Lake Mary Joins East Central Planning Council

The Lake Mary City Commission accepted an offer to become a member of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council at a special meeting Thursday night. The commission voted 3-1 in favor of joining the organization, which helps municipalities and counties deal with growth and development that impacts areas outside of their own jurisdiction.

The only vote against joining the council came from commission member Ken King, who explained he did not want to give an affirmative vote on the issue without first reviewing the proposed 1987-1988 city budget. Cliff Gullet, RPC executive director, told commissioners the initiation fees for entering the organization would be $2,500. "Lake Mary will pay a yearly membership fee of $1,000 after that," Gullet said.

The RPC is 1 of 11 such councils within the state of Florida, according to Gullet. Existing members include Seminole, Orange, Volusia, Brevard, Osceola and Lake Counties, as well as 22 municipalities within those counties.

Gullet said that county participation in the council is state mandated. But that city involvement is strictly voluntary.

Lake Mary City Manager Bob Norris said he views the council as primarily a technical assistance organization and that the city's membership will be of benefit. Norris said he felt Lake Mary had been holding out from joining the council when it was earlier invited to. "But they (the council) haven't accepted us yet either," he said.

Gullet said he feels the council will be able to offer Lake Mary assistance in establishing growth management policies. He said it could also help keep the city's plans coordinated and consistent with regional and state growth plans, as required by Chapter 163 of the Florida Statutes.

"I think Lake Mary, from what I can tell, is a hotspot for growth in this area," Gullet said. He added that although he sees Lake Mary as trying to prepare for future growth the city could easily become overwhelmed by the it.

Couple Lose All In Fire

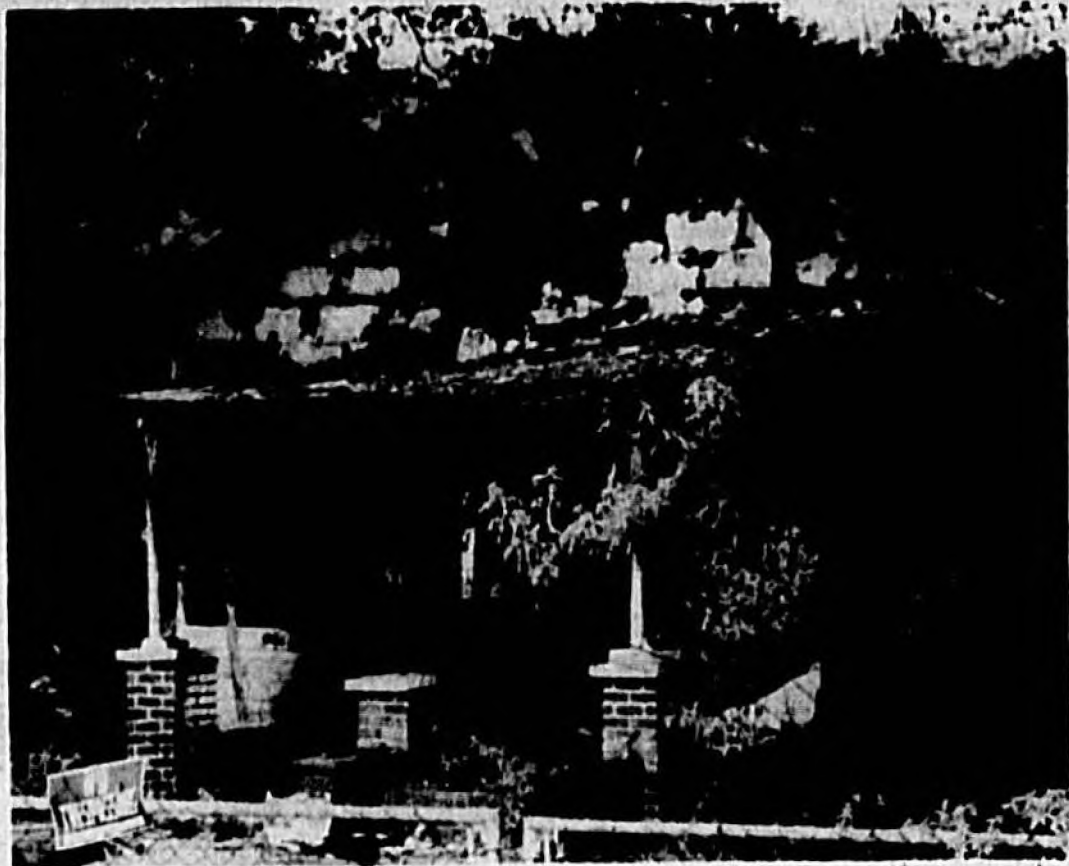

An early morning fire Sunday gutted a Sanford Avenue house and destroyed the belongings of a couple renting the dwelling.

The tenants, Monroe and Cheryl Fryer, returned about 2 a.m. from a night out with friends to find firefighters battling a blaze that is believed to have begun on the rear porch of their woodframe home at 3528 S. Sanford Ave.

Seminole County fire investigator Bob Christian said several hours of digging through the charred remains of the two-bedroom house led him to conclude an electrical short in the wiring for an outside rear porch light ignited the fire. He said the wiring to the light and the breaker box had both been installed within the last couple months.

The blaze had engulfed the interior of the 30 to 40-year-old house by the time county firefighters arrived, Christian said.

"It was working its way up front

City Panel Favors Own Pay Raise

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Pay raises of 39.7 percent for Lake Mary's mayor and city commissioners were given unanimous approval by city commissioners during preliminary work on the city's $2.1 million budget for 1987-1988.

The pay hikes set salaries at $6,000 for the mayor and $4,140 for the five commissioners. Lake Mary City Manager Bob Norris suggested the raises in his budget proposal presented at a special meeting Thursday.

His proposal calls for no increase in the city's tax rate of $3.90 per $1,000 assessed property value. No increase is needed because new construction has put more property on the tax rolls.

One of the first suggestions for a change in Norris' proposal came from Mayor Dick Fess, who requested the commission add $200,000 to the city's capitol facilities fund for use in the new city hall project. The same amount of money was set aside in last year's budget for the same purpose, but was never used because the commission took no definite action on the project.

The commission decided to place $1,000 in a newly created Lake Mary Cemetery fund that would be used, if needed, to help in the upkeep of the cemetery over the next year. This money would be available to the Lake Mary Cemetery Association on specific commission approval should assistance be required in maintaining the property and is subject to the supervision of the Public Works Department.

The purchase of a new car and four wheel drive vehicle for use by the city administration proposed in the budget was changed to purchasing a used car from alternative sources. Commission Member Charlie Webster said he had already received complaints from city residents over the request to buy a new car for $11,000. The commission approved $5,000 of the budget to go to buying a used car for use by city employees while traveling on official business. City Manager Bob Norris had requested that he be able to take the car home at night.

Another work session on the proposed budget will be held beginning at 7:30 p.m. July 23. An official advertised budget hearing will take place after that.

The budget for the next fiscal year is set to be adopted by Sept. 1, by the commission.

Sanford Girl In Coma After Near Drowning

A 15-year-old Sanford girl pulled from a swimming pool after almost drowning Friday is listed in critical condition at Orlando Regional Medical Center.

Katrina Harris, a client of Threshold Inc., a private residence for people with behavioral handicaps, Orlando, is still in a coma after being underwater for an undetermined amount of time.

The incident reportedly took place during an outing from the Threshold facility at 3550 N. Goldenrod Rd. Harris and four other Threshold clients had been swimming in a private pool. Threshold officials allegedly told relatives of the girl she had been left unattended for four or five minutes before the incident occurred.

ORMC Spokesman Joe Brown said Harris arrived at the hospital unconscious and has remained so. "Her (Harris) status is still critical so we'll have to take it one day at a time," he said. Harris is in the Pediatrics Intensive Care Unit.

A man reached at the Threshold office said that no comment would be made on the incident by anyone from the company. The man, who would not identify himself, said an official statement concerning the accident is forthcoming from Threshold.

French Ship Attacked In Persian Gulf

By United Press International
Suspected Iranian gunboats attacked a French-registered container ship in the Persian Gulf today, raking it with machine-gun and cannon fire as a diplomatic row flared between Paris and Tehran.

The attack coincided with reports from the Kuwait Oil Tanker Co. that its tankers will "probably" sail into the gulf Wednesday flying American flags and under U.S. protection. There was no immediate word from the Pentagon when the first tanker would leave.

The French-registered container ship Ville D'Anvers was attacked by gunboats 15 miles east of the Saudi Arabian port of

Man Seeks Pardon For Slovik

DETROIT (UPI) — The United States has forgiven its World War II enemies and now, reasons Bernard Calka, it's time to forgive one of America's soldiers from that war.

Calka, a Macomb County commissioner who worked to bring Pvt. Eddie Slovik's remains home to Detroit, said Sunday he will seek a presidential pardon for the only U.S. soldier executed for desertion since the Civil War.

On Saturday, about 200 people attended a graveside service at Woodmere Cemetery in Detroit, during which Slovik was buried alongside his wife, Antoinette, who died in 1979 after spending years in an unsuccessful effort to have her husband's name cleared.

"I think it's time to lift the burden from Pvt. Slovik's family," Calka said. "I sent a letter to the president Tuesday asking for a forgiveness pardon. I'm hoping it doesn't take longer than two weeks to hear something.

Slovik, 24, was executed by an Army firing squad on Jan. 31, 1945.

His body was buried in a cemetery plot in France designated only as grave 65. Of 40,000 U.S. desertion cases during the war and 49 death sentences handed down for the crime, Slovik was the only person executed. Many believe it was because of his criminal record while a youth in Detroit.

He was convicted of embezzlement in 1937 for taking $59 worth of candy, gum and cigarettes from a Detroit drug store.

County Ready To Foreclose On Property Not Up To Code

By Ted Carter
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County is moving toward its first series of property foreclosures based on longstanding violations of county codes.

County commissioners Tuesday will consider foreclosures on three properties, all of which the county legal department says have been the subject of citizen code enforcement board fines followed by liens for failure to pay the fines.

The code board, formed in 1983, tried first to get the property owners to comply with the various codes. Failing that, the board levied fines which went unpaid. Consequently, the board put liens on the properties. The liens remained for six or more months, thus clearing the way for the foreclosures, said Lonnie Groot, an assistant county attorney.

The foreclosures would be a move never before taken by the county for code violations, according to Groot. "We've never filed foreclosure actions," he said. "Usually you get compliance."

The foreclosure actions target properties of high and low values, ranging from a luxury home worth more than a quarter million dollars to a Sanford Celery Delta lot valued at $4,250, according to county records. "They take in both ends of the spectrum," Groot noted.

The first request involves a $337,000 home on Lot 24, Wingfield Reserve, at the corner of Talisa and Alvarado courts. Fines against owner John S. Brill reached $13,700 last week, according to Groot.

The code board cited Brill for failure to keep weed and grass growth on the lot below 24 inches.

The board cited Celery Delta lot owner R.G. Kondraki for failure to remove junked transport trailers from his property. His fines at one time totaled $10,400 but later were reduced to $4,250.

Both lots are within 75 feet of other residences, county records show.

The third foreclosure request involves Lot 213.

12 Belfast Youths Arrested As Protestant Parades Begin

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Protestant militants today hurled fire bombs at police and more than 100,000 "Orangemen" began parades across the province to mark the 297th anniversary of a battle victory over Roman Catholic forces.

Police sources said the 30,000 police and troops in the province also were on alert for riots in the aftermath of Sunday's slaying of a Protestant by the Irish Republican Army, which is fighting to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

Police said early today Protestant youths clashed with police in Belfast and three other towns and villages across the province, injuring six officers — none seriously. Police arrested 12 youths in an effort to keep anniversary celebrations away from Catholic areas.

In the most serious outbreak of violence reported, a crowd of Protestants celebrating with a "victory" bonfire across the street from Catholic homes in Belfast

Police Seek Motive In Family Massacre

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Police say they do not know why a man with a history of mental problems virtually wiped out his family — his wife and two young children, his parents and his in-laws — before turning his pistol on himself.

"It's a pretty shocking, grisly event," said Police Sgt. Stephen Smith. "We have seven people who are deceased, apparently at the hands of one individual who took his own life."

Investigators said they spent Sunday looking for clues to why Daniel Lynam, 36, went on a rampage at three homes before killing himself as officers closed in.

Police said evidence found inside his house indicated that Lynam, described by surviving relatives as a house painter who had trouble holding a job, had been drinking tequila and possibly smoking marijuana.

Lynam apparently shot his wife's parents to death late Friday at their condominium in Tacoma; shot his own parents to death Saturday in their Tacoma home; then returned to his home in Federal Way, 10 miles north of Tacoma, and killed his wife, Linda, 34, his 2-year-old daughter, Shaina, and 5-week-old son, Jason, before killing himself. The Pierce County medical examiner's office identified the Tacoma couples as Thomas Lynam, 74, and his wife, Frances, 66; and Jack and Willie May Hall, ages unknown.

Police said all the victims died of gunshot wounds to the head from a .38-caliber pistol found near the dead suspect.

The Lynam home in unincorporated Federal Way is situated in a cul-de-sac near Mirror Lake, a quiet residential neighborhood surrounded by tall Douglas firs and other trees. Neighbor Betty Norman said the family moved into the one-story, red-and-white house less than three months ago and "nobody knew them in the neighborhood."

Norman said nobody in the cul-de-sac could recall hearing any gunshots before police arrived and Lynam retreated into his home.

King County Police spokesman Dick Larson said Lynam had telephoned his brother, saying he had killed some people and was going to harm himself.

The brother called police and when officers arrived at Lynam's house, he was outside.

Bakkers, Belli Have Weekend Street Party

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker spent a lively weekend in San Francisco with their flamboyant new lawyer, Melvin Belli, as current leaders of the PTL ministry charged that Belli was "taking advantage" of the couple.

The Bakkers were surprise guests Saturday night at a street party given by Belli outside his office to celebrate his forthcoming 80th birthday.

Belli held court, sipping red wine, from a leather chair at a platform outside his office while 400 guests enjoyed free beer and sandwiches and Dixieland music by a seven-member band.

Before the Bakkers arrived, a woman in a string bikini who called herself Wild Jasmine jumped out of an artificial cake to give Belli a birthday kiss.

The fallen PTL founders arrived from Belli's 110-foot yacht, where they had been staying, and Bakker said that Belli is "a living legend; we are happy to be here." Belli was given a small gift — a PTL Bible wrapped in gold foil.

Later in the evening, tempers flared in a fashionable waterfront restaurant when the Belli-Bakker entourage, led by Belli's wife, Lia, swept in un-scheduled and was seated immediately while many other would-be diners with reservations were left waiting in the bar.

One woman, Jeanine Fetterly of Oakland, said a Bakker security guard broke her camera when she attempted to take their picture. Then, she said, he hustled her away and gave her $60.

"This is simply outrageous," Fetterly said. "They swept in here like they owned the place."

In South Carolina, PTL Pastor Sam Johnson asserted Sunday that Belli "is taking advantage of two wonderful people at a time when they are greatly confused, and he's making a spectacle of the whole situation."

"Jim and Tammy need someone who will love them," Johnson said. "For too long, people have been taking advantage of them."

The Rev. Jerry Falwell, who took control of the PTL ministry after Bakker resigned after revelation of a sexual encounter he had with a church secretary, said in Virginia, "I think Mr. Belli is just playing a media game."

There has been speculation that the Bakkers might attempt to win back control of the PTL ministry, and Jim Toms, a Hendersonville, N.C., attorney working with Belli, said the Bakkers will remain in San Francisco "most of the week."

Toms said the Bakkers had never seen San Francisco before and would spend extended time with Belli "thinking about their choices." Toms said the Bakkers have had numerous offers from publishers and they would discuss the possibility of doing a book.

Bakker turned over his PTL ministry March 19 to Falwell after allegations of sexual misconduct. Later Bakker asked for his ministry back, and Falwell refused. Last month, Falwell put the television evangelical empire into bankruptcy court.

Schmidt Stymies Minnesota

United Press International. Two days after Baltimore Oriole Dave Schmidt lasted only two-thirds of an inning against Minnesota, he got another shot at the Twins and faced only one batter over the minimum in a two-hit shutout.

"I can't figure it," Twins Manager Billy Gardner said Sunday after the Orioles' 5-0 victory. "He stuck it to us, so give him credit with a helluva job. Every day is a new day."

Mike Young hit a pair of two-run homers and Eddie Murray added his 20th homer of the season to back Schmidt, who allowed only a two-out single to Greg Gagne in the sixth and a single to Al Newman in the seventh.

"I had control of all three pitches, the palm ball, sinker and slider," said Schmidt, 9-2, who retired the first 17 batters until Greg Gagne singled with two out in the sixth inning.

"I wanted to erase Friday night from my mind. I didn't get past the first inning against them. A lot of times in my career I've pitched my best after my worst. I didn't have my knee-high stuff Friday. I did this time."

Schmidt walked none and equalled his career high with seven strikeouts in his second complete game since moving into the starting rotation June 9. The 30-year-old right-hander, who made his 22nd start in 250 major-league appearances, threw a three-hitter June 24 against the Yankees.

Twins designated hitter Roy Smalley said Schmidt was the beneficiary of an exceptionally wide strike zone.

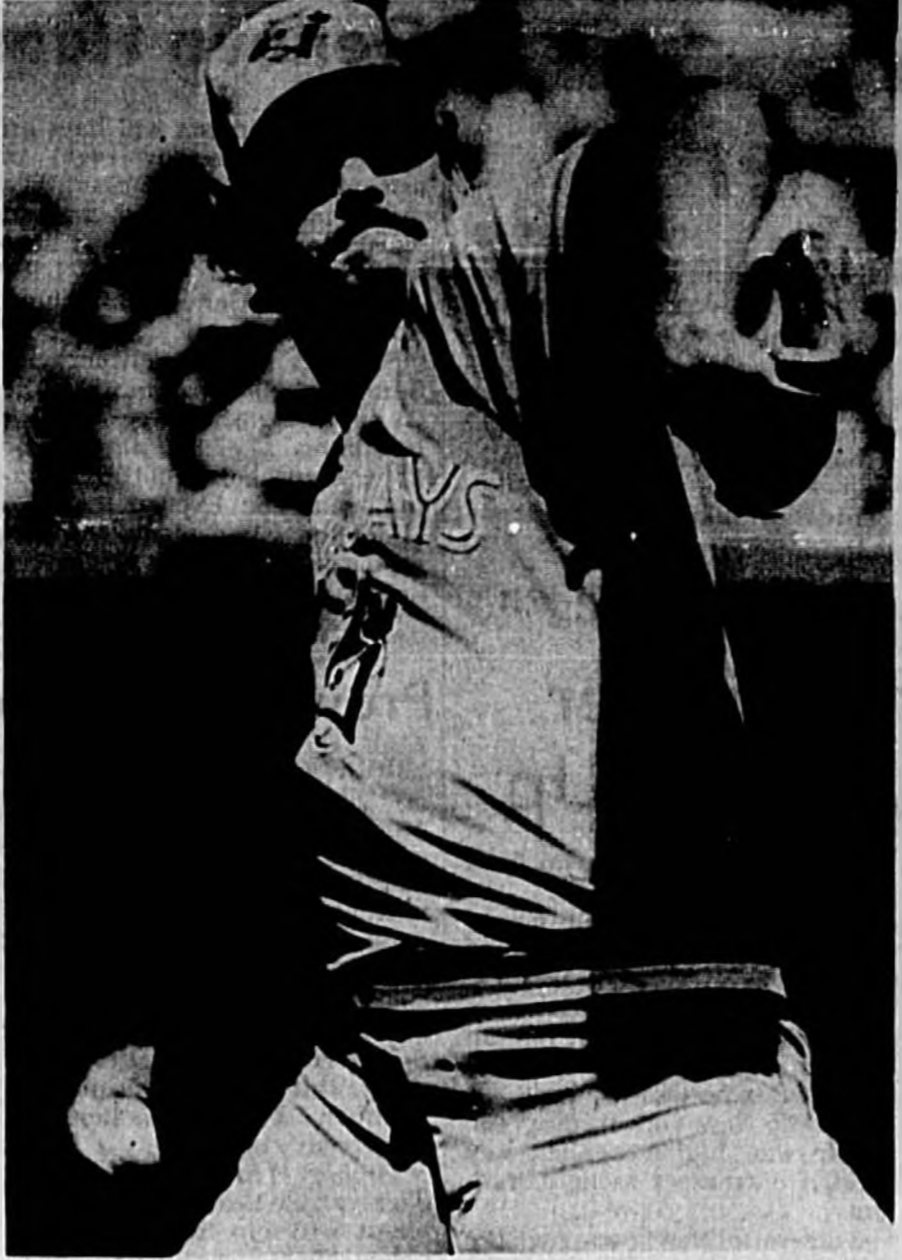

"Four inches on either side of the plate," insisted Smalley, who struck out twice.

Lasorda Sees Sign In Shutout Victory

United Press International. Los Angeles Manager Tommy Lasorda, whose team lost 10 more games than it won in the first half of the season, sees the Dodgers' shutout victory before the All-Star break as a sign for the second half.

Mickey Hatcher went 3 for 4 with a homer and four RBI and Bob Welch earned his first victory since June 7 with a four-hitter Sunday to lead Los Angeles to a 12-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

"I wanted to close the first half out on a winning note," Lasorda said. "I've got a good feeling about the second half. I don't know why, I just have a good feeling."

Welch, 9-5, who had three losses in seven starts since his last victory, threw his third shutout and fourth complete game of the season. The right-hander struck out five and walked one.

Welch defeated the Cubs 3-1 May 5 in Chicago, giving up seven hits in a complete-game performance. He struck out nine in that game.

"I thought he pitched better the first time," Chicago Cubs Manager Gene Michael said. "We got down early and it's hard to come back against a good pitcher."

Chicago starter Lea Lancaster, 2-1, gave up three hits in 4 2-3 innings, but walked six and allowed seven runs.

John Shelby hit his 10th home run of the season, a solo shot in the third inning, and Ken Landreaux hit a three-run homer in the sixth inning, his third home run of the season.

Hatcher hit a two-run home run in the fourth, his fourth homer of the season, and had a two-run single in the four-run fifth. All-Star break with a 39-49 record.

David Martinez was 0 for 4. In other games, Pittsburgh defeated San Diego 4-2, Montreal beat Cincinnati 4-2, Atlanta decked Philadelphia 9-3, St. Louis edged San Diego 3-2 and New York outscored Houston 5-2.

Leach: Playing 2 Sports Too Tough For Jackson

TORONTO (UPI) — Rick Leach of the Toronto Blue Jays, a two-sport star in college, says it will be extremely difficult for Bo Jackson of the Kansas City Royals to play football immediately after the baseball season.

Jackson angered his Royals teammates Saturday with the announcement he wanted to play for the Los Angeles Raiders of the NFL "as a hobby" following the baseball season.

However, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Auburn might be of little help to the Raiders because he will not have had sufficient time to learn the team's offense.

Specialist Can Find Cause Of Diarrhea

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am terribly upset. Sometimes at night I wake up having had watery diarrhea. There's no warning. During the day I have to run to the bathroom for hours. What can I do?

DEAR READER — Chronic diarrhea, with or without urgency, can have many causes. Peptic ulcer, bowel inflammation and intolerance to certain elements in your diet — such as milk sugar — are common causes.

You need an examination, possibly with stool analyses and X-rays of your intestinal tract, to determine the reason for your problem. Your family doctor is the place to start. He or she can initiate the investigation and, if an obvious cause is not discovered, can refer you to an appropriate specialist for more sophisticated testing, such as endoscopy, during which a qualified doctor can examine your upper and lower intestine with a flexible, lighted tube. Once the cause of your unpleasant and distressing diarrhea is identified, treatment should correct the problem.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the prognosis for bone cancer? I was told I had it nine months ago. I can cope with it if I have the information needed to make decisions.

DEAR READER — The prognosis for bone cancer — indeed, for any malignancy — depends on the type of tumor. Some bone cancers are highly malignant and resistant to treatment; the prognosis is poor. On the other hand, other types seem to respond quite satisfactorily to chemotherapy and radiation. For example, osteosarcoma of children, once a dreaded and fatal bone tumor, is now curable in a high percentage of cases.

Your doctor, preferably with the help of a cancer specialist called an oncologist, is the person who can best answer your questions.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report, VIRUSES AND CANCER, which tells about the latest discoveries in cancer research. Other readers who want a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a tylist, so I use my hands quite a bit. I get transparent cysts on my fingers. They get very sore, drain and then fill up again. The doctors have given up. How can I deal with this condition?

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
When South won the first trick with his heart queen, he suspected that he needed to grab nine tricks right away. So he played to dummy's queen of spades and took a diamond finesse. When West showed out, declarer needed an extra entry to dummy to pick up the diamond suit without a loser. He played another spade and put in the 10. When that held, he was home free. He played a diamond to his nine and a spade back to dummy's ace. A third diamond lead from dummy enabled declarer to make five diamond tricks and his contract. As the hand was played, West could have thwarted South's plans by putting up the Jack of spades on the second lead of that suit. The ace wins the trick, but the extra entry to dummy disappears.

Of course any declarer wishing to be enshrined in the bridge columnists' hall of fame will simply play the spade king at trick two and overtake with dummy's ace. Now, when a diamond to the jack discloses the bad split, declarer is able to finesse the spade 10 in dummy to gain an extra entry, and West is helpless to prevent it. That might not even be the right play, since it gives up an overtrick when the diamonds split normally (4-0 splits are fairly rare), but it makes for an interesting bridge story.
