CAN FLIER GETS TRAGIC DEATH IN FALL

Captain Carranza Is Killed While Flying Over Jersey In Hop To Mexican Capital

Body Taken To New York Today

Wonders Warship Return Body To Mexico For Burial

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—The body of Mexico's ambassador, Capt. Emilio Carranza, whose homeward flight ended tragically in the heart of the New Jersey pine belt, was brought from Mount Holly, N. J., this morning to New York City where it was to remain until completion of arrangements for shipping it to Mexico.

The body of Capt. Carranza, who was returned to his native land aboard the U. S. battleship Florida if the Mexican government accepts an offer made today by the American government.

The offer of the Florida is about the greatest honor and recognition this government can bestow upon the dead flier, who came to the United States as an ambassador of good will. It is an honor such as is usually reserved for diplomats of high ranking.

The Mexican "Lindy" crashed to his death last evening eight miles from Chatsworth, N. J., several hours after he had hopped off from Roosevelt Field, L. I., on a projected flight to Mexico City. Death came as he was flying over unfamiliar territory and dodging in and out of terrific electrical storms.

His body arrived at Campbell's undertaking parlors on Broadway at 8 P. M. and was in charge of Frank M. Campbell, the undertaker of 185 West 11th St. at 6:30 A. M. today. He is to be taken to this city by automobile and the Holland vehicular tunnel.

When the crashed body of the Mexican Lindy, and his wrecked Ryan cabin monoplane, the Mexico Explorer, were found by berry pickers yesterday, police expressed the belief that the plane had been struck by a lightning bolt during the severe electric storm which raged over this vicinity Thursday night.

The good-will flier's charred leather jacket and evidence of having on one wing of the plane a message to support this theory.

John P. W. Bullock, U. S. A. inspector, reported after an investigation that Carranza apparently had attempted to land in a storm and had crashed when his path was blocked by a lightning bolt.

It is stated that the throttle of the engine had been closed and the plane advanced, and that the aviator apparently had been trying to locate a safe landing with the aid of a flashlight which his fingers clung to as he fell.

Under support of this theory testimony of residents of Chatsworth at a plane had dropped there at Mercer Airport, about 8 o'clock Thursday night. The crash occurred after 8 o'clock, it is believed, when the plane was circling around a few miles away from the land.

The plane apparently jumped off the ground but did not have time to open his parachute.

It is to be taken to New York by Arturo M. Edes, Mexican consul general, was making arrangements to send the remains to Carranza's family in Mexico.

He was only 22 and was a pilot recently. He was a member of the late President Carranza's family in Mexico, and was a premier aviator.

Negro Arrested In Public Office Sale

JACKSON, Miss., July 14.—(INS)—E. I. Patterson, negro Republican leader, was arrested here today, on six indictments returned by the federal grand jury at Biloxi, Miss., which is investigating alleged sale of public offices. J. C. Tansyhill, white Republican of Sunnall, Miss., a former deputy United States marshal, was also arrested on a warrant.

MEXICO MOURNS UNTIMELY DEATH OF NOTED AIRMAN

Nation Plunged In Sorrow As Its Idol, Its "Lindy," Is Killed In Jersey Fall; Calles Conveys Sympathy

MEXICO CITY, July 14.—(INS)—His populace shocked and grief-stricken, all Mexico today mourned the untimely death of its greatest aviator, Capt Emilio Carranza.

The idol of the people of Mexico, much as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is the idol of the people of the United States, the 22-year-old flier had won the hearts of his compatriots by his many daring exploits in the air.

He was to have been feted today in one of the country's greatest celebrations.

Solemn dirges today took the place of the gay celebration planned. By orders of President Calles, Carranza's body will be brought back here for burial. He will be given a funeral with full military honors. It is expected a period of national mourning will be declared.

President Calles, shocked upon receiving news of the flier's death issued the following statement: "With all my heart, I lament the tragedy of Capt. Emilio Carranza, which I attribute to fate and the fury of the elements. The Mexican government will not interfere with future flights by its aviators. It retains its confidence in its fliers."

The American ambassador, Dwight Morrow, who called at the foreign office to express the sympathy of the United States government, made the following statement: "I am greatly shocked. The people of the United States will share the sorrow of the people of Mexico over the death of this gallant officer. Although Capt. Carranza's life was short, his achievements were great. His name has been added to that gallant band of young pioneers who have given their lives for the mastery of the air."

Reward Posted For Return Of Wealthy Youth Of Cleveland

OMAHA, Neb., July 14.—(INS)—Percy Reuter Stephens, nationally known violinist and musical conductor of New York City, acting on behalf of Robert S. Berwald, millionaire Cleveland real estate broker, today posted a reward of $1,000 for recovery of the body, dead or alive, of James Berwald, 17-year-old son of the Cleveland man.

Young Berwald disappeared following a beating with a rubber hose in the hands of a railroad special agent, when he and a chum, Gordon Grigor, were caught "bumming" a ride on a freight train.

During the encounter with the agent, Grigor either was pushed or fell between the cars of a freight train and died of his injuries in an Omaha hospital. The tragedy occurred near Ashland, Neb.

With the arrival of Stephens in Omaha, a sweeping investigation was launched by authorities of two counties into the death of young Grigor and the disappearance of his chum.

Lets of customers were seized at the Seventh Avenue office. These were withheld but they are said to include many prominent names.

King Will Discuss Smith And Dry Law

"The Most Momentous Battle of Modern Times" will be the subject of a short sermon, which Dr. King, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver Sunday night preceding the regular service.

The pastor's remarks will be confined to a study of what Dr. King believes is the paramount question before the people of the United States in the approaching national election. Prohibition, he declared, is facing the severest test since its enactment.

A thorough analysis of the Smith candidacy insofar as it relates to prohibition will be the gist of the address, it was learned.

Million Dollar "Pipe Line" From Florida To Gotham Unearthed In Wholesale Raids Staged In New York

Raid On Clyde Liner Nets Finest Liquor

Rum Ring Headquarters Located In Heart Of Film And Bright Light District

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—A $1,000,000 liquor "pipe line" running from Florida to the populous New York district has been unearthed by federal prohibition officials here and a series of raids designed to break up a "Bahama-Miami booze ring" is in progress.

Three raids this week resulted in the seizure of between $25,000 and $40,000 worth of genuine, uncut rye and Bourbon whiskies in the original bottles. More raids, particularly on incoming steamships, are to follow, it was said on good authority today.

Twelve alleged leaders of the so-called "Bahama-Miami ring" are sought. They are believed to be one of the cleverest and most active organizations that have defied the prohibition law since the prosperous days of George Remus, "King of the bootleggers," and Ollie Haar, of Savannah, Ga., former "admiral of the bootleggers," both of whom have given up the business as not worth the penalty. Remus used to run the booze into New York from the middle west while Haar was the original Bahama-Savannah-New York bootlegger. Haar ran a fleet of boats from the Bahama Islands to Georgia and the booze northward by trucks.

Most of the new deluge of liquor that is coming into the night club district of New York reaches here by coastwise steamers, according to prohibition under-cover men who are conducting the present series of raids.

The ring which is now operating the "pipe line" from Florida, it was disclosed by William J. Calhoun chief of the prohibition undercover service in New York, has been in operation for nearly two years and recently made its headquarters in an office building at 870 Seventh Avenue, Manhattan. This is in the heart of the film and bright light district. The liquor was handled at a garage in Delancy Street, to which it was taken in trucks from coastwise steamship piers.

For weeks under-cover men working under Calhoun's direction have been observing the maneuvers of the "ring." On Monday night they raided the Clyde Line steamship, Inoquois, and seized 2100 bottles of pre-war whiskies. This supply had been put up in heavy sugar barrels which were labeled "radios," "tiles," and "hardware" to account for its great weight. The bottles were in their original containers and were wedged in, neck to neck, in barrels.

Tuesday night they interrupted a truck and got 700 bottles. They arrested Samuel Miller, the chauffeur, but the other man on the truck escaped. On Wednesday they raided the garage at 570 Seventh Avenue and seized Charles Hirschert, alleged to be one of the leaders of the "ring." Both he and Miller are to be given a hearing August 1.

Keeping after the bootleggers, Calhoun's men on Thursday night raided the Clyde Line Steamship Seminole and seized 1,100 bottles of booze.

Among those arrested at the Seventh Avenue office was John W. Roberts, of the Bahama Island, whom prohibition officials assert is a representative of the owners of the liquor being sold to the New York syndicate. Several others were arrested at this place and at the pier.

Lets of customers were seized at the Seventh Avenue office. These were withheld but they are said to include many prominent names.

HERALD'S MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL DENIED BY COURT

Attorney For Newspaper In Crown Paper Company Suit Posts Bond For Appeal To Higher Court For Rerearing

County Judge James G. Sharon this morning denied motions for new trial and arrest of judgment in the Crown Paper Company-Sanford Herald case. He fixed the amount of the appeal bond at $300 and granted the request of Judge George G. Herring, Herald counsel, for 45 days in which to prepare and file a bill of particulars for the appeal.

The two motions were made by Judge Herring following trial of the case Wednesday, when Judge Sharon instructed the jury to award the Crown Paper Company $123.74, principal and interest on the $125.00 note, and to fix suitable attorney's fees for DeCottes and Spencer, Crown Paper Company attorneys. The jury fixed the attorneys' fees at $25.

Grounds for the motion for new trial were:

1. That the Court erred in rejecting the testimony offered by the defendant to prove that a tender was made by the defendant to the plaintiff on the 10th day of November, A. D., 1927, of the entire amount due on the note sued upon in this case, which tender was made before suit was instituted.
2. That the Court erred in refusing to permit the defendant to introduce evidence to show that this suit was a vexatious suit, instituted solely and only for the purpose of annoying the defendant, and putting the defendant to unnecessary expense and cost.
3. That the Court erred in refusing to permit the defendant to introduce evidence to show that the full amount due from the defendant to the plaintiff, had been tendered to the plaintiff by the defendant before suit was instituted, and that there was no reason for instituting a suit, except to collect an attorney's fee, which had not been earned, and was not due.
4. That the instructions given by the Court to the jury were conflicting and tended to confuse the jury.
5. That the Court erred in instructing the jury to bring in a verdict for the full amount of the note sued upon, principal and interest, from the date of the trial.

Grounds for asking the arrest of judgment were:

1. That the plaintiff has not made out a case for any interest on the note sued upon after the 10th day of November, 1927, nor a case entitling plaintiff to attorney's fees.
2. It affirmatively appeared from the testimony that the instrument sued upon was, by its terms, payable at a special place, to-wit: at the First National Bank of Sanford, Florida, and that on the due date of said instrument the defendant was able and willing to pay there and that such ability and willingness was equivalent to a tender of payment upon the part of the defendant, and relieved the defendant from any additional cost, charges or interest after the due date of said note.
3. It affirmatively appeared from the testimony that the plaintiff was not entitled to interest on the note sued upon after the 10th day of November, A. D., 1927, nor to any attorney's fee, or other charges or cost.
4. It affirmatively appeared from the testimony and from the records that there was no justification of right on the part of the plaintiff to institute this suit against the defendant, the defendant having prior to the institution of the suit to-wit, on the 10th day of November, 1927, tendered to the plaintiff, the full amount due, principal and interest, on the note sued upon.
5. It affirmatively appeared from the testimony, that under the expressed terms of the note sued upon that no attorney's fee was due the plaintiff at the time of the institution of the suit, the contract in regard to the payment of an attorney's fee as expressed in the note sued upon being "if collected through an attorney or by law."

HOOVER TO LEAVE CAPITAL TONIGHT BOUND FOR HOME

Republican Nominee Puts On Finishing Touches To National Organization; Three-In-One Campaign Planned

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(INS)—Herbert Hoover wound up his career as a cabinet officer today prior to leaving tonight on a swing across the country to be formally notified of his nomination for the presidency at his "old home," Palo Alto, Calif.

In his last hours in the capital, Hoover put the finishing touches on his national organization, the "three-in-one" campaign, to-wit: the Republican, the Prohibition, and the Democratic administration.

A second drive will be made to hold in line the normally Republican states of the midwest, particularly Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. The corn belt will be included in this campaign, although Hoover leaders anticipated little danger of a Democratic victory in any of the agricultural states.

In these states, the armies will be the same as in the East but with greater stress thrown upon the anti-prohibition attitude of Governor Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee.

A third offensive will be launched to capture the border states, particularly Oklahoma, Missouri and Kentucky. This fight, outside Maryland, will be confined to the prohibition issue if the Hoover leaders have their way. They feel that while champions of a Republican break in the "Solid South" and extremely doubtful, there is a great opportunity to win the dry border states with Governor Smith advocating a change in the prohibition laws.

On his trip westward, Hoover will meet and confer with many of the Republican leaders. One of the purposes of these conferences will be to imbue the local leaders with the optimism shown by the Republican nominee himself. In the conference here during the last two weeks, Hoover has convinced his callers that the Republican party will win in November but that the party must fight to win. He will spread this doctrine wherever he goes.

In winding up his affairs in the department of commerce, Hoover brought to a close a service of seven years and four months as a member of the Harding and Coolidge cabinets. He took office on March 22, 1921, and served as Secretary of commerce ever since.

Smith Fights Back Search For Arctic Refugees Is Pushed

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14.—Governor Al Smith today bitterly denounced William Allen White, Kansas editor and the Rev. O. R. Miller of Albany, superintendent of the N. Y. State Civic League for picturing him as a friend of the saboteur.

This was the first time the Governor had struck out straight from the shoulder at his political foe since he was nominated for the presidency by the Democratic party and he called into his command.

Striding up and down the big reception room in the executive mansion, in his shirt-sleeves, the Governor charged that the Rev. Miller was an "admitted liar," and that Editor White "ought to have more brains than let Miller tell him what to say."

Governor Smith's face flushed deeply when he was questioned about White's recent attack in which he pictured the Democratic presidential standard bearer as having always voted for the saboteur and the liquor interests when he was a member of the New York legislature.

Within Past 5 Years DeCottes Receives From the City Sum Of $96,140.81 Cash

Sanford Still Owes Him $10,560

Associate Attorneys Employed in Past Year For $7,277.20

The City of Sanford has actually paid City Attorney George A. DeCottes $96,140.81 for his services within a period of less than five years, a survey of municipal records made yesterday by The Herald revealed. The City of Sanford, in addition, is prepared to pay him $10,560 more to bring the grand total expense of his services to $106,700.81—still in less than five years.

While Sanford has paid its city attorney a trifle better than $20,000 a year for his "services," Jacksonville—10 times larger in population—pays its legal adviser an annual salary of $5,900 with no commissions or extra fees attached.

No items previous to August 1, 1923, are included in the grand hundred-thousand dollar total. Several items, listed as expenses, are included and total some $2,242.47. Regular salary—at $75 per month—and a dozen odd items listed in the ordinary fund disbursement ledgers—total $6,045.92.

The large portion of the grand total is traceable to items paid Mr. DeCottes from the bond trustee account. From that source alone, according to the city records, Mr. DeCottes has received some $87,851.42 between August 1, 1923 and the present time.

Since last August 6, he has been paid $10,300.32 for services, expenses and one thing or another. The city still owes him $10,560 which brings the total for the last 10 months alone to $20,760.32, not paid or payable. The bond issues sold last Monday was partly to pay $5,370.50 of the amount the City owes him.

Mr. DeCottes' receipts from the City often came in large lots, the records show. Here are just a few of the bigger ones:

April 14, 1924	$11,000.00
April 14, 1924	2,178.10
July 23, 1926	9,621.93
October 11, 1926	8,288.00
December 13, 1926	10,300.00
April 11, 1927	6,537.29

These are only a few of the larger amounts in the 23 items listed as paid to Mr. DeCottes in the bond trustee disbursement account. Other amounts range from $2,700 down.

In addition to Mr. DeCottes' fees, expenses, retainers, salaries, and what not, other legal expenses of considerable size have been incurred by the City according to the records.

Since last August, I. H. Boggs, Jacksonville attorney, has been paid $2,277.20 direct and another $2,500.00 through Mr. DeCottes, whom he was employed to assist in the Chase National Bank suit. Hornblower, Miller and Garrison, New York attorneys, have been paid a simple retainer of $2,500.

Olds and ends, apparently expenses incurred by the City Attorney, are listed in the ordinary fund disbursement ledgers. These include such items as $147.35 to the Seminole Hudson-Exxon Company, $12.54 paid to the Western

YANKEES SUFFER SLUMP BUT KEEP 10.5 GAME LEAD

Cardinals Increase Hold in National to Five And One Half Games; Macks Give Little Threat to Leaders

NEW YORK, July 13.—While the St. Louis Cardinals have increased their lead over the New York Giants to 5 1/2 games, the world's champion Yankees are no longer sitting the heavy patz which they maintained for almost half the season. The Yanks haven't been playing better than .550 ball for the past month and apparently will not be able to equal the record of 116 victories established by the old Chicago Cubs.

Pipiras has been knocked out in his last two starts. Fenwick is just pulling out of a slump and the other New York pitchers are no mystery to rival batmen these days. Fortunately for Miller Huggins, the Athletics aren't burning up the league either and are still 10 1/2 games behind.

The tail-end Tigers gave young Henry Johnson the works in the ninth inning yesterday, scoring 3 runs and winning 4 to 2. They have trimmed the Yanks twice in their last three starts against them.

Ted Lyons of the White Sox stopped the Athletics, 4 to 3, but Ed Rommel subdued the Sox by 5 to 2 score in the nightcap.

One of the best pitched games of the season ended in a scoreless tie in the ninth when rain stopped the Reds and the Dodgers. Cincinnati got only three hits off Ray Moss, and Luque held Brooklyn to six singles. The Reds tied the Giants for second place.

The Giants couldn't hit Haines, while St. Louis handed Pittsboro and Kewpie Buckley a royal shelling. Jupiter Phivous mercifully stopped the proceedings in the sixth with New York trailing by an 11 to 1 score.

Charley Root, who had won nearly 20 games for the Cubs at this time last year but has been almost a total flop this season, ended his losing streak of seven straight games by beating Boston, 4 to 1.

George Uhle, of Cleveland, also staged a comeback by scoring a 2 to 1 victory over Washington when Burns singled in the tenth.

General Alvin Crowder registered his tenth win of the season when the Browns trimmed the Red Sox, 3 to 1.

Line of Strategy Followed by Champion in Bout Is Revealed As Being Concentrated Attack on One Point

By Davis J. Walsh International News Service

It began to dawn upon the writer today that possibly some one has been making a big mistake about Gene Tunney and it isn't the guy who said he was all right. One as a matter of fact, could hardly go wrong any longer on this point after what happened at the champion's camp this morning. Just as he proved himself a fighter when he got up off the nap of his neck in the seventh round at Chicago, he did another creditable thing this morning and proved himself a man.

Without suggestion or solicitation of any kind, he informed his sparring partners that the reason they were to have received for appearing on the Tunney-Heney card on the night of the twenty-sixth—a program now destined for extinction by the boxing commission—would be paid by him in full. It isn't publicity prattle, either.

The matter came to front and center when a wire from Richard informed the camp of the commission's intentions and Tunney immediately took charge.

"I want you fellows to know that you are going to lose nothing by this decision," was the purport of his opening remarks. "I will make plenty of money out of this fight and naturally am in a better position than you to stand a loss. So forget about the money you think you are going to lose. I'll make it good to you and glad."

He had no comment on the commission's expressed desire to bat the sparring partner of both camps from the program, beyond saying that, if this was to be the procedure in the future, a champion will have his troubles lining up good men to take his daily abuse.

A situation such as this one was good for a notable blast from the champion but Tunney either is getting smart in this respect or is receiving sounder advice or both. In regard to the advice matter, the official buffer, who buff neatly and quickly while you wait. Anyhow, there is no doubt that Tunney and the newspaper men are far from the mutually distrustful specimens they were at Stroudsburg and later at Lake Villa.

Unless they are putting on a second rate act, there are signs here of a budding intimacy that might even ripen into something better and finer. They really seem to have become aware of each other as human beings for the first time.

Indirectly, this state of affairs has sought an outlet in laudatory comment. Of course, even a blind man riding bareback would sense the fact that the physical Gene Tunney today is all that anyone could ask. He is a fighter—a physical genius, at this moment as he ever will be in his life again. So, the boys, looking at this perfection of health and feeling strangely mellow in their altered relationship with him, appear to be seeing his daily performances through the rose tints of portiality.

Tunney isn't boxing as well as he might. But few of his envious observers appear to realize this. Once they saw him as worse than he could possibly be; Now they see him as better than he actually thinks he is himself. But that is life.

IF CATS COULD SPEAK

By Samuel Hoffenstein
 Sometimes in the dead of night,
 Beyond the tiger-yellow light,
 I hear the silence; then I see
 It sprawling cat-wise comfortably
 With high black arched against the sky,
 And starry languor in its eyes,
 Transparent in transparent air,
 Yet darkly outlined to my state,
 Then it occurs to me if that
 Content and immortal cat
 Loved its ubiquitous, soft paw,
 And opened those impalpable jaws,
 And spoke—what revelation then
 Would flash and thunder upon men
 What light apocalyptic would Shine from the eyes of evil and good;
 What speech articulate would fall
 From stars in the air's confessional;
 What secrets, joys and woe would sing,
 And the stone mouth of everything!

Then it occurs to me, as now,
 That all that cat can say is
 "Meow!"

News is news, even when one has to dig it up to get at it, and as we said before, we believe in letting the sparks fly where they will.

What everyone is asking now
 "Why is George DeCottes sore at the Herald?" Because the Herald is trying to stop his gravy train.

So many Americans are going to Europe this summer that it would seem they are doing their best to pay the foreigners' war debts for them.

And remember that twenty thousand dollars a year includes only those commissions and fees which could be obtained from the City records.

Gradually the remnants of the former Noble party are being restored. We hope Mussolini will send a chapone along the next time the Italian general leaves for the North Pole.

Elks assembled in Miami are recommending that their organization raise a twenty million dollar fund for benevolent purposes. Such a fund properly administered could do an inestimable amount of good.

It is almost inconceivable that our Commissioners are willing to pay George DeCottes over three times as much annually as the city of Jacksonville, ten times bigger, pays for the services of its City Attorney.

J. M. Smoot, the president of the Miami Jockey Club, announces that the horses will run in Hialeah next winter. With both the races and Al Capone doing business next season, someone must be looking for another boom.

Lindbergh, the Colonel who flew across the Atlantic, tried to get a check cashed in a Nebraska restaurant and found the proprietor didn't know him. Fame is short lived at best, and it probably is not as far reaching at the time as people are inclined to believe it is.

It is something distinctly new for the Democrats to enter a campaign with a "Big Business" campaign manager. The combination of an opponent of New York masters as candidate for the presidency, of a Missouri Southerner as his running mate, with a prominent financier for their manager, should be a winner.

We have been told that the Commissioners are preparing to severely reprimand The Herald at their next regular meeting for exposing George DeCottes, but we are inclined to believe that they will do something looking more to the solution of Sanford's financial problems. We believe that even yet there is lingering in them some regard for the wishes of their constituents.

Public Confidence Must Be Restored

According to figures obtained from the City clerk's office and the County tax collector's office, eighty-one per cent of the County taxes have been paid whereas only fifty-five per cent of the City taxes have been collected. These figures are all the more significant when one stops to recall that the City conducted an intensive six-day advertising campaign, called a mass meeting and rightly resorted to every possible means of collecting taxes, while the County has been able to collect a sufficient percentage of its taxes without employing any unusual methods.

With such facts in mind, when one stops to realize that a considerable proportion of the County's taxes are paid by Sanford citizens, one is forced to wonder why the people are paying their County taxes in preference to their City taxes. We find the answer to the question in the matter of confidence. The people apparently have no faith in their municipal government. It was thought that the fall of Forrest Lake would restore confidence, but his former throne has been usurped and is now occupied by one, more despotic, more autocratic, more oppressive than Forrest Lake ever desired to be.

George DeCottes grimly goes about his business of running the City without the slightest regard for the wishes of the people. It was largely on his advice, and partly through his own efforts, that the City Charter has been so abridged, amended, deleted and extended that the last vestige of the old document upon which the citizens originally voted has been almost wholly destroyed. With very few exceptions these charter changes have been made, not only without any referendum to the people, but also even without their knowledge.

It is now unfortunately possible under our present City Charter and the recent acts of the legislature for any municipal improvement to be made without authorization from the people; for a street to be paved, for instance, under the sole order of the Commissioners; to allow the bills to become overdue, and then to sell refunding bonds for settlement in full, refunding bonds, upon which, it seems, necessary attorney fees must be paid. There is at present no limit beyond which the bonded indebtedness of the City of Sanford cannot be increased. The Commissioners, upon the advice of the City Attorney, could go on increasing our bonded indebtedness almost indefinitely, or as long as they could find a buyer for the bonds.

That this is not such far-fetched reasoning is shown by the events of the past year. Purely through the sale of REFUNDING bonds the bonded indebtedness of the City has been increased practically one million dollars. We had been under the impression that refunding bonds were supposed to take the place of other bonds, not to be added to them. We can appreciate that occasions might arise where it would be advisable to refund with bonds certain other liabilities of the City, but certainly not one million dollars worth in less than a year, a year of hard times and retrenchment.

We also understand that legally a City is not to be regarded as so grossly in error when it sells refunding bonds in order to pay interest, but that practice is certainly a violation of every economic principle. It does not profit a city any more than a person, to borrow from Peter to pay Paul, especially when Peter asks a big discount and a high rate of interest. One need only to apply the problem to his own personal affairs to see how long he would last if he continued to borrow money to pay interest on his indebtedness.

In today's paper and during the past few days, we have endeavored to give the people some understanding of why this pyramiding of indebtedness continues. Records from the City Clerk's office show that the City Attorney has been receiving an average of twenty thousand dollars a year for the past five years mostly through the sale of bonds. He also has a claim against the City at the present time of over ten thousand dollars, most of which is for his services rendered in connection with the sale of refunding bonds during the past year, and he has already been paid ten thousand dollars since the failure of the bank. There was in the bond issue just sold an item for him of over five thousand dollars.

These facts we have brought out not through any personal animosity toward Mr. DeCottes. Should he resign, we would be the first to commend him for his act. As a private citizen, he would receive only the highest praise from us. But as a public official, his advice is unsound, his ambition is unlimited, and his avarice is stupendous. Our only purpose in publishing the facts regarding his office have been in a conscientious endeavor to save the City from the inevitable pitfalls which await it if the present course is pursued. If this be tyranny, if this be ruining the credit of the City, then let George DeCottes make the most of it.

We believe that our Commissioners have been wholly misguided in their allegiance to the City Attorney and that they should turn an ear to the cries of the people long enough to ascertain for themselves that public confidence can only be restored through the removal of Mr. DeCottes. We ask them to talk to their friends, to listen to the people on the street, to employ whatever means they have for gauging public sentiment, and then govern themselves as they deem best.

The Ruinous Bond Selling Habit

Calling attention to the promiscuous issuance of bonds, a practice which has reacted disastrously to a number of Florida cities and especially to Sanford, the Florida Times-Union of Jacksonville, declares that the "habit of borrowing money to pay back debts is ruinous," and further states that "it should not be permitted." In a sound and logical editorial on municipal bonds, the Times-Union says:

"Promiscuous issuing of bonds, for public purposes, has reached the stage, in this state, where the legislature, in its next session, probably will be called on, or will volunteer, to enact restrictive legislation, in order that the unwarranted piling up of county and municipal debts shall cease. If some positive and, at least, regulatory law is not enacted then there is no assurance that taxes will not continue to mount as bonds continue to be issued, regardless of financial and other conditions.

"One particular practice, in the matter of issuing bonds, is that of borrowing money to pay back debts; in other words, to issue bonds for the securing of funds with which to pay bills that have been contracted beyond whatever limit was fixed in preceding bond issues. Thus it frequently happens that contracts are made for public work and bond money used to pay the bills. Before or after the work is completed it is found that more money than is provided for in the particular bond issue, is needed to complete payments, and there is another bond issue to make up the deficiency. In other instances bonds are issued for a specific purpose and the money resulting therefrom, or a portion thereof, is used to pay previously incurred debts of like character to those for which, ostensibly, the later bonds were issued. The result is, piling up of public debt under the guise of making needed improvements, when, as a matter of fact, only a portion of the money is so used, the other portion being devoted to paying back debts.

"The practice referred to is all wrong. There may be, and probably are, instances where estimates were too low, or where unforeseen difficulties developed that made nec-

POLICE COMMEND THE NEWSPAPERS
 FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

In a convention of chiefs of police held at Colorado Springs, Colo., some little time ago, it was stated that "the press and the police have a common aim—the public weal." The assertion came out of a belief indicated that co-operation between the police departments and the newspapers not only helped to control crime but to solve crime. The deduction came of experience and was not offered as a theory. "This," declares the Portland, Oregonian, "constitutes an answer to critics who assert that crime news should be eliminated if not wholly suppressed." The Oregonian adds:

None defends, or should defend, the glorification of crime, or the too lavish presentation of crime news in irresponsible publications that have their own ends to serve. But certain it is that to publish such news, or even to undertake a censorship thereof, would be to defeat the ends of justice and to deprive the police of an invaluable assistance. If an improper presentation of such news inspires the potential criminal, as sometimes it may, it is fully as certain that news of crime, of capture, of punishment, of prevention, is a deterrent to crime. The failure of the criminal must serve as a warning to others of criminal inclination. There is naught in the spectacle of a murderer receiving sentence to inspire another crime of the sort—or, if there may be some such defeat of criminal minds, one must remember that such minds already are ripe for grave mischief, and that the preventive lesson is vastly more potent elsewhere.

To suppress crime news is to invite new excesses, and to provide that the processes of justice shall be concealed from the common contemplation—may, even, to invite the corruption of these same processes. When the police say that they find the newspaper to be valuable allies, working with them for the common good, the police are speaking of the publication of crime news, and of that only. We assume that the police, who have both theory and practice, know what they are talking about.

There is no excuse for hiding crime; it is the offspring of darkness and thrives in obscurity. Bringing the deeds of evil minds into the glaring light of publicity—printing the facts and holding them up for the condemnation of all who are reasonable and believe in the upholding of justice and protecting the innocent—assuredly checks the inclinations of criminals. Publication of details in crime may not pay the hand of the degenerate; it may not be sufficient to hold back the assassin or influence the mind poisoned by jealous rage, but it very materially affects the average wrong-doer.

With notice that thugs and bursters are about there is instinctively a better guard maintained by citizens; and the publication of news regarding any crime draws the law-abiding people into a closer group for self-defense. Indifference to the happening in another town, city, state or foreign country, is not unnatural. People are most affected by that which happens nearby, and yet there rises a feeling of opposition in the hearts of the most peaceful whenever some heinous crime is reported, anywhere, and the hope is generally expressed that the gross offender may be stopped and deprived of the opportunity of repeating his offenses against civilization.

Crime news is never "played up" by reputable newspapers. Oftentimes the details are intensely dramatic, as discovered, and the reporter giving the facts, reveals a situation astounding, fascinating in development. A very great per cent of crime is sordid, uninteresting, and of no value to the public.

Public officials charged with the duty and the responsibility of spending money derived from the sale of bonds need to be held to more strict account than has been done in the past and than is being done in the present, in specific instances. Every bond issue should be held, and the money used, strictly for the purpose represented when the bonds were voted originally. "The habit of borrowing money to pay back debts is ruinous. It should not be permitted. In instances where legitimate debts have been incurred in the matter indicated, payment of course, must be provided for, but with the positive prohibition for further procedure along this line.

HOW VARIOUS SOUTHERN EDITORS FEEL ABOUT AL SMITH
 COLUMBUS ENQUIRER-SUN

ALABAMA
 News—Birmingham. The candidate is clearly the overwhelming choice of the national democracy. Governor Smith was not this newspaper's choice to head the Democratic ticket. The Birmingham news, mindful of the tremendously important issues posed for Alabama, the South and the Union by the Kansas City ticket, pledges its unstinted support to the election of Governor Smith and sincerely invokes all Democrats to pledge theirs.

Register—Mobile. Democracy in America is too strong to be destroyed by any mistakes of men who may temporarily gain control of its agencies, and commit it to candidates and policies not thought to be wholly in harmony with fundamental tenets, historic professions of faith, or its unsold ideals. Devotion to Democracy is needed most when what are believed to be grievous errors are forced on the party from within its own ranks, for party abandonment at such a time would mean surrender to those who would unwisely and improperly bring harm upon the party's integrity, the party's treasured heritage.

GEORGIA
 Constitution—Atlanta. The nomination on the first ballots by numbers overwhelmingly in excess of the required two-thirds illustrates and emphasizes their personal and party strength. The nomination of Governor Smith has been a foregone conclusion for many weeks, and the tirades of abuse and of radical intolerance and bigotry hurled against him strengthened him before the American people of all classes, creeds and political faiths. The selection of his running mate was particularly wise, from every viewpoint, as to issues, territorial strategy, the strengthening of party lines and the restoration and preservation of complete party harmony.

It ought to be an inevitable ticket. It will go before the American public with a code of wise, definite, constructive principles. From every viewpoint, unbiased by prejudice, it deserves to win. The tide is coming in and the wind is fair.

FLORIDA
 TIMES—Tampa. Now that Governor Smith is the nominee it can be said in all truth that he is worthy of the honor. His rise in life has been typically American. His private life is clean. His public record is without reproach so much so that he is declared one of the greatest Governors the great State of New York has ever had—and New York has had Samuel J. Tilden, Bruce V. Bennett and David B. Hill as her yield of dramatic appeal, and the investigator can scarcely more than remark on the pity of it. Here the majority of newspapers touch but lightly and the details given are mainly such as to aid in identifying the criminal and perhaps helping to find and bring him to the bar of justice.

The police and the newspapers truly work together, continually for the benefit of their communities and sections. The criminal news, while but a small part of the daily output of information, comment and advice, is important; even essential. The public generally realizes the fact. The press is more hated by criminals than ever was the pulley sprockets of the olden days. And the police understood it.

Varney, field secretary for the party in New Jersey from 1912 to 1919, was nominated for president, and Edgerston, a former populist and independence league worker, was nominated for vice president at the closing session late yesterday.

Real Steel Men To Be Seen In Action In Milane Picture

Jobless steel workers, earning their "cakes and coffee" in the motion picture extra ranks during the dull season, played at their profession familiar ground at the DeMille studio during the filming of "Skyscraper." William Boyd's new star picture production which comes to the Milane Theatre today.

The big steel structure, erected at the Culver City studio for the purpose of making his comedy-drama was originally constructed by the crew of experienced building hands who later were engaged to re-erect this work in the picture scenes.

The story of this picture deals with two steel workers who are buddies and who are constantly fighting with each other. They fall in love with two chorus girls and as a result they have a strenuous time. One is severely injured but when he sees his buddies kiss the girl he himself loves, they have one of the greatest fights ever seen on the screen.
The spectacle of hundreds of men, sprinkled among the mass of iron girders in a skeleton 13-story skyscraper lends especial interest to this photoplay centered around the antics of a pair of "hard-boiled" riveters. Alan Hale essays his first genuine comedy character opposite Boyd. An efficient supporting cast includes Sue Carr, Alberta Vaughn, Clarence Burton and Wesley Barry. Howard Higgin directed the picture from an adaptation of an original story by Elliott Clawson and Tay Garnett.

Epidemic Of Typhus Threatens Moscow; 20 Cases Reported

MOSCOW, July 14.—(INS)—An epidemic of typhus in its most virulent form is threatening Moscow. The health department has issued a warning to that effect and is preparing to take all steps to check the spread of the disease.

There are now 20 cases registered in the city, where three are considered normal. This is the highest number of cases on record at any time since the epidemic in 1923 when thousands died.
The disease was spread to Moscow by jobless peasants from Riazan where there are 174 cases. The health department proposes a strict examination of all persons coming to Moscow from Riazan, and even contemplates allowing only those with special permits to enter the city.

More than a thousand cases of scarlet fever in the contagious hospitals are also causing some anxiety, although a serious epidemic is not feared. There are nearly a hundred cases of diphtheria and 160 of typhoid fever.

Young Nationalist Party Gains Strength In China; End Of Old Order Is Near

SAN FRANCISCO July 14.—(INS)—The China that was content to rest on the laurels and traditions of its sweeping forefathers is no more.

Recent political events have strengthened the hold of the young Nationalist party, and San Francisco Chinese see the end of the bloody and bitter struggle of the monarchists again to rule the land of 450,000,000 people.

What all this means was told by Dr. Ng (Ce) Poon Chew, editor of Chung Sai Yat Po, the important Chinese daily newspaper here. Dr. Chew received the degree of Letters at the University of Pittsburgh.

"The situation in China has clarified sooner than most of the Chinese anticipated," said Dr. Poon. "Most of the Chinese have long believed that China would be under one leadership, under the leadership of one progressive government. It looks very favorable now that the objective of the Nationalists has been accomplished. This was the seizing of Peking."

Reconstruction Ahead
"From now on we may look forward to a very great period of reconstruction. We may even prophesy that the progress that will be made in the next thirty years in China will be equal if not greater than that in Japan in the last fifty years. The race of people in China today is entirely different than the Chinese of the Boxer rebellion in 1900."

"Why we are sanguine of the future is based upon the personnel of the nationalist government. All of the leaders in the Nationalist movement are of the younger generation, and most of them are returned students from either the United States, Europe or Japan. These people have come into close contact with the West and they thoroughly realize the situation in to which they have been placed by the former government. Consequently they are impatient and they are doing their very best to restore China to a position justified by the great area, resources and population.

"One of the greatest factors working toward the uplift of 450,000,000 people is the new educational movement. Mass education is reducing illiteracy and within the next generation or two illiteracy should disappear in China. The text books now prepared for the Chinese schools, of all grades, are made with the purpose of removing old ideas and traditions of the past from the minds of the young. The young minds now will be directed toward the future. The coming generation will not be bound by the fetters of habits or traditions of the past."

Analyzing China
Analyzing China, its past, present and future, Dr. Chew said the West never need fear agrandizement by an awakened China.

"Except for the tartars and Mongols, China has never been an aggressive nation seeking territory beyond its borders," Dr. Chew continued.

"The West has always held a mistaken attitude toward China in that the West has mistaken mechanical progress for culture. China has for centuries isolated itself, a self-sufficient nation, disbelieving and refusing to accept the 'new ideas' of the west. Yet China has a greater degree of culture than the West."

"In the West, meaning the United States the people are concentrating themselves in the career of the dollar. The American people are not happy. They live a quantity rather than a quality existence in their little apartments with a kitchenette. The Americans of today are not happy as were their forefathers even though they have more mechanical conveniences than did their forefathers."

TRIBUTE PAID TO DEAD IN FAMOUS FRENCH AIR UNIT

Ambassador Herrick Joins War Minister Painleve In Memorial Services Staged For Lafayette Escadrille

PARIS, July 14.—(INS)—Seventy former "warbirds" looked on the final resting place of sixty-seven comrades with whom they fought when the Lafayette Escadrille Memorial was inaugurated recently at Saint-Cloud, eight miles from Paris.

Standing in the shadow of the huge monument, an Arch of Triumph and semi-circular crypt, Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, Mr. Paul Painleve, French Minister of war, numerous officials and several thousand persons also paid tribute to the American volunteers who died in the air for France.

At the head of the surviving veterans was Captain George Thomas, commander of the Escadrille who is now air attaché at the French Embassy at Washington.

Bring Bodies Back
Until last May the bodies of the pilots lay, widely scattered in the cemeteries of France, Belgium and Italy. The bodies were brought to Saint-Cloud under the supervision of Lieutenant Edgar G. Hamilton, veteran of the Escadrille and now serving in the French Foreign Legion in Morocco, who conceived the plan for a vast memorial.

Tracing the history of American fighting under the French flag, Ambassador Herrick said: "The people of the United States owe a very special debt to these Americans in the Escadrille Lafayette and their comrades of the Foreign Legion. During three, terrible long years when the sting of criticism cut into every American soul, they were showing the world how their countrymen could fight if only they were allowed the opportunity."

"To many of us they seemed the saviors of our national honor giving the lie to current sneers upon the courage of our nation. Their influence at home was also tremendous."

Fitting Tribute
"Without the boys of the Lafayette Escadrille we might still have entered the war, but the trumpet call they sounded was answered by millions of passionate voices urging to action the authorities of their Government. It is, therefore, a most fitting thing that these first defenders of our country's precious name should be singled out for special love and reverence."

With the veterans of the Escadrille came friends and relatives from America, making the total number of pilgrims 300. Receptions will be given in their honor by governmental and diplomatic officials. They will remain in France for the military review on July 14, French Independence Day.

Popular subscriptions, ranging from $24,000 given by Mr. William Nelson Cromwell to 40 cents contributed by a drummer boy in

GERMANY TAKES TO AUTOMOBILES, SAYS STATEMENT

Berlin Alone Now Has More Than 75,000 Motor Cars And Motorcycles; Popularity Is Increasing Rapidly

BERLIN, July 14.—(INS)—Automobiles are steadily gaining ground in Germany.

There are more now than 75,000 automobiles and motorcycles in use in Berlin alone, and this number will probably be increased by about 5,000 every month during this season. In Berlin dealers sold no less than 3,523 new cars and more than 2,000 motorcycles the last 12 months. While there were cars totalling five million marks exported during the first quarter 1927, the export of automobiles during the same period 1928 amounted to 10 million marks.

At the same time, German automobile exports doubled during the last 12 months. While there were cars totalling five million marks exported during the first quarter 1927, the export of automobiles during the same period 1928 amounted to 10 million marks.

This was mainly due to an increased demand for German passenger cars, the export of trucks dropped from 3,600,000 to 2,200,000 marks during the last 12 months. But the import of foreign especially American trucks, also dropped from 439 to 55 during that period.

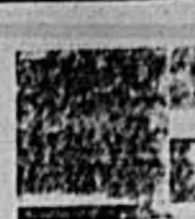

In the passenger car line, however, foreign competition in the German automobile market made itself more felt than ever. While the value of imported cars for the first three months of 1927 amounted to 11,700,000 marks, the figure rose to 18,000,000 marks for the same period of this year, though the second quarter of 1927 had been put up a record with 23,000,000 marks of imported cars.

The French Army, built the memorial. Large sums were given by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Booth, Mr. Austen K. Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Chapman, Mr. H. C. Hoskier, Mr. Frederick Prince, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mrs. Samuel W. Skinner, and Mrs. B. F. Thomas.

The memorial arch is half the size of the Arc de Triumphe and its stone facade bears the names of the dead and living members of the Escadrille, and the names of battlefields on which they fought. Stairways under the colonnades lead down to the semi-circular sanctuary. Large windows permit daylight to flood through to the 17 niches where the tombs lay.

LEAPS TO DEATH

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 14.—(INS)—Five minutes after he had registered as Paul Harder, a man leaving no baggage or identification papers, plunged to his death from a tenth floor window of the Tutwiler Hotel here today. The body hitting the ground, narrowly missed striking a pedestrian in the busy thoroughfare.

AN OPEN MESSAGE

To The Public About

COMMUNITY DOLLAR

DAY - WEDNESDAY

It is now almost a month since the June Community Dollar Day...its success was so outstanding—the public responded so heartily to the offerings of the merchants who participated, that another City-Wide event was planned for this month.

Elaborate plans have been made for the event next Wednesday. Almost a month has been spent in preparation. Merchants have ordered special merchandise by wire and letter—each parcel post, the express and freight brings merchandise for Dollar Day.

Unique advertising is being used to reach the people of Seminole, Volusia, Orange and Lake Counties in an endeavor to bring to Sanford the largest throng of shoppers in the city's history. Several stores who did not participate in June have joined the ranks.

Merchants have shown a commendable spirit of co-operation in staging this event. No expense or labor has been spared to make this Dollar Day the greatest ever conducted in Sanford. Mindful of the public's response to the June Dollar Day and having made every possible preparation for Wednesday, Sanford merchants anticipate a record-breaking crowd for a record-breaking Day of Bargains.
