

T. J. MILLER, 78 IS DEAD AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Aged Pioneer Resident Succumbs To Sickness At 12:40 Today With Family At Side

Death today removed one of Sanford's oldest and most prominent citizens when Theo J. Miller, pioneer settler, passed away at the Fernald-Laughton Hospital following a serious illness of only a few days.

Mr. Miller died at 12:40 o'clock a kidney ailment and complications. Until an early hour this morning he had been conscious and in full possession of his faculties.

In failing health for the past three months, Mr. Miller was taken seriously ill last Wednesday. His condition grew worse and he was removed to the hospital Friday afternoon.

Mr. Miller's condition was encouraging early yesterday but attending physicians and members of the family entertained little hope for his eventual recovery because of his advanced years.

Within a few minutes after his death, word spread rapidly throughout the city and pall of gloom was cast over hundreds of friends and acquaintances, who had hoped in vain for Mr. Miller's speedy recovery.

No arrangements had been made this afternoon for the funeral services, but members of the family said that arrangements probably would not be held earlier than Thursday.

Mr. Miller was 78 years old, born Mar. 22, 1851 in Antwerp, Belgium, he came to America in 1873 as a youth of 21. The young immigrant first lived in New York, where he followed the cabinet-making trade.

Mr. Miller first came to Florida in 1877, settling at Black Point, near Jacksonville, where he resided for a year.

Mr. Miller entered the furniture and undertaking business, a line which he followed until 1922 when he retired to private life.

Mr. Miller had an unusually active business life and his career (Continued On Page 4)

19-Year Old Robber Who Flew Raiford Is Held In Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15.—(INS)—William Turner, 19-year-old Florida convict, was held here today as an escaped convict from the Florida State Penitentiary at Raiford following his arrest near Hialeah, a suburb, last night.

Turner was cornered by officers when an automobile in which he was fleeing was blocked by flood waters that had inundated a highway between Hialeah and this city.

Turner's mother, Mrs. E. W. Miller, and Lula Lloyd, of Montgomery, Ala. were arrested with the fugitive, Mrs. Miller admitted attempting to help her son to escape, authorities said.

A series of robberies committed here during the past two weeks were laid to the youth and when arrested, clipping of newspaper accounts of 18 kidnaps were found on his person.

Turner had been sought over the entire South since his escape from the Raiford prison.

EVEN TREND IN BUILDING SEEN BY BOND HOUSE

No Serious Interruption In Construction Is Imminent, Avers Head Of Straus Co.

By W. S. Cousins (Copyright 1929 by International News Service) NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—"There may come a brief period when the progress of the building industry will be impeded, but building is such a prime necessity of life that any such interruption will be of short duration."

This confident survey of building conditions in the United States was made in an exclusive interview with International News Service today by Nicholas Roberts, president of S. W. Straus & Co., Mr. Roberts based his forecast on the offices of the Straus organization all over the United States.

According to Mr. Roberts, it is improbable there will be any change of consequence in the building situation during the balance of the present year.

"While there has been a slowing down of urban building activities throughout the country during the present year," said Mr. Roberts, "it would not be correct to view this situation with any suggestion of distress."

"The present year has been a year of steady activity in the building industry," he said, "with a normal status after the tremendous post-war activities which reached their climax immediately preceding 1925."

"In order to give a clear picture of the situation, the official reports of building permits issued in the principal cities and towns of the country will prove helpful. In 1925 the estimated total of permits issued throughout the United States was $4,500,000,000. That was the greatest building year this country has ever known.

From this peak, the decline in 1926 was not of great consequence, the total amounting only to $3,000,000,000 and bringing the total to $6,000,000,000. From 1926 to 1927 there was a much more pronounced drop, the total for the latter year being $5,500,000,000. Last year there was another decline but it was inconsequential. The total was $4,800,000,000, making the total volume for 1928 $5,335,000,000.

Mr. Roberts pointed out that the current lull in building operations from month to month has been to a large extent a result of a shortage of money conditions and high rates in the money market.

"A country where," he said, "there has been a normal status after the tremendous post-war activities which reached their climax immediately preceding 1925."

FLOOD WATERS OFFER MENACE TO MAGIC CITY

Large Crew Labors To Dig Ditches In Effort To Turn Aside Stream From Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15.—(INS)—Like a thin ice glacier, a great lake of tropical flood waters draining from the Everglades, today was descending upon Miami and its vicinity.

The lake was formed when the high waters crept over the last of the Miami canal, which has already run by a flood stage at Hialeah, a suburb of Miami and inundated hundreds of acres of land.

Many persons in the local residential sections of Hialeah, however, are not so fortunate. In search of places of safety, while the waters break through the dykes of the canal.

Meanwhile a large crew of workers was passed today at a point a few miles above Hialeah to begin work on a drainage ditch in an effort to avert the impending deluge. The city of Miami yesterday voted an emergency fund of $25,000 for the construction of the ditch.

The drainage ditch will cut a cross-hatch across a low stretch of Miami, and will empty into the Bay. Authorities were hopeful that the canal would reduce the pressure of the high waters against the weakening dyke at Hialeah.

Work on the Miami Canal was started by the city of Miami and apprehension was felt that the lake of high waters would be induced to the Everglades, over the levee, toward the partial residential sections in West Miami which would suffer serious damage.

Relief organization began work in the afternoon today and is busy placing small crafts, moved from flooded streets, removing families from the water-logged sections.

High waters had crept into the business district of Hialeah and considerable damage has been done to stock raised for sale. Business is badly hampered in that city.

UPSETS FEATURE SATURDAY'S GRID MENU OF NATION

Georgia, Fordham Run Contrary To Dope To Return Victories

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(INS)—Nonchalant as a main street fire plug, football, after a mad week-end of surprises and upsets today calmly resumed the knocking of subs a trifle sillier in preparation for the game to come.

It is doubtful whether football in all its history has seen so many major casualties on so early an October date. All over the country we find teams that started off the year aimed at nothing less than a national championship working under the disappointment of games lost. In the East Yale, Princeton, Syracuse and New York University; in the South, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt; and in the Middle West Iowa-Michigan and Wisconsin, are among the higher-powered teams that failed to keep their record clean.

It is hard to say which was Sanford's most outstanding upset, Fordham's 26 to 0 defeat of N. Y. U., or Georgia's 15 to 0 surprise victory over Yale. The Violets, off to a sound start, were stopped cold by Major Cavanaugh's squad while Yale, happy over the results of a new system of play, were completely outplayed by the Georgia team.

Hardly less surprising was Princeton's loss to Brown. Though the Tiger is notorious as a slow starter, there were no signs of Brown more than a fighting chance.

Aside from the N. Y. U-Fordham affair, the remaining eastern games ran true to form with Pitt beating West Virginia by a high score; Dartmouth rolling up a mountainous score against Allegheny; Columbia having little trouble with Wesleyan and Cornell warming up in time to turn back Hampden-Sidney.

Nor were the actual upsets the only features of the day. Many of the games which had been regarded simply as wa-naps turned out to be honest, record-making ball games. Army had to come from behind to whip little Davidson and Penn was mighty glad to call it a day after whipping V. P. I. 14 to 8.

Nothing startling happened on the coast, where the two California teams University and Southern, turned back the two Washington outfits, State and University. Purely from a standpoint of good football the best game of the last week was provided at Baltimore when a highly promising Notre Dame eleven whipped Navy's hopefuls by a touchdown. The experts seem to agree that Mr. Rockne has quite a bit of football team this year—one that may be strong enough to come through a herculean schedule unmarred.

... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

THERE'S no denying an "extra something" to Chesterfield.

Call it better tobacco, or higher standards of manufacture... more skillful balance, or more expert blending... the fact remains that in Chesterfield you get a smoother shading of flavor, a richer tobacco character, a spicier aroma—without one hint of harshness or "heaviness."

Taste is what counts, in any cigarette; and in Chesterfield it's TASTE above everything!

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

LACK OF KNOWLEDGE—My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge; because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me; seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.—Hosea 4:6.

PRAYER—"Who trusts in God's unchanging love, Builds on a rock that nought can move."

We don't have to refer to fashion plates to know that the latest thing in women's stockings is legs.

Dr. Marlett says the fight against fruit flies is most encouraging. Would you think it is? There aren't any more.

Tomorrow is the last day to announce your candidacy for the commission. That is, if you want to get in in the regular way.

With all the banks merging the borrowers ought to get together also.—Miami Herald. Yes, the American Federation of Borrowers, Local Chapter #250.

Our advice to football fans is to take all the dope available, figure out carefully just which team is sure to win, then bet on the other. The odds will be in your favor.

The Palm Beach Times recommends the following names for streets in a new subdivision. Debutante Avenue, Mortgage Drive, Plumbeque Street, Foreclosure Place, Rocky Road.

Bank statements published throughout the state this month reveal the excellent condition of those banks which have withstood the onslaughts of an unusually vigorous summer.

A fifteen year old girl at Roosevelt Field dropped fifteen hundred feet with her legs tangled in lines before her parachute finally opened when scarcely two hundred feet from the earth. Result: mother fainted, daughter nonchalant, edict forbids future parachute jumping by women.

Longer skirts and corsets will be essential to the well dressed woman this winter, say the stylists. Curves are coming back, and no woman, they say, can be distinctly feminine without wearing her lady with iron hoops and stays. The female of the species has had her fling at being manly; now she must be a woman again.

These days one does not have to look into the future very far in order to envisage vast fortunes. Suppose at the end of the sixth inning in Saturday's game, you had known what was going to happen in the seventh. It would not have been hard to pick up a few thirty, forty, or even fifty to one bets. And if you had bet a thousand dollars that way, you could have retired for the rest of your life.

Certain Miamians are apparently disturbed over the proper pronunciation of the name of their city. Most of the radio announcers are saying Miami as if the final "i" were "ah," but a citizen writes to one of the local papers that the correct pronunciation is Mi (i as in high) - as (a as in dam) - i (i as in it) with the accent on the second syllable. Personally we can stand anything but Mee-ah-nee.

Dr. Kuller, well named, who flew to South America recently with Charles Lindbergh tells a good one on the Colonel. A native at Tulum, Quintana Roo, apparently not a newspaper reader, upon seeing the American party, pointed to Lindbergh and asked a friend, who the tall blond was. "Fol," replied the other, "don't you know who that is? That is Lindbergh, the man who flew around the world in one day!"

If you must fight, don't be too ambitious. A pedestrian insisted upon his right of way in Denver, Colorado. The contesting party was a heavy automobile driven by a sixteen year old girl. The girl honked; the man stopped still in the street and threw a bottle at the car. The bottle smashed; the car ran over the man killing him instantly. The coroner's jury proclaimed the auto driver by a technical knockout.

Building Permits

Miami and Miami Beach have often been referred to as the advance guard of Florida's booms and depressions. In 1925 when the boom struck Florida, it landed first in Miami, then later spread over the rest of the state. When the depression came, Miami was struggling for existence six months or a year before hard times were felt elsewhere.

Now we find that conditions in Miami are much improved. We find building permits in Miami Beach alone exceeding six and one-half million already this year. We can only assume that it will not be long before that same improved condition is felt in other Florida localities. "Miami Beach," says the Gainesville Sun, "has an answer to the wall of the pessimists who are already busy predicting that nobody will visit Florida this coming winter."

That answer is in the form of a six and a half million dollar building program up to the first of October, a total that exceeds by a considerable margin the 1924 total and stands at top figures except for the boom year of 1925. And there still remain the three months of October, November and December to round out a full year of building activity. The first week of October added three hundred thousand dollars to the little nest egg.

Since and including the year 1921, the total building permits at Miami Beach have reached the enormous figure of fifty million dollars. The people outside of Florida too should know about what is going on down here in the state in preparation for the biggest season in Florida's history. And they should be impressed with the fact that the tourist business, important and welcome as it is, is only one egg in Florida's basket.

A New Regime

There was a time when Spain was more than a romantic name, when her galleons sailed to every corner of the earth and brought back chests filled with gold and silver. Her possessions were so extensive that it was said the sun never set upon her domains. Spanish ships ruled the seas and protected her far flung commerce with the new lands recently discovered. Like other nations, however, she was not destined to remain in her exalted position as the ruler of this world.

Through the overpowering maze of circumstances which invariably unite to militate against the continued ascendancy of a country, Spain began to grow weak. Her invincible armada ran amok with the English fleet in the channel where there was written one of the most vivid pages of naval history. Her provinces began to fall from her like troops before the decimating fire of machine guns. Other nations were coming forward on every hand and were challenging the proud and haughty Spaniards.

The pace set by France and England in the contest for world conquest was denuding and Spain was rapidly pushed into the rumble seat where she has remained ever since. Handicapped by lack of coal and iron, minerals which have so large a part in the development of powerful countries, Spain has been content to rest upon the memory of her former greatness and to be the object of tourist pilgrimages made for the purpose of enjoying the historical heritages which are there. Only recently the pendulum has shown a tendency to swing the other way and evidences of new life have been shown by the country below the Pyrenees.

Under the able guidance of General Primo de Rivera, a new order of things has been instituted. Rigid economy has been practiced, manufacturing and trade have been encouraged and the people have been solicited to wake up and take a fresh lease on life. Already French naval experts are viewing with unusual interest the progress of construction upon three new Spanish cruisers whose size, speed, and armaments will exceed the best of France. No better proof could be offered that Spain has determined to "come back" than that other European nations should notice her efforts to put to sea again.

WHILE FLORIDA HAS few airports in proportion to its extent, there can be no doubt that the state, in the next few years, will be in the front rank of aviation. The principal reason for this is climate. There are not many days in a year when the weather is inopportune. Another is that the state is next to Cuba and points far down toward South and Central America. The last two years have proven that aviators who take off from Florida have comparatively quick and safe flights to the lands to the south, and it is in them that the United States will find its chief field of influence.—Tallahassee Democrat.

IS SENATE TO PROBE CHIGGER-BITE? GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS

Senator Overman—who, we trust, has been enjoying as much as we the role of a partisan of justice which has so effectively played in connection with the death of a young North Carolina woman at the national capital—a week ago was exemplifying the best qualities of one who aims to serve his own times and constituents.

Now he seems bent on trying to clinch the greatest uncompliment to the intelligence of his home people that has been offered in this generation. It must be admitted that no collection, aggregation, group, body or class of men so readily interests itself in a man's nest as the United States senate. But while the non-existent communistic menace of North Carolina is just about the senate's size, Mr. Overman should give some thought to the position in which he places his state and its handsomest elder statesman.

There has been a flood in these parts—not a devastating catastrophic affair taking hundreds of lives, and destroying millions of dollars of property, but a big fall freshet which has brought acute discomfort to many, severe financial loss to a few, washed out a gridge or so and left a deposit of mud here and there in corn and cottonfield, on fair and highway. It would be far more in point to have the senate launch an inquiry into best ways and means of cleaning this mud from a better system of state highways than a majority of the senators ever saw and to plan soup kitchens for those who have not missed a meal, rain or shine, in all their lives and who attended their customary Saturday barbecue last week than it would be to set the senate the task of determining the damage done, home, government and the body institutions of a free people by a handful of leeches who amount to no more than a chigger-bite on the body politic. What counsel in addition to that of his own fears Senator Overman has taken is not in the record; but before he calls out the guard, turns in the fire alarm and places himself at the service of the Charlotte and Gastonia police departments he should assure himself that those of his timorous friends who went down the well to search for truth have not sent him up a dead cat in the bucket.

IMPROVING LIVE STOCK Ocala Star

The Star believes that most of its readers, whether they know the difference between a scrub steer or a purchased animal or not, are much interested in steps that are being taken to revive interest in the live stock industry in Marion county. Some years ago when the voters of this county outlawed the open range, we were told that the no-fence law would drive the cattlemen from Marion county, but four years after the law went into effect they are still with us and what is more important, many of them have conformed their business to the new order of things and are raising and butchering some of the finest beefs that have ever been offered in the local market. As proof of that statement, we sat next to a cattle raiser the other evening at a small dinner party where the principal item on the menu was a steak as tender and juicy as ever came from a cold storage stein in the West—Western plains. Some one remarked on the fine flavor and tenderness of the meat. In the discussion that developed it was brought out that the cattle raiser had butchered the steer from which the tender sirloin was cut. One gentleman remarked that it was no longer necessary for Florida butchers to buy western meats with such fine cattle being offered by the local stockmen, which goes to show that real progress is being made in raising better live stock in Marion county.

What is true with reference to Marion county, is true in connection with the livestock industry in different parts of the state, particularly west Florida, where the tick eradication campaign has been pushed vigorously and the open range, ticky cow has disappeared from the picture. Commenting on the development of the livestock industry there the Tallahassee News says:

"One notable thing in connection with the movement for production of pure-bred and graded cattle in Florida is that no man who has tried it has regretted it. Those who have gone about it in a systematic and practical way have found the returns beyond their expectations.

"Since in the markets the price for graded calves from the first cross is 2 cents more per pound than for scrub stock, and a purchased yearling will bring over $60 as against something like $20 for a scrub yearling, there is no question that it pays to produce blooded stock. A purebred bull calf that can be bought for $150 will more than pay for himself the first year."

Cattlemen who have begun to realize that they can sell one purebred yearling steer for what three head of range stock would bring are turning their attention to improving their herds and some Marion county raisers who sold their holdings when no-fence law went into effect, are again entering the livestock business, seeing the possibility of greater returns from marketing fewer head of better grade animals than they obtained from scrub stock allowed to run wild on the range.

Free America From The Philippines TALLAHASSEE DEMOCRAT

For the we don't know how manyth time, a bill for Philippine independence came up in the senate Thursday. It was rejected.

Unthinking people style it and similar measures bills for the "Freedom of the Philippines." This one should have been called "Freedom from the Philippines" and it should have passed. Our Philippine possessions are America's ball and chain.

There is a provision in our national constitution against the United States annexing territory.

It is a wise provision but the American people get around it, as they do everything else that gets in their way.

After taking the Philippines away from Spain, the United States paid that conquered nation twenty million dollars for them, with Porto-Rico and Guam thrown in.

The Philippines are undoubtedly worth several times twenty million dollars to anybody who can use them.

They are worth several billions less than any money at all to the United States.

The Philippines are expected to pay the costs of their own government. Mostly they do, but the United States has spent and is spending money on them all the time.

All the money the United States spends on the Philippines could be much better spent at home.

The real reason why America retains control of the islands is that certain influential Americans have large sums of money invested there, and know they would lose part or all of it if the Philippines were given independence.

No well informed person believes that the Filipinos are fit for self government, but, as Tom Reed pithily said, "The United States is not bound to furnish canned freedom for all the world."

The United States would be better off today if the money spent in sending teachers to the Philippines a quarter of a century ago had been expended in sending the same teachers to the mountain children in a radius of two or three hundred miles of our national capital.

The Philippines give us a base for the operation of our military and naval forces when our interests in China are menaced.

It is with China like it is in the Philippines—the United States would be better off if it had no interests in China worth fighting for. The only country America is likely to have war with in the Far East is Japan, and in a war with Japan the Philippines would be a liability, not an asset.

Paper Money Has Value!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

An ancient prejudice nursed the ignorant fear and distrust of paper money. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE inspires the faith which completely accepts the printed obligation. In the interest of convenience and safety, its use is universal.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Scientists Hold An Interesting Study

"Are sin, disease, and death real?" was the subject of the lesson-lesson in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The Golden Text was from Proverbs 13:28, "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was that following from the Bible: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill" (Matt 5:17).

The lesson-lesson also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by E. J. Baker Eddy: "Now Jesus came to destroy sin, sickness, and death; yet the Scriptures aver, 'I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.' Is it possible, then, to believe that the evils which Jesus lived to destroy are real or the offspring of the divine will?"

William Haines Is Starred In Picture At Milane Theatre

A crowd of a hundred thousand or more gasped in amazement, at the Indianapolis races, when famous drivers whirled around the track in the grueling contest with faces strangely painted in brown and black.

"What's the matter?" went about the grandstand.

Finally the announcer megaphoned the solution.

"The drivers," he told the audience, "are wearing motion picture makeup."

William Haines was driving in the race in his role in "Speedway." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama of auto racing, as was Ernest Torrence, John Miljan and Karl Dane. They all wore the brown pigmentation make-up. So Jimmy Barker, the make-up man with the unit, was asked to induce the regular drivers to do the same, for photographic purposes.

"Some of them didn't want to put on age-spaint like movie actors," explains Jimmy, "but I sold them the idea that it was great protection from dust and wind in the race and that way got them to do it."

The new picture, a sound synchronized production, which will open at the Milane Theatre Wednesday, shows all the thrills of the speed classic, including several spectacular accidents, as a back-gren and for a pretty romance between Haines and Anita Page. A thrilling airplane ride, with daredevil stunts, and a sensational parachute jump, add to the thrills. Harry Beaumont, director of "The Broadway Melody," directed the new play from a story by Byron Morgan, and Ernest Torrence, Karl Dane, John Miljan, Polly Moran and Eugenie Besserer and others of note are in the cast as well as famous race drivers.

Novel "Illusion" To Be Seen, Heard Here In Movie Version

When the debutante of Park Avenue society rubs elbows with the denizens of Broadway's stage, sharks are sure to fly and hearts are sure to break in one way or both of the rival camps.

That is the working formula of Mr. Arthur Train's notable novel "Illusion" and it is also the recipe for Paramount's all-talking picture of the Train upon which costar Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll and which appears for the last time today at the Milane Theatre as the main feature.

Buddy is a successful magician, Nancy is the partner in his act. Both are circus-reared. Both are trapeze artists. Both are society-conscious, and he begins to get himself liked by the idle rich who are unaware of his far from elite background. He pays court to a young heiress who likes him very much until she learns that he is only an old circus man's son. She then jilts him.

In the meantime, Nancy, who was Buddy's first love, becomes disconsolate. She goes right on with her magic act, using a new partner, but her heart is not in the stage any more. At this point in the story, an amazing and thrilling anti-climax is introduced. It would not be fair to reveal this bit of action here.

The story is fast-moving throughout. Each characterization is clear-cut, vivid. The musical interludes which form logical intermissions for the fast and snappy dialog are exceptional in pleasing to the ear.

Wedding Principals Honored With Party

Complimenting Miss Olyve Newman and W. A. Adams, whose marriage will be solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Mrs. R. J. Holly and her daughter, Mrs. Horace Walker of Charlotte, N. C., entertained with a bridge party on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the former, 248 Park Avenue.

Throughout the evening bridge games were enjoyed by the guests after which scores were collected by Mrs. Feagin Kelly and Miss Naomi Scoggan. Miss Newman received from the hostesses, a pair of hand embroidered pillow cases, while Mr. Adams was given a silver cigarette box. Miss Adelaide Herron of Lansing, Mich. held the tally which had a picture of Mr. Adams, and was given a box of Java face powder, while Maurice Wimshish, who had the tally which had a picture of Miss Newman, was presented with a book of fiction. Miss Margaret Peters had high score among the ladies and received costume jewelry, while Maxwell Stewart, who had highest score among the men, was the recipient of a leather bill folder. The prizes were wrapped with lavender paper and tied with pink satin ribbon, accentuating the party.

Quantities of pink radance roses, love cher, and purple hearts were arranged in profusion in vases and bowls about the rooms where the party were entertained, emphasizing a color note of lavender and pink. The tables and other table accessories were designed to represent a bridal couple.

At the supper hour a salad and ice course was served with punch by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. R. J. Holly Jr., and Miss Annabelle Walker of Akron, Ohio.

Those invited to be with Miss Newman and Mr. Adams were: Mrs. Feagin Kelly of Richlands, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. R. J.
