Collins Orders State Unemployment Study

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)— Gov. LeRoy Collins has ordered a study to determine if unemployment in Florida is serious enough to warrant emergency action this year by the Legislature.

Collins hinted Tuesday a special session of the Legislature might be called to change Florida unemployment law to take advantage of broadened federal jobless aid.

Diplomats Predict Friendly Welcome For Ike's Brother

WASHINGTON (UPI)— U. S. diplomats in Central America have reported that Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, probably will get a friendly reception on his forthcoming trip to the area.

Informed sources said the Central American nations themselves have assured the United States they will take special measures to make sure he does not encounter violent anti-American demonstrations such as Vice President Richard M. Nixon experienced in South America.

Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., is scheduled to make a two-week goodwill and factfinding trip. Exact dates are uncertain but he probably will depart late this month.

The President's brother, who has made previous trips to South America and Mexico, will visit Guatemala, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama. There has been considerable concern about his coming visit because of the violence Nixon ran into during his recent South American trip.

Officials said no thought is being given to cancelling Milton Eisenhower's trip. But the State Department asked embassies in the six nations for an estimate of how the President's brother will be received. On the basis of their reports, authorities expect Milton to be well received.

Heuss Arrives For 3-Day Visit With President

WASHINGTON (UPI)— West German President Theodor Heuss arrives today for a three-day state visit as guest of President Eisenhower.

He was accompanied by Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Heuss was the first German chief of state in history to come to the United States. The 74-year-old German leader's trip was designed to cement friendship between Germany and this country.

Brentano was to meet with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to discuss international problems, specifically the French crisis and summit talks. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is due Saturday for similar conferences.

Both German and U. S. officials have been cautiously optimistic that Gen. Charles de Gaulle will live up to French North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) commitments.

President Eisenhower was to be on hand to greet his guests, who are flying down from Ottawa in the U. S. President's personal plane, Columbine III. Heuss has been on a state visit to Canada.

Burning Trash Causes Fire

The Florida Forest Service at Longwood reported a fire yesterday near Forest City on SR 436.

The fire was started when trash being burned by C. L. Hopkins of Maitland was blown by gusts of wind.

The fire burned into property owned by his neighbor, V. L. Gleason.

The Forest City Volunteer Fire Department was at the scene and prevented damage to the building. The Florida Forest Service arrived to prevent it from spreading into the woodland. Only an acre of woodland burned. Ranger Robert Leverett was in charge.

Leverett said today, "I would like to warn all home owners to be extra careful when burning trash because there is still a fire hazard which will probably continue through the summer."

The federal money would mean an estimated 10 million dollars in additional unemployment benefits to workers who have already used up their jobless eligibility. Some 50,000 Florida unemployed workers have exhausted their benefits so far.

Governor Helmetant The governor has said he would be very reluctant to call any special session of the Legislature. But that was before the new federal aid bill was passed as an emergency measure to help workers thrown out of jobs by the national business slump.

The study he ordered will determine how seriously the state would be hurt if it could not take advantage of the federal funds.

State Industrial Commission attorneys say Florida would need a specific legislative act before it could get the additional money under the federal bill to extend the period for which workers can collect jobless benefits.

No Ruling Yet Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin has not yet ruled on whether an act is needed, and Collins said he will not make any plans until there is a clear cut legal opinion on it.

Florida law provides that unemployment insurance may be drawn from five to 16 weeks, depending on how long the worker has been employed before losing his job.

The federal bill extends the coverage time by 30 percent, amounting in Florida to an additional 2 1/2 to eight extra weeks for workers who become unemployed after July 1.

Florida now has the shortest period of unemployment pay of any state, but has a fairly high rate of pay—up to $30 a week. No estimate has been made of Florida's share of the new federal bill, but it probably would exceed 10 million dollars.

James T. Voelke, who administers the unemployment act, said some 50,000 Florida workers already have exhausted all their jobless benefits for the year, and about 40,000 others are now drawing unemployment benefits.

Linz Re-Elected Farmers Auction Market President

The Sanford Farmers Auction held its annual stockholders' meeting last night at the Auction Barn to elect officers for the current year.

President W. W. Linz, in his report to the stockholders, revealed that over $20,000 was taken in by the auction during the year from June 1, 1957 to May 31, 1958.

The sale of all types livestock—calves, goats, rabbits, chickens, ducks, etc., accounted for approximately half this figure. The rest came from the sale of furniture, jewelry, flowers, shrubbery, fresh vegetables and eggs. Declaring that there is no better place to stock up on these items, Linz urged the stockholders to pass on to their friends and neighbors the pleasure and value of buying at the auction.

Explaining why there was no dividend declared last year, Linz pointed to the construction of ten stalls, eight of which are closed in, the other two are now open air but will be enclosed when needed. The ten new units with five in the older building, makes a total of 15 stalls to accommodate those growers and producers who prefer to rent a stall and sell their products directly to the consumer, rather than have it auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Auctions are held each Friday night, beginning at 7:30 with Larry Jones as auctioneer. Planners are mostly directors of the Auction.

Serving as directors last year, and re-elected another year are: Carley Lawson, T. L. Smith, Daniel Desmond, Graham Hunter, Raymond Schaaf and Larry Jones.

W. W. Linz was re-elected president and H. M. Cochran was re-elected vice president. The secretary-treasurer is yet to be obtained by the Board of Directors. F. T. Meriwether makes the ninth director.

Serving as canvassing committee which gave its report were: Ted Williams, Brown Miller and P. W. Harvey.

Auction directors meet at the auction barn the first Thursday night of each month, to conduct business connected with the auction. Stockholders meet one each week, the first Monday night in June.

Worthless Check Racket Increasing Here

Justice of the Peace Hugh Duncan revealed that in the "past 12 months I've collected at least $12,000 for merchants because of worthless checks."

Duncan stated that half of this money now is devoted to collecting checks "such as these" as he swept his hands over the stack of checks returned from various banks.

Payroll checks should be watched carefully, Duncan advised, "for some of them are actually forged and offered to merchants when business is rushing and not too much time devoted to finding out if the check should be cashed."

Those cashing checks should know the endorser as well as the signer, the Justice of the Peace said.

"We are beginning to crack down on those people who present worthless checks to merchants in payment for merchandise or to be cashed," Duncan said this morning. However, he added, "we need the cooperation of merchants and business men."

Board Declares Millage Raise May Be Necessary

Seminole County Commissioners yesterday admitted that it may be necessary to raise millage as much as six mills when the budget is considered on June 16 at a special meeting called to review budget requests.

Commission Chairman John Kridler told the board of commissioners that "any increase in millage caused by additional requests should not be considered. I'm not in favor of raising millage but we may be forced to do so in order to take care of the bare necessities."

Commissioner Lawrence Swafford said "When something has to be done millage will have to be added to take care of the expense."

Clerk of Court O. P. Herndon told the Board of Commissioners that only a few budgets for various county departments have been submitted for consideration.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby submitted a proposed budget for the operation of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1958.

Sheriff Hobby told the commission, in his request, that the total budget is more than $3,000 less than the 1957-58 budget.

In the $3,000 proposed budget, Sheriff Hobby will add an additional deputy, provide 24-hour radio watch, and all personnel in the department.

An additional automobile will be needed with the added deputy, Sheriff Hobby pointed out, and said that the proposed budget includes the addition of the automobile and the replacing of another.

A complete itemized budget was submitted for consideration.

Herndon said that budget requests have also been made by the County Agent, Home Demonstration Agent, Dr. Terry Byrd for his department and the Welfare Department. However, copies of these requests were not available.

One item proposed for the forthcoming budget study is the renovation of the Seminole County Court House in order to provide additional space for the Tax Assessor.

In preliminary plans proposed by Architect John Burton IV, the basement of the court house would be renovated so that space, now unused, would be available for a 1,500 square foot office for the Tax Assessor.

Cocoa Man Owner Of Mystery Pigeon

It took a series of telegrams and telephone calls, the services of the United States Department of Agriculture and a Radio Tracer of Lost Pigeons, to determine the mystery of a friendly pigeon who walked into a Sanford Ave. dime store and the hands of two employees.

At first it was believed that the mystery had been solved when instructions were relayed through the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and Wildlife Officer Harry Horvich, to hold the bird for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It was also said that the "story of the pigeon would be forthcoming."

Turned out that the tag numbers on the two bands worn by the pigeon were not USDA characters.

The bird was found Monday morning, May 20, as it straggled into the Sanford Ave. store and into the hands of Mrs. James Chestnut and Mrs. Herman Harriet.

Since then it has been fed, watered and rested by both Mrs. Herman Harriet and Ledo. E. H. Baker, public information officer at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

The pigeon, according to a telegram from George C. Bailey, Radio Tracer of Lost Pigeons, Huntington, Long Island, N. Y., belongs to J. V. Pillus, 1040 Bellefonte St., Cocoa.

Pillus, last night, told The Sanford Herald that the bird is his. The pigeon, he said, was released in Chattanooga, Tenn., and was making a 500 mile trip back to Cocoa.

The pigeon was released this morning by Mrs. Harriet with another message attached to its leg asking that the safe flight of the bird, described as "very beautiful and tame," be acknowledged.

Talk Given By '58 SHS Salutatorian

The speech given Friday night by the Salutatorian Miss Barbara Mitchell, at Seminole High School graduation exercises, appears in today's edition of The Sanford Herald. Miss Mitchell began her talk with:

"Tonight we reach the long awaited first landing on the stairway to the stars—Graduation. We have climbed this stairway step by step with the aid of you, our parents and teachers. Without your help we could not have come this far and it is with great pleasure that we share this moment of achievement with you.

Until now all our major decisions have been made for us and we have been disciplined by you. Now we must learn to discipline ourselves and to accept our responsibility.

Our ascent toward this first landing has been halting and slow guided all the while by those who are older than we. Some of us have probably felt that there was too much restriction and not enough freedom, but if our parents and teachers, have, at times, seemed too strict it is because they did not want us to stumble over the same steps as they. We have stumbled, though, but for the most part all we received were bruises which hurt at the time but soon faded away.

The diploma we will receive does not signify the end of learning, only the beginning—our commencement. What is past is done. We enjoyed it and regret its passing but it was only a preparation for the future, which with the help of God, can be anything we want it to be. Now we stand alone for the first time and like young birds are eager to try our wings. How well shall we be able to fly? Our flight depends upon those of you who have prepared us to cope with the uneven and tricky steps ahead but whether we actually avoid these treacherous steps successfully depends upon each of us as an individual.

This is the end of childhood and the beginning of adulthood. The Apostle Paul in First Corinthians, expresses our feeling with the following words, "When I was a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child, but when I became a man I put away childish things."

In a sense, we are now putting away childish things. We are pausing on the landing not only to look back at the steps we have climbed, but also to look ahead and upward toward the stars."

16-Year-Old Too Young To Drive At Nite Says Judge

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)— "A boy or girl of 16 is too young to be turned loose with a car at night." That is not the offhand opinion of a grouchy parent. It is the studied conviction of a famous juvenile court jurist, Judge Alfred D. Noyes, who has tried more than 20,000 cases involving teenagers.

Judge Noyes presides over the juvenile court in Montgomery County, Maryland, a prosperous and heavily-populated suburb of Washington. He is a white-haired, soft-spoken man who likes young people. He emphatically does not share the notion that today's teenagers are going to hell in a hack. "We ought to keep this juvenile delinquency problem in perspective," he said. "Only about 2 percent of our young people get into serious trouble with the law. The really noteworthy thing about the present younger generation is that so many of them are making a fine record in spite of all the pressures and temptations to which they are exposed."

Instead of issuing blanket denunciations of modern youth, Judge Noyes said, adults should be trying to identify—and relieve—some of the specific pressures of modern living which cause youngsters to get into jams.

"A good place to start is the driver's license laws," he said. Most states issue regular driving permits to any youth who has reached his 16th birthday and can pass a comparatively simple test. A few states will license a youth under 18 only with a parent's consent. Several states 15-year-olds, and South Carolina and Arkansas grant permits to 14-year-olds.

Judge Noyes would like to see every state adopt a "junior permit" law like that which has been in force in New York for the past few years. Under this statute, youths 16 to 18 are restricted to daytime driving. The holder of a junior permit may drive after dark only if an adult is in the car with him.

Judge Noyes agreed that many modern teenagers know more about the mechanical workings of cars than adults. But he said the ability to take an engine apart does not necessarily imply that a youth also has the maturity, the judgment, the "ability to comprehend the potential danger of a situation," that is necessary for safe driving, particularly at night.

Compain Gives SHS Valedictory Speech

The following is the Valedictory address given by Angelo Compain Valedictorian of the 1958 graduating class of Seminole High School:

"Now that we have reached the first landing on our stairway to the stars, for the first time in our lives we see the universe spread about us; we stand before our stellar goals.

All about us are joy and happiness, but we cannot stop; we must mount up toward the summit of universal knowledge; we must endeavor to attain our goal, and we must try to find our place in one of the celestial spheres.

The steps ahead are high and difficult, but they become easier to climb as we approach the brilliant stars. Our motto and our goal inspire us onward. Our achievements will determine our success. The whiteness of the marble banner indicates that we are on the road to goodness and purity of heart. The fresh green carpet that we tread upon signifies that we follow the path of everlasting youth.

As we arrive at these final steps before us, we realize that God is with us. He Who has given us the ability to extend our knowledge to the far-reaching bounty of the universe has led us to this overwhelming pinnacle of glory.

Below us we can see the many who are still struggling up this marvelous stairway. They overcome the same obstacles that lay before us. They fall as we did; they trip as we did; but, most important, they keep on—as we did. The ascent has been long and tedious, at times exasperating, at times even unrewarding. But, we forget the trying times. Instead, we remember the infinite gladness we felt each time we scrambled over another step, each time we reached another height.

With our departure we leave with you our eternal gratitude and appreciation and carry with us to the stars the fond memories of your encouragement and guidance. We are no longer your children; now we are your posterity.

And now we stand before those last steps. Our God stretches out His hand to help us onward. We must reach for His hand, and, with all the strength we have, pull ourselves up, up—from here to infinity."

Only Few Summer Jobs Available States Mitchell

WASHINGTON (UPI)— There are still "wide open" opportunities for summer jobs in ice cream and soda pop firms, gasoline stations and resort hotels and camps. But prospects are slimmer in construction and factory work for students seeking vacation jobs.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell outlined the situation in an open letter to the four million high school and college students expected to seek vacation work this year. He said it will take "learning on your part and investigation and a good deal of resourcefulness if you are to get the job you want."

With fewer job openings and more teen-agers than ever before, competition will be keener, he said. The boy or girl with previous experience or special skills will have some advantage, he noted.

Mitchell suggested that young job seekers check "right now" with state employment offices. He pointed out that with farmers taking on 700,000 hands for the growing and harvesting seasons, "there are more opportunities for work on farms than any place else."

Arness Says 'Lot Of Fun' Being Marshal Dillon

Editors Note: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Today's guest columnist is James Arness, TV's Marshal Matt Dillon. The lanky actor says his show holds the top rating because the hero doesn't always win. By JAMES ARNESS
Written for UPI
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Like everyone else who is identified with a popular television show I am often asked what it's like. With me, the questioners want to know what it's like to play Marshal Matt Dillon in "Gunsmoke."

Now that United Press International has given me this opportunity, I'd like to answer that question. It's a lot of fun.
One thing that makes it fun, of course, is the fact that Matt is one of the principal characters in television's top show. This makes me feel like a ball player whose team has won the World Series.
Made Him Human
Cause and effect get a little mixed here. The things that make Matt Dillon fun to play are the same things that make "Gunsmoke" the top television show. These can be summed up in one word: honesty.

John Meiston and Norman McDonnell, writer and producer, who created Matt Dillon, made him a human being—a departure from custom. Western drama had become almost as formalized as the Chinese theater. The bad guy had a black hat, a mustache, and liked to kick dogs. The good guy wore a white hat, had a beautiful, intelligent horse, and was bashful with women.

The women were always beautiful; they were frail schoolmarm, tomboyish ranchers' daughters, or buxom dance-hall hostesses, but always beautiful.
Heroes always had at least eleven shots in their six-shooters, and never missed. Their horses always outran the villains' horses. They never made mistakes, and always got the villains in the end.
Hat is Brown
Marshal Dillon isn't one of them. His hat is brown; his horse is neither a genius nor a derby winner, and he is not adored by women. Most of the women he encounters are the homely, tired, faded sort one would really have found in Kansas in the 1870s.

Kitty Russell, played by Amanda Blake, is a welcome exception to this. Dillon makes mistakes. Sometimes he arrests the wrong people, and lets the villains go. By being human he sometimes lets tragedies occur. He isn't perfect, any more than any real lawman was.

Avoiding these and other clichés makes "Gunsmoke" a better show and makes Matt Dillon a wonderful role. He seems real to me; he seems real to others, too, including some who insist their daddies knew Dillon in the old days, despite the fact that Meiston and McDonnell invented him.
Things like that have made Matt Dillon a continuously interesting character to play. I hope he lasts forever.

Farm Commodity Investment Total Over $7 Billion
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's investment in price-supported farm commodities installed $7,250,751,000 on April 30, the Agriculture Department reports.
Largest wholly owned government item was 796 million bushels of wheat valued at $2,218,000,000. Outstanding wheat loans on 92,200,000 bushels were valued at $183,500,000.
The farm commodities investment was $565,114 less than that on April 30, 1957, according to the government figures released Monday.

The Agriculture Department also revealed farmers have agreed to take $1,200,000 acres of cropland out of production under the 1958 soil bank.
It said slightly more than 17,100,000 acres were put in the acreage reserve program which is designed to reduce price-depressing crop surpluses.
Somewhat more than four million new acres were put in the acreage conservation reserve.

In Germany, during the 19th century, princes of the blood had another boy reared with them. This other boy received the spanking due to the prince for his misbehavior.

Clear, Positive Objectives Can Frame United States Strategy

One of the most controversial issues of the time is the Administration proposal for extensive reorganization of the Defense Department. It has been supported and opposed with the utmost vigor. Confusing questions of semantics have arisen—every phrase, almost every word, of the proposed bill has been examined with meticulous care to see what varying interpretations might be given.

One of the country's leading writers on military affairs, George Fielding Elliot, recently devoted three syndicated columns to the reorganization problem. Mr. Elliot has full sympathy with the President's determination "to save time—to have decisions made more quickly, to eliminate time-wasting procedures and practices, above all to meet the terrible problem of how a free society may key its reactions to the split-second demands of the missile era." But, in his view, certain key provisions of the Administration bill—increased authority for the Secretary of Defense, decreased authority for the various services, unified commands and concentration of power would not be time-savers—"they are time-wasters."

A basic trouble he feels, lies in over-heavy organization of the Defense Department itself. There are endless assistant secretaries and committees with a finger in the military pie. And Mr. Elliot's fears, it seems, are that there is a danger we may apply attempted remedies which will make matters worse, not better.

As matters stand now, the members of the Joint Chiefs are also the commanders of their respective services—the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force. The reorganization plan would strip them of this command authority and responsibility. The authority and responsibility would be given to newly-created unified commands made up of components of all the services. Then, the Joint Chiefs would be detached from the realities of military life and be left stranded and lonely figures.

Mr. Elliot foresees another danger. The reorganization plan would not formally establish a single chief of staff system, to which Congressional leaders are violently opposed. But it would give the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs very broad additional powers. And the result would be to make him all-powerful in fact if not in name—and if so, we would have to all practical purposes a single chief of staff establishment. The Secretary of Defense would have almost no one else to turn to for guidance.

Mr. Elliot has high confidence in the experience and abilities of the President and the Secretary. But ultimately, there will be a new President and a new Secretary, with fewer qualifications in this incredibly complicated field. Then, as he sees it, establishment of the new proposed system would mean that "the flexibility inherent in the present system will have been lost, and to restore it will be a task almost beyond human powers."

Another basic trouble is that the "national objectives" of the military have not been clearly defined. So, why not, before reshaping the whole military establishment, try defining clear and positive objectives on which the present Joint Chiefs of Staff can frame a clear and positive strategy?

Alaskan History In Forefront

Two June days 120 years apart may turn out to have rather special significance in the year 1958. The first was June 14, 1777, when the Continental Congress adopted a United States flag bearing stripes and stars. The second was June 16, 1897, when news of a fabulous strike in Alaska precipitated the famous gold rush.

These dates are mentioned together because, if the Senate approves a bill already passed by the House, Alaska will become the 49th state in the Union. That constellation which began with 13 stars and grew to 48 during the next 185 years may soon have to be expanded again. If this happens, it will be a victory for the good democratic concept that all citizens should be fairly represented in their government.

There is much more to Alaska than gold and fisheries and numbing winters. For one thing, Alaska is a vast territory, bigger than Texas, Montana and California combined. For another, Alaska has great hydroelectric power potential, big forest areas, and fertile land that produces crops in the warm or southern areas.

Above all, Alaska is people. Some can remember the roaring Klondike days. Many are imbued with the pioneering spirit that opened vast reaches of the United States. There are more than 200,000 Alaskans now, double the number before the war. Statehood may boost the population tremendously. More important, statehood will give Alaskans both the responsibilities and the rights and privileges of full citizenship.

Everyone Know!

Well, they died—as had been expected, as had been accurately predicted. They died by the hundreds. Not in battle, not by disease, not in the fullness of their time on earth. No, they died in the smashing impact of metal on metal; they died in rending crash and inferno on scores of broad highways and pleasant side roads. Death came to these hundreds of Americans on Memorial Day weekend, 1958.

The tragedy of these many lives snuffed out is all the greater, perhaps, because everyone knew that it would happen—to someone. What we don't know is how to forestall the next chapter in this book of sudden death.

There will be other chapters, but they can be made less terrible. Let each driver resolve, not merely to obey the law, but to restrain impulse, curb aggressive feelings, accept frustration—to drive, in short, as he would like others to drive.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cabot
Congressional Press Washington Writer
WASHINGTON—Diplomats in Washington are split on the advisability of President Eisenhower's action in sending Marines and paratroopers to the Caribbean for the protection of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The two schools of thought boil down to these views:
1—Mr. Eisenhower's action should not have been taken because it will give critics of United States policy a chance to charge that Uncle Sam is trying to intimidate his Latin American neighbors.

2—The move by the President was necessary to show the Reds, who inspired the Latin American riots against Nixon, that the United States will stand up for its rights anywhere in the world.

Although there was some initial criticism by Democrats of the decision to send troops, the move stirred up comparatively little political opposition in Washington. The Democrats, unwilling to throw themselves in front of the public resentment of the attack on Nixon, remained silent generally on the troops issue.

Airline Control—It's almost a certainty that Congress will do something this session about controlling the use of air space over the United States—both military and commercial. Congressional tempers are boiling over mid-air collisions between commercial and military craft and lawmakers are determined that action be taken. Foremost among suggestions is one for an independent agency to control commercial flights and all military flights as well. There have been many near-misses in addition to the actual crashes—which have taken an alarming total of 300 lives since 1949.

The cry of those plugging for action is: "We must stop these murders in the air."

A Looming Fight—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss is in such strong disagreement with the administration on nuclear testing that it is appearing more unlikely that he will serve another term. Strauss' present tenure in office

CANDY'S DANDY, BUT LIKES' CLUCKER-OR IS IT?

Stephens Called Old Political Pro

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tall among the so-called palace guardians is Thomas E. Stephens of New York, recently returned to the White House for his third tour as appointments secretary.

Stephens has been described as an old political pro and utility insider for the Republican National Committee. To Stephens is attributed much responsibility for President Eisenhower's sudden increase in rate of public exposure. The President is getting around, talking to a lot more groups than was the case some months ago. There even is talk around the White House that Eisenhower might forego his customary long vacation in the late summer and early autumn to remain close to Gettysburg and Washington. That means the President is thinking of doing himself a big hand in this year's congressional campaign.

Restricted Schedule
During the middle and late winter, the President was rejected many, even most, invitations to appear away from the White House. He reduced notably his office and rose garden meetings with visiting delegations. The White House calling list was limited for the most part to top government officials and to the absolutely imperative diplomatic encounters.

Washington See-Saw

By Win Pendleton
No More Little Rocks?—A move to prevent another incident like the Little Rock case, was made last week by Congressman Bob Sikes. As a member of the Military Appropriations Subcommittee he introduced an amendment to the regular appropriations bill that would prevent any of the money from being spent to enforce integration in the schools. His amendment reads: "... provided that, no part of the funds contained in the measure shall be used for occupation purposes within the continental limits of the United States unless such action is requested by the governor of the state affected or specifically authorized by the Congress." Sikes had this to say about his amendment: "Little Rock cost $1 million. It was a complete waste of money and in my opinion an illegal expenditure. The job could have been done just as well by the deputy U. S. marshals and it would not have been a lasting shame to this country's reputation."

Herling Authority—The bill to extend unemployment coverage that was signed into law by President Eisenhower was written by Florida's Syd Herling. Several different versions of the proposed law had been introduced by various congressmen, but all were voted down. Herling then drafted his proposal and with the backing of the conservative Democrats in the House, handled its passage on the House floor. As a reward for his labors, he has been given the post that President Eisenhower used to sign the bill.

Recipe Department—Here's a curvy story. The Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, headed by Roy Vandegriff Jr., of Pahokee, sent enough Florida sweet corn for every member of Congress to sample. It was served in the Senate and House dining rooms. Later, so many members discussed the correct method of cooking corn that Congressman Billy Mathews told them how to do it. His recipe has been printed in the Record for posterity. Here it is, as given to him by Mr. Vandegriff: "Cook eight ears of a time flat in a heavy skillet with a light cover. First, put three-fourths of a cup of water in a skillet, add one-half teaspoon of sugar, and one teaspoon of salt. Bring to a boil. Then add eight ears of the cleaned corn. Add pepper to taste. Add a sprinkling of paprika (for color only), and two generous pats of butter for each ear. Turn down heat. Cover and cook for three minutes. Turn with tongs, very gently, and cook three minutes more. Remove from heat." And there you are. I'll take two, please.

Who Was Where—Last week-end, Senator Seward Haddock dedicated the historical markers for the Tamiami Trail. He spoke at a breakfast in Miami, staged by Ernest G. Gearhart Jr., President of the Historical Association of Southern Florida. And in West Palm Beach, Congressman Paul Rogers delivered the commencement address to 500 seniors at Palm Beach High School.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CURT

AN ENGLISH NEWSPAPER has been investigating a very important matter: the number of times a cuckoo can call without stopping. And since a great many English people take their bird-watching very seriously, letters have been pouring in on the subject.

One reader in Tisbury reported he had heard a cuckoo call distinctly 131 times in succession. "A mere nothing," pooh-poohed another reader from Leamington Spa. Her cuckoo had sounded off 305 times without a pause that refreshed!

A third reader counted over 300 successive cuckoo calls, but honorably disqualified himself when he discovered he was standing outside a clock factory.

Since the two sons of Ralph Carson in Philadelphia have become, respectively, a doctor and a parson, his cup of joy is overflowing. "My doctor son," he points out, "makes me well for nothing, and my parson son makes me good for nothing."

non-commission officers will actually be in charge of the training program, the unit will supply its own logistical support depending only on its parent battalion for supplies. The National Guard's units are self-sustaining and do not depend on the Regular Army for training, etc.

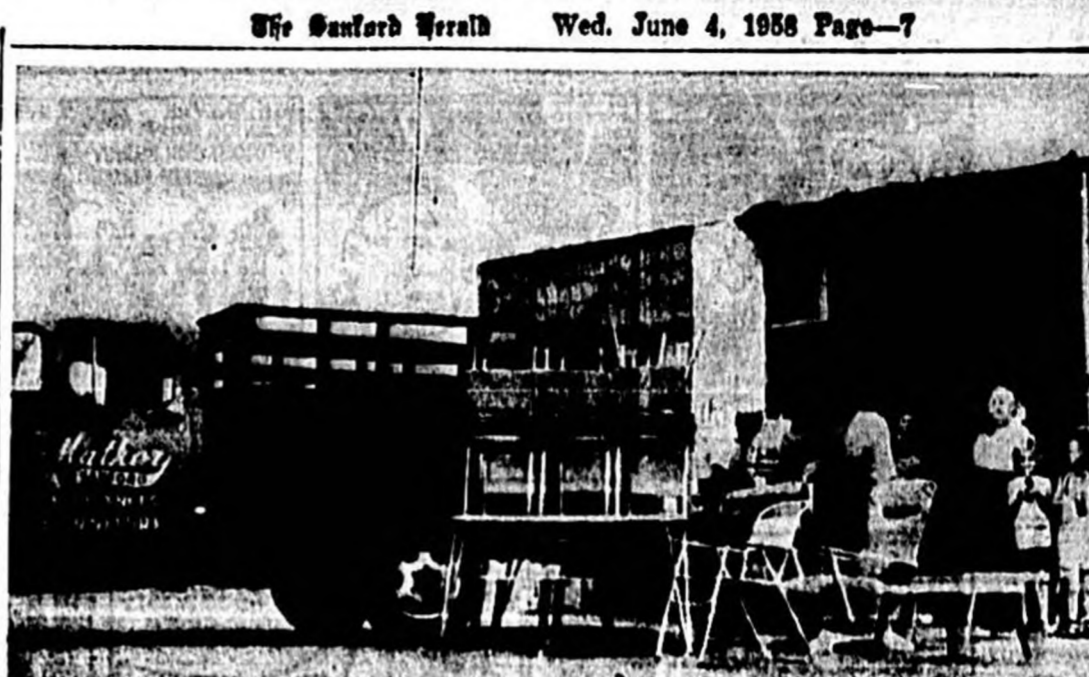

For the first time the entire 15th Armored Division will move to and from Fort Stewart this year by military convoy. The Sanford unit, as part of the 15th Arm. Inf. Bn., will leave from the local Armory at 8 a. m. Sunday for the move. The unit will proceed to Leesburg to join the rest of the Battalion for the movement. While on the way the men will eat combat rations.

The move this year, according to local guard officials, is being made by truck for two reasons. It is estimated that by moving this way the Division will save over $25,000 in transportation costs and the training received in the move will greatly improve the Division's mobilization day capabilities.

The first detachment of Sanford Guardsmen to leave for Fort Stewart will depart at 4 a. m. Thursday, June 5. This advance detachment will move by military convoy to the South Georgia post arriving Thursday evening at 6 p. m. In charge of the Sanford unit's men is SFC Albin E. Kendall. Other men going are Sp3 Ivey R. C. Briggles, Sp3 Herbert F. Bailey and Cpl. Richard Hall.

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - Two of Florida's top health officers have issued a plea for isolating tuberculosis cases still existing in the state.

House Okays Pay Boost For Million Federal Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House has overwhelmingly approved a 10 per cent pay boost, retroactive to Jan. 1, for one million government workers.

It would add $48 million dollars a year to the cost of operating the federal government.

The legislation will be sent to a Senate-House conference committee to work out a compromise.

The Senate approved a 7.5 per cent pay increase for the same employees at a cost of about $76 million dollars a year.

The administration had recommended a 4 per cent pay increase costing about $60 million dollars, with no retroactive provision.

However, President Eisenhower last week signed legislation giving a 10 per cent pay increase to postal workers, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Jackknifed Truck Sweeps Across Bridge Killing 4

ATLANTA (UPI)—A jackknifed tractor-trailer truck swept across a congested four-lane bridge like a giant scythe near here Wednesday, piling up wreckage that resulted in the death of four persons.

The big rig crushed a station wagon occupied by a Chattanooga, Tenn., couple and their two children. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Talley, were killed and the children critically injured.

The truck caught fire as it came to rest in the middle of the bridge and both occupants were burned beyond recognition. They later were identified as Charlie Burnett, 37, of Signal Mountain, Tenn., and L. W. Hughes of Chattanooga.

Authorities said Mrs. Talley was killed instantly. Her husband died five hours later in a hospital at Marietta, Ga., 18 miles away. The children, Dorothy Virginia, 19, and Mary B., were reported on the critical list at the same hospital.

Police today credited a witness to the accident, William D. Shepard, with probably saving the lives of the Talley children. He chained his truck to the Talley station wagon, which was partially pinned under the burning cab, and pulled it away from the flames.

Another witness, Mrs. Callie D. Dotson, said the truck appeared to be weaving before it reached the bridge and that it jackknifed after the cab hit a section of the bridge railing.

Two other cars were damaged in the grinding wreck. Six other persons were injured but all were released after receiving first aid at the Marietta hospital.

Florida Woman Wins $56,000

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI)—Mrs. Jewell Murray, 48-year-old grandmother and unemployed waitress, was $56,000 richer today—and all because she was too busy to argue with a salesman.

Mrs. Murray received word Wednesday she was winner in an international sweepstakes. She bought her ticket in the contest from "some 375,000 other customers" in the restaurant where she worked for eight years before it closed for the summer.

"I bought that ticket for $3, mostly because I was busy and didn't have time to argue," Mrs. Murray said. She plans to use her winnings, which will amount to about $25,000 even after taxes, for home improvements and new tires for her 1954 automobile.

"And my boss isn't losing a waitress either," she added. "I'll be right back here again when they open up."

TALMADGE WILL

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI)—The late movie actress Norma Talmadge left about $300,000 and her home here to her husband.

The star's will, recorded Wednesday in probate court, left the bulk of her estate to the husband, Carvel M. James of Fort Lauderdale. Miss Talmadge died at Las Vegas last Christmas Eve.

Guitarist Plays For Kiwanians At Luncheon

A program requiring nimble fingers and 15 years of practice was presented at the Sanford Kiwanis Club's luncheon meeting yesterday.

David Mathes, accompanied by Buddy Mack, entertained members of the Kiwanis Club with a program of guitar music.

Floyd Palmer, program chairman for the meeting yesterday, explained that the guitar is a "respected instrument."

Mathes displayed the agility of the guitar as he played six selections including one of his own compositions.

Wayne H. McGregor was introduced into the Sanford Kiwanis Club as a member by Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Ed Shinholter.

Mother Is Charged With Abusing Child

A 25-year-old white woman is being held in the Seminole County Jail charged with the "abuse and neglect" of a child.

The Trenton, Fla., mother of six children, Mrs. Margaret Jordan, cleared her husband of any part of the charges. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jordan were taken into custody and held in the county jail pending charges. Coy Jordan, the 35-year-old father, was released.

Charges grew out of the brutal beating of a 2-year-old child, Darline, who was first taken to a local doctor's office for treatment by relatives. However, the mother, learning of the child being taken to the physician's office, went to the office and created a scene taking the child with her.

Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway and Sheriff J. L. Hobby, investigated the "abuse and neglect" following a report of the doctor to Circuit Judge Volte A. Williams Jr. who ordered the detention of the mother and father and the hospitalization of the child.

"Beating of the child did not occur in Seminole County," Constable Galloway said. County Judge E. M. Akina has ordered the woman held for Gilchrist County authorities following disposition of the charges here.

The Sanford Herald yesterday "A twin brother of the little girl died earlier this year under similar circumstances."

The Gilchrist County Judge said "An autopsy report shows that the twin brother died from double pneumonia, a miliary condition and anemia."

"The Sanford doctor who examined Darline Carter Jordan," Constable Galloway said, "reported that the child had been beat with a heavy object and is in serious condition."

Pictures of the 2-year-old girl revealed that both eyes were injured, the face beaten, and bruises appeared all over the body.

Constable Galloway said charges placed against the woman here are "contributing to the dependency of a minor," or as he explained, abuse and neglect.

Judge Akina, in Trenton yesterday, said "I don't know just what charges I'll bring against the woman being held in Sanford. There are several questions to be answered yet that will have a bearing on the case."

"The family lives about 12 miles out from Trenton," Judge Akina said yesterday.

Seminole Memorial Hospital reported the child's condition this morning at 7 o'clock as "good."

The building permits issued by the Seminole County Zoning Commission were surpassed by only four other counties, reporting building permits, in the entire state, Zoning Director Robert S. Brown told the Board of Seminole County Commissioners.

Free Swimming Lessons Offered Local Children

June will be "learn to swim" month in Sanford and Seminole County, according to an announcement made today by Ronald W. Perry, Recreation Director for the City of Sanford.

He said registration for beginners' swimming lessons will be held on Monday at the Municipal Swimming Pool in Sanford. Any child eight years old or older may sign up for the free instruction.

The Sanford Recreation Department, in cooperation with the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and its water safety chairman, Mrs. P. D. Scott, are offering the free instruction.

Volunteer Red Cross instructors and senior life savers will be in charge of all swimming instruction. The classes will continue for two weeks, Tuesday through Saturday beginning with the registration Monday at the Municipal Swimming Pool.

Registration will be in person and none will be taken by telephone, said the city's recreation director.

The classes will be scheduled in three 45-minute periods beginning at 8 a. m., 8:45 a. m. and 9:30 a. m.

Additional plans, not yet completed, call for evening classes for adult beginners, junior and senior life saving, the formation of an AAU swimming team, and a synchronized swim club, said Perry.

Only a limited number of beginners can be registered for each instructor, Perry said, and added "first, come first served." Any child in Sanford or Seminole County may register, he said.

A similar program will be set up for the Goldboro Swimming Pool when it opens the latter part of this month.

Rotary Club Will Meet At Civic Center Monday

The Sanford Rotary Club will hold its next meeting, Monday June 9, at the Civic Center, Myron Heck, president of the club, said today.

"We will be the first club to use the civic center," Heck said as he announced the change in meeting place.

Heck explained that the Rotary Club did not get the message concerning the readiness of the Sanford Civic Center until too late to announce at the club's weekly luncheon meeting Monday.

The meeting will be held in the annex of the Civic Center at 12 noon, the club president said.

Robbins reported on an inspection trip to the Volusia County home, made by himself and Commissioner Homer Little.

Patients in the county home at present are not eligible for social security and old age benefits, Robbins explained. He added, that under the private operator type of home the patients then would be eligible, some for as much as $105 a month.

Commissioner Little told the Board of Commissioners that the County would be able to save a minimum of $10,000 a year in the operation of the home under the change in plans.

"We would immediately realize enough to take care of repairs and improvements to the present plant," Commissioner Little said.

Commissioners were presented a report from Mrs. Abbie Boyd who heads the county's welfare department. However, the report concerning the county home was not made public.

"Right now it looks as if our information is a little meagre," said Commissioner Chairman John Krider. "My thoughts are that we should get out of the 'poor farm' class and raise our standards."

In a discussion relating to the personnel operating the county home on a private lease basis it was revealed that "any operator would have to be approved by the state."

"Under state regulations," Robbins told commissioners concerned with the possible diet provided inmates, "a diet sheet must be filed."

DeGaulle Takes Peace Campaign Into Algeria

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle carried his French-Moslem peace campaign into the heart of rebel-infested Eastern Algeria today and was greeted by a happy, shouting crowd of 30,000 persons.

The crowd, more than half of them Moslem Arabs to whom he had offered full voting equality Wednesday night, gave the general a welcome almost as clamorous as the one he received in Algiers, when he flew in from Paris to assert his authority over French dissidents.

They cheered his DC3 plane when it landed at the military Oued Hammine Airfield and they kept cheering all along the 10-mile route into his ancient mountain-top city, scene of recent rebel bombings.

Wednesday there were ceremonial troops. Today there were rebel-led paratroopers and foreign legionnaires who faced outwards from the roadway always alert to the rebel dangers in the region.

Traveled With Escort
Instead of the limousines and convertibles which escorted De Gaulle and his party at Algiers Wednesday the general traveled with an escort of heavy armored cars.

De Gaulle's swing through Eastern Algeria to the cities of Constantine and Bone followed a day of triumph in Algiers when he announced that Moslems would have equal rights with all other Frenchmen in voting on constitutional reforms.

De Gaulle did not win over the hard-bitten, right-wing Colonialists who hate the Moslems and want to win the war on their own terms. But his gesture delighted the French Algerians of his public safety committee who regard integration as the main hope for

TO APPOINT SCIENTISTS
VIENNA (UPI)—Communist Czechoslovakian, today expressed his willingness to appoint nuclear scientists for participation in preparatory talks for a summit conference. A communiqué of the Czech foreign ministry followed Russia's lead earlier this week in agreeing to President Eisenhower's proposal that East-West scientific talks begin soon on suspension of nuclear tests.

PRISONER RIOT
ANGOLA, La. (UPI)—Twenty-seven maximum security prisoners staged a brief riot at the state prison Wednesday. The convicts demonstrated because guards confiscated their "roof-ball"-lenses-drine-soaked wadding for nasal inhalers. Guards crushed the riot with tear gas.

Two Accidents 3 Minutes Apart Occur Last Night

Two automobile accidents only three minutes apart last night were responsible for over $500 in property damage, according to reports at the Sanford Police Department.

An automobile being lunched with luggage was put into gear and accelerated by a 23-year-old boy, apparently asleep to get away on a vacation trip. It was parked at 203 1/2 East 21st St.

L. J. Joe Hickson, investigating officer of the Sanford Police Department, said the cars motor was running when Stephen Walter Aseltine, 24, son of Clarence Walter Aseltine, "framed the gear lever into reverse and put his foot on the accelerator."

According to the report, the car backed 75 yards into the woods and stopped when the car hit a tree. Damage to the 1955 Olds was reported at $150.

No charges were made. An accident at 10:40 last night at the intersection of Park Ave. and 10th St. was caused by "driving too close to the center line," according to the report made by investigating officer L. J. Joe Hickson.

A 1951 Jeep delivery wagon, driven by John Alvin Harley, 17, Lake Mary and a 1957 Ford sedan, driven by Jesse Lennon Hale, 30, of Rt. 2, Sanford, struck each other on left side at the front fender. Damages to the jeep were estimated at $15 and to the Ford at $125.

There were no injuries.

Air Conditioning Request By Welfare Dept. Turned Down

A request to furnish the State Welfare Department, located in the Melach Building, with 10 or a portion of the 10 air conditioning units, was turned down Tuesday by the Board of Seminole County Commissioners.

Mrs. Carmela Ray, Supervisor for the Seminole County Unit of the State Department of Public Welfare, accompanied by three of the employees in the office, appeared before the board to make the request.

In a discussion later, Commissioner B. C. Dood said "If we furnish one we will have to furnish all."

Commissioner Lawrence Swofford revealed that the overall cost of the units and installation would come to $3,000 and the cost of operation would amount to $8 per month.

"No funds are available and none in sight," commissioner said as they surveyed possible available funds to pay for the air conditioning units.

Commission Chairman John Krider stated "It's the general feeling that the board does not have the money."

"I can't see where the county can spend from $1,000 to $1,500 with the county's needs and demands as they are at present," Krider said.

Survey Authorized To Find Garbage Dumping Pit Area

"We are confronted with the problem of controlling the dumping of trash and garbage on state and county roads in Seminole County," Commissioner Lawrence Swofford told the Seminole County Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

"People are dumping trash and garbage on county roads all over the county," he said.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby explained that "People ride along until they see no one is looking and then dump bags of garbage along the highway regardless of its location."

The Sheriff said "We're doing all we can, every day, to apprehend those who are breaking state laws."

"There should be some way to stop it even if heavy fines are levied against those we can apprehend," Commissioner Swofford said.

However, Swofford said, "we need additional places for the dumping of trash and garbage, especially in the South Seminole County area."

Commission Chairman John Krider proposed that additional areas be purchased for the location of garbage dumping pits.

A survey was authorized to determine where property could be secured for the purpose.
