Lockridge: No Longwood Job

Refuses Finance Director's Post

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Robert Lockridge, Winter Park investment consultant who had been hired as Longwood finance director subject to the approval of the city commission, said today he withdrew his name from consideration Monday because he does not want the job.

He said he made the decision after meeting informally with city commissioners Friday afternoon, but declined to speculate on whether the commissioners would have confirmed his appointment by Acting City Administrator Don Terry.

In his letter, Lockridge cited personal reasons for withdrawing his name and said he would consider any further discussion of his application by the city officials as "an invasion of privacy."

Terry, who selected Lockridge on the recommendation of a screening committee, said he didn't know why Lockridge withdrew. The committee was made up of Henry Tammi, Sanford finance director, Harry Martin, Winter Springs finance director, and Barbara Renard, CPA with Kane & Associates, Longwood auditor.

Terry said after Lockridge hand-carried his letter to city hall Monday, he contacted Tammi, who gave him five additional names that were high on the committee's list.

They reviewed 10 applications including one from Acting Finance Director Mary Triplett, who has been serving in that capacity since September when former finance director Barry Weeks resigned.

Prior to opening his own office in July 1985, Lockridge was employed by the city of Gainesville as deputy city manager for management and financial services at an annual salary of $60,000, while Longwood was offering $33,000.

Lockridge said he left his job because he wanted to work in the private sector and move to this area because his wife graduated from law school and took a job with an Orlando law firm.

Commissioner Rick Bullington said he would like to see a freeze on any further hiring until a new city administrator can be hired and he can select his own team.

City Planner Chris Nagle appealed to the commission to allow Terry to go ahead and hire a finance director because of the need for input from the finance director in the next portion of the comprehensive plan.

Commissioner Lynette Dennis asked if the acting finance director was capable of handling the job and supplying Nagle with the information he needs. Terry said, "I think so."

The commission agreed there would be no more hiring of department heads until after the Feb. 8 work session in which job descriptions will be discussed.

Also to be discussed at the session is the

Attorney: Likely Defense For Maynard Is Insanity

By Richard Whitteker
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Public Defender's office is keeping the lid shut tight on any information concerning the Orlando man accused of shooting his lawyer to death last Tuesday night, but an assistant state attorney said he believes an insanity defense is the only avenue the man can use if he stands trial.

Paul Ault, head attorney for the PDS in Sanford, said he will make absolutely no comment concerning the case of Roger Edward Maynard, who was charged with attempted first degree murder last week in the shooting death of Murray Lee Gay.

Gay died at 3 p.m. in the neuro-intensive care unit of Orlando Regional Medical Center from the gunshot wound allegedly inflicted by Maynard. The lawyer had been unconscious for almost 20 hours from the time of the shooting until his death.

Killer Storm Barrels Over The Rockies, Heads For Plains

United Press International

A winter storm that claimed eight lives and caused more than $21 million damage in California barreled over the Rocky Mountains and into the Plains with heavy snow and high winds today, killing at least three more people in its path.

"It's snowing all right. That's putting it mildly. This is winter's worst for us so far," said Ramona Ver Maas, the police dispatcher in Sidney, Neb.

The powerful storm draped a blanket of snow across a widening path from the southern Rockies through the central Plains. Snow warnings were posted from South Dakota to the Texas Panhandle.

Heavy snow was falling in Nebraska this morning, where forecaster Lynn Alexander said North Platte had around a foot of snow and drifts up to six feet in the western part of the state.

Winds up to 45 mph produced near blizzard conditions in southwest Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

Butte, Mont., was down to 24 below zero this morning, Alexander said, and "I expect Yellowstone to hook in with some where close to 30 below. While the frigid temperatures were plaguing the Northwest, the rest of the country was relatively mild.

Heavy rain this morning soaked the lower Mississippi Valley and the central Gulf Coast states.

A tornado watch was posted for parts of northeast Texas and northern Mississippi, and golfball sized hail pelted Little Rock, Ark.

More than 2 feet of snow fell Monday in the Rocky Mountains, closing roads and schools and stopping air and ground travel.

Betty Stanley, 55, Clarendon, Wyo., and her sister, Ila Beukenhorst, 62, Boulder, Colo., were killed Monday when their car swerved out of control on icy Interstate 80 near Lodgepole, Neb., and struck a truck, authorities said.

Arizona state police reported one death in a car wreck near Prescott.

Snow driven by 20 mph winds cut visibility to zero over parts of the Nebraska panhandle and 4-foot drifts blocked roads. I-70 was closed in

Approval Expected For General Sanford Estates Agreement

By Nancy Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

A proposed agreement between Sanford and Seminole County, in which Sanford would supply water and sewer services to General Sanford Estates, could be hammered out at the city commission meeting next week, Sanford commissioners said Monday during a workshop session.

City Manager Frank Eason told commissioners that he and County Administrator Ken Hooper have disagreed on only one point but said the items can be worked out.

General Sanford Estates is a 400-acre development planned for the southwest corner of County Road 46A and Airport Boulevard. If the city and county come to terms quickly, the deadline for developer's order drawn up in September 1987, which stipulates that the two governments must agree on how Sanford would supply the services to the development within six months of the order, can be met easily, Eason said. About two months remain before the deadline expires, otherwise the county would have to provide water and sewer services to General Sanford Estates.

The proposed agreement states that water and sewer capacities would be sold to the county, according to the rate of development at the Estates. As the developer, Belan Groves Ltd. of Sanford, shows the city his building schedule, more capacity would be sold accordingly, Eason said. Payments would occur when the capacities are reserved, except for the initial capacity purchased, which he collected within the first four months of purchase.

The county would pay an initial impact fee to the city of $950 to $900 per equivalent residential unit for water, and $2,025 to $2,100 for sewer service, according to the proposal. The county's own impact fees for water services is $290 higher than Sanford's rate, and $325 higher than Sanford's rate for sewer service. That difference would be applied as a reduced adjustment for calculating bulk rate sales for the development.

Where Eason and Hooper have disagreed is on a 25 percent surcharge Eason originally recommended to be added to the adjusted bulk rate. However, Hooper was not receptive to that idea, and now Eason says he thinks the surcharge could be dropped.

Commissioners expressed a desire to work out

Handicap Parking Fine May Go Up

Sanford City Commissioners, concerned because designated handicapped parking spaces are being used by non-handicapped drivers, may increase the current $25 fine to at least $100 if the violations do not stop. City commissioners discussed that possibility during a workshop held Monday at 4 p.m. at the Sanford City Hall.

Sanford citizens need to be more aware of designated handicapped parking areas in the city, according to Mayor Betty Smith, who requested the issue be included on the workshop agenda.

Mayor Smith said that recently she has received two complaints that citizens are not obeying the designated handicapped parking signs. She noted that one area resident who disobeyed such a sign, when confronted, laughed and expressed the attitude that the current $25 fine "was nothing" out of her pocket.

Sanford Police Chief Steven D. Harriett said that lack of respect among the citizenry for designated handicapped parking spaces is a real concern of the police department. He also explained that when a space has a freestanding sign that stipulates the space is for handicapped parking only, the rule can be enforced, and the fine collected. However, he said that a symbol painted on the pavement is considered merely a request and cannot be enforced.

Harriett said, "It is a very stringent enforcement that the police carry out for that of fence, but we can't be there all the time."

The mayor said new businesses should be encouraged to install the free-standing handicapped only signs, and city staff noted that many new businesses are doing so. Bill Simmons, director of engineering and planning, said that for previously constructed businesses to be required to enforce such a rule, a special ordinance might be required.

Shopping centers are considered private property, Harriett noted. However, since the public at large traverses the parking areas, police can enforce hand-

Supreme Court Rejects Col. North's Appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to hear an appeal from Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North, who is seeking to stop an independent prosecutor's probe into his role in the Iran arms Contra and scandal.

The justices let stand a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which in August upheld a district judge's order holding North in contempt for refusing to comply with a subpoena to produce handwriting samples.

The subpoena was issued by a grand jury overseen by an independent counsel, Lawrence Walsh, who has spent more than a year investigating the Iran Contra affair.

North and his boss, President

Reagan's national security adviser, Vice Adm. John Poindexter, lost their White House jobs because of the tragic operation in which money from U.S. arms sales to Iran was diverted to Nicaraguan rebels.

North's appeal, the latest move in a year of legal maneuvering, argued Walsh lacks legal authority to conduct a criminal investigation.

Walsh was named independent counsel Dec. 19, 1986, under the Ethics in Government Act, which provides for the appointment by a three-judge court of special prosecutors to look into possible wrongdoing by executive branch officials.

On March 3, 1987, Attorney General Edwin Meese gave

Teachers Showered With Gifts Touched By Students' Love

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: As school teachers at an elementary school, we object to the attitude of "Reluctant Gift Collector" who belittled those "No. 1 Teacher" mugs, plaques and pins received from students. The teacher said, "A gift certificate for a free meal would be much more appreciated."

How can this teacher be an example to his/her students when he/she can't appreciate the love and admiration they put into those so-called "useless gimmicks"?

We gratefully accept all gifts from our students as priceless treasures, and we proudly display them in our classrooms and homes. These gifts let us know that we are actually doing our jobs as educators, not only dispensing knowledge, but teaching the future generations how to be human.

Let "Reluctant Gift Collector" have the 20 or 30 gift certificates for a meal out—we'd rather have the love!

THE TEACHERS AT COTTONWOOD, CASA GRANDE, ARIZ.

DEAR TEACHERS: All 23 of you who signed the above letter, beginning with Dave Maloney and ending with Ceil McMurten. Thank you for expressing so well the unselfish attitude of those who have chosen the teaching profession. No one ever went into teaching to get rich. But read on for a "gift" one teacher received that money couldn't buy.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the teacher who was the "Reluctant Gift Collector." Enclosed is one of the nicest gifts a teacher could ever hope for.

MY NAME IS LEON. MY ADDRESS IS CLOUD NINE. I am the young man's chemistry teacher.

(The letter enclosed) Dear Ms. E.: Each year we ask students admitted to MIT to share with us the name of a teacher who has been especially influential in that student's development. We congratulate you on being named this year! More importantly, we thank you for the time, patience, expertise, love, discipline and all the other qualities which have had an important impact on your students. You do the work from which we all benefit.

Congratulations again on the respect you have earned from your students.

MICHAEL C. BENNE, DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS, MIT, CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "No-Win Situation" rang a bell with me. "No Win" asked whether she should tell her friend, "Jane," that she was cutting down on her visits to her (Jane's) house because of Jane's badly behaved children. You advised "No Win" that she could gently tell Jane as diplomatically as possible that her children's behavior is the problem. You pointed out that ill-mannered and badly behaved children are obnoxious and therefore friendless. You added that she'd be doing Jane and her children an enormous favor by telling her how she feels.

Abby, I am the son of not one but two "Jane-type" parents. The result was just as you described. I grew up self-centered, ill-mannered, badly behaved, obnoxious and friendless.

It all worked out—finally. I am now 52 and fairly successful, but I struggled all my life with personality and attitude problems. My grade school report cards consistently showed low marks in "Respects the rights of others." I eventually learned how to be a human being—but not from my parents. I was taught by the outside world. It would have been a lot easier had I learned those lessons at home. I'm signing my name, but if this is published, please sign me.

Caroline Fox, M.L. Homelius Married In Double Ring Rites

Caroline Ann Fox and Michael Lavater Homelius, both of Tavares, were married Dec. 12, at 2 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary. The Rev. A.F. Stevens was the officiating clergyman for the traditional Christian, double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Fox Jr., Lake Mary. The bridegroom is the son of Harvey C. Homelius, Tavares, and the late Mrs. Betty J. Homelius.

T.L. Larson presented organ music for the ceremony and Cindy Bevier was the flutist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose for her vows an ivory silk satin gown fashioned along the slim silhouette. The fitted bodice, styled with a modified sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, was enhanced with Venise lace embroidery interspersed with pearls and rhinestones. The gently flowing skirt cascaded into a sweeping chapel train.

Her pearl and lace-trimmed fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of lace and pearls over ivory and satin, worn by her mother at her parents' wedding. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls belonging to her mother.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of off-white carnations and burgundy roses highlighted with Christmas greens and showered with ivory satin streamers.

Diane Gilbert attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a short-sleeved crocheted burgundy lace over tulle gown which fell to a scalloped edge and was secured with a satin sash. A burgundy floral headpiece, burgundy lace gloves and a gold triple chain bracelet, a gift from the bride, completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet similar to the bride's, except smaller.

Bridesmaids were Countie Murphy, Maureen Pichard and Sherrie Mullen. They were gowned identically to the maid of honor and they carried Colonial hand bouquets of off-white carnations, burgundy roses and Christmas greens. The father of the bridegroom was the best man, Usher-groomsmen were Raymond Fox and Earl Fox, brothers of the bride, and David Swain of Daytona.

A reception at the Lake Mary Community Building followed the ceremony. Betty Day prepared and presented the food and punch and Jimmie Nelson served as circulating hostess. Betsy Nelson presided at the punch bowl which belonged to the bride's paternal great grandmother. Betty Deidman cut and served the three-tiered carrot cake which was topped with burgundy satin wedding bells. Terri Thompson registered the guests in the bride's book.

Following a wedding trip to St. Augustine, the newlyweds are making their home in Daytona Beach where the bride is case manager with ACT Inc. and the bridegroom is a student counselor at Daytona Beach Community College.

Among the out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. Vera Griffith, grandmother of the bride, Pensacola; and Mrs. Christie Patton, grandmother of the bridegroom, Daytona Beach. Other relatives and friends came from Missouri, Ohio, New Smyrna Beach, Jacksonville and Port Charlotte.

Union Carbide Appeals Relief Order

By Maszar Ullah

BHOPAL, India (UPI) — Union Carbide Corp. Monday appealed a court order that it pay $270 million in interim relief to victims of the December 1984 Bhopal gas leak disaster.

A company executive who asked not to be named, said from Bhopal that the appeal was filed in the Madhya Pradesh High Court in Jabalpur, 160 miles east of Bhopal.

The executive said the high court would decide in a hearing Thursday whether to consider the appeal of a Dec. 17 Bhopal District Court order that the U.S.-based multinational pay $270 million in interim relief within two months to victims of history's worst industrial disaster on Dec. 3, 1984.

J.B. Dadachandji, a Union Carbide attorney, confirmed in New Delhi that the court would determine Thursday whether to hear the appeal, and reiterated the company's position that the order for interim relief was tantamount to a finding of liability before the case is even tried.

"The court order for interim relief without trial is against the law. We have a good case. We are hopeful our petition will be granted," Dadachandji said.

"The order for payment amounts to a judgment and decree without trial, judgment without evidence, judgment without considering the defenses of Union Carbide Corp.," said a statement from the company's headquarters in Danbury, Conn.

India says 2,850 people died and more than 200,000 others were injured when 40 tons of methyl isocyanate vaporized and leaked from an underground tank at Union Carbide's Bhopal pesticide plant, covering large areas of the Madhya Pradesh state capital in choking, blinding fumes.

Most of those exposed were poor laborers and their families and thousands of survivors still suffer health problems that exacerbate their economic hardships.

The government filed a suit for $3.1 billion, charging Union Carbide's negligence was responsible for the leak. It also brought culpable homicide charges against the company. Its Indian subsidiary and 10 senior executives.

The company blames sabotage by a disgruntled employee for the disaster and has filed a counter-suit charging the central and state governments share some liability for the enormous casualty toll.

Efforts to settle out of court have been unsuccessful and the case is expected to take years to adjudicate.

Rajneesh's Ex-City Back To Normal

ANTELOPE, Ore. (UPI) — The Adolf Hitler Landfill and the Jesus Fire Hall are gone and streets once named for "enlightened masters" of the Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's brand of religion have reverted to titles less exotic.

Mevlanna Bhagwan Street, for instance, is plain old Main Street again. The Zorba the Buddha cafe is now simply the Antelope Cafe and Store and the all-Rajneesh police force has been replaced by a Wasco County deputy sheriff who occasionally drives through town.

Two years after the followers of the Indian guru left central Oregon and gave up control of the town they had renamed Rajneesh, things appear to have returned to normal for the dozen families who live in Antelope.

"Things are just the way we like it," said Frances Dickson, who weathered the three years that Rajneesh's disciples controlled the town. "It was a very traumatic time for us, but you can't dwell in the past."

But the past has left a legacy of bitterness and suspicion among those who live here year round.

They are openly suspicious of strangers and some refuse to talk about the past.

"This place will never be the same," said Bob Flatt, who brings the mail in from The Dalles 85 miles to the north five days a week. "There's still a lot of bitterness here and it's a shame because this was a beautiful place."

Antelope is an isolated community 110 miles southeast of Portland and 15 miles from Rajneeshpuram, the abandoned desert commune established by the guru's followers in 1981 and where Rajneesh lived until late 1985 when he was ordered out of the country by a federal judge.

In 1982 enough Rajneeshes moved to Antelope from the commune to take political control of the town and elect themselves to the city council and school board.

They raised taxes, hired other Rajneeshes as police and gave them uniforms, guns and vehicles to patrol the streets. They renamed the town, the streets, the buildings and even the landfill.

Climbing In Dad's Everest Footsteps

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI) — Norbu Tenzing, the son of the first Sherpa climber to conquer the world's highest mountain, will journey back to Mount Everest on the 35th anniversary of his father's historic climb.

Tenzing, 25, is the son of Tenzing Norgay, the Sherpa who, along with Sir Edmund Hillary, gained worldwide fame for climbing Mount Everest, reaching the top of the 29,028-foot peak on May 29, 1953.

The occasion for Tenzing's journey to Tibet, the ancestral homeland of the Sherpa people who later migrated to Nepal, is a major expedition called Everest '88 to commemorate the event.

He says the timing of the trip is significant because many of the original climbers are active.

"Thirty-five years may not sound like a big anniversary, but 15 years from now there might not be many people left," Tenzing said in his office at Lindblad Travel, the Connecticut travel agency where he works.

Tenzing says because of his youth and lack of climbing experience, his father would not want him to attempt the summit and out of respect for Norgay, who died in May 1986, Tenzing says he will remain on the lower portions of the peak.

"I think my father would be very disappointed if I did at this point," Tenzing said. "I really haven't settled down fully yet. I think with all the loads he carried so I could be here."

"He always climbed those mountains primarily because of his enjoyment, but more important, he set the groundwork for us to be in this country, for his children to get the best education possible," Tenzing said.

Tenzing instead will be a member of the support team that will trek to the east face of the mountain in Tibet and climb as high as the base camp at about 18,000 feet. The peak is located at the border of Tibet and Nepal.

Tenzing's lifelong involvement with the mountain was arranged years before his birth, when Hillary picked his father to act as a porter on an assault on the mountain.

A Second Opinion May Be Helpful

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — The doctor said the tube inside my pancreas is twisted and plugs up. That's what puts me in the hospital every year with pancreatitis. I'm also diabetic and have heart trouble. The doctor said that he could remove the end of the pancreas and connect the intestine directly, but that it was a very dangerous operation. In my situation, what would you do?

DEAR READER — Obtain another opinion. Spasm, kinking or blockage of the pancreatic duct can cause a backup of digestive enzymes in the pancreas, leading to inflammation and pain. Corrective surgery is dangerous and, in a diabetic with heart disease, could be enormously complicated. Perhaps a second opinion from a gastroenterologist would provide additional options for you to consider.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Does rheumatic fever still exist? What are its symptoms?

DEAR READER — Rheumatic fever does, indeed, still exist. It is much less common than it once was, however, several recent outbreaks have been reported nationwide. The disease typically follows a streptococcal infection, such as strep throat or scarlet fever. It is characterized by arthritis, chorea (tremors and awkwardness) and carditis (heart inflammation). Sometimes the kidneys are affected.

Rheumatic fever is thought by many experts to be an allergy to the strep bacteria. Because most strep infections are promptly treated with antibiotics, rheumatic fever seems to be on the wane, except for occasional outbreaks (for no known reason). It has become a medical curiosity.

The major consequences of rheumatic fever are Sydenham's chorea (irregular body movements) and mitral valve disease. This structure, an important valve in the heart, can be affected, leading to poor heart function. A diseased mitral valve causes heart murmur (an abnormal sound) and may have to be surgically corrected or replaced.

Although rheumatic fever is an unusual disease, it is one that must be considered in any patient recovering from a strep infection who develops joint pains, fever, heart murmur, red skin patches, protein in the urine or neurological abnormalities.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

English star Jeremy Flint has many claims to fame, including a year on tour in the United States when he came in second in the McKenney trophy race, losing only to frequent partner Peter Pender. Last October he was again runner-up, this time to the United States in the Bermuda Bowl open world team championship. Today's deal won't compensate him for losing that contest, but at least he can say that he won six more tricks than his U.S. opponent at the other table.

After the queen of spades lead, Flint reasoned that the play of the king from East indicated that the opening leader had Q-J-10-2 as well as a six-card club suit for his overall. He also believed that the heart king would be with West for his vulnerable overall. So, not expecting anything dramatic to occur, Jeremy won his spade ace and played the heart ace. When West's king came down, he got to dummy with a diamond, finessed against the trump 10 in the East hand and made all 13 tricks.

Meanwhile, at the other table, declarer South received a different lead against his four-heart contract — the ace of clubs, followed by a diamond shift. Since declarer did not see a reason to refuse the heart finesse, he lost to West's singleton king. Another diamond came back, and declarer won and played another heart. Eventually he lost two heart tricks, three spade tricks and the ace of clubs for down three.

I can't say that the U.S. declarer misplayed the hand, but Flint must be congratulated on his right decision at the table to forsake the trump finesse against the king.
