

If your dream of a new home has yet to be fulfilled... This may well be your answer...

Dear Citizen and Newcomer to Sanford:

If you are a person retiring, a newly married couple having difficulty qualifying for a mortgage because of income deficiency, a veteran who has previously used VA eligibility, a Non-Veteran who has no way to take advantage of the low interest rates available under VA and FHA, or even if you are a person looking for an investment for rental purposes — this may be your best opportunity.

Years ago in examining the opportunities of Sanford for growth and service to our community and to our business by assisting Naval personnel in the housing area. They needed assurance that the homes they bought could be sold quickly in the event of transfer. Low down payments under the VA and FHA company policies of quality construction in conjunction with sound community planning. We also found that many of our local folk as well as newcomers in the areas first mentioned above could not in many instances qualify for VA or FHA even though many of them had demonstrated their ability to pay monthly payments by paying rent much higher than such payments would be under VA or FHA. At that time we made these decisions:

1. To build the best housing in the best planned subdivision at reasonable prices with financing available to permit any newcomer to Sanford to find suitable housing with the best financing plans available to anyone anywhere.
2. To endeavor to work with Sanford's Naval Personnel to the limits of our ability. (To this end we have at times repurchased the homes of Naval personnel transferred without prior agreement to do so. We have at times assisted without charge, to help them sell their homes directly. And in other instances we have made specific agreements to repurchase within a specified period and have honored these agreements.)
3. Our third decision was that in instances where we would repurchase, these already financed homes would be made available for resale at the same low interest rates that prevailed at the time they were first financed. In this way we felt we could help Sanford by making available the best homes with the most favorable home-buyer financing plans available anywhere in Florida.

Sanford has grown and will continue to do so. The population of Sanford has grown from 11,245 to 19,017 between 1950 and 1960. In the past five years Odham and Tudor has built over a thousand homes with an average occupancy of 94% persons that is housing for over 3,500 persons. That means that Odham and Tudor has furnished housing for over one-half of the population growth of Sanford since 1955.

But our plans do not stop there and neither should the plans for the rest of Sanford. This summer approximately 300 new families are expected to add to Sanford Naval Air Station. Just one of the electronic companies operating in Sanford is expected to add 150 members to their staff. Another industry has plans to double in size. This growth is here and such growth will continue with sound community planning which includes good housing.

Our program has made available homes one to three years old in Sunland Estates and Pincrest, financed at highly favorable interest rates under VA and FHA, that can be purchased by anyone merely qualifying with their own good credit. No further qualifying is necessary and down payments are low — monthly payments are low. We urge you to consider these home buy opportunities.

J. Braley Odham

We also have lovely new homes available in Sunland Estates and South Pincrest at Low Low Down Payments. For the Veteran no down payment and closing costs as low as $135.

Reds Storm Out At Geneva

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia and its Communist satellites abruptly walked out of the 10-nation disarmament conference today in a move which blocked hearing of new Western proposals and threw the party into angry turmoil.

Chief Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin and the entire Communist bloc stalked from the meeting room vowing to place the whole issue before the United Nations General Assembly. French Ambassador Jules Moch shouted "Hoo-hoo!" at them.

The Western powers promptly denounced the move, contended with the day's session and announced another meeting of the conference for Tuesday morning — which the Reds clearly did not plan to attend.

Zorin, the same man who broke up the last East-West disarmament conference in London in August, 1957, got the floor first. He announced that the Western powers had refused to discuss disarm-ment, and therefore Moscow considered this conference could do no more work.

Polish Deputy Foreign Minister Marian Maszkowski, today's chairman, ignored repeated Western attempts—orally and in writing—to get the floor, and announced when Zorin finished:

"The work of this commission is now discontinued, its role therefore now exhausted." Moch leaped to his feet, roaring: "I want the floor; I want the floor!"

Maszkowski hesitated for an instant while he glanced at Zorin, then continued to lead the Communist group out of the room while Moch yelled, "Hoo! Hoo! Hoo! Hoo!"

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore, who also was on his feet trying to get the floor, moved to the head of the table as the Communist disappeared through the door, and took over the chairmanship.

Chief U. S. Delegate Frederick M. Eaton, who returned from Washington with new American proposals only Sunday, then led off a round of Western speeches denouncing the walkout and warning that the world would be the best judge of the Soviet action.

"This is a sad moment," Eaton said. "The Soviets have shown their true motives."

Eaton went to Washington 16 days ago and stopped off in London and Paris to confer on his way back here.

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — The General Telephone Co. of Florida has 20 days to answer accusations by the State Railroad and Public Utilities Commission that it violated rate charges as prescribed by law. Douglas Aircraft workers in El Segundo ratified a new two-year contract covering 4,000 union members Sunday. Union spokesmen said 80 percent approved.

Pressure Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. says Russia may "put pressure on us that might involve minor military actions" but the United States is ready for any eventuality. Gates said Sunday, however, he did not look for the Soviet Union to start any major action. Gates was interviewed by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) on a television program.

Coexistence Pact

ROMANIA (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was believed today to have collected the signatures of five East European Communist leaders on a document supporting "peaceful coexistence" with the West. Western experts in London said such a document most likely would be used to back up Khrushchev in his current wrangle with Red China's Mao Tse-tung, who supports a "hard line" in the cold war.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgium Congo (UPI) — Troops poured into Leopoldville Sunday night and early this morning to head off a new outbreak of violence as a swearing in ceremony for Joseph Kasu Ngu, the first president of the Independent Congo, instead of joy and celebration, an atmosphere of hatred and tension built up as the swearing in ceremony proceeded.

Three Sanford boys and a boy from Plant City were apprehended by police Saturday for shooting out street lights.

The youths were charged with destroying public property, police said. They were turned over to their parents.

Flood Works 'Jeopardized'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic-controlled Senate has added "bad projects" to the $1.6 billion omnibus public works authorization bill and thus endangered 11 badly needed Florida works, according to Rep. William C. Cramer (R-Fla.).

He said the "poor harrelling" by the Senate has jeopardized 11 Florida navigation, flood control and beach erosion control projects.

Cramer said the "bad projects" added $200 million to the bill. "Too many unsound and prema-turally considered projects are being added when the Senate more than doubles the House-approved bill," he said.

The House approved the bill last year at $553,310,500.

"Florida projects represent a justifiable 8 percent of the bill approved last year by the House," he said.

Cramer said he would support the bill if the "bad" projects were eliminated "because a vote by the President would mean holding up many good projects to save the few bad ones."

The 11 Florida projects Cramer referred to are: Navigation—Everglades Harbor, $117,200; Gulf Coast shrimp boat harbors, $373,000; Bakers Haulover Inlet, $228,000; Palm Beach Harbor, Lake Worth Inlet, $4,300,000; Miami Harbor, $3,818,000; Little Pass, Clearwater Bay, $104,000; St. Marks River, $1,711,000. Beach erosion control—Key West $231,000.

Flood control—Prosecution of the Central and Southern Florida comprehensive plan for flood control and other purposes approved by the flood control act of 1948 to cost $23 million.

It will include canals, levees and water controls, drainage structures in the Nicodemus Slough area, Glades County at an estimated cost of $318,000.

Many Homeless In Texas Floods

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Hundreds of families along the flat Texas coastlands moved back into their waterlogged and mud encrusted homes today in the wake of floods caused by up to two feet of rain.

Partly cloudy skies and only scattered showers were predicted as some 1,500 or more homeless persons turned to the cleanup task in farm and city homes strung out along a 100-mile stretch from Houston to Port Lavaca.

There just wasn't any place for that much rain water to go in a hurry, so it just piled up on top of the flat terrain, flooded underpasses, streets and highways and crept into homes.

More than 37 inches of rain fell at Port Lavaca, a town of 8,000 on Lavaca Bay in Calhoun County, between 6 p. m. Thursday and mid-afternoon Sunday.

The rains didn't start until Friday morning further up the coast, but the gauges showed something like 17 inches at Houston and 30 inches at Bay City before the sun finally broke through late Sunday.

Havana Rocked By New Blast

HAVANA (UPI) — An ammunition dump explosion, the second such disaster to rock Havana in 3 1/2 months, touched off a wave of bitter anti-U. S. comment throughout Cuba today and semi-official charges of sabotage.

At least 10 persons were reported arrested in connection with the blast, which occurred Sunday night in a major Cuban army munitions depot in the Cayo Cruz section of Havana Harbor.

Official reports put the toll at two dead and 100 injured.

The explosion blasted huge sections of the stone wall of the ammunition dump 100 yards out into the bay. The concussion smashed in downtown storefronts, apartments, stores and business buildings for five miles, and a tremendous white cloud roomed high into the air over the dump. Residents rushed to the street from their homes, from restaurants and from evening masses at church in near panic. Electric power to some areas was knocked out temporarily.

The site was only 200 yards across the harbor from where the French munitions ship La Coubre blew up at dockside March 4, killing 90 persons and bringing accusations of sabotage against the United States that plummeted Cuban-American relations to a historic low.

Benefits Bill Is Introduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.) and five members of his special committee on problems of the unemployed today introduced a bill designed to set up a $300 million expansion of the Social Security system.

McCarthy said the bill was aimed mainly at helping needy unemployed and their families, especially in areas of chronic unemployment where states and localities have been unable to provide effective assistance.

He said the measure would provide for federal grants-in-aid to states which elect to share the cost of the program — and which have established approved general assistance programs.

The bill, co-sponsored by Democratic Sens. Joseph S. Clark (Pa.), Jennings Randolph (W. Va.) Pat McNamara (Mich.), R. Vance Hartke (Ind.) and Gale W. McGee (Wyo.) would help finance aid for about 45,000 state general assistance cases by providing up to $25 a month per person.

President Confers With Top Advisors On World Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower conferred with his top advisers today on the troubled world situation, the legislative outlook, and tonight's television report on his Asian tour.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter conferred separately with the chief executive at his request.

Nixon spent 40 minutes with Eisenhower and went over both global developments and the status of administration-backed legislation still pending in the closing days of Congress.

Herter, along with Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, briefed the President on the latest developments in international affairs, including the blow-up of East-West disarmament negotiations in Geneva today.

White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's speech tonight was mentioned "only in passing." Eisenhower had no listed appointments, and was expected to spend the rest of the day polishing his remarks. He will speak on the major radio and TV networks at 6:30 p. m.

Asked about reports that Nixon was given a copy of the President's address Sunday, Hagerty said "it's news to me." He added that the speech was not finished. Eisenhower, who returned Sunday morning from his 23,000-mile trip, is believed to feel that his mission in the Orient was successful even though he was forced to cancel a scheduled visit to Japan.

Geneva To Get New Post Office

Geneva became the second Seminole County community in more than a week to be notified that it will get a new post office.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Sumnerfield said that advertisement has been posted to secure post office facilities in Geneva on a monthly rental basis for a fixed term of five years.

Specifications call for a facility containing approximately 800 square feet of floor space, 20 square feet of platform space and 3,000 square feet of parking space.

Last week, Fern Park was also notified that it would get a new post office.

Geneva Postmaster James L. Brown said Hall should be submitted to Carl Bolt, assistant real estate manager, post office department, Atlanta, Ga.

'Hams' Compete For National Laurels

"CQ4, CQ4, this is WAPLB calling." For 24 consecutive hours Saturday and Sunday, 40 hams from the Orlando Amateur Radio Club worked feverishly to make contacts with other operators participating in the annual nationwide "hams" field day.

The club operated three radio positions from the Lake Mary site, getting power from mobile generators. Radio telephony, radio telegraphy and a new innovation which is rapidly replacing conventional methods, single-side-band, were employed by the group.

The objective of the field day is to test the equipment and men under adverse conditions such as would occur in event of a local or national emergency. Vice President Al Case said. The men ate and slept in the field to keep the transmission going around the clock.

The club competes with other clubs throughout the country for a total number of contacts in the U. S., its possessions, and Canada.

A point is given for every contact made, with extra points given for operating on emergency power and also for operating under a certain wattage. No prize except the honor of winning is offered nationally but "Skip," the Florida "hams" publication, gives a trophy to the state winner. Last year the Orlando club won the cup.

The event is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League whose membership numbers over 300,000. Most of the equipment belong to Civil Defense which cooperates closely with the amateur radio men.

Hard-working tugs were unable to free either vessel. The North American, a three-deck cruise ship, ran aground on a mile-long sandbar in the port of Ogdensburg Friday. The Inver apparently drifted out of its shipping channel Sunday and became embedded in mud east of Snow Look, near Massena.

Kirk and several other tugs were crowded under a shelter at the time. None of the tugs was injured seriously.

Kishi Replacement Hoped For By July 1

TOKYO (UPI)—Ranking members of the ruling Liberal-Democratic Party today agreed to try to select before July 1 a new prime minister to replace Nobusuke Kishi, according to party Secretary General Shojiro Kawashima.

The agreement was reached at a closed meeting of nine leading members of the party. They also agreed that a new cabinet must be formed "at the earliest opportunity" but failed to make much progress in selecting a successor.

Kishi did not attend the meeting. While the party hierarchy was trying to agree on a replacement for Kishi, who has announced his intention to resign, some leftist groups which forced his hand said they would begin new demonstrations Tuesday against "reactionary" government.

The militant and usually violent Zengakuren students' federation said it would muster at least 20,000 members Tuesday afternoon for a new demonstration in front of the Parliament.

A Zengakuren spokesman told UPI that the new government would be no different from Kishi's government and "we are going to demonstrate against any chance of a Liberal-Democratic member succeeding Kishi. We will block Kishi from handing over the reins of government to his cohorts."

The classes are being held daily from 9 a. m. until noon.

Fulbright Says Probe Was Soft On Summit Flop

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's report on the U-2 incident and summit conference failure was "very soft in its criticisms."

Fulbright termed the report, issued Saturday night, a "very thorough factual account" but he said it was overly moderate and failed to deal strongly enough with some of the most important issues.

Nevertheless, he said, it was the best report on which a majority of the committee could agree. Fulbright said he expected to outline his own views in a Senate speech within the next day or so.

The report, signed by 14 of the committee's 17 members, accused the Eisenhower administration of mishandling the spy plane incident at almost every important point.

It said there was good reason to conclude that the U-2 flight should not have been made just prior to the summit conference. It said the Paris Big Four meeting probably would have been held if the incident had not taken place, although prospects for success were all but nil.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), the committee's top Republican member, and Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), attached a joint minority statement and Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) issued a statement saying the report was not in the nation's best interests.

Capehart cast the only vote against the report when the committee approved it, 14-1. Wiley and Lausche abstained from voting.

JACK WHITE
Marine Honored For Rescue Efforts

Private First Class Jack W. White of the Marine Barracks at the Naval Air Station at Sanford was awarded a meritorious mast by Major Ralph C. Wood, the Marine Barracks commanding officer last week.

White was awarded the mast "for meritorious service rendered to the Sheriff's Department in connection with an automobile accident in which an automobile had crashed through a bridge and plunged into the St. Johns River trapping all of its occupants."

In an effort to rescue the car's occupants, White made numerous dives into a solid mass of water hyacinths in very cold water. After locating the car he attached wrecker cable to it so that it could be raised.

Maj. Wood concluded the mast by saying: "This humanitarian action on the part of Private First Class White reflects credit not only on himself but on the entire Marine Corps and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the Naval Service."

Victory Dinner Planned By Church

A victory dinner has been planned by members of the DeBary First Presbyterian Church. The affair will be held July 29, at Stinson University.

The congregation earlier had set a goal of $90,000 to be collected for the construction of a new church. Last week, the fund committee went beyond the $100,000 mark.

Strength, Gentleness No Match For A Crazy Killer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Carroll Jackson had bear-like hands and strength unmatched in ordinary men. But he was too gentle to save himself, his wife and two small daughters from a crazed killer.

The entire Jackson family was wiped out 18 months ago in a senseless slaughter in the Washington, D. C. area, and he faces questioning about four other murders dating back to 1955.

With the exception of Jackson, all the victims were women and children.

Carroll Jackson was in the prime of his quiet, peaceful life on Sunday night of Jan. 11, 1959. He looked like a man that even a crazed killer would fear. He was 29, 6-foot-2, 215 pounds, and he could toss 100-pound sacks into the big truck he drove for a feed company as easily as he could toss his 18-month-old daughter, Janet, into the air in an afternoon romp.

But he was a gentle man. His high school football coach once remarked that Jackson was so gentle he was little help to the team.

He and his dark-haired wife, Mildred, 27, said goodbye that Sunday night to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hill, and started home to Apple Valley, Va., 15 miles away.

Their car was found beside the road the next morning. Also two months later Jackson's body was found in a sawdust pile near Fredericksburg, Va., 50 miles away. He had been shot in the head. His hands were bound with a red necktie.

Beneath his body lay that of little Janet. She was untouched—dead of suffocation or exposure. Two weeks later the bodies of Mildred Jackson and 4-year-old Susan Ann were found in shallow graves near Gambrilla, Md., Mrs. Jackson had been beaten and strangled. Susan Ann was beaten to death.

The man the FBI says is the killer is handsome and quiet.

Mental Patients Spark Riot In Canadian Jail

MONTREAL (UPI) — Mental patients sparked a riot by 380 inmates at the maximum security Bordeaux Jail Sunday night and one convict was shot from a wall trying to escape before the disturbance was crushed.

The riot broke out during a baseball game between guards and mental patients in the south courtyard of the jail at the north end of Montreal Island.

A group of prisoners suddenly dashed to the jail's medical office where they tipped open metal filing cabinets and set fire to their contents and to bedding.

In the courtyard, several prisoners placed benches against the jail's 27-foot high inner wall and began to climb them. Only two prisoners managed to reach the top.

One was shot between the shoulder blades, the other jumped from the wall and broke his leg. One guard was knocked from the wall. A third prisoner was wounded in the hand by a stray shot.

An alarm brought 50 squad cars filled with city policemen to the jail along with firefighting equipment.

Guards, reinforced by city police, brought the inmates under control. They were searched for weapons and returned to their cells.

Firemen put out the blaze in the medical building before it spread to the other buildings in the prison.

A jail spokesman said the prisoners, most of them a group of criminally insane, were awaiting transfer to other institutions. He said they were complaining about their food and having guards transferred.

A spokesman for the governor (warden) of the prison, Lt. Gov. E. Gerney said the prisoners calmed down after Gerney agreed to investigate their complaints.

In a brief statement, Gerney said, "There has been a slight disturbance inside. Everything is now under control."

First Ballot Kennedy Victory Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A West Coast supporter predicted today Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) would win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot at the Los Angeles convention.

The forecast by Rep. Edith Green (Ore.), an ardent Kennedy campaigner, followed a prediction by former New York Gov. Averell Harriman that Kennedy would capture the nomination on the second ballot.

Harriman said in New York that only favorite son balloting would block Kennedy from a first ballot victory. Enough of these votes will swing to Kennedy to put him over on the second ballot, he said.

As Kennedy's running mate if he gets the nomination, Mrs. Green suggested Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), Gov. Orville E. Freeman of Minnesota, Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, or Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) in that order.

Other political developments: Public opinion pollster Dr. George Gallup said if the presidential election were held now, it would be a photo-finish between Nixon and Kennedy.

Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts said the religious issue is not dead. Furcolo, like Kennedy a Roman Catholic, said "there are some people who will make it an issue," although the presidential candidates would not.

Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania stuck to his neutrality on Democratic candidates. He said in Harrisburg he did not believe there would be a bandwagon rush for any contender on the first ballot at Los Angeles.

How Treasury Judges Old Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — These are the Treasury's guidelines for determining if currency is fit to continue in circulation: It must be fairly clean, so that its class, denomination and genuineness can be determined without difficulty.

It must contain a sufficient amount of "life" or "aging" to permit its being handled with facility. It should not contain heavy creases which break the fiber.

It should not be so badly soiled as to be offensive or be torn, perforated or otherwise mutilated. Turned down corners do not render notes unfit.

The Name Stuck

ACCORD, N. Y. (UPI) — Villagers here credit the name of their community to the optimism of a Post Office clerk in the 18th century. Settle's in the 1700's were engaged in a long controversy over a name, and finally one irate citizen wrote the postmaster general in Washington, suggesting that because of all the squabbling the new community be dubbed "Discord." A government clerk did a little editing, however, and the new name became Accord.

Jack Phillips Set An Example For All To Consider

Mr. Jack Phillips, who worked on The Herald news staff this past year, has, at the young age of 22 years, set an example for every living person.

He died Thursday while trying to make himself more useful to his fellow man.

His death came unexpectedly during the post-surgery period following his operation for a serious heart defect. He submitted himself to the operation so he could become physically able to enter a career in the teaching field.

This outstanding young man had only one goal—to be of service. He had made good progress in the newspaper field, worked hard to improve his writing, and had his first article accepted by a magazine just before his death. But he decided that he could be more useful in another field, which meant that he had to begin another long, arduous training period.

He never hesitated to take the calculated risk of the heart operation. He never hesitated to do anything that would make him more capable. He had been told that he had security in his job with the newspaper as long as he wanted it, but he said in a way that was characteristic of him that he felt he should follow his conscience into another area of service — although he knew it held many possible personal hardships for him.

The refreshingly unselfish and straightforward personality of Jack Phillips made a friend of everybody he met and dealt with and he always gave his complete attention to the wishes of others. His forthright expressions of faith and hope had a definite influence on many people. It is doubtful that anybody associated with him did not benefit in some way from the purity of his heart.

His family grieves Jack, an only son, but they must be comforted to know in their hearts that the Good Lord, whose will he served faithfully, must have decided that this fine young man already had contributed enough.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Do you blush or stutter or feel self-conscious? A tennis player cannot laugh at your behavior on the court, if you constantly keep him preoccupied by striking the ball back at him. In similar fashion, people who blush or stutter, should learn the knack of keeping the focus of conversation on the other person.

CASE # — 201: Lena G., aged 19, is an attractive college coed. "But, Dr. Crane, my life is miserable," she said, and the tears came to her eyes.

"I blush at the slightest provocation. Whenever I am in a crowd, if the conversation turns my way, I become so self-conscious I can feel my skin growing warm and red.

The more I feel the blush forming, the worse it becomes. And if a boy talks to me, I always turn as red as a beet.

To make matters worse, the boys like to tease me about it. All this increases my blushing even more than ever.

"So, I have been refusing dates and party invitations lately, but I am not happy alone while the others are having a grand time. What can I do?"

Blushing is one of those nuisance habits that form when we are in a social situation and feel unduly nervous or embarrassed.

It is a first cousin of stuttering, trembling hands, spasmodic social awkwardness and vomiting, as well as the excessive desire to empty the bladder on a date.

All these nuisance habits seem to take their origin in fight in enslaving their victims.

They like to remain in the focus of attention, for this increases their dominances of the one whom they have selected.

Lena's blushing thus has become a disorder. Medically, it consists of a sudden dilation of the blood vessels in the skin.

Lena once mispronounced a father common word in grammar school. Everybody laughed. She felt embarrassed. Her face flushed.

"Look at her blush!" teased the boy who sat behind her.

This directed her conscious attention to this normally involuntary act by which the vessels of the skin relax and thus permit extra blood to accumulate there, thus giving the skin its reddish hue or blush.

For the ensuing six years, Lena has permitted this blushing to dominate her brain and upset her happiness when she is in a crowd of people.

She has allowed her emotions and a tiny "segmental" habit concerning the blood vessels of the neck and face, to militate against the normal dominance of the brain.

Never permit such mutiny: Always keep your brain on the throne, and let it dictate the behavior of your organs or emotions.

Like a spoiled child who grandstands and always tries to monopolize the social spotlight, this nuisance habit has occupied the Number One position in Lena's attention.

She must push it out of that dominant spot. How? By parrying the teasing remarks with a stout, over-ready retort.

"That just proves I'm a loyal, red-blooded American," she can nonchalantly laugh it off, and then quickly turn the conversation upon her companion, as by paying him an honest compliment on his tie or hair or peppy white teeth.

When the focus of attention is on him, he becomes relatively self-conscious. This restricts his thinking to his own epidermis. Consequently, he doesn't extend his critical attention to Lena or notice her blushing.

So you blushing should laugh at yourself. Shrug your shoulders and direct your attention by paying compliments to your companions.

Keep me ever aware, O Holy Spirit, of why I am here, where I came from and where I am going.

Three Minutes A Day

By JAMES KELLER

Being trapped for 12 hours in an overturned automobile, nearly covered by the icy waters of a stream, was the ordeal survived by an Oregon mother of six children.

She landed in this predicament when returning home early one evening from a nearby center. Her car slipped off the highway and tumbled 125 feet down an embankment into the shallow river.

Water seeped in until there were only 4 inches of air space. The young mother spent the night clinging to two safety belt rings on the floor of the upside down car.

When rescued by a state patrolman the next morning, she was asked what had spurred her to hang on. "I have a husband and six children," she said. "God was with me. He has been real good to me... that's all I can say."

If you too have a noble purpose in life that is bigger than death, it will buoy you up in fair weather and foul.

"This is why I was born and why I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth." (John 18:37)

Keep me ever aware, O Holy Spirit, of why I am here, where I came from and where I am going.

SHORT ORDER COOK

POSTCARDS

by Stan Delaplante

We put a new plaster on the old mansion and built on a new room this summer. It gave us a great sense of accomplishment.

(When our Banker totted up the interest, he gave an astonished and delighted whistle. He took his whole family to Europe.)

Building a family nest is very satisfying. I would certainly recommend it for several reasons:

It takes care of man's deep primitive instincts — "a man's home is his castle."

It lasts a lifetime. The building process, I mean. Soon as you get one thing built, another part wears out.

It is a game the whole family can play.

The division of work has been most interesting. When we got out the blueprints, we figured immediately how we could save a great deal of money.

One way we can save money is for me to do the painting and the carpenter work. (I can do it on Sundays and Saturdays — on my days off.)

The sad thing about this is I cannot paint, I cannot carpenter.

I told them the most hilarious story: How once when I was in manual training in grammar school and started to make a table for my mother, I never could get the legs planned evenly. So it did not rock. Finally, the legs got so short I converted the whole project into a shoeshine stand.

"Isn't that the funniest thing you ever heard?" I asked, slapping everybody on the back.

Nobody laughed. There is a shortage of humor around the manse. I try to make up for it.

those quakes at the foot of the driveway: "Happy Acres." Or, "Bide-a-Wee."

Actually, I had nothing square like this in mind. I sat around while the painters painted (at a King's ransom per hour) and the carpenters goofed off at Cadillac prices.

"How about 'Delaplante's Folly'?" He, ha, ha! Well, that was a bomb.

Jimmy Hatlo, the cartoonist, already called his place "Wit's End." So that was out. I suggested "Let We Forget" — I was thinking of the mortgage payments. But nobody rose to it.

We thought of splendid names like "Splendid Acres." But the place only covers three-quarters of an acre. And you cannot call a place "Splendid Three-Quarters of an Acre."

We looked up names like Indian names: "Wa-pit-ka-boneroo." "Which means," I explained, "The - Place - Where-Paleface Sings-His-Splendid-Death-Song."

They said it was too Indian. Besides, this place is "traditional." That is the way we describe it. It was all explained to the architect: "What we are trying to build is something 'traditional.' Like a New England farmhouse. Only REALLY more like English Tudor."

(We had just been in England and were fascinated by the villages in the Shakespeare country).

So when the whole place was built, it had a little of everything.

I suggested we call it: "A Wee Bit of England."

Nobody spoke to me for a week. If they don't want to take advantage of Brains around the place, OK by me.

LONDON (UPI) — Gilbert Shaw Scott ran the following brief query in Thursday's London Times personal column: "Diary kept since January 1, 1908. Is this a record?"

WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — Admiral Hyman Rickover, famed architect of the atomic sub, came across a strange parallel between a current Pentagon practice and that of the ancient days of Pope Pius II.

It's a game called "Winking at the Estimate." It goes like this: The idea boys come up with a spending scheme, a pet project, such as a new airplane for the Air Force. It will cost a tremendous amount of money. The aim of the game is to slip the money request by the Congressional Appropriations Committee.

Say the project's cost is $10 million. It's far more than Congress would appropriate — the top Pentagon brass agree on that. So they send up a crew of underlings with convincing faces, and these money askers give the lawmakers a look of faded dollars signs in their eyes.

"This program will cost practically nothing," they say. "At the most, hey, hey, two or three million."

The project is approved. Then, slowly, the real costs begin to emerge. First, the money changers of the Pentagon ask for "supplementary funds." Then additional money for "unforeseen expenditures."

Then they want more money because of the "rising cost of material and labor." Finally, it's an "emergency supplement." So in the end the pet project reaches the $10 million plateau — just as everybody in the Pentagon knew it would all along.

Now, Admiral Rickover, himself not an orthodox player of the game, is discussing prices of atomic submarines — which he believes, below estimated cost and within a period of time he was told couldn't be done.

He was before the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. Rep. Chet Hollifield (D., Calif.) brought up the question of "killing" estimates.

"Reminds me of what happened in the 15th Century," Rickover recalled, "to Pope Pius II."

It seems the Pope had received many insinuations against his architect, mainly because the man spent more than 50,000 ducats in constructing a church and a palace, when his estimate was 18,000.

The law of the Ephesians would have obliged the architect to make up the difference," Rickover said. "He was a Florentine named Bernardo."

Pius inspected the work, then sent for the man. "You did well, Bernardo," said the Pope. "In lying to us about the expense involved in the work. If you told the truth, you could never have induced us to spend so much money, and neither this splendid palace nor this church — the finest in all Italy — would now be standing."

Rickover went on, quoting the Pope: "Your deceit has built these glorious structures. . . . Whereupon the Pope ordered full pay for Bernardo, in addition to a gift of 100 ducats and a scarlet robe."

So, just to keep the record straight, it must be pointed out that the fine art of lying about estimates may have been introduced upon by the men of the Pentagon. But, as Rickover has now revealed, they didn't invent it.

Two lads from the deep South were tooting merrily along the highway in a battered jalopy when the driver suddenly jammed on the brakes. The boys skidded as an express train thundered by a scant six feet behind them. "Watcha blow that born for?" gasped the passenger. "I didn't," answered the driver. "That horn you heard was Gabriel's!"

The office of lieutenant governor in Arkansas was created by referendum in 1914, but it was not until 1927 that the first lieutenant governor took office.

Many people wonder why a Chiropactor is so interested in the spine because it houses the main channel of life force—called the spinal cord. The spinal cord may be likened to a great trunk of the tree from which many branches and sub-branches come forth.

Try And Stop Me

A pretty lass answered an ad for a secretary, but came back home in high indignation. The man who interviewed me came up behind me and deliberately pinched me," she reported, "so I slapped him in the face and walked out."

"I wouldn't have done that," mused the mother. "Why didn't you report him to the head of the firm?"

"Mama," explained the girl, "the man who pinched me is the head of the firm."

Happiness Through Health Healthy Thoughts!

messages get through, all in well and health is abundant providing that moderation in the keynote of living. When there is a block to that life energy output, it means that one or more of the bones of the spine is displaced slightly from its normal position.

Now you can see why the Chiropactor is so vitally interested in your back and spine. He is scientifically trained to locate and remove that block of life energy—bringing you health and happiness.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropactic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 201 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — At the last cabinet meeting he held before he took off on his Asian tour, President Eisenhower startled some of his cabinet. He came down harder on the need for economy in government than at almost any time during his nearly eight years in the White House.

The meeting began with a statement by the president on the 1958 budget. Even though he goes out of office a few days later, the president is required to present in January complete budgetary proposals for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1961.

Warning to this theme, Eisenhower stressed the need for fiscal integrity and absolute economy in every area of government. Not one department, he said, looking around the cabinet table, was to consider any increase in appropriations above the levels fixed for the fiscal year 1961 which begins at the end of this month.

In fact, it was essential in some instances to make fairly drastic cuts. The budget bureau has estimated a surplus of $4.8 billion for fiscal '61. But this is based on approval by Congress of an increase in postal rates and other factors that are highly doubtful.

In the tragic deficits that he has suffered in recent weeks in the foreign field, Eisenhower's buoyant, optimistic temperament—the will to believe what he wants to believe — has come to his rescue. Communism is, moreover, a convenient scapegoat.

But it is on the home front and with respect to the big deficits run up by his administration that the president is deeply sensitive. This, as cabinet members discussed it afterward, explained his stern visage as he outlined the '62 budget which will be his parting shot to Congress.

With "a little bit of luck," the current fiscal year will end with a hair-line surplus of $200 million. But the record for the other years is, with two exceptions — '56 and '57 — bleak indeed.

In 1953, it could be said that the commitments from the Truman administration and the Korean war produced the deficit of $6.4 billion. President Eisenhower had inherited a budget that President Truman presented a few days before he left the White House, and from this many billions were washed.

The deficit for '54 was $2.1 billion. For '55 it was $4.2 billion and for '56 it was $3.3 billion. In 1959, it was a thumping $12.4 billion. This makes the total for the president's two terms in the White House, granted he is correct on the current year, $31.9 billion. For one whose primary article of faith is fiscal integrity, this is a grim fact of life.

While it may be blamed on Democratic Congresses and on two unexpected recessions, there is one large factor in the Republican record that cannot be ignored. Eisenhower's first secretary of the treasury, the man whose influence was perhaps greatest of all on a president new to government and politics, George M. Humphrey, put through a tax cut in 1954 of $7 billion a year.

It takes only a little arithmetic to show that if that tax cut had been put through, the Eisenhower administration would have ended up with an overall surplus. Every one was naturally very happy to get it and few members of Congress voted against it. The cut contributed materially to the boom that reached its full flower in 1959 and last a year slow to the Republican claim of peace and prosperity.

The budget presented by an outgoing president in his last days might be taken as purely an academic exercise. After all, the new president and his own budgetmakers can do whatever they want with it.

But in this instance, the stern order of economy has sent literally hundreds of bureaucrats scurrying in at least three or four government departments, according to one cabinet source. They are under orders to find ways to make cuts or to hold the line of current appropriations. And this last is not easy to do in view of the rise in costs in almost every area in the light of new responsibilities the government must assume abroad.

The irony that this should be going on at the very moment when this country has suffered one of the gravest diplomatic-prospera defeats in its history has not been lost on some of those who had to do the scurrying and scurrying in search of ways to save on candle ends and such. It may be that his experience in Asia will have worked a change in the president. But those reporting his attitude as he left do not look for it.

Editor:

Being the mother of a son who lives outside the city limits, I was wondering what the other half of Sanford children are going to do this summer.

They have no recreation program set up for them like that for children who live in the city unless a $5 fee is paid for each child. And I know there are many parents who cannot afford this.

There should be no discrimination among the children just because some of them live in different sections of town.

I for one would like to see the county get started on a recreation program where our children can enjoy themselves in different activities well-spread during the summer months.

Sleeves Dominate Fashion Interest In Summer Clothes

Stepping out fashionable in spring and summer garments is a pleasure. Many new trends provide a fresh, exciting new look. The most obvious fashion change today is in the sleeve. Wide, cropped kimono-like sleeves are popular and especially attractive in above-the-elbow lengths for coats and suits. Dolman or batwing sleeves are also in style. They're cut in one piece with the bodice to give a roomy look.

Practically no sleeve is full-length—most sleeves are cropped somewhere above the wrist. Short sleeves and sleeveless fashions are more popular this year than ever before. Even when sleeves are almost waist length, they're wider, tubular, and very new looking.

Many waistslines are normal but some appear slightly lowered. They feature back-dropping contour belts, low-placed pockets, long fitted torsos, and hip yokes. Colors trend toward a pale, hued look. Pale grey is gaining in popularity. Beige to mocha tones are important, and bone is an especially good accessory hue.

Popular pastels and bright shades are moss green, mimosa, bright blue, violet and rosy red.

Several Methods Of Selecting Good Watermelons

Home Demonstration Agent Red-and-green, king-sized watermelons, now plentiful at Florida markets, offer a variety of uses to the homemaker.

Common uses of this summer fruit include melon balls served separately or in fruit cups and salads, ice-cold slices for desserts or between-meal and late-evening snacks. Hollowed out, juicy ripe melons make fine punch bowls, too.

Cutting and plugging is the best way to determine quality. Sweetness depends considerably on variety. Large melons usually have more heart flesh free from seeds. Midget melons are as ripe and rich-fleshed as the larger ones.

To buy juicy, ripe melons, look for good deep color of rind with a velvety appearance and yellow undersides. Immature melons look hard, green and unripe. Their undersides is pale green or white. Good watermelons appear symmetrical, firm and fresh. A hard white streak running lengthwise through the flesh is undesirable, but can't be detected without cutting.

For storing several days, watermelons should be kept at a temperature of 36 to 40 degrees with high humidity. Melons held at freezing temperatures tend to become dented or pitted or acquire bad flavors after one week.

Watermelons have been popular since ancient times. Egyptian pictures show that watermelons were cultivated even in prehistoric times. Watermelons rind pickles and preserves long have been a favorite.

4-H Girls Report On Short Course

Linda King of Sanford, Carla Lommel, Longwood and Patsy Rettler of North Orlando, enjoyed their trip to the Girls 4-H Club Short Course, in Tallahassee, recently, and would like to share their experiences with other young people. Below are two reports in "letter form."

"We arrived at Florida State University at 4 p. m. and were assigned rooms in the Jennie Murphey Dormitory. The first evening a welcome speech was given by Dr. Milton W. Carothers, vice president of the university.

The second day we heard a speech by Miss Emmie Nelson, national committee chairman on boys' and girls' club work. After assembly we went to separate classes. I met with the state council, as I represented our county 4-H club.

The State Girls 4-H Council consists of the president and elected delegate from each county council. The purpose is to provide an opportunity to develop leadership among older 4-H girls. During the meeting the council holds business sessions to help us in our county 4-H clubs.

We elected officers the next morning. The council was divided in the ten districts and a district representative was elected from each district. Campaign speeches were given about the girls running for a state office before we voted. On "Youth Day," Paul Hendrick, a 4-H boy from Jasper, told about his travels to the fair held in New Delhi, India. He was one of the eight representatives from the United States. It gave us and other countries a better understanding of each other. He contrasted life of an Indian girl to that of an American.

I was in the class "4-H Is News." We learned how to develop and take pictures for the paper. We were also taught to write news articles, which included the A. B. C's of writing. We heard 4-H girls tell of their trip to National 4-H Congress and Leadership Camp.

Following a shopping trip in downtown Tallahassee we toured the Governor's Mansion and the home, The Grove. While touring the governor's home I talked with Mrs. Collins and her daughters.

Our last day was inspired by Dr. Marshall O. Watkins, director of Florida agricultural extension service. His topic was "Youth Works and Serves." A recognition program took place after lunch. Our evenings were spent in assemblies. Tuesday was "World of Fun" where we flew around the world in imaginary airplanes and played games of the countries. The Dress Revue was Thursday night. Seventy-seven girls modeled dresses they had made. Carla Lommel represented us in the Revue.

The highlight of short course was when the State 4-H officers were installed, after which the 4-Hers participated in the candle lighting service. We want to thank our sponsors who made it possible for us to take this trip, and Miss Myrtle Wilson, home demonstration agent, who gave her time, energy and helped make this trip very successful.

Linda King, President Seminole County Girls' 4-H Council "My trip to 4-H Short Course was one of the most interesting trips I have ever taken. It was a lot of fun to stay in the dormitory and I know I shall like going to college. The food was very good. We had assembly every morning and evening. I had four classes and my first one was music. Our teacher, Mr. Bill Mears, taught us how to lead and direct music. Since we have singing in 4-H it is very necessary to know how to lead songs.

My second class was "Citizenship." The teacher, Dr. Juanita Gibson, gave us information on the basic beliefs regarding democracy in the United States. She was most interesting. She also answered a number of questions we had to ask her concerning our government.

My third class was "Snacks." We learned how to make snacks which have less calories and more vitamins.

The fourth class was "From Here To Maturity." We discussed emotions, social and mental life, and problems which concern teenagers. All in all I had one of the best and one of the most educational trips of my life."

Elastic Garments Need Careful, Frequent Washing

Washing garments that contain elastic carefully and often will give them longer life. Oil and perspiration from the skin, detergent and heat can quickly ruin the elastic in girdles and bras.

Wash garments containing elastic in soap and warm water. Avoid using detergents. Do not rub on heavily soiled areas, use soft brush. Squeeze out the moisture rather than wringing the garment.

Thorough rinsing of elastic garments is important. Then roll in turkish towel to take up the moisture that cannot be squeezed out. Gently smooth the garment into shape and dry at room temperature. Never dry over direct heat or in a dryer.

Since oil and perspiration shorten the life of elastic, frequent washing of girdles and bras will help them last longer.

Robertson Promoted; Greyhounds Lose Eighth Straight

The Sanford Herald Page 6—Mon. June 27, 1960

Managerial Job To End Tonight Against Lakeland

The Sanford Greyhounds are in the midst of their worst slump of the season and even manager Bobbie Robertson won't be able to help them now.

Robertson was promoted Sunday to manager of the Class C Visalia Club of the California League.

He will leave the club after tonight's game with Lakeland and will be replaced temporarily by Kansas City's southeastern state scout, Jack Sanford.

Sanford club officials called the move "a deserved promotion."

Robertson will be leaving the club with the locals in fourth place and in an eight game losing streak.

Visalia is in the cellar position, but has a pitching staff with a "tremendous potential." Robertson was told that Kansas City regards him as the "best pitching coach in our organization."

Robertson told Greyhound officials that he "thought long and hard before making the decision to accept the offer to move up in the organization." He declared "I only did it when I was assured that my replacement at Sanford would be the best available; that he would be given every bit of help in moulding a pennant-contending club for the second half that opens Thursday."

Sanford was scheduled to arrive at noon today to effect the transfer. He was to have been greeted, too, by two new players—$25,000 bonus rookie outfielder Frank D. Cipriani, and rookie right-hander Dick Wax, both of Buffalo, N. Y.

Just what changes are in prospect for the Greyhounds were not known at press time because Sanford was not located until Sunday and settled that he had been ordered to Sanford at once.

Orlando Nips Sanford Nine By 5-4 Score

The Sanford Greyhounds suffered their eighth straight loss in a row Sunday night as Orlando outlasted the locals, 5-4.

Leesburg's hitters had a picnic as the Orioles humiliated Lakeland 24-6 to set the highest run total in the 1960 Florida State League season.

Every Leesburg batter except the pitchers got at least one hit. Roger Pearson banged the three Indian hurlers for five hits in seven trips and drove in seven runs.

Bobby Brown and Jim Satalich had four hits each.

Lou Konyha pitched St. Petersburg to a 2-0 win over Daytona Beach and picked up his fifth straight win. The effort was Konyha's third shutout of the year and it dropped his earned run average to a sparkling 1.66.

Tonight's action includes Daytona Beach at Tampa, Leesburg at St. Petersburg, Orlando at Palatka and Sanford at Lakeland.

Gentile Powers Orioles Back Into AL Lead

Rookie Jim Gentile is the American League's new batting leader and that makes it tough for Tokyo but bully for first-place Baltimore.

Gentile, purchased conditionally from St. Paul for $20,000 during the off-season, was all set to go to Japan and play if he failed to make good with the Orioles.

He looked futile with Baltimore this spring and began to think more and more about his trip to the Far East.

"I wasn't fooling," says the slugging, 26-year-old first baseman. "Rather than go back to the minors, I would have gone to Japan."

Paul Richards stuck with Gentile, however, and the Orioles paid St. Paul the money for him only a few weeks ago. The transaction could easily develop into the baseball deal of the year.

Gentile slammed his ninth and 10th homers of the season against Kansas City Sunday—one with two on in the sixth inning and another with the bases full in the seventh—to drive in seven runs.

In a 9-2 victory that powered the Orioles into first place. Along with it, he vaulted to the top of the league in batting with a .347 average and jumped to second place in the runs-batted-in department with 48.

Rookie Chuck Estrada, supported by Gentile's two homers plus another by Gene Woodling, breezed to his eighth victory with a two-hitter. Estrada held the A's hitless until the eighth when Bill Tuttle singled and Andy Carey homered.

The Indians knocked the Yankees out of first place by winning the second game of a doubleheader, 7-4, in 11 innings after losing the opener, 6-2. The White Sox swept a pair from the Red Sox, 4-3, and 2-7 (that's no misprint), and the Senators took two from the Tigers, 4-2 and 7-4.

In the National League, the last-place Cubs snapped a nine-game losing streak with a 7-3 victory over the first-place Pirates. Despite the two losses, the Pirates lost only a half game of their lead and they still are three games up on the second-place Braves, who lost to the Dodgers, 6-3. The Reds beat the Giants, 10-4, while the Phillies won a 3-2 decision over the Cardinals in a 12-inning opener and then lost the nightcap, 4-3.

Southpaw Whitey Ford stopped the Indians on four hits in winning the opener for the Yankees, who knocked out Ted Bowafield with a three-run burst in the sixth.

Roger Maris was the key man in the nightcap. He kept the Yankees in the game with his 21st and 22nd homers of the season and then committed an 11th inning error on pinch hitter Bob Hale's double that allowed Hank Foles to score the winning run. Jim Perry was the winner and Johnny James the loser.

Billy Pierce and Early Wynn buried the White Sox to their two wins over the Red Sox. Pierce pitched a five-hitter and drove in two runs in the opener and Wynn coasted in the nightcap as the White Sox turned the game into a shambles with 11 runs in the fourth inning. Sherm Lollar led Chicago's 22-hit attack in the nightcap with four hits.

Pedro Ramos and Don Lee teamed up for Washington's opening game triumph over Detroit with Ramos registering his fourth victory. The Senators scored all of their runs and eight of their 10 hits off Frank Lary. In the nightcap, Washington chased loser Paul Foytack with a four-run burst in the first inning and after Law Barber's three-run homer drew the Tigers within one run in the seventh, Reno Bertoia hit a two-run homer for the Senators in the eighth. Bill Fischer gained his third victory.

Bolivar Hinojosa, Sanford's classy rightfielder is the sixth leading batter in the Florida State League with a .323 average.

Leading the list in the batting department is Miles McWilliams of Palatka with a .350 mark.

Sanford is in second place in club hitting with a .286 mark, nine points behind league leading Lakeland.

Just what changes are in prospect for the Greyhounds were not known at press time because Sanford was not located until Sunday and settled that he had been ordered to Sanford at once.

Doctor Orders Indian Star To Take 'Rest'

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI)—Cleveland Indians centerfielder Jim Piersall was home with his family here today, but he said it was just a normal visit as far as he knew and not an enforced rest ordered by the team physician.

Dr. Joe Kelly, Indians doctor, said Sunday night he ordered an indefinite rest for Piersall after the stormy outfielder was ejected from the Indians nightcap with the Yankees at Cleveland.

The banishment, following a sixth inning argument with umpire Hank Borz, was the most recent of a series of incidents involving Piersall this season.

When Piersall arrived Sunday night at Boston's Logan Airport, he said he did not know he had been ordered to take a rest. He said he was merely home for a three day visit with his wife and children, who have lived in this Boston suburb since he was with the Boston Red Sox.

Frazer Favored At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Young Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, who beat Neale Fraser in the U. S. national indoor championships at New York earlier this year, gets another crack at the Aussie today in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Fraser was a strong favorite to win the match — one of two quarter-final tussles on today's program.

The other quarter-final will pit big Parry Mackey of Dayton, O., co-favorite with Fraser for the men's title, against Italian Davis Copper Nicola Pietrangeli.

Mackey was expected to win his match as easily as Fraser. The second-seeded Yank breezed through his first four matches without losing a set. He was especially impressive in whipping Jürgen Ulrich of Denmark, 6-2, 6-2, 6-6, in the fourth round Saturday.

Start Training

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lightweight champion Benny (Kid) Fiset and Garmet (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia have started training for their non-title bout at Madison Square Garden, July 12.

Nearly half of the nation's department stores have started charging for deliveries, and three-quarters charge for pickups for something that is returned.

Pagan Takes Tequesta Play

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI)—Dub Pagan relaxed at his first captain's job today and looked back to the two shots most responsible for Sunday's victory in the Florida Open golf tournament at nearby Tequesta.

A brilliant recovery shot and a 36-foot putt on the 15th hole gave Pagan a one-under par 70 and a four round total of 280. He nipped Miami Beach's George Bernard by one stroke to win $300 top money.

Business Briefs

Dynatronics, Inc., formed in Orlando by five electronics engineers a little over three years ago, predicts gross revenues for the current fiscal year of $2,700,000, nearly $1,000,000 more than for 1959.

Dynatronics' president, Parker Painter Jr. made this estimate as the company approaches 1960's first quarter closing date June 30.

Painter said that during the first year of operation the company handled a dollar volume of work of approximately $107,000. During the second year this was nearly quadrupled to $418,000. At the end of the third year—1959—dollar volume had again quadrupled to $1,800,000, which produced earnings of 22 cents per share of common stock.

The company is engaged in electronic research, development, instrumentation and production for both the armed forces and private industry.

It has grown from its five founding members to a total of 168 employees.

The air conditioned plant, located on Highway 17-92 in Seminole County was specifically designed to suit the specialized needs of the company. A 20,000-square foot addition has just been completed which provides a facility of 41,000 square feet and will enable the company to accomplish a planned expansion to over 250 employees.

Ft. Lauderdale Girl Wins Miss Florida Beauty Pageant

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI)—Kathy Magda, vivacious 19-year-old brunette, said Sunday when she was announced as winner of the 1960 Miss Florida contest she thought a mistake had been made.

Miss Magda, who represented this city in the pageant at Sarasota, was crowned Saturday night to climax three days of preliminary judging.

The dark-eyed beauty won the right to represent Florida in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City in September. She also received a $1,000 educational scholarship, modeling and personal appearance contracts, clothes and a vacation.

Annette Baker of St. Petersburg, was first runnerup, Sandy Guthrie of Miami was second, Charlotte Jeorg of Winter Park was third and Linda Couch of Tampa was fourth.

Miss Magda, a graduate of Fort Lauderdale's Stranahan High School and a Florida State University student, was the only contestant to win two preliminary events. She took the talent competition Thursday and the swim suit competition Friday.

At Florida State, she was chosen "Greek Goddess" this year and "Miss Dreamboat" in 1959. She was a finalist in the 1960 Orange Bowl beauty contest.

Fox Hunters Warned To Keep Out Of DeBary Area At Night

A warning to all foxhunters who "disturb the peace" at night in DeBary was issued by Constable O. D. Papineau.

Papineau said he is going to "crack down on fox hunters who come to DeBary from other areas with their hounds, creating a nuisance at night and keeping many of the local residents awake all night."

The constable added that he has received many complaints from DeBary residents of the noise being made by the fox hunters.

"Unless this is stopped, stringent action will be taken against violators," Papineau warned.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please print your opinion of parents who come to visit their married children without an invitation and whenever they feel like it.

The only advance notice we ever get is, "We are dying to see the grandchildren." My husband and I have been annoyed by these spur-of-the-moment visits from his parents and mine. No sooner does one set leave when the other set shows up. Don't you think parents should realize that if they were wanted they would be invited? Just because our children happen to be their grandchildren seems to be a pretty poor excuse for barging in.

IMPOSED UPON

DEAR IMPOSED ON: DO YOU need an invitation to visit your parents' home? I doubt it. Most parents make it plain that THEIR home is THEIR CHILDREN'S home. And many parents have kept their large homes in spite of the added work and expense so their children and grandchildren may visit them. Your parents feel welcome because they don't suspect you are as small and selfish as you really are. You two make a serpent's tooth look dull!

DEAR ABBY: There is a young woman who drives by our house every morning about 8:05 in a blue and white Chevy. My husband feels that it's his duty to smile and wave at her. He doesn't know her from a load of hay. I say he can look the other way. He says it will hurt her feelings.

I am getting upset over this routine. Am I wrong to object or not? Please put your answer in the paper, Abby. I want my old goat to see it. UPSET

DEAR UPSET: If he doesn't know her from a "load of hay," maybe he is just feeling his oats. Next time, stand right beside your husband, embrace him affectionately and smile and wave to the friendly stranger. I'll bet she either changes her route of her routine.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy of 12 and I am having trouble with my brother, who is 10. He wore my Boy Scout uniform and took my bugle outside and blew it all day.

When I caught him I gave him a little tap on the head. He was standing on the porch by the mailbox and his head accidentally hit the mailbox and a little tiny cut was made and maybe two drops of blood came out. He ran in the house screaming and my mother went into hysterics.

I am now being punished by having to stay in the house all day Saturday and Sunday. My brother didn't get punished at all for wearing my uniform and blowing my bugle. Do you think this was fair? PUNISHED

DEAR PUNISHED: Your brother had punishment coming, too! But your mother probably felt that matter was taken care of when you "tapped" him (some tap!) on the head. Next time, leave the punishing to your mother.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "UNDER AGE AND DESPERATE": I can't help you unless you send me your name and address. I offer advice and refer people to the proper agencies; I do not "turn them in."

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Edyth: I have been so exhausted I can hardly work through the day. I get up at six o'clock each day, do all my housework etc., and then drive to my work in town. In this exhaustion part of growing older. I am sixty, but I am not OLD or SICK-H.

"go" so hard. You speak of "your work" in town, but what is it that you do at six? I call that work, too. Can't you get a member of the family to take that over, so you can sleep till seven at least, have a leisurely bath, some breakfast and then drive to town? Driving is work on busy mornings, so take it a bit easier, now you? "My problem is a very florid complexion, and with my pure white hair I look very unattractive. What could I do to tone down my skin? Of course, I never wear rouge or any bright colors in clothes.—Mrs. T.

Trio Takes Unusual Music Approach

CHICAGO (UPI) — The boys singing country music these days have big city manners, among other unexpected qualities. Take the Chad Mitchell Trio, one of the country's newest young folk singing groups. They still sing dolefully of bluebirds and cooshehells, but they invited this reporter to dinner and sent her and orchid — a yellow one at that.

The scrubbed, blonde German girl, 18 and 20, who joined the party, also got orchids and looked like the junior prom — which made the reporter feel like Mother's Day.

On a night when you get yellow orchids from the guitar-strumming set, you hardly know what to expect, but...

You don't expect them to dress like these college boys who played Chicago's staid Palmer House in gray flannel suits.

And you have every right to expect three men in a trio. There are four boys and a guitar in the Chad Mitchell Trio, Dennis Collins, the boy with the guitar, doesn't play. He and the singing members of the trio, Mitchell,

How to get on "The Price is Right": NBC-TV reports the winner of its "Bill Cullen Look-Alike Contest" will appear on the show Wednesday night, July 20. Women and children are eligible.

Secret World Of Eddie Hodges Attractive Fare Despite Cliches

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Secret World of Eddie Hodges was easy to take but it left me wondering about the secret world of TV scheduling. The one-hour CBS-TV special starred Master Hodges and his heroic, elaborate backyard daydreams which, courtesy of videotape, could burst into being right before our very eyes. Why a show of this sort is presented at 10 p.m. when the youngsters it is about are all snoozing is today's puzzle.

Crowds Cheering Title Knockout Made It Rough On Radio Audience

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—If my friends, the radio broadcasters, would take a hint from me, it would be this: Get rid of that crowd noise. I was one of those millions who tuned in last week to Floyd Patterson's butchery of Ingemar Johansson. The blow-by-blow was a pretty thing. The fightcaster, whoever he was, had a clear voice, a sharp eye and, to boot, he knew something of the racket.

If your dream of a new home has yet to be fulfilled... This may well be your answer...

Dear Citizen and Newcomer to Sanford:

If you are a person retiring, a newly married couple having difficulty qualifying for a mortgage because of income deficiency, a veteran who has previously used VA-eligibility, a Non-Veteran who has no way to take advantage of the low interest rates available under VA and FHA, or even if you are a person looking for an investment for rental purposes — this may be your best opportunity.

Years ago in examining the opportunities of Sanford for growth and examining our community and to our business by assisting Naval personnel in the housing area. They needed assurance that the homes they bought could be sold quickly in the event of transfer. Low down payments under the VA and FHA company policies of quality construction in conjunction with sound community planning. We also found that many of our local folks as well as newcomers in the area first mentioned above could not in many instances qualify for VA or FHA even though rent much higher than such payments would be under VA or FHA. At that time we made these decisions:

1. To build the best housing in the best planned subdivision at reasonable prices with financing available to permit any newcomer to Sanford to find suitable housing with the best financing plans available to anyone anywhere.
2. To endeavor to work with Sanford's Naval Personnel to the limits of our ability. (To this end we have at times repurchased the homes of Naval personnel transferred without prior agreement to do so. We have at times assisted without charge, to help them sell their homes directly. And in other instances we have made specific agreements to repurchase within a specified period and have honored these agreements.)
3. Our third decision was that in instances where we would repurchase, these already financed homes would be made available for resale at the same low interest rates that prevailed at the time they were first financed. In this way we could help Sanford grow by making available the best homes with the most favorable home-buyer financing plans available anywhere in Florida.

Sanford has grown and will continue to do so. The population of Sanford has grown from 11,935 to 19,017 between 1950 and 1960. In the past five years Odham and Tudor has built over a thousand homes with an average occupancy of 94% persons that is housing for over 3,500 persons. That means that Odham and Tudor has furnished housing for over one-half of the population growth of Sanford since 1955.

But our plans do not stop there and neither should the plans for the rest of Sanford. This summer approximately 300 new families are expected to be added to Sanford Naval Air Station. Just one of the electronic companies operation in Seminole is expected to add 150 members to their staff. Another industry has plans to double in size. This growth in here and such growth will continue with sound community planning which includes good housing.

Our program has made available homes one to three years old in Sunland Estates and Pinecrest, financed at highly favorable interest rates under VA and FHA, that can be purchased by anyone merely qualifying with their own good credit. No further qualifying is necessary and down payments are low — monthly payments are low. We urge you to consider these home buying opportunities.

J. Brailey Odham

We also have lovely new homes available in Sunland Estates and South Pinecrest at Low Down Payments. For the Veteran no down payment and closing costs as low as $135.

HERE ARE EXAMPLES OF OUTSTANDING BUYS AVAILABLE

MORTGAGE FOR A NEW HOME SAME PRICE UNDER CURRENT VA INTEREST RATE OF 5 1/2% WOULD CARRY MONTHLY PAYMENTS OF $72.57

MORTGAGE FOR SAME UNDER FHA WOULD CARRY MONTHLY PAYMENTS OF $81.45

MORTGAGE FOR A NEW HOME SAME PRICE UNDER THE CURRENT FHA INTEREST RATE OF 5 1/2% PLUS 1% FHA INSURANCE WOULD CARRY MONTHLY PAYMENTS OF $78.38

SUNLAND ESTATES - 2 BEDROOM - 1 BATH - 3 YEARS OLD RANGE REFRIGERATOR, BLINDS, $12,990 - $600 DOWN, MONTHLY PAYMENTS UNDER MORTGAGE ALREADY ESTABLISHED FOR THIS HOME AT 5 1/2% PLUS 1% FHA INSURANCE $72.38

To the person retiring or other persons who might like to pay off any existing mortgage after they are completely satisfied with their home and neighborhood — if the existing loan is VA the balance can be prepaid with absolutely no penalty and even with FHA the balance can be retired with a penalty of only 1%. Call Odham and Tudor at FA 2-1504. We'll be happy to show you these homes at your convenience.

Explosion Kills Five In Plane

BETHEL, Maine (UPI) — An Air Force plane crashed and exploded "into a thousand pieces" in the foothills of the White Mountains.

The huge KC-97 from Plattsburgh, N. Y., Air Force Base, burst like a flickering comet as it plunged into the rugged forest in the hamlet of Newry, six miles north of here.

Identification of dead was withheld pending notification of kin. Volunteers walked and motored nearly two miles up a narrow mountain road to the widely-scattered wreckage.

Trucks and bulldozers to penetrate the dense forest were dispatched from Dow Air Force Base at Bangor, 160 miles away.

Two Air Force officers from Plattsburgh, Major William Cook and W. D. Burnham, began a preliminary investigation into the crash.

Bernard Powers, a garage operator, said he heard a "very loud wailing noise" and thought the million dollar craft would hit his house.

"I saw part of it on fire and then the fire seemed to flicker out. Then it crashed and exploded."

Bethel fireman Elgin Tibbetts said the wreckage found plane parts "blown all over the place."

"Everything had burned out except what I guess was magnesium which was still flaring up. I found four of the bodies. All were mangled and burned."

Tibbetts said the four-engine tanker "blew into a thousand pieces" with only the landing gear and a tail section recognizable.

The tanker, assigned to the 200th Bombardment Squadron, was on a routine mission.

ARMED OBJECT A REAL HAZARD

Tornadoes Cross 2 States; Texas Has Flood Threat

By United Press International
Tornadoes skipped across parts of Nebraska and Colorado Monday night, killing two persons and inflicting extensive damage.

Alan E. Crowe, 54, Topeka, Kan., and Darwin W. Cox, 28, of Colorado, were killed when a twister swooped down on a rural area northeast of Holyoke and trapped them in their cars.

Forty minutes before the Holyoke tornado hit, another twister struck rural Sedgewick, Colo. The funnel cloud knocked out power and communications for almost five hours but caused no injuries.

Still another tornado cut a 10-mile swath across southwestern Nebraska, near Sidney. The twister struck eight farms but injured no one.

Tornado-like winds damaged farm buildings near Venturia, N. D., 75 miles southeast of Bismarck. Half and high winds accompanied a thunderstorm at Llan, N. D.

An elderly man was drowned in a near cloudburst at Virgus, Wis. The victim, Olof Bagstad, about 60, died when a flash flood swept down a dry creek bed at his house.

The threat of floods persisted in the Great Lakes region. A flood crest passed Bay City, Mich., Monday night without incident and Matagorda, 25 miles downstream, expected the crest about noon today.

Booby Trap

While surf fishing midway between Titusville and New Smyrna Beach, Dave Haskins, NAS Sanford Public Works Department employe, discovered a bomb-like object on the beach approximately 200 feet from the water's edge.

Haskins promptly notified the Sanford Naval Air Station and Chief Warrant Officer James Bradford, assistant ordnance officer, arrived on the scene within two hours, accompanied by Chief Petty Officer R. C. Benedict and O. G. Richerson, AOG.

The object proved to be an "Emergency Submarine Identification Signal" and it was an "armed" condition, making it extremely hazardous. If not impossible to handle or move in any way, Bradford, after taking the necessary steps to safeguard personnel and property in the area, detonated the signal, eliminating the hazard.

Haskins' action in reporting the object prevented serious injury to any person who might have inadvertently attempted to move the device. Naval authorities urge all residents in this area to contact NAS Sanford in situations of this kind and take measures to restrict the handling or moving of such objects until an ordnance expert arrives.

Captain, 2 Crewmen Ride Out Battle Against Sea

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UPI) — The captain and two crewmen of a stricken oil tanker, abandoned by the rest of the crew, rode the ship today in a battle against the sea.

Forty of the crew of the SS George MacDonald were taken off by another tanker and a Coast Guard cutter, but the captain and two members of the crew stayed aboard the MacDonald, disabled when a rupture in the engine cooling system flooded the engine room.

The 1,000-ton tanker, owned by the Sinclair Oil Co., was wallowing helplessly about 140 miles southeast of Charleston Standing by were the USS Robinson, a Navy destroyer loaded with reservists getting an unexpected thrill during their active duty tours; the commercial tug Savannah, from Savannah, Ga., and another Sinclair tanker, the J. E. Dyer.

The Esco Scranton, a tanker on its way from Moore City, S. C., to Haytown, Tex., had been near the scene Monday night when the MacDonald was stricken. The Scranton picked 28 crewmen from lifeboats. The Robinson took another 12 crewmen aboard.

The Scranton proceeded toward Jacksonville with its load of MacDonald crewmen.

The Coast Guard had difficulty getting anyone to abandon ship at first. The MacDonald's skipper and 14 of the crewmen refused to leave at one point early this morning even though the stern deck was awash and the bow low in the water.

The Coast Guard had expected the ship to sink by mid-afternoon today but the slowing of the sea apparently helped the case of the mariners.

Whitney Trial Shortened By Admission Of Guilt

MIAMI (UPI) — Dennis Whitney, 27, of North Hollywood, Calif., testified quickly today he shot to death a Miami gas station attendant in February, and minutes later both sides in his murder trial rested.

The case was to go to the jury after instructions from the court. Whitney's defense attorneys questioned him mainly about his father. In a quiet voice he told the jury his father was often drunk, usually in debt and never showed his family any love.

"I didn't care for him much," said Whitney.

The state examined him only three minutes. The prosecutor had him identify a written confession, the death warrant and a .22 caliber pistol, and then asked him "Did you kill Arthur Keeler?"

"Yes," Whitney answered.

As the trial opened Monday, Whitney threw himself on the mercy of the jury with a signed confession that the state would never be letted. He asked the jury to give a life sentence.

4-H Club Meet Planned Thursday

There will be a 4-H club meeting at 2 p. m. Thursday for North Orange youths at the home of Mrs. Anita Kreech, area 4-H home demonstration leader, 140 Edgemont Ave.

Girls will be oriented into different projects and then be allowed to select the one they desire, Mrs. Kreech added.

A special Caselberry loan council meeting has been called for 8 p. m. today to discuss the politician's inquiry and other matters, Major W. M. Benson said.

Bryant 'Learning'

MIAMI (UPI) — Farris Bryant, here for a "Thank You" meeting with supporters, said Florida's present $1.5 million tourism budget should be increased by another million. "I'm going through a stage of learning," Bryant said, "to find out what our problems are, whether it's a bridge over a river or more welfare for our citizens."

Aid Misdirected

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — United Nations official Paul G. Hoffman told the Kwanan International conference Monday that billion-dollar economy aid had been misdirected "because of the mistaken notion that economic aid could be used to win friends." Hoffman, former automotive industry leader, now heads the United Nations special fund which is used to develop low income countries.

Flying Flag

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — The same 50-star American flag will fly over the states of Maine and Hawaii—more than 5,000 miles apart—on Fourth of July. Al Dawn the flag will be raised in Poland Spring, Me., by a U. S. Air Force Waf. A jet will fly the flag from there to Honolulu and an Air Force color guard will raise the flag over Hawaiian soil about 17 hours after it leaves Maine.

Strike Continues

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Striking machinists and Lockheed missiles and space division were so far apart as over today in their talks aimed at ending the 14-day walk-out of 10,000 workers. But labor unions that struck other California aircraft — missile industry firms appeared all but over. About 20,000 Convair workers in San Diego Monday ratified a new two-year work contract by a narrow 58 percent.

Escapee Caught

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 25-year-old man who escaped from a Florida courtroom in 1957 will be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner today on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid confinement. The FBI announced Monday night it had arrested Frederick Shakespeare at his job in the Bronx. The FBI said Shakespeare, who had been living here since August, 1958, under the alias of Frank Long, had escaped from the Polk County Courthouse, Bartow, Fla., on Dec. 28, 1957.

More Views Asked On Aid For Aged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming was called before the Senate Finance Committee today to give the administration's views on proposals to provide medical care for the aged.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) declined to forecast which of the five pending plans the committee would favor. He said there was a lot of election-year pressure to do something to help pay the medical expenses of the nation's 16 million persons over 65.

The latest proposal was introduced Monday by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.). It would extend Social Security benefits to include medical insurance for about 14.8 million indigent at an annual cost of $1.5 billion.

Many lawmakers hope the Senate will broaden a House-passed program of federal-state medical care grants that would help about one million old folk.

Gore told the Senate he had urged Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson to call Congress back to Washington after the political conventions to work on this and other major legislation.

Driver Dozes Off, Wrecks Automobile

A Navy man was awakened rather suddenly this morning after he apparently went to sleep at the wheel and his car veered off the road, clipped off two concrete marker posts and fell into a ten-foot ditch.

The sheriff's office reported that there was about $500 damage to the car of Robert Jay, 30, who is attached to VAH-7. Charges for failure to have his vehicle under control are pending against Jay.

Anti-Payola Bill Headed For Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An anti-payola bill headed toward House passage following overwhelming support of a proposal to bring the broadcasting networks under federal regulation.

Board Insists On Fee Officer Pay Scale Lists

The County Commission said today that it still is not getting cooperation from the fee office heads in a county pay scale study, although all four officers had sent letters to the board inviting inspection of all records concerning payrolls.

The commissioners said they want the fee offices to supply a list of employe salary scales for each office.

Commissioner Lawrence Swofford said "we know we have the right to look at the books anytime we want, but they are not giving us the salary ranges we have asked for time and time again."

Swofford said he would like to know why a girl in the clerk's office working 35 hours a week makes more money than a sheriff's deputy, working 60 hours a week "and risking his life."

Commissioner J. H. Van Hoy asked Clerk Arthur Beckwith Jr. why he has not furnished a breakdown on job classifications. Beckwith said it was an "impossibility."

"There is nothing so involved here," Van Hoy said, adding, "I would like to know why a clerk in the sheriff's office makes $175 per month and a clerk in the Clerk of the Circuit Court's office makes $300."

Van Hoy stressed that the board does not want to bring individual employes into this study but to see that all employes get the pay they deserve.

The board authorized Van Hoy to contact each of the fee offices and ask again if they would furnish the salary range list.

County Judge Vernon Mize pointed out in his letter today that the salary schedules of the employes in his office are "are clearly recorded in these records." He wrote that "I will attempt as best I can to comply with your request."

Tax Assessor Mary Earle Walker wrote that "if you care to inspect the books in any way as to salaries or otherwise, you may do so." Beckwith and Tax Collector John Galloway sent similar letters.

Disarmament Talks Flop

GENEVA (UPI) — The West called a halt today to the 10-nation disarmament conference in the face of a Communist walkout and ordered the conference record sent to the United Nations. The action marked the complete collapse of the talks which had begun with high hopes three weeks ago.

It meant that the problem of international disarmament would go back to the United Nations where it will be debated by more than 30 nations in an open forum instead of a select group meeting in closed sessions.

The representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada gathered for a formal session this morning at the Palais des Nations despite the fact there was no hope of the Communists showing up.

For 10 minutes the five delegates, who since March have sought some means of reconciliation with the Soviets on the arms question, waited in silence. Then Britain's David Ormsby-Gore took the chair and called the meeting to order.

He described a meeting he had had with Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin Monday night when the latter made it plain the walkout was final.

The shadow session adjourned briefly for the participants to confer off the record. Then Ormsby-Gore reconvened it long enough to formally pronounce as dead three months of delicate East-West negotiations on the arms race.

He ordered the records sent to the United Nations where Russia was pressing for a General Assembly debate on the disarmament issue.

The Western delegates had decided to hold today's meeting primarily to dramatize their determination to keep alive even the slimmest hopes of slowing the arms race.

Bulletin

ABERTYLLERY, Wales (UPI) — An explosion ripped through a coal mine here today, trapping dozens of miners below ground. A heavy death toll was feared.

The National Coal Board said nine bodies have been recovered. A board spokesman said 40 to 50 men still were trapped in the Six Bells colliery, which employs some 1,450 men.

Diplomacy Trips Called Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower says his personal diplomacy has been so successful that it drove the Communists to extreme measures to block his visit to Japan.

The president told the nation Monday night that Russia and Red China forced the Japanese government to cancel the Tokyo trip because they realized his worldwide missions have helped to obstruct Communist imperialism.

His radio-television report on his 23,000-mile Far East tour drew mixed reaction from congressional leaders.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said he hoped and prayed Eisenhower was correct in believing that the Asian tour had produced beneficial effects for the free world.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen called the speech "an adequate answer" to Democratic critics of the president's trip.

Eisenhower said the Communists suffered a sharp setback even though they blocked his Japanese visit. He said ratification of the U. S. Japan security treaty was a "signal defeat" for the Reds that far outweighed cancellation of his Tokyo stop.

The president said he had no plans for any more such trips before leaving office next January.

American Women's Arrest Thwarted

HAVANA (UPI) — The wives of two U. S. diplomats thwarted attempts by agents of Premier Fidel Castro's military intelligence organization to arrest them here Thursday, it was reported today.

After arguing for more than an hour and a half with a carload of riflemen and tommygunners, Mrs. James R. Pankas and Mrs. George Falk managed to reach safety at the embassy.

Intelligence agents who had been trying to get the two women to their headquarters apparently dropped the whole matter. So far as is known, no charge has been filed against the two women.

They were snapping pictures of picturesque buildings in Havana's Miramar district as souvenirs for Mrs. Falk, who left Friday for Italy with her husband, a consular representative. Mrs. Pankas' husband is an economic attaché. U. S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal is believed to have protested the attempt to violate the American women's diplomatic immunity when he and minister Counselor Daniel Braddeck visited the Foreign Ministry Monday night.

The reported attempt to arrest Mrs. Pankas and Mrs. Falk occurred a week to the day after the arrest of embassy attaches Edwin L. Sweet, of Abilene, Tex., and William G. Friedmann, of Stillwater, Okla.

Joseph Corbett Jr., one of the FBI's ten most wanted fugitives, is wanted for escape from the California Institution for Men, Chino, Calif., where he was serving a five-year life sentence for murdering an Air Force sergeant.

Convicted of second-degree murder, he is considered armed and dangerous. Corbett also is known as James Barron, Joe Corbett, Walter Osborn, William Osborn, Charles Osborn, Walter Osborn and others. Anyone having information on the whereabouts of Corbett is asked to contact the FBI office at 1224 Dale Mabry Blvd., Tampa.

Drainage District Vote Set Sept. 12

The County Commission today set Sept. 12 to hold a special election to vote on establishing a drainage tax district for the Loch Arbor area.

If the majority of the property owners favor the district, a plan to eliminate flooding would be put into effect soon afterwards. Estimated cost of the plan is $40,000.

The board, two months ago received a petition from 123 freeholders in the area asking that the district be established.

The commission today also authorized Tax Assessor Mary Earle Walker to produce a tax roll for the Lake Mary Fire District. The board can determine how much to levy in that area.

Ed Zimmerman, representing the district said that a $7,500 budget was drawn up with $5,000 to be used for the downpayment of a fire truck. The rest of the money would go toward needed equipment, Zimmerman said.

Parking Restricted On Four Streets

City commissioners continued Monday night to try to solve traffic flow problems by voting restrictions on parking on Ninth, 13th, 20th and 25th Sts.

Hobby Presents Budget; Asks More Pay For Help

Sheriff J. L. Hobby today presented his 1960-61 budget request to the County Commission asking for salary raises for deserving full time deputies and adding two additional deputies to his staff.

The budget request was for $144,000. The Sheriff's budget last year was $131,000.

Chairman John Brider said that the County Commission asking for salary raises for deserving full time deputies and adding two additional deputies to his staff. Hobby said that his staff was underpaid in comparison with other counties. "It's a low one," Hobby said.

Hobby said that with the county's growth as it is, the outside work load of the Sheriff's department will be increased almost 30 percent during the next year.

According to Hobby's budget request, the salary of the sheriff would remain at $16,000. Salaries for deputies and assistants would jump from $9,000 to $12,000. Hobby said he would like to see "deserving full time deputies who are now making between $200 and $250 a month get $400 a month."

Japanese Fanatics Run Out Of Steam

TOKYO (UPI) — The fanatic left-wing Zenshuren student organization ran out of steam today.

The vaunted organizing power of the group that forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's trip to Japan rallied only a feeble fraction of what it had promised would be a massive anti-government organization.

Less than 1,000 students showed up for a desultory, spiritless demonstration at the Parliament building. Zenshuren leaders had boasted there would be 20,000.

The only excitement came at mid-afternoon when a group of 30 fighting members of the socialist Greater Japan Patriotic Society roled up in a truck with loudspeakers and started shouting pro-government and pro-American slogans.

About 100 policemen quickly surrounded the truck and stopped the right-wingers from getting too near the leftist, who were sitting on the grass singing the Communist "Internationale."

A police crackdown on the Zenshuren leadership, combined with cramming for final examinations and just plain too much demonstrating in the past month, has taken a lot of fire out of the students.
