In the suit, the homeowners association asks the court to enjoin the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) from purchasing a home on Dison Road to establish the youth treatment center. The reported purchase price is $83,000 and the state Cabinet is expected Thursday to act on HRS' request. "Plans to buy the $53,000, five-bodroom home will cause omeowners in the area to suffer irreparable injury...if the defendants should not be enjoined from occupancy and use of the home," the suit alleges. The suit also asks the temporary injunction be issued to prevent

U.N. Conference Ends

IN BRIEF

With Disarmament 'Blueprint'

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) - After five weeks of work, the United Nations has drawn up and approved a blueprint designed to keep mankind from killing itself in an arms race gone mad - but no one seems particularly happy with it.

The document, the final product of the world's first disarmament conference in 42 years, warned the world is on the brink of self-extinction" and basically called for more committees, commissions and special sessions to bring the $400 billion-a-year arms race under control.

Search Begins For Climbers

HUARAZ, Peru (UPI) - A U.S. Embassy official was sent to Huaraz to help search for the bodies of two of three Americans who fell to their deaths while trying to climb Peru's highest Andean peak.

The deaths of the three Americans was reported Friday by James Painter of Pittsburgh, a veteran mountain climber who was leading the group of six men up Huascaran, a 22,205-foot peak in the northern Peruvian

POLITICS IN BRIEF

Maxwell Set To Speak

To Young Republicans

State Rep. Clark Maxwell of Brevard County, GOP candidate for the District 16 seat in the Florida Senate currently held by Lori Wilson, will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Seminole County Young Republican Club (YRs).

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Quality Inn, SR 434 at 1-4 Longwood. Maxwell, a former member of the Brevard County School Board for eight years prior to his four years in the House of Representatives, is one of five legislators heading the drive to put the issue of an elected Public Service Commission on the ballot in the general election in November.

Social hour will begin a 7:15 p.m.

Harper, Foster: Co-Chairmen

Lt. Gov. Jim Williams, Democratic candidate for governor, has announced that E.C. Harper Jr. and George W. Foster are cochairman of his campaign in Seminole County.

Harper, of Sanford, is a member of the Seminole County school board and owner of Sanford Electric Co. while Foster, of Lake Mary, is vice president of Heritage Federal Savings and Loan.

Other officers in the local campaign are: Elaine Espy of Altamonte Springs, county coordinator. She is active in social services throughout Central Florida and is a member of the local executive committee.

Candidate Publishes Book

Bob Graham, Democratic candidate for governor, has published his book about his workdays since his campaign began a year

When Graham announced his candidacy on June 28, 1977 he pledged to work at 100 dif-ferent jobs to better understand the concerns of the people of Florida. Since that time Graham has been working at a variety of jobs throughout the state. Graham's book published by Banyan Books of South Miami is entitled, Workdays: Finding Florida on the Job." It is being distributed throughout the state by Banyan to numerous bookstores and other retail outlets.

Missing Key May Be Key To Crane's Murder SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) - One man, at least two women and a set of keys figure in the investigation of the beating death of actor Bob Crane, the star of the old television comedy "Hogan's Heroes."

But Police Capt. John Pratt and Lt. Ron Dean said Friday they did not know how significant those leads might be in the search for the killer who entered Crane's apartment Thursday, crushed his skull with a blunt instrument and fled, leaving money, jeweiry and expensive video and photography equipment untouched.

"We do not have enough to go on for any sort of direction," Pratt said. "We have no direction, no specific motive. The case is just too broad and there are too many people to check out."

Police said they want to question a man who visited the Windmill Dinner Theater, where Crane was appearing in the comedy "Beginner's Luck." The man apparently expressed an interest in Crane, but police were vague about details. Pratt said the man was "one of many on our list of leads." Theater Manager Bruce Hurst said he knew of only two sets of keys to Crane's apartment, which is rented by the theater for its stars. He said one set was given to Crane and the other kept locked at the theater. Hurst said he could not find the theater's set but stopped short of saying it was missing. "Let's put it this way," he said, "I have not found it."

Dean said police had Crane's key but noted there could be many other copies. Pratt and Dean said they had identified two women who were with Crane and a California friend, John Carpenter, in a hotel coffee shop about 2 a.m. Thursday, 12 hours before the body was found by actress Victoria Ann Berry, who went to find out why Crane had missed a luncheon speaking engagement. The women's names were not released

Pratt said investigators wanted to talk to at least 50 of Crane's friends, acquaintances and co-workers. "Of the persons we've talked to so far, there were no abnormalities, no one who disliked his life style so much they would want to wipe him out. We just have to proceed in a logical sequence until something illogical comes up," Pratt said.

Police and Maricopa County Medical Examiner Dr. Heinz Karnitschnig agreed

'We just have to proceed

in a logical sequence

until something illogical

comes up."

Crane probably was asleep and "never knew what hit him." Karnitschnig said an autopsy showed Crane died of two blows to the head with a blunt instrument, which could have been "a pipe, a jack hammer or a lug wrench." There was no sign of forcible entry to the apartment.

Robert D. Crane, 27, one of Crane's four children, claimed the body. He said funeral services were being arranged in Los Angeles.

Only a handful of people appeared at the hearing, according to Jean King, ICC representative. No one from Seminole County appeared. The final ICC hearing in Florida on the recommendation will be held from 9 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. July 10 at the Post Office Annex, 415 Zack Street, Tampa "We want to encourage as many people as possible to participate in these hearings so that Amtrak's final route structure reflects the needs of the American public," said ICC Chairman Daniel O'Neal

The USDOT recommendation is part of a nationwide plan to cut Amtrak routes from 27,000 to 18,900 miles throughout the country. Passenger service on eight routes, including the Floridian, would be eliminated under the plan and three more routes would be added. None of those additional routes would be in Florida.

Congressman Kelly will communicate to the ICC that "he will watch closely the routes in Florida, specifically the Floridian, and see that all decisions to cut routes in Florida are based on merit and not on who has the most political power," said a Kelly spokesman.

"If there is a reduction in routes in Florida," said the spokesman," he feels it should be strictly on an economic basis and merit basis that any tax payer can agree with." Kelly notified the Seminole County Commission of the hearings. "The board hadn't discussed

There Are Some Grave Implications

We concede that the U.S. embargo against arms shipments to Turkey is not the most scintillating subject we could offer our readers on a summer morning. But it is one of the most important foreign policy questions pending in Washington today. It has grave implications for the Free World. We believe this is one of those instances where enlightened public opinion has a role to play that could prompt the U.S. Senate to make a correct decision

A brief background review of this controversy is in order: It began in 1974 when the colonels who then governed Greece attempted a coup, using U.S. weapons, to force a union between Greece and Cyprus. The Turks then intervened, as they had a treaty right to do, and occupied nearly 40 percent of the island.

In its mindless foreign-policy meddling following the Vietnam disaster and the Watergate scandals. Congress cut off all arms to Turkey on the flimsy excuse that American-supplied arms had been illegally used. It made no difference that Greece was equally guilty of violating this prohibition. There being far more Greeks than Turks in this country, Congress simply yielded to the Greek lobby

Mystified and outraged by this one-sided punishment, Turkey closed down U.S. NATO bases. This greatly weakened, if not neutralized, NATO's southeastern flank, although Turkey has remained in the NATO command structure.

Predictably, the Soviet Union has exploited these difficulties and the Turks are drifting toward the Russian camp. Ankara is currently reviewing the value of its Western connection and considering alternatives. The new government headed by Social Democratic Premier Bulent Ecevit is even toying with nonalignment along Yugoslav lines. Last month Mr. Ecevit conferred at length in Yugoslavia with President Tito, the grand old man of nonalignment, and then visit Bulgaria; Romanian Premier Manescu had earlier visited Turkey. Meanwhile, Moscow is giving more foreign aid to Turkey than to any other country.

Instead of encouraging an agreement on Cyprus, as Congress intended, the arms embargo against Turkey has caused the Greek Cypriots to forestall negotiations because they feel time is on their side. The embargo has achieved nothing except the alienation of an important ally.

The stakes in this issue are awesome: Lying as it does between the Soviet Union and the Middle East, Turkey is strategic real estate in the eastern Mediterranean that the United States and its allies cannot afford to lose. If the Russians can fly over Turkey, they can cut in half the time needed to deploy forces to the Middle East. Moreover, Turkey controls the exit from the Black Sea through the Straits of the Bosporus and the entry to the Aegean through the Dardanelles.

Recognizing all of this, the Carter administration has been pressuring Congress to lift the embargo. Last month the House International Relations Committee voted by the narrowest margin to do so. The issue is now locked in the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, headed by Sen. John J. Sparkman, D.-Ala.

We believe Sen. Sparkman and his committee should act responsibly. It is outrageous that Congress should jeopardize vital security interests of the United States and its NATO allies for no other known reason than to cater to the narrowly parochial pressure of the Greek lobby.

ANGLE-WALTERS Random Audits Railed

WASHINGTON - Embarrassed members of the House of Representatives are quietly seeking to terminate an auditing program designed to insure the financial integrity of political campaigns for seats in Congress.

The Federal Election Commission (FEC) initiated the project less than a year ago, but it already has produced discomfort among House members whose campaign records have been subjected to audits conducted by FEC investigators.

"I can't go to the (House) floor withoutt being stopped by one of them," said Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House Administration Committee, whose jurisdiction includes authority over the FEC.

As a result, the routine bill authorizing the commission to spend $8.6 million for its operations in the next fiscal year includes a Thompson amendment that prohibits the expenditure of any money for what the FEC calls 'random audits."

noticed move, recently voted 19-2 in favor of the amendment. The legislation is expected to be approved by the full House, although the Senate may resist efforts to suspend the audit program. When the new program was initiated last July, the commission randomly selected 44 races for House seats and 4 contests for Senate seats held in 1976. Required to open their financial records for a thorough review were 98 can-

By last October, only three months after the surprise audits' began, representatives began complaining about the practice. "A number of members are extremely upset about it," Thompson revealed at an Administration Committee hearing.

"As soon as a member of Congress is being audited, back home the newspapers play it up," said Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich. "The public says, 'aha, something is wrong.""

The FEC has a firm policy of not divulging any information about its investigations until they are completed, but Rep. Ted Risenhoover, D-Okla., griped that the news leaks out "and that alerts anyone who might want to seek a little vengeance.

Ren. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., sharply criticized FEC officials for "going off on some adventures of your own and thinking up grandiose ideas such as random audits."

When the bill came before the House Rules Committee last month, Thompson claimed that "in nearly every case, the commission's audit disclosed nothing but technical violations." The chairman of that committee, Rep. James J. Delaney, D-N.Y., was one of those whose campaign finances were subjected to an audit and one of the few to suffer the humiliation of having substantive violations. Delaney questioned the wisdom of members of Congress authorizing the expenditure of funds English for another Iranian firm which sub-"for the purpose of investigating yourself," then sequently led to collapse of an airport control complained that the FEC officials who audited his books "didn't know one thing about the law." resulted. RONALD REAGAN Health And The Profits

Like a fly in amber, the idea that more government is the cure, not the cause, of inlation seems never to change with the passage of time. The same seems true of the notion that government - by way of socialized medicine "national health insurance") - can bring down the cost of health care. Despite the evidence here and in other countries that government control of health care encourages overuse, brings out the larceny in a few practitioners and discourages efficiency, socialized medicine's adherents stick to it like bees to honey. This may be due partly to the fact that in most sectors of the federal establishment the idea of making a profit - thus encouraging competition and efficiency - is looked on with distaste, even

This belief is most fanatic in the bureaucracy of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and on Capitol Hill when the issue is health care. Much is made of the average income of doctors and the profits of drug companies. # All Right, Folks, Let's Knock Down Language Barrier

Some readers ask, "Where do you ge your column ideas?" The answer is, "I don't get ideas. They get me." More difficult is the question, "How do you develop your columns?" My answer to that one is, "Join me. Let's build a column together." This piece starts in New Mexico. During the Bicentennial, the New Mexico Commission on Aging ran a writing contest for seniors. The result was didates for degrees in social service "Canciones y Dichos," a bilingual collection of poems, stories and folklore. Older New Mexicans had accepted a challenge: to share their talents, to interpret our country's history, to write about their own lives.

Pay Ruling Scored

It was with dismay that I read of the county commissioners' decision last week to grant a 7 to 10 percent pay increase to 27 supervisory officers while turning thumbs down on the sheriff's request to increase the pay of over 70 uniformed deputies. I don't mean to imply that the captains, lieutenants, and sergeants don't deserve the increase. I merely think that the uniformed officers should be treated with the same "stroke of the brush." To my knowledge there was no mid-year increase as was stated by a county administrator in an earlier Herald story.

At the beginning of the new fiscal year, October 1978, these remaining deputies will doubtless receive an in crease of 5 percent. Remember, that's 5 percent of a base that is understandably lower than the supervisors base of which they have just trotters or pacers thundering down the track at Seminole Harness Raceway - go! Tom Wiley is the man who says that word and has complete control over the field of drivers as they come behind the gate. Two rows of four horses file down on each side of the gate with the wings closed. "Turn your horses, gentlemen, and fasten your chin straps," is the reminder from lever in his hand, he won't let the horses charge the gate, going full speed. The horses must come to the gate slowly enough so they can all be there with their noses on the numbers suspended on the wings. The gate leaps to 40 m.p.h.

Raceway Starter Seeks Country Beginning Just one word sends eight

When the electric eye beam is reached, Tom says go, and closes the wings. The driver of the car takes over. Harley Phillips, who once drove horses himself, lets the car drop back along side the field of horses. The horses and drivers jostle for position, trying to get tucked in to the rail, to save their horses for the battle to the wire. Tom can see every movement made, hear every word spoken. If any of the drivers participating in the race feel their territory has been infringed upon, the most usual objection. they tell Tom from their seat in the sulky, before their feet hit the ground. Tom picks up the microphone on his radio and reports it to the judges in their perch above the grandstand, where they match film replays. What does this starter do on his nights off? Wiley haunts the clubs in the area looking for jam sessions. Tom spent eight years in Wheeling W. Va., and became a regular countrywestern performer on the radio. Tom had a group called Indian Summer that took private club from Canada to California and now has an agent and hopes to book club dates locally after the racing season ends.

How does a man get to be a starter In Tom Wiley's case the path was a twisted one. Born in Maine, Tom became a telegraph operator at age 14. The war years found him operating the radio in a C-47 cargo plane. After the war he operated a telegraph on th railroad, and bemoans the loss of what he calls a nice machine. Tom Wiley came to the horses through the front gate as a spectator and bettor on the thoroughbreds. "I tore up so many tickets, I decided to find out what was going on out Tom got into harness racing "Nothing going on out there on me, and win a race." and starter

Bamberger Laughs; He's Really Crying

NEW YORK (UPI) - Nobody in the clubhouse said a word as Gorman Thomas walked over to his locker and pulled out one of the bats inside it. Everybody wanted to see what the big Milwaukee longballe was going to do with it, considering the thick new cast on his left thumb in which he had chipped some bones making a diving catch. Holding the bat handle in his right hand, Thomas carefully cradled his left one over it, cast and all, and then took a swing. What the hell are you trying to do?" called out George

Bamberger, the Brewers' startled manager, watching from another part of the clubhouse, "Who are you trying to kid?" "It's not too bad," Thomas answered, looking at the cast. "I'll be ready to go again in a week."

Bamberger couldn't help but laugh. He really was laughing with tears in his eyes looking at Thomas trying to swing that bat before Wednesday night's doubleheader with the Yankees in Milwaukee, because he had been in professional baseball 33 years and has never seen any club come up with as many injuries in a single season as the Brewers have so far this year. With the season not even half over yet, the Brewers already have lost three of their players for the rest of the year and a total of 16 due to a variety of injuries from periods ranging from four days to two months.

"I've never seen anything like it in my life," says Bamberger, putting in his first season as manager of the Brewers. "We have to te leading the league in injuries. Probably both leagues. I don't think there's anyone even close. Everytime I see the trainer come nto my office, I wanna run and hide under my desk." Larry Hisle, the Brewers' top RBI man, was among those forced out of action when he ripped some ligaments in his leg diving for Mike Hargrove's blooper last month in a game with Texas.

"When he got hurt, he told me not to worry about it, he'd be there the next day, but the following day he couldn't even stand on his leg," Bamberger recalls. "The thing I admire most about this club, though, is its spirit. It's been positively oustanding Whenever anyone gets hurt, I just make up a lineup, put someone else in there and he comes through beautifully. Like Dick Davis. I put him in the lineup and he hit home runs two days in a row." Regarded as one of the best pitching coaches in the business

during the last 10 years with Baltimore, Bamberger has done a remarkable job in his first year managing the Brewers. They're still within sight of the front-running Red Sox in the American League East and showed 17 victories in their last 24 games before their double dip with the Yanks Wednesday night. Milwaukee's injury list this season includes almost as man names as one of the pages in a telephone directory.

Ray Fosse, Andy Etchebarren and Tim Nordbrook are all finished for the year. Fosse came up with a leg problem; Etchebarren had an arm operation; and Nordbrook damaged a nerve in his leg.

Along with that, Cecil Cooper, the Brewers' fine hitting first baseman, will be out for another month with a cracked bone below his knee (this is the second time this season he has been sidelined), and outfielder Sixto Lezcano, who hit 21 homers last year, was lost nearly two weeks with a bad shoulder. Shortstop Robin Yount missed a month earlier this season after he hit his ankle with a foul ball and pitcher Bill Travers also was on the shelf a month following an arm operation. Moose Haas, another of the team's starting pitchers, has just returned after being laid up for two months with a torn muscle in his elbow. Infielder Don Money pulled a groin muscle that kept him inactive three weeks and Paul Molitor, the spectacular rookie shortstop and second baseman, missed five days with a similar

Bill Castro, another pitcher, lost four days with a sore elbow and Jerry Augustine, a 12-game winner last year, missed two starts for the same reason. Ed Rodriguez, still another pitcher, was out five days with a bad shoulder and outfielder Davey May also was sidelines for the same amount of time due to a pulled rib

Well, Since You Asked...

Q. What happened to Tommie Agee? I am still a fan of his. The Sox were crazy to trade him, he showed so much promise. I know the Mets loved him and he helped them to win a World Series in 89. - Charles Franklin, Blytheville, Ark.

Tommie runs a bar and restaurant across the street from Shea Stadium in East Elmhurst, N.Y. He bowed out of baseball after brief stints with Houston and St. Louis in 1973 - though Monte Irvin of the Commissioner's Office had him lined up for a fling at Mexican League baseball. Tommie contributed 26 homers to the Mets' fabulous pennant rush in '69, but he never really fulfilled his potential as a major leaguer and was though at the age of 31.

Q. Can you tell me if there is any difference in the way pitches are called in the American League and the National League by the umpires? - J. L. Elizabeth, N.J.

Traditionally, the American League umpires are supposed to call a higher strike zone and the National League umpires are supposed to call low pitches. That's because American League umpires, until recently, used outside protectors and worked over the shoulder or head of the catcher, where they couldn't see low pitches. National League umpires use inside protectors and work nside the catcher (between him and the batter), where they can see the low balls. However, AL umps now have a choice of chest equipment, and 12 of the crew of 28, primarily the younger guys, use inside protectors. Dick Butler, head of American League umpires, claims there's little difference between the way the leagues call them now.

Q. Is Terry Miller, the top draftee of the Bills, canable of filling the shoes of O. J. Simpson? That's a lot to ask of a rooke. - G. H., Olean, N.Y.

First, let's say that nobody in football, at least in the last decade, could measure up to O.J. as a talent. But Miller can be a fine runner in a sport that is now going smaller, swifter ball carriers. He's more the Terry Metcalf type than the Simpson type, but some scouts predict he'll run for more than 1,000 yards as a rookie. He's also personally a fine young man - articulate, bright and eager. The Bills made an excellent choice.

Q. What ever happened to Tommy McDonald, who had all those great years with the Philadelphia Eagles? - Wealey Williams, Paris, Tex.

The springy little wide receiver of the Eagles (by way of Oklahoma0, a key man on their last championship team in 1960, has settled outside of Philadelphia, where he runs a portrait business in King of Prussia, Pa.

Q. Why is John McEnroe leaving Stanford after just one year to devote himself to tennis? I recall other Stanford products like Sandy Mayer going all the way through school. - W.H., San Antonio, Tez.

The answer is one word. Money. There's just too much of it to be made on the various tennis tours to overlook. And McEnroe is too far advanced to skip the chance - farther advanced than Mayer or any other collegians have been. With a little time, he has the ability to crack into the Big Three of Borg, Connors and Vilas. Learning from the books isn't going to be his problem; learning to control himself on court is a more immediate worry.

Q. Are there any managers in the major leagues who didn't make it to the majors as ball players? - T.M., Cincinnati, O. There are three right now: Danny Ozark of the Phillies, Earl Weaver of the Orioles and Jack McKeon of the Oakland A's. It's not an especially rare phenomernon. The late Joe McCarthy, one of the greatest ever, never played major league ball before achieving immortality as the skipper of the Yankees.

Cepeda Gets Backing

PONCE, P.R. (UPI) - Baltimore Oriole talent scout Fred Sosa said Friday a group of major league ballplayers are organizing a campaign to convince President Carter to pardon Orlando Cepeda, now serving a five-year prison sentence. Cepeda, who began serving his term in jail Monday at Elgin Air Force Base in Florida, was convicted of trying to smuggle in 170 pounds of marijuana from Colombia in to his native Puerto Rico. A letter to Carter said "Cepeda made a mistake and deserves another chance.'

BUSINESS IN BRIEF

Florida Power Offers

Refunds If Probes Dropped

TAMPA (UPI)- Attorney General Robert Shevin says Florida Power Corp. will make a substantial and early refund" to cover fuel overcharges if a series of probes against it is dropped.

Shevin did not say Friday how much of a refund Florida Power is willing to make. Shevin and Public Counsel Jack Shreve would have to drop their lawsuits against the utility and allow it to proceed unimpeded with a suit against Texas oilman Ray Granlund. Florida Power has been accused of knowingly paying at least $8.5 million too much for fuel oil purchased through Granlund in 1973 and 1974 in return for kickbacks.

Fruit Prices Remain High

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Fruit prices are expected to remain high during 1978 because of a sharp decline both in citrus and non-citrus fruit crops this year.

The Agriculture Department's summary of the fruit situation, to be available July 11, indicates that the summer deciduous crop, except for dried prunes, will be 12 percent smaller than the 1977 and 1976 crops. The citrus crop, which was estimated at 12.9 million metric tons on June 1, is expected to be 7 percent smaller than last year.

Stocks Down This Week

NEW YORK (UPI) - Stocks suffered a small loss this week as investors adjusted their portfolios, weighed rising interest rates and inflation and quit playing gambling stocks prior to the July Fourth holiday. Trading was

The Dow Jones industrial average, a 13.95point loser a week ago, dropped another 4.07 points to 818.95. It closed out the second quarter with a gain of 61.59 points. But the Dow is 47.56 points below its 1978 low of 866.51 set June 6.

ICC Hears Carter, Kissinger

President Jimmy Carter, United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger are among the world leaders scheduled to address the 26th World Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC). Attracted by these speakers and others, registration is at a record level for the Congress - the first to be held in the United States since 1959, according to Carl-Henrik Wingwist, Secretary General of the ICC.

ComBank Renamed

ComBanks Corporation has changed the name of its Casselberry bank to "ComBank-Seminole County - Casselberry Office."

ComBanks has two banks in Seminole County, ComBank-Longwood on State Road 434 and the newly named ComBank at the intersection of Highway 17-92 and State Road 436. Louis Rawls, President of ComBank Seminole County said, In September, ComBank-Seminole County will be opening another office located at the corner of S.R. 436 and Palms Springs Road.

Sullivan Elected To Board

Selby Sullivan, chairman of the board and president of Florida Gas Company, was elected this week to the board of directors of the Slurry Transport Association at its annual meeting held in Washington, D.C.

The association's purpose is to foster the development and growth of a slurry tran-sportation industry based on the ability to economically transport large volumes of coal and other solid materials through pipelines in a liquid slurry.

Farm Prices Edge Upwards

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Farm prices edged up 1's percent in June as recent sharp increases in the prices farmers received for raw food products leveled off.

Contributing most to the increases, released Friday by the Agriculture Department's Crop Reporting Board, were slightly higher prices for cattle, apples, broilers and potatoes. They were offset by lower prices for eggs and

A Hotel That Sails The World

NEW YORK (UPI) -

Japanese shipbuilding firm has eveloped a box-like, sevenstory floating hotel it plans to tow to New York and other ports around the world. The 585-foot hotels would be built in Japan by Mitsui Ocean Development and Engineering Co. and towed, much like gian oil rigs, to any port in the world where they would then be

ermanently moored. "We are looking to bring a standard of luxury back to New York," said Selwyn Hakim, a senior vice president of the Ralph Hakim Group, which has an exclusive partnership with Mitsui to market the $60 million

But New York is not the only place Hakim hopes to sell the 506-room floating palaces that have hydraulic glass domes over a tropical garden that will fill the atrium of the structure. "We're negotiating all around the world," Hakim said without going into specifics. He said Mitsui, one of the world's largest shipbuilders have restaurants, ballrooms, shops and health clubs. Options include such things as a heliport on the solar paneled roof, a boardwalk around the hotel, a below-water restaurant and a yacht basin To make the garden tropical there will be artificial rainfalls complete with rainbow.

Guests who come aboard can drive on and park their cars in a garage in the lower level of the notel where there will be 500

Actor Leif Erickson, who starred in the television series "High Chaparral" and was featured in the recent motion picture, Twightlight's Last Gleaming," will serve as Grand Marshal for the Fourth of July Parade at Florida's state-owned and operated Stephen Foster Center.

The Fourth of July parade will begin at 10 a.m., July 4th, south of the town of White Springs on U.S. 41, on the banks of the Suwannee River.

'If Americans want their artists to survive, they've got to do something about a curb on the imports,' Anieta Mengel said. She urges artists to petition legislators to put an embargo on foreign art.

Area Artist Is Troubled Over Future Of The Arts

By JOAN MADISON Herald Correspondent

"It's almost like living in a wildlife sanctuary," said artist Mrs. Dwayne (Anieta) Mengel at her home on Lake

Florida in Altamonte Springs. Trees, bushes and vines which almost conceal the house from the Hermits Trail traffic serve as a refuge to wildlife and provide a tranquil setting for Mrs. Mengel to capture on canvas her favorite subjects - children and animals. If one were to paint a picture of an artist at work, Mrs. Mengel would project the ideal image. Her dark hair is pulled away from her face with a scarf that seems to frame her dark, intense eyes, and her petite figure is partially hidden by her artist's smock. She is surrounded by easels and paintings.

She looks like she hasn't a care in the world. But she's troubled - about the future of the arts. First, she voices concern that art is treated so lightly in the schools. "They just don't have enough art classes for the children who are interested in art. They treat art as something unnecessary," she laments.

"Your car, your shoes, your purse were all designed all had to have an artist put it on paper first. In order to re good textile designers, chair designers or architects they've got to have a good art background. There are so many facets of art and also so many youngsters who want to go into art. They love to draw," she said as she stressed the need for more emphasis on art in the schools. Second, she feels that the importation of foreign paintings into the country is hurting American artists. "The dream of many students is to study art when they leave high school so they will become really good artists. They go through three or four years of art training - and it's an expensive training, the materials are so expensive

- but their hearts and souls are in it," she stated. But, she explains, when they try to sell their work and determine the price based on time and materials involved, they cannot compete with the stores that are in every neighborhood - the art stores that deal in imported art from Europe, Asia and so forth; hotels that deal in imported paintings; and sales along the roadside. "Starving Artists Exhibits" have thousands of oil paintings at $7.95 and up. No American artist can do an oil painting of the same size for $7.95. The materials cost much more," she said.

"The American artist cannot compete," she repeats with fierce intensity. "If Americans want their artists to survive, they've got to do something about a curb on the

A young woman who had been awakened early Saturday stumbled onto a burglar in the hallway of her rural Sanford home. "She was scared. She just couldn't do anything," Sharon Perry's sister Debbie Bailey said today.

Sharon had been awakened by the family dog who had been sleeping in her room and had gone into the bathroom. When she tepped out of the bathroom, she bumped into a burglar coming out of her parent's bedroom. The burglar, described as a tall male, was making his second trip from the master bedroom, according to Mrs. Bailey. "We know he had made at least two trips into mom and dad's bedroom, because the stuff he stole was on the floor in the hallway when he was coming out," said Mrs. Bailey.

Items taken from the house included cash and miscellaneous ewelry, valued at $525, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department

The burglar covered his face to avoid being identified, cording to Sharon. "He shined his flashlight in my face and covered his,"
