SHOES, FOOD AND LEARNING AFFECTED BY STRIKES

Nationwide "sit down" strikes are affecting what we wear, what we eat, and our education—after tying up transportation by ship, car, and air and threatening railroads. Top left: Pickets wear out their shoes marching in front of a shoe factory in Lynn, Mass., in an effort to unionize the shop. Lower left: Bakers on "sit-down" strike in a Los Angeles pie factory go hungry because they "won't touch a non-union pie." Right: Although not sitting in the mud, these children with business strike a "sit-down" strike before the Frederick, Md., courthouse in protest against waiting hours for a school bus bogged down in muddy roads. PRETTY PEGGY AND HUSBAND ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY

A rebound from her $200,000 heart balm suit against William Dave Robinson, which she finally withdrew, sent Peggy Garcia and her husband, Michael La Rocca, into the jaws of the law on charges of bigamy. A woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Kathleen La Rocca, claimed she and Peggy were married to La Rocca at the same time. When Detective Bill Hyde went to Peggy's home to arrest her, he found her in the midst of getting a shampoo. And so he waited, patiently and smilingly, until she finished. At the right, Peggy and La Rocca (not seen) are shown being booked at the police station in Astoria, Long Island. (Associated Press Photos)

REACH AGREEMENT

Mutual agreement ended the strange sit-down strike marathon involving Walter L. Fry, president of Fry Products, Inc., in Detroit, and 110 of his employees. When the workers sat down in the factory, Fry did likewise in his office and sent the sit-downers this warning: "If you won't work, then I won't go out and get orders to provide you with work." But a mediator finally brought them to terms and Fry (right), in high good humor, invited Ray Korock, union representative, into his office for breakfast. (Associated Press Photo)

GEISHA GIRLS SIT-DOWN

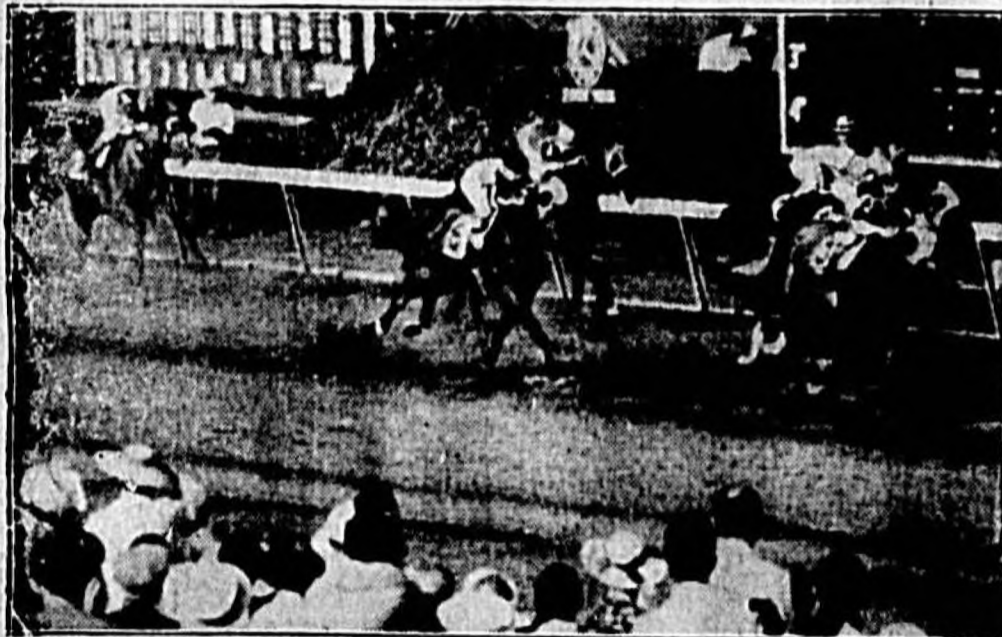

The American fad for sit-down strikes has spread to far-away Japan where Geisha girls sat in a Buddhist temple near Osaka and voiced the ultimatum that they wouldn't leave their perches until their guild is recognized as their bargaining agency for better treatment from tired business men. Nazi Protest Blasts Mayor Of New York

German Nation Reference To Reichsfuhrer Made By LaGuardia

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—(AP)—The German Embassy protested today against a speech made in New York yesterday by Mayor F. H. La Guardia in which he was quoted as referring to Adolf Hitler.

Dr. Hans Thompson, counselor of the embassy, filed the protest. German sources said the mayor's speech was regarded as an insult to the German nation.

La Guardia was quoted as having suggested at a luncheon of the Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress that the 1937 New York World Fair should have a "chamber of horrors" in which a European political figure be described as "that brown-shirted fanatic" would be the chief exhibit.

The embassy attaché was supposed to have suggested the matter would be brought immediately to the attention of Secretary Hall.

Unemployment Table

Pointing out that almost everyone has his own unemployment statistics and that one set of figures is apt to be as reliable, or as unreliable, as another, the Bradenton Herald nevertheless reprints some reports recently made public by the Alexander Hamilton Institute which shows considerable progress made toward reducing the ranks of the jobless since the depths of the depression.

According to these tables, in December the number of unemployed in the United States dropped below 10,000,000 for the first time since the recovery movement started. In March, 1933, there were in the United States 16,640,000 people who wanted work and couldn't get it. At the end of December, last year, this number had dwindled to 9,412,000—a drop of more than 7,000,000 from the peak, and a drop of nearly 2,000,000 since December, 1936.

"But these figures begin to get really instructive when you turn them around and study, not the number of people who are without jobs, but the number of people who are actually at work," the Bradenton paper continues. "Thus we find that, in March, 1933, there were 28,998,000 people actually employed in this country. By December, 1936, that number had risen to 37,317,000.

"So, doing a little arithmetic, it develops that there were 8,582,000 more people at work at the end of 1936 than at the low point of the depression in 1933; and yet the number of unemployed decreased by only 7,227,000 in that time. The answer, of course, is that the population has not been static. The number of workers in this country is not constant; it is steadily increasing. To go back to 1929, as we all have been hoping we would do, would not solve our unemployment problem. To attain the 1929 level of prosperity, we have got to be more prosperous than we were in 1929.

"All of which is something like the Alice in Wonderland situation in which it was necessary to run at top speed to keep from going backward. Carry the figures a little farther and this paradox becomes clearer. In September, 1929, America contained slightly fewer than 45,500,000 employed people. Today it has slightly fewer than 42,000,000—within 3,500,000 of the all-time high mark. "But even in 1929 there were 2,900,000 people without jobs; and since 1929 the increase in population has added 2,781,000 people to the supply of workers. That is why we still have such a pressing unemployment and relief problem, even though we are within shooting distance of the most prosperous level in our history.

"These figures are worth going into at this length because they show clearly how vital it is that we surpass the best we have ever done before. Improvement must be continuous. We cannot be satisfied with what satisfied us a few years ago."

Flood Mortality

The increase in death rates in the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, anticipated as an aftermath of the floods which devastated these regions early this year, is expected to materialize, according to statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Their investigations are reported to indicate that mortality in those sections remained fairly normal during the first five weeks of 1937, and thus played no part in raising the rather unenviable health experience of the country at large.

"Replies to inquiries sent to health officials whose cities have borne the brunt of the January and early February floods," according to insurance reports, "state either that there has been a very small increase in deaths or that the death rate has been actually lower this year than during the like weeks of 1936. In the light of these facts, it would seem that in the stress of the disaster the magnitude of the death toll has clearly been over-estimated. All the evidence collected to date indicates, indeed, that the relatively unfavorable mortality record of early 1937 is chargeable, chiefly, to mortality increases in parts of the country which the 1937 floods have not touched.

Citing examples of mortality increases in some of the non-flood areas, the report further says: "There were nearly twice as many deaths in the Denver area, during the first five weeks of 1937, as in the same period of 1936. In the Pacific Coast states increases of 25 to 47 percent were registered in Los Angeles, Long Beach, Oakland, Portland, San Francisco, San Diego and Spokane. Minneapolis showed a rise of 25 percent and St. Paul one of 44 percent.

"Appreciable increases also were observed in Baltimore, Buffalo, Cleveland, Dayton, Des Moines, Detroit (25 percent), El Paso (34 percent), Jersey City, Knoxville (41 percent), Milwaukee (28 percent), New York, Omaha (37 percent), Philadelphia, St. Louis (35 percent), Syracuse (27 percent), Washington and Yonkers (32 percent).

"In other words, while the larger cities of the flood area of New England and those in the South Atlantic and South Central states show early 1937 mortality records that are, in general, as good as or even better than those of last year, the urban death rate appears to have increased materially in the rest of the country. There is, of course, the possibility that when mortality data for the smaller cities, and for the rural districts of the flood areas become available, the comparison with last year's mortality record may not be so favorable."

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

You know kids are funny. They're just like grown-ups. Now take the boys in our neighborhood. They're good boys, all of 'em—Fred and Jim and Bob and Will and the others. They get along fine most of the time and are regular pals, but just when things seem to be going along smooth and peaceful, an argument will start and before you know it they'll be exclaiming each other names, throwin' rocks and somebody goes to the hospital.

Now take last week for instance. I was sittin' on the porch readin' the paper and the boys were playin' as usual. I didn't pay any particular attention to 'em. They seemed to be havin' a good time and everythin' appeared to be all right.

"That's the best thing I know they've brought regular battle royal. You never heard such carryin' on. Well, I went over to see what the trouble was and got there just as Jim was hittin' his pal with a rock."

"What's goin' on here?" I says. "Can't you kids play together without fightin'?" You ought to be ashamed of yourself!

"Well, I don't care," Fred said. "It's my yard and my party and I guess I can say what we're gonna do, can't I? And Jim goes and gets smart and it made me sore."

"Aw, I didn't nekket get smart," Jim said. "We was gettin' along all right and then Fred has to drag in a boy that I don't like and besides he started jumpin' on little Preston and pushin' him around and I just wasn't gonna stand for it."

"Then Will spoke up and said, 'Well, Fred didn't start pushin' him until he found out about them cigarettes.'"

"Cigarettes!" I says, horrified. "Do you kids mean to tell me you are smokin' cigarettes?"

They Bob tried to smooch things over. It seems he'd stayed out of the fight himself. He says, "Now, they don't smoke 'em. They were just playin' with 'em. I didn't see 'em but Fred said Preston had some and we tryin' to make him tell where he got 'em."

Fred broke in again and said: "That's all so. I wasn't tryin' to leg the placed the body there after dark Monday. She was dead then, he said, from chloroform administered as he prepared to perform abortion in his car six miles outside the city. (Pictures on page 6.)

Security Lumber Yard Threatened By Serious Fire

Earlier in the day, the Fire Department responded to an alarm at the Chase and Company warehouse where a lighted cigarette had caused a fire to spring up.

It is sometimes said that there will be no war in Europe because some of the nations can afford to fight. But if they can find the money for these huge armament expenditures, they will continue to find it somehow after the hostilities begin. Wars are not fought with money. They are fought with men and bullets. The men can be drilled, and the bullets can be manufactured.

The New Deal won another victory in the Supreme Court on Monday when a decision was handed down holding that the government has the right to break contracts calling for the payment of gold in full if it wants to. The New Deal has faced rather well with the Court, better in some instances, it would seem, than it should. There was a time when a contract was a contract, and a man's word was as good as his bond.

It seems that some people have always got to have someone to blame for their troubles. Remember, for a while it was the Hoover administration that was responsible for everything that has gone wrong. Then the banks were to blame for their fall share of the crashing. Later the railroads were the big boys man causing the downfall of humanity. At times the utilities were to blame. Now apparently it is the Supreme Court. But if the Supreme Court were entirely abolished, we doubt if it would do any more with the masses, whooping and screaming, than it has done with the few of us.

Pastel shades of Spring flowers were used to decorate the rooms of the club and as a centerpiece for the president's table. Mrs. C. R. Dawson, first vice-president of the club, announced that the club had raised $70.83 from the Founder's Day Dinner and the Garden Club Dinner.

British Army Will Spend Half Billion To Operate 1 Year

LONDON, Mar. 4.—(AP)—Britain's "mechanized and modernized" army told Parliament today its estimated expenditures for 1937 "in defense of the Empire and the discharge of international obligations" would total more than $2,000,000,000 ($410,000,000), almost half as much again as for 1936.

Alfred Duff Cooper, Secretary of State for war, told the House much of the sum will be raised through loans and the remainder in the official budget. The army personnel would be increased to 168,900, exclusive of units in India, a gain of 10,000.

Legion To Make '37 Convention World's Biggest

600,000 Expected To Attend New York Conclave

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—(AP)—Headed by dramatic, dark-haired Robert Condon, a group of men and women worked today on plans to make the 37th annual "world's largest convention" a true.

Passing between conference in the busy office of the American Legion 1937 Convention Corporation of New York, Condon explained how arrangements to bring more than half a million war veterans and their wives to New York during the week of Sept. 30 were progressing.

"We expect to stay busy until the last convention train has started back home," said Condon, executive vice-president of the Legion's Convention Corporation.

"The biggest job is to house the flood of convention visitors we expect, and we are planning for more than 600,000. Besides there are other problems which are almost as great—handling a Legion parade which will probably last for 24 hours and pass some of the busiest corners in New York; providing a diversified entertainment for visitors from all over the world; arranging special transportation for various Legion units, including the bands and drum corps; and handling receptions of 75 other parades and veteran organizations which will all pass here during the convention week."

After the New York convention the corporation will sponsor a second pilgrimage to France—the first having been in 1927 when the annual Legion convention was held in Paris.

Condon said a staff of 15 persons plus a committee of 300 was at work on convention details. The staff and committee will be in Paris who "barged down Fifth Avenue" in 1927 when the Legion convention committee will have more than 5000 members.

Condon, who served during the war as an enlisted man and later as a commissioned officer, was detailed as an administrative aide to the Armistice Commission, and helped to set up the Paris-Versailles peace conference organization commission to negotiate peace.

After the World War he served on a Legion various commissions, his latest appointment having taken him to China as a representative of the Department of State. He is a past national president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Carole Lombard says:

"Advised by my singing coach, I changed to Luckies"

"In my new picture 'Swing High, Swing Low' I sing a song for the first time since I have been on the screen. To do this, I spent months taking singing lessons. And with this added strain, my throat was not in good shape. My singing coach suggested that when choosing cigarettes, I select a light smoke. And so I changed to Luckies. Since then I've found that a light smoke and my throat go along together just fine."

Carole Lombard

CURRENTLY STARRING IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES "SWING HIGH, SWING LOW"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Lombard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Celery Feds Compete Today In Fifth District Tourney Conducted In Tavares Gym

Locals And Umattila Clash This Morning In 2nd Round Game

Seeded third, the Celery Feds took to the boards of the Tavares High School court at 11:15 this morning against a strong Umattila five as the only team to begin their trek for the annual Fifth District Tournament.

Seeded first in the tourney, is the powerful Kettle High team, undefeated during the past season and winner of the Central conference crown. Orlando Tigers were seeded second and were to battle Munnell at 2:35 this afternoon. The Panthers were slated to meet the winner of the Mr. Dora-Benson Springs contest at 5:35 o'clock tonight.

The quarter-finals of the tourney will begin at 8 A. M. tomorrow with the semi-finals beginning at 9 P. M. The final contest will get under way at 8:30 P. M., Saturday, following a preliminary contest between the Kettle boys and the Winter Garden girls.

The locals, who disappointed their followers by losing out to Leesport, whom the Feds had downed twice before, in the semi-finals of the Northeast Conference tourney, entered this morning's contest ready to battle to the last. Passing this reaching would throw them into reaching distance of fighting the Orlando Tigers or the Kettle Panthers, the only two clubs to hand the Seminole cagers a double-setback this season.

City Will Seek Cancellation Of Lakefront Taxes

Makes Initial Move To Begin Plans Of Beautification On Lake Monroe

Foreclosures New Under Way

Landscape Architect Expected To Report Here Soon

By PAT PATTERSON
A request for the State Legislature will be made this year seeking the cancellation of State and County taxes on the tract of land along Lakeshore Boulevard between Sanford Avenue and the Mayfair Hotel, and lying to the north of First Street. Mayor Higgins said today.

This action is being sought, Mr. Higgins explained, to make it possible for the City to actively begin a lakefront beautification program and start the construction of a municipal park.

The mayor disclosed that the City now owns the major part of the land under consideration, adding that foreclosure proceedings are underway to obtain the remainder of the desired area.

He said private owners of the lots in the section have offered no opposition to the plan under way and appear to be in hearty accord with the movement.

Plans for the beautification program are being prepared by a landscape architect in Winter Park. He was employed by the City several weeks ago.

Citizens Warned Of Bogus Magazine Solicitors Here

Marcus C. Fagg, superintendent of the Children's Home Society of Florida, today informed Seminole County citizens that "our society has no magazine solicitors canvassing" in this area.

He announced that he had been led to believe that 20 young people are covering the State and soliciting subscriptions in the name of the Children's Home.

"We never have had any magazine solicitors and they are securing money under false pretenses and should be apprehended," Fagg said in referring to the bogus canvassers.

He said the Society is "sorry to make this unfavorable report," but added that it felt it only right to warn citizens of Florida.

Poultrymen Plan Organization To Stabilize Price

Chain Store Association May Absorb All Local Products

Seminole County poultrymen last night heard a proposal under which the Florida Chain Store Association will purchase the entire output of poultry products in this section, provided a standardized grade and pack is established.

A small but enthusiastic group listened to Charles Korbly, agricultural relations manager for the Association, set forth the plan in Seminole High School Thursday night.

Because of the lack of adequate representation, the assembly voted to schedule another session on March 7 when a poultrymen's association definitely will be formed and the chain store proposition will be accepted or rejected.

In an explanation of the proposal, Korbly asserted that his unit would purchase the product at well above the usual market price, thus insuring local poultry products to flow only through the Association's channels.

It was understood that Korbly represented the Piggly Wiggly, Winn-Dixie Stores, the Atlantic and Pacific Stores and the Table Supply Store.

Discussions centering about current prices of goods (fish) the poultry farm indicated that the proposed this spring will receive considerably less revenue than he did last year.

It was on this point that poultrymen were convinced that an association is necessary, and C. R. Dawson, County farm agent, and Alex H. Johnson, vocational agriculture instructor at the High School, were named to lead the campaign for organization. Local feed dealers will be asked to assist.

Last night's meeting was sponsored by the Seminoles Chapter of Future Farmers of America.

Mr. Mason said he expected about 200 members of the State Society to attend the convention. Saturday will be devoted to business and addresses, according to the program, while Sunday is to be occupied with a trip to the Meltoune Prairie.

Report Card Revision Is Advocated By Prof. Gantt

Asserts Students Should Be Graded On Capability Basis Instead Of Accomplishment Record

Prof. Charles Gantt, mathematics instructor at the P. K. Yancey Preparatory School, of Lake Wales, Florida, last night advocated a revision of student report cards in an address before members of the South Side Parents Teachers' Association.

The speaker disclosed what he believed to be the chief cause of the student's report card, which he said should be abolished. He stressed that a student's report card should be based on his ability to do the work, rather than on his record of accomplishment.

In proposing a revision of reports, Prof. Gantt advocated that students be graded on a capability basis, rather than on a record of accomplishment. He stressed that a student's report card should be based on his ability to do the work, rather than on his record of accomplishment.

The speaker explained that a revision is a special devotion of many days duration and is based on the example of the apostles, who after the ascension of Christ, spent many days in prayer, awaiting the coming of the Holy Ghost on Pentecost.

Father Kellaghan said the devotion will consist of mass each morning at 7 o'clock and 8 o'clock—except Saturday when it is scheduled for 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock and on Sunday at 8 o'clock and 10 o'clock—and special devotions at 11 o'clock.

Alabama Colored Boy Uses Mails To 'Court' Love

Willie Hall, an Alabama colored boy, apparently has considerable faith in the Department of Agriculture in publishing his affidavit for an "Alma Mater."

Or perhaps, Hall chose the postal method to advertise because there was the best prospect of a letter not being kept out of the way before he could present his affidavit in person.

Shoof Charlie Head, this morning received a message from Hall to his high school. The envelope was marked with a large heart, drawn in blue ink on numerous folds and decorated with a picture of a girl.

For the second time within a week, the Leesburg Yellow Jackets were responsible for the downfall of the Seminole High school basketball team in tournament play as the Leesburg team through with an 18-10 win in the third round of play of the fifth district tournament now under way at Tavares.

The Leesburg outfit, which eliminated Sanford a week ago at Daytona Beach in the North east conference tournament, was held in exact terms throughout and it was not until the final seconds that the Jackets capped the decision. A desperate long shot, attempted by Johnnie Morgan, local guard in the last ten seconds of play bounded off the rim to end the hopes of the Sanfordites.

Kiwanis Directors Vote To Support Auto Trailer Camp

The Board of Directors of the Sanford Kiwanis Club went on record last night as supporting current movements to establish an automobile trailer camp in the City.

Emphasizing the financial and civic benefits to be derived from the project, the directors then voted unanimously to take an active part in attempting to obtain a camp for Sanford.

While the Board offered no suggestions, it indicated that it would spend money to help the recommendations made by City officials who are investigating possibilities of the camp and collecting data from other Florida municipalities.

A part of the night's session, held in the home of President Hoyce Long, was devoted to a training school for officers and committee members.

The sessions were served on a banquet.

State Doctor Will Visit Local School Sometime In April

Dr. C. W. Pease, State health officer, will arrive here in April to administer immunization serum to public school children, Mrs. Dorothy Lamb, school nurse, said today.

She declines to say for the physical condition of the County could be improved by the use of the serum, which she has no pre-arranged schedule on which to operate. The time spent in one County, it was estimated, depends on the number of treatments he is required to give.

Pease is expected to prevent the spread of typhoid and mumps in the State. He is expected to give the serum to children in the State, although highly beneficial, is not compulsory in given only with parents' consent.
