But They Had Permission, Police Chief Says

Lake Mary Officials Stopped From Taking Railroad Ties

By Deane Jordan

Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess and City Commissioner Arthur "Buz" Petros, ordered by a Lake Mary police officer Saturday to put back railroad ties they had loaded onto Petros' truck, had written permission to take the ties, Lake Mary police Chief Harry Benson said today.

In a letter dated Saturday, H.D. Roach of Steel Processing Services gave Fess written permission to remove any loose cross-ties between Airport Boulevard and Lake Mary at Crystal Lake Avenue. Police said the letter was brought to the station Saturday but they did not know what time.

Two days later, however, Fess told the Evening Herald he had not obtained written permission to take the ties, did not know the name of the worker he said gave him verbal permission 10 days earlier along the tracks, and did not know the name of the company picking up the ties.

He said he was going to get written permission. Fess and Petros were picking up the used Seaboard System ties from a stretch of track along Old Lake Mary Road near Crystal Lake Estates.

In the past month, four people in two separate incidents have been arrested for taking ties from the area without written permission. The ties are being picked up by an Alabama company for recycling.

Lake Mary Police assisted railroad police Nov. 28 in arresting two men taking ties from the tracks. The same day, in a separate incident, the

Developer's Water Plans Voted Down

The Seminole County Board of Adjustment threw a wrench into the plans of a developer Monday night when it voted down a proposed water system for the Woodview Subdivision.

The decision to deny the request, however, made a number of area residents who appeared at the public hearing to protest the subdivision happy.

The board voted unanimously to deny the special exception, requested by Bernard Jaffe, for the construction of a water supply, treatment and distribution system. Woodview is a 65-acre development located on Wayside Drive, west of Katie Street and west of the Interstate 4/State Road 46 intersection.

The county commission has approved a preliminary plan for the subdivision, proposed to contain single family residences on 135, one-third acre lots. Members of the Wayside Woods Homeowners Association said Monday, however, that they want to see between one-half acre and one-acre lots in the area to help protect the rural integrity of their neighborhood.

They strongly opposed the water system, which they said would "destroy" their water quality and quantity. Many said they have trouble getting water from their deep wells as it is.

The residents also said they objected to the "aesthetics" of a water plant near their homes and said the increased density would cause traffic problems in the area.

The water system plan called for the plant to be placed on the north end of the property. However, a spokesman for the development said a test well to be installed may determine that water quality is better on the southern end, meaning the plant would go there.

Adjustment board member Mike Hattaway said he had a problem with the request not knowing where the water system would be located on the property.

If the board approved the request, it would have asked for buffering to be installed, such as trees and hedges, that the plant be dedicated to the county and that the necessary permits from

Sanford May Take Loan For Repaving

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A comprehensive road improvement project and construction of a new firehouse may be undertaken by Sanford with $3 million in funding available through a Florida League of Cities municipal loan program.

The city plans to begin repaving 733,465 square yards of its roads next year, and to build a new fire station in the vicinity of Upsala Road, between State Roads 46 and 46A, in 1987.

At Monday's work session, the city commission discussed obtaining the low interest, 10-year loan through the league. The funding would be offered at an "extremely attractive" variable rate, which for at least the first few years would be below prime, said City Manager Frank Faison.

According to Bill Simmons, planning and building department director, this mode of funding is preferable to floating a bond on the open market or conducting the projects in stages, as monies become available.

Simmons said $2.5 million of the municipal funding would go for city roadwork, while the other $500,000 would be used to build the new firehouse.

Contained in this year's city budget are funds to purchase land for the firehouse, and as collateral for the construction loan, the city would pledge its cigarette tax revenues, Simmons said.

Faison viewed the larger portion of the loan as "allowing us to catch-up and stabilize our road program."

Securing $2.5 million would enable the city to obtain a single road repaving contract from a large company, and thus cut down on additional costs incurred from multiple awards to small companies, he said.

Also, according to Simmons, if the city conducted its repaving project as monies became available, "spot repairs" to roads would be necessary prior to their complete repaving. With the loan, a higher quality of the repaving material could be utilized and the work could be done relatively non-stop during the next five years, Simmons said.

This would be preferable, he

House Defeats Spending Bill In Surprise Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The unexpected House defeat of a catchall 1986 spending bill left the Pentagon and several other federal agencies out of money, but a temporary infusion of funds appeared to be on the way.

The House and Senate were expected to vote today for a short-term extension of current funding levels for the Defense, Interior, Transportation, Treasury and Agriculture departments, plus the Postal Service. Those departments, as well as foreign aid programs, technically went broke at 6 p.m. EST Monday.

The White House said Monday that employees working for the fundless agencies should report to work today and that decisions regarding possible furloughs would be made then.

A short-term extension would allow non-funded agencies and programs to continue functioning through Friday, while a House-Senate conference committee resumes debate on the $369.7 billion omnibus spending bill.

The conferees thought they had finished their work when they approved the bill Monday. But the full House soundly defeated the measure hours later in a 239-170 vote that surprised lawmakers and observers.

Liberal and moderate Democrats, angry that the bill increased defense spending but lacked provisions for Pentagon procurement reforms, joined some conservative Republicans in voting against the measure.

Democrats split, 115-120, against the bill. Republicans voted 119-55 against the measure and 25 members did not vote.

The House action raises doubts about whether Congress could adjourn this week for the year.

Working past midnight Monday, the House adopted the procedures under which it will consider the short-term extension today. The Senate is expected to approve the measure after the House acts.

Liberal opponents of the bill, led by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., argued the bill "goes too far" in taking money "from those who most need it" and giving it to the Pentagon. The bill called for a total of $298.7 billion for the Defense Department, including $282.5 billion in new 1986 budget authority.

Frank said the spending bill amounted to "protective armor for the Defense Department" against budget-cutting provisions of the "Gramm-Rudman" bill signed into law last week.

Rep. John Porter, R-Ill., said many House members also opposed the decision by the conference committee to adopt a Senate plan to spend $126 million for chemical weapons production facilities next year.

House conferees agreed to include chemical weapons funding and strip procurement reforms from the bill in exchange for Senate negotiators accepting a ban on further testing of anti-satellite weapons.

"I think that we ought to go back to work," Porter said.

The catchall spending bill that emerged from the conference committee also drew harsh criticism from the Pentagon Monday.

The Defense Department said it was

Search Resumes Of Rubble Left After Gas Co. Building Explodes

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Weary rescue workers ended a 5-hour overnight break and this morning resumed searching for a 12th victim believed buried in the rubble of a gas company building destroyed by a propane gas explosion.

The bodies of 11 people had been found through Monday night. Ten other workers were hospitalized, one in serious condition.

Officials of the company, the Rocky Mountain Natural Gas Co., said 27 people were inside the two-story building when a propane tank exploded at 9 a.m. Monday. The blast blew out the walls and then the second floor fell onto people working on the ground level.

Police Chief Bob Halbert said employees told him a flatbed truck with a propane tank on it had been pulled into a shop area for repairs and a spark from a welder's torch apparently touched off the blast.

The ensuing fire burned late into the night, and rescuers had to fight flames as a crane and front-end loaders borrowed from local contractors removed the rubble layer by layer.

Ten people were admitted to Valley View Hospital, one in serious condition and nine in stable condition. Six people, including three firemen called to the scene, were treated for minor injuries and released. Two other gas company employees were checked at the hospital but did not require medical attention.

Don Parsons, president of the Denver-based gas company, said the explosion at building, which houses an office and a shop, may have been caused by a spark from a welder's torch.

Parsons said a flatbed truck carrying a 1,000-gallon tank that "may have had some propane (gas) in it" was in the shop area on the ground floor of the building, and welding was being done on the truck or the tank.

Witnesses told Halbert the tank "began leaking and people started running."

"Somebody opened the door and the minute the fresh air came in there was an explosion," Halbert said.

Workers at a soft drink-bottling company about 200 feet away heard the blast and rushed to the scene.

"I could hear the gas spraying and could see a fire in the corner of the building," said Cameron Calder, president and general manager of Coca-Cola Bottling Co. "I warned my people to get back, but they went in and shut off the gas in a couple of minutes. It didn't seem like anyone was concerned for his own safety."

Calder said three of his employees boosted each other up to rescue a young woman who was trapped in the debris. Another employee of the bottling firm used an oxygen tank to help a trapped gas company worker breathe until fire department personnel could dig him out.

Most of the survivors were "blown clear

Reagan Corral Tax Mavericks; House To Consider Bill Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's effort to rewrite the tax code, thought to be dead time and again, is alive once more, rescued by his personal lobbying mission that won enough House Republican votes to prompt a new stab at a bill.

Following a rare and successful presidential trip to Capitol Hill Monday to round up GOP support, the House today planned for the second time in a week to debate the massive tax overhaul measure drafted by the Democrat-led Ways and Means Committee.

The bill, thought earlier in the day to be on its deathbed, dramatically came to life Monday night, several hours after Reagan had spent about 50 minutes talking to House Republicans, all but 14 of whom ignored him last Wednesday and voted to block the bill from being considered.

Treasury Secretary James Baker, emerging from a meeting with House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois, announced that Reagan had secured 50 Republican votes for the bill — the minimum number demanded by House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., before he would consider bringing the bill to the floor a second time.

N.Y. Mafia Boss Gunned Down

NEW YORK (UPI) — The gunmen who killed reputed New York mob "boss of bosses" Paul Castellano and his driver on a crowded city street were either trying to silence the indicted crime leader or wrest control of his organization, authorities say.

Three men armed with automatic weapons Monday pumped at least six bullets at close range into both Castellano, 70, and his driver, Thomas Blottl, 47, as they stepped out of a black limousine at a midtown Manhattan steakhouse. The gunmen then walked away as "numerous witnesses" watched, police said.

Castellano, the alleged leader of the Gambino crime family and the pre-eminent boss in New York organized crime, faced federal auto theft charges in a trial that was to resume today. His death left a void at the top of the Gambino mob, whose reputed No. 2 man, Aniello Dellacroce, recently died of natural causes.

Authorities speculated the slayings were ordered by "young Turks" anxious to replace an aging leadership or by associates who feared Castellano would cooperate with prosecutors and was "better off dead than alive."

Beggs Pleads Innocent

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The head of the nation's space program and three former colleagues at General Dynamics say they are innocent of charges they defrauded the government out of $3.2 million in the aborted Sgt. York anti-aircraft gun contract.

NASA Administrator James Beggs and three General Dynamics Corp. executives pleaded innocent Monday to charges they conspired to overcharge the Defense Department for the Sgt. York, which has since been cancelled because it did not work.

Beggs, 59, who had been a top executive at the giant defense contractor, told U.S. District Judge Ferdinand Fernandez, "I plead not guilty to each count." Also pleading innocent were General Dynamics executives James Hansen Jr., Ralph Hawes and David McPherson.

After the four men were indicted Dec. 2, the Pentagon suspended General Dynamics, the nation's third-largest defense contractor, from further government business pending resolution of the charges.

Columbia's Launch Delayed 24 Hours; Lands Christmas Eve

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The refurbished shuttle Columbia's launching Wednesday with Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla., aboard was delayed today until Thursday because of trouble finishing work in the ship's cramped engine compartment.

The delay sets the stage for a landing at the Kennedy Space Center Christmas Eve morning, something NASA had wanted to avoid to give hard-pressed shuttle workers a few days off for the holidays.

Columbia, which had been scheduled to take off Wednesday at 7 a.m. on a five-day mission with a crew of seven, was rescheduled for launch Thursday at roughly the same time. It will be the spaceship's first flight in two years.

"We're down the tubes," said NASA spokesman George Diller. "Basically, there was just too much work to do and not enough time to do it."

It was the ninth shuttle launch delay of 24 hours or more in the two dozen flights to date, including Columbia's planned launching Wednesday.

No Homegrown Citrus Presents

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — State officials are worried that citrus canker could invade Florida's mature groves and are reminding people that shipping homegrown citrus fruit as Christmas gifts is illegal.

"Homeowners with citrus trees can continue using their own fruit, but it must remain on their property," said Ken Bailey, state regulatory director of the Citrus Canker Project. "Only fresh fruit in sealed containers from registered packinghouses with citrus canker compliance agreements can be moved."

In a statement released Monday by the University of Florida Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, Bailey said the state is concerned that homegrown citrus given as holiday gifts might help spread canker that could then spread to mature groves.

Bailey said anyone who ships homegrown citrus can be convicted of a first-degree misdemeanor and sentenced to a year in prison and fined $1,000.

Penguins Rate Royal Reception

BARTOW (UPI) — Red carpet was rolled from a chartered plane to a waiting limousine and the hosts wore tuxedos when 16 natives of a tiny island off the tip of South America arrived in Florida to celebrate their first birthday.

The penguins, named for Portuguese explorer Ferdinand Magellan, who in 1520 made the first documented sighting of the species near Cape Horn, will be on exhibit through April at Cypress Gardens.

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies arrested two men who were taking ties without written permission.

Petasos said he was using his truck when he and Fess picked up the ties Saturday. When 12 ties were in the truck Lake Mary police officer Linda Belfiore stopped them around 3 p.m.

When Belfiore and Officer Frank Liberatore arrived at the scene there were 12 railroad ties in the bed of the truck. Belfiore reported that the two men told her they were given permission by a man who operated a forklift for the company that owns the ties that any ties that weren't banded could be taken.

Belfiore advised Fess and Petasos that this was not the case and that legally they they could be arrested for taking the ties. She also told the two that railroad police had been pressing charges for railroad tie thefts.

The report by Belfiore stated that both subjects "were eager" to remove the ties off the pickup truck, which they did. At this time (Saturday), a police investigation of the incident is in progress, the report stated.

Fess said Monday morning that he had gotten verbal permission about 10 days ago from the forklift truck driver to get ties that were being discarded by a fork lift operator who was bundling the ties.

"We don't want to cause any problems," Fess said, adding he would ask for written permission.

Petasos said the ties were to go around Fess' driveway.

Lake Mary Police Chief Harry Benson said late Monday that Fess already had written permission to take the ties.

The permission, a letter dated Dec. 14, states:

"To whom it may concern, Richard Fess has permission to remove any loose crossties between Airport Boulevard and Lake Mary at Crystal Lake Avenue." The letter is signed by H.D. Roach of Steel Processing Services.

The ties, scattered from Lake Mary to Taft, are being collected by Steel Processing Services of Birmingham, Ala.

A spokesman for the railroad said the contractor is not supposed to give permission to anyone to pick up the ties. Further, the contractor has guaranteed the railroad that if he should give permission for someone to pick ties those taking them will have it in writing before they take them, according to A.R. Hart, police officer for Seaboard System Railroad stationed in Orlando.

Hart said the contractor is to pick up the used ties that are not suitable for railroad use. They are worth about $5 each. If the contractor doesn't get 25,000 ties, the railroad has to make up the difference, he said. That is why the contractor has personally guaranteed that if he authorizes people to take some ties, he will do so in writing so they would be subtracted from the 25,000.

Also in the police report was a note from Tony Roach, who police said is with the railroad, giving David Murray of Seminole County animal control permission to pick up scrap ties within the last few weeks. It is unknown if Tony Roach is H.D. Roach. Murray said today he has an agreement with the company to allow them to dispose of the unused ties at his property in Geneva. He said he will use the ties as kindling to burn palmetto trees on his land.

A note dated Dec. 7 notified police dispatchers that the railroad had given H.D. Roach and his crew permission to remove the ties.

Hart also said that until the ties are picked up by the contractor they are the property of the railroad and no one has permission to take them. He said it is possible that the forklift driver was the contractor and could have verbally given permission to take the ties even though such permission is supposed to be written and the police department notified.

While Lake Mary Police apparently just stop people from taking the ties, the position of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department's policy is quite different.

"If they don't have a letter, we will make an arrest," said sheriff's spokesman John Spolshi. He said all claims of having permission to take ties would be checked out.

Spolshi said it would make no difference who the suspects were, including elected officials. "They, better than anyone else, should know the requirements of the law," he said.

Some 210 sections of the city's roadways have been targeted by the building department for restoration during the next five years. These range from a 311-square-yard strip of Central Drive, from Woodmere to Empire Place, to a total repaving of Park Avenue, from downtown Sanford to 25th Street. This 48,400-square-yard expanse will cost more than $100,000 to rehabilitate, Simmons said.

In addition to repaving, the building department also plans to widen, improve drainage and build shoulders at some locations.

Further study of the city's roadways will be conducted prior to the commission's applying for the loan, Faison said. He estimated the data would be compiled and contract estimates obtained sometime next month.

St. Johns Water Management District and the Department of Environmental Regulation be obtained, according to Ginny Markley of the county's land management division.

Hattaway, however, motioned that the board vote down the request because the plan did not include screening and that the water plant would have a negative affect on neighboring property.

The decision may be appealed to the county commission, Markley said, however the denial of the water system means the commission could change the density of the sites to one-half acre.

In other business, the board denied a special exception to permit an antenna farm in an agricultural zone.

Delmer Smith made the request in order to install two, 225-foot high radio towers on property located on the north side of State Road 46, across from Sylvia Glade, east of Lake Markham Road.

The board did not grant the request after members of the Silver Lake Homeowners Association protested that the towers would not be compatible with area homes and that the towers would interfere with their radio reception and telephone service.

The board also:
● Approved a request by Walter Judge for a bank facility on land zoned office professional, located on the west side of Wekiva Springs Road, one fourth mile north of State Road 434.

● Approved a request by the Orthodox Church of St. Stephen for an addition to an existing church in a residential zone, located on the south side of South Street, 300 feet west of U.S. 17-92

● Approved a request by James Robinson for outside storage for building materials in a commercial zone, located on the south side of State Road 436 east of Prairie Lake Drive-in.

● Denied a request by Jeanne Harris for a retail package store in a commercial zone, located at the corner of Southwest Road and Harrison Street. The board voted down the special exception after residents said they are against a package store locating in their neighborhood.

Two NBC Employees Kidnapped; British Freelancer Reported OK

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Prime Minister Raafid Karami sought to consolidate a 6-day-old security plan to end lawlessness in west Beirut, where two Lebanese employees of a U.S. television network were believed kidnapped.

Security sources said Monday the Lebanese cameraman and driver for NBC disappeared after setting off to drive across the Green Line battle zone dividing Christian east Beirut from the mostly Moslem west.

"We are looking for them. We won't say anything more at the moment," said a spokesman for NBC's Beirut office. But Lebanese sources said the two missing NBC employees were not located and were believed kidnapped.

As militias searched for the two, a friend of British freelance television producer Chris Winner, who was also reported missing, said Winner was safe and working in eastern Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

Six Americans, four Frenchmen, a Briton and an Italian are missing after being seized in Beirut.

Marcos Blasts Trial Threat

LAOAG, Philippines (UPI) — President Ferdinand Marcos, campaigning in his northern homeland, today denounced Corazon Aquino for threatening to put him on trial if she is elected president in February's election.

In Manila, the Supreme Court today heard two hours of arguments on whether the Feb. 7 election is constitutional but suspended hearings until Wednesday without reaching a decision. Three legal experts urged the tribunal not to stop the voting despite doubts about the election law.

"My opponent, this very daring young lady who wants to become president of the Philippines, has said she would order my arrest and imprisonment," Marcos told a rally of some 10,000.

"That statement is old news," said Marcos, adding it shows "that the purpose of her running is not for the welfare of our country. She has no program of government."

Peace Caravan Expelled

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — The government ordered the expulsion of more than 200 people traveling across Central America in a caravan for peace — the target of an attack by rock-throwing right-wing protesters.

The 217 participants in the International March for Peace — including 20 U.S. citizens — boarded their five buses Monday and began the 240-mile trip north to the Nicaraguan border escorted by riot police and members of the Civil Guard.

The Costa Rican government had granted caravan members, who represent 20 nations, 72-hour visas but revoked them following an attack Sunday.

"Their presence was disturbing the peace," Public Security Minister Benjamin Piza said of the caravan members.

Reds Crackdown On Solidarity

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Authorities barred Solidarity activists from marking anniversaries of police killings of workers in two cities and a Communist Party document revealed plans for a crackdown on dissident writers.

In Gdansk, police Monday allowed only Solidarity founder Lech Walesa and two aides to place flowers at a monument to more than 50 workers slain during riots that began Dec. 16, 1970, in several Baltic coast ports.

In the southwestern coal-mining city of Katowice, four Solidarity activists were detained for attempting to observe the fourth anniversary of the slaying of eight coal miners by police during the imposition of martial law.

And in Warsaw, a document obtained by United Press International showed the Communist Party plans to crack down on publishers of Polish writers who sympathize with the Catholic church and the banned Solidarity union.

South Africa To Raid Zimbabwe

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South African troops might launch raids into Zimbabwe to attack bases of black nationalists blamed for the deadliest assault on whites since May 1983, Defense Minister Gen. Magnus Malan warned.

Malan flew Monday to a site near the Zimbabwe border where six people — two white women and four children — were killed by a land mine. Three adults and two children — a 6-year-old and a 1-year-old — were injured in the explosion, which occurred Sunday about 20 miles west of Messina.

Baptists And Rockefeller Rebuffed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand Monday a lower court ruling that a school run by the Calvary Baptist Church is not entitled to an exemption from Iowa's compulsory education law. It also let stand a ruling that barred Nelson Rockefeller from deducting from his federal income tax the more than $500,000 he spent on winning confirmation as vice president.

The justices refused to consider the church's claim the state law is discriminatory because it allows only members of the Amish faith to set their own educational standards.

Iowa law was amended more than 20 years ago to exempt the Amish from requirements their children be taught a state-approved curriculum by state certified teachers.

The exemption was meant to apply only to churches like the Amish that repudiate worldliness and whose members live and work apart from society.

But the Calvary Baptist Church in Charles City, which started a school in 1980, argues it is entitled to the same degree of religious freedom and should not be subjected to the state requirements.

In the appeal, lawyers for the church said, "The Iowa legislature may have been motivated by the Amish controversy to adopt (the religious exception), but (we) do not believe it was the intent of the legislature to engage in religious favoritism."

The beliefs held by members of the Calvary Baptist Church "are just as strongly and sincerely held as those of the Amish," they said.

The state, in opposing the appeal, said the fundamentalist Christian church had failed to show that its members had educational needs that differed from other children.

"The educational needs of Amish children are quite circumscribed because of the simple rural life of the Amish," the state said. "In contrast, the (Baptist) children will live, compete for jobs, work and move about in the diverse, complex, modern society."

The court refused to hear the case brought by the estate of Rockefeller, who died in 1979, against the Internal Revenue Service, claiming the money was a deductible expense of getting a new job.

The case stems from the August 20, 1974, nomination of Rockefeller — a multimillionaire and member of one of the nation's richest families — for the post of vice president by President Ford under the procedures outline in the 25th Amendment.

Ford had become the first vice president confirmed under the amendment after Spiro Agnew resigned amid tax fraud charges, then became president when Richard Nixon resigned to climax the Watergate scandal.

Rockefeller's confirmation process as vice president was intense and he underwent exhaustive investigations by several federal agencies and two congressional committees. Rockefeller spent some $550,000 responding to requests for documents and information and preparing for and testifying before the committees.

In their joint income tax return for 1975, Rockefeller and his wife, Margaretta, reported a gross income of $4.4 million, charitable contributions of $1.3 million and taxable income of $609,000. They sought to deduct the cost of the nomination process as a business expense.

The government refused, stating the money was not spent in performing business duties but in seeking to become vice president. A tax court agreed with the government in 1984 and the ruling was upheld by the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In seeking high court review, Rockefeller's estate argued the write-off was a legitimate business expense incurred while seeking a new job and should be allowed.

However, the government argued that Rockefeller, who at the time of his nomination was a volunteer on two commissions, was "seeking a new and different trade or business" and the amount should not be deducted.

In other actions, The Supreme Court: —Ruled unanimously that a criminal suspect is not entitled to extra time to prepare his defense just because the government made a technical correction in the original indictment (United States vs. Rojas-Contreras, 84-1023).

—Rejected an appeal by John Demjanjuk, who has been charged in Israel with being "Ivan the Terrible" of the Treblinka death camp. Demjanjuk claimed lower courts violated his constitutional rights by refusing to reinstate his citizenship (Demjanjuk vs. US, 85-845; Demjanjuk vs. US, 85-846).

—In a victory for the Yakima Nation Indian tribe, let stand a federal judge's order to release water from a Washington state reservoir to protect the breeding ground of the Chinook Salmon (Sunnyside Valley Irrigation District vs. US, 85-255; Union Gap Irrigation District vs. US, 85-451).

Lewd And Lascivious Acts Charged

A Longwood man has been arrested on two charges of lewd and lascivious act in the presence of a child.

According to a sheriff's department report, a 15-year-old boy told his grandmother that a man was performing a sexual act in front of a 15 year old girl. The incident occurred earlier this month. The grandmother took a look but at the time the man was covered so she did not see what the boy reported. Shortly thereafter, the boy said he saw the same thing again. This time the grandmother clearly saw what was happening and confronted the man.

Two girls identified the same man who walked up behind them individually and "touched" them on New Years Day, when they were 11. One of the girls turned around and stepped him. When the other one turned around, he told her not to tell anyone, according to the sheriff's report.

The girls said they told their parents of the incidents but said the parents were too drunk to acknowledge what happened.

The suspect was arrested Friday at 11 a.m. at the Five Points Bar, 5000 U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford.

Being held Monday in lieu of $4,500 bond was John D. Syples Jr., 40, of 310 Howard Blvd.

BOOZE IN PUBLIC
A Umatilla man was arrested in Sanford apparently for carrying an open can of beer on First Street.

According to a Sanford Police report, the man had been told earlier that he could not carry a can of beer on the street. He was arrested Saturday at 3:22 p.m. on First Street and Park Ave.

Charged with possession of alcoholic beverages in public and released by Monday on a $100 bond was Earl Leroy Grandy, 24, of Umatilla.

SHOPLIFTING TO ROBBERY
A Sanford man detained for shoplifting was arrested on a charge of armed robbery after a "large cutting instrument" was found in his back pocket.

According to a sheriff's report, a man who reportedly took two bottles of toilet water from Albertsons, State Roads 600 and 434, Longwood, became violent when asked back in the store and had to be physically restrained by four employees. They reported that during detention he unsuccessfully reached for his back pocket several times.

After he was arrested by a deputy, a "large cutting instrument" was found in his back pocket.

Charged with armed robbery and petit theft and released from the Seminole County jail by Monday on $4,500 bond was Larry Eugene Clark, 30, of 701 E. 7th St.

ARREST AFTER FIRE
An Altamonte Springs woman was arrested after a vehicle fire and charged with giving a false report to a law officer, resisting arrest with violence, and battery on a law officer.

According to a report, she was arrested Wednesday at 3:25 a.m. at a fire scene on charges of giving false information and hiding evidence in her back yard. The officer said the woman pulled away when being handcuffed. He also reported that the woman slipped one hand out of the cuffs and swung them at him striking him on the hand.

Released by Monday on $1,000 bond was Elizabeth Thompson, 30, of 349 Orange St.

NECKLACE THEFT
An Altamonte Springs man told deputies a woman who refused to give back his gold necklace when he was drunk sold it. The incident reportedly occurred around 11 p.m. Dec. 9.

Anthony Todd English, 18, of 805 Brentwood, Altamonte Springs, said he was at an Altamonte Springs house and was drunk when a girl in the home had him take off his gold necklace. He said she then ordered him out of the house and since then has refused to give the necklace back. He said he learned from a friend that the girl has sold the necklace for $120. The case is being investigated.

SANFORD FIRE CALL
Sanford fireman donned air-packs to battle a fire Wednesday that left the bedroom of a Summerline Avenue home heavily damaged and caused extensive heat and smoke damage throughout the rest of the home, a Sanford Fire Department report said.

Although the blaze is still being investigated, firemen said it was apparently caused by an electric iron that had been left plugged in.

No one was in the home during the incident, which was reported at 10:24 p.m., and responded to by five firemen.

SPOUSE ABUSE
An Altamonte Springs man was arrested on a charge of battery after his wife, who had a red streak on her face, said she feared for her safety.

According to an Altamonte Springs police report, an officer was sent to the scene of a domestic disturbance. The incident occurred Sunday around 2 a.m. When the officer arrived, the door to the home was open and he could see a table overturned and various items thrown about the floor.

He said the wife had a red mark on her face. She said her husband came home drinking and yelling and threw the items around the house. She said not only was she in fear for her safety but her husband's safety as well. She said she was afraid her husband, an auditor at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, would hurt himself with a .38-caliber handgun in the home.

Arrested then released from the Seminole County jail on $500 bond was John Charles Reise, 36, of 450 Douglas Ave.

BURGLARIES AND THEFTS
Constance S. Jester, 49, of Longwood told a sheriff's deputy someone stole her 1983 black Camaro while she was at work. The incident occurred between 12:30 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Friday in the parking lot of Jacobsons in the Longwood Village Shopping Center.

The car was valued at $9,000.

An Apopka woman told a sheriff's deputy that someone took her 1982 Toyota from the parking lot of a Longwood bar.

Rhonda Hyskey, 28, of 561 Courtland Cir. said that while she was in the Post Time Lounge, at Dog Track Road and U.S. Highway 17-92, some one took the car. The incident occurred between 5:30 p.m. Friday and 2:16 a.m. Saturday. It was found at 3:10 a.m. Saturday and far away. The woman's purse, which she had left in the car, was gone.

According to the report, the car did not appear to be tampered with or hot wired.

Among the missing items are jewelry, a blouse and a $448 pay check. The case is under investigation.

2 Convicted, 4 Acquitted In Arms Sale Conspiracy

ORLANDO (UPI) — Two California men were found guilty but four other people were acquitted today of conspiracy to sell anti-tank missiles and other weapons to the Iranian government of Ayatollah Ruhallah Khomeini.

Paul Cutter of San Jose, Calif., was convicted in U.S. District Court of one count of conspiracy to sell the weapons and two counts of wire fraud. A guilty verdict also was returned against his company, European Defense Associates Inc.

Cutter's sentencing was scheduled for January. He faces up to five years in prison on each conviction and fines of up to $10,000 on the conspiracy charge and up to $5,000 on each wire fraud charge. He was held without bond.

Also convicted of the charges was Charles St. Claire, an arms dealer from Granada Hills, Calif. St. Claire was scheduled to be sentenced in March and was free on bail.

The four defendants found innocent contended during the trial that began in October that they had been duped into participating in the conspiracy by Cutter.

Acquitted of all charges were Farhin Sanal, a resident of Calabasas, Calif., born in Iran, and her husband, Fadel N. Fadel; Hossein Monshizadeh-Azar, identified by the government as an official of the Iranian government; and George Neranchi, of San Francisco, who worked for Cutter.

They testified that Cutter, who had posed as a federal agent, convinced them to participate in the scheme by saying he and other "officials" did not want Iran to lose in the war with Iraq, which is supported by the Soviet Union.

Conspiracy and bribery charges were dropped Nov. 26 against Lt. Col. Wayne Gillespie, of Alexandria, Va., by U.S. District Judge G. Kendall Sharp, who called Gillespie an "unwitting tool" of Cutter.

The seven people were arrested July 31 following an FBI investigation in which Anthony Romano, who is serving a 5-year probation term after pleading guilty in 1983 to income tax evasion in San Francisco, worked as an informant for the government.

Prosecutors said Romano went to the FBI when St. Claire approached him in an attempt to procure weapons earlier this year.

No Gray Area In Right And Wrong

According to federal prosecutors, General Dynamics conspired to defraud the government by maneuvering its books so that unrecoverable cost overruns on one defense contract could be collected from the Pentagon under several other, unrelated contracts. The Justice Department has handed down criminal indictments against the company and against four former and current executives, including James M. Beggs, now chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

According to General Dynamics, what we have here is not fraud but two different interpretations of what's required by Pentagon bookkeeping regulations. In the gray area of accounting procedures, the company's spokesman said, General Dynamics and its executives made an honest "judgment call."

If so, it was a judgment call that plainly defied the intent of the fixed-cost contract under which General Dynamics was supposed to develop a prototype of the now-defunct Sgt. York anti-aircraft gun. And even if a gray area of the rules seemed to permit deceptive billing on that contract, one has to wonder by what regulatory ambiguity the General Dynamics executives thought they were permitted to submit all those "supporting" documents to the Pentagon in an attempt, federal prosecutors say, to conceal the Sgt. York billing maneuver. Somewhere in the gray, what was right and what was wrong should have shown through in plain black and white. And if General Dynamics didn't notice it, the government has every reason to point it out as forcefully as it now has.

Gentler tactics have been tried in the past. General Dynamics has been accused of deceptive billing, of overbilling, of bribery and of keeping phony books. Yet in all but one bribery case, these were treated as civil matters. They were resolved by financial settlements and temporary contract suspensions, with no individuals held responsible. If the government has now decided that kid gloves don't work, it's hardly for lack of trying.

It's unfortunate that James M. Beggs got caught in the middle of it. By all accounts, he has been a skilled and effective NASA administrator, and he may well be, as he has said, exonerated in the end. Nonetheless, he has been indicted, and his decision to take a leave of absence until the matter is resolved was the right one. The head of NASA, responsible for billions of dollars in government contracts, cannot function under the cloud of an indictment for contract fraud.

Nothing will change in the bloated world of defense contracting without a crackdown on those gray-area billing maneuvers that, more than any overpriced toilet seat, are at the heart of the problem. In an area that badly needs cleaning up, the General Dynamics indictments are a good start.

Cap's Concession

On Nov. 14, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger told the Senate Armed Forces Committee he did not agree that there is a need for fundamental changes in the Joint Chiefs of Staff organization.

In a letter dated Dec. 2, he told the committee the Defense Department can support proposals paralleling the House bill passed last month to strengthen the post of chairman of the Joint Chiefs and make him the principal uniformed military adviser to the president.

Now that's progress at the Pentagon. We have always considered Cap Weinberger to be a reasonable and intelligent man, even when there has been occasion to think otherwise.

DICK WEST

Kris Kringle Meets The Meistersinger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although many poets have taken a swing at explaining Christmas, it takes an immortal bard like William Shakespeare to put the holiday season into its true perspective.

The following "interview" was concocted entirely from lines and broken quotes lifted, appropriately, from a Shakespearean play titled "The Tempest":

Q. Ho, ho, Mr. Shakespeare, done your Christmas shopping yet?

A. "'Tis a chronicle of day by day, I have been in such a pickle since I saw you last."

Q. Sounds like you've been trying to find a gift for a person who has everything.

A. "He receives comfort like cold porridge."

Q. Have you been in all the stores that sell comfort and cold porridge?

A. "The cloud-capp'd towers, the gorgeous palaces, the solemn temples."

Q. They must be gaudily decorated. Have they been very crowded?

A. "Misery acquaints a man with strange bedfellows. O brave new world, that has such people in't. Foreheads villainous low."

Q. What about the clerks?

A. "Of excellent chamber discourse."

Q. If they are so jammed, why do you patronize such marts?

A. "Where the bee sucks, there suck I."

Q. Why scramble so hard for the merchandise you want to buy?

A. "Lest too light winning make the prize light."

Q. Are gift items very expensive this year?

A. "The golden age. My ending is despair. Was dukedom large enough?"

Q. What have you priced so far besides comfort and cold porridge?

A. "Baseless fabric."

Q. Why not just have a drink and forget the Christmas bills that will be coming due in January?

A. "He that dies pays all debts. I would fain die a dry death."

Q. I see. What about your own letter to Santa?

A. "All dedicated to closeness and the bettering of my mind."

Q. I'll bet. Based on previous experience, do you really expect old Santa to fulfill your want list?

A. "Do not give dalliance too much rein."

Knowing I lov'd my books, he furnish'd me from mine own library."

Q. But that was last year.

A. "What sees't thou else in the dark backward and abysm of time?"

Q. As you have written, "Let us not burden our remembrances with a heaviness that's past." What happens to all you shoppers after Christmas?

A. "Are melted into air, into thin air. Like this insubstantial pageant faded, leave not a rack behind."

Q. Speaking of racks, have you been invited to any more Christmas parties?

A. "Our revels now are ended. The great globe itself, yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve. Merrily, merrily shall I live now, under the blossom that hangs on the bough."

Q. You must be standing under the mistletoe, sir. Well, I know you want to get on with your shopping, so I'll not take up any more of your time.

A. "I will be correspondent to command, and do my spiriting gently."

Q. Lots of luck, and thank you, Mr. Shakespeare.

Symptoms Too Often Missed

By Sue Allison

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A 30-year-old school teacher suffering from severe stomach pains and loss of appetite is examined by his family doctor. The incorrect diagnosis — gall bladder disease.

A devoutly religious member of a fundamentalist church is unable to sleep and cannot stop overeating. She rejects a physician's diagnosis of depression and refuses to see a therapist.

Across the nation, 10 million Americans are seriously depressed at any one time, says Dr. Charles V. Ford, a psychiatrist at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville.

The condition affects all ages, races and incomes although more women than men are depression victims. But Ford said that because depression is frequently misdiagnosed, many sufferers will not get the treatment they need.

"Unfortunately, doctors diagnose the disorder correctly in only 25 to 50 percent of these cases," he said.

Recently, doctors have started taking a second look at patients diagnosed as having Alzheimer's disease, according to psychologist Mark Kelly. In some of those cases, which are considered untreatable, the problem may be depression instead.

Kelly said Abraham Lincoln is probably an example of a person with depression that was overlooked. The 16th president was moody, withdrawn and pessimistic at times.

"Assuming our retrospective diagnosis is correct, he was depressed, but a highly functioning individual," Kelly said.

Lincoln, like many depressed people today, was not treated for the condition — or may have been treated for physical complaints which were nothing more than symptoms of depression.

"We saw a woman who had run up medical bills of at least $20,000," Ford said.

The patient had a variety of expensive medical tests and an operation when there was nothing wrong with her except "underlying depression," he said.

And even though medical doctors are being trained to recognize the malady, Ford said the woman's case is not unusual.

PACs Taking Over Election Process

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Favors are part of a politician's stock in trade. He's expected to produce government contracts, public-works projects and jobs for the people he represents. They, in turn, may contribute to his election campaign.

This is a clumsy, capricious system, highly vulnerable to abuse. Many politicians begin trading favors for contributions. Given the high cost of campaigns, it's difficult for a politician to get elected without selling his soul to special interests.

Then, when the campaign contributors come around to collect on their "investment," it winds up costing the taxpayers billions of dollars in special-interest benefits.

Congress, with its usual timidity where campaign financing is concerned, is making noises about reforming the system by curbing the runaway spending of political action committees, known as PACs.

If our legislators need awakening, inspiration or encouragement in this venture, a forthcoming report by the non-partisan Center for

Clash Of Grandsons

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Key Democrats in Massachusetts were surprised that Joseph P. Kennedy II entered the 1986 primary race to succeed retiring House Speaker Tip O'Neill as a U.S. congressman from Boston.

Party leaders were dismayed because this sets up a primary match between some of the Bay State's brightest young Democratic politicians.

"Many of the leaders believed 'Young Joe' had given them his commitment to run for lieutenant governor. They wanted him on the state ticket and thought they had sold him on the idea of being a running mate for Gov. Michael Dukakis.

It was expected, of course, that Robert Kennedy's eldest son would soon enter politics — even though he lived in Marshfield, Mass., about 25 miles southeast of Boston, in a district represented by popular Democrat Gerry Studds.

However, Kennedy, 33, made an abrupt decision to move back to the 8th District, where he was born, and enter the congressional race.

Among his opponents now is James Roosevelt Jr., grandson of Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt (and the son of a congressman). He has tried to play down the Kennedy-Roosevelt match, saying, "This is not a race between my grandfather and his grandfather."

But Roosevelt, like Kennedy, is a political neophyte.

What concerns party pros is the fact that the crowded field already includes three state senators and one state representative — including two of the party's more attractive young officeholders.

One is state Sen. George Bachrach, whose district includes 30 percent of the congressional district's voters. With one of the best and most extensive grassroots organizations in the state, he has often been mentioned as a possible future governor.

The other is state Rep. Thomas Valley, a close friend and political ally of U.S. Sen. John Kerry. It's assumed that Valley will have Kerry's backing and will benefit from his extensive organization.

However, the equation is skewed by Kennedy's entrance.

It's assumed that his Uncle Ted will support him, which would put the state's two Democratic U.S. senators on opposite sides. In addition, the Kennedy organization that will be mobilized overlaps Bachrach's.

Another next-generation Kennedy besides Young Joe may run in the 1986 congressional races. His sister, Kathleen Kennedy Townsend, may seek the Democratic nomination in Maryland's Second Congressional District.

Mrs. Townsend, 34, the state's assistant attorney general, says she will decide before Jan. 1 whether to challenge freshman GOP Rep. Helen Delich Bentley in next year's race. Mrs. Townsend said she had talked with Democratic Party leaders and that "they're encouraging me."

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Dumping Depresses Industry

Efforts in Congress to develop a more realistic trade policy for the United States are the result of sharply deteriorating conditions in key industries subjected to foreign trade targeting.

A case in point is the semiconductor industry. This is the industry which produces the silicon chips that have spearheaded the technological revolution of the computer era.

This industry, which Americans developed, is in deep depression. The cause of this depression, in the view of industry leaders, is unfair foreign trade practices.

Robert Noyce, vice chairman of Intel Co., one of America's pioneering and semiconductor firms, is a leader in this industry. Last month, he charged that Japan is cheating its way to dominance in the semiconductor industry. "There is no doubt in my mind," he said, "that dumping has occurred. The prices that have been quoted are far below production costs."

Mr. Noyce is concerned with the overall impact of Japan's trade offensives against the United States, not simply with the impact on his industry. "We have to recognize," he said, "that this is a crisis situation ... the Japanese problem is far bigger than even OPEC. The dimensions of the thing are simply horrendous. I don't think people realize how big the dimensions are, and it's getting worse."

The Semiconductor Industry Assn. estimates that the 1985 U.S. chip market revenue will be 25 per cent lower than last year's. The red ink situation in the industry already has forced the layoff of thousands of workers. The big losers are the independent semiconductor companies. It's questionable whether they can survive.

This and related trade-induced recessionary situations underscore the need for wider public understanding of the ideas of such economists as Dr. John M. Culbertson, a former Federal Reserve Bank consultant now at the University of Wisconsin. In his new book International Trade and The Future of The West (21st Century Press, Box 5010, Madison, Wis. 53705), Dr. Culbertson presents a fresh perspective on the foreign trade problem. He rejects the orthodox notion that international trade benefits all parties equally.

percent of House campaign contributions and 38 percent in Senate races came from donors of $100 or less. Last year small donations made up only 19 percent of House candidates' funding and 23 percent in Senate races.

Corporate PACs have grown 1,790 percent since 1974; labor PACs, which made up one-third of the total in 1974, constituted only one-tenth last year.

In House races, PAC money rose from an average of $10,000 per candidate in 1974 to $89,000 last year; in the Senate races, the average went from $47,000 to $405,000.

The center found a disturbing connection between the issues before Congress and the PACs' contributions to members. For example, while defense spending was growing in the early 1980s, the 20 largest defense contractors' PACs increased their contributions by 225 percent, to a total of $3.8 million last year. And $440,000 went to members of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Another cause of the huge increase in campaign spending is the length of the campaigns themselves. Even before a freshman member of Congress has settled into his Washington office, he's already collecting money for the next election (and so are his opponents).

The average cost of a winning Senate race has soared from $598,000 in 1976 to almost $3 million last year. The average may be $5 million next year. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., spent $16.5 million to squeeze by his Democratic challenger, Jim Hunt, who spent $9.4 million.

Winning a close House election in 1974 cost, on average, $80,000; last year the price tag was $450,000, and in 1986 it will probably top $500,000.

PACs are edging small contributors out of the picture. In 1974, 48

Dolphins Stretch The Hex

MIAMI (UPI) — Of the 18 straight losses the New England Patriots have suffered in the Orange Bowl to the Miami Dolphins, none was crueller than the 30-27 defeat Monday night.

The Patriots had rallied for two touchdowns in a 15-second span midway through the fourth quarter to tie the score 27-27. After Miami went ahead on rookie Fued Reveiz's third field goal of the game, a 47-yarder in a steady rain with 4:27 left, the Patriots calmly drove to the Miami 34 and were in excellent shape to get at least three points and send the game into overtime.

It seemed this would be the time the Patriots beat the jinx.

Then disaster struck. Miami's Glenn Blackwood picked off his second Tony Eason pass of the night with 56 seconds left — after nearly intercepting a pass on the previous play — to preserve Miami's sixth straight victory and put the Dolphins alone atop the AFC East with an 11-4 record.

The Dolphins can seal the East title with a victory over 2-13 Buffalo next week or a loss by the New York Jets or Patriots, both 10-5. The victory guaranteed Miami at least a wild-card berth in the playoffs.

New England, which could have won the division with a victory, will need to beat Cincinnati next week while the Jets and Dolphins both lose to capture the East. A triumph over the Bengals will give the Patriots a wild-card bid.

"I never thought about it," Patriots coach Raymond Berry said of the losing streak in Miami. "I don't think that matters at all. This is a different team, a different set of circumstances. We certainly weren't worried about it on the field."

Running back Craig James said the Patriots fell because Miami was able to make "the last big play." "We did a good job in the second half trying to do everything we could to put points on the board," said James. "And we put a lot of points on the board."

The game was played in a steady rain, which contributed to eight turnovers. New England lost one fumble and three Eason interceptions while the Dolphins lost three fumbles and a quarterback Dan Marino threw one interception.

Miami pulled to a 27-13 lead 3:52 into the fourth quarter on rookie fullback Ron Davenport's second 1-yard scoring run of the night. The Patriots cut the deficit to 27-20 on a 1-yard run by Most Tatupu, then tied the game on the ensuing kickoff when Cedric Jones returned a Joe Carter fumble 16 yards for a touchdown.

Miami took a 17-7 halftime lead on the first Davenport touchdown, a 6-yard pass from Marino to Joe Rose, and a 44-yard field goal by Reveiz. New England's only first-half score was a 10-yard Eason pass to Fryar.

Reveiz had a 49-yard field goal in the third quarter, and the Patriots' Tony Franklin kicked field goals of 22 and 49 yards.

"Well, we sure find a way to keep it interesting," said Miami coach Don Shula. "We had a two touchdown lead but we let them back in it."

The Dolphins said they never relaxed.

"With the Patriots' football team, you can never relax," said Marino, who passed for 192 yards to go over the 4,000-yard mark (4,001 for 1985) for the second straight year. "I knew the game wasn't over no matter how big a lead we had."

San Diego's Dan Fouts, who has topped the 4,000-yard mark three times, is the only other quarterback in NFL history to throw for more than 4,000 yards in more than one season.

"I learned the hard way not to think the game is won," Reveiz said. "You always think you might have to kick the last field goal. You can never let your guard down. I was preparing myself for what might be coming up."

Eason was trying to hit tight end Derrick Ramsey on the final Blackwood interception.

"Yeah, I saw him," Eason said of Blackwood. "We were trying to get behind him. We wanted to score (a touchdown) first and if we got it, we got it. If not, we wanted the field goal."

Robinson Turns Tiger As Tribe Bombards Bucs

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

It may have been a mix up when Yolanda Robinson was selected to the All-Tournament team of the Rotary Ladies Invitational over the Thanksgiving holiday. After all, Robinson scored just two points in Seminole High's three tournament games.

Coach Charles Steele's best explanation was that whoever selected the team mistook Robinson for Catherine "Kitty" Anderson. If Robinson continues to play like she did Monday night, however, no one will mistake her for a teammate in the future.

Robinson, a 6-1 junior center, started to assert herself the way Steele wants her to Monday night as she pumped in a season-high 14 points and pulled down a game-high 16 rebounds as Seminole trounced Daytona Beach Mainland's Lady Bucs, 67-34, at Seminole High's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"Yolanda (Robinson) played aggressive tonight," Steele said. "That's the way I want her to play. If she's consistently aggressive, we'll beat a lot of people."

The Lady Seminoles improved to 5-3 overall with the win and return to action this afternoon at 4:45 at Daytona Beach Seabreeze.

Robinson was one of five Seminole players to hit double figures Monday. Anderson led the way with 17 points while Kim "Big Wheel" Johnson popped in 12. Leticia Strickland connected for 11 and Temika Alexander hit 10.

Anderson also grabbed 12 rebounds while Liz Long hauled down eight and Johnson grabbed seven. The Lady Seminoles outrebounded Mainland, 53-20. Robinson also added five steals to her top performance of the season while Anderson also had five steals.

For Mainland, Kacie Kemmer was most of the offense as she shared high-scoring honors with Seminole's Anderson with 17 points. Kemmer did all of her scoring in three quarters. She also led the team in rebounding with six.

Both teams had trouble handling the ball in the opening quarter as Mainland committed 13 turnovers and Seminole 11. Seminole took a 13-7 lead into the second period.

The Lady Tribe pulled away in the second quarter as Mainland struggled offensively. Seminole outscored the Lady Bucs, 23-5, in the quarter for a commanding 36-12 halftime lead. Robinson had 12 points in the first half while Johnson had 10. Seminole had an overwhelming 30-7 rebounding edge in the first half.

The second half gave the Seminoles a chance to work on different defenses and the lead ballooned to 30 points, 57-27, after three quarters.

Although Seminole won going away, Steele said the team is far from where he would like it to be.

"It's taking longer than I thought it would," the first-year Seminole coach said. "We're starting to get there though. Slowly."

Has Volusia's Cage Power Diminished?

A trip to Volusia County during last year's basketball season was like asking for a last cigarette before pulling on the blindfold. Journeys to Daytona Beach, DeLand and Port Orange were ranked among the same pleasures as tongue-dragging through the Sahara Desert.

It's a year later and the East Coast appears a year less awesome. DeLand's Randy Anderson and Seabreeze's Terry Johnson are playing string music for Stetson. Mainland's George McCloud and Seabreeze's John Parks are safely out of range in Tallahassee. Parks played for football for FSU while McCloud is now on the hardwood.

That's four All-Volusia players departed. There's still two supers left — Spruce Creek's Jon Fedor and Mainland's Mike Polite. Fedor signed early with FSU, which may account for his slow start. Polite was anything but gracious in Sanford last week, tipping in a shot at the buzzer to nip the 'Noles.

"That's one good thing about the Seminole Athletic Conference," Lake Howell coach Greg Robinson said. "We don't have to play the Volusia schools all the time and get our brains beat out. There is just too much basketball talent over there."

There was definitely some beating done last year. Lake Mary, which upset Seabreeze and Spruce Creek, was about the only county team to save any face. Most of the time the Volusia powers didn't take any prisoners but there were a few occasions when the beatings were brutal.

Will things change? Tonight may offer a small preview. Seminole, 2-3, goes to Daytona Beach to take on Seabreeze.

Lake Brantley, 4-1, journeys to Port Orange to face Fedor and the Creek. In other games, Lyman, 4-1, treks to Apopka and Lake Howell, 2-3, goes to Winter Park. Lake Mary, 1-2, played at Boone at 1:30 today. Oviedo is idle while it prepares for its 18-team Central Florida Classic Tournament which begins Thursday. Oviedo opens with Luther.

Bill Klein, whose Tribe was impressive while beating Oviedo Friday, said Seabreeze will be tough despite losing five starters. "I saw them in the Rotary (Tip-Off) Tournament and they looked good," he said. "They're strong inside and the outside kids hustle a whole lot."

"They press pretty good. They like to score with the big kids. That'll be the key — if we handle the press and work tough inside against the big kids."

Seabreeze has three big guns in 6-4 Bart Schad, 6-6 John Tumbleson and 6-0 Sean Beckton. Schad was the MVP in the Rotary and forms a nice inside combo with the 225-pound Tumbleson for coach Joe Piggotte Jr.

Seminole will open with Andre Whitney (12.0 ppg), Jerry Parker (14.2 ppg), 6-4 Rod Henderson (12.8 ppg), 6-7 Rod Fossitt and 6-7 Craig Walker. Joe Holden, a 6-0 forward, was tough in a reserve role Friday. Mike Wright and Robert Hill are the

Quick-Jelling Patriots Face Tall Test Tonight

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

There are eight shopping days left before Christmas and the Lake Brantley Patriots boys basketball team has won four games.

So what's the big deal? Four wins, that's the big deal. It's usually mid-February before the Patriots are approaching five victories.

Despite the early jell, first-year Brantley coach Steve Jucker said he hasn't contacted Hotel Lakeland and made reservations for the Final Four. "We'll see how we do when we play some real tough teams," Jucker, who succeeded Bob Peterson, said earlier this year. "We haven't played the Seabreezes or the Spruce Creeks yet."

The Patriots opened with a patsy — Wymore's Career Education Center. They beat New Smyrna Beach for the championship of their tournament the following night. NSB is a fair team. Next, they lost to Boone, one of the weakest team they've played. They upset Apopka Friday and ripped Oviedo Saturday.

Apopka was missing hotshot Mike Lowman while the Lions were without Mark Stewart. Still, the wins were impressive. "We surprised Apopka and we beat Oviedo at Oviedo, which isn't that easy to do," Jucker said. Oviedo coach Dale Phillips, for one, is impressed with the Patriots. "He (Jucker) is doing a nice job with them," Phillips said. "They take good shots and are patient offensively."

Jucker's starting five is comprised of veterans Wade Wittig, Mark Moser, David Hardwick along with newcomers Brent Bell and Darren Leva. Joel Miller and Steve Stark are the top reserves. Size is definitely not a luxury. No one is over 6-0 except Leva.

Wittig (11.6 ppg) and Moser (13.6 ppg) are the sharpshooters while Hardwick is a hustler who leads the county in floorburns and is second in steals. Hardwick is also the county's top free-throw shooter, canning 16 of 19 for 84.2 percent.

A look at the top six charity shooters includes two more Patriots (Wittig and Moser), which is another reason for their success. Free throws win ballgames, especially close ballgames.

Bell and Leva, however, are the pleasant surprises. Leva, a 6-2 sophomore, wasn't even listed on the first roster Jucker mailed out. "We just threw him to the wolves," admits the former Rollins guard. "We didn't know if he was ready for varsity but we didn't have another center."

And Bell was the MVP of the Patriot Tip-Off Tournament. He hasn't slipped much since then either, averaging 11.2 points and seven boards per game. "Brent's only 5-11 but he's our power forward," laughed Jucker.

No one's laughing at the Patriots. Jucker and his crew will get their first tall test tonight when they travel to Port Orange to take on Spruce Creek. The Hawks, who needed overtime to beat Lake Mary, recently routed Orlando Edgewater and slipped past Orlando Evans on a jumper by Jon Fedor.

With the 6-8 Fedor hovering around the rim and the rest of Spruce Creek's quick-stepping Hawks applying the pressure, Jucker and his Patriots will find out in a hurry if they are for real tonight.

In other roundball action tonight, Seminole treks to Seabreeze. Lyman goes to Apopka and Lake Howell journeys to Boone. Lake Mary played at Boone at 1:30 p.m. today.

Eagles: Campbell Out, Shula's Son May Be In PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Marion Campbell is the past. Fred Bruney is the present and 26-year-old David Shula may be the future for the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles Monday fired Campbell after three seasons, named assistant coach Bruney as his interim successor and said Shula, the son of Miami Dolphins coach Don Shula, was a major candidate for the permanent coaching job.

Both Philadelphia general manager Harry Gamble and owner Norman Braman said Campbell was fired with one week left in the season at his own request.

"Marion mentioned to Harry that if the decision was made to terminate him as head coach, he would greatly appreciate it being done very quickly," said Braman, who purchased the Eagles last spring.

"With the respect I have for Marion Campbell, I felt I owed him that, and being that I had made up my mind (to make a change), I thought I should accede to his wishes and inform him immediately."

Braman and Gamble met with the young Shula one week ago to discuss the Eagles' coaching job, but Braman said no offer has yet been made, although he hopes to fill the position soon.

Football

"He (Shula) is a leader and part of a winning tradition, which is important," Braman said. "He has all the qualities to be a head coach in the National Football League."

Braman said he has other candidates for the job, including Jim Mora, coach of the Philadelphia Stars of the U.S. Football League, but he refused to elaborate on them.

The owner said he had intended to wait until the end of the season to decide Campbell's fate, but changed his mind after Sunday's 20-14 loss to San Diego, the team's fourth straight, which dropped the Eagles to 6-9 this season.

"I came to the final conclusion we would be better off changing coaches," he said, adding he first began to consider dismissing Campbell three weeks ago when Philadelphia blew a 23-0 lead and lost to the Minnesota Vikings, 28-23.

Campbell left the Eagles' offices at Veterans Stadium before the announcement was made, but issued a statement in which he said he felt no animosity toward the Eagles or Braman.

Bennett Review: No One Did Job

TAMPA (UPI) — Reviewing his nightmarish 2-13 rookie season with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Coach Leeman Bennett said Monday no member of the team's organization did a good job in 1985.

The Buccaneers, who close Sunday at home against Green Bay, are one loss or one Atlanta victory away from clinching the No. 1 pick in next spring's NFL draft. Bennett, who ended a two-year hiatus from pro football to take Tampa Bay's head coaching job last January, spared no one in his evaluation of the current season.

"It's been a long, long year. I'll tell you that," said Bennett, who could have four of the first 37 picks in the draft. "I certainly didn't expect this to happen when I came here and it's been a lot more difficult to cope with than I anticipated. We were roughly out of it after nine games. I don't know if you lose confidence, but you do start to question some of the things you do."

"I've got to show a little responsibility in that none of us can stand around here and truthfully say we've done a good job of coaching or a good job of playing."

The Buccaneers have lost 37 of their last 47 games and injuries have hit hard this season. Bennett will not gild-wrap an excuse list with sheets of bandages.

"Most teams are beat up at this time of the year," Bennett said. "To say we're more whipped physically than any other team would be to mislead the public."

Tampa Bay's latest setback was a 31-23 loss to Indianapolis, which snapped the Colts' 10-game road losing streak. The Buccaneers ran off 25 plays in the third period compared to just six for the Colts. But Indianapolis rallied for 14 points in the final quarter behind a 145-yard rushing attack over the last 15 minutes.

"I thought we had some of the best practices, defensively, we've had in quite some time last week," Bennett said. "In talking to the coaches, I thought we'd play very well defensively coming into the game. I felt real good about our offense in the third quarter — there was a nice mix of the run and the pass."

Steve Young, who opened Tampa Bay's first possession of the game with a 59-yard strike to Kevin House, also threw a 44-yard touchdown pass to House and a 27-yarder to Jimmie Giles that set up Young's 1-yard scoring plunge. In his

NEW YORK (UPI) — The NFL playoff picture:

AFC East
New England (10-5) — Can win division if they beat Cincinnati Sunday and Dolphins and Jets lose. Will make the playoffs as a wild-card with a victory next week.
Miami (11-4) — Will win the division if they beat Buffalo Sunday. Miami also would win the division if either Patriots or Jets lose final game. Clinched at least a wild-card spot.
New York Jets (10-5) — Can win division if Miami loses next week and the Jets beat Cleveland Saturday. A victory over the Browns assures the Jets of at least a wild-card spot.

AFC Central
Cleveland (8-7) — Browns can win division if they beat the Jets, or if either the New York Giants beat Pittsburgh Saturday or Cincinnati loses to New England. Cleveland cannot be a wild-card team.
Cincinnati (7-8) — Bengals can only win division if they beat New England, the Jets beat Cleveland and Pittsburgh beats the Giants to create a three-way tie. The Bengals would win three-way tie because of a better record involving the three teams. Cincinnati cannot be a wild-card team.

AFC West
Los Angeles Raiders (11-4) — Clinched division title, and will have home-field throughout the playoffs if they beat the Rams Monday night.
Denver (10-5) — Broncos can earn a wild-card spot by beating Seattle Friday night, and if either the Jets or the loser of the Miami-New England game lose next weekend.

NFC East
Dallas (10-5) — Cowboys clinched division title, and will host divisional playoff games against Rams if Dallas beats San Francisco Sunday and Rams lose to Raiders Monday night.
New York Giants (9-6) — Will earn wild-card spot if they beat Pittsburgh Saturday, or either Washington loses to St. Louis Saturday or San Francisco loses to Dallas Sunday. A victory over Pittsburgh makes the Giants the home team in a wild-card game.

NFC Central
Chicago (14-1) — Bears have clinched division and home field throughout playoffs.

NFC West
Los Angeles Rams (11-4) — Clinched division title, and will host divisional playoff games against Dallas if they beat Raiders Monday night or Cowboys lose to others Sunday.

fourth NFL start, Young completed 14-of-25 passes for 251 yards and rushed for 49 yards.

"I think Steve is coming along good," Bennett said. "But I'm not gonna say right now that we're not gonna draft a quarterback. We need to be accurate in our selections. Everyone knows we need to upgrade and that puts more pressure on all of us."

Although a victory could jeopardize Tampa Bay's shot at the No. 1 pick, Bennett will stress winning this week.

"The only thing we can do is salvage what we can out of this season," he said. "Beating Green Bay would make for a little bit sweeter taste in the offseason, even though it'll be sour anyway."

McMichael, Campbell Post National Qualifying Efforts

Chuck Burgess
SWIMMING WRITER

This past weekend at the Third Annual McDonald's Winter Classic swim meet a couple of local swimmers put on a show for the more than 800 swimmers and spectators at the Stephen C. O'Connell Center in Gainesville.

Robbie McMichael and William "Porky" Campbell, both of the Justus Dolfini of Orlando, swam to Junior National qualifying times in their respective events.

Campbell, a junior at Winter Park High School, missed the past two weeks of swimming practice due to the flu but still managed to swim personal best times and qualify for the Junior National meet in April.

Swimming the 400-yard individual medley for the first time this season, Campbell left the field in his wake as he finished first with a winning time of 4:09. The time was well under the 4:12 cut-off mark for the national meet.

Campbell, who finished fourth at the state meet in the 200 I.M., has also qualified in the 200 individual medley and the 200 backstroke to add to his recent qualifying time.

McMichael, a sophomore at Trinity Prep, wasn't as well off as Campbell was before the Winter Classic swim meet. He hadn't made one event for Junior Nationals. However, that statistic was only a memory after this weekend's performance.

After making the 200 butterfly and 200 freestyle in last year's Short Course National Junior Olympics, McMichael hasn't been as lucky even though his training has been much more hectic and intense than the previous year.

But, this weekend McMichael made the 500-yard freestyle with his 4:39 and added another event in the 400 I.M. at 4:11, placing third behind Campbell and Chris Donahue from the Central Florida Stars.

"It's really weird," McMichael said this past weekend. "All this year I've been training for the 200 free and 200 fly. I haven't even gone anything over 300 yards in practice and I make two of the longest events here."

Donahue, a teammate of McMichael's during the high school season, also qualified in the 200 breaststroke and is said to be one of the premiere breaststrokers in the state. Donahue finished second in the state finals two weekends ago at the Justus Aquatic Center in Orlando.

The meet was one of the biggest and most attended meets of the year. Many college teams participated in addition to the United States swimming teams. Swimmers from LSU, University of Florida, Indian River Community College, and Brevard Community College topped the college level talent at the meet.

All in all, there were approximately 800 swimmers from more than 40 teams in the meet which lasted Friday through Sunday.

Last Thursday night, the Lake Mary Ram swim team officially ended its high school swim season with their annual banquet at Gulney's in Longwood.

Many swimmers were awarded for their excellence throughout the year. The guest speaker was former Lyman High All-American Jay Hebert. Hebert graduated from Clemons University this past year and is thinking of coming out of swimming retirement to go after the number two spot on the American swimming team and hopefully attempt to qualify for the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, Korea.

Head coach Walt Morgan applauded the efforts of the swimmers, parents and support, but raved over four of his Rams.

Receiving special four year letterman awards were Kelly McKeel for the girls and Trey Seibold for the boys. The most outstanding swimmers of the year trophies were given to freshman Kelly Wise for the women and senior Todd Stebbins for the men.

The Rams finished sixth in the girls and fifth in the boys at the district meet three weeks ago. The high showing was the highest of any Ram team in the history of the school. The Ramphibians also placed second in the boys and fourth in the girls at the Conference Championships at Lyman High this year.

Tide Rolls To 1,000th Win

United Press International
The Tide last night rolled into the same class as some pretty heady company.

Alabama rallied for a 100-89 triumph over Florida State at Birmingham, Ala., the 1,000th success in Crimson Tide history.

"I think you got your money's worth, I sure did," said Alabama Coach Wimp Sanderson, who addressed the home crowd in a ceremony at mid-court after the game. "It's fitting to get the 1,000th win here in Birmingham. It's a great moment for our program."

Buck Johnson led the way with 23 points and Terry Coner hit 8 free throws in the last five minutes to seal the triumph, making Alabama the 36th NCAA team to reach the milestone.

The Tide, 6-0, held a 15-point lead two minutes into the second half. The Seminoles, 4-2, came back to take a 70-69 lead on David Shaffer's 15-foot jumpshot with 9:27 left.

Pee Wee Barber, who led Florida State with 23 points, tied the score 71-71 with a free throw. The Seminoles began pressing for turnovers, but instead fouled Coner numerous times.

Basketball

In other games, Reggie Lewis scored the go-ahead basket as Northeastern ran off 12 unanswered points to beat Stetson, 75-61. ... Kevin Henderson scored 20 points and Richard Morton added 16 to lead

Hillery Hits 19, Lady Hats Fall

DELAND — Sanford's Dieldre Hillery scored 19 points and grabbed 15 rebounds but Stetson's Lady Hatters blew an 18-point lead in the second half and lost to Florida State's Lady Seminoles, 76-72, at Stetson's Edmunds Center Monday night.

Hillery, a sophomore center, connected on 7 of 16 field goal attempts and 5 of 9 free throws.

She played 33 minutes. The Lady Hatters led, 34-28, at halftime and by 18 with eight minutes to play.

Former Luther High standout Kathy Baldwin totaled four points and four rebounds but could manage just 2 of 13 from the floor. Stetson fell to 3-3 for the year.

backcourt help while 6-8 junior Brad Baird supplies more muscle in the frontcourt.

Sophomore Whitney, a brother of former Seminole guard Keith (now at Chaminda), makes the Tribe go. He leads the county in assists with 4.8. Parker has been the surprise of the year, scoring well off the bench before moving into a starter's position Friday.

"Jerry has always had the great athletic ability," Oviedo assistant coach Chris Marlette said after Parker's 22-point outburst. "It was just a matter of putting it together. He's done that this year."

Henderson, probably the county's best all-around player, is picking up his game, too, after a slow start. The 6-4 junior is sixth in scoring, third in rebounding (7.3 rpg), ninth in steals (1.4) and fifth in free throw accuracy (70.6 percent). Henderson ranked down 11 boards and handed out five assists against Oviedo.

While Seminole and Brantley head for the coast, Lyman and Lake Howell are expected to have their hands full in Orange County.

"The Greyhounds are rolling," coach Tom Lawrence said about his team's 4-1 start. Lawrence hopes the roll continues tonight at Apopka in an important District 4A-9 game.

Lyman returns T.J. Scaletta, 6-3 Brett Marshall, 6-5 Ralph Philpott, sophomore Craig Radzak and Robert Thomas. When Matt Fitzpatrick moved in from Ohio and Vince Florence transferred from Orlando Luther, it gave the Hounds that much more firepower.

Scaletta tops the county in steals (3.4 spg) and Philpott is second in rebounds (7.8 rpg). Scaletta (11.4 ppg), Marshall (11.2 ppg) and Philpott (10.8 ppg) are double-figure scorers. Thomas (8.0 ppg) will be there soon. Radzak, also a fine shooter, pulls down 7.4 board per night.

Robinson's Silver Hawks, meanwhile, put together their best effort Friday night while squashing Boone. "They played slow down which was right into our hands," Robinson said. "We stacked our big people inside and hurt them."

The Hawks hit 16 of 29 floor shots, which didn't hurt either. Six-foot-5 Kevin Llenard (9.5), John Lowe (9.2), Fred Hicks (8.2) and Mark Schnitker (7.9) led the balanced attack. Lowe is fourth in assists (3.6) and seventh in steals (1.8). Llenard is seventh in rebounding (6.6) and Hicks is 10th (6.0).

Oviedo and Lake Mary have taken different approaches to the early going. The Lions, despite having the county's 1-2 punch in scoring — Robb Hughes (16.0 ppg) and Allen Unroe (15.6 ppg) — have lost four of their last five games.

"We've been playing horrible basketball," coach Dale Phillips said. "But after I get through with them Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Luther better look out Thursday."

Coach Willie Richardson's Rams have played three tough games, losing to Spruce Creek and Winter Park before upending DeLand last Thursday.

Chris Jackson, Matt Newby and Eric Czerniejewski have led the way. Jackson tops the county in rebounding (10.6 rpg) and fifth in scoring (13.3 ppg). Newby is seventh in scoring (12.7). Point guard Eric Czerniejewski is a close second in assists (4.7) and third in steals (2.3). Oscar "Big O" Menthle gets six boards per game. Matt Napoli hands out three assists.

Standoff: Lady Lions, Lake Howell Tie, 0-0

With the goal eight feet wide and eight feet high, how much room could the average girls prep soccer goalkeeper cover?

Not enough to cover the whole 8 by 8 area. So you would figure, with one team taking 18 shots and another 13, that one of those shots would go to an area the keeper couldn't cover.

That wasn't the case Monday night though as neither Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks nor Oviedo's Lady Lions could penetrate the goal posts as the two Seminole County rivals fought to a 0-0 tie at Lake Howell High.

"There really weren't any outstanding chances by either team," Lake Howell coach Art Raynor said. "There were some hard shots, but every one went right at the goalkeeper."

Lady Hawk Rally Pulls Out Victory

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks staged a spectacular comeback Monday night as they scored four points in the final 20 seconds to pull out a 55-53 victory over Spruce Creek's Lady Hawks at Port Orange.

It was the fifth straight victory for Lake Howell which now stands at 6-3 overall. The Lady Silver Hawks return to action Thursday at Orlando Colonial in their last game before the Christmas break.

Lake Howell led by eight at halftime, 28-20, but the Creek cut it to four, 40-36, after three quarters. Spruce Creek rallied for a 53-51 lead with 20 seconds left but Lake Howell came back with four unanswered points to escape with the win.

Soccer

Lake Howell took 18 shots at the Oviedo net of which 12 were on target but turned away by Oviedo keeper Jennifer Whitaker. "Oviedo's keeper played very well," Raynor said of Whitaker.

Lake Howell keeper Darcy Misiak also had a good night as she came up with 10 saves. One of those saves came late in the game when an Oviedo player had a breakthrough but shot the ball right at Misiak.

Coach Raynor also said Shawn Raynor, Cathy Fowler and Pam Blanchette played outstanding on defense for the Lady Hawks.

Lake Hawk Rally Pulls Out Victory

Johnson led the way for Lake Howell with 12 points each while Tammy Lewis contributed eight and Jolee Johnson and Sarina Wilson hit six each. Jo Coop led the Silver Hawks underneath with nine rebounds and Mary Schnitker dished out eight assists.

LAKE HOWELL (53) — Coop 2, Hankins 12, Grider 6, J. Johnson 4, K. Johnson 12, Kuhl 4, Lewis 6, Manuel 3, Littrell 6, Schnitker 2, Stanley 6, Winslow 6. Totals: 25-12-55.
SPRUCE CREEK (51) — Hill 10, Harris 4, Anderson 9, Williams 4, Quarterman 12, Puschel 3, Wilcox 7. Totals: 19-16-53.
Fouls — Lake Howell 19, Spruce Creek 20. Fouled out — Hankins, Anderson. Technical — none.

IN BRIEF

Baker High Places 5 Players On Class A All-State Football

ORLANDO (UPI) — Five players who helped Baker High establish one of the longest winning streaks in Florida schoolboy history dominate the Class A All-State football team announced Monday night by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

Running back Mitch Thamea, offensive lineman Kirk Hurley, linebacker Bob Thomas, defensive back Brian Wagner and defensive lineman Chris Price were named to the first team.

Thamea is the team's honorary captain after earning a first-team spot for a second consecutive year. He rushed for 1,200 yards, scored 18 touchdowns and punted for a 40-yard average.

This is a small school team, but some statistics loom large. Running back Craig Stevens of Vero Beach St. Edwards rushed for 1,894 yards. Quarterback Marcus Holland of Century passed for 15 touchdowns. Punter Sean Gilliam of Tallahassee Florida A&M University High, who last summer led Tallahassee to the national Babe Ruth League baseball championship, averaged 47 yards per punt, best in Florida regardless of classification.

Cheerleader 'T' Fires Up Lyman

Four players scored in double figures Monday night for Lyman High's freshman to overshadow a tremendous individual effort by Lake Howell's Clay Walton as the Greyhounds raced to a 74-64 victory over the Silver Hawks at Lake Howell High.

Delman Simpson and Mike Whittington pumped in 17 points apiece to lead the way for Lyman which improved to 4-1 with the win. The Greyhounds take on unbeaten Seminole Thursday night at 7 at Lyman High.

Also hitting double figures for the Greyhound frosh were Ray Williams with 14 and Steve Jerry with 11.

Walton poured in a game-high 29 points for Lake Howell.

"It was pretty nip and tuck the whole way," Lyman coach Rich Balezantis said. "I think the turning point when they called a technical on our cheerleaders (for standing up and cheering with the ball in play) that sort of got us fired up."

Tulane Schomer Fined $10,000

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The alleged mastermind of the Tulane point-shaving scheme has been ordered not to gamble, fined $10,000 and sentenced to perform several forms of community service in Louisiana and New York.

Gary Kranz, 21, of New Rochelle, N.Y., also was given a 12 1/2-year suspended sentence for sports bribery charges by Orleans Parish Judge Alvin Oser.

Kranz was the fourth former Tulane student sentenced in the scandal, in which players allegedly received $10,500 to shave points in Green Wave games in February against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State.

The former Tulane business major pleaded guilty July 16 after accepting a plea bargain and agreeing to testify against other defendants in the case. He initially had faced 333 years in prison and fines of $255,000 on sports bribery and cocaine-related charges.

Hearing For Packers Is Delayed

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A hearing concerning sexual assault charges against two top players on the Green Bay Packers has been delayed indefinitely, a court official said today.

The open hearing was to have been held today before Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Arlene Connors, but attorneys for the players filed an appeal with the U.S. Supreme Court Nov. 22, asking the hearing be closed.

The players have been identified in court records as wide receiver James Lofton and running back Eddie Lee Ivey.

Brazeo Hits Thundercar Trifecta

Winter Springs Veteran Takes Fast Time, Qualifying, Feature

Special to the Herald
NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Harry Brazeo, a veteran driver from Winter Springs, collected a pretty nice trifecta Saturday night at the New Smyrna Speedway.

Brazeo was the class of the thundercar field, as he turned fast time, won the qualifying heat and the 20-lap feature.

Right behind him, a fierce battle for positions was raging. Jerry Shirley came out on top at the finish. He was followed by Joey Warmack, Casey Hawthorne and Ted Hodgson.

Warming up for the Dec. 28th Third Annual "Red Eye 100" Late Model Championship at New Smyrna Speedway, Tampan Daniel Keene moved up from his last row starting spot to win the 25-lap late model feature on Saturday night.

Finishing close second was fastest qualifier and former track champion Jack

Cook, who also indicated that he will compete in the "Red Eye 100."

"We came here to show David Rogers how to win," Keene and Cook said before the race. "But he did not show up."

Early race leader Joe Middleton was third, followed by Ed Meredith, John Massey and Hal Perry.

In four-cylinder action, Bobby Sears was awarded the win when apparent winner Jerry Symons was disqualified because of a non-stock flywheel.

Current roadrunner track champion Mike Kubanek, who also took the Rookie of the Year honors at the annual Awards Banquet on Friday night, won that division's main event.

Holiday Charity Should Continue All Year Long

DEAR ABBY: The approach of the holiday season prompts us to write this letter. As residents of the Freeport Manor Nursing Center in Freeport, Ill., we read "Dear Abby" daily and discuss your column.

Beginning in late November and all through the month of December, volunteers come out of the wood-work. Already our calendar is filling up with all sorts of organizations who want to visit the lonely, put on a program, pass out treats and gifts, or sing Christmas carols in the halls.

All this is wonderful, and we appreciate it. But, Abby, where are these generous people between the months of January and October?

We have a few faithful volunteers who come on a regular basis, but we could use more.

So to all you nice people who come in large groups during the holiday season, we say, "We love you and thank you for caring, but please don't pack us away along with the rest of the Christmas decorations."

Dear Abby

MAUDE, RUTH, HENRY, MADELINE AND MANY MORE DEAR MAUD, ETC.: I'm glad you wrote. The point you raise is a good one. Freeport volunteers, and volunteers everywhere — take note.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about how to eat a banana? I hope so, because there is one and only one way to eat a banana: Take a slightly overripe banana and roll it back and forth between your hands until the pulp is mushy and practically liquefied inside the skin. Bite off one end — it doesn't matter which one — then suck the pulp out of its container. It's easy, simple and requires no utensils.

ANDREW HUDGINS, DEPT. OF ENGLISH, UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI
DEAR ANDREW: It's also unique. If it catches on, yet another expression will be added to our language: "Go suck a banana!"

DEAR ABBY: This is for that smarty-pants Smith grad and her equally know-it-all teacher. I got this right out of Emily Post: "Although it is not bad manners to peel the skin halfway down and eat the fruit bite by bite at the table, it is better to peel the skin all the way off, lay the fruit on your plate, cut the banana in slices and eat with a fork."
SABRINA SMITH,

SHERMAN OAKS
And now, a Bird's eye view:

DEAR ABBY: My entire teaching career was spent at girls' boarding schools in the Washington, D.C. area. (They were known as "finishing schools" in those days.)

I am sorry, but not surprised that you never heard of eating a whole banana with a spoon or fork. That's the way I taught the young ladies to eat a banana at the table.

RUTH H. BIRD ELLENSBURG, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: I was taught to eat a banana with a teaspoon at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa. We split the banana in half, placed the two halves beside each other and ate the banana with a teaspoon!

DOROTHY S. KINTZEL, ALLENTOWN, PA.
DEAR DOROTHY: Banana case dismissed: I hope nobody appeals it.

(Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. All correspondence is confidential.)

Economists Express Pessimism About Deficit Cutting

By Suzanne Trimeil
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — A majority of 300 business economists expressed little confidence in the Gramm-Rudman deficit-cutting plan passed by Congress last week, a survey showed Monday.

The National Association of Business Economists said it polled 300 of its 4,000 members and found 60 percent believe Gramm-Rudman will not achieve its goal — eliminating federal deficits by 1991.

Half of those surveyed for the association's quarterly poll said the plan should have subjected defense contracts specifically to automatic cuts and 48 percent said they would have added Social Security to the "can-be-cut" list, according to association president Kathleen Cooper, a senior vice president and economist at Security Pacific National Bank in Los Angeles.

The poll was taken Dec. 6, before Gramm-Rudman was passed and signed into law by President Reagan.

Cooper also said the economists opposed the plan because they believe it "will almost surely mean higher taxes" and because some fear it will cause a recession in 1987 or 1988 "as the spending cuts and tax hikes begin to bite."

"There is also uncertainty about Gramm-Rudman and its effects and that's causing some of the concern," she said in an interview.

Fierce new budget battles are expected next spring as Congress and the administration struggle to meet the legislation's declining deficit targets estimated to require $11.7 billion in spending cuts for the current year and $50 billion to $60 billion next year.

Congressional leaders have said as many as 30 to 50 federal programs might have to be abolished to meet the required spending cuts.

The survey of the economists also showed:

—Sixty-two percent think tax reform should remain a high priority next year, but only 22 percent believe a meaningful tax reform bill will be enacted.

—More than half forecast inflation of about 4 percent next year, believe the prime rate will stay near 9.5 percent and expect unemployment to average 7.2 percent.

—Eighty-two percent expect the dollar will continue to fall with 20 percent expecting more than a 10 percent decline. However 64 percent said intervention in monetary policy by the five leading industrialized nations will not cause "a fundamental decline" in the dollar.

Cooper said the survey showed the business economists expect a modest rebound in corporate profits next year and expect the gross national product will rise 2.9 percent during 1986. She noted, "Our members have pushed their 1986 growth forecasts successively higher over the past six months."

Questioned about business conditions at their own firms since the association's last poll three months ago, the economists indicated demand for goods and services is stabilizing and in some areas improving, Cooper said.

For example, she said in the goods-producing sector, 39 percent of those polled reported rising demand, up from 34 percent in the last poll. Only 14 percent reported falling demand, compared to 24 percent in the September poll.

Japan Indecisive On Car Quotas

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan still has not decided whether to renew its voluntary restraints on car exports to the United States next year, a Japanese trade official said Monday.

A spokesman for the Ministry of International Trade and Industry — which has set "voluntary" restraints on exports of Japanese cars to the United States — denied that a decision had been made to lift the restrictions.

"Our ministry has no firm position on whether we will ask for another year of restraints," the spokesman said.

The current quota, which restricts Japanese auto exports to 2.3 million vehicles during fiscal 1985, is now up for review, the official said. The fiscal year ends March 31, 1986.

The ministry spokesman denied published reports that U.S. and Japanese officials were to meet Monday to discuss the quota for fiscal 1986.

"Those reports are absolutely not true," he said, adding, "And I have no knowledge of such a meeting taking place in the foreseeable future."

Japan, faced with mounting pressures from the Reagan administration, in 1980 voluntarily limited vehicle exports to the United States with a quota of 1.68 million per year. That quota remained in force for three years, and then was raised to 1.85 million vehicles for fiscal 1984.

A Japan Automobile Manufacturers Association official said the problem of lifting the quota on car exports to the United States may be moot.

"As you know, the Japanese manufacturer will have a hard time exporting his cars with the yen as high as it is," the official said.

"Frankly, it isn't a question of whether there's a quota or not — the main problem is simply selling the cars at all," he added.

The yen began a 20 percent rise, from a low of 240 yen to the dollar to the present rate of nearly 200 yen. It followed a Sept. 22 agreement by economic officials of five leading industrialized nations to undertake a coordinated effort to devalue the American currency.

The high exchange rate of the dollar had been pointed to as the prime cause of Japan's soaring trade deficit with the United States, expected to reach $50 billion this year. A high dollar rate made U.S. export products more expensive.

A spokesman for Toyota, Japan's largest-selling automaker, emphasized that what people locally are calling "the yen appreciation problem," was considered more of a threat than renewed quotas.

"As you know, all of the Japanese car makers are thinking of price increases, and we're considering them too," he said. "We're trying to offer the best product for the price — in fair competition" with U.S. manufacturers.

Toyota last week announced it would begin producing cars in the United States and Canada in 1988. The company intends to make 200,000 cars annually in the United States, and another 50,000 cars in Canada.

12 Days Of Xmas Cost Is $21,292

By Myriam Marques
United Press
International

Extravagant holiday shoppers need not look at the prestigious Neiman Marcus catalog for gifts this year when the simple gifts mentioned in that old song, "The 12 Days of Christmas," can turn out to be quite chic for a mere $21,292.

A partridge in a pear tree, two turtle doves, three French hens, four calling birds, five gold rings, six geese a-laying, seven swans a-swimming, eight maids a-milking, nine ladies dancing, 10 lords a-leaping, 11 pipers and 12 drummers can be bought for $4,901.

That would be a one-shot deal however. Repeating the gifts for several days, as the song calls for, would cost $21,292.

Some of the animals may be difficult to get, but if shoppers have the time, they can find almost anything, including the mostly obsolete milking maids.

The Frederick County, Md., Farm Bureau says an eight-stall parlor setup would go for the outrageous price of $80,000. But Don Easterday, who heads the bureau, says farmhands could milk the cows from $4 — the same rate as last year.

"Wages haven't increased much because farm income is certainly in trouble," Easterday said. "Hand milking isn't done much, but farmhands are hired to do anything the farmer wants."

Eight cows would cost about $750. The price for 40 cows — eight cows each for five days — would run $6,000. The milkhands would charge $32 if they worked two hours a day for both milking cycles.

"They've got to be milked twice or they get testy," he said. A partridge in a pear tree would run $40 — $480 for 12 days. A Baltimore Zoo spokesman says a quail would fall under the partridge category.

It would cost $3,000 for 30 French hens over 10 days — a drastic jump from the $300 quoted last year. But the zoo official struck a deal on the swans, asking only $35 for each, compared to $125 for black swans quoted last year.

"We carry whistling swans and they're much cheaper," he said. "For french hens we have Bantam hens and they're more expensive than the swans."

Calling birds, known as Kookaburra, cost $15 each and would run $540 for the nine days they are given in the song. Turtle doves would run $50 each.

and 22 of them — two for 11 days — would cost $1,100. Emperor geese would be $50 each, running $2,100 for the seven-day package.

Brian Rutledge, Baltimore Zoo director, said the prices are for an adoption program that gives shoppers a nice certificate and color picture plus free passes to visit their feathery friends.

Gold rings are quite affordable at $40 each for a plain 14KT gold band, according to W. Bell and Co., which has maintained its price from last year. Forty gold rings in eight days might be a tad much at $1,600 when there's only 10 fingers on a hand.

Lady dancers and leaping lords cost $75 per hour, says Fred Quinn, owner of the Quinn Casting and Theatrical Agency in Silver Spring, Md. Pipers and drummers are $63 each.

The total package of dancers, lords, pipers and drummers for the number of days required in the song costs $7,092.

Quinn says he has never gotten such a request, although he has been asked to provide elves for a corporate Christmas party.

"But my little elves are booked already," Quinn said. "You have to get them back in July if you want them for Christmas."

Quinn says he has four "little people" he sends out on such jobs and they charge $150 each.

"Yeah they're worth a lot more than the dancers, mainly because there aren't that many of them around," Quinn said. "Dwarfs are a rare species, you know, but you can always get dancers."

Nutritional Experts In Generational Change

I ruminate about the myriad children who have been subjected for generations to their mothers' convictions that spinach is a vital dietary component. The axiom, "Spinach is good for you. Eat it or you won't get any dessert," must have familiar ring to most Western adults and children. For all I know, the statement — in one form or another — may be universal to all cultures.

Popeye popularized the concept, of course. Yet, spinach has long had the reputation of being an important nutrient, a rich source of iron and a necessity for growing youngsters. I suspect that this dogma preceded Popeye. In any case, the parental demand, "Eat your spinach," certainly evolved into an ecumenical flat that forced children to knuckle under ... or else. Eating spinach became a metaphor for life in general: you had to learn to put up with something unpleasant (but beneficial) in order to achieve a more long-lasting desirable goal.

Then science stepped in to produce chaos, as scientists are often wont to do. Nutritionists discovered that the slimy green glop on your plate, the stuff you slyly spread around while you eat your mashed potatoes, the unappetizing verdant litter you try to hide under chicken bones — in a word, spinach — is not a great health food. The iron in spinach, permanently bound to a kind of vegetable Crazy Glue, is not absorbed in significant amounts during digestion. Moreover, spinach forms calcium oxalate crystals that can make kidney stones. So here we are. Spinach may be a flavorsome constituent of fresh salads, but you might as well save your grass clippings, boll them and eat them for all the nutrition you get from spinach.

Seemingly, nothing gastronomical is forever, if you believe the abrupt about-face on the value of spinach. People who are supposed to know about these things tell us to cut down on beef and pork, load up on fiber, look to fish oil for salvation, buckle-up, get off booze, stay away from radiation, and exercise until our eyes pop out.

However, a generation ago, equally respected experts proclaimed animal protein to be the most nutritious; they prohibited bran for all but the most sluggish intestines. They virtually ignored seafood, devoted millions of work hours to designing faster automobiles that were death-traps, and used quantities of alcohol in tonics and stimulants. Radium-watch-dial painters were permitted to lick their brushes, thereby ensuring that the unfortunate workers would develop cancer.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
With careful play, declarer can make his slam. Careful play entails more than counting winners and losers. It's akin to going through a mine field, sensing where danger lies and being ready to take evasive action.

Declarer sees two potential losers — a trump and a diamond. The apparent winners are four spades, three diamonds, two clubs and two club ruffs — 11 tricks. To make 12, he will have to pick up the missing trump queen or avoid a diamond loser. At trick one, as declarer plays dummy's diamond ace, East plays the nine, probably a singleton or the top of a doubleton. Declarer senses that danger and neutralizes it. He plays dummy's club ace and then leads a diamond, tempting East to ruff. Should East ruff in, South can play his low diamond (loser on loser) and later pick up trumps without a hitch. What if East discards? Declarer should then win the diamond king, ruff a club in dummy and lead another small diamond, again offering the bait.

Should East still refuse to ruff, plan B goes into effect: Win the diamond queen, ruff another losing club and lead the spade jack. If East covers, win in hand, pull trump and cash the club king for 12 tricks. If East ducks, the spade jack will win. Ruff a heart back to hand, pull trump and proceed as before.

After ruffing the second little club, why wouldn't South return to his hand and ruff his diamond loser with dummy's last trump? Because at that point East would overruff with the trump queen and play a club for West to ruff. That is careful play.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 18, 1985

Unique benefits could come your way in the year ahead through family members, relatives or in-laws. Keep on the best of terms with everyone in your clan.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are more tolerant of casual acquaintances today than you are of your family, you'll be courting a flare-up on the home front. Be equally considerate to all. Major changes are ahead for Sagittarians in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Negative thoughts must not be permitted to gain the upper hand today. Self-doubts could cause you to toss in the towel before you even try.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's to your advantage to manage matters as prudently as possible today. Before writing a check, ask yourself if it is really essential.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't take on unproductive career challenges today just to prove a point. Nothing will be gained if you win, but you could look bad if you fall flat.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If a specific matter is disturbing you today, bring it out into the open, rather than stewing in silence. Keeping mum could make it worse.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's best today not to become overly involved in the complications of a close friend. He or she might use your concern as an excuse to dump the situation on you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't let your ego overwhelm you today to the point where you take full credit for something you played only a small part in bringing about.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Rejection, or perhaps even hard feelings, will result today if you impose on others. Don't ask them to do things for you that you are capable of handling yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Move cautiously today in situations that require an investment on your part. Don't be afraid to back out if the deal doesn't look as good as you first thought.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Consult your mate before making any major domestic decisions today. Your judgment might not be up to par and you'll need his or her input.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The only way you can inspire perfection in others today is to set the ideal example. Don't expect them to be something you can't be yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You may be a shade too loose with your resources today. You'll regret it later if you spend without getting value received.
