Jr.-Sr. High School For Sand Lake Rd.

By FRED VAN PELT
Construction of a multi-million dollar junior-senior high school is planned to serve the southwest area of Seminole County, it was revealed last night at the School Board meeting.

Walter Teague, administrative aide, reported to board members negotiations are being completed for the purchase of 40 acres of land on Sand Lake Road, 1,200 feet west of Highway 434.

He also revealed that the County Commission is planning paving Sand Lake Road, long a controversial highway because of its condition. Residents have been denied school bus and mail service because of the road's condition.

"The new Lyman High School will be full with its opening next September," Teague said, "while Milwee Junior High School (the present Lyman plant) also will be full. The board is cognizant of the growth in the southwest area of the county and that is the reason for planning this new junior-senior high school."

First phase of the new school is estimated to cost $2 million. It was hoped to be ready for occupancy within two years but construction will be delayed, Teague concluded, because of the inability to sell school bonds at the current interest rate.

Two Principals Differ In Opinions Anent Skilled Training Center

By TOM ALEXANDER
AVCO, one of two companies bidding to place a skilled training center at Sanford Airport, was surprised by remarks made by Sanford Industrial Commission director Don Rathel.

In a telephone interview, Jack Maloney, Washington spokesman for the company, after being told of Rathel's remarks at an SIC meeting Wednesday, remarked briskly, "I have no comment to make on Mr. Rathel's remarks, but must know more than I do."

Maloney's reaction came after he was read the following excerpts from yesterday's Sanford Herald, which reported, "Rathel continued that grants ranging near $3 million will be approved by the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW)."

Maloney fired back at the statements by saying, "No amount has been decided on this project, it must come from HEW. Maloney continued to refute Rathel's statements, "Next Thursday the contract will be awarded, but no figures have been arrived at, there is not even a grant yet."

Maloney said that his company has released no figures and then said, "I don't know where Rathel got these amounts."

When asked about Maloney's statement, Rathel replied, "We figured on the basis of past the way we worked at the $3 million figure." The original grant was computed at $4 million according to Rathel's statements and then was cut to $3 million when the program was decreased in size.

Maloney told other AVCO project training centers that are similar to the one proposed for Sanford. Several courses were added to the ones already ready and they included reading and writing along with electrical training for women.

The AVCO spokesman agreed with Rathel that the school could not be considered a "migratory labor facility" but, said Maloney, a school for disadvantaged people from all walks of life." Rathel fired back when told of Maloney's description of the school, "Jack shouldn't say it's a school for the disadvantaged but one for the under-employed."

Maloney concluded, "No monetary figures have been released on this project."

Longwood Zoning Change Asked

By DONNA ESTES
Commercial-professional zoning for a strip of highway frontage on SR 44 from SR 427 east to Grant Street was proposed for the City of Longwood at the meeting of the City Council last night.

A joint meeting with the city zoning board to discuss the proposal made by City Engineer James Brown was set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday evening.

Brown noted the need for such zoning from residential in the municipality with the resulting necessity to amend the zoning ordinance to designate the special classification which would permit construction of professional and service facilities along the thoroughfare.

The councilman pledged to construct "only something beautiful" on the tracts facing the highway which he recently acquired.

In addition, J. R. Hattaway asked for zoning to the new classification in order to have professional offices on the lots he owns near the intersection of SR 43 and SR 427.

In other business, Council set a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. July 1 to consider naming an RM district (multiple family dwellings) in the zoning ordinance and to consider particularly rezoning an area on Wildmere Avenue to permit construction of a four-unit apartment building. According to the city attorney, an ordinance granting a variance in residential zoning for the section to allow the apartment construction is invalid and a new law must be adopted.

Vintage Homes, a nationwide concern, became Sanford's newest industry today as it signed a one-year lease to take over Buildings 145 and 146 along with two small warehouses at Sanford Airport.

This will be only a temporary home for the large industry that is expected to hire some 40 people to start operations at their new facility. Don Rathel, Sanford Industrial Commission director said the company should have some 100 employees by the end of the first year.

The company will be at the airport during this time while a 77,000-square foot building is being constructed in the Sanford area for a permanent complex. In the next three weeks the company will move some $75,000 in machinery into its new home and it is hoped that the production line will be started by mid-August.

The expected payroll for the first year will range near $379,000. The new Sanford company has production plants in Hutchinson, Kan., Breckenridge, Tex. and Gainesville, Fla.

U. S. Aid Asked In School Petition

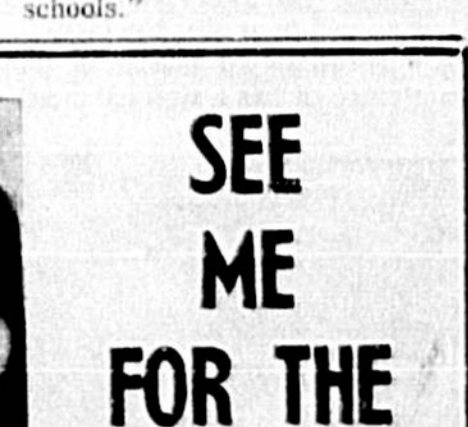

Formal request to the U. S. Department of Justice to intercede and give assistance under the criminal provisions of the Civil Rights Acts against these flagrant abuses of power on the part of school board members has been forwarded to Kennedy, Attorney General, by the Seminole County Board of Education.

Or, one of the plaintiffs in the civil suit filed in U. S. District Court against School Board members Mrs. Jean Bryant and Ray Slaton, charging conspiracy, asked Wheery to forward the request together with your recommendations to the Civil Rights Division of the U. S. Department of Justice.

The crusty father of two sons in the public school system of the county stated in the letter, "Seminole County, Florida, operates a segregated school facility. Recently the school board adopted a so-called Plan of Desegregation, which provides for the continuance of a 'freedom of choice' plan. Public statements have been made by members of the school board which have been quoted in the newspapers in the communities, stating that the school board will not desegregate the schools until required to do so by a Federal Court order. A Federal Court action has been instituted by members of the community for conspiracy on the part of two members of the school board to deny citizens of Seminole County, Florida, equal protection of the law, in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The school board has refused to comply with the law and has indicated its willingness to forego any Federal assistance in the community in order to maintain these 'unequal schools.'"

Pastor's Corner Test Of Love

By REV. WILLIAM G. NEIDERT
Church of the Nativity

"I CARE NOT what the world says of him... If his children rush to the front gate to greet him, and love's own sunshine illuminates the face of his wife when she hears his footsteps, you may take for granted he is pure gold and home's a heaven, for the humblest never gets that near the great white throne of God."

William Gwynne Brown
Writers' Editor HSS-188

In dealing with teenagers during my life as a priest... mostly in parish work, I think the kids need EXEMPLARY fathers more than anything else. Not a smart father, not one holding down a high position. Not a rich person, or one having a college degree. Not a man with outstanding talents, or a politician traveling far and wide. Not a mixer socially, or a popular man at the bowling alley. Not a man able to afford a house, car, or furnish color television... No, the kids need a good man, a man with faith and love... able and WILLING to sit and talk with them. Maybe even preach to them a little on occasion. Kids need not fathers who run boy scout troops, but their own fathers who will take a walk with them regularly, interpreting for them the mysteries of nature, the trees, the flowers, the woods... yes, the pavements and the skyscrapers too...

We talk these days about "communication". Yes, let's break down. There is where it must start. We need renewal in the home. Let's stress the natural order: communication INSIDE in order that it might progress on the outside. You can't do it backwards; it won't work that way. And communication in the home must start when the home is young, the earlier the better. Most problems of youngsters, and later, of teenagers, would easily be solved if kids could talk to dad — or I'd HAD TALKED to them year after year. The problems, in fact, might not have arisen at all if he had communicated all the way up the line.

To help kids grow normally, I think we need plain home life sessions. At meals, in the evening, Sunday afternoon, on anniversaries and other family occasions, in response to world events, to achievements, to tragedies, to heroism, to crime, to sin and scandal... The starter must be an interested, exemplar father. One who has time and loves and understands and philosophizes... One who unconsciously builds trust and respect and obedience in his children.

Another there must be, in its proportion, a like concern. A wife, I think, will joyfully look up to an exemplary father and husband. This is so extremely normal. A wife is proud of a man who deserves it, a man worthy of it. Lives and honors are built. Nations without fathers are doomed — or I'd HAD TALKED to them year after year. The problems, in fact, might not have arisen at all if he had communicated all the way up the line.

Seminar On Fact-Finding Trip

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The idea originated in a conversation at a golf course at Rock Hill, N.C., between Dr. R. V. Rev. John E. Wick, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, and a young seminarian, Calhoun W. Wick. Today, as a result of their discussion about problems looms on the horizon for Christians in this country, Wick was off on a fact-finding mission to Europe, Africa, India and the Far East.

"It's a different kind of mission," he said. Instead of the big establishment church telling the mission churches how to do things, Wick is going to let the American church have no choice but to listen," said Wick of Cleveland, Ohio. "And listening can lead us to try a new thing."

On the grounds that American churches are facing some tough conditions abroad, he said, a main objective is to seek guidance on how to cope with those difficulties from foreign churches already existing under them.

"They have already found ways for dealing with problems in their own countries," he said. "We have a tremendous amount to give us."

Wick, 25, who next year completes his training for the priesthood at Virginia Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria, is to spend 90 days, until mid-August, on his fact-finding mission. He will be accompanied by a young seminarian, Calhoun W. Wick, 25, who next year completes his training for the priesthood at Virginia Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria, is to spend 90 days, until mid-August, on his fact-finding mission.

Alaska Land 'Freeze' May Thaw

By STAN BENJAMIN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may approve within two years on the status of the federal lands, which make up 90 per cent of Alaska, to be asked for enough of a law to permit an 80-mile oil pipeline across the state.

The Interior Department says it intends to grant a right-of-way permit for the pipeline to three oil companies on the interior committees of the Senate and the House agree.

Harrison Loech, assistant secretary for public land management, said in an interview: "It's policy that the permit will be granted when all the conditions are met."

A condition not yet met is the committee's approval, a provision set down in January when the Senate confirmed the controversial appointment of Hickel, then governor of Alaska, as secretary of the interior.

Hickel promised Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry Jackson, D-Wash., that he would continue a "freeze" for two years on the status of the federal lands, which make up 90 per cent of Alaska, to be asked for enough of a law to permit an 80-mile oil pipeline across the state.

Jackson said that a right-of-way would come under Hickel's "freeze" pledge, but exceptions would be allowed for important public purposes.

Loech said Interior officials believe a pipeline route would qualify as an exception to the land freeze.

Plans for the 800-mile, 3000-mile pipeline, a consortium of the Atlantic Richfield Co., Humble Oil and Refining Co. and F. P. O. Oil Corp. The pipeline would bring oil from the huge deposits near Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's north slope to an ice-free port at Valdez.

Trans-Alaska filed an application June 6 with the Bureau of Land Management's field office in Alaska, seeking a 100-foot wide right-of-way for the full length of the pipeline; an additional 300-foot wide right-of-way construction road, eleven 41-acre sites for pumping stations; two airstrips, each one mile long; and extra land at river crossings.

As governor, Hickel pushed hard for development of the vast Alaska wilderness, especially the oil deposits. He fought to lift the land freeze imposed by former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udell. Alaska could start selection of the 102 million acres to which it is entitled under the Stetson Act.

"The land freeze is a negative thing," he once said.

After being nominated as secretary of the interior he created a furor by his statements concerning conservation. Hickel said he opposed a policy of "conservation for conservation."

On the rocky road to confirmation he was announced Monday he agreed to continue the "freeze" for through the life of the current Congress so it would not bring oil from the huge deposits near Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's north slope to an ice-free port at Valdez.

Pity Of Fizz

NEW YORK (AP) — There's going to be plenty of "fizz" this year in the bottled soft drink market.

Market researchers look for bumper sales of soft drinks, ranging from the ever-popular cola drinks to an expanding array of new and exotic flavors. One important yardstick is the forecast by the Economic Institute that the soft drink industry will buy more than 7 1/2 billion bottles during the year to help slake the nation's thirst.

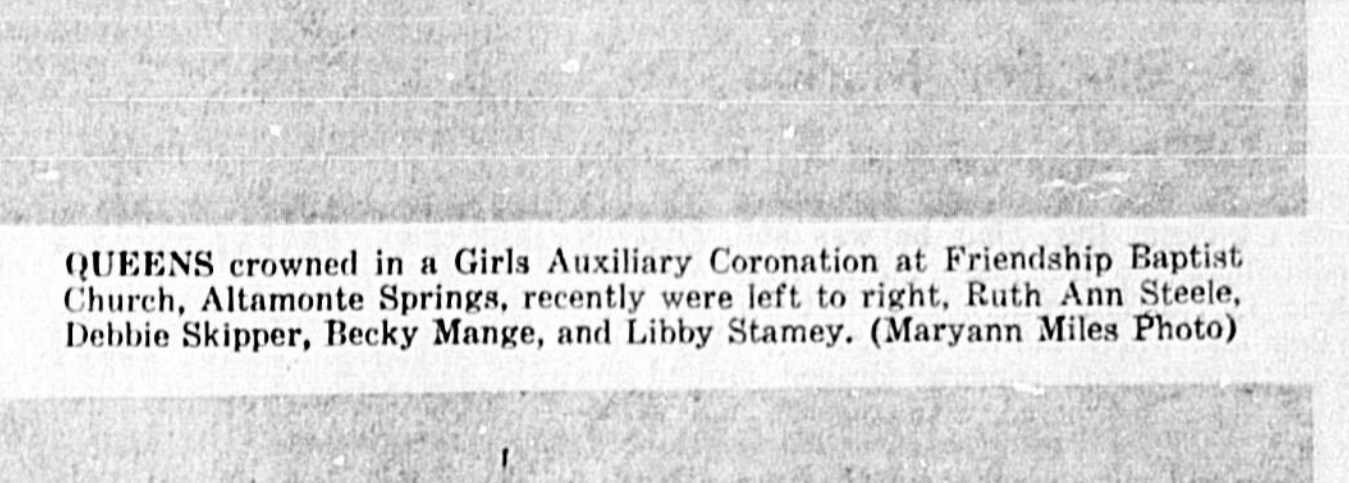

Market studies show that 8 out of 10 Americans prefer their soft drinks in glass bottles.

Building Wage Curbs Requested

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction industry plans that President Nixon act to curb union wage increase demands of up to 50 per cent and sometimes more are getting little encouragement from the White House.

Acknowledging the steep wage-price spiral is contributing to skyrocketing building costs, the President's Council of Economic Advisors still promised only to keep a close eye on the situation.

"The construction industry's size alone, about 14 percent of the Gross National Product and more than 6 percent of total employment, makes its influence in the economy a major one, and the present rapid rise in both prices and wages in the industry is a matter to which we are giving close attention," said Council Chairman Paul McCracken.

McCracken's response gave little comfort to Carl M. Halvorson, president of the Associated General Contractors of America, who had asked Nixon to step in with temporary construction wage settlements until the spiral slows.

"Because of the over-powering strength of the unions," Halvorson said, "there will be some bad settlements—bad for the country as well as for the contractors." He said the administration and the public speak out and give the industry some definite support in its opposition to these inflationary wage settlements.

"The kind of wage settlements Halvorson and other industry officials are complaining about is illustrated by a recent new contract in Philadelphia which will boost pay for 2,000 union plumbers from $6 to $9.35 per hour within two years, a hike of more than 25 per cent a year.

However, Labor Department figures show such whopping wage increases have not yet become the rule among the nation's approximately 4 million construction workers.

The latest government figures placed the average wage increase for building trades workers at a relatively modest annual rate of 4 per cent a year. The average for all construction workers stood at $3.22 per hour, not including fringe benefits.

Construction wages over the last year increased 5.6 per cent, only slightly above the annual rise for all industry, the report added.

Union officials defend high wages for construction men on grounds that the work is highly seasonal with long layoffs in bad weather.

"What industry officials fear is a nationwide pattern growing out of the larger settlements such as the Philadelphia plumbers."

"Winington, Del., 111 weights are striking for a $23 worth of work."

Legislators Attacked By Longwood's Mayor

Local legislators sarcastically referred to as the "illustrious Orange-seminole delegation" by Longwood Mayor Kenneth Brown were hit by a verbal attack last night for failing to officially notify the city of approved legislation.

Mayor Brown stated he had been unofficially notified by Rep. William Fulford that five items of legislation had been adopted, however.

The legislation includes a measure requiring city officials to be property owners, calls for geographical districts within the municipality in which Council members must reside, repeals the existing method of annexation and al-

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for one year, and my husband is 70 and I am 61. I knew when I married him that he was fond of music, but I didn't know that he had to have the music going from the time he opened his eyes in the morning until he closed them at night.

He doesn't hear too well, so he keeps the volume up. Worse yet, our tastes differ. He likes the classics and the old stuff which makes me sad and I like Nat King Cole, Herb Alpert, Dixieland, and jazz.

This man listens to music while reading, watching TV, and even during mealtime. Which means there isn't much conversation between us. I can't do anything while there is music on except listen to the music.

I welcome the chance to get out of the house to get away from that music. Would you call this a serious conflict? Am I overly sensitive or am I normal? I don't want to upset my husband as he is very considerate in other ways, but I must confess, this is a problem, what is your opinion?

DEAR TOO: My husband subjects you to irritating music from dawn until dusk, and uses the word "considerate" of you don't count for much. You have a legitimate complaint. Put it to music and sing it to your music lover.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I went on a skiing weekend with my father, uncle, and older brother, and I saw something I still can't believe.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I'm awful but policemen turn me on. How can I meet one? DOTTY: DEAR DOTTY: That's easy. Drive 30 miles an hour in a 30-mile-an-hour zone. (P. S. But if you don't "turn HIM on," he's apt to turn you IN.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO NAME PLEASE" IN AUSTIN, TEX. A blood test is not conclusive evidence. The father of the baby and all others with those who are undependable is too small to be handed with exactness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Men and women may relate well to each other today, so be sure not to try one another. Stop blaming your personal problem to everyone you meet. Solve it by being objective.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Don't be extravagant where your money is concerned. Carry through with whatever has satisfied in the past. Taking risks and associating with those who are undependable is not wise. Be clever.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Get out and handle personal affairs to the quiet. Avoid a possible fracas at home. You'll get back into the swing of things when your health improves. Don't let any grass grow under your feet.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Drive with utmost care. Be diplomatic with anyone who can be of real assistance to you. You can be witty but not at the expense of others' feelings. Show that you are a charming person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Don't spend so much money just to keep up with the extravagances of others. Get into your own group that is more interested in the intellectual life and spend less money. Live a more worthwhile life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Take no chances that can ruin your reputation or get you in trouble with the law. Be sure you handle those credit or civic matters without further procrastination. Meet the expectations of others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Instead of fussing and fuming about things you cannot change, get busy and put fine new ideas in operation. Be calm. Your best bet now is to listen to what others have to say without prejudice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Get together with your good friends. Avoid that expert who wants you to invest too much money so that he can get too big a commission. Your loved one really doesn't like you as friends. Be true to those who are loyal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Take care you do not join an argument between an associate and an executive. Be quiet. Other good partners are available. You will really get in trouble with him.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Find the right interests that can help you to reach your goals much faster. Forget waiting time on something small. Give generous support to an out-of-town applicant for help.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Anything that gives you a new start is good. Stop suffering under some heavy load. Be sure you add to your present group of friends. You are making new acquaintances very carefully.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You are out to get a new home, so be with an associate and accomplish important things. In the interim, all will clear up at home. Talk over how to improve conditions in the days ahead. Why have fear?

North and South may have pushed a trifle to get to game. But when you look at both hands you can see the contract is a mighty snore. No loser play in order to make use of dummy's third trump.

East covers his partner's king with his ace of diamonds and returns the suit. West wins the second diamond and continues a third. If South makes a mistake and ruffs in dummy it will be "Katy bar the door." East will overruff and lead back early in his hand.

It is only when the queen of spades and eventually South will lose a club trick in addition to the three tricks at a ready score against him.

Polly's Pointers By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY: I am answering Mrs. J. L. E. who wants to remove old veneer from furniture. The veneer removed was buckled in some places and tight in others. I set an old bedspread and laid it over the veneer. The veneer was left for several hours but I kept the cloth wet all the time. This loosened the veneer as it was easily lifted off by readily trying the tight edges with a putty knife.

—MRS. J. L. E. P.

DEAR POLLY: I have found for removing old veneer from a commercial paint and start with a paint scraper. Remove veneer carefully before starting. Some require water and a large order of "elbow grease." Others require special solvent to be left on for a certain time then cleaned off. If the furniture has elaborate molding, a quick rub with steel wool may be needed on the ornate areas but the old veneer should quickly lift off. It will be a dirty, muddy mess so do it completely before cleaning up is easy. I find this so superior to scraping even when this is possible. This way there is no chance of scratching the furniture—MARGARET.

DEAR READERS: Some furniture veneered with tight, heavily varnished surfaces may be cleaned by a combination of the above two methods. Using the varnish remover first would then allow the veneer to be removed with far less effort. Profit from the hundreds of tried-and-tested shortcuts in Polly's new book. Beauty after Forty

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

"I am forty-one, and yet I have fine lines around my eyes. They have come so easily. I have had my eyes examined and now have eyeglasses which I wear as instructed. What can I do about my eyes and the fine lines around them? I am a housewife and as often as possible, use only cleansing cream, and good quality white soap. Make comparisons of the cream with "Iron" over them with an ice cube. Apply cosmetic oil and night, always be careful. Use your powder foundation carefully under the eyes and press on face powder while looking in the mirror. A famous eye specialist recently told me that women could look younger at once when they got rid of fine lines around the eyes. He suggested a simple operation which can be done so quickly, but MUST be done by an expert.

I look some exercises at night, the exercises at home now. But, I notice that my

Gardener On The Prowl

EDISON, N.J. (AP)—A resident of a nearby suburb who lends his lawn every weekend, decided to walk around the neighborhood to see how green was his neighbors' grass.

Wearing his gardener's clothes—dirty pants and an old sweatshirt—he made statements when a group is together, no one takes me seriously? I am sixty-five and have been through most of the things you discuss?" H.S.

"Don't make what you call 'statements' people often find them irritating. Walk to be asked your opinion, you will get along better, even though (and I suspect that you have) all this."

People just don't walk around much, anymore, the police is marred.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those most fascinating young people with many fine ideas. Be sure to teach early to see one idea through at a time. Otherwise, lack of continuity can cause failure. Teach early to find out all the facts before judging others. In this way, you will be avoided that could cause later. Much success is then possible in this chart.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those delightful young people who is almost ready and will respond best on the sympathetic level. The best outlet here are in the fields of selling, commodities, etc. Manufacturing is also good, especially if your progeny is a male. Give the discipline early that will be a high commendation. Teach early not to get so excited when emergencies arise. An ideal chart here for the psychologist, the orator, the writer or the actor.

Caution Told For Lightning

By FRANK J. JARA

County Agricultural Agents advise residents in these areas to be especially alert to lightning storms which bring with them the danger of lightning. People who spend a great deal of time outdoors need to exercise a little caution when they are rapidly developing storms. Thunderstorms often come up suddenly and people are caught outdoors. If this happens to you, look for the nearest protection. Florida Agricultural Extension Service Safety specialists say that if you're not too far from a building, you should head for there. Second choice would be an automobile. Stay in your car during a thunderstorm and you will be well protected. If you are caught out in the open, don't go near metal fences or get close to trees—especially lone trees—nor trees alone standing in woods. If you are fishing from a boat or swimming when lightning approaches, your life is in danger. Return to land as quickly as possible and seek safe shelter. Remember, avoiding the danger of lightning is mostly a matter of employing common sense. Be sure to use yours.

Occasionally we receive a request for information on raising rabbits and whether this is a profitable venture. Rabbits are prolific, and they are not always profitable. Some rabbits are sold as pets, and for research purposes, but most rabbits are grown for food. While there is a demand in certain areas, markets are not always well established. Even with an established market, it is often necessary to maintain a certain volume in order to hold market. Before moving into the rabbit business, it is important to check into production problems, local demand and profit potential. If all these prove to be satisfactory, then it can be considered a good investment.

Artificial Sweetener Is Safe?

By LOUISE LONG
County Home Agent

Artificial sweeteners are safe? Our right-minded sweeteners have drastically increased the use of artificial sweeteners and recent research has confirmed their safety for human use at normal levels of intake.

"Consumers should remember sweeteners are non-nutritive. They offer none of the calories which are an important part of the normal diet. These sweeteners are particularly important to those who want to limit calorie intake for dietary reasons.

It is estimated three out of every four people now consume some artificial sweetener each day. Use of cyclamate, the artificial sweetener component, by food industries has pumped from five million pounds per year in 1963 to 15 million pounds last year. This large increase in the amount of non-nutritive sweeteners being used has prompted a review of their safety.

The National Academy of Sciences recently determined there was no reason to believe the normal use of artificial sweeteners by an adult would present any health hazard. Daily consumption of five grams of cyclamate per adult was set as the maximum daily intake. A 12-ounce bottle of carbonyl soft drink sweetener artificially contains from 4 to 10 grams of cyclamate, he said.

Future research is being aimed at establishing ranges of intake for non-nutritive sweeteners according to a person's age, with special regard to the extreme upper levels of permissible intake.

First Days Important To Plants

By DAVID DeWOLL
Asst. County Agent

Two main flowers after the first three or four weeks are the most important if your plants are going to get off to a good start.

Young plants need to be watered often until their root systems become established. After that, you can water less often, but soak the soil deep. Apply water slowly for a long time so that it will soak past the deepest roots. Then let the soil surface dry between waterings—once the plants are well established.

Use a layer of mulch to reduce soil crusting, water evaporation and weed competition. Plant mums, leaved or chipped straw can save you a great deal of work. You can add more mulch as the flowers grow.

Many flowers, including zinnias, snapdragons and chrysanthemums, will benefit from pinching out a terminal part of the plant. This will give you more compact, wind-resistant plants. Make the first pinch when the plants are about three inches high. However, most dwarf varieties do not need pinching.

'Government In Sunshine' Violations? Altamonte Aides' Acts Eyed

SEN. BILL GUNTER

CONSTANCE HUDSON

City of Altamonte Springs" for a state audit of city records. The lawmakers are being charged with violating state law in that the request, which will require expenditure of city funds, was not made at an open or official Council meeting.

On questioning by Melton at the June 4 meeting, all three refused to answer questions concerning the written request to Senator Gunter's legislative auditing committee for the state examination. None of the three would admit they had signed the request and only one, Melton, would admit he had read the letter of request.

WAITING to be called to present testimony before the Seminole County grand jury on the alleged violation of the "Government in the Sunshine" law by three Altamonte Councilmen are Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford, former City Clerk Dorothy Bardeen and citizens Jim Fox and Tom Radloff. (Staff Photos)

Governor Kirk To Visit Here

Gov. Claude Kirk will visit Sanford on Wednesday, June 25, at which time it will bring together approximately 100 Sanford business and professional people, regardless of political affiliation, for the purpose of an informal gathering to get better acquainted with the Governor of the State of Florida.

The dinner will be at the House of Steak, Holiday Inn, in Sanford, starting at 6:30 p.m.

The 10 sponsors of the program feel "that the Governor should be apprised of the fact that Sanford's leaders appreciate his great efforts and success in furthering the image of the State of Florida as a tourist mecca and industrial location."

It is planned that the Governor will land at Sanford Airport and motor to the Holiday Inn, where a press conference will precede the stag dinner-meeting.

Port Pact Signing Tonight

Signatures will be affixed tonight to the contract calling for the construction of the Port of Sanford.

Francis Roumillat III, administrator for the Seminole County Port Authority, said this morning the port, on the St. Johns River, across from the Florida Power and Light Company power plant, will be constructed by Civil Works Constructors International, Inc., of Brandon.

Civil Works Constructors won the contract with its low bid of $1,333,000.

RAY KIRKLAND of Columbia, S. C., skillfully glided this single engine Piper Cherokee to an emergency landing Friday at 7 p.m., when it ran out of gas two miles short of Herndon Airport. He and his wife, Gloria, and their children, Kevin, 4, and Morris, 2, were able to walk away from the plane which came down in a muck bed between the Casa Atolosa and Tanglewood subdivisions. Ouster Ruled Unconstitutional High Court Favors Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court found today that the U.S. House was without power to exclude Rep. Adam Clayton Powell in March 1967.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said: "Our examination of the relevant historical materials leads us to the conclusion that petitioners (Powell and a group of Harlem voters) are correct and that the Constitution forbids the House without authority to exclude any person, duly elected by its constituents who meets all the requirements for membership expressly prescribed in the Constitution."

Sheriff Probes Rape Charge

A 22-year-old woman was reported raped yesterday, according to Seminole County sheriff's deputies. The crying woman was found near the intersection of SR 434 and 419 near North Orlando.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a suspect. Sheriff's officials are continuing their investigation. Midway Market, located near Highway 46, was hit by thieves over the weekend. The market was entered through a side window and, it was reported, over $200 worth of merchandise was missing. Over 40 shirts were taken in the burglary, along with assorted grocery items.

Constable To Explain

Full and detailed explanation of his billing to the county of questionable items will be given by the Board of County Commissioners by Constable Bob Jane at the meeting scheduled for 9 a. m. tomorrow at the courthouse. Jane's explanation, expected to take at least one hour, will include his side of the charges that he sought payment from the county for two separate trips, one day apart, to Panama City to transport prisoners. In addition, he is charged with seeking compensation for the services of a guard or deputy constable and payment for almost daily appearance in Peace Justice Thomas Lovett's court rather than the normal two times weekly appearances. Assistant State Attorney Thomas Speer has been asked by the local Republican executive committee, as well, to investigate allegation that Jane is living outside his district, operating a private detective agency in addition to his duties as constable and has hired deputy constables or guards.

Other items on the agenda for the meeting of the county board includes four public hearings to consider zoning changes at 11 a. m.

N. Orlando Zoning Meet

North Orlando Zoning Board will meet tonight and Tuesday at 8 p.m. in workshop sessions to prepare zoning changes and subdivision regulations requested by Gulf American Corporation for its proposed multimillion dollar development. These changes will be presented for action at a meeting of the zoning board at 8 p.m. Thursday at village hall.
