Lake Mary Road Improvements Planned For Years

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Twenty-two years ago, planners for the city of Sanford envisioned circumferential roads around congested parts of the city.

And almost seven years ago, the Lake Mary City Council adopted an ordinance calling for a 104-foot setback from the centerline of Lake Mary Boulevard and banned the construction of apartments, businesses and industrial plants in that setback.

Both ideas are included in the recommendations of an advisory committee to be considered by the Seminole County Commission at a 9:30 a.m. meeting Tuesday.

And the advisory committee lauded the foresight of both cities as it held meetings over the past several months, concluding those meetings last week with a proposal that Lake Mary Boulevard by the year 2000 will be a six-lane thoroughfare and in the interim the road's future should be kept in mind.

The citizens advisory committee chaired by Sanford City Commissioner David Farr concluded in its study that Lake Mary had been farsighted in setting the setback requirements. It recommended the city of Sanford and the County Commission set similar requirements on the stretches of the boulevard within their domains, Farr said.

At the same time, Farr noted the city of Sanford 22 years ago in its comprehensive plan foresaw that an extension of Lake Mary Boulevard would be needed in the future. To that end a 100-foot-wide section of right-of-way was acquired on the northern edge of Carriage Cove.

"The Board of County Commissioners, Lake Mary and the city of Sanford decided we had best begin thinking about what's going to happen along Lake Mary Boulevard for the next 20 years or so, the number of developments planned, zoned or talked about," Farr said.

Various sub-committees also were set up to discuss the issue.

The Lake Mary Boulevard extension, Farr said, would go across U.S. 17-92 to the east, wander to the left and then to the right before going straight ahead until it hits Silver Lake Road and Sanford Avenue.

Sanford in its original plan called for tying in Airport Boulevard to the southern entrance of the airport. This was completed. It also called for an extension to east to Cameron Avenue, and this has not as yet been completed.

The city plan called for tying Airport Boulevard on the west extended into Lake Mary Boulevard (not included in the present plan and further to take Lake Mary Boulevard east across U.S. 17-92 to loop around the airport to Cameron Avenue.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles noted Sanford actually acquired the 100-foot right-of-way inside the city to provide for the Lake Mary Boulevard extension from U.S. 17-92.

Lake Mary City Manager Phil Kulbes said the technical advisory sub-committee on the boulevard also urged that when the highway is widened that a provision be made for sidewalks or at least paths off the pavement for joggers, students walking to school and other pedestrians.

Kulbes said the expanded Lake Mary Boulevard as the committee envisioned would have a median area in the center of the roadway.

The improvements to Lake Mary Boulevard, estimated to cost about $20 million for the paving and another $15 million to $20 million to acquire the right-of-way, is a long way off, Kulbes said.

But the ban on constructing apartments, businesses and industrial plants in the 104-foot setback on Lake Mary's portion of the boulevard should make the right-of-way acquisition less expensive than it otherwise would have been, he said.

Man Kills Mom, Self

A Sanford man shot his mother to death then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide in an Osteen cemetery after family problems apparently became too much for him to handle, according to Volusia County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said they discovered the bodies of Richard Preston Windsor, 34, and Ellen Thompson Windsor, both of 213 Coachman Court in Sanford, at about 6 p.m. Saturday in the Osteen Cemetery along County Road 415 just north of Osteen.

According to Ronnie Lee, an acquaintance of Windsor's who found the bodies then alerted deputies, Windsor had been going through some family problems and after a telephone conversation with Windsor just prior to the double deaths, Lee went to the cemetery, fearing something was going to happen, and found the bodies, said Sheriff's spokesman Lt. Edward Carroll.

"Our investigation is pretty much over," Carroll said. "It appears he just had a lot of family problems and couldn't handle them."

Carroll said Mrs. Windsor was shot once in the head with a 12-gauge shotgun and that Windsor then turned the gun on himself.

According to Lee, Windsor may have been prompted to commit the murder-suicide because he was in the process of getting a divorce and was concerned that once the divorce became final, there would be no one who could adequately take care of his elderly mother.

Deputies said it appears the two died sometime Saturday afternoon. —TENIYARBOROUGH

State Rep. Bobby Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs and Elizabeth Boyd of the Seminole County Library Advisory Board cut the ribbon on the library's newly remodeled Sanford branch at 230 E. First St.

Library Remodeled Library Facility Is Reopened In Sanford

Shelton Henderson, 3, of Sanford was a little apprehensive at the opening of the Seminole County Library's Sanford branch at 230 E. First St.

The Seminole County Library's Sanford branch had a no-frills reopening this morning.

State Rep. Bobby Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, and library advisory board member Elizabeth Boyd cut the ribbon on the renovated structure at 9:45 a.m. at 230 E. First St. but the ceremony was devoid of the usual speeches and pomp and circumstance which normally accompany such events.

Only one county commissioner, Bill Kirchhoff, attended the ribbon cutting, held on the eve of a county referendum on a $7 million library expansion program.

The library was moved out of the building last spring and given temporary quarters in Sanford City Hall while the inside of its old home was gutted and rebuilt.

New carpeting and furniture have been added to the facility to give it what county librarian Jean Rhein calls "an atmosphere more conducive to reading."

The library was closed for the past two weeks while books were moved from Sanford City Hall back into the renovated facility, which Mrs. Rhein said is still too small.

Mrs. Rhein said the county's plans call for the expansion of the building,

Boy On Bike, Sanford Man Die In Wrecks

By TENIYARBOROUGH

A 34-year-old Sanford man and an 11-year-old Osteen boy are dead today following separate traffic accidents.

Randolph Allen Maxwell of 312 Idyllwild Drive was pronounced dead on arrival at the Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford after his 1977 Jeep reportedly ran into the back end of a 1980 Ford pickup truck at about 12:45 a.m. today in front of the Golden Lamb Restaurant at 2101 S. French Ave., police said.

The truck driver, Paul Cook, 49, of 1204 Park Ave. in Sanford was treated for muscle strain, cuts and bruises at Central Florida Regional Hospital and released following the fatal accident, hospital officials said.

Police said it appears that Maxwell's vehicle was traveling at a higher rate of speed than the posted 45 mph speed limit when the crash occurred. Police said Maxwell was thrown from the jeep through a rear opening of the vehicle after hitting the truck in the rear end. The vehicle seats were thrown through the front of the jeep, police added.

"When Maxwell was ejected from the jeep, he landed in the street causing multiple head injuries which apparently killed him," said Sanford police Sgt. Bill Bernosky. "However, our investigator is still looking into the accident. No charges have been filed."

"We've got some conflicting statements from witnesses," Bernosky said. "Some are saying the truck was stopped in the northbound lane while others say it was moving very slowly. We've still got a lot to do in investigating this one."

"Randy had gone out for the evening with a buddy who came in from Texas and a few other friends," said Jacque Maxwell, Maxwell's wife of about two years. "Apparently he was coming home when the accident happened."

"He's a helluva good man and a great father," she continued. "He's got four children by his ex-wife, Victoria Maxwell, who lives in Sanford. They are Amy, 11; Ginie, 10; Randy III, 6; and David, 5. I've got two children including Chad Ansley, 7, and Bryan, 5. All of the children live with us."

Mrs. Maxwell said her husband, a former Marine, is a Vietnam war veteran and has received a purple heart and Congressional Medal of Honor. She said her husband, a self-employed home improvements worker, will have a "full military funeral."

Maxwell's death marks the 25th traffic fatality in Seminole County this year.

Meanwhile, an 11-year-old Osteen boy died Saturday after he rode his bicycle into the path of a pickup truck Friday along Duren Avenue in Volusia County, deputies said.

John Adrian Saylor of Lemon Bluff Road died Saturday at Orlando Regional Hospital after being treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford Friday night, hospital officials said.

The young Saylor, a student at Osteen Elementary School, was riding his bicycle eastbound along Fourth Street in Osteen when he rode into the path of a pickup truck that was southbound along Duren Avenue, according to the Florida Highway Patrol. Truck driver Riley Wilkinson of Osteen was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the boy, troopers said.

Neighbors said the young boy was hurrying home to greet his father, who had just been released after an extended hospital stay. The accident occurred a short distance from the home at about the same time the ambulance, bringing the elder Saylor home, was leaving the residence, neighbors said.

Troopers added that Wilkinson was not charged in the accident which accounts for the 69th traffic fatality in Volusia County this year.

Lake Howell Senior County's Junior Miss

Stephanie Sue Seaman, a 17-year-old Lake Howell High School senior, is the first Seminole County Junior Miss. She was crowned Saturday night at Lake Mary High School at a pageant sponsored by the Altamonte-South Seminole Jaycees.

Stephanie is a member of the Young Life organization and is the captain of the Lake Howell track team. She has lettered in both cross country and track. Her concern for others is demonstrated by her participation in the school's Peer Counseling program and she was chosen a Student of the Week. She is an outstanding student in Sociology. Her ambition is to have a career in television broadcasting.

Stephanie is the daughter of Gerald and Marlyce Seaman of 2519 Dakota Trail in Fern Park. Her talent performance was a jazz dance, accompanied by her mother at the piano.

Stephanie will represent Seminole County at the state Junior Miss Pageant. See JUNIOR Page 2A

Geneva Residents Set Last Fight

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Geneva residents will gather at 8 p.m. today at the town's community hall to muster support for a last-ditch attempt to alter Florida Power and Light Company's plan to run a 500,000-volt power line through their community.

Sid Kraftsow, leader of People Against Power Intrusion, said he hopes to convince state Cabinet members meeting Wednesday in Tallahassee that a viable alternative to the proposed site exists. Kraftsow will take two bus loads of people to the Wednesday meeting.

"We're not arguing about the need for power," Kraftsow said. "We say go ahead and certify about 85 percent of the corridor. Just leave this part for later approval."

The transmission line will bring power from Georgia along a 175-mile route through seven Florida counties to a power plant in Martin County.

But an FP&L official said today any alternative plan for the corridor is "too late to gain serious consideration."

Stacey Shaw of the company's Miami office said the company examined 10 to 12 proposals before coming up with its current plan.

"We were aware of the concerns of the people in Geneva but we felt this route was the best," she said. She said delays in approval for the project, set for a 1985 completion date, will result in higher rates to FP&L consumers.

Negotiations between FP&L and the counties which will host the transmission line resulted in the one-mile corridor being detoured around populated areas. But FP&L refused to budge on its plan to put the corridor across the property of about 75 Geneva residents.

The members of the consumers group have been up in arms since February public hearing in Sanford. Kraftsow claims the line will have a significant impact upon their lives.

He said the line will cause health problems, disrupt television and radio reception, reduce real estate values and be aesthetically unpleasant.

"There is ample evidence the electromagnetic field produced by the lines can cause sexual dysfunction," he claimed.

He added the towers which will be built to carry the line "intrude on the landscape. They'll be staring us in the face forever."

Kraftsow claims the plan already has dried up the real estate market.

"Only one piece of land has been sold in the past six months," he said. And that was because the people who bought it weren't told of the plans to put a power line through here."

Kraftsow believes there are alternatives to the "Geneva Plan."

He claims the hearing examiner who recommended the route did so only because no viable alternatives were offered.

The only other route proposed for the line was south from Jacksonville along Interstate 95 and then east through Brevard County.

Kraftsow recommends the corridor be moved about 3½ miles east to a less inhabited area east of Lake Harney.

"There's absolutely nothing out there," he said. Kraftsow said another acceptable alternative is to buy the line.

"We're not trying to put it over some other town," Kraftsow said. "We just want to put it somewhere it won't have much impact on people."

Was There More Than One 'Madman' Tylenol Killer?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Authorities investigating seven random killings said more than one person may have spiked capsules of Extra-Strength Tylenol with cyanide and put "death on the shelf" at area drugstores. They worked today to narrow down a list of 24 suspects.

State Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, who previously dubbed the unknown killer a "madman," said Sunday, "He has a definite method — he had a plan." He added a "thinking person or persons" was responsible.

Fahner said he believes the medication was not tampered with until it reached the stores, virtually ruling out the possibility the capsules were exchanged at the manufacturing or distribution level.

6 Die In Balloon Mishaps

United Press International

Five people jumped off a burning hot-air balloon just before it ascended in a fireball and exploded, killing four passengers at the Albuquerque, N.M., International Balloon Fiesta. Two men died in another balloon crash in Greenville, S.C.

The 12-story high El Lobo Grande balloon was landing Sunday at the Albuquerque festival — the premier event in ballooning — when survivor Tom Speer said he heard a hissing sound and urged the eight other passengers to get off. The gondola then burst into flames and the craft began to rise as people bailed out and dangled from the burning gondola.

Lawrence L. Abrams, 26, of Easley, S.C., and August B. Schwires, 26, of Peller, S.C., were killed when their balloon ran into power lines, caught fire and dropped 80 feet to the ground. A third passenger was hospitalized in critical condition with second- and third-degree burns over 65 percent of his body.

Reagan Takes To Stump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, whose vision of economic recovery has been clouded by rising unemployment, begins a four-week push for Republican congressional candidates today with a campaign trip to recession-wracked Ohio.

Polls show the economy is foremost in the minds of most voters, but Reagan planned to highlight his defense buildup in a speech to some 3,500 supportive members of five veterans' groups during a four-hour stop in Columbus.

At a $100-a-person reception for Rep. Clarence Brown, the Republican nominee for governor, Reagan was expected to renew a counter-offensive against critics of his economic policies, blaming Democratic programs for today's problems.

It loomed as Reagan's first chance to try to capitalize on what otherwise was a major defeat by the House Friday — rejection of a constitutional amendment to require a balanced budget, one of his key legislative priorities.

Firefighters are trained for getting into and out of burning buildings quickly. While learning to rappel like this fireman probably isn't necessary, everyone should plan for and practice escaping their home in the event of fire.

Planning Is Key To Escape From Nighttime Home Fires

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is one of a series of stories the Herald will run in observance of fire Prevention Week Oct. 3-9.

Sniff. Sniff. You've just awakened. It's 3 a.m. and something smells a little strange . . . smoke. The house is on fire! Quick, what to do?

The fire-wise family takes steps to ensure they know what to do at a time like that. Here's how to develop a home escape plan to get every family member out of the house if fire strikes.

The first step is to buy and install a UL-listed smoke detector outside the bedrooms and to sleep with all doors closed, even the smallest child's room. This gives you early warning of fire and minimizes smoke build-up in the sleeping areas.

Now, draw a rough floor plan of your home. Decide on two ways out of every room — a fire in the hallway could preclude escape through the bedroom doors. From some second floor bedrooms it may be possible to climb from the window to a garage or porch roof, from which to jump to the ground; other bedroom windows look out on a stark two-story drop.

Check this out and buy escape ladders for the windows that require them. These folding metal ladders are generally attached to the floor under the window so they can be thrown out and dropped down when needed. Make sure everyone whose room is equipped with a ladder practices deploying the ladder and climbing down it.

You've equipped every room with two ways out. The next step is teaching family members which exit to use. When the smoke detector sounds, each family member should roll out of bed and crawl to the bedroom door. If smoke is heavy, the best air will be near the floor. Feel the door. If it's warm or hot, don't open it. The fire is outside. Use the escape ladder or other window escape route.

If the door is cool, family members must know to "stay low and go," crawling all the way outside. Each family member must know an agreed upon meeting place — a streetlight, the neighbor's driveway, a big tree — so that everyone can quickly be accounted for.

Call the fire department from a neighbor's phone, or drive to a public telephone after everyone is out. Don't go back in the house for anything. Nothing you own is worth your life.

The keys of home escape planning are: (1) provide two ways out of each room; (2) escape through window if door feels warm; (3) stay low in smoke; (4) meet and regroup at an arranged spot; and (5) call the fire department from outside the house after everyone is out.

There's just one more key — practice. Hold home fire drills often and unpredictably. Make sure every family member who may have to clamber down the roof or use a ladder practices the technique until they're comfortable doing it. Home exit drills . . . they could save your life.

If you doubt that consider that a fire breaks out about every 45 seconds in the United States and your home could become a very strange place in the dark in an emergency — unless you've had practice in getting out fast.

Design Defects Cost Honda $5 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today refused to hear Honda Motor Co.'s appeal of a $5 million damage award imposed for design defects in one of the first cars it exported to the United States.

The justices left intact a ruling ordering the Japanese automaker to pay $225,000 in actual damages to a Florida car accident victim, and an extra $5 million in punitive damages.

Glen Dorsey suffered permanent brain damage and leg injuries that he says left him a cripple for life when his lightweight 1971 Honda AN 600 collided at about 30 mph with a full-sized Ford in March 1972.

Sales of AN 600s, the first Honda model exported to the United States, were discontinued after 1972.

Dorsey sued Honda, claiming the automaker ignored advice from its own safety researchers about the car's design defects during crashes and failed to warn American car buyers of the problems.

A jury found Honda negligent and awarded actual damages to compensate Dorsey for his injuries and also punitive damages, which are used not only to punish but also to deter others from similar behavior.

The $5 million punitive damage award initially was set aside by a federal judge, who felt Honda was not so much to blame as simply the small size of the car. But it was reinstated by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In its appeal to the justices, Honda argued it should be excused from the $5 million damage award — partly because of a new Florida Supreme Court ruling making it tougher to assess punitive damages in the state and partly because Honda says it complied with all federal car safety regulations in effect at the time.

Dorsey's attorneys countered that compliance with federal regulations does not excuse an automaker from lawsuits.

They also maintained Honda knew as early as 1967 that a "pillar" abutting the windshield tended to bend inward in crashes and hit passengers in the head. Despite that knowledge, the automaker ignored advice to strengthen the car's frame or enlarge the passenger compartment, Dorsey's lawyers said.

to be held Jan. 28-29 in Pensacola. As the winner of the Seminole pageant, she received a $200 scholarship, her round-trip airfare to Pensacola, her evening gown for the competition, a Junior Miss T-shirt, dinner for two at Lord Chumley's and Raffles restaurants and movie passes to Altamonte Cinema.

According to Claudia Colburn, project chairman, the new Junior Miss will make her first official appearance at the press appreciation night at the Altamonte-South Seminole Jaycees-Jayceettes' Haunted House Oct. 19 prior to the Oct. 22 opening on Park Avenue in Altamonte Springs. They also are planning to have Stephanie ride in the Sanford and Orlando Christmas parades.

First runner-up, who will take over if Miss Seaman is unable to serve for any reason, is Carol Ann Ludwig, a 17-year-old Seminole High School senior. Carol is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ludwig of Sanford. She is a cheerleader, a member of the Keyettes and Fellowship of Christian Athletes and, she hopes to become an airline stewardess.

The second runner-up is Karen Sue James, 17, an Oviedo High School senior, who is on the Interact Council and plans to study journalism at the University of Florida.

The third runner-up is Lisa Ann Olander, 17, of Lake Howell High School. She is a member of the National Honor Society and plans to attend the University of Central Florida majoring in education administration.

The fourth runner-up is Summer Szelc, 17, a cheerleader at Oviedo High School who plans to major in education at UCF.

The winner of the "Miss Congeniality" title was Leigh Anne Lowe, 17, a Lake Howell senior, who runs cross country, throws shot put and discus and excels in varsity basketball. She plans to enter Rollins College next year.

Sheila Brown, a varsity cheerleader at Seminole High, who sang in the pageant, was the winner in the Creative and Performing Arts category. She plans to continue her music studies at Seminole Community College.

The winner for Top Scholarship Achiever was Camille Diane Hauser, a Lake Howell High School senior who has a 3.9 grade point average. She is a member of the National Honor Society chapter and has been recognized as an outstanding student in chemistry and Spanish.

About 400 attended the pageant including Mike Holloway of Pensacola, state chairman of the Florida Junior Miss Pageant. He said it was the most successful first time pageant he had seen.

To be eligible for two special scholarships on the state level, Miss Seaman must make a dress and make complete plans for a party, including menu and recipes.

State winners advance to the America's Junior Miss, Pageant held every year in Mobile, Ala. Some $2 million in college scholarships, cash and other awards are made available to Junior Miss contestants from colleges, businesses and local, state and national sponsors.

Judging on all levels aims to determine the representative high school senior girl, the well-rounded individual with the personality, poise, promise, and perception to serve as an able spokesman for her generation, said Mrs. Colburn.

Defunct Coal Mine Lands Bafalis In Legal Trouble

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — According to published reports, Rep. L.A. "Skip" Bafalis, a Republican candidate for Florida governor, is a defendant in several lawsuits involving a failed West Virginia coal mining company.

The firm was known as S&K Coal Corp. and among the other defendant-stockholders in the case are Boston Red Sox baseball stars Carl Yastzemski and Dwight Evans and Massachusetts Gov. Edward King.

The report said since S&K halted operations at its Beckmore, W.Va., coal mine in August, lawyers representing creditors have filed claims against the firm or other companies owned by the same people.

The creditors range from banks to the United Mine Workers of America.

Bafalis may face a personal liability of at least $104,000 in the collapse of S&K.

"If I have to pay, I'll pay, obviously," Bafalis said.

Most of the lawsuits name the company as defendant, but suits filed by two Charleston banks name Bafalis and his business partners, Robert Hoffman of Palm Beach and Stuart Cohen of Madison, Wis., as defendants.

Hoffman is the president of S&K and four interlocking companies in which Bafalis invested. Cohen is an officer in S&K and the other companies.

U.S. District Judge Dennis Knapp of Charleston found S&K in contempt of court last week for failing to pay miners' health insurance premiums since March 1. The UMW's contract requires the company to pay health insurance premiums for up to a year after miners are laid off.

The union is also seeking back pay and other benefits from about 30 miners who say they lost up to three weeks of pay when the company shut down.

"What we're involved in now is just kind of a race against the creditors to see who can collect first," said Jay Arceneaux, a lawyer for the UMW in Charleston, W.Va.

3 Robberies Reported Over Weekend

Bandits Prowl Streets Of Sanford

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Sanford men and a DeBary man told police they were robbed in three separate incidents while walking along Sanford streets.

William Henry Little, 42, of 6 Higgins Terrace, Sanford, told police he was walking along W. Seventh Street at about 3:15 a.m. Saturday when three men attacked him and robbed him of $170 cash.

Suspect Tylenol Discovered In Florida; Tests Ordered

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Leon County sheriff's office says it has found a bottle of Extra Strength Tylenol with the same lot numbers — 1801MA — as pills that apparently killed a flight attendant in Chicago last week.

Spokesman Dick Simpson said deputies are sending the pills found in the Tallahassee area to a laboratory for testing but don't expect to find any cyanide.

Simpson said Sunday the woman who turned in the bottle said her family had used the pills since they were purchased about a month ago with no ill effects.

Johnson & Johnson has recalled two batches of the Extra Strength Tylenol, but that batch was not included.

Probing A Murderer's Past

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — An investigator into the past of a man who reportedly has confessed to as many as three dozen murders says he is a cunning killer who has no conscience.

Gerald Eugene Stano, 31, has confessed to the murders including the 1975-77 Dale Mabey "strip murders" at Tampa. In the Volusia-Daytona Beach area, where Stano lived until sentenced to prison last year, it is already publicly known that he has confessed to killing at least 11 young women — many of them hitchhikers, some of them prostitutes — over a six-year period.

In each of those slayings, the Times said, Stano has given police written confessions. Seven were obtained last year, and four more since August. Grand juries in Brevard and Bradford counties have reportedly convened to consider some of the new admissions.

Keys Population Boom Seen

KEY WEST (UPI) — A confidential study has confirmed the worst fears of Florida Keys residents and officials.

The study by the Monroe County planning department shows that the Keys population could more than double during the next decade, and the recently overhauled overseas highway and new water pipeline may not be able to handle the increase.

The report indicates that more than 53,000 new residents could move to unincorporated areas of the Keys during the next 10 years. According to the 1980 census, Monroe County has about 65,000 full-time residents, some 25,000 of them in the Keys.

Israel Planning Response To Killing Of 6 Soldiers

United Press International

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin called his Cabinet into secret session today to weigh Israel's response to a machine gun and bazooka ambush in eastern Lebanon that killed six Israeli soldiers and wounded 22 others.

The two-hour meeting ended without a government statement.

Israeli troops searched today near Syrian lines in mountainous east Lebanon for gunmen who ambushed an Israeli troop bus Sunday 4 miles from Syrian lines.

Only hours after the meeting ended, Israeli warplanes attacked and destroyed a Syrian SAM-9 anti-aircraft missile battery in Lebanon, the military command announced.

Soviets Try Space Special

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union placed its manned space platform into a new orbit that could signify preparations for a space spectacular to mark today's 25th anniversary of the launch of Sputnik 1, the first man-made satellite.

Speculation on a possible Soviet space launch today covered everything from a new team of cosmonauts to another section or module to enlarge the Salyut 7 orbital platform that began circling the planet in April.

Mrs. Mabel Bram, left, 95, and August Wieboldt, 99, the two oldest residents of Bram Towers, Sanford, were among the residents honored Sunday afternoon at a party celebrating the 10th anniversary of the facility.

Bram Towers Observes Its 10th Anniversary

Residents of Bram Towers, a 12-story retirement apartment building at 519 E. Girst St., Sanford, celebrated the 10th anniversary of their facility Sunday afternoon with a birthday party complete with cake and candles, balloons and streamers.

Approximately 150 residents and guests were on hand for the occasion at which the 45 charter residents of Bram Towers were recognized and presented certificates. There were special honors for the two oldest residents, Mrs. Mabel Bram, 95, widow of Bishop Martin Bram, for whom the building is named, and 99-year-old August Wieboldt.

They cut the cake, which was topped with a replica of Bram Towers and 10 candles.

Bram Towers is sponsored by two local Episcopal churches — Holy Cross of Sanford and All Saints of Enterprise — and was built with federal funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Holy Cross Deacon Barbara Muller accompanied herself at the guitar as she sang "Bless This House."

The Rev. Leroy D. Soper Jr. rector of Holy Cross, who was one of the organizers of Bram Towers, gave an anniversary address, and the Rev. Robert Phillips of All Saints conducted the memorial for former residents who have died.

A second event in conjunction with the 10th anniversary will be a buffet dinner for past and present members of the board at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 14. Bishop William Folwell of the Central Florida Diocese of the Episcopal Church will be the guest speaker.

Different From Depression Days

Little Panic As Troubled Bank Fails

By TOM TIEDE

"On August 6, 1982, at 12:35 a.m., the superintendent of banking, state of Iowa, ordered the Mt. Pleasant Bank and Trust Company closed. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has been appointed receiver."

MT. PLEASANT, Iowa (NEA) — There had been rumors for months that the bank was in trouble. One of its directors had committed suicide, lawsuits had been drawn charging mismanagement, and strangers with briefcases had been filing into the brick building on Main Street to pore over the books.

Yet no one was really prepared for a failure. And when the notice of closure was taped to the door of the Mt. Pleasant Bank and Trust Co., townsfolk read it with dismay. The door was locked. A policeman blocked the way. The stark and unsettling reality was that no one could get his money.

Worse, it was Friday. A time for spending in this farm community. People needed cash to begin summer vacations, or to see Charley Pride at the Wapello County Fair. "How do I buy my groceries?" asked one young woman barred from the bank. "I always do my shopping on Friday night."

And the shoppers weren't the only ones caught in the surprise. The places they frequent were likewise affected. Clerks at some downtown stores said they did not have enough money on hand to make routine change for customers, and one automobile agency could not meet its payroll obligations.

Then there was the local lumber dealer. He had made a $25,000 deposit in the bank the night before, and now there wasn't any cash with which to operate. The story on Main Street was that when the dealer called the owner to ask what to do, the owner sounded as if he would have a heart attack.

That story may have been exaggerated, however. For at first the news of the bank failure gave rise to some dramatics. People gathered in clutches at the door, or stood about mumbling on the corners. "I got everything I own in the bank," a man with a crewcut complained. "It's like the Depression."

Well, check that, the man added quickly. After thinking about it, he and others on Main Street decided it wasn't really like the Depression. "I'm old enough to remember," said Henry Thornberg. "All the banks in town closed, and my dad was wiped out. But that was then, it's different today."

Different indeed. For one thing, most of the $26 million in deposits at the bank were guaranteed by the United States government. So at mid-morning radio station KKSI began announcing that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. would return all deposits to a maximum of $100,000.

That wouldn't take care of everyone. Because the bank revealed that some of its 7,900 depositors held accounts worth more than $100,000. But no matter. Only about $500,000 was uninsured, and eventually people in town began joking that anyone with $100,000 in the bank could afford to lose a little.

The joking helped. At Dick's Donut Shop, where a sidewalk poster says the food is "Yum, Yum," a man wondered if he could pay for lunch with a $5 million check. And early in the afternoon the mood in Mt. Pleasant, pop. 7,300, changed from a sense of quiet disbelief to one of public reflection. The people on Main Street remembered that the bank had a troubled history. For instance, it had lent millions to a grain elevator that went bankrupt in 1980, and it lost $2.2 million in the process. The owner of the elevator was also a director of the bank; he was the one who killed himself.

And that's not all. When the grain elevator folded, a group of injured farmers decided that Mt. Pleasant Bank and Trust should be penalized. They said the bank knew the elevator was insolvent, but gave it money anyway. In all, the farmers filed lawsuits that asked $19 million in damages.

One of those farmers was in Mt. Pleasant the day the bank

Although no one in town was really prepared for the failure of the Mt. Pleasant Bank and Trust Co., there was no panic. For one thing, most of the $26 million in deposits at the bank were guaranteed by the United States government.

failed. He wouldn't give his name but he said he was a participant in one of the suits. He walked by the bank and shrugged. "I don't know what to say about it," he grinned, "I just came in to buy bathroom towels at J.C. Penneys."

And that in the overall may have been the prevailing attitude here. There was no panic. No public display. Mayor Edd King, who had just returned from a trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, said that only one resident had called him regarding the news.

He said that he told her not to worry.

And he was right. For this is one story of troubled times that had a happy ending. The FDIC eventually negotiated a sale of most of the bank's assets to another Iowa institution; hence nobody lost a penny in deposits, and, all things considered, the day the bank failed here passed with modest significance.

A spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. in Washington says that the Mt. Pleasant Bank and Trust Company was the 27th bank failure of 1982. That averages about four each month. If the average continues, there could be more than 40 closings before the end of the year.

Sweden Swings Back To Left

Even though Sweden is neither a populous nor powerful nation, its elections recently are not without significance for the world and, therefore, deserve more consideration than Americans generally have found time for.

Swedish voters swung left — back to the socialism of the Social Democratic Party which, until 1976, had ruled for 44 years. The socialists won 166 of the 349 seats in Parliament. The other seats are splintered among Moderates (Conservatives), the People's Party (Liberals), and the Center Party (formerly the Farmers' Party).

Prime Minister Thorbjorn Falldin has resigned and on Oct. 8 will turn over his authority to Olof Palme, the leader of the Social Democrats and former prime minister, who is remembered as the most virulent anti-American leader in Western Europe.

Compared with other nationalities, the Swedes are well off. Their unemployment rate hovers around 3 percent and their inflation rate stays below 10 percent. Observers provide three salient reasons why Swedish voters turned out their comparatively mild conservative government for the socialists: They were disgruntled by the trimming of their welfare state; they were influenced by the rosy promises of the Social Democrats for expanded benefits; and the non-Socialist parties, or the "bourgeois" as the Social Democrats call them, did not work well together.

Despite almost half a century of Socialist rule, Sweden has far fewer nationalized industries than France, Britain, or Italy. This has accounted in large measure for Sweden's economic development and relatively high living standard. But the pledge by Mr. Palme and the Social Democrats to break private ownership proved to be a successful vote-getter. The Social Democrats have come up with an alluring Socialist alternative to outright nationalization. They would establish a collective fund by levying a new tax on all corporations plus an additional fee from those with profits above a certain level. These funds would then be used to acquire substantial stock ownership in major companies for the citizenry. The people instead of the government would own and presumably operate Sweden's business and industry.

Another Socialist bait for the voters is a scheme to spend $100 million to attract private investment of $350 million to create 30,000 new jobs. Sales taxes would be raised to finance this expansion.

The problem, apparently obvious to everyone except the Socialists and Swedish voters, is how private investors can be lured into a country that openly threatens to tax corporations into citizen-owned collectives. Instead of attracting new industry and new jobs, the Palme government is likely to see the transfer of as much business activity as possible to other countries. Moreover, new corporate taxes can only make Swedish industry more expensive and less competitive. In the end, of course, all of these additional taxes must be passed on to Swedish consumers.

So hypnotized were Swedish voters by the siren Socialist call that they ignored the clear lesson from France, where the Socialist government of President Francois Mitterand has nationalized major private enterprises. After only a brief case of socialism, the French economy is almost bedridden.

The contrasts between conditions in a small European nation such as Sweden and those in the United States warn against leaping to any facile conclusions. But, the spectacle of Swedish voters being bought by the Socialists with their own money is not confined to Scandinavia. If the Swedish elections are seen as a depressing omen for the Reagan administration before the November elections, they serve as another stern reminder for Americans to beware of political seduction.

"How about a little prayer next Sunday about the prime rate?"

By DONNA ESTES

U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Lakeland, thinks the federal money spent for former presidents of the United States has gotten out of hand and he's filed a bill to check this problem.

Chiles says he believes former presidents should be able to lead dignified retired lives, secure from threats, and with enough financial stability so that they are not forced to take a job or income that would compromise his role as a former president.

But there must be limits, he said. Noting it cost the federal government $64,000 to maintain former presidents in 1955, Chiles said that by fiscal 1983 those costs have escalated to $27 million. By comparison, the entire White House office operation this year will run $22 million.

The expense ranges from Secret Service protection of former presidents and their families and former presidents' widows, to maintenance of presidential libraries and staff to assist former presidents in their retirement activities.

Pensions also are provided, but this is not included in the $27 million.

Noting that costs have accelerated greatly not only because of inflation and because there are now more former presidents than in 1955, Chiles said there's also a lack of restraint with no one trying to control it.

Consequently Secret Service protection has broadened more and more, presidential libraries have gotten bigger and bigger and other support expenses have grown.

"In fact, we have moved so far beyond the original intent of the law that it seems we have created something more along the lines of an imperial former presidency," Chiles said.

Chiles questions the appropriateness of the taxpayers paying for Secret Service protection for a former president while he is traveling across country to make a speech for a substantial fee. "Should we provide staff to assist with those speeches or memoirs which will produce sizable income for the former president?" the senator asks.

The Chiles bill would do the following: provide Secret Service protection for former presidents for eight years (currently there is no limit); provide Secret Service protection to the spouse and family only as incidental to the protection of former president — the present law provides full protection; provide Secret Service protection to widows of former presidents for six months after the former president's death (currently they are given life-time protection); prohibit the use of taxpayer funds for partisan political activities and for income-generating activities; allow the government to be used in relation to writing and publications of memoirs only if publication and sale is by the Government Printing Office with profits going to the treasury; limit to one building, with a maximum of 40,000 square feet, the size of the presidential library (while these facilities are built with private donations, maintenance is covered by tax dollars and there is presently no limit on size or number per president); gradually reduce staff allowances as demands decrease.

"At a time when we are trying to cut federal spending and asking people in all walks of life to make sacrifices, there is no way to justify the magnitude of benefits former presidents are receiving," Chiles said.

It Began Before Begin

The argument over Israel's precise culpability for the Beirut horrors may never be resolved.

But it is beside the real point of Israel's problem.

That is power, and its consequences. An angered Ronald Reagan said it all in observing that Israel is no longer plucky little David. It has become Goliath, the dominant military power in the Mideast. Long before the war in Lebanon it established superiority not only over the Arab states individually but all of them combined.

Power corrupts, however, and Israel has been corrupted. Above all by its role as an occupying power.

Menachem Begin may be aggravating the problem, but it is not one of his making. Its origins are in the 1967 war and an initially defensive reaction when Jordan joined the Egyptian-Syrian assault on Israel.

Israel's Labor Party leaders are today Begin's severest domestic critics. But it should be remembered that none of the Labor-dominated coalitions that preceded his regime gave any indication of being in a rush to withdraw from the West Bank.

And so, initially of necessity, the Israelis became conquerors. With inevitable consequences. The measures and attitudes necessary to maintain rule over an alien and hostile population have perverted the Israelis' sense of self and purpose and distorted the institutions of their democracy. They have gone beyond being a garrison state, a situation forced upon them by the enmity of their neighbors, to being a military state, a situation brought upon themselves in a vain quest for self-sufficient security.

George Bush has bluntly told the Arabs that their implicit acceptance of Israel in the Fez summit communiqué is not enough. They cannot deal with their Israeli problem without forthrightly acknowledging the truth of Israel's existence and dealing with the Israelis directly.

There is also a truth that the Israelis must accept. And that is that by their own efforts they can never assure their security. As they have on the West Bank, they may remain indefinitely in Beirut. And if a defense perimeter in Lebanon proves insufficient, they may even go beyond to occupy Damascus and Baghdad.

They probably have the military power to do so, but only at every greater corruptive cost to themselves. And most to the point, they can never achieve the type of security they are seeking.

Israel is the most heavily subsidized country in the world. It is the largest recipient of U.S. aid—military and economic. Every family in Israel is backed by thousands of American dollars every year.

For all their own awesome abilities, the Israelis could not have accomplished what they have without this backing.

And for all their own efforts and sacrifices, their security ultimately depends upon forces outside themselves. They can never assure it by conquering more and more Arabs.

If the consequences of Beirut bring that truth home to all Israelis, it could be their greatest victory.

Arnett: Odd Choice For Animal Post

WASHINGTON — G. Ray Arnett is a towering bulk of a man, a rough-spoken Great White Hunter and sport fisherman of the Ernest Hemingway school of machismo. So, by the curious logic of the Reagan administration, he is now the assistant secretary of Interior for fish and wildlife — the man responsible for protecting endangered species.

A onetime oil-company geologist and life member of the National Rifle Association, Arnett was named head of the California Fish and Game Department by Gov. Ronald Reagan. In that capacity, he successfully kept the sea otter off the endangered-species list.

Now, as the federal arbiter of life and death for the animal kingdom, Arnett has allowed fellow bynans to bring back their African leopard kills as trophies and has permitted manufacturers of jogging shoes to import Australian kangaroo hides. America's Voters Speak

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The professionals in both parties are closely studying the results of the recent Minnesota primary, trying to puzzle out exactly what voters were saying. They rejected both parties' announced choices for governor.

In a rather startling result, Democratic voters nominated former governor Rudy Perpich over state Attorney General Warren Spannaus, the choice of the party hierarchy. At the same time, Republicans spurned Lt. Gov. Lou Wangberg — their party leaders' choice for governor — in favor of wealthy businessman Wheelock Whitney.

In Minnesota's primary system, party conventions pick "official" nominees who then must be ratified in the primary. In past years, almost without exception, the winner of the state convention has been virtually unopposed in the primary. But this year, both Perpich and Whitney ran maverick campaigns and stunned the establishment by vanquishing the official choices.

Both parties now are frantically scrambling to assemble campaigns for the general election. Both Spannaus and Wangberg built up large war chests and were ready to do battle — but now both are out in the cold, and both parties are reassessing how the primary system works in Minnesota.

Meanwhile, party professionals here in Washington are trying to determine whether the Minnesota upsets are simply a result of personalities or whether the results hold a deeper meaning.

Conservatives and Republicans have taken heart at the senatorial primary results in Nevada. Longtime incumbent Sen. Howard Cannon staved off the challenge of Rep. James Santini for the Democratic nomination.

State Sen. Chic Hecht's last-minute GOP campaign won him the nomination over young businessman Rick Fore, who campaigned for more than a year.

Party insiders say that if Santini had won the Democratic nod, the GOP was ready to write off the general election — especially if Fore had emerged as the GOP standardbearer. If the race had ended up Santini vs. Hecht, they would have had a bit more hope, but not much.

But now they see Cannon as vulnerable, and they see Hecht — a popular figure in the state legislature — as a possibly very strong candidate.

As the director of a major corporate political action committee said:

"If Santini had won, we were going to stay out of it. If it had been Cannon and Fore, we would have put a few bucks into the campaign, but really, the only issue Fore would have had was Cannon's age."

"But with Hecht, the GOP has an attractive candidate, Cannon is vulnerable, and I think we are going to end up involved in Nevada in a big way."

New York political strategist David Garth believes that President Reagan and the GOP are making a mistake by renewing the debate over "traditional conservative issues" such as abortion, school prayer and the like.

Recently Reagan has returned to these themes, which served the GOP so well in the 1980 campaign.

But Garth, using new polls conducted for him by the polling firm of Penn-Schoen, is advising his clients that economic issues, not social issues, are uppermost in voters' minds. He feels that the GOP will make little headway in November by going back to the conservative themes of 1979-80.

Garth notes that "economic worries among women pose a special problem for Republicans." As a result of the polls, Garth recommends that GOP candidates "lie the decline in interest rates to Reaganomics and emphasize that it is a harbinger of good times to come."

He adds that the polling data reveal that "tuition tax credits is an unexpectedly hot issue that takes away normally Democratic votes."

JEFFREY HART Begin's Coming Defeat

Even before the Beirut massacre, President Reagan set Israel's Prime Minister Begin up for an almost certain political defeat when the Begin government immediately and angrily rejected Reagan's Mideast peace proposals.

Begin is about to learn the Tip O'Neil lesson, that genial, relaxed Ronald Reagan is a very dangerous political opponent. Ask Pat Brown, Jesse Unruh, Jerry Ford, Jimmy Carter and, yes, Tip O'Neil.

What Reagan has now done to Begin is ease him between the jaws of a political vise, the screws of which will be gradually tightened. Not only is Reagan likely to get the Mideast settlement he has outlined, but Begin is likely to be driven from power in the process.

What Reagan has proposed is a Palestinian entity on the West Bank associated with Jordan. Secretary of State George Shultz followed up with the statement that any such Palestinian entity would be demilitarized.

Defense Minister Ariel Sharon sums up the Israeli objection: the fear that a Palestinian entity on the West Bank would turn into a Soviet base, with dire implications for the future of Israel.

What makes Reagan's move so timely, however, are the military results of Israel's thrust into Lebanon. The Israelis routed everything in sight. They drove the PLO forces and the Syrians ahead of their tanks like cattle, used advanced techniques to destroy Syrian missiles, and blew the Syrian MIG fighters out of the sky over Lebanon. Israel demonstrated beyond any shadow of a doubt that it is the premier military force in the region, and in no danger from any combination of Arab forces.

Contrary to Mr. Sharon's depiction of a potential threat to Israel from a Palestinian West Bank, no such threat could materialize. If rockets and artillery began to be installed on the West Bank at some future date, who can doubt that Israel has the capacity to simply eliminate them? After all, Israel knocked out the Iraqi atomic reactor with ease, and Iraq could do little about it. Israeli armor could sweep across the West Bank in an afternoon.

Nor are the Soviets likely to deploy their own forces on the West Bank. They much prefer to use surrogate forces. They are not about to risk a Soviet military humiliation by the Israelis on the West Bank.

The very success of the Israeli operation in Lebanon undercut the claim that Israel is potentially in danger from any settlement of the Palestinian problem.

President Reagan thus has powerful arguments on the substance of his proposed plan, as is indicated indeed by the favorable response from Western Europe, and the initially guarded but also positive response from Egypt, Jordan and other relatively moderate Arabs. Pravda, to be sure, denounced the plan—because the last thing the Soviets desire is a peaceful settlement of the Palestinian issue.

Begin really is a religious fundamentalist, basing his claims to the West Bank, which he calls Samaria, on the Old Testament. But inexorable forces are working to negate any such claim. Reagan holds all the winning cards on this proposal, and Mr. Begin faces the probability of being dealt out of the game.

Old RR Land Lease Favored

A Sanford businessman wants to lease a piece of city-owned property — an abandoned railroad right-of-way used by the city as an easement for its "Big Inch" sewer main — for a sand-blasting operation for his monument service.

And the Sanford City Commission is prepared to approve a three-year lease at $1,000 a year with an option for a second three-year period. But the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission holds the key to final approval.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles will ask the advisory board's concurrence on the plan at its meeting Thursday.

The properties involved are on a 50-foot-wide, 400-foot-deep parcel on the north side of 25th Street and on the south side of 25th Street near the city cemetery.

The entire city property is a 50-foot-wide strip which runs from Airport Boulevard north to 13th Street. When the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad abandoned the easement several years ago, city officials searched out the heirs of the original owners and purchased the property.

Knowles says the only problem is the zoning of the property — for apartments on the south side and for commercial on the north.

Knowles feels there wouldn't be a problem with the zoning on the parcel north of 25th Street but there might be on the tract south of 25th. Glenn McCall, a Sanford businessman and owner of Seminole Monument Co., would prefer the south side parcel, adjacent to his business.

McCall has agreed to place a mobile office and a mobile structure which would house the sandblasting operation over to the side of the property so that the enterprise would not interfere with the sewer line.

A change in zoning for the south side parcel might be necessary if the operation is to be placed there, Knowles said, noting this is the reason for seeking the advice of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The sandblasting operation is a necessary part of the monument service. — DONNA ESTES

Fourteen Seminole County children have entered kindergarten under the state's early admission program.

The children passed a test to gain early admittance and were among 226 who attempted to qualify for early admission.

Mary Groome, director of elementary education, said the number of students who qualified for the test surprised her. "I didn't expect quite so many," she said.

The children had to score in the top 20 percent on the test. Emotional and physical development were also taken into consideration with the test.

The deadline for entry into kindergarten is Oct. 1. Children who are five years old between Oct. 1 and Jan. 1 must take the test to gain admission.

Seminole County School Board members have come out in opposition to the testing. They have proposed a bill that would eliminate early admission.

Resurgent Patriots Take Beach Run

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

For the first few weeks of the '82 cross country season, the Lake Brantley girls squad experienced a little inconsistency and were hampered by the injury to one of its top runners, Ellen Stern.

But the resurgent Lady Patriots were in top form Saturday, proving for the second straight meet they are worthy of a fourth place ranking in the state preseason poll, running to victory in the Daytona Seabreeze Beach Run at Daytona Beach.

Lake Brantley placed three runners in the top 10 finishers en route to a winning team score of 82, easily outdistancing Titusville Astronaut who wound up second with 110.

Individually, Kathryn Hayward breezed to a personal best of 12:01 for third place. Carmen Gardner of Spruce Creek won the girls two-mile with a time of 11:13. Most times were significantly faster because the course was a straight section of the beach.

In seventh place was Brantley's Joanne Hayward (12:17) and Stern is returning to form with a ninth place finish and a time of 12:20. Lake Howell's Kerry Ryter was 10th at 12:25. Other Patriots' times were: Barbara Holmes (30th, 13:09), Laura Burnhill (33rd, 13:10), Beth Glasbrenner (junior varsity, 50th, 13:49) and Kim Pucetelli (53rd, 13:58).

The coaches all agreed that the times in the beach run would not count on the state or area top ten polls.

The Lyman girls posted a fifth place finish and were led by Schowanda Williams who finished 14th at 12:39. Other times for the Lady Greyhounds include Donna Kilbourne (26th, 12:56), Cindy Gaskell (29th, 13:08), Sarah Elmore (38th, 13:25) and Diane Steiner (40th, 13:26).

The Seminole girls team did not compete in the varsity team due to injuries to two runners and another runner was out of town for personal reasons.

Tribe coach Ted Tombros brought three runners to the beach run and placed them in the junior varsity race. Their times were: Lisa Grant (12th, 14:04), Lori Eckler (18th, 14:25) and Tammy Chaudoin (33rd, 15:48).

Times for the Lyman JV's were: Angela Dillello (3rd, 13:30), Melissa Cordek (4th, 13:36), Christine Giglicos (15th, 14:17), Shannon Tschedler (27th, 15:10), Lori Ford (28th, 15:16) and Robin Wilber (30th, 15:18).

In the boys three-mile run Lake Howell's Kenny Cheesman finished second to the state's fastest cross country runner, Brian Jaeger of Winter Park (14:42). Cheesman recorded a time of 15:19.

In the team scores, Titusville Astronaut came out on top with a 71, followed by Winter Park (97) and Lyman (125). Lake Howell was 10th (262) and Seminole finished 11th (315).

Lyman's top times were: Doug

Cross Country

McBroom (6th, 15:51), Brian Hunter (19th, 16:32) and Carl Schmalmaak (22nd, 16:44)

Seminole's top finisher was Michael Wooten (37th, 17:09.6) followed by Kent Troutman (53rd, 17:28.8), Chris Calloway (60th, 17:39.9), Scott Meek (67th, 17:55.7) and William Boyd (98th, 18:48.5).

"It was a little bit of a let down," Tombros said of his team's performance. "We didn't have any drastic improvement on what was a fast course. We're just going to work hard all this week to get ready for the Seminole County meet Friday."

In the Mount Dora Invitational Friday, the Lake Mary boys and girls teams put in strong performances, the girls finished third and the boys fourth in the team standings.

Individually, Kim Averill was fourth at 14:27, and for the boys Derek Tangeman was second at 17:09 and Mark Blythe was eighth at 18:26. Oviedo's Marty Phillips was fourth at 18:07. The Oviedo boys were seventh in the team standings.

TEMPORARY FROWN

Although the rain put a temporary frown on Mike Gibson's face, the outcome of the Lake Mary-Wymore Tech football game had him smiling later in the evening. The Rams hampered Wymore, 27-0, for their first varsity victory in the history of the second-year old school. Gibson is cross country coach at Lake Mary. He had a pretty successful Friday too as the Rams' runners placed third in the Mt. Dora Invitational.

LSU Spoils Gator Beginning

College Football

A glorious beginning has been dulled by defeat for the Florida Gators and hopes of a first Southeastern Conference for the team are now as dim as ever.

Conference foe Louisiana State dealt Florida a devastating 24-13 defeat Saturday after the Gators opened with three wins in a row and had risen to a No. 5 national ranking.

"This is quite a blow," said offensive tackle Dan Fike. "I've disgraced myself. I feel like I owe an apology to my family and all Gator fans."

It wasn't nearly as gloomy for the state's other major college teams as Florida State (3-1) downed Ohio State, 34-17, and the Miami Hurricanes waltzed past Louisville, 28-6. Florida A&M (3-1) was an easy winner over Howard, 62-3, Bethune-Cookman downed Delaware State, 27-24, and Central Florida lost its fourth, 13-7, to Valdosta State.

Next week, Florida State is home to Southern Illinois, Miami (4-1) is at Notre Dame, FAMU is at Jackson State and Bethune-Cookman (4-1) and Central Florida hook up at the Tangerine Bowl. Florida is at Vanderbilt for its first road game of the year and Coach Charley Pell hopes he doesn't see a repeat of the Gator's performance at LSU.

"I'm not psychic enough to tell what is happening in everyone's minds, but after I saw six or seven missed tackles on one football play and only five first downs in the first half, it kind of seeped in," Pell said.

Fike said Pell let the team know how he felt at halftime. "He was screaming and saying, 'Gators don't lie down on the ground,'" Fike said. "He told us we were lazy and that's the way we looked."

One of the stars of Florida State's wide-open offensive show at Ohio State was receiver Tony Johnson. He caught nine passes for 166 yards, but he was sharing the credit.

"If I had to give a most valuable player award, I would give it to the offensive line," Johnson said. "We're tough to beat when the line's going good."

Miami coach Howard Schnellenberger said he was delighted to get the win in his hometown.

"We came to Louisville to get our 300th victory (in Hurricane football history), and the players went out and got it," Schnellenberger said. "I was pleased with a lot of things offensively, particularly in the second half. The defense turned in another exceptionally fine game."

FSU Stuns Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Unless Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce finds a productive quarterback soon, it may be a long season for the Buckeyes.

Brent Offenbecher emerged from Saturday's 34-17 loss to Florida State as the No. 1 signal caller, but the junior from Massillon, Ohio, got the job more by default than anything else.

Offenbecher replaced sophomore Mike Tomczak midway through the second quarter with Ohio State trailing 21-10. He led the Buckeyes to a touchdown which cut the deficit to 21-17, but was unable to do much thereafter.

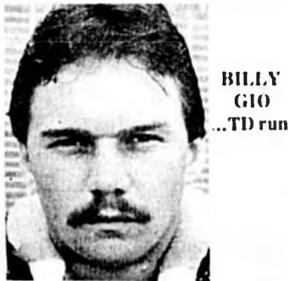

Offenbecher finished the game hitting 11 of 24 pass attempts for 204 yards and a 31-yard touchdown pass to tailback Tim Spencer. But, three of his passes were intercepted.

Tomczak also had one picked off before he departed, giving Ohio State a total of four for the second straight week — both losses.

"I think there's going to have to be a total re-evaluation of the quarterback situation," Bruce said following the loss. "We've got to get a lot of consistency established at that position."

"I thought Brent Offenbecher played well at times," added Bruce, who confirmed Offenbecher is now his No. 1 quarterback. "I think there are some things he has to think about. Of course Mike Tomczak will have to do that too." Bruce said junior Tim Stephens and Jim Karsatos, a freshman who was out all last year after knee surgery, also are in the quarterback picture.

Ohio State led twice in the game against Florida State, 7-0 and 10-7, the Buckeye touchdown coming after a FSU fumble on its 12.

Giovanetti Touchdown Run Can't Save UCF

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

VALDOSTA — Billy Giovanetti hasn't changed. And neither has the University of Central Florida offense.

Giovanetti picked off a pass and returned it 20 yards for a touchdown Saturday, but the impotent UCF offense continued to stall as the Knights dropped a 13-7 decision to Valdosta State before 10,000 fans.

"I don't know what the problem is," said coach Sam Weir. "There is a lot of pressure on them (the offense), maybe they're trying too hard."

The Knights struggled to 214 yards. Weir tried quarterbacks Dana Thyhsen and Raymond Agee, but the pair could only complete 13 of 24 passing for 155 yards. The running game, as usual, was nonexistent.

Along with Giovanetti's touchdown dash, the ex-Lyman High linebacker also collected 15 tackles. The interception — his seventh of his career — set a UCF record. It was set up by defensive tackle Mike Sommerfield who hit quarterback James Owens as he was releasing the ball. Sommerfield had a big day with three sacks.

Giovanetti's TD and Scott "Remember Me?" Ryerson's extra point boot gave the Knights a 7-0 lead, but Valdosta rebounded with a field goal by Brad Bauer and a three-yard touchdown run by Curt Garrett for a 10-7 halftime lead.

In the second half quarterback Owens engineered a drive which resulted in a 32-yard field goal by Bauer to wrap up the game in the fourth quarter.

Grant's Sizzling .857 Average Leads Sanford Men's Softball Batting Race

This week the Evening Herald begins Sanford Men's Softball League standings and leaders.

Two teams, Cook's Corner and Cardinal Industries, are undefeated after three weeks of play and both teams' players dominate the hitting leaders. Cardinal, which leads the league with a 7-0 record, is led by its powerful duo of Billy Griffith and Randy Brown. Both have slugged four round-trippers while Griffith leads the league with 13 RBI and Brown is second with 10.

Kip Grant, also of Cardinal, leads the league with a hefty .857 average and in hits with 18. Grant's 16 runs also leads the league. Behind Grant in the hitting category is Cook's Terrell Ervin who is hitting at a .785 clip.

Morgan's Blast Brings Atlanta Home First

By United Press International
It wasn't as dramatic as Bobby Thomson's home run in 1951, but Joe Morgan struck a blow for the Giants Sunday that hurt the Dodgers every bit as much as the "shot heard 'round the world" that was hit exactly 31 years ago. This one wasn't heard around the world but reverberated from San Francisco to Atlanta, Ga.

Morgan belted a three-run homer in the seventh inning that carried the San Francisco Giants to a 5-3 triumph over Los Angeles and eliminated the Dodgers from the National League West pennant race. Morgan's homer was reminiscent of the three-run homer that Thomson hit in the ninth inning of the deciding playoff game on Oct. 3, 1951, that gave the Giants the NL pennant over the Dodgers.

The Dodgers' loss Sunday gave the Atlanta Braves their first NL West title since the league went to two divisional play in 1969.

Atlanta was beaten, 5-1, by San Diego Sunday and all the Dodgers needed was a victory over San Francisco to force the NL West Division race into a one-game playoff today. But Morgan wouldn't let that happen. The 39-year-old second baseman drilled a 1-2 pitch from reliever Terry Forster over the right field fence with two on and two out in the seventh to ruin the Dodgers' hopes.

After the Dodgers blew a bases-loaded, none out situation in the top of the seventh, the Giants came back against relievers Tom Niedenfuer and Forster in their half of the inning.

Held to only two hits by Fernando Valenzuela over the first six innings, the Giants began their half of the seventh when Bob Brenly singled and Champ Summers followed with a pinch hit single. Niedenfuer struck out reliever Greg Minton and was replaced by Forster, who struck out pinch hitter Jim Wohlford before serving up Morgan's game-winning homer.

National League

Phillies 4, Mets 1
At Philadelphia, Mike Schmidt hit his 35th home run and Steve Carlton allowed just four hits to pick up his 23rd victory of the season in leading the Phillies to victory. Carlton, making his third start of the week, struck out 13 and finished with 286 for the season to lead the league. Carlton also topped the league in complete games (19), innings pitched (295.2) and shutouts (6). Ron Gardenhire homered for New York.

Expos 6, Pirates 1
At Pittsburgh, Tim Wallach smashed a three-run homer and Steve Rogers tossed a five-hitter to help the Expos nail down third place in the NL East. At the conclusion of the game, the Expos announced that Jim Fanning would not return as manager next season but would return to his old job in the front office as vice president for player development and scouting. Expos' first baseman Al Oliver went 2-for-3 to clinch his first NL batting title with a .331 batting average and Rogers, 19-8, won the ERA title with a 2.40 mark.

Astros 3, Reds 0
At Houston, Joe Niekro tossed a three-hitter and Dickie Thon scored twice in leading the Astros to victory. Niekro finished 17-12 and, with his fifth shutout of the season, lowered his ERA to 2.47, second in the NL.

Cardinals 5, Cubs 4
At Chicago, Julio Gonzalez led off the 14th inning with his first homer of the year, lifting the Cardinals to victory. Gonzalez, who had four hits, belted a 1-1 pitch off loser Ken Kravec, 1-1, into the left-field bleachers to end a four-game St. Louis losing streak.

Sutton, Yount Halt Brewer Collapse, Thrash Orioles

By United Press International
Like the famous thief with an identical last name, Don Sutton made sure to grab all the goods Sunday.

"On center stage, in the main arena, with it all on the line — if you couldn't relax and enjoy this, you couldn't enjoy anything," Sutton said after pitching the Milwaukee Brewers to the American League East title with a 10-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

"After watching the Brewers from afar, I thought they would win and when I got close to them I knew they would win."

But Sutton might've had his doubts as late as Sunday morning, knowing his team had blown three games in a row to the Orioles and were on the verge of one of the greatest collapses in baseball history.

Robin Yount, who had two home runs, a triple and four runs scored Sunday, felt his teammates could come back and prevail.

"We never did panic," said Yount. "We knew going in we had to win one game. Today was now or never. We knew if we didn't win this time ... just leave."

American League

"It would have been nice to win the first game of this series to wrap it up, but going down to the final game of the season with everything riding on it makes it a lot sweeter."

Cecil Cooper added a solo homer and Ted Simmons a two-run blast as the Brewers sent Baltimore manager Earl Weaver to an early retirement. The Eastern Division champions meet California beginning Tuesday night for the AL pennant.

Sutton, acquired from Houston late in the season, scattered eight hits over eight innings in raising his record to 4-1 with Milwaukee.

The Brewers, who had played poor defense in losing the first three games of the series, turned in a sparkling defensive game Sunday. Center fielder Gorman Thomas made two fine catches, right-fielder Charlie Moore threw out a runner at the plate and left fielder Oglivie made a sliding catch to end an eighth-inning rally.

Loser Jim Palmer, 15-5, allowed only four hits but three were home runs.

A's 6, Royals 3
At Kansas City, Mo., Dave McKay and Joe Rudi each hit a two-run homer to carry the A's over the Royals. Brian Kingman, the third of four Oakland pitchers, picked up the victory with three innings of three-hit relief.

Red Sox 5, Yankees 3
At New York, Rick Miller's two-out single in the 11th knocked in the tie-breaking run and helped the Red Sox defeat the Yankees. Mike Brown, 1-0, worked the final four innings for Boston for his first major league victory.

Tigers 9, Indians 1
At Cleveland, Alan Trammell drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single and John Wockenuss belted a two-run pinch homer to power the Tigers. Singles by Rick Leach and Mike Laga, a double steal and a run-scoring infield out by Tom Brookens set up Trammell's ninth home run of the season in the fourth inning to give the Tigers a 3-0 lead off starter and loser Rick Sutcliffe, 14-8.

White Sox 6, Twins 1
At Minneapolis, Tom Paciorek and Harold Baines hit solo home runs and Marc Hill drove in three runs with a single and a squeeze bunt to lead the White Sox. Winner LaMarr Hoyt, 19-15, pitched a seven-hitter en route to his 14th complete game.

Blue Jays 5, Mariners 2
At Toronto, Willie Upshaw's two-run triple in the eighth lifted the Blue Jays to a sweep of their three-game series. Jim Clancy, 16-14, allowed five hits, struck out seven and walked one in notching his 11th complete game.

Angels 7, Rangers 6
At Anaheim, Calif., rookie Gary Pettis slammed a home run for his first major league hit with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning to carry the Angels over the Rangers. In his fifth major league at-bat, Pettis, 24, hit a Danny Darwin pitch over the left-center field fence to salvage a victory in a game in which the Angels blew a 5-0 lead.

Kinley Claims Street Stock Crown

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Defeating a record 48-car field, which included cars coming all the way from the northeastern states, Forest City Fire Dept. Battalion Chief Bill Kinley won the Fourth Annual Florida State Street Stock Championship on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway. Kinley also took the title in 1980, thus becoming the only one to have won the state crown twice.

Back from a summer in Canada working as a trouble-shooter on electronic carnival games for his car owner, Jack "Punky" Cook turned fast time and led every tour to win the 50-lap late-model feature. He was at the wheel of the Bob's Space Racers Camaro with power by Prototype.

The 30-lap thunder car feature ended with the lead pair hooking bumpers as they crossed the finish line. Don L. Burkhalter Jr., edged Jerry Fitch for the win, with both cars violently crashing against the inside rail just as they took the checker. Burkhalter then balled out, punched Fitch who was still sitting in his car and all hell broke loose among crews and wrecker drivers. Suspensions are pending.

Successful race car and racing engine builder Bob Clark drove his immaculate "One Trick Pony" Pinto to victory.

Fans Show Appreciation For Departing Weaver

BALTIMORE (UPI) — You know Earl Weaver, he'll never concede, never give in, no matter what.

Tears welled up in his eyes more than once Sunday but he was always able to hold them back. Publicly, anyway.

He had blown kisses to the capacity crowd of 51,642, which had called him out of the dugout not merely once but twice, for standing ovations, showing them all he loved them every bit as much as they did him even though the less than sentimental Milwaukee Brewers had killed off any thoughts of another pennant for the Baltimore Orioles with their division-clinching 10-2 lopsided.

And now it was all over for Earl Weaver. He had managed his last game for the Orioles, whom he had guided to six previous Eastern Division titles, four pennants and one world championship in his 14½ years as their manager. He was officially retiring now to become a consultant with the club.

"I hope I'm a better consultant than a manager," he said in a piece of self-deprecation. "I don't think there is a luckier person on the face of the earth," he went on, holding a cigarette in his right hand and a can of beer in his left.

One man in Memorial Stadium might have

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

The left-handed reliever seemed a bit shocked.

"You can have the whole bottle if you want," he said, handing it to his boss.

"All I want is just a little," said Selig, his blue shirt soaked from where some of his celebrating division winners had squirted the grape over him.

The Brewers' press had just come from answering the phone.

Edward Bennett Williams, the Orioles' owner, had been on the other end. Bennett Williams, one of the nation's most consistent winners in the courtroom, was a good loser in the ballpark. He had gotten his hopes up seeing his Orioles blow out the Brewers in three straight contests to move into a tie for first place with them only to watch his team crushed in the division clincher.

"I know we put you through the tortures of hell this weekend, but you have a great ballclub and they put on a tremendous performance," Williams said to Selig.

The two men talked a few moments and Selig thanked Williams for his congratulatory call.

"What pleased me most of all was that we ended the season the way we played it most of the year," Selig said to a newsman, referring to the longball artillery the Brewers threw at their rivals all season long.

It was Selig who was one of the guiding forces in bringing major-league baseball back to Milwaukee after the Braves left that city for Atlanta after the 1963 season. When many others felt that big league baseball no longer was practical in Milwaukee, Selig refused to give up his dream of bringing the game back and he finally succeeded in 1970 when he moved the Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee.

"When I think back to what it was like trying to get a team back to Milwaukee," Selig said, "and when I think back to those people who helped me so much and meant so much to me, people who no longer are alive like Frank Lane, like my father ..."

Selig suddenly started to sob. He brushed his hand over his eyes and looked at his celebrating players in the main part of the clubhouse.

"All these kids are so happy," he said, "and I'm so happy for them. But we still have a long way to go. We still have the Angels in front of us."

VFW Post Opens New Building

Oct. 3 was an exciting day for the VFW Post 5405. After all these months of anticipating the opening of their new building, the ribbon cutting ceremony, at last, took place on Sunday afternoon. The Department Honor Guards raised the colors for the occasion.

The Post hustled with a flurry of activity as the members served hors d'oeuvres to the many well wishers who attended the ceremony.

Now that the new building is opened the Post has many activities coming up. The first will be a chicken barbecue to be held on Oct. 16, from 5-8 p.m. It will be open to the public, and the cost will be $3.50 per person.

Speaking of the Post, Jerry Ann Hoffman, president of the Post Auxiliary, celebrated her birthday on Sept. 29.

Vikki Dorrell, last year's PTO president at Winter Springs Elementary, is home recuperating from surgery. Vikki says she's feeling pretty good now and hopes to be back to work in a week or so.

Looking for a bargain and at the same time wanting to entertain the kids? Oct. 8 is the date set for the showing of the movie "Cinderella," at 6:30 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. at Red Bug Elementary. Here's the bargain. The cost is $1.50 and this includes the popcorn and drinks.

There will be a Local School Advisory Meeting Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the media center of Sterling Park Elementary.

My husband, Larry, and I have company from Ohio for a few days. Larry's sister, Dorinda, and her husband, Dan, will visit with us a few days and then go on down to Cape Coral to visit Dorinda's parents. This gives us a chance each year to celebrate our wedding anniversaries.

Larry and I celebrated our 22nd wedding anniversary on Oct. 2 while Dan and Dorinda will celebrate their 19th anniversary on Oct. 12.

By the way, Moms, all the schools asked me to remind you that there is no school on Oct. 15. Keep smiling.

Members of the Tuskawilla Pioneer Club are staying busy again this year. On Oct. 12 they will take a field trip to Apopka where they will take a guided tour of Nelson Florida Roses and Hermann Englemann Greenhouses Inc.

Those planning to attend and wish to car pool should meet on the northwest corner of the Country Club parking lot at 9 a.m.

A luncheon invitation is extended to those members who wish to lunch at Arrow Estates Country Club after the tour. No reservations are required.

The Tuskawilla Homeowners Association will meet Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. at the Tennis Villas Club House.

This will be a chance to meet the candidates for the 34th district, who are Troy Piland and Carl Selph, along with all the Winter Springs candidates running for the City Commission and for Mayor.

Carol Naipavel, leader of Brownie Troop 569, and her co-leader, Renee Porter, tells us they recently took their troop of 15 girls to Show Biz Pizza, where they were treated to pizza and drinks by the establishment. They all had a great time.

On Oct. 20 they are planning a field trip to Longwood to tour the historical sights, such as the library, hotel and Christmas House.

Man Desperate To Carry On Family Name

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man, age 31. My wife, now 30, is totally disabled due to two heart attacks. Since age 25, she has been very sickly and cannot have children. Our sex life has been reduced to never. I am not complaining, Abby. I don't ask anything of her that she cannot do. But Abby, I am the only grandson on my father's side of the family, and it is up to me to carry on the family name.

Under mutual agreement with my wife, I am looking for a permanent wife-mother and partner to be a member of this family — to have my kids for me. I don't mean anything kinky or weird, Abby. I mean I want a mother for my kids who will live in our home.

Where can I find a woman who would be interested in this kind of arrangement? What are the legal ramifications of me doing something like this? Kids mean so much to me, and I want some of my own before I get much older.

G. IN SOUTH CAROLINA
DEAR G.: You could investigate the possibility of having a surrogate mother artificially impregnated with your sperm to bear your child (or children), but you cannot take a woman into your home to be a "wife-mother-partner" and raise your kids, assuming you could find one who is willing. A man is legally entitled to only one wife at a time, and you already have your quota.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend was a virgin when I met him. I wasn't, and now he's trying to make me feel guilty. We are both the same age (20), but I am much more mature than he is.

He keeps asking me questions about the guys I've been with before him. He wants to know who, how many, how many times and all the details. If I don't tell him, he gets mad and calls me names. There really weren't all that many (only six), but according to him I was practically a prostitute.

He knows I love him. I really do, and it shouldn't matter to him how many guys I had because I didn't know him at the time.

Now he tells me he wants to even the score before he marries me. Should I stay engaged to him or tell him to buzz off?

THIRD DEGREE IN LAUDERDALE
DEAR THIRD: Tell him to buzz off. He has a lot of growing up to do.

DEAR ABBY: "Confused in Pasadena" asked, "What is the correct name for the heaviest meal of the day if it is served at noon? And what would you call the lightest meal of the day if it is served at night?"

You replied: "Dinner" is the principal meal of the day. 'Lunch' is a light meal — usually eaten at noon. And 'supper' is the evening meal when dinner is taken at noon. "If I'm in error, I'll eat my Webster's dictionary for 'supper,' because I've already had 'dinner.'"

Abby, where I grew up, we ate dinner at noon, supper at night, and lunch was what we carried to school or work in tin boxes.

SUPPER LOVER IN OMAHA
DEAR ABBY: People who like to put on the dog always say "dinner" instead of "supper." A young woman who worked in the same office with me called her mother and said, "Ma, I won't be home for supper tonight — I'm invited out for dinner."

FREDA IN QUEENS
If you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

GOT A JOB TO GIVE?

A concerted effort to open more job opportunities for local handicapped workers has begun in conjunction with Sanford Mayor Lee Moore's (left) proclamation of Oct. 3-9 as Employ the Handicapped Week. "Handicapped workers are an important asset that local business and industry cannot afford to overlook," according to Jay Breeze (right), employment counselor with the Sanford branch of the state Employment Service office. Breeze says handicapped workers, properly trained, either meet or exceed all job performance standards. "There is no evidence that training costs or workers compensation premiums increased when handicapped applicants were hired," he said.

A DOG'S LIFE

More than 13 million dogs are left homeless each year. Come to the rescue of man's best friend during October, National Adopt A Dog Month, by visiting the Seminole County Humane Society, Darby, a friendly shepherd mix invites you to visit the shelter at 2001 E. 25th St., Sanford, Monday through Saturday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

NRC Report Warns Nuclear Reactor Walls Weakening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new report by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's staff warns that the reactor walls of some nuclear power plants are becoming brittle and will need "modifications" to protect against a major accident.

The draft report recommends against making immediate changes at any reactors, but urges the commission to set up a detailed system for examining each plant where there may be potential for a rupture in the wall that holds the atomic core.

"The staff concludes that some plants will require hardware and (operating) modifications in the near future," the NRC study declares.

Thermal shock occurs when emergency cooling water is injected to the reactor core, causing a sharp drop in temperature and increase in pressure inside the reactor vessel.

While a reactor is operating, its core walls can reach 550 degrees Fahrenheit. But emergency cooling water — 40 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit — can cause a thermal "shock" to the metal.

The measure of the steel reactor vessel's ability to handle thermal shock is its "reference temperature" — the point at which the metal wall loses its ability to change temperature and withstand pressure.

But each year, as the reactor walls are bombarded by radiation from the core, their reference temperatures rise and they become more susceptible to cracking. The NRC has found the problem arises only in pressurized water reactors. There are more than 40 such nuclear plants in the United States.

A separate study done by the NRC on thermal shock by the Oak Ridge National Laboratory — and released Sunday by Markey — found there were 24 "significant" thermal shock incidents at nuclear plants from 1963 to mid-1981 that had the potential to cause the cracking of a reactor wall. No such cracking occurred, however.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, October 5, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY October 5, 1982
You're likely to be luckier this coming year from enterprises or ventures which you originate than you will from trying to make something from things which others start. Be original.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Treat others kindly today, but keep your generosity within reasonable bounds. There is a chance you might give away something which you may later wish you hadn't. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Important decisions should not be based upon wishful thinking today. Study the negative aspects which could occur if things go wrong.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's important to associate with productive people today if you hope to achieve something worthwhile. Lazy companions may tempt you to imitate their behavior.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 10) Sometimes it's who you know and not what you know that gets you to the top. However, to be an achiever today you must depend on your own merits.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you may find yourself with persons you feel impelled to impress. However, affections may effect exactly the opposite of what you hope to achieve.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're pretty good at grasping the essence of ideas today, but surface knowledge might not be enough to get you by. Take pains to gather all the facts.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep an eye on close associates today. There's a chance their carelessness could end up costing you.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's bad enough to neglect your responsibilities today, but don't compound matters by failing to do things which could adversely affect others.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You could suffer setbacks today if you are depending upon others to attend to things which you should take care of personally. Be self-reliant.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Subdue tendencies today which could lead to overindulgence. Also, be careful that your desire for easy outs doesn't take precedence over good judgment.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Objectives you set for yourself today may not be as easily attained as you first anticipate. Progress has its own price tag.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be hopeful regarding your material affairs today, but don't foolishly optimistic. Unrealistic evaluations could cause you problems.

Lose Extra Weight To Ease Back Pain

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your column prompted me to write about my back problems which I had several years. I went to many different doctors, chiropractors, osteopaths, orthopedic surgeons and regular medical doctors. All told me there was nothing wrong with my back. But something was wrong, because I certainly was in a lot of pain.
Then I joined an exercise spa and within two weeks the pain was gone. Completely. My membership ran out and soon I was back to just golfing. A few months ago I began suffering with back pain again. It was worse than before and it took me several hours after arising in the morning just to be able to walk upright.
An orthopedic surgeon examined me thoroughly and told me a lot of my problem was allowing myself to become about 40 pounds overweight. The extra weight was straining my lower back. It was certainly a relief to know nothing else was wrong and that no surgery was needed.
The doctor put me on exercises to strengthen my abdominal muscles and gave me a lumbar corset. The corset is only to help hold my abdomen in until I can get my muscles strengthened again.
I know exercise works because when I don't do it, the pain gets worse. As long as I keep exercising, the pain is either bearable or goes away. But you have to make up your mind to do it.

your organs and splint the spine, relieving stress. Exercises to strengthen the spine muscles, too, are important.
Good luck on your program and weight loss. I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-10, Backache and What to Do About It, which includes the proper exercise program. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
DEAR DR. LAMB — The question of how much water one should drink came up at a friend's house. I said at least 10 glasses. One person said, "I drink five glasses of water and five cups of coffee. Since that is all liquid it is the same." I said it was not the same as coffee had caffeine in it. Another person, who always thinks she is right, said it was the same as long as it was liquid no matter what it was. Which of us is right?
DEAR READER — The water that is in milk, coffee, tea, fruit juices and other beverages is water and has the same effect on your water balance as plain water. That is even true of the water in soup. The caffeine in some beverages is a separate problem and can be a bad habit.
The best rule is not whether you drink eight or 10 glasses of liquid a day but how much urine is eliminated by your kidneys. In a normal person, not taking medicines, the kidney conserves water if the body needs it and eliminates it if not. In hot weather you may need to drink more. A normal person getting enough liquids should eliminate about a quart of urine a day.

doesn't always find some of the normal results. Thus, they say in discussing hand No. 4, "The only question is can South reach the spade game? Everybody will make 11 tricks."
Oswald: "The bidding in the box shows what must have happened at many tables. South would get to four spades and West would open a heart. South would go right up with dummy's ace and lead a spade. East would probably take the second spade and might just be foolish enough to lead a second heart. Whereupon South would reel off 12 tricks instead of just 11."
Alan: "I watched a swindler do even better. He sat North and responded two clubs to his partner's spade opening. South rebid three spades and our swindler went to three no-trump. East opened the three of hearts. North could now take nine tricks, but he wanted a lot more. He rose with dummy's king of hearts and led spades. East got in with the ace and made the mistake of leading a second heart. This allowed North to take the rest of the tricks and get plus-690 instead of the maximum of 680 at spades."
