Hurricane Ginger Points To Florida

MIAMI (AP) - The nation's spaceport at Cape Kennedy was alerted today to watch the course of Hurricane Ginger, churning Atlantic waters some 600 miles distant.

The National Hurricane Center warned dangerous swells produced by Ginger's large circulation would affect some coastal areas from the north coast of Puerto Rico and Hispaniola to the U.S. mainland from east central Florida to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Tropical Storm Janice, meanwhile, had been downgraded to a depression as she moved through the Caribbean near Antigua. Highest winds were estimated at 35 miles per hour, the hurricane center said.

At Cape Kennedy, Hurricane Condition 4 went into effect - a warning issued 72 hours before the possible arrival of 50-knot winds.

At midmorning, Ginger was located about 600 miles east-northeast of Cape Kennedy.

If Ginger crosses the Cape area, workers would have to remove a Delta rocket from its launch pad and roll it into a hangar. It is being readied to launch a sun probe satellite Monday.

Ginger ranked the British Crown Colony of Bermuda Thursday but did little damage.

Described as "a surprisingly dry storm" by a Bermuda weather forecaster, the three-week-old hurricane dumped less than an inch of rain on the island and failed to break a two-month drought.

BULLETIN Bernovich Gets Death

By MARION BETHEA

Dennis Bernovich was found guilty of rape this morning by a Circuit Court jury who did not recommend mercy. The jury retired to deliberate at 9:50, and announced it had reached a verdict at 11:40. The defendant received the verdict calmly, although his wife Peggy broke into tears.

Circuit Judge William Akridge immediately following the publishing of the verdict to the court sentenced Bernovich to death in the electric chair. When asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, the defendant stood mutely, with head bowed.

The jury requested the testimony of two state's witnesses be read this morning; that of Mrs. Bernovich concerning the finding of the contents of the car, and the hour which she said the defendant returned home on the morning of May 2 (at 12:15, retiring at 1:30 a.m.) and that of Sgt. Richard Noonoy.

Sgt. Noonoy testified he was looking for a car fitting the description of that of Bernovich, following an all-points bulletin, and he determined the defendant's car had just been recently parked. The car he said, was covered with dew except for the windshield area and that the hood was still warm.

Noonoy said that he received the call at 1:02 a.m. and located the car at between 2:20-3 a.m.

Oklahoman Tosses Hat In Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma announced today his candidacy for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, saying he will try to "call this country back to the greatness that is in us."

"I intend to try to turn this country around before it's too late," the 49-year-old senator said as he became the second declared entry in a field of Democratic White House prospects.

Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.), is the other announced candidate. Both are liberals.

Harris had been considered a probable presidential entry since July 16, when he announced he would not run again for the Senate but would instead explore the prospects for a White House race.

Girl's Body Found

The body of a 12-year-old Winter Park girl was taken from a 20-foot hole at the bottom of Boat Lake, off Highway 1935 at Longwood at 11 o'clock this morning by sheriff's department Scuba-diver Jack Morrison.

The girl, Barbara Carol Price, was visiting her father who operates a boat and camper court, and went swimming with a younger sister when she went under while trying to swim across the lake.

County Investigator L. J. Kriz said the girl's parents are separated and Barbara had lived with her mother, Virginia Price.

Dragging operations started Thursday afternoon shortly after the tragedy was reported and lasted throughout the night without results.

Morrison, who dives with the sheriff's department underwater rescue team, arrived on the scene this morning and recovered the body on his first dive, Kriz said.

Jury Deliberating Bernovich's Fate

Having retired to consider a verdict in the case of Dennis Bernovich, charged with rape, after deliberating over five hours, the jury returned at 11:30 last night and told Circuit Judge William Akridge that they were "too fatigued to deliberate further." They were returned to Holiday Inn for the night and reconvened this morning at 9. The jury requested that testimony from some state's witnesses be read this morning.

The state presented two rebuttal witnesses yesterday, following testimony by the defendant. One of these was Teresa Sanders, sister-in-law of the accused, who said her sister, Peggy Bernovich, lied on the stand when she said that Bernovich had stopped for his wife before the late TV movie was shown over the night of the attack. Frederick attacked the testimony of the state's witnesses as to the disparity of the description of the defendant and the year and color of his car.

Frederick said that a laboratory analysis of the single strand of hair found on a mask was not that of the defendant, but could be that of the assailant. He concluded the victim's mother's testimony, that she identified the assailant because of his eyes, was due to the fact "she is so intent on finding someone to pay for what happened she doesn't care who it is."

In closing argument yesterday, Defense Attorney Gordon Frederick said the jury would have to decide whether a rape, in fact, took place, citing that the elements consisted of whether there was either force or fear restrained force, and that whether penetration actually took place.

Approval Seen For Project

King Healy, planner for Environmental Design Group, Orlando, and Richard Bond, owner of the property, which was recently purchased from Hidden Lake Corporation principal A. B. Peterson Sr. and from Herman Goodman, attended the session to explain the concept.

By the use of maps and design, Healy disclosed a network of canals will interconnect the property, which will include stores, shops, apartments, swimming pools, tennis courts and a clubhouse.

As many as 1,250 units are planned for the large acreage, which was described by Gerald Duke, city planner, as being "something which Sanford has never before seen."

Jesse Graham, attorney for Bond, an Orlando developer, told the zoning board his client wants to be annexed into the city to develop the property on a PUD basis.

Duke said "problems could develop" with the city's PUD ordinance, which, he said, was purposely enacted in a "loose" state but the planner said he studied at an intersection that will be constructed on Ocoee Road to lead into the property.

Arthur Harris, zoning chairman, advised another traffic light would be needed at some later date.

Bond later told The Herald he does not know what the cost of the development will be at this point but said it would be "very large."

Bond told the board a light industrial section is being reserved in the development, along with a 15-acre school site, which he said could be sold to the School Board at the present market price.

Houses for the most part will be one-family dwellings with a 2 1/2 low density. Bond stated, that 25 to 35 per cent of the total property will end up in open space, Healy added.

The property is contained in a long, diamond shape, and is bounded by between Lake Mary Boulevard, Ocoee Road, U.S. 17-32 and Lake Mary Road.

Bond told The Herald he hoped work would start on the project by the first of 1972.

50,000 Thanksgiving Turkeys Tested For Industrial Chemical

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government inspectors are checking 50,000 Minnesota turkeys slaughtered for Thanksgiving tables to see how many contain harmful residues of an industrial chemical that also was discovered in chickens this summer.

The turkeys were impounded over the past six weeks at Swift Dairy & Poultry Company in Detroit Lakes, Minn., a subsidiary of Swift & Company, the nation's largest meat packer.

meat and poultry inspection for Dr. Kenneth M. McEnroe, head of U.S. Agriculture Department, said the turkeys were from "six or seven flocks" of Wadena, Minn.

There was no indication of the source of the chemical PCB contamination, McEnroe said. Not all the turkeys were thought to be tainted, but to be sure, he said, all were held at the plant for further tests.

Approval Seen For Project

By HILL SCOTT

Sanford Zoning and Planning Commission Thursday night approved the concept of a planned unit development (PUD) on 750 acres south of Sanford at Hidden Lake. (Photo on page 1B.)

King Healy, planner for Environmental Design Group, Orlando, and Richard Bond, owner of the property, which was recently purchased from Hidden Lake Corporation principal A. B. Peterson Sr. and from Herman Goodman, attended the session to explain the concept.

By the use of maps and design, Healy disclosed a network of canals will interconnect the property, which will include stores, shops, apartments, swimming pools, tennis courts and a clubhouse.

As many as 1,250 units are planned for the large acreage, which was described by Gerald Duke, city planner, as being "something which Sanford has never before seen."

Jesse Graham, attorney for Bond, an Orlando developer, told the zoning board his client wants to be annexed into the city to develop the property on a PUD basis.

Duke said "problems could develop" with the city's PUD ordinance, which, he said, was purposely enacted in a "loose" state but the planner said he studied at an intersection that will be constructed on Ocoee Road to lead into the property.

Arthur Harris, zoning chairman, advised another traffic light would be needed at some later date.

Bond later told The Herald he does not know what the cost of the development will be at this point but said it would be "very large."

Bond told the board a light industrial section is being reserved in the development, along with a 15-acre school site, which he said could be sold to the School Board at the present market price.

Houses for the most part will be one-family dwellings with a 2 1/2 low density. Bond stated, that 25 to 35 per cent of the total property will end up in open space, Healy added.

The property is contained in a long, diamond shape, and is bounded by between Lake Mary Boulevard, Ocoee Road, U.S. 17-32 and Lake Mary Road.

Bond told The Herald he hoped work would start on the project by the first of 1972.

Oklahoman Tosses Hat In Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma announced today his candidacy for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, saying he will try to "call this country back to the greatness that is in us."

"I intend to try to turn this country around before it's too late," the 49-year-old senator said as he became the second declared entry in a field of Democratic White House prospects.

Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.), is the other announced candidate. Both are liberals.

Harris had been considered a probable presidential entry since July 16, when he announced he would not run again for the Senate but would instead explore the prospects for a White House race.

Hurricane Ginger Points To Florida

MIAMI (AP) - The nation's spaceport at Cape Kennedy was alerted today to watch the course of Hurricane Ginger, churning Atlantic waters some 600 miles distant.

The National Hurricane Center warned dangerous swells produced by Ginger's large circulation would affect some coastal areas from the north coast of Puerto Rico and Hispaniola to the U.S. mainland from east central Florida to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Tropical Storm Janice, meanwhile, had been downgraded to a depression as she moved through the Caribbean near Antigua. Highest winds were estimated at 35 miles per hour, the hurricane center said.

At Cape Kennedy, Hurricane Condition 4 went into effect - a warning issued 72 hours before the possible arrival of 50-knot winds.

At midmorning, Ginger was located about 600 miles east-northeast of Cape Kennedy.

If Ginger crosses the Cape area, workers would have to remove a Delta rocket from its launch pad and roll it into a hangar. It is being readied to launch a sun probe satellite Monday.

Ginger ranked the British Crown Colony of Bermuda Thursday but did little damage.

Described as "a surprisingly dry storm" by a Bermuda weather forecaster, the three-week-old hurricane dumped less than an inch of rain on the island and failed to break a two-month drought.

Girl's Body Found

The body of a 12-year-old Winter Park girl was taken from a 20-foot hole at the bottom of Boat Lake, off Highway 1935 at Longwood at 11 o'clock this morning by sheriff's department Scuba-diver Jack Morrison.

The girl, Barbara Carol Price, was visiting her father who operates a boat and camper court, and went swimming with a younger sister when she went under while trying to swim across the lake.

County Investigator L. J. Kriz said the girl's parents are separated and Barbara had lived with her mother, Virginia Price.

Dragging operations started Thursday afternoon shortly after the tragedy was reported and lasted throughout the night without results.

Morrison, who dives with the sheriff's department underwater rescue team, arrived on the scene this morning and recovered the body on his first dive, Kriz said.

Jury Deliberating Bernovich's Fate

Having retired to consider a verdict in the case of Dennis Bernovich, charged with rape, after deliberating over five hours, the jury returned at 11:30 last night and told Circuit Judge William Akridge that they were "too fatigued to deliberate further."

'That We Are Dust'

By REV. E. A. REUSCHER
Redeemer Lutheran Church

A very religious woman says, "Please, help me! If someone doesn't help me soon, I am going to lose my mind. My problem is hard to put into words, but I suppose to be perfectly frank, it's simply a case of being afraid twenty-four hours a day. I know this is silly. But I also know it's real, and it's terrible. What I want to know is, can I really believe in a loving God, can I really believe that I have been redeemed for time and for eternity through Jesus Christ, and still go on day after day, scared, nervous, jittery, getting no joy out of life, and sometimes wishing I were dead? Can I carry on like this and still consider myself a Christian?"

If this woman's problem were an isolated instance, we could forget about mentioning it in print. The fact is, though, her words are typical of how many people feel. Perhaps this is how you feel too.

Are such people unusual? Are they exceptions. Are they special cases for whom the church must devise some special program of spiritual therapy? Generally speaking, I do not think so. Of course, there are exceptional cases which call for exceptional approaches. (In some cases, the ministrations of the Christian Gospel will not help until the way has been prepared by a competent psychiatrist. Or, conversely, the therapy of the psychiatrist may not bring about results until it has been undergirded by the assurances of the Gospel. In such cases both approaches have a legitimate and important role to play.) But, if the truth were known, it is quite probable that millions of people today who are sincerely religious are nevertheless troubled from time to time by perplexing doubts, by unnamable fears, and by deep anxieties. They are both Christian and they are — if I may use the word — "nervous."

Personally, I see nothing self-contradictory at all in the idea of a "nervous Christian." If it is true that Christians sin, and it is true, then it should not surprise us to find Christians who are anxious, jittery, "nervous," and filled with fear.

Perhaps one of the most humbling experiences that a clergyman is to read some of the sermons he delivered early in his ministry. Some time ago I ran across an old sermon which I delivered in my parish on the well-known text: "Casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you." It was a carefully prepared sermon. In many ways it was a good sermon. But with great authority I asserted that all of our anxieties will disappear the moment we place them on the shoulders of our loving Father in heaven. While I never said it in so many words, I left the definite impression that any person who, after hearing my sermon that morning, would insist on clinging to his fears and worries could hardly consider himself a Christian. Surely I was wrong!

It is a relatively simple matter for a seminary graduate with a freshly formed degree on his study wall, with a lovely bride with whom he still spends his honeymoon, with all the world still bright and filled with promise — it is a simple matter, I say, for such a young man to speak of the futility and the sinfulness of anxiety and to leave the impression that the anxious person is not a Christian. But let him associate with real people in real life and he will be happy to include the anxiety-ridden within the borders of the Kingdom of God.

What I am trying to say is that you have a right to call yourself a Christian, despite the inner fears and worries you might have. This is not to say that your fears are right or good, or that you should not try, with God's help and the help of other people, to get rid of them. God does not want you to be the helpless victim of your fears. He wants you to make progress in overcoming your fears. But He knows your heart. He knows that you are weak. He knows your fear and worry and His attitude toward you is one of Fatherly compassion.

In the 103rd Psalm, David writes: "As a father pities his children, so the Lord pities those who fear Him. For He knows our frame: He remembers that we are dust."

I would imagine that if today we could look down from heaven into the hearts of the masses of humanity about us, including the hearts of those who are sincere Christians, we would see an almost endless sea, forever restless with the waves of countless fears. But, looking from the throne of God in heaven, we would also be looking with the eyes of compassion. For, make no mistake about it, God loves us — even with our worries.

So, you are not alone. There are many of us with you. The fraternity of the fearful is larger than you might think. Thank God that, through Christ, the fraternity of the fearful is included in the fraternity of the Redeemed.

Bishops To Talk Priests' Celibacy

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On touchy problems, the Roman Catholic Church edges up on them, by steps and starts, by pulling back, then moving ahead again, by partial, tentative steps that often eventually become the norm.

This pattern was discernible this week as the Church's leaders prepared to gather in Rome for an international Synod of Bishops beginning next Thursday.

They'll take up, for full-scale analysis, a bristling subject that until recently was banned from their official discussions—the requirement of celibacy for priests.

Although Pope Paul VI has authorized consideration only of the possibility of ordaining some married men in areas of acute need, taking up that limited aspect, in effect, opens up the whole celibacy question. This now is the clear prospect, as urged by several national hierarchies, including those of Canada, Japan, the Netherlands, and as highlighted in preparatory studies made for U.S. bishops.

Only last year, after the Dutch bishops called for a full airing of the topic, Pope Paul issued a letter, saying precisely the opposite: an essential law of the Church and "it cannot be subjected to argument."

But as ferment over the matter swelled, he tempered his earlier stance by making room for bringing up the subject under the question of whether to permit, in special circumstances, ordination to the priesthood of some married men.

If this is done, as is widely expected, it still would not already ordained priests the option to marry, nor would it allow those who have left the ministry to marry the right to return to it.

But it would be a related step in that direction. And this is the way, by cautious, limited adjustments that the Church often gets where it is going.

As a recent example, when the Second Vatican Council of 1962-65 authorized the ordaining of married men as permanent deacons, a rank just below the priesthood, it was done to meet particular shortages of clergy in Asia and Africa.

But within three years, U.S. bishops had gained permission to institute the practice in this country—and they now have a bigger program for ordaining married deacons than the areas for which it was first intended.

MR. AND MRS. Bill Moore and children Cindy, Billy and Chris guests Sunday at Elder Springs Baptist Church.

At Elder Springs Baptist Church Missionary Family Will Be Guests

The William Moore family will be special guests of the Elder Springs Baptist Church during the morning worship services Sunday.

Bill and his wife, Nancy, became Christians about six years ago. Within a short time their three children, Cindy, Billy and Chris also accepted Christ as their Saviour. A short time after their conversion, they went to Brazil as missionaries under New Tribes Mission.

After Bible and language schools, they entered a teaching ministry at the Ovidio boat camp where they have served for 2 1/2 years, but now they are ready to go to Brazil.

As guests of Elder Springs Baptist Church, they will be sharing their information about the people of Brazil to whom they will minister.

Everyone is invited to come and hear this missionary challenge at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. A nursery will be provided.

Chuluota Library Gets Books

By LIZ BAKER

During the month of August, the Chuluota Library had 89 books in circulation. Fifteen new memberships have been accepted. Yearly membership dues per family are 30 cents and it entitles each member to four books.

A number of "Book-of-the-Month Club" books has been donated to the Library by Miss Grace Feuebacher of Orlando.

All books have been cataloged and placed on shelves. The Library is open each Tuesday and Saturday from 7 to 3 p.m.

An appeal for help is needed in the Library, books and shelves need cleaning and a change to place all childrens books in their own section. Anyone wishing to aid in the Library please contact Mrs. Kathryn Kirk.

Decline Of Churches Subject Of A Study

By CLAIRE COX
Copy News Service

NEW YORK—The minister is a mediocre preacher. The sanctuary is old-fashioned. Worship services are traditional and there is little interest in the "new" liturgical music. Visitors are welcome but no special effort is made to attract new members.

This sounds as though it could be a description of one of the many dying churches in America, doesn't it?

But it isn't. Quite the contrary. It is one of the relatively few that is flourishing, whose membership has grown while others are crying the sheep-straying blues.

This church was one of 19 congregations, large and small, in urban and suburban, black and white, old and young, studied by the Division of Evangelism of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. in an effort to diagnose why this denomination—and others as well—is sick.

A net loss in membership, the board said, "brings with it feelings of anxiety, failure and guilt among many segments of the constituency."

There is little advantage and no comfort in the fact that most of the other major Protestant communions in the United States suffered similar or proportionate net losses, the report said.

"Neither is it helpful to point to the fact that the American Catholic church in 1969, for the first time in its history, reported a net loss of membership or that Christian churches in Europe have been in numerical decline for at least four decades."

A net loss in membership, the board said, "brings with it feelings of anxiety, failure and guilt among many segments of the constituency."

Fairway Mart Opening Soon

Fairway Market No. 8, soon to be opened by Pete and George Daniel in Fairway Center on Highway 17-92, will give Sanford and Seminole County their first Fairway. This market, in the planning stages for more than two years, will be the first for the Daniel brothers outside the Greater Orlando area.

The brothers opened their first small grocery market on the corner of Edgewater Drive and Par in College Park in 1959. The small store, a far cry from the modern Fairway, was almost an instant success, and six short years later was moved to the present location at 2301 Edgewater Drive. As time passed this store again became too small to handle the ever-growing family of Fairway shoppers and was enlarged to its present size in May of 1968. The store's success has attracted many other Fairway markets to serve customers in most areas in Orlando, Winter Park and Maitland.

Sanford's Fairway will contain approximately 12,500 square feet of selling area, large enough for easy shopping, but small enough to keep the personal, homey atmosphere. The store will be arranged for easy shopping, from merchandise conveniently grouped to "personal service butcher shop" across the rear of the store. Customers will enjoy a fine selection of Fairway's USDA choice western meats and delicatessen.

The entire store will be arranged for easy shopping, from merchandise conveniently grouped to "personal service butcher shop" across the rear of the store. Customers will enjoy a fine selection of Fairway's USDA choice western meats and delicatessen.

Extra space is planned for the dairy and frozen food departments so more and more of the new delicious "easy to prepare" foods may be stocked for shopping pleasure.

All new fast check-outs and the newest NCR computer registers have been installed to help check-out quickly.

Pete and George Daniel will be looking forward to serving the folks in the Sanford area.

Nixon Drops New Clues On 'Freeze' Restraints

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon promises that wage-price restraints to take effect Nov. 14 will "cover the whole economy" and depending on interest rate trends—could encompass regulation of rates on consumer credit.

Nixon paroled out a few more clues to his thinking on a question and answer session at a Thursday night dinner meeting of the Detroit Economic Club.

The hour-long quiz was broadcast nationally by some radio networks.

At a Sept. 9 news conference, Nixon spoke of wage-price restraints on major industries following the Nov. 13 expiration of the current freeze. This was widely interpreted as an indication Nixon leaned toward very selective curbs.

His new pronouncement, however, embraced all segments of the economy, although he emphasized that his Phase 2 program to be announced in mid-October will concentrate on areas which, in the absence of restraints, could contribute most strongly to continued inflation.

The chief executive was asked by one member of a 10-man panel how soon he planned to return to a "free economy."

Nixon said his wage-price stabilization effort will continue until we have cooled the fires of inflation.

Most panelists were leading members of Detroit's industrial-mercantile-financial community and the questions reflected business concerns and viewpoints.

Fire Safety Poster Contest Scheduled

With National Fire Prevention Week starting Oct. 3, the Seminole County Commission, in an effort to bring fire safety to the attention of Seminole citizens, is sponsoring a fire prevention poster contest among pupils of the middle schools. Prizes of a $25 U. S. Savings Bond, $5 and $3 in cash will be awarded the best three posters submitted by each school. Prizes and poster board material are financed by a part of the commissions on fire insurance premiums paid by the County Commission office.

Posters are to be made on posterboard material 11"x14" (cut four from standard 22"x28" board) in any media the pupil selects. On a small card, stapled to one corner of the poster, the name, address and school of the pupil. Posters will be on display at the Seminole Firemen's Association annual field day at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3, at the G-Mart in Fern Park, on Highway 17-92. The firemen will provide judges and winners need not be present to accept prizes.

Each middle school will select the 15 best posters at its respective school and deliver them to the office of W. H. DeShazo, assistant school superintendent, by 4 p. m. Oct. 1.

Confused By Kilt

Believe It Or Not, 'Pocketbook Issues' Persist

Again the inescapable "pocketbook issues" have thrust themselves into the political spotlight, highlighting the worry which haunts the American household.

What had been a rather general feeling has now become a fact. For the first time since the late '30s, concern over the economic state of affairs in the United States is the top issue for almost everybody.

This is a finding of the responsible Gallup poll, which sheds more light on the statistics by reporting that the concern in the 30s was unemployment, now it is the high cost of living and the general economic situation.

In an interesting calendar coincidence the poll was released on the same day that an increase in the cost of living for August was reported at three-tenths of one percent by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It was also the day when the Nixonomics, announced by the president on Aug. 15th, freezing wages, prices and rents, was undergoing sharp and informed debate as its effects were bearing down on individuals, businesses and labor groups.

In fact so intense had the discussions become that the president was to hold a public quiz session (last night) in which he would field properly phrased and screened questions in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

As this comment is being made before this Q-A affair, it is referred to only as an illustration as to the gravity of our economic situation at home, in the super-markets, the department stores and illustrates the daily struggle of the average householder to remain as near solvent as possible.

What seems to be needed now is not more statements wherein the gibberish of phrases and the most appealing of sentiments and the always rallying of patriotic motives to rouse emotions is indulged in with the superficial soothing of palliative drugs.

Action, effective action that will be felt by the public is needed. If the political aspect could be removed, then such action would be more easily accomplished.

But this is a pre-presidential year wherein the ambitions of both the incumbent Republican and the host of hopeful Democrats who want to live in the White House must clash.

Only the highest type of devotion to the responsibility of the elected leaders — executive and legislative — to their constituents can bring this about.

President Nixon's known affinity for the great corporations (oil and banks, for instance) did nothing to lower the opposition of big labor to the freeze order, which did not cover profits or interest.

This has given more than usual substance to the sentiments which are held by the respected Senator Mike Mansfield, who heads the Democratic policy committee.

This responsible senator has given the highest priority to the senate's consideration of the bills which must be enacted to make the economic recommendations of the president go to work.

But, he like some of the top labor union leaders, is aware that the Nixonomics appears to be weighted in favor of business interests. What Senator Mansfield wants is a fair shake all around. And this is precisely what can be shown only by deeds not by words.

Congress, thus, is confronted with the tough challenge of enacting legislation which will preserve the benefits which President Nixon saw when he reversed his economic game plan and went for wage-price controls, while heeding its basic duty to the public, to the individual, and protect its interest.

"Pocketbook issues" will not fade into the mist and float away until the American economy achieves a stability which has evaded the best minds in our out of government for decades. Now it knocks at our door. Politics should not be allowed to block its entrance.

Expansion Jobs

The forces of organized labor are complaining that President Nixon, in his efforts to stabilize the economy, is giving too many breaks to industry.

Labor envisions fat profits for business, ignoring the fact that business needs income to expand. Expansion in turns creates more jobs, which the labor bosses are supposed to be concerned about.

As a matter of fact, the U. S. Department of Labor estimates that the American economy will have to provide jobs for 15 million additional workers by 1980. Private industry employs 80 per cent of today's work force and thus must absorb the bulk of the new people entering the job market. It costs an average of $25,000 in invested capital to create one new job. This works out to about $50 billion annually to take care of the growth in the labor force alone.

Instead of fighting efforts to help industry expand, labor, in its own interest, should be promoting them. — Columbia (S.C.) State

How's That, Sir?

Advertising pays. The question is: Whom? In a 27-day test in Atlanta, the New York advertising research concern of Daniel Starch and Staff discovered that a significant number of television viewers misidentify the sponsors of these "important" messages.

One soap, for example, was identified by five per cent of the viewers of one program, but 11 per cent thought the commercial was for another brand.

A current survey of 30 second commercials says the Wall Street Journal, indicates that 24 per cent of television viewers recall the kinds of product advertised, but about a fifth of them associated them with the wrong brand.

It could be worse. The figures suggest that 76 to 84 per cent of viewers don't recall commercials at all. — Gastonia (N.C.) Gazette

Florida Primary: A Quagmire

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
MIAMI BEACH (NEA) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, presently the chief challenger to Sen. Edmund Muskie in the big March 14 Florida primary, could find his path strewn with land mines.

The most dangerous would have the name of Alabama's Gov. George Wallace on it. If he indicates 1972 presidential candidacy, Florida Democratic officials say he almost certainly will be entered in the preference test. He is busy polishing up his credentials as an authentic Democrat.

Political appraisers in Florida largely agree that a Wallace primary bid would cut severely, if not disastrously, into Jackson's presumed strength among ill and resigned voters.

The late John F. Kennedy, but is considered stuck on the launchpad. There are no lip-pops on the seismic chart for Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma.

"He does not have wide appeal in the crucial northern states. Indeed, the better he does in Florida and elsewhere in the South and Southwest, the more he is likely to be critically handicapped by a narrow, self-defeating conservative image."

No one can guess now how this line of talk will be received. But it could be another land mine for Jackson. A similar tactic was enormously effective for the late John F. Kennedy in his 1960 West Virginia primary race against Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

If Jackson's Florida strength can resist such battering, then Muskie may have to move hard to hold down encroachments from the liberal end. It is here that Lindsay looms large.

Floating Dollar Softens Voice

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The magnitude of the change over the world as a result of President Nixon's floating of the dollar is still emerging.

The issue Nixon is forcing is not only reevaluation of the world's currencies. These are the other likely results.

1—The principal industrial nations — notably West Germany and Japan — will take over a much greater share of sales for the developing nations and will play a considerably greater role, physically and financially, in the military costs and responsibilities of policing the world.

When nations pay more of the bills, they demand a larger voice. That usually means a reevaluation of what is going on.

Nixon's actions thus may force a reorganization of NATO, SEATO and other regional treaties. Organizations in which the United States has played a major role because it has been willing to pay most of the bills.

The day of unilateral U.S. decisions may be over. If Japan, for example, is to assume a major role in the defense of Asia, and its economic development, then Japan will be deeply concerned over any U.S. actions which would direct that development along lines of which Japan does not not approve or which might draw Japan against its will into a Vietnam-type war.

2—In bypassing the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade Organization, the United States and the International Monetary Fund, Nixon is in effect saying that in their present form these institutions have not performed as they must and must be reformed, replaced or become secondary to other organizations.

Certainly GATT and the IMF

Global View

Floating Dollar Softens Voice

4—One other thing is clear in the maneuvering to date. All-nation conferences, such as GATT sessions, United Nations meetings and world monetary conferences are beginning to lose much of their meaning. The hard decisions must be made by a handful of major industrial nations if they are to be carried out. West Germany and Japan, for example, will not want to be bound in economic and trade policies by the wishes of some 100 countries, most of which have little economic influence.

To some extent a new oligarchy of major nations (including the United States, of course) will, in practice, take over more major decisions from the United States and the world and regional economic organizations through which Washington has operated.

What's in a name? You know the old story about the rose smelling the same. Well, quite a few well-known personalities in South Seminoles have interesting and little known names. The middle name of one police chief is Emmanuel while the given name of another is Retzel. Middle name of one chief executive is Fernando and the middle name of one councilman is Delanore and another Bloys.

One well known land developer uses only the initials L. E. In his name. It stands for Lida Elury, but don't tell anyone, he said. "Even though I'm the fourth generation to carry the name I gave my son a different one."

DONNA'S DELIBERATIONS

By: Donna Estes

One of the signs of a good public official is that his mark is left on the community he served long after he has left public life.

This will be so with Longwood Councilman Sandra (Sandy) Thompson, who has announced that she will not seek re-election on completion of her first two-year term on the Council in December.

She will be remembered for the subdivision ordinance she composed and pushed through Council despite vigorous opposition. It took her eight months to accomplish the task. Some made fun of her confidence in believing she could write an ordinance while others insisted she, through the stiff regulations, would stop development in the city.

Certain developers insisted the regulations requiring water and sewer lines be installed by them in new developments would bankrupt them. Others said, "How ridiculous for Longwood to require installation of sewer lines in addition to septic tanks when they do not know when a sewer system will be built, if ever, in that city?"

Few builders cared to listen when she reminded that Altamonte Springs had adopted identical requirements more than five years ago. And Altamonte's system is only now in operation with untold hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of utility lines which cost the people nothing and cut down profits for developers only slightly.

When Sandy is gone from the municipal government of Longwood she will be sorely missed. She has been not only a very feminine addition to the city, but also a shrewd and competent councilman.

As new subdivisions crop up in the city the citizens can thank her for each and every sidewalk and paved street in the developments as well as the utility lines.

Hopefully her term ends as she can spearhead and push through the Council in just as dynamic a manner as she has in her builder contributions on previously platted lots for streets, sidewalks, water lines, etc., so that present taxpayers will not have to pay the bill for developers' profits. She tried once but got little support either from the Council or the citizens.

Global View

Speaking of Longwood losing officials, Mayor Robert Kalinski also will be missed. And his resignation will require that the mayor's office also be on the ballot in December. Kalinski, no doubt realizing Longwood's outdated charter does not permit appointment to fill a vacancy but rather requires a special election, delayed the resignation so the office can be filled in the December election rather than at a special election prior to then.

The city has had problem keeping mayors the last few years. In the mid 1960s David Wentworth was elected chief executive. A few months after assuming the duties of his office, he became ill and resigned. Then Bernard Black who passed away recently, was elected for a split term. Allen R. Lormann, who had served many years previously as mayor, was elected again and died in office. Then Kenneth Brown, of television fame, was named to fill his term and re-elected to a full term. Kalinski was elected last December unopposed and received a substantial number of votes.

Acquitted Officer Has 'No Comment' Medina Offered Job By Orlandoan

By: Donna Estes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Capt. Ernest L. Medina, acquitted of all charges in connection with the My Lai massacre, has been offered a job by a millionaire Florida promoter who reported he financed a large part of his legal defense.

Glenn W. Turner, controversial president of a huge conglomerate based in Orlando, asked Medina to come to work for him moments after a military court martial acquitted Medina Thursday.

"I'm pretty sure he'll work for us," said Les O'Neill, public relations director for Turner Enterprises. But he said no firm agreement has been made.

Turner could not be reached for comment.

Medina would say only "no comment" when asked about the job offer.

The 35-year-old officer said after his acquittal that his only immediate plans are to get out of the Army.

O'Neill said Turner financed "a large part" of Medina's legal costs. F. Lee Bailey, the nationally known attorney who defended Medina, is one of Turner's business associates, O'Neill said.

When asked what position Medina would fill if he joined Turner Enterprises, O'Neill said the captain probably would be given the freedom to "find his own way."

Turner, a 35-year-old sharecropper's son, made his money with a cosmetics firm called Kosco Interparlatory Inc. and a motivational course named Dare to Be Great Inc.

He has been charged in civil suits in a number of states for an alleged pyramid method of marketing. In Florida, Turner's Dare To Be Great course has been used on the grounds that it violates the state's lottery law.

Turner Enterprises is an umbrella for 58 different corporations and 300,000 employees, most of them door-to-door cosmetics salesmen.

It has smaller operations dealing in mink coats, wigs and fashions for men and women, music recordings, motel franchises, trucking service and charter flights.

Bailey heads a helicopter manufacturing and sales firm for Turner. He also is Turner's legal "ambulance chaser" for law suits in various states.

'Dead Duck' Conferred On Barge Canal

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Branding the Cross Florida Barge Canal a "colossal error," Nat Reed said Thursday he planned a determined stand on behalf of the sometimes beleaguered environment.

Reed, the former head of Florida's Air and Water Pollution Control Board and now U.S. Assistant Secretary of the Interior, was a keynote speaker at dedication ceremonies of the Florida State Museum here.

"Now, I am a slender Reed," he quipped, "but I have no inclination to bend where environmental values are concerned. The temper of the times affirms my own convictions that we must stand straight and resolute, and I have passed this word on to the troops."

Reed said U. S. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton was rewriting the "outdated" Federal Mineral Leasing Act which has permitted oil drilling and phosphate mining in Florida's Ocala and Ocala National Forests.

"At least man is able to grasp the controls of his spaceship Earth with something like careful humility," he said.

Reed also said he predicted, "Man will survive. But how—barely, badly or beautifully?"

President Nixon halted construction of the waterway in January and despite pending litigation over the action, Reed said the canal was a "dead duck." A federal judge in Jacksonville was expected to decide the canal's fate late today.

He predicted the Oklawaha River, a vital canal link, would recover from the tampering by canal builders because "the ecosystem has wonderful resuscitative powers."

Reed also said no more exploratory mineral permits would be issued for Florida's national forests before public hearings are held.

Letters to the Editor

Champions Love Bugs

Editor, Herald:

Seldom does a day pass that the newspapers fail to carry a lead story concerning some loyal, patriotic, energetic group of citizens who rally forth to battle with farmers, truck drivers, airplane pilots, canal builders, bridge builders, high way builders, airport builders, industrial workers and other ridiculous people who want only to destroy the good earth by interrupting the balance of nature. The thoughtful, studious Americans are willing to stand up and be counted by stopping those who destroy the ecology by pouring deadly chemicals into the rivers, lakes and streams, building bridges that upset the environment of the fish, "the building airports that upset the birds, and building canals that drown the trees and upset the railroads."

The protectors of ecology have learned of the horrible effects of DDT which retains its effects through residual deposits, the birds feeding on insects killed by DDT have in turn died, and thus the predators of insects were destroyed in large numbers resulting in an increase of harmful insects. The DDT deposits on grass were swallowed by the cows and showed up in the cow's milk in a concentration strong enough to have a harmful effect upon human beings.

It appears man is his own worst enemy, and destroys and contaminates the environment in which he lives. Man often kills the animals and insects that perform functions beneficial to him. A good example of this is the Plecia Nertica, a blood-sucking fly which grows in manure, horse or wood areas where the larvae feed on decaying vegetation. The feeding habits of the larvae are most beneficial to man because the decaying vegetation is converted into usable, fertile soil; furthermore, the soil is loosened and bacterial growth is promoted. Many bacteriologists have pointed out the increasing sterile conditions of the soil. The Plecia Nertica is helping to overcome the sterile condition by working the soil and adding bacteria growth.

The Plecia Nertica is an enormous black insect that develops two generations a year.

Champions Love Bugs

There are many unthinking people who will oppose this proposal. They will maintain it is more important to allow business as usual than to worry about the death of a few worthless insects; they have little concern for the good the insects provide. They rush about making a profit. Some of these people would even eradicate the "love-bug" by means of a chemical, so hard are their hearts. They feel there should be more concern for people than bugs. Of course, they really haven't studied the problems of ecology nor do they understand the life cycle. The law will

Mayfair

Last Tuesday night, the Mayfair Men's Golf Association held its annual election of officers. Before the meeting, a nine hole tournament was held. It was a two-ball blind partner event in which J. R. Terrell and R. C. Whitmore took top money by carding the best score of 21. In second place, with only a half a stroke more, were Andy Carraway and Ralph Perold. Three teams tied for third place at 23. They were: Peter Duncan-Jack McDougal, Ralph Simas - Dr. McDaniel, Henry Tammi - Jerry Jennings.

Before the meeting got underway, the men were treated to a hamburger supper. The nominating committee presented the following members for officers: president Ron Frost, vice president, Whitey Eckstein, secretary, Henry Tammi, treasurer, Ralph Perold. No further nominations came from the floor, so that was the way it ended. My sincere thanks to all for the vote of confidence! We are hoping for a fine and fun-filled year with lots of tournaments. In the next six weeks, there are already two major events scheduled, along with two minor events and at least one other contest. All of you know that a men's association is only as good as the members want it to be, and that might call for a little work from each of you. As it stands now, we need help on both the tournament committee and the handicapping committee. If you're interested, please don't hesitate to call me at home any evening.

Rolling Hills

Last Saturday, the Rolling Hills Men's Golf Association held a four-ball best-ball tournament. Four under par 68 was turned in by the team of Glen Williamson, Al Mareydt, Able Gordon and Bill Newman. This was good enough to win low gross honors.

Seminole

The Seminole Men's Golf Association held a nine hole tournament last Sunday in which the men were allowed one-half handicap. Gerald Black and J. Thomas shared top money in "A" flight. Both carded 36 1/2. "B" flight prize was captured by Gene Downing, who finished at 33. There was also a prize for the lowest combined score in juniors. The prize went to Bob Blair, Bob Efferson, Red Lewis and Gene Downing. The score was 151.

Valley Forge

The Valley Forge Men's Golf Association completed its 36 hole men's doubles tournament last weekend. Tubby Willoughby and Bill Wright had the lowest combined score of 202, which enabled them to win first place. Their nearest competitor was John Davis and Bill Bowen finished second with 273, nine shots off the pace. Russ Clark and E. C. French took third position at 274.

Tubby Willoughby also was the winner of the weekly streak winner. He had a net 56.

Trinity's four ladies competed in this week's event, which was a four-ball, best-ball tournament. All of the girls were allowed their full handicaps, which made the winning teams finish with some pretty fantastic hole scores. The first place finishers carded an amazing 44. They were Millie Hyer, Jo Keeling, Betty Lynn and Bobbie Noeville. Second place, with a 46, went to Peg King, Lois Smith, Wanda Slenke and Maggie Thompson. However, they had to share that spot with Peg Hoyer, Veronica Maloney and a blind partner.

A key member of the Mainland offense is a 6-0, 190-pound junior transfer student, Ordel Williams. Williams, a first-footed halfback, scored 22 touchdowns and 138 points as a sophomore for Father Lapeere High School last season. While he did not have a great game, running wise, last week, Williams teamed with Bob Worthen to accumulate 97 of Mainland's 83 yards rushing.

Giants Take A Three-Game Lead

By KEN RAPPAPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Break up the San Francisco Giants... and wake up the Los Angeles Dodgers.
With just a week to go in the nervous National League West race, it appears the Dodgers need a more-than-giant effort to catch front-running San Francisco.
"I don't think Los Angeles can overcome their lead," said Houston Manager Harry Walker after the Giants knocked off his Astros 2-1 Thursday night and took a reasonably comfortable three-game lead.
You know, he could be right. Each team has six games left, and any combination of four San Francisco victories or Los Angeles defeats will hand the Giants their first title since 1954, when they won the National League pennant.
"This victory has got to be a big break for us," said Gaylord Perry, the big San Francisco right hander, who pitched a stunning three-hitter. "Especially big in the Astrodom, where we haven't won much the last few years."
Perry's power pitching followed a superior performance by Juan Marchitelli, who spun a six-hit, one-run job Wednesday night.
In the other National League games the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-0; the New York Mets beat

WASHINGTON (AP) — After hearing charges that professional baseball, football and basketball have become big business monopolies, a Congressional subcommittee has decided to conduct an antitrust probe into all major team sports.
Spong said he is "disturbed by the growing dominance of the field by big business interests and big business psychology."
He added that "there is serious question about the claim of organized sport to special consideration under the antitrust laws and its right to other forms of public support it receives."
Ervin, the Senate's constitutional watchdog, had earlier warned that if the basketball merger bill passes, he would propose creation of the post of federal athletic commissioner to regulate all major sports, including football, hockey and basketball.

Falcons, Bills Picked To Spring More Upsets

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The string of upsets that sent favorites reeling in the National Football League last week like Atlanta harassing Roman Gabriel and Los Angeles to submission while O.J. Simpson breaks loose for Buffalo in an upset of Miami.
But remember, those predictions are being made by the same guy who last week correctly predicted Atlanta to up set San Francisco and not much else. The record, as a matter of record, was 4-1 for the opening week's program.
The problem this week is being able to determine which of last week's upset winners are legitimate threats and which are merely pretenders.
The guessing is that the Falcons are for real and the Bills, who showed plenty of offense against Dallas, are substantial stronger.
Here's the way it looks like it might go with a 12 game program Sunday followed by Monday night's nationally televised game between the New York Jets and St. Louis being shown by ABC starting at 9 p.m. EDT:
Atlanta 27, Los Angeles 20—QB Bob Berry has a new target in rookie Ken Burros, and the Falcons have the defense to harass Gabriel, who completed just 11 of 38 passes against New Orleans. The Falcons may not have the depth to go all the way but right now they're solid.
Buffalo 31, Miami 27—Dallas week and watched O.J. last week. Dennis Shaw passed for four TDs. The Dolphins will probably be watching Shaw this week, so watch O.J. The key, however, will be the Bills' defense.

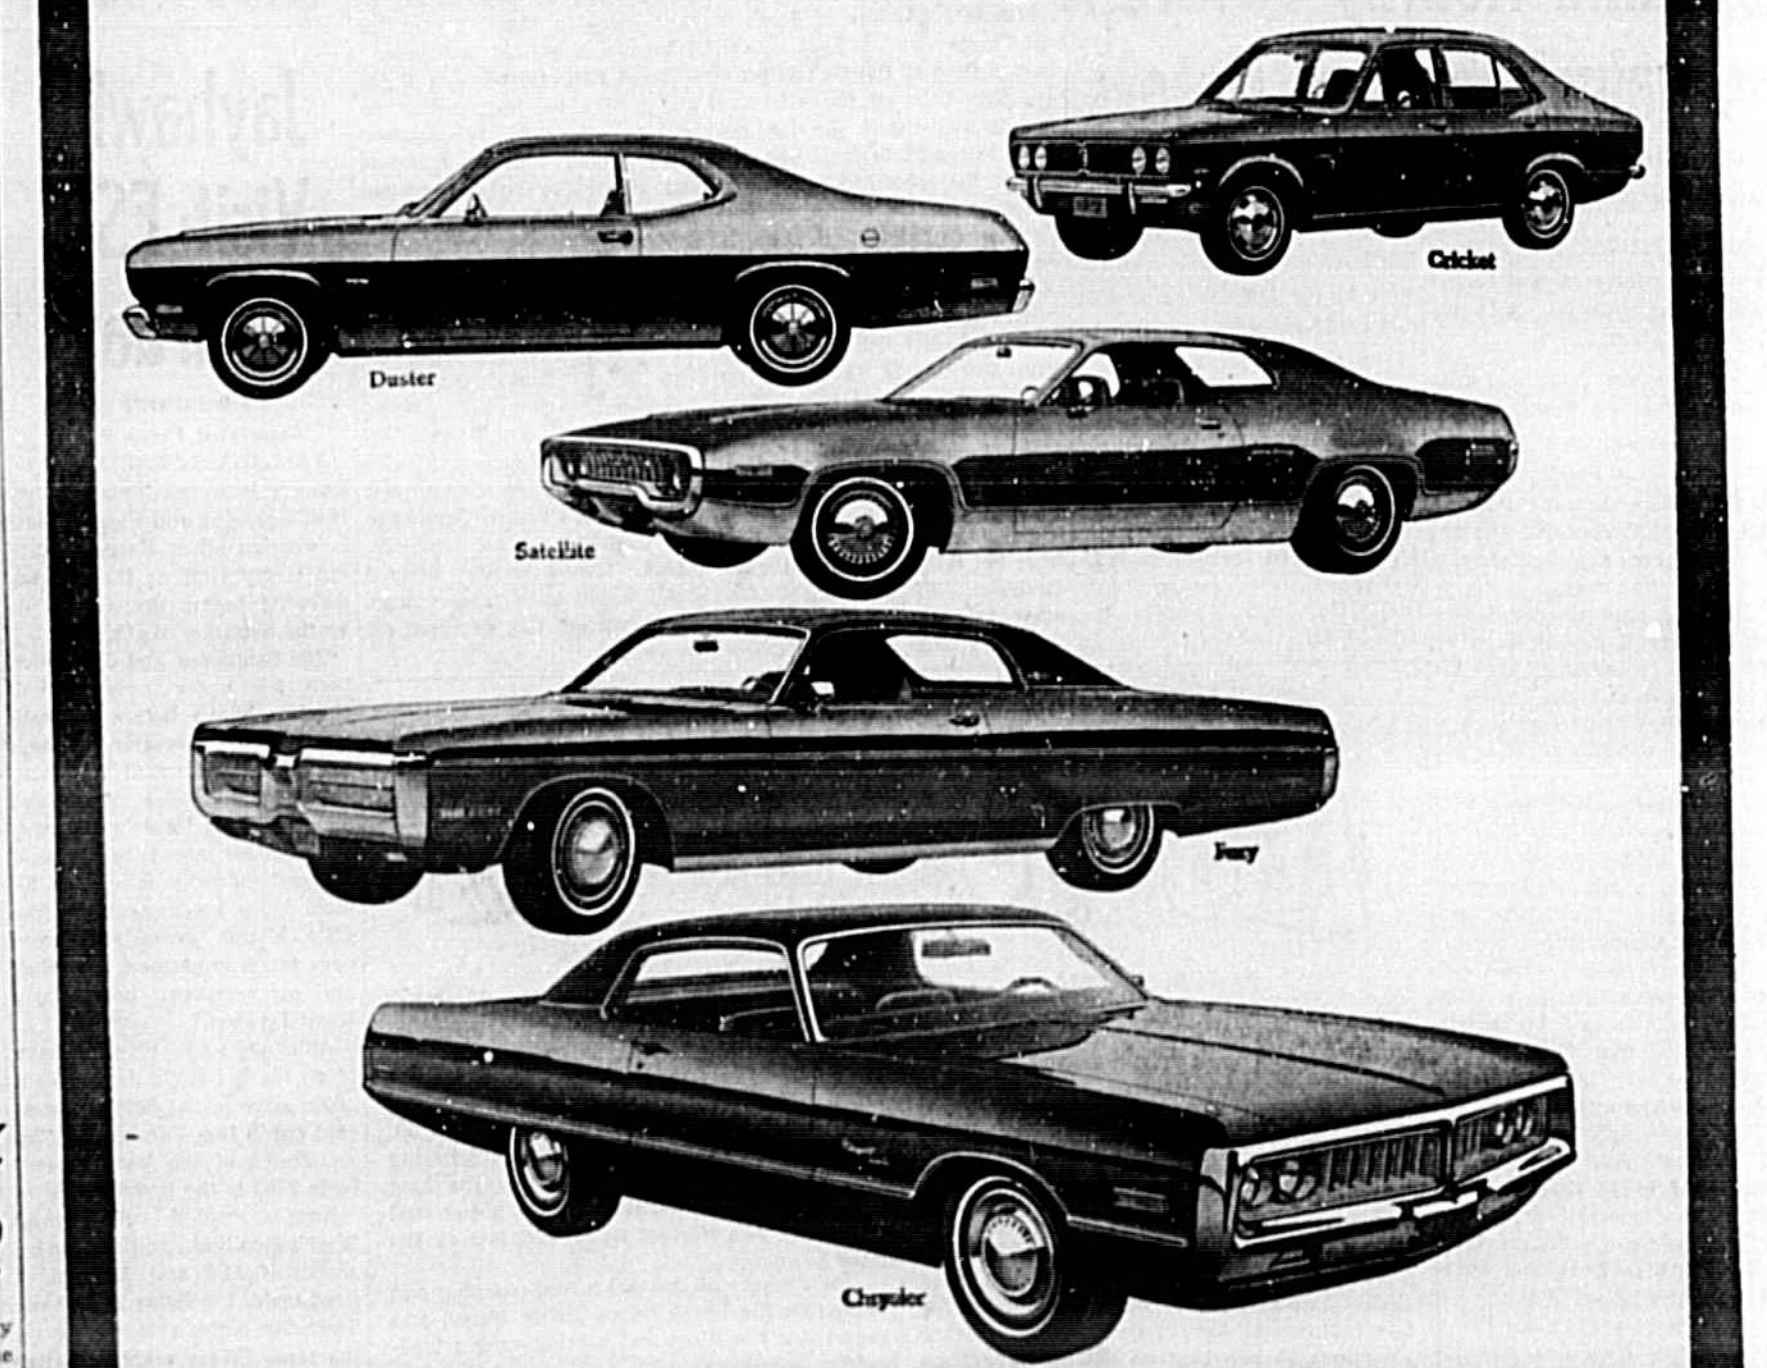

BOB HOWELL slams a base hit during action last night. Howell was one of the leading hitters for the police and also recorded the victory on the mound, with relief help from Bobby Nichols. The "fuzz" stopped the Civitan Club 18-2 (give or take a run or two.) (Don Vincent Photo)

Softball Tourney Underway

Ralph Pillow Motors men's softball team recorded an opening round victory in the 14-team invitation tournament which opened last night in Deland. The team, with several Sanford players, won 18-2.
Charlie Newell paced the team with four hits, including a pair of home runs. Donnie Anderson was also four for five with a homer. Jimmy Williams was the winning pitcher.
Another local team in the tournament, Deltona, suffered a 28-12 setback at the hands of Garden Restaurant of Starke. Ralph Pillow Motors will battle the Deland Blackhawks Saturday at 11 a. m. The Blackhawks advanced in the tourney by slipping by Shamrock Restaurant of Leesburg, 15-14.
The double elimination tournament will wind up Sunday afternoon. Games are being played at both Johnson Field and Central Park, both located just one block east of U. S. 17-92 in Deland.

Chrysler-Plymouth introduces the 1972's. Built to stay new longer.

We've made quite a few changes in our cars for 1972. A lot of them you can see right away. Like the new looks of our Fury. And the new interiors and options we're offering this year. But more important are some of the things you can't see. The kind of things we're doing to fulfill our commitment—we're dedicated to building cars that will run better and last longer than any car we've ever built before.
So whatever Chrysler-Plymouth car you're interested in—from the little Cricket to the compact Duster, from the mid-size Satellite to the luxurious Chrysler—you can be sure it was built with this commitment in mind.
Coming through with the kind of car America wants.

Nixon Throws Out Broad Hint Virginian Seen High Court Choice

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has thrown out a broad hint that he may nominate a Virginia Republican to fill one of two openings on the Supreme Court.
He already has the backing of the House Judiciary Committee. He helped pilot Nixon's effort in a control legislation through Congress last year and is considered a "law and order" conservative of the sort the President would turn to for the high court.
Poff's chances appeared brighter after Nixon discussed with members of the Economic Club of Detroit the kind of candidates he was considering. "Teachers, legislators for example with great experience in the 1960s."
A second place on the Court opened Thursday when Justice John M. Harlan retired. Harlan, 72, and suffering cancer of the spine, stepped down six days after Justice Hugo L. Black, who is in critical condition at the Bethesda Naval Hospital.
In announcing Harlan's retirement, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was expected "to move as swiftly as possible to find two highly qualified individuals to fill the vacancies."
The court opens its new term Oct. 4. Hearings are scheduled to begin Oct. 12 with argument on the constitutionality of the death penalty. Only justices on the bench when a case is argued are permitted to take part in the eventual decision.
Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that once the nominations are made the Senate would act on them as quickly as possible. In the past the Senate readily approved two Nixon nominees. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun, and rejected two others, Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. and G. Harrold Carswell.
Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Burger and Blackmun "reflected the conservative element" and that he hoped the nominees to succeed Black and Harlan would represent "more moderate elements of American opinion."
Ziegler said Nixon would use the same "strict constructionist" standard he used in the past. This means a restrained view of the Court's functions and a reluctance to upset state or federal laws.

Speaking in Detroit the President said appointment of a woman was a possibility and that he was more interested in a prospect's judicial philosophy than his religion.
The hint about Poff came about when Nixon said he might select someone other than an experienced judge. "Justice Felix Frankfurter, a teacher, was a great justice," he said. "Justice Louis D. Brandeis, one of my heroes, was a practicing lawyer."
Burger, Blackmun, Haynsworth and Carswell all were federal appeals court judges when they were named for the Supreme Court. Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall also had judicial experience. Justices William G. Douglas and Byron R. White had some when they took their seats.

U. S. Bombers Hit Again Inside North Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPR
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers struck inside North Vietnam and along its frontiers for a third successive day, while other allied aircraft wiped out two of Hanoi's base camps in South Vietnam causing heavy enemy losses, military spokesmen said today.
North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces mounted a fourth day of intensified shelling attacks in the South. The South Vietnamese command said a provincial capital and three district towns were shelled. Two South Vietnamese were killed and 11 wounded.
The air attack inside North Vietnam Thursday was triggered. The U.S. command said, when an anti-aircraft gun fired at two Air Force fighter-bombers on a mission against Hanoi's Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos.
The attack occurred in the Ban Karal pass on the Laos-North Vietnam border, about 37 miles north of the demilitarized zone. A command spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, said results of the U.S. attack were not known but the American jets were not hit.
It was the 62nd strike by American bombers inside North Vietnam this year under President Nixon's protective reaction policy.
U.S. bombers have stepped up raids against the Ho Chi Minh trail in anticipation of the annual dry season push of war materials into South Vietnam and Cambodia. The monsoons should end next month, and the North Vietnamese are trying to repair the trail.
U.S. B-52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese storage depots on both sides of South Vietnam's border with Laos and attacked supply points and bunker complexes in the southern half of the DMZ.
Further south U.S. tactical fighter bombers and helicopter gunships destroyed North Vietnamese base camps 60 miles northwest of Saigon and 56 miles south of Da Nang, spokesmen said.
Allied communique said that 50 enemy troops were killed in the attacks and 100 bunkers, a truck and 25 Soviet-made 122mm rockets were destroyed.

Sanford Services Cited Annexation Halt Asked

By BILL SCOTT
Sanford Planning and Zoning Board Thursday night approved a motion by Bert Hollingsworth which would ask the City Commission to place a 60-day moratorium on annexing more property into the city.
The action came after a discussion between board members with City Manager W. E. Knowles and City Planner Gerald Dake over the rising costs of city services which are expected by property owners being taken into the city.
Knowles revealed that with increasing demands for sewer services, particularly sewer lines, a new sewage treatment plant will have to be installed in the southwest area of the city within five years.
At present there are 6,300 to 6,400 sewer connections and the city manager disclosed that a number would more than double if the property now being proposed for annexation is brought into the city.
He stated the 740-acre Hidden Lake Estates planned unit development can be annexed with out a problem since water and sewer lines are nearby but added, "We're having from three to five annexation inquiries each week."
Dake suggested a higher sewer tap-on fee could be charged to prospective developers wanting city services and that money could be used to help pay the cost of a new sewage treatment plant.
The city manager disclosed the city has plenty of water for sale but he is "concerned" over the sewage treatment situation.
City Commission has asked the zoning board to conduct a study of the city's annexation policies and make recommendations.
Dake said it would require some 60 days to complete the study and the planning board instructed him to prepare his study based on the following criteria:
Delineate Study Area—Where possible conform to census tracts and examine future development potential.
Characteristics of Study Area — Land use, zoning, population, utilities and services.
Revenue Analysis of Annexation — Ad valorem taxes, utilities (sewer, water, garbage), licenses, permits, fines and fees, and cigarette tax.
Cost Analysis of Annexation— Fire protection, street lights, public utilities (water, sewer), police protection, garbage and refuse collection and disposal, street signs, parks and recreation, library service, building inspection, public works, cemetery department, administration and finance department.

Jennifer O'Neill: Former Model Turns Actress

By HEACE MOTTAT

NEW YORK (AP)—Jennifer O'Neill is a lovely lady who got an early start on success. As a teen-ager she was one of New York's top models.

"I started modeling when I was 17 and by the time I was 22 she had already appeared on the cover of Vogue.

Now she's switched from modeling to acting and has several roles in the film "Sach Gendy Friends."

"I started acting in a crowded apartment near the set of that film. Miss O'Neill talked about what it was like to have a career at such a young age.

"It was a sweet hassle," she begins, her voice soft against the general growl of conversation in the room.

"I finally went to California for some screen tests," she relates. "I did my first film there, and it was a big first. I even got money, since I was just a little. I thought it was going to be like that. I couldn't keep it, but I had to get started somehow."

"And sure enough, it wasn't like that," she says, and Miss O'Neill admits her sacrifice becoming.

Bridal Shower Honors Debbie Downey

Miss Debbie Downey, whose wedding to Howard P. West will be an event of Sept. 25, was honored at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Whitcomb. Hostesses were Miss Althea Whitcomb and her mother.

Miss Downey greeted her guests wearing a black crepe dress, empire styled, with elegant gold and silver trim.

The serving table, overlaid with a white linen cloth was centered with a crystal punch bowl surrounded with blue tipped flowers and greenery and flanked by two three branched candelabra.

Served with the fruit punch were chocolate chip and mint cookies and a beautifully decorated cake in the bride's chosen colors of lavender and white.

Guests joining the bride-elect for the delightful evening were her mother, Mrs. Raymond Downey, Mrs. David Richards, Mrs. Steve Colvack and the Misses Patti McLaughlin and Jackie Thornton.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Remember the cocktail dress? The evening dress? Even the dinner dress? Now there's a nostalgia for you. What to wear after five was neatly labeled for the party. Of course, along with the lack of confusion went to dullness of the totally elegant. Uniform ranks of ladies in sequins or debaunts in white tulle disappeared from the fashion scene. Today fashion can be fun, unexpected, which paradoxically ends the traumatic insecurity of wondering what to wear to a party. When everything is in, nothing is out.

It is a beautiful afternoon, and Ken and Monica might have gone for a ride in the country. But they've come to the hospital to visit a classmate.

It isn't always a "fun" thing to visit someone in the hospital, to call on an elderly aunt, or to take a gift to a shut-in. But usually you feel better when you do.

This is a "hurry up" world we're living in. We tell ourselves that there isn't time for the little kindnesses. There isn't time for a lot of things — like, maybe, going to church.

Who are we kidding? Ourselves, perhaps?

County System Said In Jeopardy

By DONNA ESTES

CASSELBERRY — Altamonte Springs Mayor Lawrence Swofford, at a meeting of the CALNO Council of Local Governments, predicted an effort will be undertaken to eliminate county government in Seminole County because it is "too cumbersome and not responsive to the needs of the people." Swofford said he has indications the legislative delegation may try to eliminate the county form of government "in little Seminole before trying it in big Orange."

He continued that the legislators desire an "urban" form of government, similar to the "metro" government at Miami.

The Altamonte Springs mayor also revealed that his city will join with Casselberry in legal action if the county files suit against Casselberry for the maintenance of Red Bug Road.

Mayor Granville Brown, of North Orlando, pointed out the Council in his municipality already has agreed to join with Casselberry in the event the county sues.

There is a long-standing disagreement between the three cities and the county over maintenance of what the cities believe to be county roads.

In North Orlando the disagreement is over Tusawilla Road and in Altamonte it is Palm Springs Road.

Swofford said the legislative delegation may be willing to eliminate the practice of the county returning only half of the sums collected in the cities back to the cities.

Swofford said there may be a general bill on this filed: "If we cannot get any cooperation from the county, we may be able to get our money back," he said.

When we first heard it early this a. m., around 7:30, that the cars were backed up to Interstate No. 4 from the road leading into Disney World, the assumption was that there were some early arrivals.

Wasn't so... a wildcat strike, which the regular union employees refused to cross the "line" and had cars backed-up so much so that it had everyone concerned. Pleas were being aired not to even drive near the area what with all these cars backed-up.

Understand that 5,000 people were involved, including some "outsiders" who were brought in for the make shift protest...

Assuming that the County Commissioners do approve the Seminole Development Board at tomorrow's regular meeting... these are the likely nominees who'll make-up the five man board: FRU Professor George Schrader, recently a member of the Casselberry Zoning Board; John Mercer (airport authority); Jim Ryan (port authority); John Cahner (Council of 30); and possibly Charles Stant (former member of the Birmingham Industrial Board).

Here's another chance for you to help the younger generation... try "rapping" with 'em tonight at the Sanford Civic Center at 8. Dr. Perez will be there, as per usual, but the kids are getting up tight that more adults don't show up to "exchange" views.

It's interesting... much more so, when you take an active part in it.

Honest, this is the last one (for today anyhow) about that senseless Vietnam War... and it concerns one of our own young men.

Would you believe that this government sent a formal notification to the Milford Cowdry family of Lake Mary that their son Darwin was officially listed as being AWOL (Absent Without Official Leave).

Little did the "wheel" from Washington who wrote that letter know that on the previous day, the Cowdry's received a very complimentary letter from a Commanding Officer saying "how well their son was doing, etc."

Just for the record... their son is presently serving in Vietnam, having deployed from Fort Lewis, Washington on August 4... BUT THE GOVERNMENT HAD HIM AWOL EFFECTIVE JULY 27th.

Don't try to figure it out, folks... it'll drive you batty.

Social standing is impossible by the quart.

Court Sets New Policy Delays Are 'Curtailed'

By MARION BETHRA

The right of appeal guaranteed to persons who are convicted of a crime has degenerated into a time-consuming process, in which the scales of justice are often tipped off balance.

Following conviction, almost immediately, defense attorneys file an appeal with the district court of appeal in their particular area. Quite often this appeal consumes two or three years.

Should the decision of the appellate court be to uphold the verdict of the lower court, the defendant may, and often does, appeal to the Florida Supreme Court, and, of course, if the trial decision is still upheld, can appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court. Should the decision be reversed, as has been the case, a new trial is ordered. Circuit judges constantly guard against reversible errors for this reason during trial.

The journey through the appellate courts has been known to last as much as five years and, if a new trial is subsequently granted, new problems

Among these is the fact that often state witnesses cannot be located, testimony is vaguely remembered with the passage of time and, in some cases, circumstances change the lives of the witnesses, making them reluctant to testify and amenable to a "deal" with the state for a plea by the defendant. Therefore, when a new trial is granted, often the defendant is convicted of a lesser offense or is completely exonerated.

However, a new era is dawning in that, according to a letter sent to Circuit Judge Dom nick Salti by John Reed Jr., chief judge of Fourth District Court of Appeal, the judges of this court are becoming increasingly troubled with the inordinate amount of time used in processing certain criminal appeals. The judge notes that under Florida appellate rules, precedence is given to appeals emanating from criminal cases. In searching for a solution to the problem, Judge Reed says that the appellate court judges have decided to take a positive

Sanford Will Seek $1 Million

By BILL SCOTT

A delegation representing Sanford City Commission, Sanford Housing Authority and tenants of the city's four public housing projects will meet in Jacksonville Tuesday with U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials to seek almost $1 million in federal funds to rehabilitate the city's 220 public housing units.

Mayor Lee P. Moore disclosed to a tenant representative group late Friday afternoon at a hastily called meeting that H. H. Maxwell, HUD director, tenant and operational services, would talk with the local group relative to its request for funds to modernize the Sanford apartments.

Gordon L. Bradley, Sanford Housing Authority executive director, advised City Manager W. E. Knowles that a request for $465,000 in modernization funds had been made to Maxwell, along with another request for $380,000 for additional modernization, making a total request for $845,000 from HUD.

The money would be used to install vinyl asbestos tile in 220 units; ceramic tile on floors and walls in 220 units; 220 showers; new sinks with cabinet underneath and hookups for automatic washer in 220 units; remove cement tile and install asphalt tile on 270 roofs; shrubbery; gas system and gas heaters for 220 units; treat 220 units for termite infestation; 2,700 aluminum windows in 250 units; 539 screen doors with closers in 220 units; paint exterior and replace bad wood on 250 units; paint 250 units interior; replace bad wood and install plaster, vinyl base in 150 units; replace 3,100 shades; replace 190 refrigerators and 200 ranges.

G. Andrew Speer, housing authority attorney, said the HUD officials would have to recommend that Sanford be given the money needed to update the apartments in the above prescribed manner but he said it would require some time for final approval.

City Commission is using as its criteria the report made by two HUD investigators who visited 50 units here after a rent strike by tenants was threatened but later called off when a tenant spokesman said, "The City Commission has indicated a willingness to sit down and listen to our just complaints about living conditions in the apartments."

'DO LOVE BUGS BOTHFR BEARS, TOO?'

Smoky the Bear paid a visit to the Happy Acres kindergarten and nursery last week. The children greeted him with signs and a collection of "teddy bears." Shown talking with Smokey are (left to right) Connie LaTosa, Julie Farr and Allen Butt.

G. Andrew Speer, housing authority attorney, said the HUD officials would have to recommend that Sanford be given the money needed to update the apartments in the above prescribed manner but he said it would require some time for final approval.

City Commission is using as its criteria the report made by two HUD investigators who visited 50 units here after a rent strike by tenants was threatened but later called off when a tenant spokesman said, "The City Commission has indicated a willingness to sit down and listen to our just complaints about living conditions in the apartments."

Sanford Housing Authority executive director, advised City Manager W. E. Knowles that a request for $465,000 in modernization funds had been made to Maxwell, along with another request for $380,000 for additional modernization, making a total request for $845,000 from HUD.

The money would be used to install vinyl asbestos tile in 220 units; ceramic tile on floors and walls in 220 units; 220 showers; new sinks with cabinet underneath and hookups for automatic washer in 220 units; remove cement tile and install asphalt tile on 270 roofs; shrubbery; gas system and gas heaters for 220 units; treat 220 units for termite infestation; 2,700 aluminum windows in 250 units; 539 screen doors with closers in 220 units; paint exterior and replace bad wood on 250 units; paint 250 units interior; replace bad wood and install plaster, vinyl base in 150 units; replace 3,100 shades; replace 190 refrigerators and 200 ranges.

Village Charter To Be Discussed

NORTH ORLANDO — Village Council will meet tonight at 7:30 in what has become a city manager's weekly meetings about town council to study it for discussion tonight. The charter encompasses 23 pages, and is patterned after a model charter of the Florida League of Cities.

Major changes from the present charter begin with changing the name of the municipality to City of Semoran and progressing to a strong council-type government.

Elections will be changed from March to December and the fiscal year will be changed from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30 to July 1 through June 30.

A city manager is proposed but this must be clarified to night, since at last week's meeting, the charter read that the city "shall" have a city manager. This proviso will be changed to "will," making it permissive rather than mandatory.

The charter also will provide for closed executive meetings of council to discuss items which could be defamatory in nature to a village-employed person. However, no decisions could be made at these meetings.

Fighting Seminoles Are In Top 10

By GARY TAYLOR

Herald Sports Editor

The Fighting Seminoles of Sanford jumped six places in this week's Florida Sports Illustrated prep football poll, moving into fifth place. The Seminoles earned the recognition by topping Titusville 38-0 Friday night. (Game story on p. 1B)

It is the highest rating in recent years for the Seminoles. Last year, though the Seminoles finished the season 10-4, they cracked the top 10 was nearly impossible.

Leading the poll for the class AAAA and class A teams is Ft. Pierce Central, which received 164 points out of a possible 160. Jacksonville-Englewood is second with 147 points and Tampa-Hillsborough took 124 points and third place. The Tampa team will host the Oct. 11 Nov. 12 in which is expected to be the toughest game of the season for Seminole High School.

Fourth place went to Coral Gables with 114 points and the Seminoles gathered 107 points for their fifth place finish. Lakeland-Kathleen is four points behind in sixth place, after knocking off last week's top-ranked team, Gainesville, which dropped to 10th place. No other Central Florida teams were named in the top 20.

Wildwood grabbed the maximum 160 points and first place in the poll for class AA and class A teams. Central Florida was well represented in the top 10 with Euclid in fourth, Winter Garden-Lakeview in fifth, Wynona Tech in sixth and Daytona Beach Father Lopez in seventh.

$2 Million Complex Announced

Application for a building permit for a $2.1 million apartment complex to be located on Lake Oriole, south of Orange Avenue and the Valley Forge Country Club, was filed with the city today by Royal Arms Apartments.

The complex is to have 216 units of one-, two- and three-bedroom apartments. Site preparation is to begin immediately, according to city building officials.

An application for building permit was filed for a 7,000 square foot structure for the north side of SR 436 adjacent to Newell's gas station. Estimated cost of construction has been set at $50,000. General contractor for the Goodyear Store is Jack Shubert Construction Company.

Proposed preliminary site plans for the 23-acre tract of land on which the city is to build a $200,000 civic center and other recreation facilities was submitted to the city today by Thomas Wallis Associates, of Winter Park, landscape architects.

Overall development of the tract is estimated by Mayor Lawrence Swofford at $500,000 but first phase will include only the civic center, which probably will be advertised for bids within three weeks.

The preliminary plan proposes extension of Longwood Avenue from SR 436 into the site as the main entrance. The site is to eventually include covered picnic areas, basketball and tennis courts, baseball diamonds, football field with bleachers and jogging and bicycle paths. As many trees as possible will be kept at the site, plans show. Parking around the civic center will accommodate 200 cars and other parking areas planned will handle another 100 vehicles.

Swofford pointed out the site plan is only a preliminary one and will most likely be changed in order that sports activities which produce noise will be located away from residential areas.

The tract of land south of SR 436 was acquired by the city six to seven years ago at purchase price of $32,500. Since that time the city has been offered $8,000 an acre for the site.
