Sanford Election

Berlin After Count

NDON, Apr. 28.—

The election of Field Marshall Von Hindenburg to the German presidency, is regrettable, but a catastrophe in the opinion of the various allied countries, except the German people by the field marshal are to have thrown off the yoke and issued a challenge to the world and the allies. The Paris press appears to believe that the election of Von Hindenburg is a disaster.

Views are available,

of Von Hindenburg, although clearly disturbs official opinion, is neither a surprise nor considered a disaster. In England earnest expressions were expressed before the election that the German electors take a sensible course and place at the head of the state a man, who, although his merits and even personal devotion to the republic are not considered, but the existing conditions could be bettered, not only by the election of Hindenburg, but by the election of a man whose one idea would be to restore the monarchy and to return to the republic.

There will be any failure to observe her obligations, because of the election of Hindenburg does not seem to be a disaster. It is fully believed that the election of Hindenburg will be carried out with the best of intentions. The government of Hindenburg is expected to make a return to the republic in the near future.

MacMillan Upholds Claim That Perry Discovered Pole

MacMillan, Arctic explorer, said here Monday when he informed that Captain Joseph E. B. Sherrin, also an Arctic explorer, had said it was highly probable that Admiral Peary could verify his claim.

Danger on Streets Greater Than That On Train, Is Claim

CHICAGO, Apr. 28.—A person today is in far less danger speeding across the country sixty miles an hour on a railway train than he is crossing the street in any of the principal cities of the country, declared R. H. Ashton, president of the American Railway Association in an address at the annual meeting of the safety section of the organization today. Although railways last year transported 923,000,000 persons there were only 140 fatalities, he said.

BAIT FOR COTTON WEEVIL IS FOUND, SAY SCIENTIST

Substantiation of Einstein's Theory Laid Before Meet In Washington; Experiment Shows Value of Discovery

WASHINGTON, Apr. 28.—The results of experiments which support the Einstein theory of relativity, and promise of success in having the weevil with an odor similar to that believed to be attracted to the cotton plant, were laid before Monday night's session of the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

In the absence of Dr. A. A. Michelson, head of the University of Chicago's physics department, because of his association with Prof. A. H. Compton read his paper entitled "The Latest Test of the Einstein Theory," which determined that when the earth is going forward in a straight line, the velocity of light is apparently affected but that rotation has no effect on light velocity.

Dr. Michelson's experiments, conducted in connection with Prof. H. G. Gale, dean of the graduate school of science, University of Chicago, indicated proof, Prof. Compton said, of the theory that the ether does not go along with the earth. A race between two beams of light, traveling in opposite directions, around a rectangle, was used in his experiments by Dr. Michelson, whose earlier work it will be better than at any time possible.

Preliminary experiments by Frederick B. Power and Victor K. Chesnut, bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, in the cotton belt in analyzing the odoriferous constituents of the cotton plant, the scientists were told, have disclosed that ammonia and trimethylamine were present in appreciable amounts in the distillate, but the ammonia largely predominated. Both substances are also found to be emanations from the living plant, and although further tests remain to be conducted, it is considered possible that the odor, attracting the boll weevil might be produced artificially for use as a bait for the insect.

Papers on a wide range of subjects by American and foreign scholars were read at the opening sessions during the day. States in the United States in which helium is produced artificially for use as a fuel for the rocket.

Dr. S. C. Lindell, chief chemist of the bureau of mines, declared that when other countries are drilled for oil and gas to an equal extent, there is a possibility that the non-inflammable gas will be found in great quantities. It takes some 20,000,000 years for helium to leak up from minerals or rocks to the pools of natural gas, where it is now found, he said.

MITCHELL HAS RENEWED FIGHT FOR AIR CORPS

Demoted Army Officer Will Continue Efforts Before People And Congress, He Tells His Fellow Officers

More Machines And Supplies Are Needed

One Eye of Departure, Former Assistant Air Chief, Is Praised By General Patrick

WASHINGTON, Apr. 28.—With a few hours after he had surrendered the stars which for almost five years had marked him as a brigadier-general, and assistant chief of the army air service, Colonel William Mitchell appeared Monday before a group of officers who had gathered to bid him farewell and took up anew his fight for a unified air service.

While he had found it impossible to do anything to promote the air service through the war and navy departments, Colonel Mitchell said, he would continue his efforts "before the people and the congress." He made it plain that he would continue his fight regardless of whether he was a general or an officer of lower rank, whether he was in Washington or in the field.

ARMY PARLEY WILL PROBABLY BE POSTPONED

Hindenburg Election Gives France Opportunity Which She Has Been Seeking For, That of Avoiding Meeting

WASHINGTON, Apr. 28.—Hindenburg's election disposes of any chance for a disarmament conference in the estimable future, according to most of the administration officials here. As they see it, he is not doing it, France has been casting about for a plausible excuse for declining an invitation and the advent of the German war chief to the presidency of the German republic furnishes such an excuse.

OFFICIALS START PROBING AFFAIRS CARNEGIE BANKS

Two Institutions Have Been Closed On Order of State Secretary; Action Taken To Stop Run by Depositors

PITTSBURG, Apr. 28.—State and federal banking officials Monday began investigating the affairs of two Carnegie banks, the Carnegie Trust Company and the First National Bank of Carnegie, which closed their doors yesterday morning.

The trust company was the first to close on orders from Peter G. Cameron, state secretary of banking, who said "the reserve fund of the Carnegie Trust Company has been below legal requirements for some days."

The First National closed a few minutes after opening, officials stating that they had received "on their own account" to prevent a run on the bank. Both institutions, of which John T. Bell is president, are located in Carnegie, Penna.

Adding to this statement that the reserve funds of the Carnegie Trust Company were below legal requirements, Secretary Cameron said: "Although every effort has been made by the company to build up the reserve fund, it has failed to do so, and the frozen condition of its assets which, in turn, is a direct result of the stagnation that has obtained in the bituminous coal industry, he said, the exact amount of the reserve fund is not known, but it is believed to be less than the required amount."

Stock Flurry Fails To Disturb Treasury

American Officials Are Less Alarmed Than Surprised; Swanson Sees Trouble Ahead

Service Is Made Theme By Hulick In Rotary Talk

Builder of Hotel Forrest Lake Urges Broadcasting Advantages of Sanford and Community to Outside World

The necessity of every citizen joining in a co-operative effort to broadcast Sanford's wonderful advantages to the outside world, was the theme of an address before the Sanford Rotary Club by Howard Hulick, of the firm of Hulick and Hulick, builders of Hotel Forrest Lake.

After pointing out the tremendous power of advertising, Mr. Hulick said: "I believe we should broadcast the news about Sanford; its citizenship, its climatic conditions; its natural environment; its homes; its churches; its wonderful golf links; its streets; its water; its sunshine and its hopes. As we are to cater to a new population from all over the world, we should make it a point to get behind the new yacht club and the various amusement features that go to make a real tourist town and back up our city officials in making Sanford a city second to none in the South."

Mr. Hulick made a plea for 100 per cent Americanism and said he had no patience with those people who thought the American government was not good enough to live under. He said that patriotic citizens should keep their eyes on the ground for any signs of a growth of this element in this country.

Mr. Hulick spoke on the Rotary principle of service and said that all citizens should dedicate themselves to the service of their city, their country and to God.

NEW $75,000 CITY HALL TO BE READY FOR OCCUPANCY IN 2 WEEKS, SAYS ARCHITECT

Furniture and Lighting Fixtures Have Arrived and Will Be Installed When Interior Work Is Completed

Office Arrangement Is Made Convenient

Auditorium Is Considered One of The Finest Of Its Size in the Whole State

Sanford's new $75,000 City Hall will be ready for occupancy within two weeks, according to Elton J. Moughton, architect, who designed and supervised construction. All of the work is now complete except a small part of the interior decoration and staining of some of the floors.

According to City Manager Williams, the city has purchased $8,000 worth of furniture and lighting fixtures which have already arrived and will be installed immediately, making it possible for the officials of the city to move in at once.

Sanford's new city hall is considered one of the finest and most convenient city government buildings in the state. It is of the modern Spanish type and is designed with special view to the convenience not only of the city officials but of the public in the transaction of the city's business.

Clerk's Office Near Entrance on the right as one enters from Park Avenue, is the spacious office of the city clerk and back of this is the office of the city manager. On the opposite side is the commissioners' room which is large enough to accommodate a large crowd of citizens at meetings of the commission.

Back of this and with entrance from the south is the office of the public utilities and on the east side of the building are the offices of the city engineer and inspectors. All of these offices are provided with large vaults.

The second floor of the building is devoted to the auditorium, which will seat about 1,000, with a stage wide and deep enough for an ordinary performance, it is declared. The auditorium has balconies on each side and the rear of the main floor is raised, making it possible to easily view the stage from the furthest row. The seats in the front part of the hall will be detachable so that dances and other entertainments may be given on the main floor.

The hallways are broad with plenty of desk closets for the public, and the city clerk's office is so arranged that business may be transacted through the windows opening into the hallway.

From a single hill, Mr. Lee has dug 65 pounds of white yams and thereby established what is believed to be a record for this county. Mr. Lee proudly exhibited the potatoes to a group of curious passersby Monday afternoon at The Sanford Herald office.

The largest potato taken from the hill weighed exactly nine and one half pounds while six of the largest specimens totaled 27 1/2 pounds. All of the yams were sound and declared to be excellent for table use.

"Geneva has one of the liveliest chambers of commerce of any small town in the state," said Leon L. LeRoy, president of the body, who was in Sanford this week looking after the publicity for the big barbecue and cross-state road meeting there on Thursday.

According to Mr. LeRoy, the Geneva chamber was organized three weeks ago with 15 charter members, and at the meeting last week, this number was increased to 37 with eight applications to be acted upon.

Leon L. LeRoy is president; Henry Levy, vice president; and M. E. Dooley, secretary and treasurer. The board of governors is composed of Leon L. LeRoy, Henry Levy, M. E. Dooley, H. H. Pattishall, Rev. M. E. Gohard and Mr. Sheldon.

The Geneva Chamber of Commerce is working in close conjunction with the Sanford Chamber of Commerce in putting over the $1,750,000 bond issue in Seminole county, it is declared, and in working for the linking up of the cross-state road from Titusville to Crystal River, which will pass through Seminole.

LOCALS DROP FIRST GAME OF CRUCIAL SERIES

Saints Capture First Contest From Celery-Feds By Score 2-1; Game Is Protested

Two Hurling Aces In Pitching Duel

St. Petersburg Scores In Fifth and Eighth; Locals Score In 2nd

In a game which was finished under protest made in the eighth inning by Nick Carter, manager of the Sanford team, St. Petersburg defeated the Celery-Feds Monday afternoon on the local grounds by a score of two to one.

Alverson pitching for the Celery-Feds and Edwards hurling for the Saints were about evenly matched, Alverson allowing six hits, Edwards seven. The local moundman allowed three of his hits in the fifth, which gave the visitors their first tally.

In the eighth, the Saints made another score on a play which caused the protest of the Sanford management. Brown went to first on an overthrow from short. Thompson recovered the ball behind first and threw to second for a putout. The visitors "kicked" on the decision, claiming the ball hit the railing in front of the bleachers. On being informed by the official scorekeeper that this was so, the umpire changed his decision, Nick Carter continuing the game under protest. With Brown on second, Barner batted safely, advancing Brown to third and Brown scored on Doyle's out to center. Block then went out to right and Barnes was caught off first, retiring the side and leaving the Saints with two runs to one for Sanford.

The score in the second inning when with one out, Bailey hit safely through short, and Stanzack hit for two bases scoring Bailey.

Umpire Ross got in bad with the fans soon after the game started, and in the fifth on a decision at second, he riled them some more and riled Walzak to such a degree that he was banished from the game. Walzak taking his place, Block hit safely past third; Edwards followed with a hit to the same place; Allen batted safely tilling bases; Abel was out on foul and Shannon hit a high fly to center, Block scoring on the play. On the home run, the second Edwards was called safe, which decision Walzak and the fans disputed.

In the seventh, the umpire again ruffled the Celery-Feds when it was claimed that he allowed four strikes on Abel.

FORD, FIRESTONE AND EDISON UNITE TO BREAK RUBBER MONOPOLY NOW HELD BY GREAT BRITAIN

AKRON, O., April 27.—Three great American minds are about to engage Great Britain in a trade war in an effort to save millions of dollars yearly to those affected by the high prices of rubber.

They are Henry Ford, Harvey S. Firestone and Thomas A. Edison.

Two years ago Firestone, prominent tire manufacturer, suggested that America should produce its own rubber in retaliation for the British crude rubber restriction act, which curtailed production and exportation of raw product.

This suggestion now has become a warning, because of the furthering of the restriction act by Great Britain.

And to this end Ford, Firestone and Edison are bending their efforts to produce rubber in this country on large land holdings in Florida.

"Rubber restrictions this year will cost American car owners at least $100,000,000 and it very likely will be nearer $300,000,000," Firestone says. "Every 10-cent advance in the cost of crude rubber means an additional burden of about $75,000,000, loaded upon the American people."

40 Per Cent in Tires

"About 80 per cent of the world's supply of rubber is grown in the British possessions of the Far East. America consumes 75 per cent of the world's supply. Eighty per cent of the rubber consumed in America goes into automobile and truck tires.

"Rubber was around 14 cents a pound when the restriction act became operative. Today it is 200 per cent higher and indications point to further advances."

Ford, Firestone and Edison have been carrying on extensive investigations in Florida. On the Ford and Edison estates in Fort Myers, Fla., some very promising rubber trees are growing. On the Ford farm near Labelle and on the government experimental farm near Cocoaanut Grove some varieties of rubber trees, plants and shrubs are growing in a very encouraging manner.

During a recent conference of the three men in Florida, Edison made several important suggestions regarding new processes of extraction—something different from the methods now in vogue in the Far East.

Plantation in Liberia

It is believed by Edison that a greatly improved method of extraction is possible and that it may be advantageous in hastening yields of latex and greatly reduce cost of production.

Firestone is determined that Americans shall produce their own rubber. He was instrumental in having Congress vote an appropriation two years ago, giving $400,000 to the Department of Commerce for investigation of new sources of rubber supply, and $100,000 to the Department of Agriculture for experimental purposes.

He now has a complete organization in Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, operating a rubber plantation, preparing to plant rubber on an extensive scale.

"The British restriction act limits production and exportation to just one-half the normal crop," Firestone says.

"Americans must awaken to the necessity of doing something to relieve the grip now held by foreign interests on a commodity so important to our welfare and prosperity."

Washington Is America's Show Place; Nothing Mars Beauty, Says Stewart

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON, Apr. 28.—This, in the very nature of things, is America's show place.

No other capital in the world is so distinctly nothing but a capital. London, Paris, Rome, Berlin, Tokyo, Buenos Aires—they're capitals. But they're something else, besides. They're industrial and commercial centers first, and centers of government only incidentally.

Washington is just a capital. She needs to look the part. People go to New York, Chicago, St. Louis—towns like that on business. They pay no attention to the way these towns look. They may think they look like hades but they don't care.

They come to Washington from north, south, west and a few miles east just to feast their eyes. Visitors even come from abroad, sometimes on official errands, and sometimes simply to pay their respects, like the Prince of Wales, and it ought to be the point of pride with all Americans to have them favorably impressed.

Washington always has lived up to its job fairly well. Climatologically it isn't much to brag about—raw and nasty in winter, and in summer hotter than Dutch love. That can't be helped. But scenery isn't bad. The public buildings make a tolerably satisfactory showing, especially the older ones. Some of the newer samples run a little too much to "simplicity of line" for my taste. A dry goods store has "simple lines." Still, all in all architecturally, Washington is a handsome city.

Topographically, its situation is pleasing. It isn't spectacular, like Rio de Janeiro's for instance, but in a quiet way it flatters the eye. Back from the broad, dignified Potomac a nice flat stretch of bottom for business purposes, and then come the hills—nothing tremendous and overpowering but a pretty background.

Above all, Washington is a city of numerous open spaces, parks, squares, triangles and circles of green. A good many of them are disfigured by some pretty poor statuary but a fair share of it measures up reasonably well and a few enclosures are very high-class. Even the ugly ones are so screened by dense foliage that the general impression is more than favorable—in summer, at any rate.

That's the real beauty of Washington—her trees, lining the streets even in the business district, and her little parks—in the business district too, where by contrast, such spots of verdure look their loveliest. These are the features which made the capital as delightful as it was, and generally speaking still is.

And now a change threatens a change calculated to reduce Washington to the dull, drab, utility level of Pittsburgh, Cleveland—any other Rabbittown.

The three accursed automobiles and quadruply condemned trolley are responsible. Washington's streets, wide as they are, aren't wide enough for the swarm of these honking, blating things. Merchants are insisting that roadways be extended and sidewalks correspondingly shrunk to make room for more. It's been done in several instances. Worse is to follow.

With these moving backward of each line, down come the trees. There's talk of mutilating the old elms even along the avenue of the presidents, to get double-deck buses get by. Autoists are clamoring also for the paving of the green spaces to make parking places for their cars.

They'll turn the capital into a gasoline filling station if they have their way.

This town belongs to the country. The country ought to come and get an eye full of what the utilitarians are doing. Then, if there's any sense of the artistic left in the United States a squawk will go up that may do some good.

2 Husbands Fight Over Provisions Of Will Of Their Wife

PHILADELPHIA, Apr. 28.—Common pleas court here Monday heard argument and reserved decision in an unusual case involving the disposition of the $100,000 estate of an Augusta, Ga., woman, who died two years ago.

The second of her four husbands is attempting to annul the divorce obtained from him, but he is not claiming any of her estate. If the successful the entire estate will go to Elzora McAllister, of Augusta, mother of the dead woman. The annulment is being fought by Gordon B. Sherwood, the fourth husband who would be entitled to half of the estate under the interstate laws.

The woman, whose maiden name does not appear in the court records, divorced her first husband, named Walton of Augusta. At the age of 29, in 1913, under the name of Ada Walton, she married August Krusch in New York. He went to war in 1915. In 1917, the records show Mrs. Krusch married Ralph P. Minnich, in Detroit, and two years later in 1919 she started divorce action in Philadelphia against Krusch, alleging desertion in 1915, and it was granted in 1920. On October 24, 1921, she divorced Minnich in Philadelphia and eleven days later, November 4, she married

The Story of the Dim and Hoary Past Development that formed a World. Interesting reading

The strange things that happened in the dim and hoary past made a breathless story of the development that formed a world for man. The great Gorrilla walked out of the forest and constipation, in all its horrors and with its long trail of reluctant ills, did not hamper the inhabitants. Later the Indians lived to ripe ages, and kept their hair and teeth.

This age that has developed the super-man mentally has also developed a long list of bodily ailments, and the chemist has tried to keep up in the development of remedies to combat these many ills. Perhaps the greatest laxative and health-restoring, preparation of all times is the little pink tablet called Phano-Laxative Links, as good to the taste as candy, and oh the speedy and lasting results.

Nearly all disease is traceable to derangements of the stomach or bowels, the most important organs, being the source of all energy, almost all troubles—the common cold, consumption, fever, etc., are due to a loss of vitality caused by imperfect stomach or bowel action. Indigestion and constipation form the starting point for a whole list of ills.

Go to Lane's Drug Store or Dean's Pharmacy today and get a box of Laxative Links, and see how good they will make you feel. Prove to your own satisfaction and they will assist nature in digesting the food and regulating the bowels more effectively than anything ever yet prepared. Druggists at Lane's and Dean's have them in stock and they carry its recommendation and guarantee. Be sure to get the Pink Candy Lozenges in the Pink Package. "Eat one today and feel great." They will be glad to send you a FREE trial packet.

Are you thoroughly acquainted with the issues involved in the proposed bond election to be held next Tuesday? Do you know the routes of the new highways? Will it benefit the county to have hard surfaced roads built around remote lakes and private estates?

The citizens of the County have a right to say where their roads will be located. They have a right to know whether or not they are adding to their own convenience and comfort or building up the fortunes of a few individuals when they burden themselves with more bonds.

The issues will be discussed at a public meeting at Lake Mary tonight at 8 o'clock. Don't miss this meeting.

Sid Sees The Game

Umpire Ross held "court" proceedings in front of the grandstand yesterday afternoon in the eighth inning, and his decision was protested by Manager Nick Carter of the Celers-Fels.

The umpire was the cross-examination, several of the Saints were prompters and Felix Frank, official scorer was the "witness."

And the Sanford Fans Will Tell the World That Scorer Frank Makes a Mighty Good Witness for the Defendant, Good the Defendant Is the Home Team. Scorer Frank Admits Nothing Voluntarily When He Is on the "Witness Stand" in a Field Court Proceeding to Help an Umpire Make a Decision Against the Home Team.

Here's how the examination went:
Umpire (very much excited): Did that ball hit the fence?
Scorer Frank (very cool and collected): "It did not."
Saint player (prompting umpire): "Ask him if it didn't hit the bleacher railing."
Umpire (looking at Frank): "Did you ask me if that ball hit the bleacher?"
Scorer Frank: "You didn't ask me that. You asked me if the ball hit the fence."
Umpire (growing more excited): Well, I am asking you now. Did the ball hit the bleacher railing?
Scorer Frank (planned down on cross-examination): "Well, it did hit the bleacher, but I still say it didn't hit the fence and that is what you asked me the first time."
Umpire: "Safe on second."
Nick Carter gives notice of appeal and "court" adjourns and play is continued.

Walzak Just Couldn't Agree with

Alverson kept cool in the and pulled himself out of a hole, and the Saints were from scoring when it seemed were due for a rally. Walz bases full and none out, Al struck Abell out, and it was that the umpire was called the Strikes Ross. Shannon hit to end and Block was forced at and then Messner went out to first.

EMIR MUST LIVE ON OCEAN—NOBODY WANTS HIM

LARRY BOARDMAN
WASHINGTON, April 27.—His Highness Saïd Zerkedcho, "Prince of Egypt" and "Emir of Kurdistan," seems due for a life on the ocean waves and a home on the rolling deep—with the White Star steamship line foisting the bill.

Ordered deported from America, his various other countries won't let him in.

He can't stay here—and he can't go anywhere else.

All of which is causing U. S. immigration authorities no concern at all, and neither does it appear to bother his highness.

But according to George C. Tolman, assistant commissioner general of immigration, it is something for the White Star line to worry about.

"They brought him here," said Tolman, "and they're got to take him away."

"We don't care what they do with him—but they'll have to keep on having his baggage until they do it."

Deported to England.

The prince, emir, or something else, was deported to England about a month ago.

The British authorities sent him back.

Now he's waiting to be deported to France, where he lived at one time.

But French officials—as the well-known will be created from the doings and if an attempt is made to change him there.

After his trip to France, so it is reported, he is next voyage to Turkey, as he was born in Kurdistan, now a province of the Ottoman Empire.

The Turks, however, are evading the signs of sending a Poodgal Son to France, where he lived at one time.

Instead, they have declared him an outlaw!

Zerkedcho came to this country several years ago and cut quite a swath with his various high-sounding titles.

A Emir of Kurdistan he was named, wind and generally honored by society.

He married, and for a time settled down in Kentucky, his wife's native state.

When the Princess Fatma, Sultana of Afghanistan, died, he became her heir to the Egyptian crown.

He called at his White House, and also visited the State Department to establish his claim to royalty.

A Halcyon.

The last proved to be a "halcyon" work. That made him a public character, and we ordered him presence was soon granting the District of Columbia jail!

Immigration authorities made the arrest at the Egyptian legation, where they found him further pressing his claim.

"He was a clever take," said Tolman, "living off his self-manufactured titles."

He had no money, and his "royal" work, that made him a public character, and we ordered him presence was soon granting the District of Columbia jail!

According to law, the retention of an undesirable alien must be paid by the steamship line which brought him over.

"That puts it up to the Star line."

"All we're concerned with is he doesn't stay here and we to it he doesn't do that."

And in the meanwhile, the steamship line is planning a plan to sleep, is planning a plan for an indefinite ocean travel.

Songs of Today

How Ed. Waldball, Care of Seminole Hudson-Exess Co., Sanford, Florida.

Dear Ed—

Passing the home of a popular singer the other night, I heard her singing to her jelly-bean. "Lean Off My Love, Sugar, and I'll be Right Off." I know this was typical of the songs of the day. The words had no meaning and the music was as free from tune as a Mexican dog's bark. I don't know when it comes to music, I don't want to sit through one of these sessions of grand opera, but I just did, and if I had lasted I might have longer the letters would have had to carry me out on a stretcher. What I mean is that it does not take any of this high-falutin' classical music for my savage breast to be soothed. I don't want to say that I like the modern song writers to go back to that system. And if they would leave off the music, but it wouldn't be missed. If the modern songs were depleted of their words and their music, they would be all right. Just go into a music store, and look over the records, and you will find them. You'll read titles about like this: "I Love You Like a Feather But—what a nice, soft sentiment that is!" "Let Me Be a Step-Daddy to Your Kiddie for a Week"—a really offer to groom to a grass widow. "Be My Little Girl, and I'll be your Just For Tonight"—a sample of the modern soft song that is so touching when he's in a haze. "When You Kiss a Rose From Your Knee, I Got a Spine in My Hand"—undoubtedly inspired by the new Alvin Pennington stockings. "Got Some Air, Miss—You're Flat Bottomed"—classic, the only one of the auto invention of the day. "Lonesome, Dear, A Sip From Your Lip"—a cry for liquor from a starving thirst. "You Stole My Heart Away, But Call a Friend, Not a Cop"—A real warm number that indicates the famous times of jazz. "I Think I'll Write a Song with some real meaning to it, and as follows to invent me a regular tune that will fit it a song entitled "The Bird That All That Will Be"—an easy song. Now, I don't like that to the high end of time would be the "Song of Songs."

How can I be beautiful? That is the question every woman asks herself. The answer is health, radiant, glowing health. Bright eyes, clear complexion, rosy cheeks animation, make for beauty every time. What women need who are weak and run-down, and lack these requisites for good looks, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a veritable boon to women suffering from any malady peculiar to their sex. It is made of herb-ling known to the Indians and skillfully blended by chemists in Dr. Pierce's Laboratory.
