Drugs-For-Sex Offer Lands Seminole Man In Jail

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A Winter Springs man made the wrong proposal to the wrong men, according to sheriff's reports. The proposal, cocaine in exchange for sex. The wrong men, Seminole County drug task force agents.

The agents report making contact with the suspect by phone on Oct. 25 after they had been informed that the suspect had been offering young men cocaine in exchange for sex.

In that conversation the agents said the suspect discussed the use of cocaine in conjunction with sex acts and stated he wished to perform those acts with them.

One phoned the suspect again at about 4 p.m. Monday. Once again the man discussed the use of cocaine in conjunction with sex and made a date to meet the agents later Monday at his home.

The agents called the suspect again at 7 p.m. Monday and the man reportedly told them he was ready for the meeting. When the officers arrived at the man's home and were invited in they reported they noticed hashish, marijuana and drug paraphernalia on the coffee table.

There was discussion of sex and drugs between the agents and the suspect during which the suspect reportedly told the officers he had "on several other occasions" exchanged cocaine for sex with young men, a sheriff's report said.

The agents, who were wearing microphones, gave a code word and other lawmen moved in and arrested the suspect.

James B. Sartori, 44, of #12 Hacienda Village, was arrested at 8:15 p.m. Monday at his home. He was charged with possession of hashish, marijuana and drug paraphernalia in addition to being charged with assignment to commit lewd and lascivious acts.

He was released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Nov. 11.

Sales Tax's Ballot Spot Worries Polk

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Sheriff John Polk is concerned that Seminole County's voters may leave polling places Nov. 6 without voting on the question of whether a 1-cent sales tax should be levied for one year to pay for expanding criminal justice facilities in the county.

"The question is the last item — on the back of Card C — on a lengthy ballot — three punch cards on which voters are expected to vote both sides — and the voters might miss it," he said.

Polk has been campaigning for months, speaking to every civic and fraternal organization from which he could wangle an invitation, about the necessity of expanding jail facilities — slated to be the major improvement undertaken if the sales tax is approved — before, he says, a federal court steps in (as happened in Orange, Volusia and Brevard counties) and orders prisoners be set free because of overcrowding.

The major pitches Polk gives in those talks are:

- The tax, according to state law, can be levied for one year only.

- The resulting revenue — estimated at $13.2 million — can be used only for criminal justice facilities improvements and construction.

- The tax can be collected only on the first $1,000 in purchases of any single transaction.

- The county commissioners voted unanimously to place the issue on the ballot.

- Everyone who shops in the county will pay part of the costs. Thirty to 35 percent of Seminole's shoppers come from out-of-county and out-of-state and they will pay too, he says.

- Ultimately a federal court will direct the county to expand the jail, and Seminole Countians would have to pay back at least $38 million for a $13.2 million bond issue over the term of the issue. Polk based his estimates on costs of a 25-year issue at an average 10 percent annual interest.

- Any of the proceeds left unspent after the listed im-

Costume Capers

These youngsters were among those getting a jump on Halloween by getting dressed up for the costume contest for children 12 and under held Saturday at the Center Mall in Sanford. Left, Noelle Wolfe, 5, of Sanford, does her Michael Jackson imitation, which won her first place and a Cabbage Patch doll. Two-year-old Nicholas Sollien, Sanford, made his appearance in a bunny suit. Other top winners in the contest were Jeffrey Belford, 11, who dressed as an old woman and received a Castle Grayskull toy set for his prize, and "Hobo" John Mayer, 8, who received an AM/FM radio.

Legal Secretary Loses Jail-Time Appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A secretary who dispenses legal forms and advice from a storefront office in Florida has failed to convince the Supreme Court to review her criminal conviction for practicing law without a license.

The justices Monday dismissed an appeal filed by Rosemary Furman, of Jacksonville, to reverse a 30-day jail sentence she received for dispensing legal forms and advice from her office, Northside Secretarial Service.

The announcement lets stand a Florida Supreme Court order that she serve 30 days in jail for violating a ruling from that court to suspend her business operations.

The court said it not have jurisdiction to review the case because there was no substantial question of federal law for it to review.

Furman, who drew national attention with her fight against the Florida Bar Association and the state supreme court, started her service with the idea that many simple legal problems could be solved without hiring a lawyer.

What she encountered, however, was a complex legal problem of her own when the bar and the state high court both agreed her advice and sale of forms constituted practicing law, for which she had no license.

What Furman did was put together packets of legal forms on divorce, name changes and adoptions and sold them for $50. For that price she also helped clients fill out the forms and gave them advice on where to file the papers.

She told the high court she did not attempt to hide her service, since she advertised it in newspapers, has never said she was a lawyer and has never had a complaint lodged against her by a customer.

Nonetheless, the state moved to shut her business down and in 1979 it convinced the Florida Supreme Court to order her to close up her shop, although it did not fine her or order her imprisoned. When she did not close, the bar moved against her again and in 1982 the state supreme court sentenced her to serve 30 days in jail for violating its earlier order.

The state court rejected arguments that she was entitled to a jury trial because lawyers and judges were biased against her because she was taking their business.

Furman is still running her business, although she is abiding by the state high court order that prevents her from giving advice to customers who buy the legal forms from her. She has also remained free while the case has been in the courts.

Killers Executed In Louisiana, Texas

By United Press International

Convicted killers were executed in Texas and Louisiana early today, one reciting the 23rd Psalm as he was led to the electric chair for killing a gas station owner and the other praying for the wife of the policeman he murdered.

"I'm going home," Earnest Knighton, 38, said moments before he was electrocuted at 12:17 a.m. CST in "Gruesome Gentle," the inmates' name for the electric chair at the state prison in Angola, La.

Seven minutes later and 235 miles away in Huntsville, Texas,

Thomas Andy Barefoot, 39, an oilfield roughneck who said God had promised to spare him, was pronounced dead from a lethal injection.

"I'm sorry for everything I've done to anybody," Barefoot said.

Knighton and Barefoot became the 27th and 28th people executed since the Supreme Court lifted the ban on the death penalty eight years ago.

The Supreme Court and other courts rejected last-minute appeals Monday from both men and the governors of Louisiana and Texas refused to intervene.

Knighton's lawyers claimed he was drug-crazed when he killed Ralph Shell of Bossier City, La. during a March 17, 1981 robbery that netted $300.

Barefoot, convicted in the 1978 shooting death of Carl Levin, a Harker Heights, Texas police officer, had received four stays of execution. His attorneys argued psychiatric testimony used in the punishment phase was obtained illegally and important information was suppressed.

As he was led down the long corridor to the death chamber, Knighton recited the 23rd Psalm, raising his voice as he crossed the threshold, saying, "Surely I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

In a written statement, he apologized for his crime but spoke out against his punishment, saying, "You don't teach respect for life by killing. I urge you not to kill anyone else."

Barefoot asked for forgiveness and said he held no grudges.

"I've been praying all day for Carl Levin's wife to drive the bitterness from her heart because that bitterness in her heart will send her to hell," Barefoot said as he was strapped to a table prior to injection.

Productivity Upsurge Makes Abrupt Halt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The improvement in productivity of American workers off the farm suddenly came to an end in the third quarter, a surprising setback for one of the brightest aspects of the recovery, the government reports.

The zero rate of improvement in the amount of output per hour of 81.6 million American workers was the first quarter without growth in more than two years.

Most striking, the Labor Department Monday report showed economic output in the overall economy slowed down even more abruptly than reflected in the Commerce Department's latest measurement of the gross national product.

In another area of the economy, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan returned to one of his favorite themes, criticism of the Federal Reserve, after swearing off the subject so far in the campaign season.

Not satisfied with a 12 percent prime rate that took effect Monday for most commercial banks, Regan told an audience of savings and loan executives and later a news conference that the Fed could expand the money supply faster than it has.

Saying the money supply expanded less than 1 percent in the last 13 weeks, Regan told reporters, "As I alluded to in my speech, I think that's a little on the tight side and there's room for easing."

He acknowledged, however, that the Fed may already be pumping money into the system faster.

The weekly auction of Treasury bills contained a hint, though, that interest rates are not slipping much lower. After seven weeks of declines in both three- and six-month bills, they turned mixed Monday, with six-month bills edging back up.

The Labor Department's productivity measure is the government's best attempt to gauge the efficiency of workers, management, transportation systems and all the other ingredients that turn an hour of paid labor into a certain amount of goods and services.

The more productivity, the faster the growth in the standard of living without inflation.

The department's report, on non-farm productivity, showed output growing 10.3 percent in the first quarter and another 10.6 percent in the second quarter.

But the third quarter growth in output suddenly dropped to 1.6 percent.

"Growth virtually stopped, department analyst Lawrence Fulco said.

It was the first calendar quarter to show no productivity improvement since April-June of 1982, during the last recession.

In contrast the gross national product grew 7.1 percent in the second quarter and slowed down to a 2.7 percent annual rate in the third quarter, less of a shift in economic gears although still markedly slower.

Regan said he believes the third quarter was the worst of the year and that GNP growth will be from 4 percent to 4.3 percent in the current fourth quarter.

Safety Panel: Get Rid Of Dangerous Baby Equipment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — That antique crib from your grandmother's attic may look beautiful, but it might be a "hand-me-down hazard" that could trap infants by the neck and strangle them, the Consumer Product Safety Commission warns.

Commission Chairman Nancy Steorts told a news conference Monday that despite safety standards recently put in force for some new nursery equipment — including cribs, high chairs and playpens — many older model items are being used today because they have been handed down through families or purchased at garage sales.

"If a crib is more than 10 years old, throw it out," Steorts advised, saying many old-style cribs have slats or decorative posts spaced so far apart that a child's head can be caught between them.

She said the equipment has caused more than 90,000 injuries — and 177 deaths — since 1983.

Barfield Launches Appeal

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Defense attorneys have launched a new round of appeals for Margie Velma Barfield, but prosecutors believe the 52-year-old grandmother will be executed as scheduled Friday for poisoning her fiancé.

If Barfield dies by lethal injection at 2 a.m. EST Friday in North Carolina's Central Prison, she will be the first woman executed in the United States in 22 years.

Barfield, who spent her 52nd birthday Monday under a "death watch," allowed attorneys to file an appeal with the North Carolina Supreme Court claiming she was "legally incompetent" in 1978 when she killed her fiancé, Stuart Little, by lacing his beer and iced tea with rat and ant poison.

Barfield blames the murders on drug addiction.

After her arrest, Barfield also confessed to poisoning her mother and two Lumberton, N.C. residents whom she cared for as a private nurse.

Soviets Headed For Mars?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is growing evidence the Soviet Union plans to bypass the moon and send men around Mars before the end of the century, perhaps in only eight years, according to former Apollo astronaut Harrison Schmitt.

"An attempt to put Soviet cosmonauts in the vicinity of Mars by October 1992, the 75th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, is not only possible, it is highly probable," Schmitt said.

He told an opening session Monday of a three-day NASA symposium on future space projects that the Soviet Union seems determined to "establish its sovereignty in deep space and on Mars before the forces of freedom do so."

NASA administrator James Beggs opened the meeting by predicting the United States would decide to return men to the moon to establish a lunar base within 25 years.

Blacks Arrange Boycott Of City Manager's Post

MIAMI (UPI) — Black community leaders said at a rally Monday they are asking black city managers around the country to turn down the job of Miami city manager if offered it by commissioners who fired the city's first black manager.

"They will not be able to get any of the black city managers in the country to take the job," said state Rep. James Burke, D-Miami. Burke did not identify which cities have been contacted, but said there are "only a handful of cities with black managers."

About 1,000 people, mostly blacks, chanting "Gary, Gary, Gary" and "recall, recall, recall," attended a noon rally on the steps of the county courthouse to whip up enthusiasm for the reinstatement of Howard Gary, the black city manager whose firing last Thursday sparked cries of racism, ethnic politics, and "behind the chicken house" city management.

Gary, 37, is the highest paid city manager in the country. He is paid $108,000 a year. The City Commission voted 42 times before agreeing to hire him in 1981.

Kennedy Photos Not Released

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal judge has heeded the request of family members who wanted to stop the public release of any photographs of David Kennedy's body because their release would cause irreparable "mental suffering and harm."

In an emergency hearing Monday, U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings ruled that the photographs must be kept private until another federal judge can review them and issue a permanent ruling on whether their release could be damaging to the Kennedy family.

The ruling involves 59 photographs taken during an autopsy and in the Palm Beach hotel room where Kennedy was found dead of a drug overdose April 25. The 28-year-old son of assassinated Sen. Robert Kennedy had a history of drug abuse and died from a combination of cocaine and the prescription drugs Demerol and Mellaril.

Two former bellboys at the hotel are awaiting trial on charges of selling cocaine to Kennedy.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Bitter cold rushing down from the Arctic Circle dropped the mercury to 15 degrees below zero in Montana today, snow fell from Montana to Minnesota, and fog enveloped the Southeast. By early morning it was 15 below zero at Havre, Mont., and 9 below at Cutbank. Monday's high at Cutbank was only 7 above. High temperature records fell from New England to Florida Monday as record-breaking warm blankets the East Coast in the second straight day. Fog clouded parts of the southeastern quarter of the nation today. Visibility was reported near zero in parts of the Appalachian Mountains and the southern Atlantic Coast. Travelers advisories for reduced visibility also were posted for central Kentucky, western Tennessee and northern Louisiana. A winter storm watch covered northern Montana, already hit by up to 20 inches of snow Sunday and Monday.

'Don't Watch The Polls'

United Press International Ronald Reagan and Walter Mondale are urging supporters to ignore the polls, but Reagan is taking two days off from the stump a week before the election while Mondale has set a grueling schedule that takes him to every region of the country.

The difference in their approaches may reflect what poll after poll shows — that Reagan has a large lead over his Democratic challenger.

"Stop reading the polls," Reagan said in an appeal to his supporters during a stop in a one-day trip through Pennsylvania and West Virginia. "Don't let anything keep you on Nov. 6 from getting out and doing what we must do and seeing that your neighbors get out."

Reagan, whose polls show him leading in every state but Minnesota, was asked if he expected to sweep the 50 states and said, "I don't know. I'm not going to comment on what the result might be. I'm going to just keep on campaigning and I hope I win."

Underscoring the campaign's confidence, Reagan remains in the White House today and Wednesday then returns to the road for a 10-state swing that will end in his home state of California on Election Day.

Mondale ridiculed the leisurely pace of his opponent's campaign, saying: "Most of the time, Reagan is sleeping at Camp David."

When asked about Mondale's assertion that he was so overconfident that he spent the weekend at Camp David, Reagan said in West Virginia: "If I hadn't been overnighting (there), I'd have been overnighting in the White House. Either place is good sleeping."

Mondale, who plans to campaign a full day every day before the election, has said repeatedly, the polls do not matter and he will no longer comment on them.

Recent figures give Mondale good reason to ignore the polls. National Public Radio Monday released a poll taken by Louis Harris showing Reagan with a lead of 58 percent to 41 percent over Mondale.

In Seattle, Mondale chose to note his endorsements by The Washington Post and The New York Times and pointed to the Miami Herald, whose editorial board wanted to endorse him but was overruled by the paper's publisher.

"People are beginning to think," Mondale said, adding that no one controls the voters.

Republicans are confident enough of victory that they have sent Vice President George Bush traveling South — Reagan's strongest region — to help GOP House candidates.

Underscoring the GOP interest in whittling down the commanding Democratic lead in the House, Bush seemed to be campaigning harder against House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., than against Mondale.

"Let's give our president a Congress he can work with," Bush said in Birmingham, Ala.

campaigning on behalf of House candidate J.T. Waggoner. "It's a big job, but we have to lift up Tip O'Neill... and move him aside."

Geraldine Ferraro, appearing in a New York synagogue, tore into Reagan for the administration's alliance with right-wing fundamentalist preachers like Jerry Falwell.

There was hissing from the congregation when the Democratic vice presidential candidate quoted Falwell as saying, "The idea that religion and politics don't mix was invented by the devil to keep Christians from running their own country."

Nuclear Fallout Damage Seen In Students' Lower SAT Scores

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A researcher says a drop in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores among teens in seven states is attributable to radioactive fallout from nuclear tests that entered their milk when they were infants.

Ernest Sternglass, professor of radiological physics at the University of Pittsburgh, Monday said SAT scores had dropped as much as 18 percent in Utah, North and South Dakota, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Colorado and Iowa.

"You can't explain an 18 percent drop in SAT scores on television or poor teaching," Sternglass said.

There is mounting evidence, Sternglass said, that radioactivity reduces production of a thyroid hormone that controls the development of the brain during the first two years of life.

The radioactivity entered the thyroids of babies while they were in the womb through food and drink their mothers consumed, said Sternglass, who has studied the health effects of nuclear test fallout since 1961.

He said SAT scores began to increase in 1982 nationwide but declined in states downwind from the nuclear testing.

Sternglass blames a recent decline in SAT scores on "large amounts of radioactive fallout that were found in the milk, this time from the largest series of shallow underground nuclear bomb explosions carried out in Nevada between 1966 and 1968."

"In sharp contrast, no declines in verbal scores were reported for any states east of the Mississippi," he said.

The largest declines in SAT scores in 1984 took place in Utah — which dropped 18 percent and is east and directly downwind of the test site in southern Nevada — and in North Dakota and Oklahoma, he said. Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Iowa also have experienced sharp drops in test scores, he said.

At the same time, he said, the combined math and verbal SAT test scores rose 4 percentage points in the nation as a whole.

Sternglass said he knew of no other reason why students 18 through 18 years of age living downwind of the Nevada test site would have scored low.

A sharp decline in SAT scores also occurred in 1975, 18 years after the largest test series in Nevada, Sternglass said.

Sternglass said he reached his conclusion by comparing state-by-state SAT scores, U.S. Public Health Service statistics on the amount of radioactivity in milk in each state and studies that link radioactivity to damaged infant thyroids.

Man Gets 17 Years For Rape Of Woman, 69

Two Plead In Separate Drug Cases

A Geneva man who was caught hauling marijuana plants around in the bed of his pickup truck has pleaded guilty to possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana.

Jon Marvin Corstange, 40, of P.O. Box 82, is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 7 by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi. Corstange could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to his arrest report, a Seminole County sheriff's deputy reported spotting the mobile crop of five potted pot plants in the back of Corstange's 1984 Dodge on July 3. Corstange said he did not know that the plants, which he had raised from seeds, were marijuana.

The deputy reported the plants ranged in size from 18-inches to 30-inches. He said the plants were in plain view as the truck drove down a dirt road off Old Geneva Road in Geneva.

In another case before Salfi Monday, a fast-driving man who tried to outrun Altamonte Springs police and was later charged with possession of cocaine pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine.

Joe Gerrado Pozo, 38, of Orlando, could receive up to a year in the county jail if he has no prior record when sentenced Dec. 7 by Salfi.

According to the arrest report, after police ordered Pozo to stop on May 16, he reportedly sped along state Road 436, Maitland Avenue and Palm Springs Drive before stopping on North Lake Boulevard.

The officer who searched him for weapons after his car was stopped reported finding a white powder on the seat of the car and a bag of cocaine under the driver's seat.

In court action Friday, an Orlando man received 17 years for the rape of a 69-year-old Altamonte Springs woman.

Charles Hornell Thomas, 19, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was sentenced by Seminole Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr.

According to the arrest report, the woman said she was awakened at 6 a.m. June 28 by a man wearing only a yellow ski cap. He entered the home through a kitchen window, brandishing a hunting knife with a five- or six-inch blade and told the woman he would kill her if she screamed. The woman, according to sheriff's reports, had a .22-caliber handgun on her nightstand but was unable to reach it until after the attack.

After the assault began she screamed and frightened the man away, according to a sheriff's report.

The woman was treated and released from Central Florida Regional Hospital where tests confirmed she had sexual contact.

factory-built of pre-cast concrete and joined together in pods at the site.

Architects said the precasting technique will allow cells to be built with only one ceiling joint made from an epoxy cement mortar, harder than concrete.

The older building method, such as concrete block construction, uses multiple joints in the cells, joints which inmates can chip to create hiding places for contraband, the architects said.

Cell walls, ceilings and floors will be formed from precast concrete, a material which is the strongest concrete on the market and twice as strong as the concrete block which has been the accepted standard, they said. The precast concrete modular design will permit the cells to be converted to maximum or minimum security as future needs dictate.

The core area (the central area) of the jail will be renovated and expanded to include the kitchen, booking area, laundry room, medical section, all program areas and all support services aside from prisoners' beds and cells.

Polk says this expansion will provide facilities for 1,000 so that when additional space is needed for cells for up to 1,000, expected in the mid 1990's, the core area walls won't have to be knocked out.

OPEC Discusses Where, How Much Oil Output To Be Cut

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — OPEC oil ministers, agreeing on an overall cut in production to bolster prices, began a second day of crisis talks today to share the reduction among cartel members.

The 13 ministers quickly agreed at their first day of talks Monday on an overall OPEC cutback of 1.5 million barrels a day. That would reduce to 16 million barrels a day the cartel's current combined production ceiling of 17.5 million barrels.

Ministers said the cutback would remain in force for some two months or until prices return to the $29 per barrel OPEC base price through increased winter demand in the industrial nations.

If the conference can agree on sharing the 1.5-million-barrel reduction, the cutback would come into force this Thursday. Saudi Arabian oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani told reporters late Monday night.

Saudi Arabia as the biggest OPEC producer was expected to absorb up to two-thirds of the total reduction.

Jewish Terrorists Attack Bus

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A Jewish terrorist group has claimed responsibility for a missile attack that killed an Arab passenger on a bus, wounded 10 others and sparked protests in the occupied West Bank.

Israeli troops fired tear gas to disperse rock-throwing Palestinian students at Bethlehem University Monday to protest the attack on the bus 24 hours earlier. A note signed by the "Avengers" and retrieved by police warned of more attacks to come unless 20 Jews charged with terrorism are freed.

Police Minister Haim Bar-Lev, who said the Sunday attack outside the gray stone wall surrounding the Old City of Jerusalem was carried out by Jewish extremists, was to report to the Knesset, Israel's parliament, today on the investigation into the anti-tank missile strike. No arrests have been reported.

A spokesman for the five-man team investigating the attack told Israel Radio that three or four extremists were suspected of responsibility for the assault, carried out in apparent retaliation for the killing of two young Jewish hikers last week.

Iran Massing For Offensive

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Diplomats and military experts say Iran is massing troops and equipment for a new push into Iraq across the strategic Shatt al Arab waterway on the southern front of the 4-year-old Persian Gulf war.

Up to 5,000 boats purchased by Iran recently from the United States and western European countries have been concentrated in staging areas for the offensive, sources from Western, Arab and Asian nations said Monday.

One military expert said Iran was preparing to launch the attack within the next month.

He said Iranian plans call for a "limited offensive." Other sources said Iraq was expecting a major drive on the southern front, where the strategic port of Basra, the second largest city in the country, is located.

The sources said Iranian and Iraqi troops had fought heavy artillery duels during the past 48 hours in an area 12 miles south of Basra.

Divers Search For Priest's Body

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Divers braved the strong currents and whirlpools of a river in northern Poland in a futile search for the body of a popular pro-Solidarity priest apparently killed by Interior Ministry security agents.

A government statement broadcast on national radio Monday said two of the three Interior Ministry security agents held in the kidnapping of the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko admitted dumping his body in a waterway in northern Poland.

7-Eleven Clerk Charged In Forgery

A Sanford 7-Eleven clerk has been charged with forgery and grand theft for allegedly stealing three American Express money orders and cashing them.

Sheriff's deputies report that the man altered and signed three money orders with a combined value of $567.88. The money orders were cashed at Southeast and Sun banks in Sanford on Oct. 3 and 10.

Gary Lynn Frymyer, 22, of Box 5, 3800 state Road 427, was arrested at the Seminole County jail at 7:40 p.m. Monday after deputies were given sworn statements by bank tellers, which reportedly linked him to the case.

Frymyer was being held today in lieu of $5,000 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

When Kristopher Edwards, 35, of Orlando, left his boat, motor and trailer on Interstate 4 in Seminole County after a fire on the trailer blew out he expected his property to still be there when he returned with a spare tire, but it wasn't.

The items, with a total value of $7,300, were stolen between 6:30 and 7:15 p.m. Sunday, according to a sheriff's report.

A radial arm saw worth $250 was stolen from a shed behind a burned-out house on state Road 427 near Tusawilla Road, in south Seminole County. The saw was taken between Friday and Sunday, according to a report owner Harvey Slayton, 48, of Oviedo, filed with deputies.

A rifle and scope with a total value of $335 was stolen from the home of Donald Michael Polsley, 29, of 1785 Palm Way, Geneva, Thursday or Friday, Ivan Silverstry, 38, of 105 Joanne Court, Altamonte Springs, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have taken 22 pieces of crystal and $160 when she left his home for Tampa on Oct. 20, deputies report.

A $500 gold cigarette lighter and a $2,250 gold watch were stolen from a kitchen counter in the home of Paul H. Marks, 66, of 127 Red Cedar Drive, Longwood, on Oct. 12. Marks told deputies that several people including repairmen were in the home when the items were taken.

KNIFEMAN CHARGED

An Altamonte Springs man who reportedly threatened a woman with a knife during a dispute has been charged with aggravated assault and battery.

Altamonte Springs police report talking with Linda Rawleigh, 36, of 556 Spanish Trace Drive, Altamonte Springs, within minutes after they saw her screaming and running from a suspect outside her apartment. She reportedly told the officers the man had ripped her apartment furnishings apart and had threatened her with a knife.

Richard Falzarano, 34, of Longwood, also said he had been hit in the chest by the man, a police report said.

Police received permission to enter the apartment and reported finding a knife stuck in a jar of peanut butter on the floor in front of the couch in the living room.

David Michael Layne, 23, of 566 Spanish Trace Drive, was arrested at his home at 10:07 p.m. Saturday. He was released on $5,000 bond.

CHANGE BANDIT

The manager of a laundromat was robbed late Thursday after a man struck her.

Candida Monroy, 53, of Deltona, told police she was in the office of Al's Laundry Mat, 401 E. 1st St., at 4:20 p.m. when a man walked in and struck her on the forehead with his fist.

The man then took $85 in change belonging to her.

Correction

In Sunday's Herald account of William D. Burton of Oneida, N.Y., having been shot in the leg while trying Saturday to talk a would-be rapist out of assaulting a woman in the parking lot of LaRue's Bar, 2601 S. Park Drive, Sanford, the address of LaRue's was given as 2467 S. Park Ave., Sanford.

That address is the address of the Food Barn and is the location Sanford Fire Department rescue workers responded to when called to the shooting scene at 4:01 a.m., according to fire department records.

Sanford Assistant Police Chief Herb Shea said Monday that Burton was shot in LaRue's parking lot at 3:30 a.m. Saturday. Burton told police that a woman had approached him in LaRue's and asked for help shortly before the bar closed.

Shea said that Burton had told police that he was shot while talking with the assailant in the parking lot.

A representative of LaRue's Monday clarified the bar's address and said that the bar closed at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Jail Work Tax Deserves Support

One of the eight ballot questions Seminole County voters will be faced with Nov. 6 is of particular importance to county residents. It's the question of a one-time sales tax increase — proposed by Sheriff John Polk and agreed to unanimously by the board of county commissioners — to improve the current jail facilities.

And because it is extremely important to local residents, we share the same concern Sheriff Polk does: That the referendum question on the one-cent sales tax increase may be hidden to voters or may be ignored because it's located on the back of Card C, or, the third of three ballot cards voters will use to vote on candidates and various constitutional questions.

It is, however, a simple matter: This county needs the jail expansion and related improvements; the one-cent sales tax is limited to one year only (through 1985); and, it applies only to the first $1,000 in purchases in any single transaction, so the impact is not so great. If the sales tax is defeated, it may cost Seminole County taxpayers a lot more in the long run.

We'll elaborate. If the referendum is not passed, says Polk, it is likely that by 1985 the county will be under a federal court order, to expand the existing jail by 500 beds. That could result in a bond issue carrying an interest tab of $23 million. Currently, there are 236 beds at the county jail, and problems of overcrowding are constant. Polk estimates he'll need 1,000 beds by the year 2000.

Putting off the planned 1985 expansion of 500 more beds would only compound the problem. In addition to more beds, Polk says the project will include construction of jail access roads from U.S. 17-92, needed renovations at the courthouse, such as additional courtrooms; adding improved security devices, such as a metal detector; and putting in bullet-proof protection around judges and witnesses in the courtrooms, as well as constructing a sally port where deputies can drive up to the courthouse with prisoners, walk directly into the building, then to holding cells without mixing with the general population outdoors or in the hallways.

The county was given authority by the legislature to levy the one-cent sales tax for the 1985 year only, and because the estimated $13.2 million the tax would generate goes for criminal justice improvements, the tax applies only to the first $1,000 in purchases in any single transaction. So, buying a $10,000 car would cost the consumer $510 in sales tax, instead of $500 ... just $10 more.

Seminole County voters should make it a point Nov. 6 to look closely at Card C, turn it over to the back side, find where it says "Criminal Justice Facilities Sales Tax," and mark it where it indicates they're to do so "for financing criminal justice facilities."

"Hey I work with Democrats, Republicans — whatever. I'm a sleaze consultant!"

By Jane Casselberry

The cat is out of the bag. The Inside-Outside House in the Longwood Historical District is inhabited by the ghost of a black cat named Brutus, who lived in the house about 100 years ago with a retired sea captain and his wife.

"We first became aware of Brutus — not his ghost — when we were reviewing the history of the Inside-Outside House prior to its move from Altamonte Springs," revealed Betty Jo McLeod, who along with her partner, Dorothy Pierson, had the house moved and restored.

Built in New England by the seafaring man in about 1870, the house was dismantled when he moved to Florida. The panels were brought down the East Coast by ship, up the St. Johns to Sanford by barge and by mule cart to the Boston Avenue site in Altamonte Springs. The house stood at that location for 100 years. Saved from destruction, it was moved to the Longwood Historical District. It got its name because it was built with the frame on the outside of the walls.

Betty Jo said Brutus, who accompanied the captain on his voyages, was an excellent sailor. He was first ashore and last aboard in every port.

When he retired from the sea, so did Brutus and when the beloved feline died, the captain built him an ornate oakwood casket.

The first person to become aware of Brutus' presence was Denni Manzuolo, then a teenager, now manager of Petty's Meat Market in Longwood. Denni and her parents were helping with the first public showing of the house in a Historic Society walking tour. Assigned to the second floor, she came downstairs for a few minutes and when she went back up the spiral staircase she entered the room in time to see the rocking chair give a lurch as if impelled by something. She let out a startled scream. Her dad, Jim, who was at the foot of the stairs, raced up to see the chair still rocking. On that day, Denni declared, "It's haunted."

Denni, still firm in her belief, reports an actual sighting not too long ago while driving home from work. She said there was a light on in an upstairs room and she saw a big black cat sitting in the window outlined against the light.

"While Mary Ann Vandigriff and Angie Romaguso operated their Bloomin' Accents business in the house, they reported several times their silk flowers got scattered about as though a cat had been playing with them," said Betty Jo.

While setting up shop, Dorothy Giffin, who now owns and operates the Culinary Cottage there, heard a scratching and a ruckus inside the closet under the spiral stairs. She opened the door and saw nothing, but something came out, brushing against her leg. "I felt it," she declared.

Even the adjacent Brower's Barn cat, Painter, has had a close encounter. The first time he explored the spiral staircase, he got to the top, wheeled around and came flying down with fur standing on end and his tail puffed out. Nobody had to open the front door for him.

Watch The Miners' Strike

With a presidential election campaign under way in the United States, the American public has paid little heed to events taking place across the Atlantic this fall. The violent coal miners' strike in Great Britain, however, is worthy of close attention by the U.S. public.

Britain is America's oldest and closest ally. Anything that causes profound disruption in Britain should be of interest and concern to Americans.

What's happened in Britain is that Arthur Scargill, the leftist head of the coal miners' union, has directed a national strike which threatens Britain's economy and social peace. Ironically, the strike was called without the approval of the coal miners. Militants in the union waged open warfare against miners who didn't want to strike.

Peter Walker, British Secretary of State for Energy, recently pointed out that "these men have day after day been threatened by mobs from outside their own communities, mobs which have used violence and intimidation." The unarmed British police have been brutally attacked and even ambushed by striking miners.

Mr. Scargill has introduced a poisonous spirit into British labor relations. As Mr. Walker wrote in a letter to the Anglican Bishop of Durham, who supports the strikers, Mr. Scargill "has always favored conflict as opposed to participation, because he believes it is by conflict with the existing system that his utopia will be achieved."

The strike, ostensibly, is over the planned closure of coal pits which are unproductive. The nationalized Coal Board wants to shut them down. The union leadership is determined that the pits be operated, despite the fact that they are uneconomic.

Scargillism in Britain represents a very serious threat to democracy in the country where democracy was created. Mr. Scargill defies the courts. He employs extralegal means to overcome the decisions of constituted authorities.

Many thoughtful Britons fear the spread of violence in their country. They believe that Parliament is in danger of being pushed aside by union militants who employ stormtrooper tactics. The union militants, combined with the equally militant anti-nuclear protesters, represent a strong force operating against democracy and the rule of law.

CIA Nearly Compromised Bush

WASHINGTON — George Bush's brief tenure as CIA director has been both a blessing and a curse for the vice president. On the plus side, it has added a certain cachet to his foreign-policy credentials in the quest for high office.

But Bush's year at the CIA has also led to a presumption by many in the agency that he is "our man in the White House."

That attitude is the most charitable explanation for two potentially compromising episodes when Bush was introduced socially to undercover agents mixed up in a CIA-front business. It later went broke, costing investors millions of dollars.

In neither case was there a need for the CIA men to meet the vice president. The encounters were apparently arranged by CIA field officials for no better reason than to satisfy a craving among the undercover troops to rub elbows with a celebrity.

The two incidents occurred in Hawaii. My associate Dale Van Atta and Indy Badhwar uncovered the story while investigating claims made by Ronald Ray Rewald that

The Ferraro Issue

A couple of weeks ago, the whole Ferraro-Zaccaro matter was big news, but it now seems to have collapsed, somewhat mysteriously, as a campaign issue. Not that the questions that were then asked have all been answered satisfactorily. But Ferraro held a lengthy press conference in Washington, fended off and ducked the most unwelcome questions, and seems to have succeeded in toughing it out.

Who knows. Perhaps the election is shaping up as so one-sided that people have lost interest in what Ferraro and Zaccaro did or did not do. Perhaps a nation tired of filling out forms is not interested in whether Ferraro filled hers out deceptively. It could be that Ferraro's fight with the Catholic bishops over abortion attracted attention away from her other problems.

But those problems, in fact, remain. Several different investigations are now going forward, including one by the House Ethics Committee, and a number of newspapers have assigned investigative teams to the case. At the present time, here is the state of the action.

1. Mrs. Ferraro's apparent attempt to avoid disclosure of her husband's sources of income on her Federal Disclosure Form has collapsed completely. Her excuse was that she didn't profit from her husband's activities and was largely ignorant of them. She was, however, an officer in his firm and reported her profits therefrom not to Congress but to the IRS. Her political campaigns were run from the couple's Lafayette Street office. The House Ethics Committee is not amused. The Federal Disclosure Form is a sworn statement, and falsification on it would amount to lying under oath.

2. In the course of her first race for Congress, in 1978, Mrs. Ferraro borrowed from her husband more than 25 times the amount permitted by law. When forced by the Federal Election Commission to return this money, she sold a piece of real estate to raise it. As has now come out, she sold it to one of her husband's business associates for a much higher price than she had paid for it. He then sold it to, of all people, John Zaccaro. Zaccaro himself thus appears to have put up much of the money Ferraro was required by the FEC to "pay back."

Furthermore, the FEC penalized Zaccaro for all of this with a light fine, basing its decision on his sworn statement that he had loaned Ferraro the money after receiving legal advice that it was permissible.

Campaign Debates Worthy?

By Arnold Sawisak
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — That astute observer of American politics, Horace Busby, says presidential debates are a disservice to the voters because they lead them to believe the election is between two men.

Not so, says Busby. The choice is between two ways of conducting government and the two candidates merely personally those choices.

Busby, who does his thinking for business clients, also has some interesting comments on modern presidential campaigns, which he says "do not win elections."

First, he says, the frantic jet-hopping campaigns that have been the rule since the late 1960s are a waste of time, effort and money. He says the candidates are trying to grab 20-30 seconds of prime network television time, which in the best case adds up to only 2.5 minutes a week.

For Busby, the only practical function of all this running around is to galvanize local campaign workers, and he says that could be done more efficiently in other ways, such as with closed-circuit television.

Second, Busby deplores what he calls the American "proclivity for romanticizing the past of their politics" — torchlight parades, "Chautauqua" type shows and debates. The whistle-stop campaign train is another of these antiquities, one which a veteran political scheduler said recently is invariably suggested in the planning of every presidential campaign.

He never says why he thinks the public likes these old-fashioned political usages, even though that might have some significance.

A modest suggestion from this corner would be that this nostalgia might have to do with the general feeling of isolation that many feel in our society and the specific feeling of disengagement many feel from our politics and politicians.

Many have deplored the steady erosion of voter turnout since 1960, and maybe, just maybe, the yearning for politics that touches the individual may have something to do with that trend.

It certainly is true that there is very little spontaneity or what John Naisbitt calls "high touch" left in modern politics. In the old days, people could walk to a town or city square or the local railroad station and see and listen to politicians.

made good. Rewald's brief encounter with Bush occurred at Hickam Air Force Base. Initially, Rewald had been told by the CIA's Honolulu station chief, Jack Rardin, that Bush would come to dinner or a cocktail party at Rewald's million-dollar Honolulu home, which he had bought from Lon Nol, the former prime minister of Cambodia.

But the Secret Service nixed the idea on security grounds. So Rewald was chauffeured instead to Hickam. His driver, Franklin Kiplitt, was also used to drive other CIA personnel around, the agency has acknowledged.

Rewald was taken directly to the headquarters of the Air Force's Pacific commander. Not far away, Air Force Two, the vice president's silver-and-blue plane, was sitting on the tarmac.

The occasion was a social gathering, duly recorded by an Air Force photographer. Several military officials were present, along with CIA station chief Rardin, Rewald and one of his employees who was a deep-cover CIA agent.

Presumably, Rardin was known to Bush as the CIA chief in Honolulu. Rewald was just as obviously unknown to the vice president. Rardin gave Bush this coded introduction of Rewald: "He is a friend who has been invaluable. He has done a wonderful job for us here and is still helping us."

Bush shook hands with Rewald and thanked him for his help. That was it. Rewald drifted off into the crowd and didn't speak with Bush again. For his part, Bush has told a close associate he may have met the man, but doesn't remember it.

The only significance to the incident lies in its very triviality. Apparently just as a morale-boosting sop to Rewald, the CIA station chief thoughtlessly put the vice president in a compromising situation.

The public introduction lent Bush's unwitting prestige to Rewald's investment company. As evidence of Rewald's high-level connections, it might have encouraged investors to sink money into his investment firm.

Supreme Court To Review Mitchell Wiretapping Case

By Elizabeth Olson
UPI Supreme Court Reporter
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court said Monday it will review former Attorney General John Mitchell's involvement in approving wiretapping of private conversations in the early 1970s in the name of national security.

Mitchell, who was the nation's top law enforcement officer under President Nixon, appealed a ruling that could force him to face trial over the amount of money damages owed for warrantless electronic surveillance in 1970.

Also today, the justices said they will decide whether the Reagan administration can bar legal defense groups from sharing in money federal workers donate during the government's yearly charity drive.

The government appealed a federal appeals court ruling that allows the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund and other similar legal groups to receive some of the more than $100 million federal workers donate to charity annually.

In other action Monday, the court:

—Said it will decide if federal Medicaid funds can only be used to reimburse states for care of patients in traditional mental institutions, or if care provided in new developed "intermediate care facilities" is also covered.

—Will rule on whether the government can be held liable for the death of a serviceman who was murdered by a fellow soldier while they were off duty and off their Texas base.

The Mitchell case is the latest in a string of lawsuits to be filed against the former attorney general for warrantless wiretapping. Earlier this month, the high court rejected an appeal by Rabbi Meir Kahane, an American who is a member of the Israeli parliament, and the Jewish Defense League from a ruling throwing out their suit against Mitchell for wiretapping the group.

The case accepted Monday arose in 1970 when the FBI's Philadelphia office learned of plans to destroy utility tunnels beneath federal buildings in Washington, D.C., to protest the Vietnam War.

The FBI later heard that three members of the same group had hatched a plan to kidnap Henry Kissinger, then Nixon's national security affairs assistant.

On Nov. 6, 1970, Mitchell approved a tap on the telephone of William Davidson, a Haverford College professor, to gather information about the bombing plan.

Before the wiretap was discontinued on Jan. 6, 1971, three conversations between Davidson and a friend, Keith Forsyth, were recorded. Forsyth, now an electrical engineering student in Philadelphia, sued in 1972, claiming the taps violated his constitutional rights.

The case bounced around in federal courts for years, finally reaching the Supreme Court the first time in 1981 for review of two rulings that Mitchell was not completely immune from damages because he was acting as an administrator, not a prosecutor — who, under a 1978 ruling, is entitled to be shielded from money awards — in approving the wiretaps.

A new round of court hearings resulted in Mitchell's claims for both complete and lesser — or qualified — immunity being rejected. Once again, the Philadelphia appeals court ruled Mitchell was not completely shielded from the consequences of his approval of wiretapping, even for national security reasons.

Auto Workers Reach Agreement With Ford

By Michelle Maynard
UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers said Monday a new three-year contract with Ford Motor Co. that includes a three-year moratorium on plant closings has been approved by a 65 percent "yes" vote.

Results from the union showed the vote was 33,312 in favor and 18,388 against. There are 114,000 hourly workers at the No. 2 automaker.

The final margin is somewhat slimmer than the 72 percent backing the pact during balloting, which ended Sunday night. But support was stronger for the Ford contract than for a similar pact at GM.

"This new agreement represents a major step forward in job security, improved economic well-being, and better pension benefits for UAW-Ford members," said UAW President Owen Bieber and Vice President Stephen Yokich in a statement.

The contract will be signed by UAW and Ford officials on Wednesday.

The pact follows a pattern set in a recently approved General Motors Corp. contract that includes wage and job security programs.

The Ford pact was reached Oct. 14 after a marathon 25 1/2 hour bargaining session.

A higher approval rate was expected from the less militant rank-and-file Ford workers than from their fellow members at GM, where tough attitudes produced a relatively slim 57.4 percent vote of approval. Ford workers two years ago approved a $1 billion concessions pact on a 76 percent vote.

The key difference between the two contracts is the three-year moratorium on plant closings. The Ford contract also includes a pilot child care program and another that would treat workers' emotional problems.

As in the GM pact, the Ford contract calls for wage increases ranging between 1 percent and 3.5 percent, depending on the worker's job classification. The typical assembler will receive a 2.25 percent first year increase, or 15 cents an hour, on top of current wages of $9.60 an hour or $21,900 per year.

A Brief Look At Luxury

Haitian Refugees Land Near Posh Resort

MIAMI (UPI) — Seven Haitian men were in the caged confines of the Krome Avenue federal detention center on the edge of the Everglades Monday after a brief look at South Florida luxury.

The neatly dressed refugees landed early Sunday from a battered motorboat and dinghy at Sailfish Point Resort, near Stuart, one of south Florida's most exclusive developments.

The Haitians, ranging in age from the mid-teens to mid-40s, said they began their 120-mile, 6 1/2-hour journey from Freeport, Bahamas, late Saturday aboard an 18-foot bowrider and an 8-foot dinghy.

The refugees wandered around the resort community, its golf course and country club for more than an hour before security guards spotted them about 6:45 a.m. EST and notified the Martin County sheriff's office, officials said.

Alberto Durogene, 26, one of only two of the Haitians who spoke English, told a Sailfish Point guard that each of the refugees paid $600 to come to the United States, where they hoped to find jobs.

He also said they were supposed to contact a minister in Miami. They arrived without any identification, officials said.

Sheriff's officers seized the boats.

Youth Sues Church After Tripping Over Bricks

A Winter Springs boy and his parents are suing a church for injuries the youth reportedly received when he tripped over a brick or block while attending a youth group meeting.

Keith Grajada, 15, and his parents, Frank and Carolyn Grajada, filed suit Thursday against the Winter Springs Community Evangelical Church, 413 S. Alderwood St., and the church's insurer, State Farm and Casualty Company.

The boy, in one count, is asking for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000, as are his parents in a second count.

The suit maintains that on Nov. 17, 1981, the younger Grajada was attending a Junior Youth Group Meeting supervised by employees of the church. The suit states the church was negligent in maintaining and controlling the area, which led to the youth tripping over a brick or block and injuring himself.

The complaint also stated the employees did not warn the children of the bricks piled around trees on the church's property. The bricks were reportedly in an upright or jagged condition that were hazardous and dangerous. The suit also maintains that the employees failed to oversee the group knowing that they would become playful if unsupervised and allowed to run and play on the church grounds unrestricted.

According to the boy's suit, he tripped and fell over a brick or block and thereby received grievous personal injury and damage.

He said the injury shocked, bruised, sprained and cut in and about his left knee and body, internal organs and nervous system and caused or aggravated an arthritic condition.

He said he suffered great mental and physical pain, as well as mental anguish, embarrassment, loss of earnings and permanent diminishment of his overall earning capacity upon becoming 18 years old. He is also suing for related medical expenses.

His parents said they have suffered mental anguish about their son's injury and will incur medical expenses.

They are asking for damages, court costs and a trial by jury.

Drug Users Were The First To Wear Witches' Outfits

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A botany professor says the black gowns, tall hats and brooms worn by witches had their origins with drug users in the 15th century.

Dr. Loran C. Anderson of Florida State University said Monday the drug users began wearing the gowns and hats to hide their identities at nighttime parties when the Roman Catholic Church clamped down on drug use, calling it satanic.

"Plants with mind-altering properties were widely experimented with by people during the Middle Ages and the Renaissance," he said.

He said the brooms and witches' brews had their origins during the same period, he said.

"Because these members of the tomato family are poisonous if taken orally, witches — that is, underground drug users — cooked the plants in pig fat to make a psychoactive salve," he said. "They would dip brooms into the brew and paint their bodies with it. The drug would be absorbed through the skin."

That's Harry...Landing On His Feet, Again

Doug Peters picked up the telephone and was ready to call the "Men with the White Coats" as Harry "The Ram" Nelson leap-frogged around his office following Friday's 3-0 stunner over Apopka.

Nelson bounced from the floor to the couch to a reporter's desk leaving mud and wet grass as reminders of the soggy conditions outside. Nelson, the eccentric 48-year-old coach of the Lake Mary Rams, was definitely having a good time. If somebody would have tossed him a horn, he could have done a great Harpo Marx imitation.

Offensive line coach Al Parker was powerless to do anything but observe. Defensive whiz Bob Becker looked like he wanted to join in. Only Peters, a rookie to Nelson's schizophrenia, was aghast. He started to dial 9...1... when Becker interrupted.

"Wait a minute Doug, he hasn't done his backflip yet," said Becker. "If he lands on his head, go ahead and dial the other 1."

When the leap-frogging epidemic had subsided, however, there was Nelson landing feet first and firmly entrenched atop the Five Star Conference standings.

"That's Harry," was all the trio could reply

with a shake of the noggin.

Is it any wonder that this Chicago-born motivator is a successful man? How could young men not relate to this exuberance? Harry Nelson isn't afraid to bare his soul. He doesn't care who's watching. That's one of the reasons he is the only Central Florida coach to own a state championship (Bishop Moore — 1970).

And you better believe it's contagious. Ask Lake Mary's defensive 11. Here's a group of Rammies who have been good but not great all year. A look at the record does show two shutouts prior to Friday night, but the victims were Lyman and Bishop Moore, two teams which have scored a total of 61 points in 15 games.

So when the Blue Darters and the Rams were going through warmups, this reporter wandered over to a group of Lake Mary administrators (who will remain nameless to preserve their employment) and the consensus was: a 12- or 13-point heartbreak for Nelson and his boys if our calculations were correct.

Of course, there was the injury factor to consider. Sammie Smith, Florida's greatest running back, had a badly sprained ankle. But Apopka proved it was a pretty solid unit without Smith last week in controlling Lake Brantley. Smith departed that game before halftime and Apopka "held on" to a 24-7 victory.

Apopka just had too many things going for it. The Blue Darters were averaging 36 points per game. Mike Lowman would be a standout tailback in his own right without Sammie Smith. A lot of the Darters had played on last year's district champion. They were used to the big-game pressure. The defense was quick and huge. It was giving up just over 10 points an outing.

Yes, Apopka's Blue Darters had it all, but they didn't have Harry Nelson. And they didn't have Jeff Meyer, Marty Hopkins, Todd Nedrow, Kirk

Pritchard, Scott Sperazza, Billy Caughell and Mike Graham. All played great defensively.

Nelson screams and yells to motivate. This might fall on deaf ears against a cast without talent. The Lake Mary players are good but they're not any better than those at Apopka; Seminole or Lake Brantley. They just wanted it more Friday night.

That's the difference coaching makes. Nelson isn't afraid to tell you who's boss. He'll berate an assistant just as quickly as a player. After the game, he makes it known that it was nothing personal, it was just the heat of battle.

That's Harry. That's why Nelson's assistants are so very important. It's no fun to get dressed down in front of everybody. It would probably cause some to pack in the clipboard and head back to the classroom.

But this Lake Mary staff, like its players, knows Nelson's penchant for "controlled insanity." They don't pick up the phone. Or in Peters' case, they don't dial all three numbers.

DeLand: TD Scamper Was Set-Up

By J Richards
Special to the Herald

It was a set-up job from the start. DeLand High School's shocking 57-yard touchdown burst against Seminole High on the game's first series.

Known as an almost exclusively a power-I interior-running team, DeLand did nothing to dispel the notion on the game's first four plays, (tailback James Patrick finding little room for two plays over the right side of the Seminole defense.

On the third down, Patrick took the same play to the left side, got a few crisp blocks and slithered up a seam in the SHS backfield for eight yards and a first down.

Convinced the next play would be more of the same, Tribe defenders crept in toward the middle, and Darryl Harris at first looked as if he were going to try the right side of the SHS forward wall again.

But Harris bounced out to the sideline — at or just past the line of scrimmage — and out-logged at least three SHS backs who had good angles on him to the game's first score.

"We planned it that way," confessed DeLand quarterback Ferrol Gordon after the 14-9 Bulldog victory.

"That's just what our offensive line coach (Pat Nealis) and (head) coach (Dave) Hias set up for us to do on the first series."

It was fortunate for DeLand that play worked, because from that point on an angry Seminole High defense almost completely shut down the Bulldog offense.

DeLand's second score came off a disputed fumble recovery at the SHS 10.

While Seminole shut down the 'Dog running game, and the Tribe offensive line helped establish a respectable SHS ground attack.

But it was a lack of pass blocking that set up the DeLand defense to deny any serious Seminole attempts to get back into the game.

Said 6-4, 300-pound 'Dog defensive tackle John Brown and tenacious middle linebacker Mike Studley after the game, Seminole just didn't execute its pass blocks on the inside — especially in the crucial third and fourth quarters.

"We put in a stunt with the linebacker and the tackle and they never picked it up," said Studley.

"I expected them to close the gap down and play tougher (on passes) than they did," added Brown. "But once I got their guards off my ankles, I was able to get inside pretty easy."

Seminole coach Jerry Posey was livid over the officiating, baiting nearby linemen and, after the game, the referee crew's chief.

"You blew three calls," yelled the Tribe boss to a rapidly retreating zebra.

He was referring to:
● Mike Whelchel's alleged fumble on a clear forward pass attempt to set up the second DeLand score.

● a Whelchel deliberate downing the ball on a sideline pass — when the SHS QB had two receivers 10 yards upfield along the same sideline — but was hampered by two DeLand defenders forcing him out.

● And, apparently, for not calling another deliberate downing the ball penalty on Whelchel when he threw the ball out of the end zone when all his receivers were covered.

Big Frosh Battle

Lake Mary freshman football coach Jim Hughes huddles with quarterback Kelly McKinnon. Hughes and his frosh go after an unbeaten season tonight against Seminole at Lake Mary High. The Rams, 7-0, beat Seminole earlier this year, but Hughes said he is leery of quarterback

Jeff Blake's potent arm and the Tribe's four-game winning streak. McKinnon, Terry "The Cat" Miller and John "Battering Ram" Curry are the Lake Mary standouts. Curry had four TDs last week while McKinnon booted seven consecutive extra points. Kickoff is 7 p.m.

Krieg's Blitz Buries Chargers

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Seattle Seahawks insist on sharing the center stage in the AFC Western Division while the San Diego Chargers continue to fade like a dimming light on Broadway.

The Seahawks walked away with their first ever victory at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium with a 24-0 triumph over the Chargers Monday night and stepped into a second-place tie with the Los Angeles Raiders in the division behind Denver.

The Chargers, meanwhile, dropped to the division basement with a 4-5 mark. All five losses have been at the hands of divisional foes, including Seattle twice.

"I had excellent protection all day," said Seattle quarterback Dave Krieg, who was a sparkling 23-of-29 for 282 yards passing. "Steve Largent had another big day. I thought it was going to be a much tougher and closer game."

Largent indeed had a big day. He caught all three of Krieg's TD passes, Krieg, gaining 51 yards on four receptions.

"It's very, very obvious Seattle played a fine game," Chargers coach Don Coryell said. "Krieg had a great night and his receivers caught everything."

Seattle safety Ken Easley picked off three passes — two from Dan Fouts and an ill-fated halfback toss by Lionel James. Fouts was sacked six times and held to 200 yards passing.

Seattle got things started late in the first quarter. After Easley picked off a Fouts pass at the Seattle 4, Krieg needed only eight plays to drive 96 yards for the TD. Two plays after a 60-yard bomb to wide receiver Daryl Turner, Krieg hit Largent with an 11-yard scoring strike.

Corso: Reports Are Speculation

DE KALB, Ill. (UPI) — Northern Illinois University football coach Lee Corso dismissed as speculation reports that he is a leading candidate to become coach of the new Orlando Renegades of the U.S. Football League.

The Orlando Sentinel reported Sunday that Corso is the "leading candidate" for the job to lead the Renegades. Corso met Friday night in Chicago with Renegade owners Don Dizney and Jim English.

"I had dinner with some people I've known for a long time. We didn't talk about me leaving at all," Corso told Public Radio station WNIU-FM on Monday.

Corso, who was fired two seasons ago from the head coaching job at the University of Indiana, is in his first season at NIU. The Huskies are 3-4-1 overall and 2-3-1 in the Mid-American Conference.

"About one-third of the conversation was about me and the USFL and my feelings about it," said Corso, who during the year between coaching jobs worked for ABC-TV as a USFL color commentator.

Corso, struggling for a .500 record in his first year with the Huskies, termed the discussion over the USFL post a "distraction."

Last year, the Division I-A school won the MAC crown and the California Bowl under Coach Bill Mallory. Corso was hired last January after Mallory was picked to run the Indiana program.

Later facing The Huskie Club, NIU's sports booster organization, Corso also was noncommittal.

"I can't speculate on it because it hasn't happened," he said, but noted he has aspirations to coach a pro team.

"I've been coaching college football for 25 years and some day I'd like to be a professional football coach," Corso told the boosters. "There's a hell of a lot of guys who'd like to be professional football coaches."

Corso said the meeting with the USFL owners was approved by NIU Athletic Director Robert Brigham.

District Play Opens Today

District AAAA-9 Schedule
Today's game
Seminole vs. Spruce Creek, 4 p.m.
Wednesday's games:
Lake Mary vs. Mainland, 2:30 p.m.
Apopka vs. DeLand, 3 p.m.
Lake Howell vs. Lake Brantley, 4:30 p.m.
Lyman vs. today's winner, 8 p.m.

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

For much of the season, there was a three-way logjam for first place in the Five Star Conference volleyball race. Those three teams, Lake Howell, Lyman and DeLand, all have the capability of winning the 4A-9 District Tournament which gets underway today at 4 p.m. (one match only) at Lake Brantley High.

Today's match pits eighth-seeded Seminole against ninth-seeded Spruce Creek. The winner will play top-seeded Lyman in Wednesday's first round action. In other action Wednesday second-seeded Lake Howell goes up against Lake Brantley, third-seeded DeLand battles Apopka and fourth-seeded Lake Mary faces Daytona Beach Mainland.

Although Lake Howell won the Five Star Conference, the top seed went to Lyman since Lyman had beaten the Lady Silver Hawks in conference play. The only upset of the regular season in district play was Apopka over DeLand, knocking the Lady Bulldogs out of a shot at the top seed.

Here is a look at the 1984 4A-9 District Tournament with district records in parentheses:

Seminole (1-7) vs. Spruce Creek (0-8)

Getting off to a good start will be important for the Lady Seminoles. During the regular season, in which it had a 2-14 overall record, Seminole won the first game of a match just once, against Spruce Creek. The Tribe's only district victory was a 15-9, 15-8 win over Spruce Creek.

"It's do or die now and we have to be able to just go out there and do it," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We had a nice, long practice Friday and we were moving well and hitting well. Now we have to do the same on the court and take it one match at a time."

In order for Seminole to be effective, it must get the ball to Beth Corso as much as possible. The Tribe's senior leader is one of the best setters around, as well as being an outstanding all-around player, and she's the one that gets the offense going. Seminole must also get its serves in and play consistently throughout the match.

Along with Nelson, the Lady Seminoles will look for consistent play from seniors Janet Hauck, the team's top hitter, and Becky Baker and juniors Jackie Farr, Debra Hillery and Cindy Hogan. Sheri Peterson, a sophomore setter who had a fine season, was under the weather and missed school Monday and she may not play in today's match.

Bench strength for the Lady Seminoles comes from senior Jill Witherow, junior Melissa Moak and sophomores Mary Ann Calibuso and Lisa McGratha.

If the Lady Seminoles consistently play up to their potential, they could be the darkhorse of the district tournament.

Lyman (7-1) vs. Seminole-Spruce Creek winner

It was at last year's district tournament that the Lady Greyhounds came to life and

Volleyball

showed they would be a team to reckon with in 1984. Lyman has all but one starter back from last year's team which made it to the semifinals.

The Lady Greyhounds have strength in every aspect of the game. Lyman's starting six consists of seniors Regan Stump and Kim Vocks and juniors Kim Forsyth, Sheila Mandy, Dawn Boyesen and Lori Helms. Bench strength comes from Donna Ball, Tammy Foss, Kristie Kaiser, Michelle Binkewicz, Renee Flickinger and Tracy Carroll.

Lyman, which lost its last match of the regular season to Lake Howell, is looking to get back at the Lady Silver Hawks in the finals. However, the Lady Greyhounds can't look past their first round opponent.

Lake Howell (7-1) vs. Lake Brantley (2-6)

The Lady Silver Hawks are really fired up after ending the season by avenging an earlier loss to Lyman. Lake Howell ended the year as Five Star Conference champions and with a 13-3 record overall. The Lady Hawks also won their last six matches of the regular season.

Lake Howell, like Lyman, has to avoid overconfidence in the early rounds. If they can do that, the Lady Silver Hawks can go a long way.

"We're psyched up and ready," Lake Howell coach Teresa Tinsley said. "We had a really good practice Monday. We did a lot of drills simulating game situations to prepare for districts."

Lake Howell has a solid starting six and plenty of depth on the bench. The Lady Hawks starters include seniors Beth Saunders, Eileen Thiebaut, Sandy Gilles, Kim Montegoy, Melissa Schneider and junior Jolee Johnson.

Tinsley is confident in her bench and could call on anyone to come in and get the job done. Those who have seen plenty of action off the bench are Grace Ley, Kellee Johnson, Anita Cechowski, Mary Kay Scott and Christy Tibbitts.

DeLand (6-2) vs. Apopka (3-5)

DeLand's Lady Bulldogs, the defending district champions, had better concentrate on beating Apopka first instead of repeating as champions. Apopka upset the Bulldogs in conference play but DeLand came back on the last day of the regular season (this past Thursday) to avenge that loss.

The vicious hitting of Bridgette Gordon led DeLand over Apopka last Thursday and the Lady Bulldogs will look for more of the same Wednesday night. Gordon, who is the state's top basketball player, gets most of the recognition on the DeLand team but she has a solid supporting cast.

In fact, in order for Gordon to be effective, senior setter Robyn Swartz must have a good tournament. Other players the Lady Bulldogs will count on include Patti Corr, Debbie Underwood, Tammy Martin and

Reese Runs For 2 Touchdowns As Steelers Drop Bucs, 13-7

Dennis Reese scored a pair of touchdowns as the Steelers claimed the Sanford Recreation Flag Football Midget League title with a 13-7 victory over the Bucs Saturday at Chase Park.

Reese scored the only TD of the first half on a eight-yard run to give the Steelers a 6-0 lead. The Bucs came back in the second half to take a 7-6 lead as Andre Shaw broke loose for a 42-yard TD run and Devin Goldback ran in the extra point.

Reese scored the winning touchdown later in the second half on a 30-yard run and Daryl Jones ran in the extra point.

In Junior League play, the Bulldogs turned a pair of interceptions into touchdowns en route to a 13-0 victory over the Cowboys.

The first score came when Tyrone Bowie picked off a pass and rambled 20 yards for the score and the second came on Peanut Coefield's 30-yard interception return. Both scores came in the second half.

Robert Amie's 50-yard run late in the second half enabled the Wildcats to tie the Rams, 12-12.

The Rams scored the only TD of the first half on Mike Merthie's 30-yard pass to William Davison.

The Wildcats evened the score at 6-6 early in the second half on Amie's 50-yard run. Merthie then hit Davison for a 45-yard scoring pass to give the Rams a 12-6 lead but Amie's second 50-yard TD run of the game tied it at 12-12.

McLain Jury Selection Begins

TAMPA (UPI) — Jury selection is underway in the federal extortion, bookmaking and drug smuggling trial of former Detroit Tigers pitching ace Denny McLain.

The trial, which began Monday, is expected to last six weeks. If he is convicted on all counts, McLain faces 90 years in prison and $90,000 in fines.

McLain, 40, was one of baseball's best young pitchers in the late 1960s. His best season came in 1968 when he won 31 games and the Cy Young Award en route to helping the Tigers to a World Series championship.

But McLain fell on hard times several years later. He was suspended from baseball in 1970 for associating with gamblers. Then there was a shattered dream of a baseball comeback, an entertainment career that went sour, a bout with bankruptcy and a fire that destroyed his home in Lakeland.

McLain now is charged with participating in a scheme to extort money from people desperate for loans, participating in an illegal sports bookmaking operation and smuggling cocaine.

Elementary Road Race Saturday

The Third Annual Longwood Elementary School Road Race will be held Saturday morning beginning at 8:30 at the elementary school, physical education teacher Pete Crowley announced Monday.

The field will be made up of Keith, Casselberry, Sterling Park, Woodlands, English Estates and Longwood elementaries. Crowley said he expects 130-150 third through fifth graders to tour the 1.6 mile course.

They will be four age divisions for boys and girls. The groups will be 8-year-olds, 9-year-olds, 10-year-olds and 11-year-olds and up.

SYSA Registers Cagers Nov. 3

The Seminole Youth Sports Association will hold its 1984-85 basketball registration at eight area middle schools and Sylvan Lake Park Saturday, Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The fee is $30.

The middle schools are Oviedo's Jackson Heights, Sanford's Lakeview and Middle, Altamonte Springs' Milwee and Teague, Longwood's Rock Lake and Casselberry's South Seminole and Tuskawilla.

Payne Slates Tennis Tourney

Seminole Community College will host the Raider Tennis Tournament Nov. 23-25. The tournament is for men's and women's doubles teams and the entry fee is $20 per team. For more information, contact Bill Payne at SCC at 323-1450.

PMS THE HONORABLE RAY AMBROSE
MAYOR OF ALTAMONTE SPRINGS

1984 OCT -6 AM 9 25

I AM HAPPY TO SEND MY CONGRATULATIONS TO THE LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL PLAYERS OF ALTAMONTE SPRINGS. THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF YOUR 11-12 YEAR-OLDS IN WINNING THE U.S. CHAMPIONSHIP AND YOUR 14-15 YEAR OLDS IN WINNING WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP ARE MOST IMPRESSIVE.

YOU HAVE BROUGHT GREAT HONOR THROUGH YOUR EFFORTS AND HARD WORK TO YOURSELVES AND YOUR TOWN. THESE CHAMPIONSHIPS ARE TRULY A TEAM EFFORT —FROM THE COACHES TO THE PARENTS TO THE BOYS WHO CAME THROUGH IN THE CLUTCH. IN WINNING THESE CHAMPIONSHIPS YOU HAVE SHOWN THE WORLD YOUR COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE--A TRAIT OF CHARACTER WHICH WILL SERVE YOU IN ANY ENDEAVOR YOU CHOOSE FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIVES.

NANCY JOINS ME IN WISHING YOU EVERY SUCCESS NOW AND IN THE FUTURE.

RONALD REAGAN

President Salutes Altamonte Teams

It's customary, when a team captures a world or national championship, to wait patiently by the telephone for the phone call — the one from that gentleman who resides in a white house in Washington, D.C.

That phone call never came for Altamonte Springs Little League managers Gene Letterio and Jerry Thurston, but they received something of equal value last week.

Letterio, manager of the Senior League World Champions, and Thurston, manager of the Major League United States Champions, were feted at a luncheon last Thursday where they were presented with a telegram from President Reagan by Altamonte Springs Recreation Director Bill James.

The telegram (above) was sent to the honorable Ray Ambrose, the mayor of Altamonte Springs. It was received on Oct. 6 at 9:25 a.m.

Reagan extended his congratulations for the achievements of the two all-star teams and praised the character of the coaches, parents and players.

Baseball

Reagan said he and his wife, Nancy, wished the participants every success now and in the future.

In other baseball news, Letterio announced that he would be forming a Big League team for the spring season. "Altamonte has tried several times before," said Letterio. "But it hasn't ever come off. It's the only division where we haven't sent a team to the World Series."

Letterio, who said his decision was based in part on the fact that Oviedo baseball coach Howard Mable wasn't coaching a team, will draw his players from Lake Mary, Lyman and Lake Brantley high schools.

Big League is for players 16 to 18. Mable's all-star squad finished as the top team in the United States last year and third in the world. The series is held at Fort Lauderdale each summer.

Slow Stuff Baffles Raines, Ned Sr., Levi Save Day

Going from 90-plus-mile-and-hour fastballs to slow pitch softball isn't an easy transition and Tim Raines proved that Saturday by going 0 for 4 in one game and 1 for 3 in another.

Although the Montreal Expo star outfielder struggled, two of his elders in the Raines family, older brother Levi and father Ned Sr., had productive days at the plate as the Tim Raines Connection claimed two more victories in the Sanford Men's Softball Association Fall League.

The Connection rolled past the Angles, 14-0, and trimmed the Frontier Cattle Company, 7-3, to raise its record to 8-0 in league play. Against the Angles, Levi Raines was 4 for 5 with a pair of doubles and three RBI. Ned Raines Sr., as the team's extra hitter, was 4 for 4 with one RBI. Charles Reynolds was 3 for 4 with five RBI including a three-run homer. Burnett Washington added three hits and pitched a four-hitter. Against the Cattlemen, a four-run fifth inning propelled the Connection to victory. Key hits in the frame included Greg Hardy's two-run double and RBI singles by Levi

Raines and Sam Raines. In other action Saturday at Pinehurst Field, Session Time cranked out 17 hits en route to a 15-3 thrashing of the Bullets. Willie Merckerson led the Session Time attack with two solo home runs and a two-run double. Willie Harrison added a solo homer and a triple while Tommy Raines and Greg Deshield added two singles each. In Saturday's nightcap, the Angels came away with a 5-2 victory over the Bullets. A three-run first inning, keyed by RBI singles by Wayne McLean and Felix Torres Jr. and a sacrifice fly by Alan Shelton, lifted the Angels. — Chris Pieter

Deborah Henderson. The key for Apopka is teamwork and the Lady Blue Darters must get their serves in. Lake Mary (5-3) vs. Mainland (4-4) Lake Mary's only district losses came against the three teams seeded ahead of it. The Lady Rams haven't been able to beat Lake Howell, Lyman or DeLand, but they have otherwise been consistent. The Lady Rams don't have the big hitters that DeLand, Lake Howell and Lyman have, but they do have good quickness and a lot of determination. Lake Mary's attack revolves around senior leader Lisa Simkins, one of the top setters in the Central Florida area. The Lady Rams have also received consistent play from seniors Robyn Christensen and Sloan Stewart. Anquetette Whack, Kathy Hodak and Michelle Farrer round out the starting lineup. Bench strength comes from Misty Duncan, Aileen Patterson, Heather Leckie and Mary Bugas.

Nelson couldn't be successful unless he had support like this. He couldn't yo-yo to the brink and back again without their support. The staff knows Nelson will make the right decisions. Caughell, the defensive leader, recognized this early in his Lake Mary career. "We were in awe of him at first," Caughell recalled. "We knew of his accomplishments. We just knew he was a great coach by the way he went about things." That's Harry. That revelation, however, was shallow unless it was reinforced. And reinforce is just what Nelson did. In his first season, he turned around a 1-9 ball club. A tip of the hat to Principal Don Reynolds here. He took a chance on Nelson. Despite Harry's success, he was lying in coaching limbo at Colonial High School. He hadn't coached for three years. The "word" around town was that "you couldn't coach like Nelson does anymore." Not with today's pampered youth. Weren't those off color ravings coming out of Harry's mouth the first time our sweet little boys have ever heard them? Guess again mommy and daddy. Whatever, Reynolds made his move and Lake Mary made it. The Rams went 6-4 during their first year under Nelson. Remarkable in itself, but more remarkable because it was Lake Mary's first year with a 4A schedule. Thus far, the encore has been better. Lake Mary is 6-1 overall and 5-1 in the conference. But it's not a lock. Spruce Creek this Friday is a keeper but Seminole entertains the Rams Nov. 9. Apopka (4-2), Lake Brantley (4-2), DeLand (4-2) and Seminole (3-2) still have a shot at conference laurels. A Seminole victory would produce a three- and possible four-way deadlock. That would force a playoff Monday, Nov. 19. A pair of victories in the next two weeks sends Lake Mary into the sectional, probably against Winter Park. There's more to the success story than coaches and players, though. The Lake Mary Boosters have helped, too. They have given Nelson a Midas touch. Already a great physical plant, Vince Corino donated a practice field. "They're given me everything I wanted," said Nelson. "If I ask the boosters for something, it's there." Of course, Nelson had to remind them who was boss, too, early. After hearing what plans the Boosters had for him for the 1983 season, Nelson reportedly jumped over a table, arrested the "planner" and immediately told him just who was "running the show." That's Harry. He's reminded several people along the way about "who's running the show," and no doubt it has rankled some wool. But what the heck, when you're en route to the state playoffs, you've got to run over some people on the way regardless. That's Harry.

Briefly

Sanford Students Pledge UCF Kappa Delta Sorority

Bonita L. Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of 2851 Grove Drive, Sanford, and Deborah Lynn Dudley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hensley, 202 McVey Drive, also of Sanford, have pledged Kappa Delta Sorority at the University of Central Florida.

Miss Clark is a freshman majoring in aerospace engineering. She is a graduate of Seminole High School where she was active as a majorette, in the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, Junior Miss and Anchor Club.

At the University of Central Florida, Miss Clark is active on the crew team as well as Kappa Delta.

Miss Dudley is a freshman majoring in biology. She is a graduate of Seminole High School where she was active as a majorette, in the Anchor Club, National Honor Society, and Mu Alpha Theta.

At the University of Central Florida, Miss Dudley is active on the crew team as well as Kappa Delta.

Music Workshop A Tradition

Dancing, singing, playing instruments and just plain listening will be the order of the day for children in kindergarten through sixth grade at this year's Music Workshop to be held on three Saturday mornings in November at the University of Central Florida.

The workshop, Nov. 3, 10 and 17, has become a tradition of sorts at UCF, where Dr. Mary Palmer has conducted the annual program for a decade.

Featured will be mini-enrichment classes taught by pre-service music teachers from UCF. Children will be grouped according to age, and most classes will consist of 8-10 children, Palmer said.

The classes will begin at 9:30 a.m. and finish at noon. There is a $12 registration fee, and enrollment is limited. For details, call the UCF College of Extended Studies at 275-2123.

Doctor Attends National Meet

Dr. Mark E. Webster, D.O. F.A.A.P., Orange City physician, attended the Annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of Family Physicians (A.A.F.P.) in Kansas City Oct. 9-12. More than 3,000 family physicians from around the country are expected to attend this continuing medical education meeting.

Dr. Webster also was inducted formally into the fellowship of the American Academy of Family Practice at the Annual Convocation ceremonies.

He has been in active practice in Orange City since 1975 and became Board Certified in Family Practice in 1977 through stringent qualifications and Board Exam of the American Board of Family Practice.

Dr. Webster successfully completed the Board Recertification exam again in 1983, as periodic re-exam is required by the American Board of Family Practice.

Art Classes Offered At SCC

The Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College is offering classes in "Oil & Acrylic Painting" beginning Nov. 1 and "Drawing & Sketching" on Nov. 8.

"Oil & Acrylic Painting" will instruct the students in basic to advanced techniques in acrylic and oil painting concentrating on use of color, composition and perspective as applied to portrait, figure, still life and landscape painting.

"Drawing & Sketching" will emphasize the fundamentals of charcoal sketching in preparation for painting and working in color. Students will work from still life and landscape.

The fee for each course provides for the instructional cost. For more information, call the Leisure Time Program at SCC.

These classes are self-supported by student fees at no expense to the taxpayer.

Coffee, Juice Safety Break

A coffee and juice safety break will be conducted by the Vietnam Veterans of Central Florida at both the east bound and west bound rest areas on Interstate 4 just east of state road 535 exit on Nov. 23, 24 and 25 from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. each day.

Stop, stretch your legs, visit a while, have some complimentary coffee or juice and rest of all drive safely, arrive alive and have a happy Thanksgiving.

Cina Receives Scholarship

Stephen Joseph Cina of Oviedo was one of 108 Johns Hopkins University undergraduate students to receive a Beneficial-Hodson Scholarship for the 1984-85 academic year.

Cina, the son of Joseph and Mary Cina, is a Hopkins freshman majoring in natural sciences.

Couple Mark 25th Wedding Anniversary

Kenneth Ray and Joyce (Benton) Edwards celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Oct. 24.

The couple were married at the First Baptist Church, Sanford, by Mrs. Edwards' brother-in-law, the Rev. Joe Douthitt. They have made their home in Sanford for the past 25 years where they have worked and raised their children.

Edwards was born in Milton, W. Va. and Mrs. Edwards is a native of Sanford.

They make their home on Longwood-Lake Markham Road. They are the parents of two children Debbie Patton, and a son, Kenny.

The couple celebrated their silver anniversary at their mountain property near Gallinburg, Tenn.

Arts, Crafts Festival

There's Gonna Be A Great Day In The Country

The Oviedo Woman's Club will present the 11th Annual Great Day in the Country Arts and Crafts Festival on Nov. 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., on the grounds of St. Lukes Lutheran Church in Oviedo, corner of State Road 426 and Red Bug Road. Follow the orange and white signs with the crowing rooster which will be posted along incoming routes.

According to Sharon Lawton and Judy Minter, festival co-chairmen, dozens of exhibitors from all over the state are scheduled to display quality hand crafts such as oils, watercolors, ceramics, sculpture, basketry, needlework, quilts, toys, dried flowers, macrame, Christmas decorations, tile work and stained glass which will make this festival a must for art lovers.

Plant lovers will find booths lined with lovely plants from local growers in the area near the children's booths and play area.

In country tradition, hot dogs and chili will reign over the food booth to be mixed and matched to make a plate with cole slaw and chips. Have a hot dog while you browse. Add coffee, lemonade or one of the available soft drinks to make a satisfying meal. Look for more tempting homemade country food with fresh from the oven aroma in the baked goods booth.

China painting, weaving, wool spinning, duck decoy carving, basket making and quilting will all be there with the Audubon Society birds and the Orlando Reptile Club display. Judges will select the best exhibits and cash prizes will be awarded in the following categories: Oviedo Woman's Club Purchase Award, Best of the Country (arts and crafts), Best Country Scene (arts) and Best Country Craft.

The WDBO Starship will broadcast all day from the festival area. Station personalities plan to MC the programs which will include Lawton School Chorus and The Sunshine Country Cloggers.

The purpose of Great Day is to promote the arts and crafts while benefiting local charities such as Hacienda Girl's Ranch, Hospice, Central Florida Zoo, Little League, Channel 24, Oviedo Fire Dept., local schools, a college scholarship and the club house facility available for non-profit organizations for business meetings.

'Our Gazebo'

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

The elegance and charm of the Victorian Era were romantically reflected in the annual luncheon and fashion show Friday sponsored by the United Methodist Women of the First United Methodist Church, Sanford, in the church fellowship hall.

A full house of luncheon guests was greeted by the following, attired in authentic and exquisite styles of the period: Mickey Fleming, Carolyn Bule, Louise Montleith, Bonnie Patten, Mary Lou MacDonald and Rubye King, overall chairman.

WMU president Virginia Chapman gave the official welcome.

Frisly and fussy decorations of the historic period were reproduced under the direction of Justine Lee. Artistic arrangements of wreaths and delicate flowers, a triangle of ruffled parasols suspended from the ceiling, nostalgic white wicker bird cages and a welcome arbor enhanced with trailing ivy garlands transformed the area into a Victorian silhouette.

Frieda Tyre and her committee served a luncheon featuring succulent hot chicken salad as the entree on the colorful plate.

The fashion show was presented by Lois' Place, Sanford, with Lois Dycus, owner-operator, narrating the fashions when about 20 models showed styles from casual to a shimmering holiday showcase.

Leo King, former church pastor, wearing formal tails and a top hat, assisted the models as they approached the stage area, which was centered with an ornate white gazebo.

"The best yet," a patron casually commented upon departing from the delightful hour when lunch took a fashion break.

Unmarried Lovers Need Wills

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from "Heartbroken," a gay man whose lover of 14 years had recently died. The problem he presented was that his lover's family had stripped his home and later sold the items at a garage sale. You pointed out that although he had given the family permission to take "a few mementos," since they had clearly taken advantage of his grief-stricken state, he could probably sue. You rightly pointed out that such a suit would be costly, painful and possibly futile.

I write to amplify your advice. Unless "Heartbroken's" lover left a will, his parents were probably legally entitled to everything to deceased lover owned, regardless of how long the two of them lived together. "Heartbroken" had no legal claim whatsoever on any of his lover's possessions.

The parallel legally is not between a gay "married" couple and a heterosexual married couple, but rather between the gay couple and an unmarried straight couple. Gay people, no matter what the depth of their commitment to each other, cannot legally be married in any state of the union. However, a gay couple can, with the help of a sensitive attorney, legally duplicate marital arrangements in every state.

I cannot emphasize strongly enough the importance of a gay couple (or an unmarried straight couple, for that matter) securing competent legal advice to avoid the situation encountered by "Heartbroken." I have seen a situation in which two men bought a house together after having had a relationship of 15 years. Upon the death of one of the men, his family came in and forced the surviving partner to sell his home to settle the estate.

The surviving partner lost not only his lifemate, but also his home and one-half of all the things that he and his lover had accumulated over the years.

Such instances are not uncommon.

I hope that his information is of some value to you and your readers. You should also be aware that the Gay and Lesbian Advocates & Defenders Inc. (Two Park Square, Suite 300, Boston, Mass. 02116) publishes a National Lesbian and Gay Attorneys' Referral Directory ($10), and most local affiliates of the American Civil Liberties Union can give referrals to sympathetic attorneys.

Fatigue May Be A Sign Of A Medical Problem

 happen to the dressing or stuffing in a bird.
 The microwaves themselves do not affect the food in any way that would be harmful.
 Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Why don't I have any energy after 2 p.m.? I'm 36 and only do the things a person would do taking care of two boys, 13 and 16, and a home. I also have a 40-hour-a-week desk job. I did have my blood pressure checked and was told it was low, 94 over 46. My iron count was good. I get eight hours of sleep a night. I drink two cups of coffee each morning and smoke less than a pack of cigarettes a day. I feel fine when I get up, but by 2 p.m. I get very tired and lightheaded and can hardly stay awake at work. Is there some vitamin I can take that will make me feel better?

DEAR READER — I hope you have seen a doctor. While I try to point out that 80 percent of the people who have fatigue do not have a medical problem, that leaves 20 percent who do. You may be one of the 20 percent. Fatigue and low blood pressure together can be an indication of several medical problems, including such things as adrenal insufficiency (Addison's disease), anemia and even tuberculosis. I don't recommend that you diet to lose weight without first finding out what causes your fatigue. Some heart diseases also cause low blood pressure and fatigue. That includes disease that causes obstructions to the valves inside the heart (aortic stenosis and mitral stenosis). You should take a daily all-purpose vitamin tablet. One-A-Day or multiple vitamins will do the trick, but I would prefer that you be on a good diet. And you need to be sure you do not have low blood-glucose levels. See your doctor for a more complete evaluation. Also read a new issue of The Health letter, Special Report 31, What Fatigue Means.

If you have no medical problems, you need to look at your hectic lifestyle as a cause. Working 40 hours a week and caring for a home and family do make a person tired.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is the food cooked in a microwave oven safe to eat on a regular basis?

DEAR READER — If it is adequately cooked, it is entirely safe. The same thing is true of food cooked in a regular oven. If it is not adequately cooked, it may not be safe. To give you a simple example, if a turkey that has salmonella bacteria on it is inadequately cooked — meaning that the internal temperature of the meat is not kept high enough long enough to kill the bacteria — you may get food poisoning from eating it. That is especially apt to

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
 Today's deal is a doubleheader. First there's a suit combination to play correctly. Next there's an educated guess to be made for the location of a key card. East won the ace of hearts and returned the nine to declarer's king. Now declarer had to attack the club suit, so he placed the club king right on the table. If East had all four clubs, there was nothing to be done about it. But if West had them, declarer would wind up with egg on his face with any other play. South proceeded to pick up the clubs. Next was finding the spade queen. Before making that commitment, declarer decided to find out more about the distribution in the defenders' hands. He played a third round of hearts, noting that East discarded a diamond. Then he cashed two high diamonds, noting that West followed. Since it was now known that West had started with five hearts, four clubs, and at least two diamonds, it became easy to play East for the elusive queen of spades. I have only a mild criticism of the play. After West had shown up with four clubs and at least four hearts early in the play, declarer should have taken an earlier spade finesse through East. On the actual play, if West is lucky enough to hold the spade queen doubleton, he will set the hand an extra trick because he will have a good heart winner in his hand after he has taken the spade queen.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
OCTOBER 31, 1984
 You have made several valuable and loyal friends and this coming year they will be working behind the scenes on your behalf. Their impact will contribute to your success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be sure to return all calls today and to read your mail carefully. One or both could be harbingers of some pleasant news. Looking for romance? The Matchmaker wheel could help you find your soul mate. Send for yours by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those unusual days where good things could happen to you through the least-suspected channels. Look for a four-leaf clover under every rock.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Most of the time it's unwise to involve friends in business operations. However, today could be an exception, and pals will be lucky for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you are apt to be more adroit at achieving major objectives than minor ones. Aim for truly worthwhile targets.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not be discouraged today if the early trend of events appears to be working against you. Lady Luck has reserved her big push for the finish line.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may hear from an old pal you've lost contact with. The relationship will pick up where it left off.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In joint ventures today, things are apt to work out with more luck if you let others call the shots. Support their positive moves.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Your judgment in commercial or financial matters should be astute today. If you use your smarts, something profitable may result.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Two fleeting opportunities may unexpectedly develop today involving your work or career. Be ready to act swiftly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Companions will appreciate the dynamic dimensions of your personality today. You'll have a way of making happy things happen when you enter the scene.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Important situations can be finalized to your advantage today. Don't dillydally around with small stuff. Get to the major issues.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The types of financial breaks you've been hoping for could come into being at this time. Conditions will favorably unravel in an unexpected manner.

Vacation Bargains Now At A-1 Travel Agency

Whether your dream vacation is sunning on a tropical beach or skiing on a snowy slope, A-1 Travel in Sanford Plaza has the ideal travel package to suit your taste and your budget.

Located at 1030 State Street, Sanford, A-1 Travel agency is completely computerized to shop for the best fares for air travel, cruises, hotel accommodations, and car rentals. They can make out your airline tickets and make seat and meal selections in their office for your business or pleasure trip.

They are currently offering a two-for-one special on a four-night cruise to the Bahamas and out islands on the Premier Cruise Lines' Star Ship Royale, which leaves from Port Canaveral. Two can travel for rates ranging from $380 to $795, including your meals, cabin, entertainment and tour of Nassau and an out island. The offer is good until Dec. 15.

Or if you prefer they have a Hawaii special which includes seven nights at a hotel on Waikiki, air fare and much more for only $569 per person. Act now space is limited.

Joyce Sewell, owner-manager advises those thinking about making Thanksgiving or Christmas trips to make their reservations now. Low fare accommodations are filling quickly so they should get their's in as soon as possible for best choice. Joyce and her partner and husband, Wayne, purchased the travel agency in September. Joyce had worked at the agency (formerly Petros Travel) for 2 1/2 years. She has been a resident of Sanford for 13 years.

Their daughter, April Batten, travel consultant, and Jackie Goodman, outside sales, are also on the staff.

"Come in and see what's available," said Joyce. "We have many vacation packages to choose from and color brochures to browse through. We will be glad to give you travel tips to make your trip easier."

It isn't too early to make arrangements now for your ski vacation. "We have all the new brochures for ski resorts from Colorado to the Swiss Alps. Where ever you can ski, we can put you there," said Joyce. "There are weekly flights from Orlando to Luxembourg for a ski holiday in the Interlaken area for a low $579 for the complete package."

"Let us help with all your vacation needs, we can handle anything to do with travel," said Joyce.

The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. There is free ticket delivery for local businesses. Call 323-2280.

Come Into Vaccaro's World Of Dance & Performing Arts

Whether you want to become a ballerina, gain personal poise, take up gymnastics or brush up on your Texas Two-Step, just walk into Betty Vaccaro's World of Dance and Performing Arts in Zayre's Shopping Center, Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

Betty and her experienced staff of instructors offer a wide variety of classes for pre-school through adult— tap, ballet, ballroom, baton, body alignment, and modeling.

Betty has been teaching dance for 28 years. Before opening her Sanford studio three years ago, she taught all types of dance in the Rochester, N.Y., area for 23 years and had a studio in Tampa. She also danced professionally.

Betty also teaches baton. One of her majorettes in Tampa was state champion.

Teaching the advanced ballet and toe dance classes is Sheila Lehner, who has 20 years experience and was the first American to receive a teaching apprenticeship and scholarship to the Royal Academy of Ballet in London England. She was trained to teach by Dame Ninette de Valois, the founder of the academy.

In addition to tap, ballet and toe, dance classes also include buck and wing, softshoe, modern jazz, modern dance, and even a little break dancing. Students have a recital each year at the Lake Mary High School auditorium.

Terri Ricci, who was proprietor and instructor of her own modeling and career school for four years in Warren, Mich., and who has experience in free-lance modeling, instructs basic modeling, advanced modeling and commercial modeling classes here. Beginners learn poise, personality, grooming and basic modeling as well as getting a chance to model in area fashion shows.

Instructing the gymnastics classes for age three and up, is Rob LaGalt, physical education teacher at Hamilton Elementary School, Sanford.

The Body Alignment class is an exercise program to help you keep in shape and trip down your figure. "You feel younger if you keep active," said Betty.

Modeling, ballroom and body alignment classes run for 6-8 weeks.

Court Dismisses Appeal On Ban Of Sunday Sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday dismissed an appeal by three Illinois car dealers challenging a state law banning automobile sales on Sundays.

The justices rejected a plea from the dealers who also argued unsuccessfully in state court that the Legislature did not have the power to tell them when they can sell cars.

The court said it did not have jurisdiction to review the case because there was no substantial question of federal law for the court to decide.

Other states that have Sunday bans on vehicle sales include Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, New Jersey and Nebraska. The Illinois ban has not been enforced while the case was on appeal.

Illinois said its Sunday ban was aimed at forcing dealers to give commission salespeople a day off because unrestrained business hours force salespeople to "work for unreasonably long hours and reap meager return for their effort."

Any car dealership remaining open on Sunday faced the loss of its operating permit.

The state General Assembly passed the law at the urging of the Chicago Automobile Trade Association and the Illinois New Car and Truck Dealers Association, made up of 1,850 car and truck dealers in the state. Gov. Thompson signed the bill, making it law, on July 13, 1982 and the next day three car dealers challenged the law by filing a suit against the state in Cook County.

Judge Joseph Wosik agreed with the car dealers that the state did not have the power to enact the law. The Illinois Supreme Court took the other view, however, and upheld the law in April 1984.

The state high court said the General Assembly had to power to ban Sunday sales "as part of the regulatory scheme" used in the automobile sales industry.

Two judges on the Illinois high court dissented, arguing the majority had ignored a 22-year-old decision of the same court that overturned a ban on Sunday car sales.

The dissent said the ruling "establishes a special rule which on its face has nothing in particular to do with that trade as compared with the large number of other businesses which are open on Sundays."

The three dealers brought their case to the high court arguing the law was "restraint of trade for its own sake, for the sole and exclusive benefit of those competitors who wish not to work on Sundays and who seek to avoid the competitive consequences of their election not to do so."

They said any dealer that wishes to close on Sunday can do so with or without a state law requiring them to close.

The case was brought to the high court by Fireside Chrysler-Plymouth Mazda Inc., Celozzi-Etelson Chevrolet Inc. and John Bybee Chrysler-Plymouth Inc., all Illinois corporations.

Supreme Court To Decide On State Health Insurance Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday agreed to decide if states can force insurance companies to provide more health care coverage than is required by federal law.

The justices said they would review a lower court ruling that said states have the power to demand insurance firms provide coverage to health and welfare plans for a wide array of benefits not outlined under federal law.

Currently some 29 states require insurance companies to provide coverage for certain specific illnesses, including alcoholism treatment, mental health visits and reconstructive surgery.

The dispute before the court involved a 1973 Massachusetts law requiring health insurance firms to provide mental health coverage in every insurance policy sold in the state, including group policies.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and The Travelers Insurance Co. objected to the requirement, arguing that federal regulations preempted state law in the area of employee group insurance plans.

Since federal law does not require group insurance plans to provide benefits for mental health care, the insurance companies argued they could not be forced to comply with the Massachusetts law.

The companies got support for their argument in 1974, when Congress passed the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, a comprehensive regulatory plan for health, welfare and retirement benefit plans.

Under federal law, if the U.S. government steps in to regulate a given industry and sets nationwide regulations, states are generally forbidden to make independent rules that conflict with the federal rules.

But the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts sided with the state, ruling the federal law did not preempt the state from promoting greater health care coverage for its citizens.

The state high court said ERISA specifically allows states to regulate insurance policies, even if they affect employee benefit programs regulated by the federal government.

Several lobbying groups argued that independent insurance regulations would result in a "crazy quilt" of different plans throughout the country.

Massachusetts and 17 other states have laws requiring insurance companies to provide mental health coverage to employees participating in group health plans while 20 states require benefits to be paid for treatment of alcoholism.

Arizona also requires insurance firms to provide benefits for home health care. Nevada for hospice care, New Jersey for reconstructive surgery following mastectomy and Wisconsin for inpatient and outpatient care for kidney disease.

Dr. Thomas Yandell of Sanford Pain Control Clinic examines x-ray of spine.

Sanford Pain Control Now In New Location

There hasn't and probably never will be any place quite like home, simply because it's home. Yet sadly, in light of statistics that oft-quoted phrase may have to be amended to read — "There's no place like home — for injuries."

Each year approximately one out of five back injuries occurs in the home. According to Dr. Thomas F. Yandell, who practices chiropractic family health care at Sanford Pain Control Clinic, that's more injuries than occur on our streets and highways, at work, or even in hazardous occupations.

Formerly located on French Avenue, Sanford Pain Control Clinic is now in its new facilities at 2471 S. Airport Boulevard in the Winn-Dixie Shopping Center. For the convenience of patients, effective Nov. 1, Sanford Pain Control with four chiropractors on staff will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week.

The problem, as health authorities view it, is that people don't recognize their own limitations. Somehow, they do things at home they wouldn't think of doing elsewhere — they lift more, put in long hours at awkward positions, try to do repairs without proper tools, take chances in any number of ways.

One of the most insidious hazards is objects which litter thoroughfares in the home. Obstacles belong on an obstacle course, not on your staircase or hallways. Toys, dishes, briefcases or a myriad of other things in your path are invitations for you to take an unexpected "trip" perhaps even to the doctor's office. Discipline yourself and family members to pick up stray tools, roller skates, cleaning and gardening equipment and put them where they belong.

Falls from ladders or other relatively high places are also major causes of structural injuries. No matter how much you are tempted to grab a stool or chair to use as a makeshift ladder, safety dictates you refrain from doing so. Of course when you use a ladder make sure it is free of breaks, loose rungs or other defects and avoid anchoring it on a slippery floor or uneven footing. Soft ground can be especially treacherous.

Many people think of gardening as relaxing, yet it can be one of the most stressful tasks performed around the home. Dr. Yandell pointed out. While nothing is more becoming to a house than a well-tended garden or manicured lawn, few people realize that the tasks performed in gardening are extremely strenuous and precipitate many back problems, he said.

Each year, doctors of chiropractic see thousands of back injury cases that are the direct results of home mishaps.

If you should slip or fall or otherwise bump, jar or strain yourself, it is recommended that you have a structural examination to determine if there is a problem, and if so, the severity of it. If a spinal misalignment is indicated, Dr. Yandell will utilize procedures to correct it, as well as relieve the pain and related symptoms.

Hideaway For The Rich And Famous Gets A Facelift

By John DeMers

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) — A grand old colonial resort favored by heads of state, tycoons and even rock stars for its security and tight-lipped discretion is touting a $9 million restoration to a new generation of the privileged class.

Though the sun has set on the British empire, the Bahamian government and a Texas management firm are betting the old magic can still capture travelers able to spend up to $1,200 a night on accommodations.

The legendary Balmoral Beach reopens its doors in mid-December after a name change and nearly a year of ambitious reconstruction, all aimed at erasing the abuses of a string of transient managers.

Not content with healthy occupancy, the government and the Dallas-based Wyndham Corp. want to establish their renamed resort, the Royal Bahamian, as the most luxurious resort in the Caribbean.

"A lot of people who come here are going to want to buy a little bit of the colonial experience without any of the hassles of empire," General Manager Philip Wood said during a tour of the property.

"A place like this has charm that it's impossible to recreate today."

Wood, who ran hotels in England, France, Canada and Jamaica before coming to the Bahamas, said most of the restoration effort has centered on sprucing up the amenities that attracted luminaries from the Beatles to Richard Nixon.

All gravitated to the old Balmoral Beach for its elegance and fanatical commitment to privacy, which went so far as to rule out records of many celebrity visits.

The Prince of Wales, for example, turned up for a month at a time without a single footnote to history. Stacks of money somehow changed hands, but beyond that there was no registration except in the memories of resort staff.

"The Balmoral was one long continuing secret," said Valencia Saunders, who now works as a restaurant manager at the nearby Cable Beach Hotel. "The guests came for privacy and service, and we gave them both."

"You couldn't help wondering on occasion what intricacies brought a prince from Spain or a multi-millionaire from Italy to seek the seclusion of the Balmoral."

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor frequently abandoned their European digs for the privacy of the Balmoral, where the former king of England and the woman for whom he gave up the crown were treated like any other guests.

The Beatles, who slipped away to the resort at the height of their global hysteria, were amazed to discover they could sun themselves at poolside and stroll unmolested through the compound's walkways.

Nixon was known for arriving unexpectedly during his tenure as president, often dropping in by boat to keep news of his visit under wraps.

"Unfortunately, after a while the political need for continued acceptance would take over," remembered Tommy Thompson, who rose to maitre d' during his 16 years at the Balmoral and now manages the Ambassador Beach. "He would be thinking about leaving and getting back into the real world again."

Court To Hear Arguments On 'Shoot To Kill' Policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court is reviewing the controversial question of whether police should be able to "shoot to kill" in order to stop a suspect from fleeing.

Lawyers for the state of Tennessee and the Memphis police department will urge the Supreme Court today to reinstate the state's "fleeing felon" law.

The law, overturned by a lower court, allowed officers to "use all the necessary means to effect the arrest" of someone fleeing or resisting arrest.

Last June, a federal appeals court held the law was unconstitutional because "it authorizes unnecessarily severe and excessive, and therefore unreasonable, methods of seizure" of a person.

Officers can only be justified in using deadly force if the suspect has committed a violent crime or if they believe he is armed or will endanger others if not captured, the court said.

But Tennessee officials are expected to argue that the appeals court ruling "extends... unwarranted public protection to the felon at the expense of the public and the public's interest in effective law enforcement."

In support, a lawyer for the Memphis police department will also urge the court to uphold the law, saying that it "does not authorize the use of deadly force... in every instance, but rather only when no lesser means of apprehension is available."

The department revised its deadly force policy in 1981 to permit officers to use deadly force only when trying to apprehend suspects in "dangerous felonies" such as kidnapping and murder.

But on Oct. 3, 1974, a "shoot to kill" policy resulted in the death of an unarmed 15-year-old Memphis boy, who was a suspect in a $10 burglary.

A neighbor alerted police that a burglary was in progress. Officer Elton Hymon and his partner saw a figure run from behind a house in suburban Memphis to a cyclone fence enclosing the backyard.

Hymon yelled at Edward Eugene Garner to "halt." Garner paused, then jumped to the top of the 6-foot fence as the officer started toward him. Hymon fired his service revolver and shot Garner in the right side of the head.

The officer later testified he fired at Garner because he knew that once the boy went over the fence, he would be unable to capture him. Garner, who died of the gunshot wound, had $10 in cash and jewelry on him. The unoccupied house Garner fled had been ransacked.

Garner's father, Cleamtee Garner, filed a $2 million suit against Hymon and the police department in April 1974 for wrongful death. He charged the shooting was a federal civil rights violation.

He lost at trial in August 1976. The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the lower court's finding that Hymon was not liable but returned the case to lower courts to reconsider the city's liability for the shooting.

Baboon-To-Baby Transplant Raises Ethical Questions

The landmark, lifesaving transplant of a baboon's heart into an infant girl has raised moral, medical and social questions, which experts say have implications for the future of health care and humanity.

In a UPI survey Monday, authorities in heart transplants, immunology and medical ethics raised concerns ranging from experimenting on babies and prolonging life with poor quality to implanting animal parts in humans.

One scientist compared the transplant to the controversial and ultimately fatal implant of the world's first permanent artificial heart in Dr. Barney Clark two years ago.

Another noted the heart from a 2-month-old girl who had died was available for transplant Friday, the day the baby identified only as Baby Fac received the heart of a 7-month-old baboon in surgery at Loma Linda University Medical Center in Southern California.

Baby Fac, 18-days-old, who was born with a fatal underdeveloped left side of the heart, made steady progress Monday at the hospital.

Dr. Gladden Elliott, chairman of the California Medical Association's Committee on Evolutionary Trends in Society Affecting Life, compared the case to that of Clark, who received the air-driven, man-made heart Dec. 2, 1982 and died 112 days later at the University of Utah Medical Center.

The retired dentist "received the mechanical heart with the probable likelihood he could not live for a prolonged period. But, unlike the tiny girl, Clark was mentally competent and made his own decision," Elliott said.

"The big question is, should desperate measures be taken to prolong life no matter what the quality of that life?"

Dr. Marvin Garovay, director of the Immunogenetics and Transplantation Laboratory at the University of California, San Francisco, said even if Baby Fac survives, she may suffer side-effects from manipulations of her immune system to prevent it from rejecting the new heart.

Dr. Leonard Bailey, who performed the transplant, refused to estimate the baby's chance of survival, saying only he is "hoping for the best."

Victims Of Child Porno Ring Are Sought In River

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Authorities, trusting the independent statements of children, will drag the Minnesota River for the bodies of three youngsters that the children say were killed last year by a pornography ring.

Jack Erskine, superintendent of the state Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, said Monday the river will be dragged in Scott

County because several children have told therapists three youths were killed there in the summer of 1983 after being used for pornography.

The FBI and BCA took over the investigation earlier this month after local authorities dropped charges against 21 Jordan-area adults who faced 400 counts of child sexual abuse.

A Cowgirl Without A Twang

European Country Singer Tries To Hit The Charts

By Mark Schwed
UPI Entertainment Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Mamma's don't let your babies grow up to be entertainers, unless the baby happens to be Zella Ina Cecilia Georgina Lehr Bello Zulu.

Those seven words roll easily off the tongue of Zella Lehr, circus girl, juggler, unicyclist, model, dancer, actress, and country singer.

"The name is so horrendous they cannot forget," said Lehr, wearing purple parachute pants, light purple shirt and purple-tinted sunglasses.

"Zella is a gypsy name. Lehr is German. My mom is English. My entire name was Zella Ina Cecilia Georgina Lehr. When I got married my husband's name was Al Bello Zulu, so I became Zella Zulu. Sounds like a belly dancer."

Belly dancing is one of the few things Lehr has not done in her life, but her background is so bizarre that she should have.

"I have a weird background, granted. I have a weird name, and it's bizarre to think of me riding a unicycle and juggling in Europe — and then be singing country music."

If only she had a twang, things may have been different.

Lehr comes from a family of six generations of show people. Her father was a vaudeville cowboy bullwhip artist and her mother was a tap dancer-musician. They met in 1938 while playing at the London Palladium, married and moved to Burbank, Calif., where the elder Lehr booked circus acts.

Two sons and a daughter later, the family banded together as the "Cowboys from Hollywood" and took a chunk of the wild west to Europe.

The family sang, juggled and unicycled around the world for nearly a decade until the elder Lehr died and the troupe disbanded.

Country music captured her fancy and she decided to try her luck in Nashville. Lehr dusted off the unicycle and rode it into the office of "Hee Haw" producer Sam Luvell, who booked her on the syndicated television show and introduced her to Music City.

Three record deals later, Lehr moved back to Nevada. Nashville just wasn't ready for a cowgirl without a twang.

"I couldn't help it that my accent wasn't twangy when I had been raised in Europe," she said.

In the years since then, cowboy hats, gingham dresses and twangs have faded into the hills as Nashville expanded its horizons by mellowing the country sound.

So Lehr is back, hunting for that elusive hit with a new song called "All Heaven is About To Break Loose" and a new record company. Her quest for success has become an "endurance contest."

"I have my nice home, I have my Mercedes, I have my fur coat. You know what I'm saying? I'm not working for that. I already have these things. I guess I'm working basically because I'm just a show business brat. I gotta do something in the business. It's in my genes."

Riding High

Why ride in a stroller when you can go by horseback? These two Lake Mary moms and took their kids for a morning ride down Country Club Road recently. Lisa Russi, left, rides with her 2-year-old son, Joey, while Cathy Taylor tends to her 2-year-old daughter, Tiffany.

Julian Lennon: Son Of Late Singer Growing Up In His Father's Shadow

By Carol Vecchione
NEW YORK (UPI) — Julian Lennon no longer expects a white feather to float across the room — the sign of an afterlife he says his father, the late John Lennon, promised to send.

"I was looking," the 21-year-old Lennon says quietly. "But I think if you look too much you won't find it. So I've stopped looking."

He made the pact with his ex-Beatle father about two years before John Lennon was shot and killed outside his Manhattan apartment in December 1980.

The eldest son of John Lennon chain-smokes Camels and sips tea during an interview in his Manhattan hotel room to discuss his first album, "Valotte" (Atlantic).

Lennon, who lives in London, is dressed in jeans bearing a fashionable rip at the knee, denim shirt, cowboy boot and a dangling earring that occasionally peeks out of his shoulder-length light brown hair.

The album, named after the town in France where Julian Lennon secluded himself for nine months to work, was produced by Phil Ramone and is filled with sounds and lyrics reminiscent of his father's later works.

Julian wrote or co-wrote most of the songs, many with guitarist and childhood friend Justin Clayton.

A video of Valotte, featuring Lennon performing in near darkness at the piano, is scheduled for release at the end of October. It was directed by Sam Peckinpah, marking the first video effort of the director known for his violent "blood-and-guts" films.

The young Lennon's face and voice are almost a mirror image of the man who helped change the course of modern music, a similarity Lennon says he has

Danson And Mandell Head Cast Of New Comedy Movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Columbia Pictures dipped into the television talent pool for leading roles in the new Blake Edwards comedy, "The Music Box."

The broad slapstick comedy will star Ted Danson of the NBC-TV situation comedy, "Cheers," and Howie Mandell of NBC-TV's hospital drama, "St. Elsewhere."

Danson will play a Hollywood movie extra involved in the underworld with sidekick Mandell playing a short-order cook.

"The Music Box," scheduled to begin production in February in Los Angeles, will be written and directed by Edwards for his B. E. E. film company.
