man was Brady Lesard, now Commissioner Leeward, District 1.

I am confident that under the new mayor/commissioner group that situations like the above will not happen again. This team is able, and seem willing to provide us with a responsible and responsive city government, but they need help from the public.

They need constructive criticism, constructive ideas and a participatory public.

If you can, attend a commission meeting. Address the commissioners. Drop a question, opinion or concern to the local newspaper. Get involved in a community group or service.

Give the commission the tools to do the job they promised during their campaign, and our voices for their consideration.

colorful letters on his cart. He bit into the crust and hit a very cold piece of carne. But when he complained, the man dismissed him airily. "Hot Meat Pie," the man exclaimed, "that's just the name of the pie."

Since then I have collected the "One-Hour Cleaner" that didn't, the "World's Best Hot Dog" that wasn't, and the "Fresh Frozen Fish." You get the idea.

Now I am afraid I'll have to add Social Security to the file. Security? That's just the name of the program.

Recently, the Advisory Council on Social Security released a multiple choice answer to the single question on the future of the country's huge retirement plan. The one thing that all three groups agreed upon was that some large, larger, or largest portion of the pension fund should go into the stock market.

In short, they seemed to concur that the way to save security was to risk it.

Now I am not a child of the Depression. I harbor no genetic memory of the Crash of 1929 and have long ago repressed the deep dip of 1987. I don't fuse Wall Street and Las Vegas into the same gambling arena. But even in a long, bull market, I have a dim sense of the physics of stock market economics: What goes up must come down. And I know this is a matter of some gravity.

This is a country with zero tolerance for certain kinds of risk.

The day after the Social Security report, 400,000 dolls were recalled by the manufacturer because a few bad Cabbage Patch kids had eaten a handful of hair. A great uproar is under way because of the unintended un-safety of air bags intended for safety.

At the same time, more and more of us are betting on the stock market. We're already betting the nest eggs and the offspring's tuition, the hope for a roof over our heads and for a comfortable hold.

Today, one out of every three Americans has money in the market. This isn't extra money that we're taking a flier on but money that we need. It's there because the bank's interest isn't going to send the kids to college. It's there because we may leave work without a golden handshake or a company pension.

In the last decade, with hardly a peep of protest, all sorts of companies that once paid monthly checks to retirees switched to 401 (k) plans. Instead of getting a pension, we get to build a portfolio.

All that money going into stocks helped build the bull market which in turn helped hide the fact that bull-riding can be a dicey avocation. Still, as Joseph Nocera writes in The Washington Monthly, investors on Main Street "are more nervous than grateful."

Do we want to up the ante and the anxiety by throwing the nation's retirement funds into the market?

We all know the deal with Social Security by now. It's the demographics, stupid. We have fewer workers and more retirees. By 2040, the ratio will be 2 to 1, the surplus will be gone and the program short of change.

Most solutions from raising rates or the age of retirement to means-testing or cost-of-living juggling--some of which are in the council's report--are politically unpleasant or impossible. It would be nice to believe we could make up the shortfall the easy way, by putting Social Security money in a rising stock.

There's just one problem. Do you remember the scariest seven words in the computer language: "Booner or later every hard disc crashes." Nocera echoes that with the unlucky 13 in financial lingo: "...this bull market will end, as every other bull market has eventually ended."

At least, one option on the table insures that the government would make up the difference in payments if the market fell. But try that on a balanced budget. Another option would allow individuals to roll all but a subsistence minimum on Wall Street. What happens to those who come up with snake eyes?

The risks of a falling market are far greater than the risk of getting your hair eaten by a doll. Betting on the market isn't a solution; it's just a wager.

Social Security isn't supposed to be a national lottery. We're talking about a trust fund. Or is that just the name of it?

In this program are from broken homes, they need nurturing and support."

The students seem to think Cook does a good job providing that kind of support. Ronda Mains, a junior, says, "He takes charge and uses new ideas. He walks around and helps. He learns with you. He and Mr. Whitman are a really good match together."

Cook's current project, developing the senior park into a multi-purpose facility with a gazebo, stage, barbecue grills and a picnic area, offers the students the opportunity to put to the test the skills they have been learning in the classroom. The students are involved in every aspect of the project including planning, cost analysis, and fund raising. The students will also be responsible for the care and maintenance of the park after its completion. Both Cook and Whitman stressed the importance of this type of hands on learning, saying that traditional classroom learning does not adequately prepare young adults for the challenges they face in the real world.

The students said they like this approach to education. About 12 of them recently spent their lunch period in the classroom, discussing the details of the ambitious park project. Each student listened intently to the discussion and the level of maturity and intelligence they displayed was more akin to college than high school students. According to Whitman, this should come as no surprise. All of the students in the program have chosen to participate. Some have had academic problems in the past, but all are focused on improving themselves. Three of the students left Seminole High School temporarily to attend Seminole Community College's adult high school program, but returned because of the opportunities offered by the COMPAC program.

Cook said he chose to volunteer for the program for a number of reasons, but giving something back to the community was number one. When he began looking for a way to help kids, he decided against becoming involved in any program that emphasized one on one relationships because of his alien status. "I didn't want to take on one kid because if I were asked to leave the U.S., it would be just one more letdown for a kid by an adult."

Cook has applied for citizenship here so that he can continue his volunteer work at the school and possibly become a full time employee. That would be just fine with Whitman who said, "Cook can out-teach just about anyone I've seen."

Ronda Mains agreed. "He's great! I hope he doesn't have to go back."

In a local bar, and reported the matter to police.

Following an extensive investigation, which included photo line-ups and interrogations of several persons, the identity of the two men was believed to have been determined.

Last Thursday, police with a search warrant converged on the home of Frederick Redding, 25, at 125 Hidden Lakes Drive. They said a search of the residence uncovered some jewelry and a revolver. The jewelry was subsequently identified by the victim as having been stolen during the robbery on Jan. 24.

Redding was arrested on charges of home invasion/robbery, grand theft, and use/display of a concealed firearm during the commission of a felony.

Corey Wendell Colston, 27, of 2465 E. 2nd Street was located Friday at a motel on S. Orlando Drive. He was arrested on charges of home invasion/robbery, grand theft, and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

Forms can presently be obtained from the City Clerk's office on the second floor of city hall.

It was suggested that forms also be made available in published ads, or with informational postings at City Hall.

During the regular commission meeting Monday, Williams appointed Joan Campbell and Reverend Bruce Scott to terms on the Citizens Advisory Board for the police department.

At the January 27 commission meeting, openings were discussed with the Cemetery Advisory Board and Historic Preservation Board.

Board appointments/re-appointments are almost regular items on each Sanford City Commission agenda.

Gale Chisom of the Seminole County Employment Center, Sanford Police Chief Joe Dillard and Sanford City Commissioner Velva Williams are all smiles at a reception Tuesday celebrating Black History Month. Dillard and Williams were grateful that the Board of County Commissioners designated certain portions of Seminole County as part of the National Black Heritage Trail and that the county Black Heritage Month resolution provided a cross-cultural learning experience for adults and children of all ethnic backgrounds.

The county contracted Life Fleet in Nov. 1990, renewed the contract in 1994 and extended the renewal two times. The latest renewal expires in June 1, 1997.

Life Fleet has provided the county well, Adams said. "This is not a performance issue. It's a quest to even out the playing field. To determine once and for all which EMS method is best for Seminole County. What may work in one area may not work here. It's an extremely complicated issue."

Tuesday's BBC agenda included resolutions proclaiming February as Black History Month, proclaiming March 8-16 as Girl Scout Week and proclaiming March as Violent Free Community Month.

Newly installed Sanford Police Chief Joe Dillard and newly elected Sanford City Commissioner

Velva Williams were extremely appreciative certain portions of Seminole County had been designated as part of the Black Heritage Trail and that the BBC recognized the value of the cross-cultural learning experiences to be gained from Black History Month activities.

Michael Mobley, chairman of Violence is Preventable (V.I.P.) expressed his gratitude to the board for its concern to this issue. He said that there would be a March against Violence on Saturday, March 22 beginning at the Seminole County Courthouse and proceeding to Ft. Mellon Park for a memorial service to those who had died because of violence.

The third resolution Tuesday started yet delighted BCC Chairman Morris, whose daughter, Rachel, was among the Girl Scouts who attended the commission meeting. "Who signed the note for you to be out of school?" Morris asked Rachel.

Charter

Charter schools operate in school facilities, receive school funding, but do not have to operate under the same state mandates as the publically operated schools.

In his recommendation to the board, Supt. Paul Hagerty said he thought they should reject Florida Charter School's proposal because McCammon had no school management experience and because he had ignored the recommendations made by the staff after the proposal was reviewed earlier.

McCammon, a mental health counselor, has a master's degree in education and human development. He has also been hired as a consultant to teach teachers about at-risk students.

Some board members expressed concerns that McCammon has had financial difficulties, both personally and professionally.

The board also expressed a concern about the size of the proposed school, saying they had more confidence in the plans of two other groups which said they would serve 150 students or less.

In explaining his vote of support, Goff said the board was expecting too much of McCammon and Florida Charter Schools. The standards they were trying to set were "unreasonable" and that there would be no group capable of living up to them.

Early efforts open doors for females

The second part of this series tracking the development of girls' sports over the past few decades will take a look back at the eighties and how far they came from the seventies and how far they still need to go.

In 1976, the Five Star Conference was born due in part to the efforts of the class of 1975. Through efforts in petition signing, they paved the way for girls' sports to finally be considered an integral part of high school athletic programs.

How much did the work actually help? In the case of Lake Mary High School, quite a bit. Kym Gaudreau, now a teacher at her Alma Mater, played several sports while attending the then newly-opened Lake Mary.

The new school in the county caused quite a stir in its neighborhoods. Everyone attended Lake Mary's athletic competitions to support the new kids on the block.

"Because we were a new school, everyone came to our games. I think we may have had a little easier than some of the other girls' programs, but we certainly weren't slighted in support."

After high school, Gaudreau went to Mercer College on scholarship and played basketball and softball. She then transferred to Florida State University where she played softball for her senior year.

Girls' sports were just coming into their own around that time, especially at the college level. Many female athletes before Gaudreau were not afforded the opportunity to attend college on athletic scholarships.

She was not the exception to the rule in her day, however.

With the emergence of genuine interest in female athletes came support. Not only from parents and friends, but high schools and colleges as well.

Part of the reason that people began to take notice was change.

In basketball, for example, the three-point line made it easier for girls to make shots without needing the strength to fight under the basket. Girls' hands tend to be smaller than their male counterparts, so when the size of the basketball was reduced, this helped the female players.

Because the game became a little easier for the girls, their games became faster paced. People were used to boys' basketball, which was much faster. But when a girl's game could go almost as fast, people took notice.

Just in case Gaudreau hadn't made enough strides in women's sports, she decided to tackle yet another previously deemed obstacle.

Gaudreau is the only female coach on the county of a boys' basketball team. In her third year as JV coach, she is also the assistant coach for the varsity team.

"Doors are opening for women," Gaudreau said. "Even ones that were shut before are slowly creaking open. We are not yet where we want to be, which is equal to boys' sports. I don't know if we ever will be. But we have come such a long way."

Next week, the final segment of this three-part series will take a look at girls' sports today and examine how far they've really come.

Lake Mary hits wall

Banuls' 68th shutout ends Rams' soccer hopes

By RYAN ANDERSON
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary Rams spent the entire night looking for the back of the net. The Winter Park Wildcats found it on three tries.

In the end, Winter Park ended Lake Mary's season with a 3-0 shutout in the girls soccer Regional Championship. Winter Park advances. Lake Mary contemplates.

Defense was the driving force behind the game. Winter Park's defense executed flawlessly, while Lake Mary had a few defensive mistakes which, in the end, proved fatal to the life of their season.

"I have always said the we must have defense first and the rest will come. I rest my case tonight," Winter Park Coach Dan McAvoy said. "What this team has accomplished is something to be very proud of."

Of the last 24 Winter Park victories, 22 have been shutouts. The person behind those shutouts is Maria Banuls. Banuls has 68 shutouts and counting for her career.

"In my book, that's a pretty impressive career," McAvoy said.

Banuls was indeed impressive in her all out campaign of swatting away every shot by the Rams that came anywhere near her. Lake Mary had 19 shots on goal, 8 of which were stopped in some way by Banuls.

While Banuls and the other Wildcat defenders were getting the job done defensively, Winter Park's offense was capitalizing on its limited penetration into Lake Mary territory. The Wildcats converted three of seven shots into goals providing all the offense they would need to advance to the next round of the playoffs.

Julie Eraso got things started for Winter Park when she netted a crossing shot midway through the first half.

Julie Adams added a goal of her own late in the first half off of a pass by Sarah St. Louis.

Lee Ann Young finished the Wildcat scoring with a behind the back shot off of a corner kick by Laura Caulin.

Seminole's Shawn Whitman (left) poured in 16 points to help Arrow Force V defeat host Merritt Island 56-51 in the 5A-4 Tournament Tuesday.

Dream Catchers wrap up perfect season

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The Dream Catchers and the Eagles both got shutouts Tuesday night as the regular season of the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Chase Park Polar Bear Slow Pitch Softball League came to an end.

The Eagles got a 7-0 'freebie' when T's Angels did not have enough players to field a team, while the Dream Catchers wrapped up a perfect season, and the league title, scoring 12 runs in the bottom of the first inning and going on to crush the She-Devils 19-0.

Providing the offense were:
Dream Catchers: four hits — Anita Osborne (three runs), three hits — Paula Songer (double, three runs, three RBI), Lori Poe (run, two RBI); two hits — Barbara Bowles (triple, three runs, three RBI), Shaila Walker (triple, two runs, two RBI), Carol Garner, Lynn Pell (one run and two RBI each), Susan Hunt (run); one hit — Elizabeth Barnes (double, run, two RBI), Kat Rodriguez (run, RBI), Yolanda Cox (two runs).
She-Devils: three hits — Sue Nickell; one hit — Jackie Smith, Leah Sparrow, Kim Winn.

Ritchey's undefeated run stopped

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The Sanford Magic got the break they were looking for as league-leading Ritchey's suffered their first loss in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Pinehurst Park Polar Bear Slow Pitch Softball League Tuesday night.

Ritchey's and the Lady Knights traded the lead a couple of times, but after six innings the game was tied at 14-14.

The Lady Knights, who came into the game without a win, took advantage several Ritchey's errors, along with three singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly, to plate six runs in the top of the seventh inning.

Ritchey's got a run back in the bottom of the seventh inning but could get no closer as the Lady Knights won their first game 20-15.

With Ritchey's finally losing a game, the Sanford Magic went to work in the second game to end a two-game losing streak and get back in the championship race.

And go to work they did, scoring 25 runs on 25 hits, including a 13-run sixth inning, to bop Hopkins Meats 25-5.

Even with the loss, Ritchey's still holds a one-game lead, and at least a share of the regular season championship, with a 4-1 record, while the Sanford Magic are 3-2. Trailing are Hopkins Meats (2-3) and the Lady Knights (1-4).

Next Tuesday, the regular season ends with Hopkins Meats challenging Ritchey's at 7 p.m. and the Sanford Magic taking on the Lady Knights at 8 p.m. A Ritchey's loss and a Magic win would force a tie.

Providing the offense were:
Lady Knights: four hits — Shannon Hill (home run).

IN BRIEF

Raider wrecks record

SANFORD — Anthony Polite, a 6-foot-4 sophomore from Savannah, Georgia, broke one of the oldest basketball records at Seminole Community College when he poured in 47 points during the Raiders' 98-85 victory over St. John's River last Saturday night.

Polite's effort broke the 43-point performance by Sanford's Vernell Ellzy against the Stetson University Junior Varsity back in 1967. Polite was 16-of-21 from the floor (1-for-1 on 3-point shots) and made 14-of-19 from the free throw line. The 16 field goals also tied a record that was shared by Ellzy and Alcol Houston.

For good measure Polite also had 20 rebounds, three blocked shots, three steals and two assists.

The Greyhounds (9-13) fell behind 15-10 after one period and was still down three, 40-37.

after the third quarter, but Lyman took the victory with a 13-8 fourth quarter scoring edge.

Kim Collins led the Greyhounds with 17 points, including 11-of-14 from the free throw line.

Kate Carlough paced Oviedo (24-6) with 19 points, most coming on five three-pointers.

Lake Mary (24-1) got off to a sluggish start and only led 31-21 at halftime, but the top-seeded Rams showed why they are ranked third in the state as they held the Silver Hawks (16-15) to only 14 second-half points.

Super sophomores Lauren Bradley (21 points) and Ashlee Ballance (10 points) paced Lake Mary, while senior Debbie Duber came off the bench with 11 points.

Kurry Kane led Lake Howell with nine points.

Russell wins second straight

Special to the Herald

SAMBULA — David Russell of Apopka, with a little help from lady luck, bested a field of 33 cars to win for the second night in a row in the Late Model Division during night number five of the 31st Annual World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing at New Smyrna Speedway Tuesday night.

Russell took the top spot when Bruce Lawrence and Bobby Gill, racing side-by-side for the lead, touched heading into Turn One and spun in the opposite directions, leaving the lead over to Russell on Lap 23 and he never gave it back.

"We were just trying to find a hole if something happened," Russell said. "When they got together we just filled the hole."

Curtis Gattis scored his best finish of the World Series as he crossed the line second with Lowell Bennett, Tuffy Hester and Ted Johnson rounding out the top five.

In the NASCAR Tour Type Modified 25-Lap feature it was Rick Fuller of Auburn, Massachusetts leading every lap to score his first victory during the World Series.

Fuller started on the outside of row one and overtook pole-sitter Doug French at the drop of the green flag and never looked back, finishing 10 car lengths in front of the second place runner.

"I'll tell you what, Joe and the guys did a terrific job," Fuller said. "We tore the car up last night, but they got it right tonight. Goodyear tried a little bit of different stuff tonight with the tires and it worked out alright."

Ted Christopher overcame an early race pit stop to repair a broken tie rod to record his best finish of the World Series, finishing second behind Fuller.

"It was our best run of the week," said Christopher. "Hey, it was the only we've finished so far."

Indy Racing League star Tony Stewart of Rushville, Indiana, Monday night's winner, finished third followed by two-time winner Tom Baldwin of East Patchouk, New York and Jamie Tomaino.

Louis Mechalides of Titusboro, Massachusetts made his first appearance at the World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing a memorable one as he pulled off a last lap pass of Brad May to take the checkered flag in the Limited Late Model 20-Lap feature event.

Mechalides started the feature midway through the 29-car field and worked his way up to second on Lap 16 and passed May for the lead on the following lap.

May settled for second with Mark Tracy, Paul Colgan and DeLand's Bruce Lawrence II finishing out the top five.

Chuck Vola of South Daytona, won the 15-Lap Sportsman feature on the track, but was disqualified in the pits when he failed to come across the scales following the event and handed the win over to Cocoa's Dale Cluser.

"You take 'em anyway you get 'em and we'll gladly take this one," Cluser said. "It was a tough break for Chuck, but rules are rules."

Wayne Parker came home ahead of the pack in the Florida/IMCA Modifieds, with Steve Christman, Dave Savicki, Bobby Blake and Osteen's Marc Kinley, a former New Smyrna Speedway Limited Late Model track champion and Florida Pro Series regular who was making his first appearance of SpeedWeeks, rounding out the top five.

The Baby Grand finale found Tony Sawyer and Barry Bodine, the young son of NASCAR Winston Cup star Geoff Bodine, reversing their finishing positions from Monday night, with Sawyer edging Bodine this time.

Chris Peterson, Gordon Johns and Pete Lane trailed the lead duo across the stripe.

SCC

through the disappointment of losing three games it could have won in the St. Petersburg Junior College Sunshine Games Tournament on Saturday in Clearwater.

But those losses were all forgotten on Tuesday as SCC rallied to win game one 5-3, then withstood a challenge to win game two 9-4 at Colonial High School in Orlando.

The doubthead was moved to Colonial because the Raiders' field is not yet ready after an off-season of major reconstruction.

"We played much better today than on Saturday," said SCC head coach Courtney Miller. "Our sticks finally came alive, which I believe helped relax us and take some pressure off us. Erin Majub (Deltona), JoDee Woessner, Nadine White-Davis (Lake Brantley) and Sarah Dungey led our hitting attack."

"Defensively, we still have to cut down on our errors because those are leading to several unearned runs per game."

The Raiders will play at "home" again on Thursday, this time traveling to Altamonte Springs' Lake Brantley High School to host Folk Community College from Winter Haven in a doubleheader starting at 2 p.m.

Brevard got off to a 1-0 lead in the top inning of the first game and held the advantage until Woessner doubled with one out in the fourth inning and later scored on a single by Dungey.

The Titans (2-4) came right back with two runs in the top of the fifth inning, but again the Raiders had an answer.

Majub led off the bottom of the fifth inning with a double and moved to third on a bunt single by White-Davis, who promptly stole second. Freshman Brittany Scott from Lake Howell then tripled to tie the score. Jean Spanarelli then singled in Scott to put SCC ahead and pinch-runner Christine Berry later scored on a single by Dungey.

Freshman Rene Hooper (1-1) from Alco, New Jersey got her first college victory, allowing only one earned run on seven hits.

Providing the offense for the Raiders were Dungey (2-for-2, two RBI), Majub (2-for-3, double, run), Woessner (1-for-3, double, run), Scott (1-for-4, triple, run, two RBI), Spanarelli (1-for-4, RBI), White-Davis (1-for-4, run), Lyman's Jamie Sharp (1-for-3), Berry (run).

Woessner was the star in the early going of the second game as SCC built a 6-0 lead.

White-Davis and Scott lead off the bottom of the first inning with back-to-back singles and White-Davis scored an out later on a single by Woessner. Scott then scored on a wild pitch and Woessner scored on a sacrifice fly by Kendra Bateman, who prepped at Colonial.

In the bottom of the second inning, Berry and White-Davis singled and Berry then scored when Scott reached on an error. White-Davis and Scott later scored on a two-out single by Woessner.

Brevard came back with single runs in the third and fourth innings and two runs in the fifth inning to cut the Raiders' lead to 6-4.

But SCC (2-3) had one more three-run inning up its sleeve.

Jessica Overman led off the sixth inning with a walk and later scored when Oviedo's Carrie McAuliffe reached on an error. Sharp came on to pinch-run and scored when White-Davis singled and went all the way to third on an error. Woessner then singled in White-Davis with the final run.

Contributing for the Raiders were Woessner (3-for-3, run, four RBI), White-Davis (3-for-4, three runs), Berry (1-for-3, run), Dungey (1-for-3), Scott (1-for-4, two runs), Bateman (RBI) and Overman and Sharp (one run each).

Should osteoporosis drug be used?

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 93-year-old mother is receiving calcitonin for osteoporosis. Should this medicine be taken for life? What tests are available to determine the benefits of therapy?

DEAR READER: Calcitonin is one of several medicines that are prescribed to treat osteoporosis, the age-related reduction of bone tissue that can, in the elderly, lead to fractures and severe disability.

Ordinarily, such drugs are used for extended periods — perhaps a lifetime. It hedges on this issue because new, more effective therapy will probably be discovered in the future.

In my opinion, your mother should have a bone-density examination, a simple and inexpensive X-ray study that actually measures the amount of bone tissue. The purposes of this test are two-fold.

First, it enables doctors to determine exactly how much bone has been lost.

Second, it permits comparisons. If, for example, your mother's bone density were at a certain value at 83 years and she were receiving treatment, it would be helpful to determine, at age 94, the effectiveness of the therapy. Thus, bone density exams are used to monitor the response to treatment.

For a moment, let me play the Devil's advocate. Your mother is an unusual case. She is 93. This is not a situation in which a 50-year-old, post-menopausal woman is undergoing therapy that has to be supervised for, say, 30 years.

I don't know how long your mother will live. Let's hope more than another five years. But, realistically, this approximation may be generous.

Therefore, you might take the following position. Mother has a few more years of independent living. She has osteoporosis, under treatment. Let's continue the therapy indefinitely, without the expense and inconvenience of testing her every year. In my view, your mother should receive any and all treatment that will keep her independent and relatively healthy. I would, however, argue that periodic bone density examinations are superfluous and wasteful in this case.

(At this stage, Medicare will recognize the cost of an initial bone density study with a diagnosis of osteoporosis. They will not recognize additional periodic testing to determine if a medication is successful. That would remain your responsibility.)

As I said, my approach would be modified if your mother were younger. EVERYBODY at 93 has osteoporosis. Let's keep it simple.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Osteoporosis."

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been swallowing a tablespoon of cod liver oil each morning for many years. Any problems with this?

DEAR READER: Not if you can abide the taste. Cod liver oil possesses no proven health benefits. It is a rich source of vitamins A and D, but these supplements can more palatably be supplied by any multi-vitamin pill.

Cod liver oil is an old-fashioned remedy that has been largely superseded by more modern vitamin preparations. However, it is not harmful when taken according to the manufacturer's directions.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Fats I: Vitamins and Minerals." Other readers who would like a copy should send $3 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

The Canadians were cast in bronze

By Phillip Alder

Third place in the Women's World Team Olympiad went to Canada, who defeated Austria by 133 to 67 in the playoff for the bronze medal. The Canadian team was Francine Cimon, Dianna Gordon, Rhoda Habert, Beverly Kraft, Sharyn Reus and Barbara Sallsman, with George Holland the nonplaying captain.

The star deal for the team featured this piece of defensive magic by Gordon, from the match against India. Defending against four spades, Gordon began with the heart ace: five, three, seven. What did Gordon do next?

You or I would overcall three no-trump, not four spades, with that South hand, reaching the one game contract that cannot be defeated. However, that sort of suggestion perhaps explains why we weren't playing in Rhodes.

Gordon knew that Reus (East) couldn't have begun with a doubleton heart, because she would have started an echo by playing her higher heart at trick one. And judging that East was unlikely to have begun with a singleton, Gordon switched to a low club.

Declarer had no riptose. She won in hand with the king, drew trumps, and returned her remaining club, but Gordon calmly won with the ace and played her heart king. After ruffing, declarer had to lead away from her king-four of diamonds, giving the defense four tricks in all: one heart, two diamonds and one club.

Note that if Gordon cashes the club ace at trick two, declarer unblocks her king and, in a moment, discards a diamond from hand on dummy's third club.

Your Birthday

Thursday, Feb. 13, 1997

Shadows that darkened your horizon will yield to brighter prospects in the year ahead. In fact, past problem areas could produce benefits.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Sometimes it's unwise to depend too heavily on Lady Luck, but today may be an exception where your self-interest is concerned. Believe in your expectations. Aquarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and BASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Joint endeavors could work out rather well for you today if you don't insist on having top billing. For the sake of success, forgo ego.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Mix socially today with individuals who can give your career a boost. However, instead of requesting favors, see if you can do something for them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not be satisfied with the status quo today, you have a marvelous faculty for making something that is already good even better.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have done all the groundwork and feel you're in a formidable position, a calculated risk in a joint endeavor could yield heavy rewards.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Misunderstandings between you and your mate can be rectified through compromises and concessions all around. You, however, should take the initiative.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The example you set today will have a powerful influence over your co-workers. Attack your tasks with enthusiasm and positive expectation and they'll follow suit.

VIROO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things should work out where your material interests are concerned. Both opportunity and Lady Luck will have designated roles.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Underplay your authority instead of throwing your weight around and you will gain the support and respect of fellow associates. Be restrained and congenial today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't worry about things today that might never happen. If you take a positive approach, there is no reason why events shouldn't meet your expectations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is a good day to repay social obligations, even if you have to make adjustments. In fact, impromptu developments could turn out to be the most fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your ideas today could be extremely constructive and beneficial. Try to capitalize on your thoughts in ways that could add to your resources.
