Sanford Man Held In Church St. Killing Wife Says Shooting Was In Self Defense

By Susan Loden
And Deane Jordan

A 23-year-old Sanford man is in Seminole County jail today charged with second degree murder in the gunning down of a 22-year-old man on Orlando's Church Street last Friday.

James Leroy Henderson Jr., 210th Amelia Ave., was arrested at his home at 11:27 p.m. Wednesday by Sanford police working with Orlando police investigators who had received a tip in the case from Crimeline.

Henderson, who was also charged with use of a firearm in a felony, is accused of shooting Jimmy Lee Edwards of Orlando at about 10:30 p.m. last Friday during a dispute that developed as Edwards and a 12-year-old girl bicycled along Church Street and Henderson rode with four companions in a Ford Bronco, a Sanford police report said.

Henderson, who is white and Edwards, a black, got into an argument, Orlando police spokesman Jeff Peck said. Police don't know the cause of the dispute, but Peck discounted as "speculation" and "blown out of proportion" published reports in an Orlando newspaper that indicated the shooting was racially motivated.

Peck said Orlando investigators believe the incident started as nothing more than a confrontation between a motorist and a bicyclist.

During the dispute Henderson exited the vehicle and allegedly pulled a .25-caliber handgun and shot Edwards once in the chest.

According to the Sanford police report, Henderson said he drew his gun after Edwards pulled a knife. Peck said when Edwards' body was found two hours after the shooting about two blocks from the scene, there was a steak knife in his waistband.

After the shooting, both Edwards and the Orlando girl, who was not injured, ran. Henderson, his wife Dina, Johnny Eastham, 22, the driver and owner of the Ford Bronco, and two juveniles, left the scene and drove back to Sanford where they all live, the police report said.

After Henderson was arrested at his home he reportedly told police he had thrown the automatic weapon used in the shooting into the St. Johns River when he returned to Sanford following the incident.

Peck said a .25-caliber shell casing was found near the shooting scene.

According to the Sanford police report, Orlando police were notified that Crimeline received a call Tuesday implicating Henderson and giving details of the shooting. As of early today, no charges have been filed against Mrs. Henderson, Eastham or the juveniles. Peck said police will talk with the Orange County State Attorney today to determine if anyone else will be charged.

Contacted at one of Henderson's two businesses, Automotive Detailing and Security, 2499 Old Lake Mary Road, Suite 112, Sanford, Mrs. Henderson denied vehemently any

New Marker For Old Bob

A new tombstone marks the grave of old Bob, the horse buried alongside the humans he so faithfully transported to the Sanford Cemetery for 28 years. He pulled the funeral wagon before the days when horsepower was found under a hood. When Bob died more than 60 years ago he was so highly esteemed he was buried in the cemetery and a marker placed on his grave. In recent years the original stone was repaired after being backed over by a car, but later demolished by vandals. The Hunt Monument Co. of Maitland donated a replacement.

Elementaries Get Boundary Changes

By Roger Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

Attendance boundary changes for Sterling Park and Woodlands elementary schools were given unanimous tentative approval by the Seminole County School Board Wednesday. While the Woodlands plan seemed to satisfy all concerned, parents with children at Sterling Park were less than happy.

The proposals are expected to get the final approval of the board in 30 days.

The board accepted Director of Elementary Education Marlon Giannini's recommended proposal for the boundary changes at Sterling Park, but adopted a revised plan proposed by Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes for Woodlands.

Hughes' Woodlands proposal called for the transfer of students who live in an area south of Seminola Boulevard, west of U.S. Highway 17-92, east of Lake Howell Road and north of state Road 436 from Sterling Park to Altamonte Elementary. It also proposed that students who will live in the under-construction Harbor Isle subdivision go to Altamonte.

The original Woodlands plan called for all of this plus the transfer of students living in Winsor Manor, Moorings and Harbor Isle to Altamonte, and the transfer of students living in Sandwood and Meadows Ridge subdivisions to Longwood Elementary. This would have meant the busing of some children to Longwood who currently walk to school at Woodlands.

Hughes' plan would give Woodlands an enrollment of about 800 students, Altamonte about 675 and Longwood about 745.

Since the recommended capacity for Woodlands is 683, portable classrooms will be brought onto the school's campus to provide extra classroom space.

Hughes' recommendation for Woodlands met with the applauding approval by some 20 parents in the audience at the meeting.

Sanford Man Guilty In Odometer Tampering

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man has been convicted by a jury in Orange County of 27 counts of supplying false odometer statements and one count of scheming to defraud car buyers.

Hunter Delphin Glenn, 29, of 420 Oak Ave., could receive up to 140 years in prison, although the judge on the case, Ted Coleman, said the sentence would probably not be that stiff. Sentencing was set for June 18 and Glenn was ordered held without bail.

Each of the 28 charges is a felony punishable by up to 5 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Glenn, arrested Nov. 20 in Sanford, was accused of buying vehicles in south Florida, reducing the mileage reading and falsifying the mileage on sales records, and then selling the vehicles through an Orange County auctioneer, according to Orange County consumer fraud investigator Bill Lipham.

Lipham investigated the case for two months before Glenn's arrest and said the cars in question were sold between March and June of 1983 through Florida Auto Auction in Ocoee.

On the witness stand, Glenn reportedly testified he dealt in such a large amount of cars — 20 to 40 a week — that he did not know the mileage on the vehicles he bought and sold. He said most of the false statements with his signature on them were filled out by other people though he did not know who they were.

In addition to his conviction, Glenn faces action on a civil suit file at the time of his arrest by the Florida Attorney General.

The suit alleges that Glenn and Florida Lease, where he formerly worked as an agent, knowingly conducted an operation to acquire cars, alter the odometers, and sell them with intent to defraud.

The attorney general is asking the court to order Glenn and Florida Lease not to tamper with odometers in the future. The suit also asks for a fine of $5,000 for each violation of Florida's Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act, in addition to requiring a payment of triple damages or $1,500, whichever is greater, to each consumer found to have been injured by Glenn's or Florida Lease's actions.

The suit also asks that Florida Lease be dissolved.

County Sets Goals For Coming Year

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County has set its goals for fiscal 1985-86.

The list, as prepared by the county's department directors, received the board's unanimous approval late Tuesday.

County Administrator Ken Hooper asked the county commission to approve the programs so the department heads could begin work on their budget proposals for the new fiscal year to begin Oct. 1.

Department directors must submit budget requests for 1985-86 by April 30.

The work program list, not prioritized, and explanations given by the department directors include:

- A new micro-communications system. Hooper said the county's radio system is overloaded and cannot be expanded any further. He said a new micro-communications system must be purchased so employees from various departments while in the field can communicate.

- Comprehensive plan update. Woody Price, deputy administrator for development, said work must be completed on the updated comprehensive plan by Oct. 1, 1987. He said before the plan is rewritten four to six months of "meaningful" community involvement in the planning process must occur. In addition, he said, environmental guidelines on wetlands and natural resources and land use must be adopted, drainage guidelines must be rewritten to conform to guidelines of the St. Johns River Water Management District and water and sewer guidelines must be composed.

- Computerization. Montye Beamer of the computer programming department said she and her staff are working on completing a development commitment package and a one-stop

Hefty Pay Hikes Proposed For Lake Mary Workers

A proposal to give all Lake Mary city employees pay raises, a move that would boost the city manager's salary by $10,000 annually and the police chief's by $9,000, is scheduled to come under the scrutiny of the city commission at a 7:30 meeting tonight.

The work session will be held at the Lake Mary City Hall, 158

N. Country Club Road.

City Commissioner Colin Keogh, who earlier voiced objections to the pay hikes, particularly the one recommended for City Manager Kathy Rice, said today that he will press his opposition not only to the size of Mrs. Rice's proposed new salary of $31,000, but also to other increases that total as much as $5,000 annually.

Mrs. Rice became Lake Mary's city manager on Oct. 28, 1983 at a salary of $19,366.20. She received a raise last year to bring her pay to $21,449, but she remains the lowest paid, and only female, city manager in the county.

"I just don't believe her job has become that much more difficult in 18 months," Keogh said.

If the raise is approved, he said, he may make a motion to readvertise the city manager's job. However, he added, "some members of the commission feel we can't afford to look for a new city manager now."

Keogh said he also objects to the method the committee used in reaching new salary levels. He said the committee included salaries paid in Sanford and Altamonte Springs, both of which have populations of more than 25,000, with those from other cities in the county and came up with an average.

"Lake Mary is one of the two smallest cities in the county," Keogh pointed out. The other is Oviedo.

Keogh said he agrees that the salaries of police officers should be raised. "We have some good people on the police department and I would hate to see them leave for better-paying jobs," he said.

Police Chief Harry Benson, who stands to get the second highest raise — $9,000 — said he plans to retire in a year and

Officials Spar Over Removal Of Oak Trees

Sanford's Scenic Improvement Board and City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles have clashed over the removal of nine oak trees in a city park that were declared diseased and a safety hazard.

Board chairman Sara Jacobson said some of the trees should have been spared. Knowles countered that only one had even a possibility of being saved but it was cut down with the rest.

Ms. Jacobson told the Sanford City Commission Monday that when she and other members of the board went to Ninth Street Park where the trees were being cut they were "appalled" to find two of the trees were green.

She said she was told by a city engineering technician at the park that he had orders to cut the trees down. When she asked him about the two trees that looked healthy and how he knew they were diseased, she said he told her he didn't know.

She said cutting down the live-looking trees flew in the face of the city's recently-adopted arbor ordinance which says a person cannot cut down a tree six inches in diameter without a permit from the city. The ordinance does say, however, that diseased trees may be felled.

Sounding a bit miffed, Knowles said oak trees can be diseased internally and still stand tall and appear healthy. He said it was unfair to criticize the engineering official because the city does not have sonic equipment required to test trees internally for disease.

"An oak tree can be standing and be 95 percent dead and a safety hazard," Knowles said.

Knowles said before the trees were cut down parks and recreation director Jim Jernigan inspected them and determined they were "diseased and dying." He added that only one had any possibility of being salvaged.

But Commissioner John Mercer and Mayor Bettye Smith said if there is a question of health or disease, the tree should get the benefit of the doubt.

"We really should come down on the side of the trees," Mrs. Smith said.

Miss Jacobson said she was not trying to criticize municipal workers but "to defend trees." She said she was not doubting their competence but rather the procedure the city uses to remove trees.

"Their method in investigating the problem is inadequate," Ms. Jacobson said, adding that workers should receive more equipment and training so they will be able to determine what trees are treatable before they level whole stands of trees.

Longwood Moves On Ordinance To Protect Trees

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

An arbor ordinance, based on one used by Altamonte Springs, has been given unanimous preliminary approval by the Longwood City Commission. A public hearing and final adoption are scheduled for May 13.

The ordinance was prepared by City Attorney Gerald Kormann, who serves on a steering committee in Altamonte Springs, and said he is appalled that some developers in Longwood are razing the land by bulldozing down trees in anticipation of the adoption of a strong arbor law in the city.

The proposed ordinance is designed to provide protection for the city's trees, and would require a permit for cutting, destruction, or removal of trees within the city limits and then permits would only be issued under certain conditions.

A tree is defined as a living self-supporting perennial plant which has a trunk diameter of three inches at 4 1/2 feet above the ground level and a minimum height of 15 feet.

The city commission would have final authority over applications for tree permits in the case of a subdivision development. In the case of any development which requires site plan approval by the planning board, city commission or both, arbor permits can be obtained by conforming with all requirements at the time the site plan is submitted.

In other cases permits would be made by applying to the city engineer. No permit would be issued unless the tree was in a buildable area, yard or street right-of-way where a structure or improvement is to be placed, the tree is diseased, injured, in danger of falling, too close to existing or proposed structures, interferes with utility services or creates unsafe vision.

As a condition for granting a permit, the applicant may be required to relocate or replace trees being removed.

Trees exempt from the proposed ordinance include the car tree, Capejute tree, citrus tree, Chinaberry, and containerized trees and nursery stock. The silk oak, jacaranda, Australian pine, or eucalyptus robusta, would not be allowed for replacement within 20 feet of a road. The proposed ordinance also lists recommended replacement stock.

In other business the commission voted unanimously to:

- Rezone from residential, multi-family to commercial, office, to conform to the future land use plan, Lot 136 and the west half of Lot 138, located at 141 E. Pine St. at the request of Scott S. Lincoln

- Rezone from industrial park to commercial, general, property located on the north side of state Road 434, 400 feet east of the intersection of West Warren Avenue at the request of Robert N. Johnson of SE Investment Properties to conform with the future land use plan.

- Adopt a resolution establishing a policy that calls for the general public to obtain information from city officials rather than contacting city consultants paid by the hour such as the city attorney and consulting engineer.

PEKING (UPI) — A Chinese garment factory is making clothes stuffed with herbs to cure back pain, stomachaches and arthritis.

A Peking newspaper said the clothes, such as waistcoats with shoulder pads, trousers with padded knees or special belts, are lined with traditional Chinese herbal medicines prescribed as painkillers.

The China Daily said the herbal remedies, packed in sachets good for two years, are supposed to heal through gradual absorption into the skin.

The No. 1 Garment Factory in Wuwei County, Anhui Province, is turning out clothes to treat and prevent stomachaches, back pain, frozen shoulder and arthritis of the knee," the newspaper said.

"The herbs are especially effective in treating conditions caused by cold and wet and are effective for up to two years. After this time, the sachets can be taken out and new ones put in."

Forget Blood Tests, But Take The Calcium

even to tobacco. Hot foods and spices, as well as some infections (like canker sores), can also cause tongue-swelling.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Our family doctor passed away, so we had to find a new one. I am 61 years old. This new doctor gave me a complete physical and informed me I had arthritis and osteoporosis, for which I should take two Os-Cal 500 tablets a day. But he added that I would need complete blood work every six months to be sure that I wasn't taking too much calcium or that it wasn't harming my body.

I have mentioned this to several doctors and they just write it down in my history, but no doctor has been interested enough to find the cause. What can I do to alleviate the problem?

DEAR READER: Swelling of the tongue can be an early manifestation of drug allergy.

We are on a very limited income and our insurance does not pay anything until after $250 per person deductible, and this six-month visit and test comes to $62. If I can take calcium and not go for a blood test, it sure would be a relief to my pocketbook and mind.

DEAR READER: Women past menopause, even if they are physically active, lose excessive amounts of calcium from their bones. In order to prevent bone-softening (osteoporosis), I think it's a good idea for all women over 40 years of age to supplement their dietary calcium. This can be accomplished by drinking three to four 8-ounce glasses of low-fat milk a day. However, calcium in pills is easier to take.

I recommend that you take 1,000 milligrams of Os-Cal with vitamin D (to force calcium into the bones), and add a supplemental form of calcium (like two Tums) because you need 1,500 to 2,000 milligrams of calcium a day to counteract bone loss.

Unless you have a history of kidney stones, I see no reason why you should have blood tests every six months. You're right; that seems to be an unnecessary expense.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For the past 10 years I have been having problems with my tongue swelling — maybe three or four times a month. It swells so I find it difficult to talk. While swollen, it rubs my teeth and gets a blood blister, which often pops when I eat.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
North's jump to three diamonds increased the value of South's hand. South cue-bid the heart ace and, after North's cue-bid of the club ace, went right to six diamonds. This forthright auction resulted in a reasonable contract, but declarer had to play as if the backs of the cards were transparent to bring it home.

The opening lead of the spade jack was covered by dummy's queen, East's king, and declarer's ace. Declarer could see that there would be no problem if diamonds divided 2-2. If they didn't, how could the slam be made?

If hearts were 3-3 and a friendly defender never ruffed in, South could throw his spade losers on dummy's hearts. But these defenders didn't look that friendly. No, what he needed was some layout of the opposing cards that would let him jettison his losing spades before an opponent could trump in.

The magic holding was the long diamond and four hearts in one opponent's hand. If that holding existed, it was odds-on that those four hearts would include the jack. And so, to work!

At trick two, South cashed his ace of diamonds and played to dummy's diamond king. As he feared, West showed out. Now South came off dummy with a low heart and inserted his nine. Next he cashed his heart ace and played a club to dummy's ace. Now poor East had to follow to the K-Q of hearts as declarer shed two spades.

What East did on the fifth heart was immaterial. Declarer had made his slam by figuring out what he needed to find in his opponents' hands and then playing for it.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY APRIL 12, 1985
Considerable opportunity is in the offing for you in the year ahead. Much of what will develop will come from friends who have your best interests at heart.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In your involvements with friends today, do not try to pry into their personal affairs. If there's anything they want you to know, they'll tell you themselves. Major changes are in store for Aries in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today, Mail #1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Common objectives cannot be achieved today unless you and your mate are in harmony. Pull together, not in separate directions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Your ideas will have merit today but there is a chance you may not present them to others with enough clarity to gain their cooperation and support.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You must use your smarts in business situations today in order to get value received. If you're lackadaisical or indifferent, you may be put upon.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It will be a mistake on your behalf today to say or do something in front of others that could present your mate in an unfavorable light. Be considerate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be a rather good self-starter today but if you run into an obstacle you might use this as an excuse to put away your tools and leave what needs doing until tomorrow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) To be on the safe side, it's best you do not become too deeply involved at this time nor lend money to a person you've recently met. Get to know this individual better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Today, be willing to share what you have with a friend who was helpful to you in the past. Later, you'll harbor regrets if you could have helped and didn't.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually you're a rather optimistic person but today if you're around negative individuals, they could easily alter your attitude to one of self-doubt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're socializing with friends today, plan in advance how much you intend to spend. Once you have reached your limit, call it a day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It might not work out too well today if you try to pressure an influential contact you've recently met to help you in furthering one of your personal ambitions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually it doesn't pay to act on impulse. However, today it may be better to move swiftly because the more you analyze situations, the less assertive you're apt to be.
