Jackson Jubilant As Syrians Free Goodman

By Matthew C. Quinn
DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — The Syrian government freed captured U.S. airman Robert Goodman Jr. today, and a jubilant Jesse Jackson — preparing to escort the flier back home — described the move as "a victory for everybody."

Jackson, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, announced Syria's intention to release Goodman several minutes before the 27-year-old Navy lieutenant left the military compound where he had been held for 30 days. "It feels good," Goodman told reporters after his release at 11:30 a.m. local time (4:30 a.m. EST). Plans called for a U.S. government plane to pick up Goodman, Jackson and their companions in Damascus and leave for Rhine-Main Air Base near Frankfurt, West German, about 4 p.m. local time (9 a.m. EST). At the U.S. base, doctors will examine Goodman and another plane then will fly Goodman and the others on to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington, D.C., a Jackson spokesman said. After a big lunch, Goodman changed from his prisoner clothes to a dark suit and tie and appeared later by satellite on CBS's Morning News. He said during his first four days of captivity, "I was treated similar to a POW (prisoner of war) in Vietnam" but after that he said his Syrian captors treated him "except-tional ... very good." In Washington, President Reagan said he was "delighted that this brave young man will soon be united with his family and that his ordeal is over." Reagan also praised Jackson for his efforts to win Goodman's release. Reagan, who previously declined to endorse Jackson's mission to Syria, had taken that position because he thought it might not succeed if the Syrians thought the civil rights leader was acting as "an official emissary of the U.S. government," a White House aide said. In a statement issued minutes after Goodman's release, the Syrian government said its decision to free the airman was "in response to the humanitarian appeal by American presidential candidate Jesse Jackson and by the U.S. government itself."

It said Goodman's release was "a contribution by Syria for the creation of an atmosphere which would help the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Lebanon" and called on the United States to respond "by taking measures to end its involvement in Lebanon."

Goodman and Jackson denied there were any strings to the release. Goodman, a native of Portsmouth, N.H., said he learned about half an

Drug Task Force Sets Meeting On Star Of Sanford

Some 250 business and civic leaders in Sanford and the surrounding community will be invited to an informational meeting on the Star of Sanford where they'll be treated to a dinner cruise, a little dancing and a presentation on youth drug and alcohol abuse.

The dinner cruise, set for Jan. 17, is the latest move by the recently formed Sanford C.A.N. (Chemical Awareness Network) organization to bring the drug-alcohol abuse problem to the public's attention and to seek community support in combating it, according to C. A. "Tony" Liberatore, the group's vice president and publicity chairman.

Liberatore, a Lake Mary-Sanford businessman, said the invitations will be mailed out over the next several days to various business and civic leaders asking for their moral support and a commitment to participate in reducing, if not eliminating, drug and alcohol abuse in the Sanford area.

"If need be, I'm getting down on my knees to beg them to attend this meeting. After the short time I've been involved in this group, and the reports I've read about drug and alcohol abuse in this area, I'm convinced more than ever that we need to bring our business and civic leaders together to help our children," said Liberatore.

"The Star of Sanford people are absolutely fantastic to donate this cruise for this project. I guess you can say they're a love boat ... they've opened their heart to the community. And because there will be limited seating, I'm asking everyone who gets an invitation to respond as quickly as possible ... hopefully by the eleventh or twelfth of January so we can reserve the space."

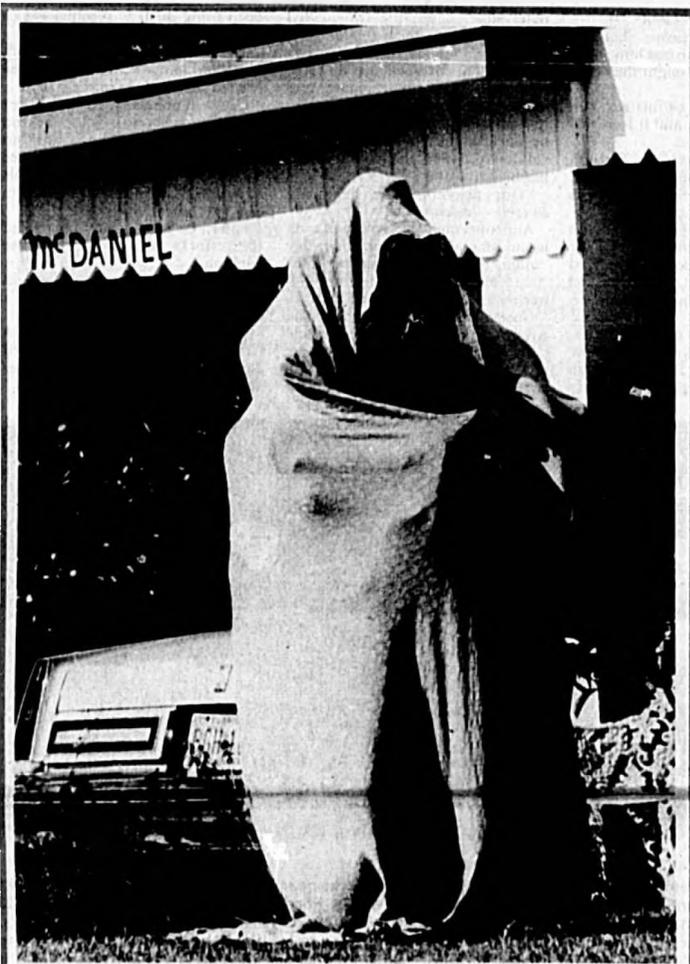

The idea for the local drug task force was sparked by a two-part program last November, The Chemical People, and organizational meetings have been held at the Sanford Police Department in an effort to bring local citizens together to educate parents about drug and alcohol abuse here.

Liberatore pointed out it is estimated that 50 percent of the Seminole County student population has experimented with drugs or alcohol, "and some kids now use them regularly or from time to time."

At one of the drug task force organizational meetings C. Tom Roll, who works for the Seminole County school board, told those attending that parents will not be able to help children who abuse alcohol and drugs until parents themselves become knowledgeable on the topic. The task force hopes, through meetings such as the one planned for Jan. 17 aboard the Star of Sanford, to bring that knowledge to parents as well as business and civic leaders, according to Liberatore.

"It [drug and alcohol abuse] isn't just among the students. It exists, as we are all becoming aware, among

County Admits Error

Flea World's Back Exit Faces Review

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Admitting it erred when it gave permission for opening a driveway onto County Road 427 from Flea World, the Seminole County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously today to set Jan. 24 as the date for a public hearing on the request.

In doing so, the commissioners upheld an appeal filed by Carl F. Lind, whose property is adjacent to Flea World, challenging the legality of their Dec. 6 decision to grant Flea World an access to County Road 427 and County Home Road.

Until the matter is resolved, Flea World owner Syd Levy said the back gate to CR 427 will be opened only when policemen on duty at the U.S. Highway 17-92 gate say traffic there is too great to be handled safely.

Included in the motion for a hearing was the stipulation that Levy pay for the cost of advertising the public hearing while the county will absorb the cost of processing.

It was pointed out by Commissioner Bob Sturm that because the county staff should have known that the requested curb cut was in violation of the special exception previously granted Levy, it should share in the cost of reapplying and holding the public hearing.

Lind questioned the legality of the commission's action since it may have violated county regulations for granting a special exception as specified in the Land Development Code.

And, in fact, just before the Dec. 6 vote County Attorney Nikki Clayton warned commissioners their action might not be legal.

One of the conditions of Levy's special zoning exception granted last year by the board of adjustment was that he only open the rear gates during non-business hours. The public hearing will be to consider a request to amend the special exception to allow use of the rear gate.

"Let's get this settled at the earliest date and get it over and done with," said Commissioner Barbara Christensen.

Other residents living along CR 427 oppose the access.

Although no one spoke out at today's meeting, area resident Edna Wren told The Herald earlier today, "I'm very upset with the county commission, there are 125 local residents who need to use 427. These Flea World vendors probably live in Orange County."

"When the county approved (the flea market's) expansion on 21 additional acres it was with the stipulation that the gate (onto 427) would be kept closed and now he (Levy) wants everything he gave up (to get the expansion)."

At the request of Commissioner Robert J. Sturm and bowing to engineers' advice and pressure from Flea World supporters, the commission voted 3-2 on Dec. 6 to allow the exits to be opened Saturdays and Sundays with the stipulation that Levy pay for additional traffic lanes on both roads and install unspecified "essential improvements" for traffic flow on the 33-acre market on U.S. Highway 17-92 across from the county's Five Points complex.

Flea World is open for business Fridays through Sundays, provides selling space for about 600 dealers and supplies 2,000 parking spaces for customers, Levy said.

The market's two entrances and only exit formerly provided access to and from Highway 17-92. Traffic reports presented at Tuesday's commission meeting indicated that 30,000 to 40,000 cars enter the property during the three business days, with 90 percent of the traffic load occurring on weekends.

Levy called "inhumane" the fact that it takes 45 minutes to get from parking lot 1 to the highway for the 50,000 to 60,000 persons coming to Flea World each weekend.

Residents of the area adjacent to the flea market, however, opposed the move on grounds that it would, they said, create a safety hazard for local drivers with the increased traffic on CR 427.

The action in opening the gate was opposed by Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn and Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who insisted the market's internal design was at fault.

France To Pull Some Troops Out Of Beirut

PARIS (UPI) — France will withdraw nearly one-fourth of its peace-keeping troops from strife-torn Beirut following a wave of attacks on French soldiers in Lebanon and bombings in France.

French Defense and Foreign Ministry spokesmen said the 482 troops would be redeployed by the end of the month in southern Lebanon with the United Nations' force from which they were drawn for duty in Beirut in September 1982.

"In agreement with the U.N. Secretary-General, it was decided that at the end of January 1984 the troops would no longer be placed with the multinational force but would be reintegrated" in southern Lebanon, a French Foreign Ministry spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said the Lebanese government "was informed" of the redeployment, which "does not modify the mission of the multinational force in Beirut, and in particular that of the French contingent to this force."

Eighty-four French soldiers have been killed and 105 wounded in Beirut since France's 2,100-man peace-keeping contingent took up positions there in September 1982 with troops from Italy, Great Britain and the United States.

The decision to reduce the force came in the wake of seven "acts of violence" against the French since Christmas in Lebanon and weekend bombings in France and followed an announcement Friday that Italy will withdraw about half of its 2,100 troops.

The multinational force also includes 1,500 U.S. Marines and 100 British soldiers.

A fundamentalist Shiite Moslem group, the Islamic Jihad, has promised attacks on French and U.S. targets because of their presence in Lebanon. It claimed responsibility for suicide truck bombings Oct. 23 that killed 241 U.S. servicemen and 58 French soldiers.

A driver for the French Embassy in Beirut was seriously wounded today by a gunman riding a motorcycle. The shooting came a day after a rocket-propelled grenade was fired at French troops guarding the French ambassador's compound. There were no casualties in that attack.

Citrus Growers Need Field Hands, But Some Migrants Still Frozen Out Of Work

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Migrant workers who have found themselves frozen out of jobs because of the severe cold over the past couple of weeks are struggling to survive and to stay warm, while citrus growers are struggling to harvest frozen crops that can be salvaged as juice concentrate.

Farm labor representative Pat Sentell of Sanford said there is plenty of work in the citrus fields, but workers who normally harvest other crops aren't necessarily qualified or capable of harvesting those fruit crops.

"We have little old ladies who normally work as cabbage processors who can't work in citrus fields," Mrs. Sentell said. "The older workers are the hardest hit. The citrus growers desperately need pickers for the next three to four weeks, but after that until new vegetable crops come in there won't be much work available for about 90 days.

'...many have been evicted from the few low rent rooms available to them in Seminole County...the situation is worse than it's ever been'

"All vegetables except onions and cabbage were wiped out by the freeze and the cabbage crop was severely damaged. Packers of fresh fruit are also out of business," Mrs. Sentell said.

Unable to work because of the cold the migrant workers have been unable to pay rent and many have been evicted from the few low-rent rooms available to them in Seminole County, according to Mrs. Sentell.

"Housing is always a problem whether it's hot or cold," she said. "But people suffer more in the cold."

About 90 of those migrant workers who have suffered through the recent cold snap have sought help from the Sanford Christian Sharing Center, which is supported by about 18 area churches.

Jean Holch, director of the center, said the demand for help has been greater than her organization can handle and there are probably 200 to 300 needy people who haven't asked for help.

"A lot of the migrants who haven't been able to pay their rent have been sleeping out on the ground in this cold," Mrs. Holch said. Some sleep along the railroad tracks.

"We tried to get wool army blankets for them, but we haven't been able to help everybody," she said. "In Orlando the churches open their doors and shelter the needy in times like this, but so far no Sanford churches have done that."

Mrs. Holch said the solution for some migrants has been to help them leave the area.

"In the past 10 days a number of people have moved on to Hanes City, but the last freeze may have wiped out the crops there. We even sent two mothers with small children back to other states. That's something we never do because our funds are limited, but these were extreme cases."

In one of those cases the mother and three children, ages one, three and five, had been sleeping on the ground for several days. When the family boarded a bus for Texas, Mrs. Holch said the three children were all ill. In the second family the

Heat On For Thieves TODAY

It was cold. How cold was it? It was so cold — 38 degrees — that someone broke into a Sanford store and stole three kerosene heaters.

Friday night, as the mercury edged it way towards uncomfortable, someone between 9:45 and 10:23 hurled a brick through the north door of Duggers General Store, 118 S. Sanford Ave., and took three kerosene heaters valued at $647, according to a Sanford police report.

The thieves left the store, owned by Joseph Wesley Duggars, 2nd Road, Lake Mary, through the same brick-made hole they entered.

No kerosene was reported stolen Friday night. The police are on the lookout for three "hot" heaters.

It's all over but the waiting. The Miami Hurricanes pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the football season in the Orange Bowl Monday night with a 31-30 victory over the #1 rated Nebraska Cornhuskers. And now they must wait for the final football polls to see if they earned the title of national champion. Bowl coverage continues in SPORTS, pages 5,6A.

Plane Wreck Contained Money And Cocaine

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — A downed single-engine plane, in which the pilot and his son huddled for five days before being rescued, contained cocaine and $19,000 in cash, state and federal officials revealed.

The disclosure of the approximately one-fourth ounce of cocaine and the cash came after pilot Tony Meek, 36, and his son, Brian, 14, were released New Year's Eve from Albuquerque's Presbyterian Hospital.

Meek's wife, Charlene, 35, died of the injuries she suffered in the Dec. 23 crash. The family was from Fort Lauderdale and had been flying the single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza 35 from Pueblo, Colo. to Salt Lake City.

A spokesman for the New Mexico State Police said no charges have been filed in an investigation is continuing.

Snowstorms and the absence of an emergency locator beacon on the plane hampered rescue teams searching for the downed aircraft.

Federal Aviation Administration officials have discussed possible action against Meek, a Boise, Idaho, native who runs an aircraft salvage business, for his failure to have an emergency locator transmitter on board.

Guests Flee Hotel Fire

BOSTON (UPI) — An electrical explosion and fire sent thick, acrid smoke billowing through the new 37-story Westin Hotel in the downtown area, forcing dozens of guests to flee, many of them overcome by the fumes.

Sixty-five people, including 22 employees, 17 guests and 26 firefighters, were treated for smoke inhalation at local hospitals following the blaze Monday morning.

The three-alarm blaze, reported at 11:45 a.m., caused more than $500,000 in damage to the posh hotel, which opened in 1983, the spokesman said.

The fire was believed to have been caused by a short circuit in an electrical vault in the sub-basement.

Winter Park Men Claim Sunken Treasure Ship

By United Press International

Three Winter Park men claim they have the right to plunder a shipwreck that may contain $45 million to $70 million worth of booty from the California gold rush.

The trio and a Louisiana company are preparing for a legal fight over the salvage rights to the wreck of what is believed to be the steamship Central America which sank off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The rival private groups are Underwater Completion Team (UCT) of New Iberia, La., and three Winter Park men — Don P. Coverdell, Harvey E. Morse and Phillip Allen.

AIDS Hotline Established

MIAMI (UPI) — Blood donors who think they are carriers of AIDS soon will be able to dial a confidential hotline to stop transfusions of their blood without fear of harassment by employers, family or friends.

The hotline goes into service Jan. 9 and is designed to provide extra protection against the spread of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome through community blood banks.

The risk of contracting AIDS from blood transfusions is less than one in a million, but that figure would be even lower if AIDS carriers had a secret method of confiding in blood bank officials. Tom Donla of the South Florida Blood Service said Monday.

Frozen Crops To Mean Higher Prices

By United Press International

Orange juice prices are expected to increase by about 2 cents nationwide as an embargo kept fresh Florida fruit damaged by the Christmas cold snap out of the marketplace. Damage estimates for Texas' produce and fish industries climbed toward the $400 million mark in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Texas Gov. Mark White has been pressing for a presidential disaster declaration to provide emergency aid to four Valley counties — Willacy, Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron — and state employment officials worked to begin finding jobs for unemployed farmworkers.

The Florida Citrus Commission imposed a week-long ban on exports of all fresh fruit at 7 a.m. Monday to keep damaged fruit from northern markets and injuring the image of the billion-dollar industry. A limited embargo will continue for an additional 14 days on any fruit that fails to pass inspection.

Earl Wells, a spokesman for the Florida Citrus Mutual, said consumers could expect to pay up to 2 cents more per can of frozen concentrate orange juice. He said the commission will import juice from Brazil to make up

"most of the shortfall we have here."

Wells said fresh fruit prices also would increase, but added the Citrus Mutual and the Citrus Commission could not estimate new prices "for a few weeks."

"On the fresh market, we expect prices to go up slightly — more for grapefruits than oranges because I understand the grapefruit crop in Texas was completely wiped out," Wells said.

In Austin, Texas, White's press aide, Ann Arnold, Monday said White had tried repeatedly to call President Reagan in California, where he is on vacation.

The governor left Monday on a trip to the Middle East, but Ms. Arnold said he had not given up on the disaster declaration. "The governor has made several telephone calls," she said, "but the president has not returned the calls."

Pat Joiner, associate administrator of the Texas Employment Commission, said commission employees "will start taking claims immediately" if the declaration is handed down.

"We already have reports of $200 million (in damage) to the fruit and vegetable industry," said Robert Lansford, coordinator for the governor's emergency management division. "The loss to the fish industry is going to be up there, if not more."

"Then there is the long-term economic injury and losses to other businesses dependent on the agriculture industry like farm implements and tractor companies," he added. "It is very hard to determine right now what the total impact is going to be."

White toured groves of rotting citrus fruit and fields of vegetables ruined by a brutal cold snap last month, which he estimated put 100,000 farmworkers out of work.

Joiner said the commission began working Christmas Day to find jobs for those farmworkers. He said most efforts so far have been to get workers to speed the harvest of ruined oranges and grapefruits that can be salvaged for juice and once that was done, it would try to find other jobs for workers.

"We plan to contact other states. We're drafting letters now to surrounding states to see if there's anything these folks are compatible with," he said.

hour before his release that the Syrians were ready to free him.

A Syrian officer brought the news, he said.

"I knew I could trust this guy, and I could believe him, and it feels real good," Goodman said.

Goodman's father, Robert Goodman Sr., contacted in York, Pa., described the Syrian move as "a marvelous situation."

"He survived his ordeal in the air and on the ground in captivity," the elder Goodman said. "We're glad he's coming out of it with honor and we're pleased to have the nation celebrate with us."

Within minutes of his release, Goodman was driven in a white Mercedes to the Syrian Foreign Ministry and then on to Jackson's hotel suite. Later, the two invited reporters to join them for lunch at the hotel.

Goodman, dressed in a beige terrycloth shirt, blue pants and sneakers, also wore a blue ribbon on his shirt resembling the ribbon used by Jackson as his own symbol of solidarity with the black bombardier-navigator.

"Our prayers have been answered," Jackson said.

Announcement of Goodman's release came after Jackson's four-day "moral appeal" to President Hafez Assad and other Syrian officials to free the American flier.

Goodman was shot down by the Syrians in Lebanon Dec. 4, while participating in a U.S. air strike against Syrian-held positions. The Syrian anti-aircraft batteries had been firing on U.S. reconnaissance flights.

The pilot of Goodman's aircraft, Lt. Mark Lange, was killed as he tried to parachute to safety.

U.S. Ambassador Robert Paganelli, who was with Jackson when he announced the Syrian plan to free Goodman, said the release had been "associated with appeals by the U.S. government" made to the government of Syria.

Later, he said, "We appreciated the efforts of the Rev. Jesse Jackson."

But some members of the Jackson delegation challenged Paganelli's original statement.

"I think he could have been a little more gracious (toward Jackson)," said Unitarian minister Jack Mendelsohn of Boston.

Near Miss

Two Sanford residents escaped injury at Southwest Road and 13th Street, Sanford, when a driver drove around a railroad crossing barricade and was struck by a train. According to Highway Patrol trooper J.L. Smith, Kenny Lister Jordan 19, of #5 Cowan Moughton Terrace, was heading east on 13th Street at 1:57 p.m. Saturday when he drove his 1971 Oldsmobile around the barricade at the tracks near Southwest Road. Across the tracks in a 1982 Ford was Ethel P. Franklin, 43, of 1823 Coolidge Ave. When Jordan crossed the tracks, according to Smith, a northbound train traveling at 50 mph struck the end of his car and pushed it into the Franklin vehicle. Neither driver was seriously injured. Jordan was cited for driving around the barricade.

Sanford Hit By Rash Of Robberies

Three strong arm robberies and a holdup pulled off by a shotgun-toting bandit are keeping Sanford and Seminole County investigators busy.

An unarmed man intimidated the clerk at a Sanford convenience store Monday night into giving him an undisclosed amount of money from the cash register.

According to a police report, the man entered the Cumberland Farms store, 217 S. Park Ave., and asked for a pack of cigarettes, handing the clerk a $5 bill. When the clerk opened the register, the man took back his $5 and forced the woman back from the register.

The robber, who according to the clerk has been in the store before, took in excess of $50 and fled on foot.

In another incident, a Sanford woman lost $1,100 and was struck unconscious by her robbers.

Jessie L. Whitaker, 47, of 3840 S. Beardall Ave., went into her home Monday at 2 p.m. after doing yard work and was confronted by two bandits.

One of the two men grabbed her, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report, and said, "Don't make me kill you."

As the men held Ms. Whitaker, the second robber ransacked the trailer, taking $10 from her purse and $1,100 cash she had in a jar in a closet.

Before the men left, one of them hit her on the head, knocking her unconscious.

Ms. Whitaker refused emergency medical treatment from a Seminole County Fire Department unit.

A K-9 unit from Lake Mary was brought to the scene to track the robbers but was unsuccessful.

On Saturday, a man with a sawed-off shotgun robbed a 'Lil' Champ convenience store at 1119 E. 25th St., Sanford, of an undisclosed amount of money.

According to a Sanford police report, a man entered the store shortly before 9 p.m. carrying the shotgun under his jacket. He told two clerks to put the money from two registers into a paper bag and then lie behind the counter. The robber then left, direction of travel unknown.

A Sanford bar owner was robbed of cash when two men rushed by him about 8:15 p.m. Saturday and took a cash box he was carrying.

John Wesley McFayden Jr. told police he was walking to the back of the JW Bar, 322 Sanford Ave., when two men ran up from behind, took a gray metal cash box he was carrying and ran out the back door.

The box contained an unknown amount of cash.

employees in various businesses to the detriment of those businesses. It's estimated that out of every group assembled, say, in a plant, or other kind of business, 10 percent of that group has a problem with drugs or alcohol. Hence, we feel it's extremely important to get business leaders to attend these meetings to tell us, 'Yes, we'll give a day or two a month of our time to this project.' That's what it'll take, a commitment from all of us to participate ... learn all we can about the problem ... find out what we can do about it. Our group will act as a liaison for anyone who has a problem with drug or alcohol abuse. They come to us, we'll refer them to the proper agency and work with them in any way we can to help them overcome the problem, or help them help their children or employees overcome the problem," Liberatore added.

"We asked the fine people at the Star of Sanford if they wouldn't cooperate with us because we knew that would help us get the attendance. We're going to shoot for some state dignitaries to be on hand at the Jan. 17 cruise. Boarding will be at 8:30 p.m., departure about 7:15, then we'll cruise and have dinner, and then we'll show a film and have a few speakers. After that, there'll be a little time for dancing. We expect to return to Sanford around 10:30 p.m."

Liberatore said the group's future goals will not be limited to meetings and referrals. He said they hope to establish a local teen center where area youth can go for recreation and other activity aimed at giving them something positive to do, rather than turning to drugs or alcohol. Liberatore said the group hopes to bring the youth and retired seniors together, "seniors who have little to do, but still have a lot to offer ... expertise that the kids can benefit from." —Tom Giordano

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israelis Reopen Huge Detention Camp

SIDON, Lebanon (UPI) — Religious and military leaders in south Lebanon charge that Israeli occupation forces are holding more than 500 Palestinians and Lebanese at a reopened detention camp.

The reopening of the sprawling Ansar camp, disclosed Monday in interviews with local leaders, came apparently in response to the continuing attacks on Israeli forces in south Lebanon.

The camp, located 35 miles south of Beirut on a barren hilltop, was emptied Nov. 23 when 4,500 Lebanese and Palestinians held there were released for six Israelis held by the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Israeli military spokesmen in Tel Aviv would not discuss the camp but Mustapha Saad, a Moslem leader in Sidon, near Ansar, said the Israelis were holding 500 Lebanese and 60 Palestinians.

"They (the Israelis) are forcing us into religious and racial hatred," Saad said. "There are pretexts for the arrests, but most of all they want to pressure people into working for them."

Nigerian Council Meets

LONDON (UPI) — Nigeria's new military leader called the first meeting of the ruling Supreme Military Council today to name a new Cabinet and decide whether to reopen the country's borders, radio reports said.

Gen. Mohammad Buhari and his supporters seized control of Africa's most populous nation Saturday and toppled the elected civilian government of President Shehu Shagari.

Buhari announced a crackdown on corruption Monday and said his regime would jail crooked civil servants without bothering with what he called the "nonsense" of legal proceedings.

Buhari indicated that the new Cabinet may consist of military and civilian ministers.

After toppling the Shagari government, Nigeria's new rulers said mismanagement had caused oil-rich Nigeria to become a "beggar nation."

Israelis Bomb PLO Base, Ammo Dump

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Four Israeli warplanes bombed and set ablaze a Palestinian guerrilla base and an ammunition depot in a retaliatory strike southeast of Beirut today, drawing intense ground fire from the Syrian-held area.

State-run Beirut radio, quoting Lebanese military sources, said the warplanes made a second bombing raid over the region about three hours later, but there was no independent confirmation of a second strike from Israeli officials.

The Christian Voice of Lebanon radio said the jets may have been on a reconnaissance sweep and not a second bombing run.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv identified the target as a base of Abu Mousa's Palestine Liberation Organization rebels. It said warplanes hit two buildings used by the rebels after the Israeli withdrawal from the Shouf last September.

On The Roof

In the shadow of a transmission tower, Bob Avey, 25, rips off portion of the roof at the Southern Bell local switching office, 501 W. 9th Street. The re-roofing, which began last week, is expected to take 4 to 6 weeks. Those cylindrical attachments to the tower aren't bongo drums as used in jungle communication. According to Southern Bell manager Larry Strickler they're transmission dishes — and a bit more sophisticated. They also receive messages.

Temik Ban Lifted

ORLANDO (UPI) — State agriculture officials have lifted the 11-month ban on the pesticide Temik, saying the chemical is not as dangerous as they had believed.

The highly toxic pesticide was most frequently used by citrus growers to rid their trees of worms and mites until the state's Department of Agriculture banned its use last year.

The ban was imposed after the pesticide was discovered in a number of drinking water wells. State officials have since learned the pesticide levels in the water were within federal safety standards.

In addition, they found that although Temik is highly toxic, it does not build up in the human body nor does it cause cancer, birth defects or reproductive difficulties.

The ban was lifted Sunday, with certain restrictions. Citrus growers can apply the pesticide only once a year and only between Jan. 1 and April 30, the state ruled.

State records show 85,359 acres in Florida are to be treated with Temik during the next four months.

Temik's manufacturer, Union Carbide Agricultural Products, Inc., said they are confident that limitations on the chemical's use will keep it from invading the state's groundwater.

Union Carbide had maintained the ban was unnecessary because Florida's high temperatures and dense populations of microscopic organisms in its soil would cause Temik to break down rapidly.

Woman Accused Of Hitting Deputy Set To Enter Plea

A Daytona Beach woman charged with battery on a law enforcement officer is scheduled to enter a plea of guilty or no contest in Seminole County Circuit Court Wednesday.

Elizabeth Ann Conley, 29, of 430 S. Ridgewood Ave., is scheduled to enter her plea before Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. and faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

She was arrested Sept. 20 after a deputy attempted to arrest her for drunk driving near Sanford.

Sheriff's deputy James W. Virgin gave this account of the incident:

A woman drove into the Imperial gas station on State Road 46 at Interstate 4 at about 1 a.m., got out of the car, staggered, entered the station and used loud and profane language when she saw Virgin.

Virgin advised her that she should not be driving in her condition and recommended she call someone to come pick her up. Virgin said he left the station and 15 minutes later he spotted the woman's car, westbound on State Road 46, and saw it cross the center line several times.

Virgin pulled the car over, and as he approached the vehicle, the woman pushed her door open "as hard as she could," striking Virgin's legs. She got out of the car, grabbed Virgin around the neck and "started to fight."

He wrestled with her, she knocked his eyeglasses off, and he finally handcuffed her.

Another deputy arrived and assisted Virgin in placing the woman in the back seat of the patrol car and taking her to the Seminole County jail.

At the jail, she became violent again, and it took four correctional officers to place her in a holding cell.

Conley is out of jail on a $5,000 bond.

AT & T After The Break-Up

Repair Visits Will Cost, Even If Nothing's Fixed

Third in a Series

Editor's note: In the following, Southern Bell answers some of the most commonly asked questions about the AT & T divestiture.

TELEPHONE LINES: REPAIR

1. Q. What does a customer do if something goes wrong with his telephone service after divestiture, and he needs to get it repaired?

A. After divestiture, Southern Bell will continue to repair telephone lines, that is, any part of the customer's service between our connection to his house or business and our central office.

However, we will not provide repair service for equipment purchased or leased from any other company.

Before calling Southern Bell, it is important for the customer to make certain the problem needing repair is not in a telephone set. If a Southern Bell repair person visits a house or business and finds the problem is in the customer's equipment and not in our lines, the customer will be charged for the visit. And the repair person will not repair the equipment.

2. Q. How can a customer tell whether the problem is with Southern Bell or if it's in the telephone itself?

A. Here's how. If the customer has plug-in phones, he can unplug the one where the problem is noticed, then plug another phone into the same outlet to see if the problem still exists. If it does not, the problem is probably in the first phone. If the customer does not have modular phones, he should check other phones to see if the problem occurs on them, too. If it does, the problem may be in the wiring or our lines.

3. Q. What if the customer has only one phone, how can he or she tell where the problem might be?

A. If the customer has only one phone and is unsure where the problem is, he or she should contact Southern Bell's repair service.

4. Q. Where does the customer find the telephone number for repairing the company's part of the service?

A. The Southern Bell repair service number is listed in the Customer Guide pages of the telephone directory.

BILLING

1. Q. Will a customer get separate bills for the long distance calls handled by Southern Bell and those handled by other companies?

A. With divestiture, the customer bill will have a new look. There will be separate sections for billing local service, Southern Bell long distance, leased equipment, AT&T long distance calls and the calls of any other long distance companies that have arranged for Southern Bell to provide billing service, and for other companies for which Southern Bell may provide billing service.

2. Q. If a customer has a question about charges that appear on his bill, who does he call?

A. Each section of the bill will have on it a number for the customer to call if he needs assistance or information about charges that appear on that section.

3. Q. Will the customer have to send separate payments for each section of the bill?

A. No. The customer will send a single payment to Southern Bell to cover the entire bill. Southern Bell will then apply the credits to the appropriate companies.

LONG DISTANCE

1. Q. How will long distance service be affected by divestiture?

A. Southern Bell will continue to provide local and long distance service within designated service areas. Other companies will provide long distance service between those areas?

2. Q. How does this change the way a customer will make a long distance call?

A. If a customer doesn't want to change his present long distance service, then no action on his part is required. He'll continue to dial calls as he does now.

If the customer chooses to have long distance service provided by long distance companies other than Southern Bell and AT&T, there will be changes from the way he now places such calls.

3. Q. What determines whether a long distance call is handled by Southern Bell or AT&T?

A. As a provision of divestiture, the Bell companies' operations in each state have been divided into a series of geographical areas, called Local Access Transport Areas, or LATAs. Southern Bell can provide long distance service within each of its LATAs. However, it cannot provide long distance service from one LATA to any other LATA, even when both LATAs are within the same state and are served individually by Southern Bell.

Few Cheer As Ma Bell Rings Out With Old Year

By Gail Collins
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Telephone service as Americans have always known it went out with the old year in the biggest business breakup in U.S. history.

As of Sunday morning, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. ceased to exist. In its place there was a new, trimmed-down AT&T (initials only, please), along with seven new regional telephone utilities.

There was little cheering. "I think it probably was a big mistake to break up AT&T," said Floyd Clark, a retired Postal Service employee in Portland, Ore. "It has created a lot of confusion. I'm afraid it will be more costly. I just don't see any benefit from it."

The divestiture was the culmination of years of court battles and Justice Department antitrust suits.

In 1982, AT&T agreed to a settlement that would allow it to continue offering long distance service, and to compete for the first time in unregulated businesses. But the price was the 22 local Bell operating units, which were spun off under the new regional holding companies.

Bell officials repeatedly assured customers their phones still would work as usual in 1984.

"If people do nothing at all — they still will get service just as before," said Dean Stearns, a New England Telephone Co. spokesman in Portland, Me., who reported "an enormous flood of callers."

"We certainly expected a large increase in inquiries but not this much," Stearns said. "Many can't get through and our service representatives are swamped. People just shouldn't become overly distraught about this."

In states from California to Virginia, the new year meant new and higher phone rates — the first wave of what experts said would be a national trend for higher local service costs, coupled with possible savings on long distance usage.

In the good old days that ended Dec. 31, AT&T ran a system that subsidized some customers, particularly local residential users, with profits from long distance and business phone service. Now the local Bell systems are trying to recoup the money they are losing in long distance income.

"It'll probably make my home phone bill go sky high," said Kathy Coleman of Columbia, S.C.

"I guess it'll cost me some money. These things always do," said Bill Cooney, of San Rafael, Calif.

From now on, there no longer will be a single place to call when telephone problems arise. AT&T owns all the telephones formerly leased from the Bell system. AT&T, along with competitors like MCI and Sprint, will provide long distance connections. The Bell companies will handle local service.

"People are going crazy over this," said Jon Grant, spokesman for the Public Service Commission in Atlanta.

Grant's personal nightmare is that consumers will call for help, "and after being put on hold for 20 minutes, they'll find the particular company no longer takes care of their problem."

Even worse, Grant's consumer could summon a repairman from the local phone company, only to be told that the problem lies in an AT&T-owned telephone. In the world of post-divestiture, the repairman will depart, leaving behind a still-broken phone and a hefty bill for the futile visit.

Bills will be longer and more numerous. AT&T will continue to bill through the Bell companies for a while, but expects to start issuing its own separate invoices for phone rentals soon, and for long distance calls later.

In the meantime, the very sight of a bill that itemizes local, two kinds of intra-state long distance, and inter-state long distance calls individually should be enough to bewilder even the well-informed consumer.

Army Suffers Huge Losses

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Rebels claimed they killed or wounded nearly 30 percent of the U.S.-trained Salvadoran army in 1983 and regained control of a key northern province after overrunning the region's central garrison.

Salvadoran Defense Ministry spokesmen said the military high command held an emergency meeting Monday to analyze the situation after the defeat at the El Paraiso garrison and the guerrillas' destruction of the country's most important bridge Sunday.

The rebels' Radio Venceremos said Monday that 7,169 government troops had been killed or wounded, 1,768 others taken prisoner and 3,690 weapons were captured during military action in 1983.

The Defense Ministry did not comment on the rebel claim.

Thanks, Thanks, And Thanks Again

As every American over 30 years of age must know, Dr. Albert Sabin developed an oral vaccine that, together with Dr. Jonas Salk's vaccine, helped to conquer polio, that cruelcrippler of children and young adults. No one who remembers the fear caused by even the thought of polio and its attendant paralysis can doubt that Drs. Sabin and Salk deserve just about whatever a grateful nation bestow on them, and then some.

Accordingly, it seemed especially ironic and unfair when Dr. Sabin, now 77, developed a mysterious ailment and then became paralyzed some months ago. Indeed, Dr. Sabin nearly died from the effects of his paralysis after surgery on his spinal cord in August.

Dr. Sabin's plight, his close scrape with death, and his struggle to recover were duly reported by the news media. But this was just another news story until Chicago columnist Bob Greene penned a request for his readers to give Dr. Sabin a demonstration of just how much he and his good work are appreciated.

Now Bob Greene's column is syndicated in several hundred newspapers across the country. But not every paper carries every column Greene writes. And even a widely published piece on an eye-catching topic often generates less mail than many readers might suppose. After all, it is one thing to be moved by something you read and quite another to sit down and write a letter or go to the store and buy a card.

So, Dr. Sabin, his wife and the staff at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) in Bethesda, Md., where the doctor is a patient, were astonished when about 4,000 letters and cards arrived within the first few days after the Greene column appeared. Every day since, the mail has poured in from every corner of America. School children have written. Whole classes of school children have written. Parents have written. People who can remember polio and people who cannot have written.

What they all wanted to do is say thank you to someone who did something magnificent and now could use a little cheering up himself. Did we say a little cheering up? When the mail to Dr. Sabin hit the 60,000-piece level last week and kept right on climbing, the NIH ran out of places to put it. Even the good doctor himself took advantage of a hospital-room appearance on ABC's Nightline recently to thank the public but ask that no more mail be sent to him.

Dr. Sabin reports that he is recovering slowly and with some pain, but still recovering. He may well walk again. When he was stricken with his still-unexplained malady this year, Dr. Sabin was working on a spray vaccine for measles, a disease triggering secondary infections that kill thousands of children in third World countries each year. If he completes his work successfully, new generations will be in Dr. Sabin's debt.

For now, we want to add our thanks to the tens of thousands already sent to Albert Sabin. And thanks to Bob Greene for an idea as wonderful as the season.

The People Speak

The voice of the people is heard throughout the land. This is confirmed by a new study which concludes that when people talk, politicians listen — at least if enough people are talking about the same thing at the same time.

"When there's a big change in public opinion, government tends to respond to it," said Benjamin Page, one of the authors of the study conducted for the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center.

This was reflected, Page said, in various issues, such as abortion, civil rights and campaign financing. The study found, for example, that when there was an opinion change of 20 percent or more as measured by polls, policy changes followed 90 percent of the time.

Page said the study, which is continuing, didn't assess why policymakers changed their minds, but he noted that various reasons probably entered into their decisions.

"A lot of politicians think it's right to do what the public wants," he said. "Others are nervous about being re-elected." And, he added, sometimes "there is just a shift in what they think is right at the same time as what the public thinks is right." So, people, take note. The next time someone says you can't fight city hall, tell him he's all wet. You never know until you try.

BERRY'S WORLD

"...my wife even got custody of the Cabbage Patch Kids!"

Seminole County women who want to learn more about themselves, other women and lifestyles and opportunities will be getting together in two-hour seminars for the next 10 weeks at Seminole Community College, Room L-215.

Bettye Smith, past president of Pankhurst and organizer of the sessions, which are scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays said she expects at least 40 women to participate in the seminar, which costs only $5 for the full 10 weeks. The general public is invited and there will be speakers addressing topics of broad interest to a wide variety of women.

In the first session on Jan. 9, a representative from Gibbs-Louis, Inc., and a color coordination expert will offer advice on how to dress, not for success, but just to look and feel good, Mrs. Smith said.

The following meeting will cover health, where problems of reproduction and menopause will be addressed along with a discussion of illnesses you can treat at home.

The audience will be encouraged to participate in the discussions and all presentations will be informal.

Mental health is on the agenda for Jan. 23. Two therapists will lead the discussion on stress and coping in a man's world. In the following session Mrs. Smith said new challenges, such as returning to school, accepting a new job or coping with any major lifestyle change will be covered.

Community involvement and the possibility of running for office or assisting with a political campaign are scheduled and the following week competing in a man's world and making it work is the topic.

Feb. 20 when crime prevention is the topic, rape, spouse abuse and credit card fraud will be discussed. Volunteerism is scheduled for the following week and then the final session will be a rap session to wrap up and recap what was covered in the seminar.

Mrs. Smith stressed that the seminar is for all women and explained that Pankhurst is a civic organization for women, similar to the Rotary Club. "We're not extremist, we just want to help women to develop in all areas of their lives. Our group includes housewives and mothers along with professionals and volunteers."

Being A Journalist Humorous

The great temptation of a journalist is solemnity, and of course there is always occasion for being solemn.

But let's put aside Beirut, the Gulag, Korean Airlines 007, El Salvador and all the rest of it just for now.

The secret truth is that being a journalist is ... fun. The sheer deliciousness of the items that daily roll across your desk produces a quiet, humorous ecstasy.

It makes my day when I read that Democratic National Chairman Charles Hanatt actually introduced the rapidly molting flock of Democratic presidential candidates this way: "not flashers, not streakers, but presidential sweepers."

Is there a side to Mr. Hanatt that has heretofore been invisible? But it is nice to be reassured that Mr. Mondale, Mr. Glenn and the rest are not "flashers" or "streakers."

New York's Governor Mario Cuomo, who has already endorsed Walter Mondale, experienced an unusual seizure of candor. "I don't think," he actually said, "there's any Democratic candidate as charismatic as Reagan. I don't know that in the history of this country you've had more than two or three who were." The governor went on to say that his mother considered Mondale "polenta," which is a bland Italian dish, in Italian "insipido." There must be something unusual in the New York water supply. When the governor came to his senses, he found himself defending polenta as a marvelous dish.

Yes, it's happening. Time magazine: "Un demi de Saint-Emilion." Mick announces in an exaggerated stage whisper ... Luncheon at the elegant Levee Valley restaurant has been an elaborate affair. The menu: a new bottle of '64 Chateau Baycheville, biftek, trays of fromage, fruits, sweets, capped by demitasse and Napoleon brandy. "O'est bon, oui," Mick declares, sampling the wine. Outside, his Indian driver, On, sits in the bronze 6.3 Mercedes, ready to whisk him to "La Fourchette," the 18th century chateau he is painstakingly restoring. "Right now I'm happy," allows Mick, the diamond set in his right front tooth flashing.

That's Mick Jagger, the rock star, and one of the richest men in the world.

Amazing parallels, and this appears to be true: Abraham Lincoln was elected in 1860, John F. Kennedy in 1960. Both were slain on a Friday, and in the presence of their wives. Both were shot in the head from behind. Their successors were both named Johnson, and both were Southern Democrats who had been in the Senate before becoming vice president. Andrew Johnson was born in 1808, Lyndon Johnson in 1908.

And, there's more. John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839, Lee Harvey Oswald in 1939. Abraham Lincoln's secretary, whose name was Kennedy, tried to discourage him from going to the theater that night. Kennedy's secretary, whose name was Lincoln (Evelyn), urged Kennedy not to go to Dallas.

Booth shot Abraham Lincoln at the theater and tried to hide in a warehouse. Oswald shot Kennedy from a warehouse, and tried to hide in a theater. The names John Wilkes Booth and Lee Harvey Oswald each contain 13 letters. The names Lyndon Johnson and Andrew Johnson each contain 13 letters.

Put that into your home computer, and have a happy new year.

Conservatives Undermine Agency

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration has been trying to rally bipartisan support on Capitol Hill for its embattled Latin American policies. But an unlikely stumbling block has arisen in the form of an obscure development agency called the Inter-American Foundation.

This small, independent agency was set up by Congress to give money directly to groups that aid the poor, bypassing the Latin American governments. Over the years, it stoutly maintained its autonomy under both Democratic and Republican administrations.

But Reagan's hard-line anti-communist advisers suspected the foundation was giving U.S. funds to Marxist and leftist groups. The agency also came under fire from the conservative Heritage Foundation, which has close ties to the White House.

A year ago, President Reagan took "corrective" action by appointing a conservative Cuban-American, Victor

WILLIAM RUSHER

Cut Spending, Or Else

NEW YORK (NEA) — So here we are in 1984, and Ronald Reagan has walked off with the Democrats' clothes on the subject of the economy so completely that now they're trying to tell everyone the big issue this year is foreign policy.

Well, foreign policy is indeed a big issue, and if the Democrats think the American people would prefer a militarily superior Soviet Union and a communist Central America to Mr. Reagan's ongoing efforts to prevent these things, they are at liberty to run on that platform. But thoughtful Americans will not forget the economy altogether — either the spectacular achievements of the Reagan administration to date, or the very serious problems that remain to be solved.

Mr. Reagan can, and undoubtedly will, point with justifiable pride to what has been accomplished already: inflation down from the double digits to the neighborhood of 3 percent; interest rates cut in half; the economy on the rebound by almost every index. Even civilian unemployment (which was 7.4 percent and rising in Jimmy Carter's last month as president) is 8.4 percent today and falling rapidly. But the federal budget deficits are huge, and Mr. Reagan is too honest a man and too sound a conservative to dismiss them as unimportant. They represent the great unfinished domestic business of his first administration, and taming them will be the principal domestic challenge of his second.

There is no mystery about what causes these deficits: The government simply spends a lot more than it takes in, that's all. Mr. Reagan was well aware of this, of course, before he was elected, and vowed to put a stop to it by cutting domestic spending and stimulating the economy so that tax revenues would rise. He knew that an increase in defense spending was essential, however, and that this would make a balanced budget impossible for a time. What he didn't anticipate was the worldwide recession (which reduced tax revenues sharply), or how hard it would be to persuade Congress to make meaningful cuts in domestic programs. Hence the huge deficits.

Why are deficits bad? Because in fact they don't simply go unpaid: They are covered at once, either by borrowing from the public (which leaves less money available for private investment, and has already made interest charges on the national debt one of the biggest items in the budget) or by printing more money and paying with that (which, of course, inflates the currency, cheapening its value). At the moment, we are not feeling either one of these pains because of the happy fact that foreign investors, attracted by our strong dollar, are bringing their money over here. Congress will shortly raise the legal debt ceiling to reflect this new source of loans, however — and service charges on the debt will go up again.

What to do? Obviously, there are only two choices: Raise more taxes, or cut expenditures. Note, however, that raising taxes won't do a bit of good unless the revenues realized thereby are actually applied to reduction of the debt. And there is not the slightest reason to suppose that any extra dollar Congress lays its hands on will know any fate but being spent.

That is one reason why Mr. Reagan has steadfastly opposed a tax increase. Currently we are hearing proposals for a "contingent" tax increase, under which any increase in tax revenue would have been matched by an equivalent reduction in spending. But this would merely prevent the problem from getting worse, not solve it, since the revenue raised would undoubtedly just be spent.

The American people know exactly what the solution is, and they told Mr. Gallup in no uncertain terms when he came around last late year. When asked "If you had to choose between them, which would you prefer: reducing government spending or raising taxes?" 5 percent of those questioned had no opinion; 9 percent volunteered "some of each"; 16 percent favored raising taxes; and 70 percent called for reducing spending.

A pretty clear message, wouldn't you say? As the members of Congress assemble for the new session, they'd better heed that message or they may get it again — in November.

Detecting AIDS Early With NMR

By Sharon Rutenberg
UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nuclear magnetic resonance imaging may help diagnose AIDS early and reverse the "grim survival results" of patients with the mysterious disease, a radiologist says.

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome breaks down the body's immune system, leaving victims open to fatal infections. The cause, though suspected to be a virus, is unknown. Unable to cure AIDS, doctors try to treat the diseases victims develop once their immune systems fail.

High risk groups are homosexual men, intravenous drug users, Haitians and hemophiliacs.

"They have a very short life expectancy once the diagnosis is made," said Dr. Catherine M. Mills, University of California-San Francisco assistant radiology professor and San Francisco General Hospital chief of neuroradiology.

Dr. Mills said NMR, which uses magnetism and radio waves to make pictures of body parts, may allow doctors to begin treating infections associated with AIDS earlier. This may in turn improve patients' prospects for survival.

"Perhaps the impact of treating the patients earlier may enable us to either slow down or reverse the grim survival results that we currently have," she said.

In one case, she said, NMR helped diagnose a patient who had already undergone another sophisticated test: CT scanning.

CT, or computerized tomography, uses radiation and dyes to produce cross-section images of body parts.

The technique picked up brain abnormalities in a patient suspected of having AIDS, but doctors couldn't perform a biopsy because it would have damaged the victim's nervous system.

Using NMR, doctors identified abnormalities in other areas the CT scan couldn't detect. These were suitable for biopsy, Dr. Mills said in an interview at a meeting of the Radiological Society of North America.

The patient was diagnosed to have an infection called toxoplasmosis, a parasite carried by cats.

"We have found that patients who have AIDS often have toxoplasmosis infections in the brain," Dr. Mills said. "People with AIDS get infections with organisms that do not affect normal people."

NMR is "extremely" sensitive to small changes in tissue composition seen in very early inflammation or tumors, she said.

Dr. Mills said NMR, "as far as we know ... is completely safe. All animal experiments and chromosome experiments that we have done show no harmful side effects."

NMR currently is considered an investigational and experimental device, she said. "We feel that we will get FDA approval for NMR probably within the next month."

"Nobody has looked at a group of AIDS patients with NMR yet," Dr. Mills said. "But we're going to begin, I hope in the near future, to do that."

NMR will not help in determining the cause of AIDS, she said.

"But it may enable us to diagnose the effects that it has on the patients earlier and then to treat those effects."

An internal committee memorandum, reviewed by my associate Lucette Lagnado, describes Blanco as "an unguided missile" whose actions are sure to cause "unnecessary embarrassment" to the administration. It urged that the White House be asked to rein Blanco in.

Blanco was a Southern California businessman who helped deliver the Hispanic vote for Reagan in 1980. Oddly enough, the staff memo reports that the Senate committee has received a number of complaints about Blanco from the business sector — the very group that supposedly is most supportive of the administration's tough anti-communist line in Latin America.

According to foundation insiders, Blanco prepared dossiers on specific foundation grants and sent them to the president with covering letters accusing the grant recipients of ties to leftist

UCLA Turns Illini Upside Down With 45-9 Thrashing

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Well, the weather was nice. Warmest spot in the nation, as a matter of fact.

But for about 40,000 Illinois fans who flocked to Pasadena to watch their beloved Illini battle UCLA in Monday's Rose Bowl, it might as well have been the North Pole.

The unranked Bruins turned No. 5 Illinois upside down and started shaking the Illini in the opening minutes of the game. When they were done, they had torn six touchdowns loose from the previously tough Illinois defense en route to a 45-9 thrashing that left the visitors with their mouths agape.

"I'm shocked," said head coach Mike White. "It's a hopeless feeling as you watch the points mount up like that. I have no excuses. I don't even know what happened."

What happened was Rick Neuheisel rattled the Illinois defense, climaxing a Cinderella collegiate career by firing four touchdown passes to equal a 24-year-old Rose Bowl record.

Neuheisel was a walk-on at UCLA in 1979 and was used as cannon fodder in practice for a couple of seasons. He imitated the quarterback the Bruins would face that week and the UCLA defense tried very hard to break all of his bones.

But they never broke his spirit.

Five years later, Neuheisel rewarded coach Terry Donahue's faith by turning the 70th Rose Bowl into a personal showcase in his final game for the Bruins, completing 22-of-31 passes for 298 yards.

The point spread equaled the worst defeat inflicted upon a Big Ten team in Rose Bowl history.

And Neuheisel was sick; he and eight teammates suffered food poisoning Sunday night. Three of them couldn't even suit up for the game.

Rose Bowl

"It was bad," Neuheisel. "I threw up four times before the game and just felt lousy. I felt queasy just before the game, but I feel great now. This is a dream. I feel so proud to be a part of this school."

As has been his style all season, Neuheisel didn't take any credit for the victory. Or the Most Valuable Player award.

"We've got some receivers who can burn and I just threw the ball up under them and things worked out perfectly. Anyone who gets into a Rose Bowl game thinks of winning the MVP, but these guys did it for me."

Neuheisel performed his heroics against the second-best overall defense in the Big Ten in 1983 and the nation's third-ranked rushing defense and the results left even the winning coach in shock.

"I'm stunned," said Donahue, whose Bruins were 7-point underdogs in the game. "We played a magnificent game, but I'm still trying to get a feel for what happened out there."

Jack Trudeau passed for 178 yards for Illinois but was intercepted three times and sacked four times. Neuheisel completed 16-of-20 passes for 185 yards in the first half alone, including a 53-yard touchdown pass to Mike Young — the Bruin leader with 129 yards on five catches — that came on his ninth consecutive completion.

Illinois committed six turnovers in the game and UCLA turned two of them into touchdowns.

In the first period Illinois blocked a UCLA field goal attempt but Craig Swoope fumbled after a short return and UCLA recovered at the Illinois 14. Four plays later, Neuheisel hit Paul Bergmann in the end zone with a 3-yard TD pass and the Bruins led 7-0.

Illinois cut the deficit to 7-3 on a 41-yard field goal by Chris White, but on UCLA's next possession Kevin Nelson took a handoff at the Illinois 28, dropped a defender with a fake and raced untouched into the endzone to boost the Bruins' lead to 14-3.

Less than a minute later, Rogers intercepted another poorly thrown Trudeau pass and returned it 44 yards to the Illinois 11. The interception came on Trudeau's 12th consecutive pass as Illinois abandoned its running game. Two plays later, Neuheisel drilled a 16-yard TD strike to Dorrell and UCLA led 21-3.

Then the rout began. The Bruins boosted their lead to 28-3 on the 53-yard TD bomb to Young, made it 35-3 on Neuheisel's 15-yard TD pass to Dorrell two minutes later and made it 38-3 on a 29-yard John Lee field goal.

overall and 2-3 in the conference but the Rams closed the Lady Hawks tourney with two straight victories and the fourth place trophy.

Lake Mary opens the second half tonight against the tough Lady Greyhounds of Lyman High, another team that could challenge for the conference title. Lyman, 6-2 overall and 3-2 in the conference, is coming off a fine showing in the Oviedo Outlook tourney in which the Lady Greyhounds claimed the tourney championship.

Senior guard Kim Goroum was named the tourney's MVP while senior forward Kim Lemon also made the All-Tournament team.

Lake Howell's Lady Hawks, 11-4 overall and 5-1 in the conference, opened the second half Monday night with a 78-62 victory over Lake Brantley. The Lady Hawks are back in action Thursday when they host Apopka. Lake Howell's only conference loss was at the hands of Seminole but the Lady Hawks also handed DeLand its only conference loss.

Lake Howell settled for fourth place in the Lady Hawk tourney after losing to Seminole in the semi-finals and Orlando Evans in the third place game. Tammy Johnson, who set a tournament record with 72 points in three games, including a tourney-high 33 points. Johnson was joined by teammate Christy Scott, who set a tourney record with 23 rebounds in a game, on the All-Tournament team.

With the loss to Lake Howell Monday night, Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots fell to 4-6 overall and 2-4 in the conference. The Lady Patriots will be back in action Thursday against DeLand at Lake Brantley High.

Oviedo's Lady Lions, 3-4, open the second half tonight at New Smyrna Beach. Oviedo is coming off a third-place finish in the Oviedo Outlook Tournament in which guard Stephanie Nelson made the All-Tournament team. However, senior standout Fayetta Robinson went out in the first game of the tournament with a knee injury and is doubtful for the first game of the second half. The Lady Lions open play in the Orange Belt Conference Thursday at Bishop Moore.

Lake Mary's Albert Flores scores on a breakaway against Oviedo.

Auburn Edges Michigan — Buckeyes Nip Pitt

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Auburn's season-long dream of winning the national college football championship is now in the hands of the UPI Board of Coaches.

The bowl games went just like the 3rd-ranked Tigers had hoped. They beat Michigan 9-7 in the Sugar Bowl Monday night while top-ranked Nebraska lost 31-30 to Miami in the Orange Bowl and 2nd-ranked Texas was defeated 10-9 by Georgia in the Cotton Bowl.

"Right now we should be the No. 1 team in the nation," said Auburn All-America running back who was named the Sugar Bowl's outstanding performer after rushing for 130 yards on 22 carries. "Coming in, we were the No. 3 team and the top two teams lost. What else is there to say?"

Auburn coach Pat Dye agreed. "I don't know what you've got to do to win a national championship," said Dye. "But there's nobody that's ever played a tougher schedule than Auburn."

Auburn, trailing from midway in the first quarter when Michigan quarterback Steve Smith scored the game's only touchdown on a 4-yard run, got its winning points with 23 seconds remaining to play when Al Del Greco kicked his third field goal of the night, a 19-yarder from the left hash mark.

The victory gave the Tigers, whose only loss was in their second game of the season to Texas, their 11th victory and left them in a voting battle with 4th-ranked Miami for the national championship. "I'm not so sure I hadn't rather been playing Miami or Nebraska instead of Michigan," said Dye. "If there is any credibility in scheduling (Auburn beat seven of the eight bowl teams it met during its 10-1 regular season), it means anything at all, we should be No. 1."

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Ohio State, which died by the sword a number of times during the 1983 season, lived in the Fiesta Bowl by the same lethal weapon — the forward pass.

Buckeye defenders certainly knew how the Pitt secondary felt Monday as Mike Tomczak's perfectly thrown 39-yard touchdown pass dropped softly into the arms of a speeding Thad Jemison with only 39 seconds left in the game, lifting the Buckeyes to a 28-23 win over the Panthers.

The same type of thing had happened to them in losses to Iowa and Michigan and they also were burned by a couple key passes in Illinois' winning touchdown drive.

But Monday, in windy Sun Devil Stadium, before an announced crowd of 66,484 and a national television audience, it was Ohio State's turn to pull out a victory.

The Tomczak-to-Jemison strike climaxed a last ditch 89-yard, 13-play drive after Pitt's Snuffy Everett, subbing for the injured Eric Schuster, booted a 37-yard field goal to put the Panthers ahead for the first time in the game, 23-21.

Even in victory, Ohio State saw Pitt quarterback John Congemi set Fiesta Bowl records for most pass completions and total yardage and the Panther sophomore was voted the game's outstanding offensive player.

Congemi completed 31 of 44 passes for 341 yards and two touchdowns and added 20 yards rushing for 361 total yards.

Ohio State scored on its opening possession and never trailed until Everett's field goal put Pitt ahead.

But Tomczak, called by Pitt coach Foge Fazio, "the most underrated quarterback I've ever seen," engineered the winning drive.

Fazio felt a 99-yard kickoff return by Keith Byars, Ohio State's 6-foot-2, 226-pound sophomore tailback, was "the difference in the game."

It came after tight end Clint Wilson recovered a Joe McCall fumble in the endzone for a touchdown following a 13-yard run by McCall. That tied the score 14-14.

After Byars' dash, Pitt scored again on an 11-yard pass from Congemi to Dwight Wallace, but the Panthers' two-point conversion attempt failed.

"It was a hell of a show by two great football teams," said Fazio. "They really went after one another. It was no place for the timid."

Ohio State's winning touchdown drive included a clutch, 13-yard, fourth-down reception by tight end John Frank, a native of Pittsburgh.

Lady Hawks Top Patriots For 11th Win

Tammy Johnson poured in 28 points Monday night to lead Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks to a 78-62 victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots in Five Star Conference basketball action at Lake Howell High.

Both Lake Howell and Lake Brantley were playing without a top player Monday as Mary Johnson got a well-deserved rest for Lake Howell and Michelle Brown was out for the Lady Patriots. Lake Howell improved to 11-4 overall and 5-1 in the conference while Lake Brantley fell to 4-6 overall and 2-6 in the conference.

Lake Howell bolted to a big lead early and built a 20-point lead, 42-22, by halftime. Christy Scott, Janene Brown and Elizabeth Dietrich led the Lady Hawks underneath as Scott pulled down a game-high 14 rebounds. Brown collected 11 boards and Dietrich grabbed eight. The three also helped out in the scoring department as Scott connected for 10 points, Brown added nine and Dietrich tossed in eight. Sophomore guard Jolee Johnson added nine points for the Lady Hawks and senior guard

Kathy Barma handed out six assists.

Linda Nunez led Lake Brantley with 25 points, Sherry "Ice" Asplen added 12 and Kim Lubenow tossed in 10.

Lake Howell hosts Apopka on Thursday night while the Lady Patriots host DeLand.

In a freshman game Monday, Oscar Wilder threw in 22 points and Robert Thomas added 19 as the Lyman Greyhounds tipped Lake Mary, 57-55.

Oscar Merthle led all scorers with 26 points for the Rams.

Lyman, 5-3, plays Lake Howell Thursday at 6:15 p.m. at Milwee Middle School.

Transfer's Basket Nips Gators, 63-61

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Darrell Neal scored only eight points, but his two crucial baskets in the final minutes — including a 20-foot jumper with just seven seconds left — gave Alabama a 63-61 win over Florida in the Southeastern Conference opener for both teams.

After trailing for most of the game, Florida took a 59-58 lead on Andrew Moten's 15-foot jumper with 2:39 left. But Neal quickly answered with an 18-footer to put Alabama back on top.

Basketball

The Gators regained the lead on a bucket by Vernon Delancy with 1:45 on the clock, but Alabama tied the score when Buck Johnson hit the front end of a one-and-one with 1:32.

Florida missed a chance to go ahead and Alabama took the rebound with more than a minute left and held for a final shot.

Disdaining a timeout, the Crimson Tide got the ball to Neal, a sophomore transfer from Oregon State, who bombed in a winner from 20 feet.

"At this particular time I thought we'd be better off taking the shot and that's what we decided to do," Alabama coach Wimp Sanderson said.

Woman's Club Project: To Install Sidewalks

Members of the Sweetwater Oaks Woman's Club have announced their plans for a fund-raiser during the months of January and February.

The club members are hoping to raise $20,000 toward the installation of sidewalks in the Sweetwater area. Concerned over child safety, club member Betty Mackey said, "There is no safe way for a child to walk to school and with the increase of traffic, the sidewalks are needed."

She stated that in the past, the club has raised over $16,000 that was used to install sidewalks and bike paths in the area. During an early in the month planning meeting, members will decide how they can reach enough people to meet their goal. More information will be available following that meeting.

The Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club will hold its monthly meeting at the First Baptist Church of Sweetwater on Jan. 9. According to first vice-president Fran Rous, the special guest for the meeting will be the Civic Development chairman for the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Faye Conti. Faye will give a demonstration on "ikebana," the art of Japanese flower arranging. The social hour will begin at 9:30 a.m. following the meeting at 10.

The Sabal Point Garden Club will hold a White Elephant sale for club members on Jan. 4. The meeting will be held at the Wekiva Presbyterian Church, starting at 9:30 a.m. Refreshments will be served.

Readers Horrified Over Dad's Idiotic Request

DEAR ABBY: I am furious, angry and boiling mad! The letter signed "No More Girls" from British Columbia stopped me cold. It was from a man whose wife was expecting their third child. The first two (ages 3 and 2) were girls, and he wanted to know where they could get a sex-change operation for the next baby if it was another girl.

Dear Abby

My God! I thought I didn't read it right! The man surely was off his rocker. He doesn't deserve kids, nor does his wife, who must also be a nut to consider such an idiotic thing.

I hope no surgeon would ever perform such an operation. I can't wait to see what other readers had to say about this crazy request.

HORRIFIED IN PHILLIPSBURG, N.J.

DEAR HORRIFIED: Other readers were equally horrified. Many offered to adopt the expected child if it was a girl. Some offered to take the 2- and 3-year-old girls off the couple's hands if they weren't happy with female children.

Be assured, no surgeon would consider performing a sex-change operation on a healthy, normal child.

DEAR ABBY: I just started reading your column in the Moline (Ill.) Daily Dispatch, and I need some questions answered.

1. Does a letter have to be signed in order to be answered in your column?
2. If I want a personal reply, will I get one? Or do you send form letters?
3. Are all the letters in your column real? Or do you make some of them up?
4. Where should I address a letter to you? I am sending this to the Dispatch but I would rather write directly to you. Thank you.

MRS. G.H., MOLINE

DEAR MRS. H.: 1. Letters do not have to be signed in order to be answered in my column.

2. Personal replies are sent to those who sign their names and enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. I do not use form letters.

3. All the letters are real. I couldn't make up anything as good as the letters I receive.

4. Address all mail to: Dear Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 44 and have been a widow for four years. I have a nice home and three wonderful children — all college graduates with good jobs. The two older ones are married and the youngest has her own apartment. I have always been there for them when they called or came by for a visit.

Now, I have met a man that I care about very much. He is a widower with three grown children. We are very compatible. But he lives 200 miles away, with his farm and business there, which means I have to go there if I want to be with him.

I love my children so much. I feel guilty when I leave them. After a week they call, wanting me to come home. And I always do. My friend says I should cut the apron strings. When I am with him, I think about my children, and when I'm in home, I think about him.

Abby, please don't tell me my children come first. I don't want to live the rest of my life alone, but I don't want my children to be unhappy. How can I have peace of mind? What do you say?

PULLED APART

DEAR PULLED: Children come first when they're young. But your children are grown with lives of their own. At 44 you have many good years ahead of you, so please don't feel that you have to "be there" for your grown children. This is your chance to catch the brass ring (or the gold one), so go for it. And don't feel guilty.

If you're single and want to know how to meet someone decent, see page 20 of Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular." Send $2, plus a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

 For Data Processing Supplies

Congratulations to all the people out there that received computers for Christmas. By now, you have discovered that using your computer is a little more complicated than just pushing buttons. You have also discovered that in addition to the hardware you just got, there is a whole world of accessories that may be needed to go with your unit.

One of these is Wiskettes (or floppy discs) to put new information on as you expand your knowledge of the software packages you have. For those of you with printers, you will eventually need new ribbons, perhaps another printwheel or two, continuous paper, maybe some continuous labels, binders to put your printed reports into; perhaps continuous 3x5 or 4x6 cards to print on and set up card files; or if you are going to start a little business on the side, you may want continuous purchase orders, invoices, statements, checks or other printed forms.

JKL Enterprises carries all these and more, right here in Sanford. No need to travel through all the traffic to Orlando and other areas; no waiting in lines to check out; good access and parking; individual and personal service and best of all — low prices for top quality merchandise.

Joanne Larson, owner of JKL has been a resident of Sanford for over five years, specializing in data processing products. Each year, the line has been expanded to include new products. In 1983, bond copy paper was added and in 1984, JKL will begin offering various types of software packages for game playing and small business use.

JKL offers 24-hour delivery throughout five central Florida counties (Orange, Volusia, Brevard, Lake and Seminole) and same-day shipping to any other area in Florida.

For further information, call 305-323-4416 Monday through Friday, 8 to 5 or Saturdays 10 to 3, or stop by their office at 129 W. Airport Blvd. (three blocks East of Kmart), Sanford. A phone call prior to your visit will insure that Joanne will be there to handle your needs personally.

Voice Recognition Pioneer Striving For Profitability

By Bruce B. Bakke
UPI Business Writer

DENTON, Texas (UPI) — In a nondescript building tucked behind the Coca-Cola plant in Denton, Texas, the engineers at Scott Instruments Corp. are shaping the sounds of the future.

Scott makes voice recognition equipment — a new frontier in high technology that creates equipment capable of reacting to spoken commands.

Its efforts so far have been directed more toward research than sales, but new president Charles Kee intends to get the publicly held corporation to the break-even point by early 1985.

"This company has invested heavily into research and development since 1981," Kee said. "A lot of technology has been developed, but not very many products. We need to move this technology into useful products. That's our primary challenge right now."

Kee, 40, joined the company in August and determined that the company's No. 1 need was to "take existing technology, turn it into products, and get the products to the marketplace."

With that set of priorities, Scott this month announced a new speech recognizer called the VET-232 System, which provides voice data entry for most micro and mini computer systems.

The system is able to recognize words spoken in a rather simple vocabulary and record them in a computer, for printout or later recall. It was built quickly with the technology Scott already had and aimed at the industrial quality control market.

For example, an inspector in an auto assembly plant might be busy taking apart faulty parts. He wants to record his findings but his hands are busy, and greasy, and it isn't convenient for him to write them down.

One application of a VET-232 system would allow him to verbally tell a computer system what he finds. The computer is programmed so the verbal utterances fill out a form which can be stored and, when needed, printed out onto paper or added to the company's statistical base for further analysis. The Scott equipment is compatible with most existing computer systems.

Scott also manufactures voice recognition systems for handicapped persons who cannot use their hands. Simple voice commands can enable a handicapped person to regulate a thermostat, turn on a television set or change channels, or turn lights on or off.

Scott Instruments, founded by E.V. Scott and his son, Brian, in 1978, raised $3 million with a public stock sale in 1981. Of that amount, $650,000 is left, Kee said.

"It looks like it will reach through '84," he said. If the company's timetable is off, a further stock sale is likely. Despite running in the red for several years, Scott has very little debt.

Brian Scott is the chief scientist of Scott Instruments, giving up the job of president to concentrate on research.

At the simple end of the science of speech recognition is the ability to recognize individual words, from a limited vocabulary, spoken by a specific person.

Scott has passed that basic stage. Now the corporation is reaching out to expand the technology by increasing the vocabulary, by recognizing the words of any person who utters them, and by recognizing words spoken in a stream, such as in normal speech.

Kee, with substantial experience at Texas Instruments in Lubbock and Austin, has put company developments on a specific timetable. The vocabulary of the speech recognizer will be steadily expanded so large systems can be developed containing recognizable vocabularies of 10,000 to 20,000 words by 1987.

At the same time, the price will come down. By 1987, Kee said, small vocabulary systems capable of working with computers will sell in the $100 range, large systems in the $500 range.

In office situations, bosses will dictate to voice recognition equipment. Secretaries won't have to type the dictation, only edit it on word processing screens.

Scott Instrument's research has resulted in seven patents either awarded or pending, with applications submitted for three others. One patented technique tracks pitch and divides speech into phonetic elements.

It allows digital compression of speech for transmission over satellite and existing communications networks at a 24 to 1 ratio, with quality playback. Scott now is working on a compression ratio of 48 to 1. The technology will allow communications companies to multiply the number of messages now carried on a transmission band.

Yet another application of Scott technology is in hearing assistance for the deaf.

Classroom Violence

Reagan Studies School Discipline Proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special report to President Reagan today found 3 million American high school students a month are victims of classroom violence and called for federal aid to help public schools reimpose strict discipline.

The report, "Chaos in the Classroom: Enemy of American Education," was compiled by Reagan's Cabinet Council on Human Resources to follow up on a promise he made to an education forum in Indianapolis last month.

The council considered how the Justice Department could help curb vandalism and violence in public schools.

Although Reagan was to receive the report today, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said he was not likely to make a decision immediately on what action should be taken.

Given the president's warning to educators last month that school violence must stop, however, he is considered likely to accept most, if not all, of the report's recommendations.

The report found "discipline is the public's foremost concern about schools."

"Three million secondary schoolchildren are victims of crime each month," it said.

One suggestion in the report by Deputy Undersecretary of Education Gary Bauer is expected to call for a challenge of a 1975 Supreme Court ruling giving constitutional due process protection to students facing suspension or expulsion.

Speakes said the Justice Department aid would "include money. I don't know how much new money is included. It would probably be some money that already exists at the Justice Department," he said.

"The major thrust of our initiative is that we would organize under the Justice Department some means to provide technical and training assistance to schools to control violence in the schools," Speakes said.

He said Reagan's views on state authority over education matters are well known, but that it has not yet been determined how to give the federal aid without attaching federal control over the historically local prerogative of school discipline.

Although such a plan could be viewed adversely by minorities, who suffer suspension and expulsions at far higher rates than whites, Speakes said. "The study reveals that minorities, particularly blacks, are more likely to be victims of crime in schools than whites. So it's an important initiative that requires technical assistance at the federal government level."

Reagan Begins Beirut Reassessment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With Marines still stationed in battle-scarred Beirut, President Reagan today begins an election year reassessment of his Lebanon policy, starting with "new ideas" from Middle East envoy Donald Rumsfeld.

Reagan, who returned Monday afternoon from six days of sunshine, golf and New Year's parties in southern California, has already received a report from Rumsfeld and meets with the special adviser today.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Rumsfeld will be "presenting results of his two trips to the Middle East and will be presenting some new ideas the president will take under advisement."

No final decisions will emerge from the meeting, Speakes said.

While Rumsfeld will be giving Reagan his thoughts "on the diplomatic front," the president will soon be receiving several recommendations from the Pentagon on whether or how to redeploy the vulnerable Marine garrison at the Beirut airport, Speakes said.

A Pentagon report last week blamed lax security by ground commanders and Reagan's overall policy aim of using the Marines as peace keepers for the Oct. 23 suicide bombing that killed 241 leathernecks as they slept.

Reagan attempted to preempt political fallout from the release of the critical report before he left for California last week, saying he bore responsibility for the disaster.

Speakes said last week that while tactical elements of the policy, including deployment of the Marines, are subject to review starting this week, the president remains opposed to withdrawal of the forces from Beirut.

Since then, three former CIA directors and former Vice Presi Walter Mondale have urged a pullout, and House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, whose support for an 18-month Marine presence was critical to Reagan's claim of bipartisan support, is convening a House group today to begin a reassessment.

Redeployment was on the Reagan-Rumsfeld agenda, but only "in the overall diplomatic context," Speakes said.

Among recent developments that could cause a shift in administration diplomacy are the expulsion of Yasser Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization, from Lebanon and Reagan's expression of hope that he could be a moderating influence in the region.

Also, Rumsfeld visited Iraq, long considered a training ground for anti-American Arab terrorists.

News reports quoting administration officials indicate the United States may be prepared to "tilt" its policy toward Iraq, which is engaged in a long war with Iran, now considered the source of most Middle East terrorism.

New Mayors Pledge Unity, Racial Harmony

By United Press International
The winners of two mayoral campaigns that broke racial traditions in Philadelphia and Boston are calling for unity and "a new foundation of racial harmony."

In Philadelphia, W. Wilson Goode, the 45-year-old son of North Carolina sharecroppers, said his inauguration Monday as the first black mayor of the nation's fourth-largest city was "another step in ... a journey once thought impossible."

In Boston, Raymond Flynn, a former city councilor and state representative, promised to work toward "healing the violence and discord of the past" — a reference to racial conflict that surrounded court-ordered busing to integrate the city's public schools in the early 1970s.

Flynn, who is white, defeated former state Rep. Melvin King, the first black mayoral finalist in Boston history, in last November's election.

Goode, who resigned as Philadelphia's managing director in December 1982 to run for mayor, took the oath of office with his wife, mother and three children standing beside him.

"In America, dreams can come true," he said. "We are a diverse people, but we all share certain values," he added. "To those who wondered if we could unite, I say to you, Philadelphia is united and on the move again."

Goode defeated flamboyant former Mayor Frank Rizzo in the Democratic primary election last May and was elected in November with 55 percent of the vote over Republican John Egan and independent Thomas Leonard.

His victory was credited largely to a heavy turnout of black voters and the Democrats' 5-to-1 registration edge.

The election had none of the divisiveness of mayoral campaigns in Boston and Chicago, where black and white candidates also vied for office.

"I pledge to you to lead a government which is efficient, open and fair," Goode said, vowing to "stay close to the people" and form "a partnership of government, business and labor."

Goode succeeds former Mayor William Green, who did not seek re-election. Green backed Goode during the campaign and embraced him at the close of his inaugural address before a crowd of 2,800 at the Philadelphia Academy of Music.

In a speech to the largest inauguration crowd in Boston history, Flynn promised to heal racial tensions and pay more attention to the needs of the city's diverse neighborhoods.

"This is a time to break down the walls of bigotry and build a new foundation of racial harmony," said Flynn, 44, the son of a dockworker and a cleaning woman.

"Boston has been for too long a house divided against itself," he told the crowd of more than 4,000. "I resolve now to bind those wounds and to make this promise stick."

Flynn also promised to work with business interests to continue the downtown development boom that helped draw tourists to the city in recent years. But he said his administration would place greater emphasis on aiding Boston's deteriorating neighborhoods.

"Our theory is trickle up rather than trickle down," he said. "Glass and granite must not come at the expense" of the neighborhoods.

Flynn, a one-time All America college basketball player, succeeds four-term Mayor Kevin White, who had been the dean of the nation's big city mayors.

Sino-U.S. Trade Will Top Agenda For Zhao's U.S. Trip

PEKING (UPI) — Premier Zhao Ziyang today said he will ask President Reagan next week to reaffirm his pledge to reduce arms sales to Taiwan amid indications the focus of the trip will be an expansion of Sino-U.S. trade.

Diplomatic sources in Peking said today the United States and China will sign a new industrial and technological agreement during Zhao's visit to facilitate private U.S. industrial investment in communist China.

The Washington Post, quoting Commerce Department officials, reported negotiations on the agreement had been stepped up in recent weeks, with talks centering on the textile industry.

Zhao, the highest-ranking Chinese to visit the United States, ruled out demanding an immediate and complete cessation of U.S. arms sales to Taiwan and indicated he will not use his U.S. tour to unleash a barrage of criticism on the issue.

China believes U.S. arms sales to Taiwan is a violation of Peking's sovereignty over the island. The sales have been the chief obstacle to improving Sino-U.S. relations.

Zhao said he planned to hold talks aimed at enhancing mutual understanding, stabilizing relations and helping maintain world peace. He stressed the possible expansion of economic, cultural and scientific relations with America.

"The potential far exceeds the present situation," Zhao told a news conference.

In addition to the trade pact, China and the United States are expected to renew their science and technology cooperation agreement.

Zhao said he would ask Reagan to reaffirm the United States' commitment contained in an August 1982 joint communique to gradually scale down arms sales to the nationalist-ruled island of Taiwan.

Reagan, who is expected to make a reciprocal visit to China in April, has said the United States will not develop its relations with Peking at the expense of its friendship with Taiwan.

Zhao, however, warned that Peking will never compromise on the Taiwan issue. "There is no room ... to make any concessions" because it is a question of interference in internal affairs, he said.

Burger Calls For End To 'Human Warehouses'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren Burger has called for an end to "human warehouses" for prisoners and urged the nation to build correctional facilities where convicts can learn useful skills.

Criminals should have "meaningful productive work to help pay the cost of prisons," Burger said Monday in his annual Year-End Report on the Judiciary.

He said more than 30 states have authorized construction of new prisons, costing up to $10 billion over the next decade.

There are now more than 400,000 prisoners in state and federal institutions. Taxpayers spend nearly $17 million daily to support the nation's prisons.

These costs, Burger said, mean "it is time to halt the construction of mere 'human warehouses' and to turn instead to the creation of institutions that train prisoners with marketable skills and let them engage in meaningful productive work to help pay the cost of prisons."

He said some of these costs could be offset by allowing widespread sale of prison-made products. Burger urged Congress to repeal statutes that limit transportation of such goods across state lines.

Burger has been a champion of prison reform since he came to the nation's highest court more than a decade ago.

IRS Needs Volunteer Tax Return Preparers

Volunteers are needed to help others with their tax returns as part of VITA, the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service.

The VITA program uses volunteers to provide free assistance to taxpayers who cannot afford professional tax help. These volunteers, frequently college students or members of professional business organizations, receive a special training course in basic income tax returns preparation, the IRS said.

VITA instructors and training materials are provided free by the IRS. Training generally is conducted in January each year and at locations convenient for volunteers and instructors.

VITA volunteers assist the low income elderly, handicapped or non-English speaking individuals by explaining the special credits and deductions for which they may qualify, and also helping them to prepare their returns.

VITA programs can be sponsored by local civic or fraternal organizations, educational institutions, churches and social groups. For the convenience of taxpayers who cannot travel to an IRS office, most VITA volunteers provide assistance at neighborhood locations, such as schools, churches and libraries.

Last year, approximately 35,000 VITA volunteers assisted taxpayers at over 7,400 sites in communities across the country. If you would like to become a volunteer, or if your organization would be interested in sponsoring a VITA program, contact your local IRS district office for detailed information.

Persons or organizations interested in the VITA program should write to Kathy Kirby, VITA Coordinator at Taxpayer Service Division, Internal Revenue Service, 80 N. Hughey Ave., Orlando, Fla., 32801.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JANUARY 4, 1984
Although your expenditures might run a trifle higher than usual this coming year, your earnings and income will also be scaled upward to compensate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Follow your more noble impulses today and make adjustments in matters where you are coming out better than the persons who helped you get what you got. Major changes are in store for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Capricorn Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When gratifying your ambitions today, take care not to do things to make yourself look good at the expense of persons who care for you.

FISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be too hasty to throw in the towel today. Just when you think everything has gone wrong, it could suddenly make a big shift for the better.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your interests and those of a close friend might be in conflict today. Be the first to compromise and make adjustments if you foresee complications.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) To accomplish an important objective today, an alternate plan may be required. Don't be hesitant to make needed changes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) When confronted by problems today, stand back a bit to broaden your perspective. A wider view will enable you to see solutions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The odds are tilted slightly in your favor today where you bargain on a one-to-one basis, yet you'll have to be sharp to recognize your advantages.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Early in the day you might make things harder on yourself than they need be. However, once you begin to roll with the punches all will go smoothly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Lady Luck will be your ally today in work or career. She'll see that you're justly rewarded for your efforts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll be capable of managing complicated situations that involve others today, yet you might not show the same strengths in your personal affairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Associates will see opportunities today where you see only limited possibilities. Fortunately, you'll benefit from their positive actions.

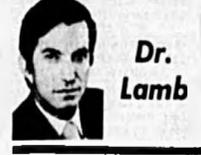

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not put too much stock in situations today that produce only worldly returns. Instead, build a bank account of love and friendships.

Exercise Stomach To Ward Off Back Pain

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 16-year-old boy and I am interested in weight training.

Could you give me some information on strengthening my back, particularly my lower back? My father and uncles have bad backs and I would like to prevent this from happening to me. I often receive conflicting reports on exercises for the lower back. I don't want to hurt my back permanently.

DEAR READER — One reason you might get conflicting advice is because a recommendation for someone who has backaches differs than advice for someone who wants to prevent them. During many acute backaches it is best not to exercise until the condition is over.

Dr. Lamb

Much of the support to the back that prevents backaches comes from stomach muscles. It is nice to have a good strong back, but unless you have strong abdominal muscles, you are more apt to have back pain.

Most people who have common ordinary backaches would benefit from strengthening their abdominal muscles. This is usually accomplished by sit-ups and modified leg-lifts. Straight leg-lifts can put too much of a strain on the back and may cause problems. The leg-lifts are primarily for the lower abdomen, while sit-ups, done properly, are primarily for the upper abdomen. The chief muscles that need to be strengthened are the large pair that extend straight down the center of the abdomen from the chest to the groin.

People who sit a lot, such as office workers, particularly need exercises to strengthen the abdomen. I am sending you The Health Letter 13-10, Backache and What About It, which discusses the exercises used in preventing common backaches.

However, I feel that anyone who has back pains should see his or her physician for an examination to be certain as to the cause and the program that he or she should follow.

DEAR DR. LAMB — If you are 70 years old and have never exercised, are you likely to benefit significantly if you start? Doctors have never found anything wrong with my heart.

DEAR READER — What do you mean by exercise? I think everyone should be physically active if they are able. Age is not a factor. Walking is one of the best forms of exercise for most people at any age. I would suggest a starting point for the older person who has never exercised. Stretching properly is also important, particularly for older people.

Walking helps prevent obesity by using calories. There will be benefits for your lungs and for most of your body systems. You don't have to be a long-distance runner or a tennis champion to benefit from the amount of exercise you can do safely.

Those in your age group who want to progress beyond walking and stretching should have a medical evaluation to determine what level of activity is best for them.

I think the biggest requirement for an older person is to be patient and careful to progress gradually. It takes longer to improve your exercise capacity as you get older. So take your time.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

The October issue of Popular Bridge contains several interesting six no-trump contracts. Here is one of them:

North's two-club opening shows either a strong no-trump hand or an old-fashioned strong two bid in some suit. Your response as South shows eight or nine high-card points and a balanced hand.

We don't recommend this response, but it gets you to six no-trump quicker than you can say Jack Robinson or Ely Culbertson.

West opens the 10 of spades. You have to lose the ace of diamonds and are then sure of four spades, three clubs, two hearts and two diamonds. You have no way to get an extra black-card trick, but you have lots of ways to get another heart or diamond.

Your plan is to work first on diamonds and reverse the heart finesse for later. You must start by winning the ace of spades and leading a second spade to your hand. Then you lead a diamond. West plays the ace and you claim the balance.

Suppose West does not play the ace. Win in dummy and lead a second high diamond from dummy. If you go back to your hand for a second diamond lead, you will use up your club entry and will then be unable to take the heart finesse.

We won't go into all the ramifications, but you have given yourself the best chance.
