Atlas rocket blasts off

CAPE CANAVERAL — An Atlas rocket successfully hoisted a cable television satellite into orbit following six launch delays, most of them caused by booster trouble.

The 14-story unmanned rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral Air Force Station on Friday evening. Liftoff was delayed nearly an hour by a last-minute electrical glitch and thick clouds.

It was the fourth launch in as many months for rocket maker General Dynamics Corp.

"Our confidence has grown in the last few months," said Marty Winkler, vice president of launch operations for the General Dynamics Space Systems Division.

The San Diego-based division suffered a major blow last spring when an Atlas carrying a Japanese broadcasting satellite tumbled out of control shortly after liftoff and had to be destroyed.

Friday's liftoff was postponed five times in two weeks because of an electrical problem with the rocket's guidance system and a bad battery for the booster's self-destruct mechanism.

Lyman atop U.S. list

By VICKI DeSORMIER

LONGWOOD — Lyman High School has been named one of the top three technical/vocational schools in the country by "Redbook" magazine. "We feel real terrific about it," Kay Bush, assistant principal at Lyman, said Saturday. "This is a pretty big deal."

The magazine selected the top 140 schools in the nation and gave awards in categories such as academic achievement, community service and vocational and technical programs.

There were 383 schools entered in the contest, according to the article in the April 1992 issue of "Redbook."

While there is an emphasis on vocational education at each of the district's six high schools, Lyman is one of the state's pilot schools in the Blueprint for Career Education, a program that emphasizes job skills as well as academic skills.

Beverly Freeman, director of guidance at Lyman, who did much of the paperwork for the nomination packet, said that they received the nomination information from the state Department of Education.

"They told us that they would like to see us enter this contest," she said. "So winning a See Lyman, Page 5A

SANFORD — Sidney Brock, minister of youth at the First Baptist Church of Sanford, said he wasn't even cold on Saturday morning as he set things up for the third annual Baptist Youth Blast. He hustled from station to station at the Christian youth celebration in a pair of shorts and a t-shirt.

The drab, early morning fog melted into a spectacular, sunny day at Ft. Mellon Park.

Some of the participants, wearing sweat suits and jackets wrapped themselves in towels or found some excuse to go to the command center under one of the picnic gazebos on the lakefront where some of the organizers had set up a small space heater.

"It's freezing," said Carla Gwynn of Apopka who had come to the event with 19 other members of her youth group from the First Baptist Church of Apopka. "But it's better than See Blast, Page 5A

Brantley gives Eslinger nod in sheriff flap

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Former Lt. Gov. Bobby Brantley said Friday that before Sheriff John Polk died he changed his mind about recommending to then-Gov. Bob Martinez that Harvey Morse succeed Polk.

Sheriff Don Eslinger, who was appointed to succeed Polk, said Friday he did have the full endorsement of the late sheriff and he is disappointed that Polk's widow has endorsed Morse in the upcoming election.

Dottie Polk wrote sheriff's candidate Morse March 9 saying she endorsed him and said her husband came to regret his recommendation to appoint Eslinger over Morse.

"My appointment by the governor obviously had the endorsement of Sheriff Polk," said Eslinger. "That's absurd to say he made a mistake."

Brantley said Polk told him during a hospital visit that Polk owed a commitment to Morse to support him should Polk complete his term and not seek re-election. But, due to Polk's failing health, Polk left Eslinger would make a better successor to complete his term, Brantley said.

"John told me he loved Don Eslinger like a son," said Brantley. "Don had always been by him and he said one of the greatest things in his life would be to see Don Eslinger as sheriff of Seminole County one day."

"John said he had made a commitment to support Harvey Morse if he didn't run for re-election, but that obviously was not the situation. He was passing away. He said there was no one better qualified than Don Eslinger. He was very emotional about it."

The issue of who Polk wanted to fill the remainder of his two-year term surfaced last week when Mrs. Polk wrote to Morse and endorsed him. In her letter, she wrote that her husband told her and close friends he decided he had made a "mistake" in recommending Eslinger to Gov. Bob Martinez after several of Polk's close associates left the department.

Polk's son, "John Jr.," said the Morse endorsement was not made to damage Eslinger for failing to appoint John Jr. to a permanent deputy position at the the sheriff's office. Polk Jr. was sworn in by his father as one of Polk's last official duties on Dec. 31, 1990.

But after failing several attempts to pass the sheriff's office running test, Eslinger offered Polk Jr. a position as a corrections officer. John Jr. refused and resigned last October. John Jr. contended Eslinger knew of his permanent foot disability that See Sheriff, Page 5A

Time to clarify observations

It's time to clarify some past observations.

For example, we're still hearing how Sanford folks entertained themselves back in the 1920s and 1930s. All agree there was baseball, softball, high school sports, the Milane and Princess theaters and the circuses.

But Marjia Proctor Lippincott of Lake Mary reminded us that her dad, Cliff Proctor, ran the Trianon — a night spot on the east side of U.S. 17/92 just after you emerge southbound from "Death Valley," the greenbelt area just south of Five Points.

Bondie Raborn reminded us that her dad, Jim Raborn later a haberdasher for many moons, had a band that played the Trianon. Jim played the drums, mirambas and xylophone. Also in the combo at times were pianist Pete Schaal, pianist Harry Wester, violinist Berger Wester, and the Schirard brothers — Pete and John. They See Stenstrom, Page 2A

Legislature concludes

Finished business aids consumers, women

By BILL KACZOR
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Government should be more open, medical costs lower and lines for women's restrooms shorter because of measures passed by the Florida Legislature during its 1992 regular session.

"The results of this session have been a mixed bag," Gov. Lawton Chiles said after lawmakers adjourned Friday night. "We have not done what we needed to do on the budget, but we have had some real successes."

"In the area of health care, civil rights and government reform, I think we've done things that will make a very positive difference in people's lives."

In the closing hours of the session, the Legislature passed major health care bills.

One would prohibit doctors from referring patients to clinics in which they have an ownership interest for cancer treatment, physical therapy or high-tech tests. Doctors would have until October 1995 to divest themselves of ownership.

The heavily lobbied bill, opposed by the Florida Medical Association, may set a national precedent and could save consumers millions of dollars. Studies indicate $500 million a year in unnecessary services are performed as the result of Florida doctors referring patients to their own clinics.

The Legislature also sent Chiles his bill to create a five-member commission that would consolidate health care regulation and planning and develop a proposal for increasing services for 2.5 million uninsured Floridians.

Another part of the legislation is designed to reduce the cost of employee health insurance for small businesses. It would create new lower cost benefit options and prohibit insurance companies from accepting only the healthiest applicants.

One of the Legislature's earliest and most significant accomplishments was to place on the Nov. 3 See Finished, Page 6A

Lawmakers leave two major issues hanging

By BILL KACZOR
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — If Florida lawmakers had a favorite dancier during their 1992 regular session, it was neither the Tallahassee two-step nor the Panhandle polka but the legislative limbo.

Limbo is where the Legislature left the two dominant issues of the session that ended Friday: the state budget and reapportionment.

Numerous other major pieces of legislation also were left by the wayside, but many will be reconsidered during at least three special sessions.

The gridlock left many lawmakers angry and frustrated.

"I've never had a more strenuous, aggravating, disappointing session," said Senate Rules Chairman Pat Thomas D'Quincy. "We have been introduced to more divisiveness in the Legislature than we have ever dreamed of. Compounding that is a recession."

The divisiveness, much of it strictly partisan, has centered on reapportionment with lawmakers trying to draw districts to preserve personal and party interests.

Budget work also has turned partisan. Revenue shortfalls over the last two years have forced the state to cut $2 billion in spending, but Republicans and conservative Democrats in the Senate stood firm against new taxes.

Case 'tip of iceberg' in horse fraud probe

GAINESVILLE — After a man reached a plea agreement on charges of smashing a thoroughbred's leg in an insurance scam, his attorney said the case may be the "tip of the iceberg" in a fraud probe of the horse industry.

Former horse barn manager Tommy Burns, 30, of Park City, Ill., pleaded no contest Friday to insurance fraud and animal cruelty in the crowbar attack last year at Canterbury Farms near Newberry.

Circuit Judge Robert P. Cates set sentencing for April 21. The agreement recommends an 18-month prison term.

Burns told investigators he was hired by the horse's owner to kill the animal for insurance purposes.

played the clarinet and saxophone.

Oh, yes, we had mentioned Marcia's dad having a grocery on Sipes Avenue. Marcia said that was her uncle, Claude Proctor. Her father had a grocery on Sanford Avenue. Of course, most of us old timers better remember Cliff Proctor as the local Chevrolet dealer for a number of years.

And since we mentioned the circuses that played Sanford, Marcia told us that her great uncle, Phil Ellsworth, was part owner of the world famous Johnny J. Jones Circus.

We had several calls about last Sunday's piece concerning the heavyweight championship fight between James J. Corbett and the British challenger, Charles Mitchell of England. That's the bout that caused such an upheaval in Jacksonville that Sanford's "Gate City Rifles" were alerted to prepare to go and maintain law and order.

We didn't learn anything about the "Gate City Rifles" but we did find out that Jacksonville was originally known as "Hartsville." The town was founded by Isaiah Hart.

We also learned that what I referred to as the Lake Monroe Athletic Club was indeed the Seminole Athletic Club but organized and headquartered at Lake Monroe. Gus Schmah was one of the wheels in that organization. He was a Lake Monroe farmer.

Then a couple months ago we did a column about all the previous Seminole County sheriffs. We mentioned that J.J. Hobby had been suspended by former Governor LeRoy Collins when accused of accepting a bribe. He was suspended a second time by Governor Claude Kirk when a "mysterious" check appeared in the sheriff's safe.

We recently got a call from Sheriff Hobby. Prior to being elected Seminole's chief law enforcement officer he was a locomotive engineer for the Atlantic Coast Line and for the Seaboard Air Lines railroad. Hobby said his first suspension was not a bribe at all. He had gotten a check for serving the SAL out of Wildwood, engineering the Silver Meteor, a streamliner which carried passengers between Chicago and Miami. The ACL's streamliner was the Champion that ferried patrons between New York City and Tampa.

Hobby said two men from south Seminole County accused him of accepting money from a Longwood dog track. The two were Republicans, said Hobby.

And since Kirk was Florida's first Republican governor in a hundred years Hobby said he was suspended. But he pointed out that there was nothing "mysterious" about the money in his safe.

"I never did deny the money was in the safe," Hobby allowed. "It was the end of the racing season and the money was a gift. He explained that for many seasons sheriff's deputies escorted those who carried cash from Sanford banks to the track and escorted the money handlers transporting the nightly receipts back to the banks.

Hobby contended it was and had been for years the track's way of showing its appreciation for the escort services and that nobody in the Sheriff's Department ever personally got a dime of that annual gift.

Hobby said there was one thing he was proud of. "I did my public duty as if the good Lord was looking over my shoulder."

A few days ago I parked near a local drug store. As I got out of my car a lady in an auto next to mine asked me, "Aren't you Julian Stenstrom?" I confessed I was. "Well," she volunteered, "I'm Etta Gleason Krogh of Lake Mary. You probably remember my parents, the Homer Gleasons."

"Let's see," I said. "Your dad had a floor sanding business and your mother ran a store. They lived in Lake Mary."

"That's right," Etta agreed. "I especially enjoyed your column about the past sheriffs of Seminole County." "How's that?" I asked.

She explained, "My mother was Sheriff Hobby's sister." I thought to myself, "Ain't it a small world!"

Finally, Kean Ivey, widow of John Ivey, called to thank The Herald for running that photo of the 1924-25 faculty at Southside Primary. But she wanted to let me know that teacher Betty Houston did not marry insurance tycoon Charles E. Bradshaw Sr.

"Instead," Kean allowed, "Betty married his brother, George Bradshaw who with Walter Hayes, headed up the long time and well known American Fire and Casualty Company of Orlando.

Most of you old timers remember the Iveys. They owned and operated a shoe store on East First Street — the same store now owned and operated by the well known Don Knight.

There'll be more about John and Kean in a future discourse about Way Back When.

And, thanks for all those calls.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Spring Break: search for thrills

By RON WORD
Associated Press Writer

DAYTONA BEACH — Joel Melson paid $65 to become a human yo-yo last week — strapping two rubberized cords to his feet and leaping off a 180-foot platform.

Bungee jumping is one of the new Spring Break activities, taking its place among such annual rites as wet T-shirt and bikini contests, beer-guzzling, beach volleyball and sunbathing (and sunburning).

Melson, 23, of Erie, Pa., was among jumpers who lined up and paid $55 to $65 for the chance to free fall from a tiny crane-hoisted basket, snapping back when the bungee cords reached their limit.

"It was intense. It was incredible. When I got up there, I just had to do it. I've always wanted to do this," he said minutes after his jump.

"I do a lot of stupid things, but I wouldn't do that," said Paul Downey, Melson's brother-in-law.

Parasailing is also popular this year.

Some students complained Spring Break, expected to draw 400,000 here this spring, isn't living up to its wild-and-crazy image. But for many of the sun-starved college students, the basics — lying on the beach and ogling members of the opposite sex — were enough.

The goal of many, such as Andrea Remar, 19, and Rikki Young, 20, both of Omaha, Neb., was to return to their frigid college campuses with dark tans to impress their pale friends.

"The weather is incredible," said Ms. Young, a University of Nebraska student.

Ms. Remar, a student at Bellevue College, said it was 8 degrees when they left Omaha and 85 when they arrived in Daytona Beach.

Julie Jackson, 25, of Indianapolis, summed up the lure of Spring Break with four words: "Sun, suds, sex, sand."

Missy Henshaw, 19, came to Daytona Beach with other members of the University of North Carolina-Charlotte track team.

"I'm here to party and have a good time. It's gorgeous here," the psychology major said. "I'm looking for guys."

But some students thought Daytona Beach had gotten a little too tame.

"It was a lot wilder when I first came here three years ago. It was crazy," said Diane Williams, 21, a senior at the University of Oklahoma. She and a friend had driven 20 hours non-stop from the Norman campus.

Bill Spencer, 21, a mechanical engineering major at Penn State University, and a friend, Emma Dashem, 22, were disappointed after their 18-hour drive from State College.

Yahweh begins defense

By MICHAEL WARREN
Associated Press Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Defense attorneys for Yahweh Ben Yahweh and 15 followers hope to counter two months of testimony about murders, arson and extortion by attacking the credibility of a key witness.

Prosecutors called the Yahweh movement a "so-called religion" and put on a host of former Yahweh members who provided salacious details about polygamy, mass beatings and marathon sermons inside the group's Temple of Love.

But the most damaging of 63 government witnesses in the federal racketeering trial was Robert Rozier, a burly former Yahweh member who was expelled from the group in 1986 after agreeing to testify for the government.

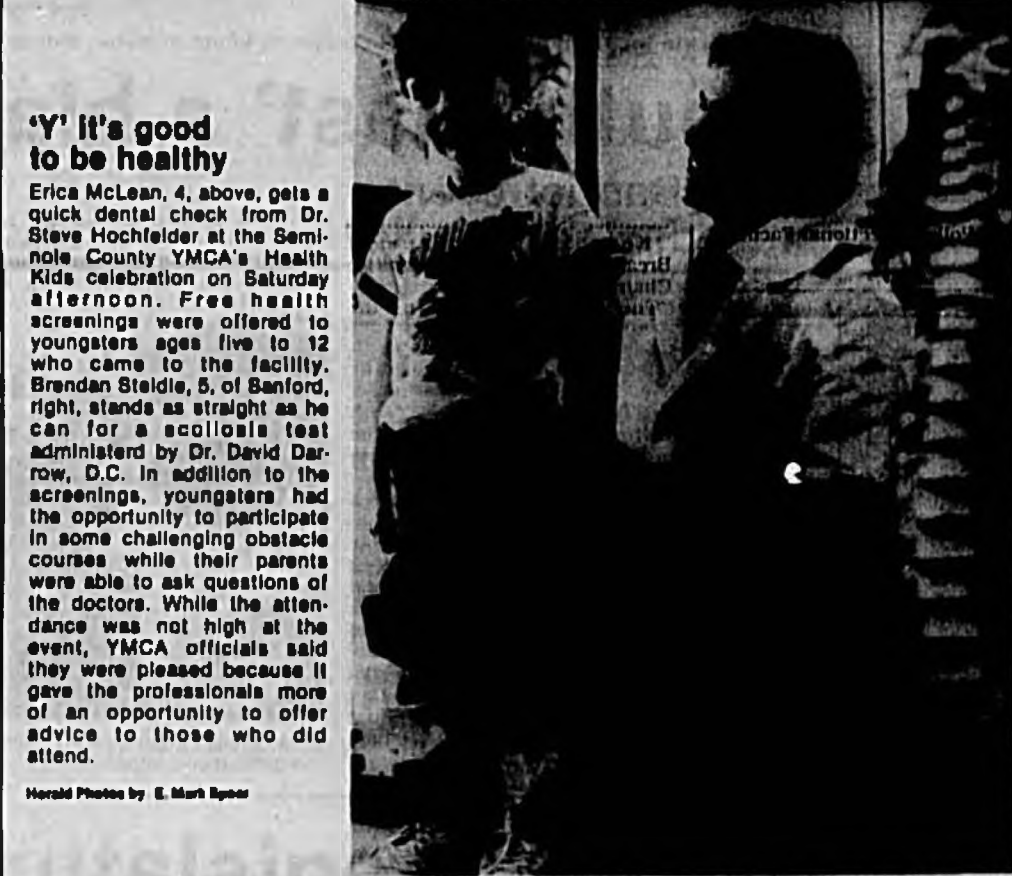

Rozier claimed Yahweh ordered his co-defendants to commit random murders of "white devils" to be initiated into a secret group called "The Brotherhood," and then played with ears they cut off victims as proof.

However, Rozier's testimony went virtually uncorroborated. No other sect member testified to knowing about the group's existence. And Rozier admitted under cross-examination that he had lied about details to Impresario police.

"The evidence is circumstantial, and it's coming out of the mouth of a fellow who really did gain quite a bit," Yahweh's attorney, Alcee Hastings, said Friday, after 16 defense attorneys began presenting their cases.

Rozier, a one-time defensive end for the St. Louis Cardinals who pleaded guilty to four murders and admitted on the stand that he killed three more men, is serving a 22-year sentence in exchange for his insider's account of what prosecutors describe as a criminal enterprise.

"When this case is over, he will be released from prison. Would you like to have him as a neighbor? Something is drastically wrong," said Hastings, an impeached judge who plans to run for Congress.

Free health screenings were offered to youngsters ages five to 12 who came to the facility. In addition to the screenings, youngsters had the opportunity to participate in some challenging obstacle courses while their parents were able to ask questions of the doctors. While the attendance was not high at the event, YMCA officials said they were pleased because it gave the professionals more of an opportunity to offer advice to those who did attend.

PTA pleased with Spring Fling

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — For most of the day on Saturday, Terry Rabun, principal of Wilson Elementary School in Sanford, stood behind the black iron bars and stared woefully toward the freedom of the parking lot a few feet away.

"I've got two tickets," one little girl called out. "I'll get you out, Mr. Rabun."

No sooner had the principal been given his freedom to return to the school's Spring Fling carnival, another student was leading him back to jail at the cost of two tickets.

The Jail and Bail was the most popular fund-raiser at the carnival which drew a couple of thousand people, according to Rabun's estimates.

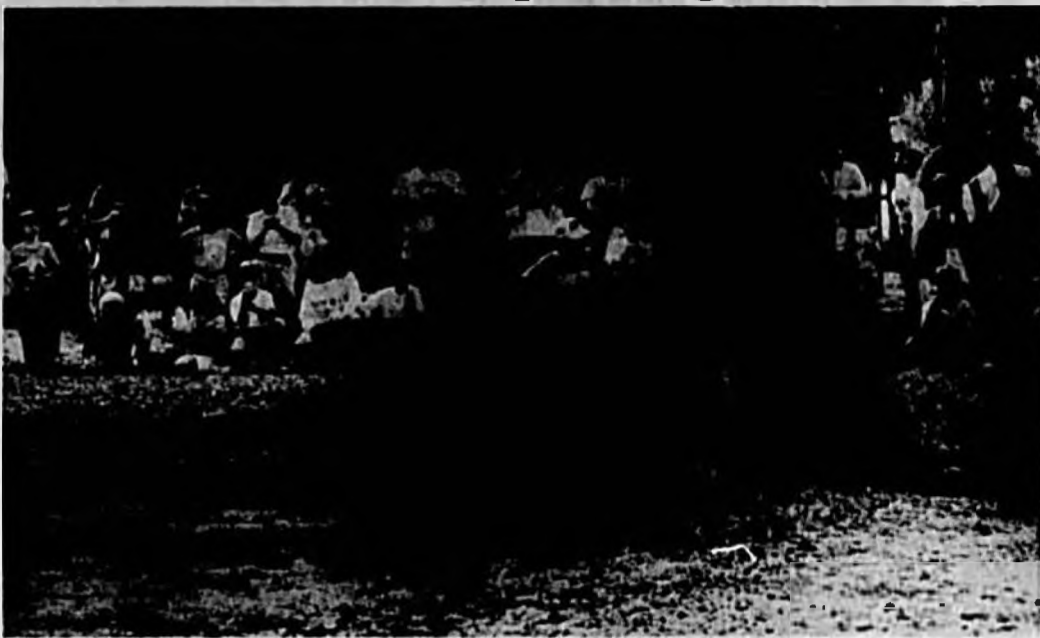

"We have 700 students and they're all here, I think," he said. "And they each brought two parents and siblings and friends."

Kara Smithson, 4, of Sanford came with her mother Jean and sister Laura, 12.

"I wanna have pizza," she said. "I wanna play games too."

Tickets, purchased at four for a dollar, could be used to purchase everything from a slice of pizza provided by Pizza Hut to the chance to win "Lucky Dollars" at a variety of games of chance.

All the proceeds from the carnival will be used to finance PTA projects and help purchase supplies for the school where budget cuts have left the teachers short of the things they need. "We're very pleased with the way this has turned out," said Edwina Midkiff, chairman of the school's PTA.

Lisa Williams, a fourth grade student, said she wanted to help her school so she had brought her mom.

"And her wallet," Williams laughed.

Rabun said the strong support of the parents has helped make the school stronger in recent years.

"This is what it takes," he said. "Parents who care about their kids and about the school."

Burial of water lines will halt temporarily

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Work has stopped temporarily on the burial of water lines east of Sanford, along Celery Avenue. Some old water pipes have been uncovered.

According to Sanford Utilities Director Paul Moore, "The contractor found a number of old tile drains along the route, and he didn't want to damage anything until more is learned about what the lines are, and what they may be used for if they are still operating."

Moore added, "Some people believe they may be old lines used for irrigation in the old celery farm days, but we want to be certain." Celery was grown extensively in that area several decades ago, giving Sanford the title of "Celery Capital of the World."

The contractor meanwhile, has moved the water line burial work over to S.R. 48, further along the intended route, and plans to continue work at that point until more can be learned about the old lines.

"The contractor has promised that if there has been any damage to the old lines, he intends to handle that as part of the project."

The lines will be used for the transfer of reclaimed water from the City to the discharge site near Geneva. The easterly route is planned to continue on Celery Avenue to Cameron Avenue, then southward to S.R. 48, and east to the site.

Chamber analyzes economy

SANFORD — How does the economy work? The answer may be forthcoming in a breakfast seminar at the Sanford Civic Center.

Guest speaker is Dr. David Scott, executive director of the Dr. Phillips Institute for the Study of American Business Activity. He has written many journal articles for financial publications, and has authored several economic and financial textbooks.

The event will be held at the Sanford Civic Center, beginning at 8 a.m., April 7th. Roberts said that while it is a Chamber conducted event, "I believe this program will be beneficial to all local business and industry people, and we would also like to invite them to attend."

Prescription

C. Everett Koop, the former surgeon general of the United States, offers a lesson in medical economics: "If you have nine doctors in town and a tenth one arrives he doesn't take practice from all of the others. He adds one-tenth to the cost of medical care in that town."

Koop's explanation of this seeming contradiction in the basic laws of supply and demand is that, where the health care system is underutilized, "medicine fills the vacuum." He offers an insightful three-phase approach to correcting this and other major flaws in America's medical system.

Phase One of the Koop plan actually encompasses two initiatives. The first targets administrative costs, which now consume nearly 25 cents of every health-care dollar. Koop would extract savings of an estimated $120 billion a year by mandating that insurance firms use only three standard claim forms rather than the current 1,200; that a system of electronic processing of insurance claims be implemented; and that applications for Medicaid, which now require completion of a 38-page booklet, be simplified.

The second initiative covers malpractice reform.

"About one-fifth of everything that is done in America today on patients is done to prevent being guilty in a lawsuit down the road," Koop maintains. To curb the expensive practice of defensive medicine, he would replace the present tort system with binding arbitration. He also would eliminate pain and suffering awards — a bonanza for contingency-fee lawyers — and turn over punitive damage awards to the state.

In Phase Two of Koop's overhaul of American health care, every person would be granted basic insurance. But, while Koop favors universal coverage, he also is quick to mention that he does not support national health care "because that implies that the government pays for it all."

He would scrap Medicaid, which he views as fraudulent because it purports to cover the poor but doesn't achieve that goal for half of them.

With the combined $240 billion in savings from reducing administrative costs and eliminating Medicaid, Koop figures that the health system could easily accommodate both the poor and non-poor who now lack insurance.

Phase Three of Koop's plan would require that Americans become familiar with "outcomes research." This information amounts to a battling average for doctors and hospitals and can be consulted by patients when they consider elective treatment.

"I would like the American people to know," says Koop, "that for a diagnosis of say ABC in Rochester, X number of days are consumed in a hospital, but in New Haven it's 2X and in Boston it's 3X. That doesn't mean care is three times better in Boston or twice better in New Haven than in Rochester. Those other cities have more beds and the system responds by filling a vacuum."

The virtue of outcomes research is that patients are presented with various alternatives for treating their conditions, with the risks and benefits of each option explained. Koop has found that, in real-life situations, "when patients are presented with a menu of options, they tend to choose low-tech, low-cost medicine and that saves lots of money."

Koop's three-phase approach to improving health care has considerable merit. Lawmakers in Washington and state capitals would do well to study his prescription.

"I'd LIKE to vote my conscience, but I don't have one."

Tougher code enforcement good

Monday night the Sanford City Commission by a three to two vote approved stricter code enforcement. The need for stricter adherence to enforcement of city codes is not new. I recall Mayor Bettye Smith's reactivation of the Scenic Improvement Board (SIB) in 1985. Sara Jacobson of Ro-Jays I & II was the first chairman.

Under Jacobson's visionary leadership the master plan for the beautification of Sanford was developed. Jacobson secured experts in the appropriate fields, i.e., landscape architects, master gardeners and others. The experts donated their services to the city and the plan became the blueprint for the city's changing image. It was apparent at that time that code enforcement was an integral dimension of any effective beautification effort.

Scanning the SIB minutes of Jan. 16, 1986 revealed that Gary Winn, code enforcement officer, reported on the outcome of complaints that had been submitted by SIB. Winn indicated: 70 violations had been corrected, 8 houses condemned, 22 junk cars removed and 187 violations referred to Public Works because of grass, high weeds and garbage.

Code enforcement has been a continuing concern of the many volunteers who have served the city throughout the years. Martha Yancey, another SIB chairman and currently a member of the Historic Trust, concurs that altering Sanford's appearance requires both the cooperation of its citizens and the enforcement of the city's codes.

As the comprehensive master plan for the beautification of Sanford has been implemented from the landscaping of the City Hall grounds to the phenomenal citizen participation in building Park on Park, all of us have felt a sense of pride and accomplishment. Particularly when we note all the children and adults using the Park on Park on a daily basis.

SEMINOLE OPINION

Sanford has progressed with beautification but not with code enforcement. The city's budgetary constraints made it necessary to reduce the code enforcement staff. Consequently, help is needed.

One prime example of the need for help is the vacant lots adjacent to my home. I have been periodically complaining to the city for nine years in order to have the grass cut. There has been no scheduled maintenance plan for the lots. When the grass and weeds become higher than I am tall, I have no recourse but to complain. I live in the heart of downtown Sanford with almost a jungle next door. This is only one of many examples.

Now is the hour for the codes the city has on the books to be enforced. If for some reason meeting code enforcement requirements is a hardship because of age, illness or economic conditions, the various clubs and organizations in Sanford will help.

The Sanford committee, the Historic Trust, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and other organizations are committed to improving Sanford's visual image. Sanford is growing and changing and positive citizen participation is desirable.

Warren Skipper, Chairman of the Historic Trust, personally concurs with enforcing the codes. He polled his members who were also in agreement.

Skipper noted that there appears to be some confusion about the current code debate. Actually, what is involved is not a change in the codes, but a different approach to effectuating compliance.

The Historic Trust sponsored the Duany charette. Many citizens met with the consultant and he affirmed the need for meaningful code enforcement.

Billy Higgins, Chairman of the Sanford committee, a lifetime resident of Sanford and one of its premier advocates, endorses stricter code enforcement. Commissioner Robert Thomas did not mince words at the commission work session, relative to the need for stricter code enforcement.

Let's all work together and consider code enforcement the second phase of Sanford's beautification plan.

Need solutions, not strategy

BOSTON — The crocuses are a-blooming, the Idea of March and the Idea of Super Tuesday are upon us. So, by all these portents, it must be time for my quadrennial plea against the use of sports metaphors in writing, speaking and thinking about politics.

This has been a long, personal and so far entirely futile attempt on my part to have an impact on the rhetoric of democracy. By my calculations, politics has been described as the great American sport ever since the first election was called a race and the candidate became a winner.

But sports reached a saturation point in the '80s when politicians began to sound like the Wide World of Sports and the media turned from analysts to play-by-play. One favorite mixed sports metaphor came in 1984 from Lawton Chiles now the governor of Florida, who described the "game plan" for the presidential debates this way: "It's like a football game.... Mondale can't get the ball back with one big play. But the American people love a horse race. I would advise him not to knock Reagan out."

Well, as expected, the 1992 campaign began with the usual assortment of slam-dunks, knockout punches, end runs, and hard balls. But something happened after the campaign left New Hampshire and relative civility. While I was trying to get out of the locker room, we ended up in the trenches.

The metaphors switched from sports to war. The political coverage reads less like Sports Illustrated than Soldier of Fortune.

We have campaign "assaults" and "attacks." The Super Tuesday states are "battlegrounds." The candidates "snipe" and "take aim" at each other. Jerry Brown is accused of using "slash-and-burn" tactics. Paul Tsongas is "under fire." And Pat Buchanan is a man who will "take no prisoners."

How did this primary get off the playing field and onto the killing field? Kathleen Jamieson, political wordsmith and Dean of the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School of Communication, says that war images creep in as a campaign gets, well, hostile.

"When you are playing fairly within the rules of the game, the sports metaphors fit. The war metaphor is much more negative. It doesn't assume fair play or a referee."

If words are the way we frame our ideas, the war metaphor is more than rhetoric. It forces us to talk and think about elections as if they were lethally combative events in which the object was to kill the enemy and declare victory. In the end, the war metaphor produces a victor or a commander in chief. But not necessarily a governor, or a leader, or a problem-solver.

War talk doesn't allow the candidates to describe or stand on common ground. "It doesn't assume the goodwill and integrity of the other side," says Jamieson. "It doesn't talk about common good and collective ends. It assumes one person is right and the other's wrong."

As for the media and the metaphor, fighting words frame the campaign as a search-and-destroy mission. It is not a coincidence that attack ads make the headlines. Nor is it a coincidence, says Jamieson, that men are much more likely to talk like warriors and write like war correspondents.

Jamieson herself has been trying to elaborate a different political campaign language. She first played with a courtship metaphor since the candidates do woo the electorate and pledge forms of fidelity. That was, to put it mildly, fraught with sexual undertones.

In New Hampshire, a focus group came up with the metaphor of an orchestra. The government is, after all, a collective entity that needs a leader to keep things in harmony. This had a nice ring, but it didn't hit all the right notes.

Now Jamieson is toying with a metaphor that would picture the campaign as a quest. In the vernacular of the "quest" metaphor, the candidates would overcome "tests" that reveal their "character." The campaign would become a "search" for answers, not for the soft underbelly of an opponent.

The point is to shift the verbal focus from strategy — "Is he doing what's necessary to win?" — to problems — "Does he understand them, can he solve them?" Her own quest for this "quest" metaphor has just begun. Any ideas are welcome in our metaphor mailbox.

In the meantime, in the spirit of peacemaker, may I suggest that candidates and those who cover them, block that war metaphor. Tackle it if you must. There are already enough bodies on the combat field, careers blown to smithereens and land mines planted for the fall election. All we have learned so far this election year is that politics is hell.

The point is to shift the verbal focus

Congressman tells it straight, tough

CHICAGO — The man known to his friends and staff as "the boss" got an urgent phone call from a powerful Chicago pol. It was 1986 and "the boss," Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was busy working on the most sweeping tax overhaul in 40 years.

He was concentrating on carving up some special deals with leftover money for members of Congress who needed it to smooth problems in their districts.

The pol, "Fast Eddie" Vrdolyak, got through on the phone after a few tries. "Boss, there's somebody really important I want you to meet."

"Later, Eddie, I'm just too busy now."

"But, boss, this is somebody I really want you to see."

"Eddie, can't it wait?" said a now-riled Rostenkowski. "I'm sitting here with $10 billion trying to figure out how to allocate it."

After a long silence, Vrdolyak asked, "In cash, boss?"

The short answer, for the taxpayers who view the process with the same awe, is yes. It's their cash, always in the hands of Rostenkowski, the 6-foot, 2-inch, 240-pound slab of a man — rough cut and proud of it.

This is a big week for Rostenkowski. On Tuesday, he faces his first "serious" primary challenge since coming to Congress in 1958. And on Friday (March 20) he and other Democrats are going to call George Bush's bluff.

First, the election. By outside standards, it's a cakewalk. But in this era of redistricting and anti-incumbent sentiments, Rostenkowski isn't taking anything for granted. The fact that he had to dip into his political war chest to run radio ads and do direct-mail advertising in a primary is one of the big stories in Chicago.

Second, the bluff. In Bush's State of the Union speech, he laid down an ultimatum: Pass my economic package by March 20 or go to war. Rostenkowski guided his alternative legislation to a skimpy 221-209 victory in the House. His $93.5 billion package would provide temporary tax cuts for 80 million households while permanently raising taxes on the richest 1 percent of taxpayers.

Rostenkowski bristles when asked how the Democrats could muster only a narrow margin to pass their own tax bill. "We didn't have 190 votes when we started. The miracle was we passed it," he told us.

While Bush vows to "correct the tax-and-spend policies of the House," Rostenkowski says his bill is a "return to the time-honored tradition of taxing people based on their ability to pay." The reality is, any bill will be D.O.A. when it gets to the White House. Bush is expected to veto a tax cut for the middle class if the trade-off is a tax hike for the rich.

That line in the sand pains Bush's old friend Rostenkowski. The two men come from different sides of the tracks — the Poupon president and the Polish-sausage pol — but they have been good friends since serving together on the House Ways and Means Committee.

Rostenkowski is not rejecting at their current impasse. He has journeyed to the White House to try to persuade Bush's inner circle to stop issuing ultimatums. "Let's sit down and cut a deal," he told them. "Don't give us a date certain." But Bush set the deadline and Rostenkowski says it will backfire on the president. "It pains me because he's not a bad guy."

One thing is clear — this week will not be a good one for the president. It belongs to his friend "Danny."

He faces his first serious primary challenge since coming to Congress in 1958

 Jeanny Thorne of Lake Mary, who is a member of Lakeview Baptist Church there said she didn't try to come last year, but she's glad she came this year.
 "There is some wonderful fellowship this year," she said. "The Lord is bringing us all together for a wonderful purpose

 Brock said that his church estimated that throughout the day nearly 2,000 young people and church leaders from across the state would come to Sanford for food, fun and fellowship.
 The bright sunshine and comfortable temperatures later in the morning brought the larger crowds.
 Brock said that more than 1,500 chickens were cooked for the community barbecue that took place over the course of the day.

Florida pair help solve Earhart mystery

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Searchers have found remains of Amelia Earhart's airplane and personal effects on Nikumaroro, a remote island in the South Pacific, an aircraft recovery group has said.
 Richard Gillespie of The International Group for Historic Aircraft Recovery told The Houston Post in a copyright story for Saturday's edition that a team sponsored by his foundation found a part of the fuselage to Ms. Earhart's two-engine Lockheed 10-E Electra and personal effects in the jungle last fall.

 A retired Air Force navigator confirmed that the searchers also had discovered an American-made, size 9 shoe — Ms. Earhart's size — on the island.
 Gillespie, the group's executive director, said the artifacts were discovered on the island during an October expedition. They were sent to a National Transportation Safety Board expert for analysis, and verified as Ms. Earhart's, he told the newspaper.
 He said he will unveil the finds Monday at a news conference in Washington, D.C.

"We will present proof that the Earhart mystery has been solved," he said. "It's been a long, difficult, expensive project."
 Ms. Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared mysteriously more than 50 years ago during their bid to become the first aviators to circle the world.
 Two retired military navigators, Tom Willis and Tom Gannon, said they began piecing together the mystery in 1986 in Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

 "I think the biggest thing in our favor is that we have a very comprehensive career education plan that all 2,300 of our students take part in," she said. "It's not just a vocational track that is in some other part of the school."
 Freeman said that the school endeavors to give the students skills to prepare them for the workforce as well as for post-secondary studies.
 "We want to give the kids every opportunity and give them real career guidance," she said. "Redbook" said the three winners in the vocational and technical area "excel in prepar-prevented him from passing the test before he was sworn in by his father. Eslinger denied knowledge of the injury.

 "This is not a ploy to get back at Don Eslinger," said John Jr. "I know people are going to take it that way, but that is behind me."
 Martinez counsel Pete Dunbar said Polk had first verbally recommended Morse to replace him in the position, but later gave a written recommendation naming only Eslinger.

 Martinez' running mate, J. Allison DeFoor, himself a former sheriff of Monroe County and a Polk acquaintance, said Friday it was his impression that Polk had shifted his support from Morse to Eslinger. But DeFoor added he was certain if Dottie Polk's statements should matter.
 "What matters is what kind of sheriff is (Eslinger) and what his former governor's alternative?" DeFoor said.

who have majorities in both chambers for the Legislature's failure to get things done.

"I don't think anything was any different in this session than last session," replied Senate President Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami Beach. "And certainly the fact we had two less months of committee meetings I think was significant in the slow start and what happened."

The Legislature in the past held regular sessions during April and May, coming to Tallahassee for several days in each of the preceding months for committee meetings.

The starting date was moved up to mid-January this year to provide additional time, if needed, for special sessions on reappointment.

Lawmakers passed a $30 billion no-new-taxes budget, but Gov. Lawton Chiles announced he would veto it before the ink was dry. The Democratic governor is pushing for a $1.4 billion package of tax increases to restore spending cuts for education, social services and other needs.

The Legislature must deal with the tax-and-spend issues, but not until the third special session when everything else is done, legislative leaders say.

"I've never seen a budget pass around here until the last night," said House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach. "If we could pass it the first day I'd feel real, real happy, but I've watched this animal breathe too often."

After a one-week break, the Legislature is scheduled to return March 23 for a two-week session to finish redrawing congressional districts and handle other non-budget matters.

Chiles is then expected to call a second special session for legislative redistricting, something only the governor can do under the Florida Constitution.

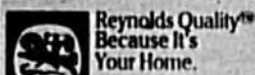

Margolis and Wetherell, who can call special sessions for other purposes, said they will meet early this week to decide what unfinished items to handle in the first special session besides congressional redistricting.

Some unpassed measures that may show up on the list are:

- Rewrites of banking and insurance laws that must be passed because existing statutes will expire later this year under "sunset" provisions.

ballot a proposed constitutional amendment that would require open records and meetings for nearly every state and local government agency.

It would give constitutional status to existing "sunshine" laws and open up legislative records. A separate budget reform would make the Legislature's budget-writing process more open to scrutiny.

Women received welcome relief with passage of a "potty parity" bill that would require new buildings to have three toilets in women's rooms for every two toilets or urinals in men's rooms.

It was introduced out of frustration by women lawmakers who have had to wait in long lines to use facilities at stadiums and concert halls.

Women, ethnic and religious minorities and disabled people would receive relief of another kind from an anti-discrimination bill. They would be protected from discrimination by golf, yacht and other private clubs of more than 400 members where business is transacted.

Minorities and women have been deprived of equal opportunities in the business world because they have been excluded from such clubs, sponsors said.

Another part of the bill is a civil rights act that would permit discrimination victims to sue for punitive as well as actual damages in state courts.

Civil rights advocates have criticized the bill sought by Chiles as being too weak because it would cap punitive damages at $100,000 rather than $300,000 set in federal law. Chiles, however, has called it one of the nation's strongest and most wide-reaching anti-discrimination measures.

Last year, at the request of business interests the governor vetoed a measure that would have allowed unlimited punitive damages.

City of Sanford*, CIV No. 83-739-CIV-ORL-17, a class action brought by black residents of Sanford to challenge at-large city-wide voting for members of the City of Sanford Commission on September 19, 1983. As part of this case, the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida, Orlando Division, entered a Final Judgment on April 17, 1984 establishing four single member districts in the City of Sanford. It is the opinion of Plaintiffs' counsel that these proposed districts comply with the Voting Rights Act. A chart comparing Demographic Data Reflecting Population and Voter Registration in the City of Sanford based on 1980 and 1990 Census Data is provided.

A detailed description of district boundaries, revised election and schedule for new elections is available for public review at 315 Magnolia Avenue, Sanford, Florida, Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Comments, suggestions, objections and/or requests for more information or documents can be obtained by writing Tobe Lev, Esquire at 315 Magnolia Avenue, Sanford, Florida 32771, by March 27, 1992. ## NATIONAL BRIEFS

FAA considers allowing pilots to nap

WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Administration is toying with the idea of letting pilots sleep on the job.

The thinking is that a mid-flight nap while a co-pilot takes over during long, trans-oceanic flights could help keep the aircraft commander fresh for landing after an otherwise tiring flight.

But the FAA is proceeding warily, concerned that visions of pilots snoring at 40,000 feet could agitate passengers.

The agency has been exploring the idea ever since a NASA study two years ago suggested passengers will be safer if a pilot is bright-eyed when his skills are most needed — at landing.

In cases where there are at least three pilots on the crew, the study suggests there may be no danger in allowing one pilot to nap during the long, typically humdrum, over-the-water periods of international flights, when there's not much work to do in the cockpit anyway.

Killer executed in Delaware

SMYRNA, Del. — Serial killer Steven Brian Pennell was executed by injection today for the torture murders of two women, the first time a death sentence has been carried out in Delaware since 1946.

Pennell, 34, was pronounced dead at 9:49 a.m. at the Delaware Correctional Center near Smyrna after being injected with a lethal mix of three chemicals, said James Hitchens, a corrections department official.

He had maintained his innocence in the murders, but said he wanted to die to spare his family further anguish.

Congress explains bad checks

By LAWRENCE L. KRUTSON
Associated Press Writer

Red-faced members of Congress scrambled Saturday to disclose and explain a trail of rubber checks and ask the folks at home to forgive and forget at the ballot box next fall.

In places such as Coon Rapids, Minn., and Gaylord, Mich., lawmakers raced to put their spin on the story, perhaps motivated by the House decision to make public within 20 days the names of all 355 current and former members who wrote bad checks on accounts at the House bank.

A Newweek poll released Saturday, however, found that 78 percent of those surveyed say they're unlikely to re-elect their representative if he or she is among the worst offenders.

From Rhode Island to West Virginia, Republicans and Democrats alike told of bouncing checks — a few or hundreds.

In Coon Rapids, five-term Democrat Gerry Sikoraki said his stomach churned and ached as he leafed through his banking records and found he had written 671 bad checks on the now-closed House bank.

And Michigan Republican Bob Davis, who as recently as last week had refused to say whether he'd written any overdrafts, admitted that he was "one of the worst examples," bouncing more than 800 times.

Sikoraki told about 100 people at a jobs and education fair he sponsored that his overdrafts added up to $119,906 over the 39-month period under investigation. A member of Congress is paid $129,500 a year.

He apologized for the overdrafts, but said he sees a silver lining.

"The people that have raised it have said, 'We're with you, we support you, you've done good things and hang in there,'" he said.

While many of his constituents voiced similar remarks, some weren't so kind.

"I don't think they (in Congress) have any idea of what's going on with the ordinary citizen," said Walt Duggan, 62, of Coon Rapids. "Once they get up there they're in a fantasy land."

Another Minnesota Republican, Vin Weber, a rising star in the House GOP, worked the phone from his home in Washington, admitting he wrote 125 bad checks totaling $47,987.

"I'm ready to take my medicine," Weber said. "I'm a big boy. I can handle that."

At a town meeting in his hometown of Gaylord, Mich., Davis blamed his own "sloppy bookkeeping" for bringing him to what he called one of the worst days in his 25-year political career.

A spokesman said a cash figure for Davis' bounced checks wouldn't be released until his records are compared with those of the General Accounting Office, which investigated the affair.

Davis insisted that no one got hurt in a scandal some are calling "rubbergate."

"No taxpayer's money was ever on the line," Davis said. "When I overdrew I was covered by other congressman's money, not public money. No laws or rules were broken because it really wasn't a bank but a cooperative check-cashing fund."

This program attempts to transform teachers

By ROBERT BYRD
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA — From a small house on the fringe of Emory University, a little-known group of professors is waging a quiet war on the disension, tedium and bureaucratic morass that plague the American school teacher.

Since it was launched more than 20 years ago, the group, called The National Faculty, has sent hundreds of professors to teach some of the keeneast students they've ever seen: elementary and high school teachers.

"It's not someone to tell us how to teach; we've had enough of that," said Lisa Yotz, who teaches fifth and sixth grades at Star Lake Elementary School in Kent, Wash.

"They're truly teachers," she said. "To get in touch with people who really practice their craft is a wonderful experience."

Michael S. Mahoney, a professor of the history of science at Princeton University who has gone on some 40 National Faculty missions, said teachers enter the profession because they love to learn — and the program gives them the chance to do that.

The National Faculty is motivated in part by disdain for the state of modern American education. This group is not infatuated by long-range lesson plans.

"A lot of the situations we go into, we find the teachers are demoralized," said Benjamin Ladner, National Faculty's president. "It's not because they don't love teaching, but because they spent so much energy being shunted aside by five-year plans and 10-year plans and regulations."

The National Faculty has brought together more than 15,000 teachers and 2,500 professors since its founding in 1968.

It allows schoolteachers to talk with research professors as equals and educators. The organization, funded by corporate and philanthropic donations, has staged programs in all 50 states and has even been approached about working in Eastern Europe.

Schools and school systems routinely contact the National Faculty for help; other programs are launched when the group's members hear of a particular need. In a typical program, one or two National Faculty members will work with one or two dozen teachers for a few days, teaching them their best scholarly material from their specific fields.

The teachers must then translate it to their own students.

Other times, professors may work with teachers in an intensive two-week summer seminar.

Grease paint and powder puff ball

This week has been an exciting one for Lake Mary High School Students.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings the Drama Department presented its lively version of Cyrano de Bergerac under the direction of drama teacher John Witanowski.

Marc Collins and Ryan Munns, who are both seniors, played the two lead male roles of Cyrano and Christian respectively.

Karyn Stillwell, who is a junior, took on the persona of the charming and beautiful Roxanne.

A large and talented group of students backed the stars up in many roles.

The students have been working for many months on the production.

Many hours were spent building sets and rehearsing lines. There was also a great deal of effort put into choreographing sword fights and death scenes.

The students as well as the audiences were very pleased with the results.

The Lake Mary High School student government association is very pleased to announce that for the first time in the school's history, the school will be having a powder puff football game.

There will be a team composed of juniors and one of seniors. There are spots for 40 to 50 girls per team.

The cheerleading squads, composed entirely of guys, will have 12 spots on each squad.

Students will be allowed to sign up for the appropriate squads at a student government meeting in late March.

Practices will begin the last week in April.

The game will be held Friday, May 1 at Don T. Reynolds Stadium at the school. All juniors and seniors are encouraged to get involved in this new tradition.

Entertainment and prom prep at SHS

Seminole had the pleasure and honor to be entertained by the Yale University "Spizzwinks" during the past week.

This excellent vocal ensemble of young men filled the SHS Auditorium not only with beautiful voices, but their wonderful, funny and entertaining performance.

During their two-night stay they enjoyed the company of our own Pizzazz and Destiny (vocal groups) showing them around. Needless to say, they were surrounded by only girl members, but definitely didn't mind all the attention.

We hope to have this dynamic group back next year on their annual spring tour.

Prom tickets went on sale this week for the first time. They will be going on sale again at the beginning of April.

The prices are $30 for seniors, $35 for juniors and $45 for guests. The prom will be Saturday, May 2, at the Stouffer Resort in Orlando. The junior class has been working very hard to get this major event under way. Prom key chains and garters will also be on sale up until prom night.

Don't miss out on this memorable night: buy a prom souvenir.

Our fighting Seminoles baseball team is now 15-0.

This undefeated, highly-skilled team are out to be the state champs and they're not stopping until they are. Congratulations, guys, we're proud to have such a top-ranked team.

It's time to start stretching and getting back into shape.

Cheerleading tryouts are just around the corner. The tryouts are being held Wednesday, May 6 through Friday, May 8.

Each girl must be ready to demonstrate a cheer, a chant and a dance routine taught during the set days. They also must display their jumping and gymnastics abilities.

Grab those pompoms and show us what you can do.

Learning about people from far away lands

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

Students across Seminole County are learning about other cultures through a variety of international celebrations at their school. Youngsters as little as 4 are studying the geography, the art, the music and the customs of nations around the world so they can get a better understanding of the world around them.

Seminole County schools serve students from nearly 100 different countries who speak more than 30 different languages. Even as the world becomes closer together, the district itself becomes more and more of a melting pot where students must learn to live with people of other cultures.

Recently, the early intervention students at the program at Lyman High School in Longwood, held an international folk festival where students dressed up in native costumes and dined on food from around the world.

At Goldsboro Elementary School in Sanford, the students ate exotic foods and learned native dances during their international festival.

Tomorrow, students at Lake Mary Elementary School in Lake Mary, will be making a long distance telephone call to a group of students in the Russian republic with whom they have been corresponding.

"I think this is a very exciting time for our students...all students," Bill Propp, whose class will be calling Russia on Monday. "We are all starting to learn so much about the world around us as it is changing every day."

Top Voc-Ed students

The top vocational education students of the winter semester were recently honored by the Seminole Vocational Association.

Josian Martinez, Gwendy McCoy, Patil Runyon and Kathy Ingvalson from Seminole Community College were among those given awards as positive achievers, vocationally motivated and with potential.

Also honored, from Crooma School of Choice: Jeremy Johnson and Felicia Mitchell.

From Lake Mary High School: Jason Norton.

From Lyman High School: Tracy Maxwell, Keira Mayes and Leah Rodriguez.

From Tuskawilla Middle School: Nicola Woranop, Christina Schrayter, Roxana Liz Couvertier, Rachel Raffler and Sara Rogers.

Protect skin from overexposure

Cancer of the skin occurs more frequently than any other form of cancer with close to 400,000 new cases reported each year in the United States.

The skin serves to protect the body against the harsh environment. In doing so, it is extremely vulnerable to cancer causing stimuli, mainly long term exposure to solar radiation.

Some people face a higher risk than others of developing skin cancer. For instance, individuals with a fair complexion, particularly those with light colored eyes and red or blond hair are more prone to be affected by sunburn and skin cancer.

There are three main types of skin cancer: Basal cell carcinoma, Squamous cell carcinoma, and melanoma.

Basal cell carcinoma usually appears as a small, shiny, fleshy nodule on the head, neck and hands. Squamous cell carcinoma may appear as a nodule, or as a red scaly patch that is sharply outlined. It typically develops on the rim of the ear, the face, lips, and mouth. Melanoma, a less common but very serious form of skin cancer, appears as a dark brown or black mole-like growth with irregular borders and irregular pigmentation. The most frequent sites for melanoma are the upper back, the torso, and the lower legs. Of the 400,000 new cases of skin cancer each year, 14,000 will be melanomas. Approximately 4,600 of the 6,200 deaths due to skin cancer are attributed to melanomas.

A dermatologist can usually tell by visually examining the skin whether the growth, mole, or discoloration is benign, precancerous or malignant. For confirmation, he may remove a portion of the tissue and submit it for microscopic examination in a test called a biopsy. If a biopsy indicates the presence of cancer or precancerous cells, the dermatologist will discuss different treatment options with the patient, many of which can be performed in the dermatologist's office. These are:

•Surgery — may be necessary to remove either surface lesions or lesions that have invaded under the skin's surface.

•Mohs surgery — a technique in which surgery is microscopically controlled.

•Topical chemotherapy — application of drugs or chemicals applied directly to the skin.

•Systemic chemotherapy — Use of oral or intravenous tumor-killing drugs.

•Electrodesiccation and curettage — Removal of the bulk of the tumor with a surgical instrument, followed by destruction of the remaining lesion with a high frequency current.

•Cryosurgery — Destruction of the lesion by freezing with liquid nitrogen.

•X-ray therapy

In summary, most cases of skin cancer can be prevented by taking proper precautions against exposure to the sun. If, however, a growth, mole, sore or discoloration appears suddenly or begins to change, see your dermatologist immediately. Today, 95 percent of all skin cancer patients are cured after treatment, and dermatologists hope to increase this rate.

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald Health/Fitness Editor

SANFORD — The Women's Center at HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital, 1401 W. Seminole Blvd., was officially opened during a ribbon cutting Thursday.

The public was invited to tour the facility on Saturday.

Roy Vinson, administrator of the hospital, Peggy Taylor, head nurse of the new center and Dr. Earl Weldon, president of Seminole Community College, cut the ribbon and welcomed staff members, friends and guests as they entered the new facility.

Visitors were given a tour of the $8 million wing, including the birthing rooms, operating/delivery room, private patient rooms and the new 23-bed nursery.

Eight birthing rooms, located on the first floor, offer private surroundings for the mother and father-to-be during delivery.

After the birth of the child and a short recovery time, the mother and baby are moved to the second floor to a private patient room and new 23-bed bassinets nursery, which is designed with a baby viewing area for family and friends.

The spacious operating/delivery room is equipped with the latest in state-of-the-art surgical equipment and monitoring devices.

The hospital has five board certified obstetricians on its medical staff who will be utilizing the new facility.

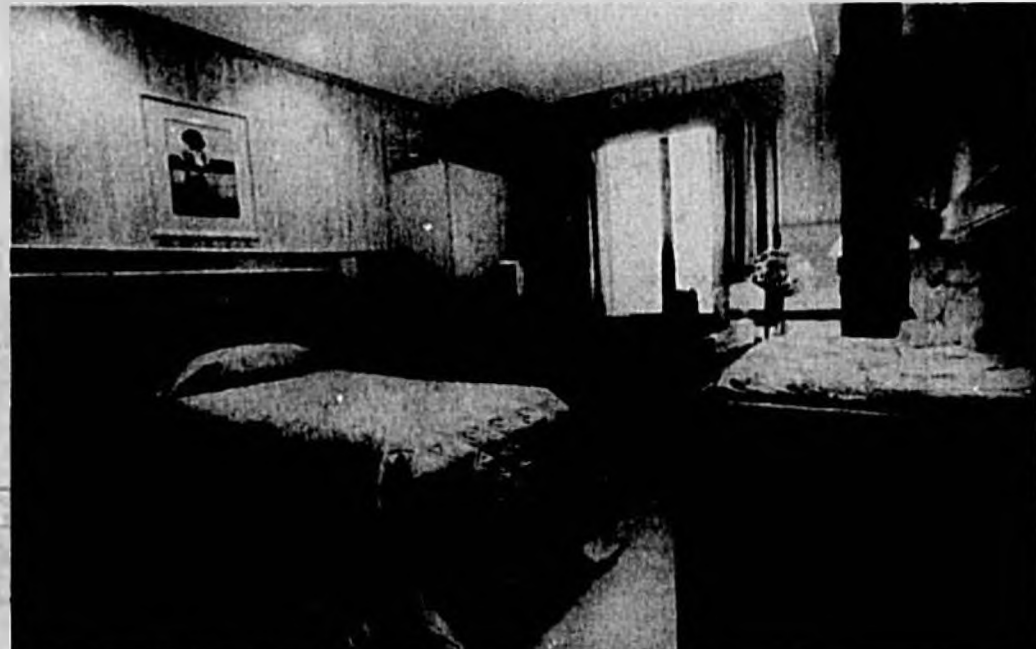

The staff includes: Clyde Climer, M.D., David Mowere, M.D., Willie Newman, M.D., Stephen Phillips, M.D., and Juan Ravelo, M.D.

To care for the newborns, the pediatricians on staff are: Concepcion Anayas, M.D., Pallavi Deltwala, M.D., Mina Joseph, M.D., Hector Octaviani, M.D., Vann Parker, M.D., Marissa Pastis, M.D., and John Terwilliger, M.D.

In addition to The Women's Center, construction of the wing added a Short Stay Surgery, medical records and administration area to the hospital.

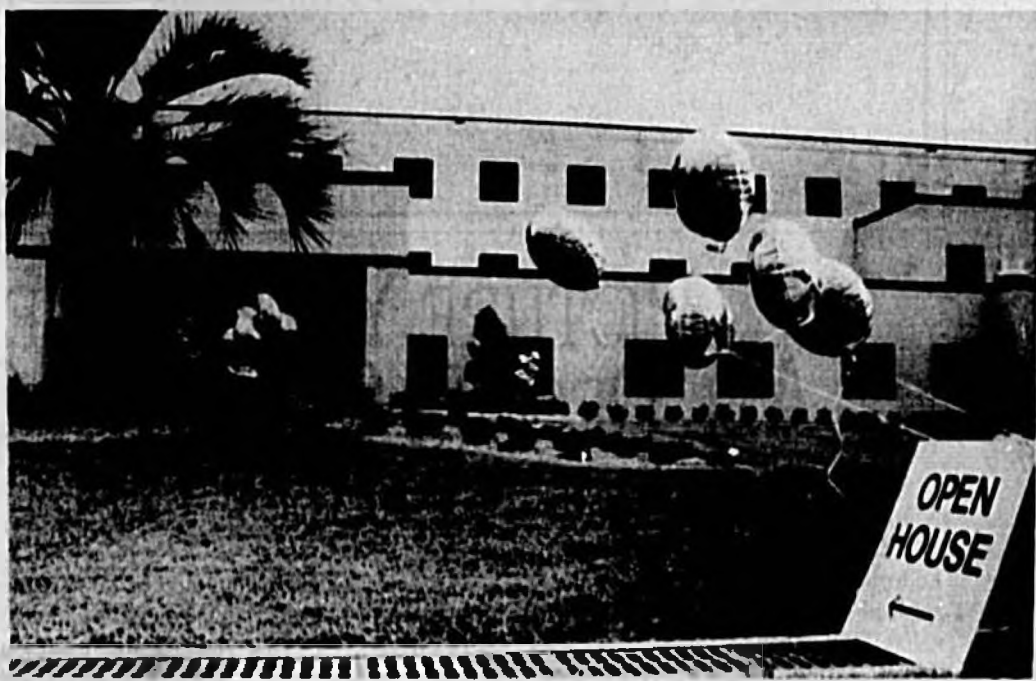

Renovation of existing space on the second floor will create an expanded Endoscopy department and VIP suites.

The VIP suites are available to patients who want something extra during their hospital stay. Each of the five private suites will provide plush accommodations with patterned carpets, sophisticated wallcoverings, floral bedspreads and draperies, upholstered lounges, wood tables and brass lamps.

IN BRIEF

AROUND THE NATION

North Carolina bumps FSU

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — George Lynch took charge inside in the second half Saturday as No. 20 North Carolina stopped No. 18 Florida State's surprising march through the Atlantic Coast Conference with an 80-78 victory in the tournament semifinals.

The second-seeded Seminoles (20-9) swept four ACC teams during the regular season — its first in the league — including the Tar Heels. But North Carolina had Florida State's number in their third meeting to advance to the finals for the 19th time in 38 seasons.

The victory sets up a rematch of last season's championship between the third-seeded Tar Heels (21-8) and top-ranked and No. 1 seed Duke (27-2). North Carolina holds a 5-1 edge over the Blue Devils in the title game, including last year's 96-74 victory.

AROUND THE STATE

USF snaps Florida win streak

GAINESVILLE — Florida managed just four hits on the day as South Florida pulled away with a 5-3 victory Saturday to break the Gators' 10-game home winning streak.

Florida (19-5) gave up three runs in the first inning to the Bulls (13-10) and was never able to mount a sizable attack of its own.

South Florida collected a total of 11 hits on the afternoon, while only two of their five runs were earned. Brian Purvis was the only Gator to have a multi-hit game, going 2-for-4 with an RBI.

Bull pitcher David Hutcheson picked up the win as he pitched eight innings giving up three runs, two earned, four hits and struck out six. Danny Montero collected the save.

Technology wins Florida Derby

HALLANDALE — Technology took the lead near the quarter pole and won the Florida Derby on Saturday, sending the Hammer clan home on a sour note.

Not nominated for the Kentucky Derby on May 2, Technology made the Florida Derby his first stakes victory, beating the odds-on favorite Dance Floor by 4 1/2 lengths.

Dance Floor, owned by rap musician Hammer and his family, who were at Gulfstream Park for the race, was third, behind Waki Warrior and Technology, with a half-mile left in the 1 1/4-mile race, in perfect position. The only problem was Technology took off like a rocket, and Dance Floor was left in his contrail.

Hamilton Co. wins 2A title

TALLAHASSEE — JoJo Williams hit a three-pointer with one second left on the clock to lift Hamilton County to a 77-74 victory Saturday over St. Augustine-Nease in the Class 2A finals of the Florida boy's high school basketball finals.

Williams' shot silenced a second half Nease rally that brought the Panthers back from 10 down early in the fourth quarter. After Williams' shot, Nease called timeout with one second left, but a court-length shot fell short and wide.

With the win, Hamilton County improved to 26-4, while Nease dropped to 25-8.

Marcus Mayer, of Nease, led all scorers with 30 and was named the Class AA tournament's outstanding player, the first player from a losing team to win the honor in three years.

Fred Owens was Hamilton County's leading scorer, with 21 points, while brother Johnny Owens chipped in 18. Williams ended the game with eight points.

Rickards romps to 3A crown

TALLAHASSEE — Ira Miller scored 22 points and Gentry Sparks added 19 points and 11 rebounds to lead Tallahassee-Rickards to a 74-53 romp over Cocoa Saturday in the final of the Florida boy's Class 3A basketball championship.

Rickards grabbed a 24-10 lead after one quarter and didn't let up. The Redskins (34-1), in their first state tournament ever, led by as many as 32 points late in the game before Cocoa closed the gap against the Rickards reserves.

Torrin Hawkins was the only Cocoa player in double figures in the loss.

Couples leads Honda Classic

FORT LAUDERDALE — It was a more confident, comfortable Fred Couples who swept past his old friend and golfing mentor to assume control of the $1.1 million Honda Classic.

A week ago and 30 miles away at Doral, Couples spoke of being intimidated by the veteran Ray Floyd and observed, going into the final round, that "he won't be worried about me, and I'll be worried about him."

Couples, almost certainly the best player in the world over the last nine months, exhibited a different demeanor Saturday after a 7-under-par 65 enabled him to replace Floyd as the leader after three rounds.

Tribe shows stuff

Braden tosses shutout; Seminole wins 16th

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER PARK — Is Seminole doing it with mirrors? No way.

Before Friday afternoon's Seminole Athletic Conference baseball game at Lake Howell, several spectators, including a professional scout and a couple of college coaches, were heaping praises on Tribe head coach Mike Powers for pulling rabbits out his hat to produce 15 straight season-opening wins.

And while Powers and assistants Rod Ferguson and Kenne Brown can be proud of the way they have their team playing, the Seminoles showed that they're not using luck and tricks to win.

On Friday, the Tribe ripped five doubles and sophomore Todd Braden tossed a three-hitter as they shut out the Silver Hawks 3-0.

"Give them credit," said Lake Howell head coach Birto Benjamin of Seminole. "They play good defense, especially that tough outfield, which does a super job. And offensively, they just put the bat on the ball and make things happen."

The Tribe showed off its defensive ability in the very first inning when Joel Read hit a shot into the right centerfield gap that looked like it would go for extra bases. But fleet-footed centerfielder Anthony Roberts raced into the alley and made a breath-taking diving catch.

Lions keep 'Hounds at bay

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD — Oviedo jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and held on to defeat host Lyman 5-4 in a Seminole Athletic Conference baseball game Friday night at Lyman Field.

The victory keeps the Oviedo Lions (8-6 after a 2-1 loss to West Orange Saturday afternoon but 3-1 in the SAC) one game back of conference-leading Seminole. Lyman falls to 7-7, 0-3 in the SAC.

Collecting only five hits Friday night and three on Saturday, Oviedo had to scrap for runs all weekend long.

"We're getting good pitching and the defense has been solid, but it's that old story," said Oviedo coach Mike Ferrell. "We're able to set table but we can't clean it up. We're not hitting with runners in scoring position."

The Lions took the lead when Rick Werner's two-out deep fly ball, which the Lyman centerfielder made a long running attempt on but couldn't hang on to, went for a triple that scored Kevin Twigg. Werner then scored on a wild pitch.

Oviedo stretched the lead to 3-0 when Mike Rugenius drew a two-out walk in the second inning, stole second base, went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Edgar Aviles' ball was misplayed for an error.

Lyman got a run back in the third when Naki Roberts doubled with two out and scored on Chad Siemer's single.

ALAMONTE SPRINGS — It cannot be over-stated how difficult it is for a baseball team at any level to overcome walks.

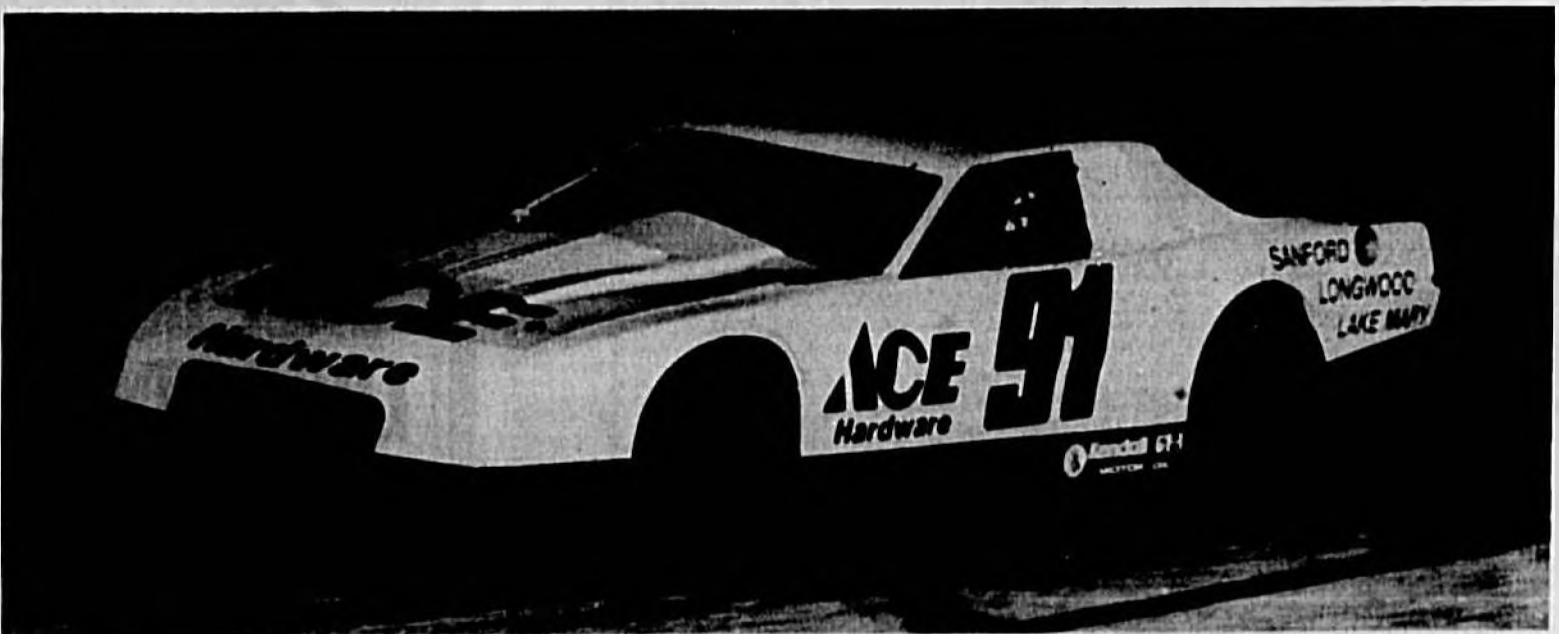

On Friday night, for example, the Lake Brantley Patriots exploited the wildness of Lake Mary starting pitcher Dan McGatlin in a 7-3 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over the Rams.

"They gave us a lot of bases on balls early and that gave us the opportunity to sit back and drive the ball."

Seminole High grad Curtis Miller pilots the Sanford Ace Hardware-sponsored Camaro IROC-Z for Russell Racing at New Smyrna Speedway.

Locals hook up to do some weekend racing

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — When Bob Parsell, president of Sanford Ace Hardware, Inc., was approached six months ago by Charles Russell about sponsoring his racing team, he decided he would go out to New Smyrna Speedway to watch the races and see if he was interested.

Much to Parsell's surprise, when he arrived at the track he saw several familiar faces from Sanford and Seminole County.

"I think there are more people there from Sanford than Volusia county," said Parsell. "After I saw that, we decided to do it. It's a two-way deal. I think local sponsors are very important. It gives local people something to root for and it gives us a chance to help out a young driver."

Parsell also was impressed with the New Smyrna facility.

"It's got plenty of seating so you aren't crowded and it's kept very clean," Parsell said. "It's a good family atmosphere."

Parsell said it is the first time he has been involved in racing and that "it's a kick. We've had a lot of fun with it."

When the local businessman got his first look at his car, he was suitably impressed. "They did a beautiful job with the paint scheme," said Parsell of the No. 91 white car with red and black numerals and lettering.

The driver for the Ace Hardware Stores of Sanford, Lake Mary and Longwood 1989 Camaro IROC-Z is 24-year-old Curtis Miller.

A 1986 graduate of Seminole High School and 1987 graduate of Seminole Community College's Firefighting and Medical Tech. training course, Miller has been racing since he was 9 years old. Currently he is working as a Firefighter/Emergency Medical Technician for the Casselberry Fire Department.

Randy Wright scored his only two points of the game with nine seconds to play Friday afternoon, lifting Oviedo past Lakeland-Lake Gibson.

Lions in title game

From staff, wire reports

TALLAHASSEE — Oviedo High School was in position to become the first Seminole County school to win a state championship in boys' basketball Saturday night when it squared off against three-time defending state champion Miami Senior.

The Lions (33-2) advanced to the Class 4A title game when Randy Wright sank two free throws with nine seconds left to help Oviedo edge Lakeland-Lake Gibson 45-42 in the semifinals Friday afternoon.

Miami Senior (32-2) defeated Jacksonville Fletcher 68-65 Friday night.

Oviedo

Oviedo went back up by three when Eric Jordan hit solo home run in the fifth inning, but Lyman again cut the lead to two in the sixth inning when Will Ramirez led off with a walk, went all the way to third on an Oviedo error and scored on Shane Odom's sacrifice fly.

The Lions scored a crucial insurance run in the seventh when, with one out, Mark Bellhorn was hit by a pitch, went to second on a wild pitch and came home on a single by his younger brother, winning pitcher Todd Bellhorn (2-1).

Lyman attempted to rally in the seventh against Oviedo relief pitcher Lee Reynolds. Roberts and Seimer both singled and advanced to third and second, respectively, on a wild pitch. Roberts scored on Chad Beland's ground out and Siemer came in on a slow roller hit by Will Ramirez. Reynolds then retired the next batter on a ground out to end the game.

Lake Brantley

Now we seem to be coming out of that and balls are starting to fall in for us. Tonight, we were able to sit back and wait for our pitch."

Staked to a 5-0 lead after two innings, Lake Brantley ace Brett Black (4-2) shook off a three-run outburst by the Rams and retired 13 of the final 16 batters he faced. He allowed four hits and four walks while striking out 10. Black also hit a batter.

"You're in trouble before the game gets started when you don't throw strikes," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle. "We showed that we can play with them. It's just a matter of jumping out on top."

Matt Wood helped the Patriots jump out on top early Friday, driving in three of Lake Brantley's first five runs, two on a double in the second inning. Randy Stegall contributed a double, single, a run scored and an RBI.

Seminole

Everything to score a pair of runs in the second inning. Matt Freeman led off with a double down the left field line and Roberts reached on an infield hit to third. Tony Duncan then laid down a bunt that got past the pitcher for a hit to load the bases.

After a strike out, John Lugerling walked to force in the first run and Phillip King lofted a long sacrifice to center field for the second run.

The Tribe's final run came in the fifth inning when David Eckstein double off the left field wall, went to third on Jeremy Churnat's sacrifice bunt and scored on a sacrifice fly by Freeman.

The shutout was Braden's second of the season and improved the 16-year-old right hander's record to 6-0. He had a perfect game going until No. 8 hitter Joe Mohay lined a solid single to center with one out in the third inning. He ended the day with three strike outs and three walks.

Overall, Seminole is now 16-0 and leads the SAC with a perfect 4-0 record, one game better than Oviedo (3-1) and 1 1/2 games better than Lake Brantley (2-1).

The Tribe will host Leesburg in 3A-District 5 game at Seminole Field Monday at 4 p.m. before getting back into SAC play Tuesday against Lake Brantley. That game will also be at Seminole Field starting at 3:30 p.m.

Lake Howell, which fell to 3-8 overall and 0-3 in conference, was to play at Bishop Moore Saturday before traveling to Kissimmee for a meeting with Osceola on Tuesday, starting at 4 p.m.

"Other than being a little shaky at third base on defense, I felt we played very well," said Powers. "But Demy (Beamon) is just learning to play third and he's going to have problems at times."

Beamon did commit three errors on the day, but he also made two excellent plays that helped preserve the shutout.

With the Tribe leading 3-0 in the fifth inning, the Silver Hawks put runners on second and third with one out. Read ripped a shot down the line that Beamon snagged and tagged out the runner who was trapped off third. The next batter then grounded out to end the threat.

In the sixth inning, Beamon snagged a line drive off the bat of Erik Weiner that was headed for the corner. The next two batters reached on a hit and an error, respectively.

"That has haunted us all year," said Benjamin of his hard hitting team. "We can't get the key hits. We get runners on first and third or second and third with no one out and we can't get them home. If we ever do, we'll get some W's."

"But we're still excited about having a successful season. There are some good things out there for us. I think if we can get a couple of wins this week (against Bishop Moore and Osceola), we'll get going."

Seminole finished with 11 hits. Doing the damage were Freeman (2-for-3, double, one run scored, one RBI), Roberts (2-for-3, double, one run scored), Duncan (2-for-3, double), Eckstein (2-for-4, double, one run scored), Churnat (1-for-3, double), King (1-for-2, one RBI), Beamon (1-for-3) and Lugerling (one RBI).

Doing the hitting for Lake Howell were sophomore catcher Mike Hernandez (1-for-2) and Weiner and Mohay (both 1-for-3).

FGFWC makes big changes in bass fishing laws

A plan by state fisheries managers to help protect largemouth bass was approved unanimously by the five-member Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission on Feb. 28 in Tallahassee.

The approval marks Florida's first major change in bass fishing laws since 1950. Currently, the only statewide law governing bass fishing is a 10-fish daily bag limit with no size restrictions.

Under the law, which takes effect July 1, anglers will be subject to:

- A statewide five-fish daily bag limit with no more than one fish over 22 inches long.

- A 14-inch minimum size limit for all waters south and east of the Suwannee River.

- A 12-inch minimum size limit for the Suwannee River and its tributary rivers, creeks and streams and all other waters north and west of the Suwannee River.

"These regulations represent a major change in largemouth bass management in Florida," said Scott Hardin, a fisheries biologist for the Commission based in Tallahassee who specializes in fisheries statistics and public attitudes.

FISHING

"We're managing largemouth bass for quality over quantity now, since most anglers would rather catch a few large fish than a limit of smaller fish," Hardin said. "Bass anglers don't care for catching a lot of 'dinks.'"

Commission studies have documented that Florida lakes are loaded with small bass. However, the number of 3- to 5-pound bass and trophy fish (over eight pounds) have declined drastically due to increased fishing pressure and the growing number of high-tech anglers.

Studies show that minimum size and bag limits are effective in restructuring largemouth bass populations. Commission biologists expect that after the regulations are in place for two or three years, anglers will have a better chance to catch more quality 3- to 5-pound bass.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Any local taxidermist will verify that the average size of bass being mounted has decreased dramatically over the past 10 years. Taxidermists are seeing very few 10-pound bass, and the average bass mount is now six to eight pounds.

FISHING FORECAST

The recent cool front will spur on some good fishing action in fresh water. Specks will be in Lake Monroe, Lake Jesup and in the shallow lily pads and reed beds of the river. Bass activity will peak in the next month or so as increasing temperatures will force bass into deeper waters.

Sebastian Inlet has had a mixed bag of snook, trout, redfish (season closed), bluefish and jack crevalle. Fishing has been so good that it is hard to get lures and bait past the other species to catch a snook. Live shrimp remains the top bait, while a variety of lures are effective from jigs to medium-sized crankbaits.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports spotty action with cobia off the beaches. Offshore action has been slow, but is expected to pick up with warmer water temperatures.

Sheepshead, flounder and bluefish are hitting inside the Port while reds and trout are roaming the flats of the Banana and Indian rivers.

Look for plenty of bluefish and sheepshead at Ponce Inlet. Other species will include drum, redfish and a few flounder. Live or dead shrimp is definitely the bait of choice.

became the best driver, winning the Sunshine State Race three times, the Tangerine Invitational and an incredible 43 of 52 races in 1979. He also set a new track qualifying record that remained standing for five years.

In 1981, Miller began racing 4-cylinder mini-stocks at age 13. He won numerous times at New Smyrna Speedway and Orlando SpeedWorld and was voted most improved driver twice.

After six years in the mini-stocks, Miller jumped to the Limited, Late Model division and ranked second in final rookie points.

In May of 1988, he took on a different job as he worked as Crew Chief on Mike Joyce's NASCAR Dash Series (4-cylinder) car and on the NASCAR All-Pro car of Sanford's Casey Hawthorne.

In March of 1989, Miller returned to the driver's seat, running his own car in NASCAR's Sportsman Series and also the Camaro for Russell Racing.

"I think Curtis may have a real future in racing," said Parsell. "He works hard and has his mind focused on where he wants to go."

In addition to Charles Russell, others working on the car this year for Russell Racing are John Hatch (crew chief), Paul Miller (assistant crew chief), Michelle Miller, Curtis' wife of two years (owner), Judi Russell (owner), Tom Scialis (pit set-up/car preparation) and Cale Miller (pit set-up/car preparation).

The car is run in the FASCAR (Florida Association of Stock Car Auto Racing) Late Model Division, which is the fastest stock cars to be run at Orlando and New Smyrna. The engine must run cast-iron cylinder heads with a limit of 358 cubic inches. The car must have a 101-inch wheel base and weigh at least 2800 pounds.

The team will concentrate in the longer races (over 50 laps) this year, running mostly the End of Month Championship at New Smyrna Speedway.

Miller will also have a big day May 16th when he runs his Sportsman car at Charlotte Motor Speedway. The event will be run in conjunction with the Winston All-Star race for the NASCAR Winston Cup stars. It is rumored that the Sportsman race will be the first ever night race on a superspeedway.

Purple Martin colony grows in Longwood

By DEBORAH YINGLING
Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — The Martins have some true friends in Longwood. But then the Martins are very considerate neighbors. They rise early, possessing a strong work ethic and help their neighbors. They take special loving care of their young and are fine housekeepers.

So, just who are the Martins anyway? They are the Purple Martins, of course. No, they aren't the new people in town who wear a lot of lavender. The Purple Martin is a small bird, a member of the swallow family, for those of you who are not familiar with ornithology.

Last year there were 181 nesting pairs of Purple Martins living in the Village on the Green retirement community in Longwood. Spokesman for the Purple Martin fanciers at Village on the Green, Pierce Bruce, said the community may lay claim to being the Purple Martin capital of Florida.

"And we certainly have one of the largest colonies in the country. We think we may be the largest in Florida," Bruce said.

Bruce and an interested group of residents have erected and maintained twenty-four martin houses.

Bruce, a member of the national Purple Martin Conservation Association, has been a martin enthusiast for forty-five years. Alan Hovey, Ash King, Paul Troup, Tom Booker and Pierce Bruce share the responsibility of caring for the martin community.

Bruce's group decided to use martin houses custom made from aluminum because of their durability. "They last years and years. You just clean them out."

The first Purple Martin houses at Village on the Green were erected in 1987. The men assembled all of the houses themselves and have recently added perches around the exterior of each house.

Each of the martin houses has 18 separate units to provide accommodations for 432 purple martin families. After every nesting season, the houses must be taken down and cleaned out. The houses are prepared for the arrival of the martin scouts in January by furnishing them with wood shavings treated with Sevyn dust to prevent mites.

"The Purple Martins have been here before the white man ever came to America but the Indians knew about them. They put up gourds around their villages and cut holes in them and the Purple Martins would nest in them. The purpose of it was, they would chase the crows away from their corn fields," Bruce says. "When the white man came, he saw what was going on and he put up gourds too." This led to the development of more sophisticated housing, eventually including aluminum houses.

"The Purple Martin nests only in North America and they winter in southern Brazil," Bruce says. He says that several hundred thousand birds will gather under the Pontchartrain Bridge between Louisiana and Alabama before beginning their migratory flight across the Gulf of Mexico toward their eventual destination in Brazil. occasionally have to protect the birds from vicious predators. This can lead to some interesting innovations. When a marauding snake threatened the martin nests, the men solved the problem by applying silicone to the pole. Unable to alight up the pole and dine on martins, the discouraged snake had to find other prey. This trick also keeps the squirrels at bay. See Martins, Page 7 B

An ear for all God's children

By LACY DOMEN
Herald People Editor

SANFORD — He has watched the light of understanding finally flood the face of a convicted cop killer engrossed in reading his Bible.

He sanctioned the marriage between two mental hospital inmates when he performed their wedding ceremony.

Now, Bill Yost, retired chaplain for the state of Pennsylvania, offers solace through his missionary work with the New Tribes Mission in Sanford. And he says he tosses a lot of horseshoes at the Sanford Senior Center.

As a chaplain for Pennsylvania, Yost ministered to death row inmates and mental hospital patients.

"My ministry was much like being pastor of a local church, both rewarding and frustrating," Yost said.

Yost served as pastor to 100 men on death row and 500 in prison for life. He said his work days could be tough; it wasn't always easy to offer solace to persons with little or no hope of bettering their situations.

"I always hoped if the morning was depressing, my day would end on a high note," Yost said.

Sometimes it did. "One of my death row inmates made a real profession for Christ. He was a hardened criminal on death row for killing a police officer. He was belligerent when I first began visits with him. We would read scriptures and eventually he could see his lost condition. He didn't want to die that way. The Bible brought new meaning," Yost said.

Prior to ministering to criminals, Yost served as chaplain at the Pennhurst Center, a state hospital for mentally ill patients that is closed now.

One incident he fondly remembers is the marriage he performed there 15 years ago for two emotionally disturbed,

Bill and Janet Yost outside the New Tribes Mission mildly retarded adults. "They're still married," he said.

Yost, surprised at first when some patients introduced themselves, eventually became accustomed to the personalities at Pennhurst.

"I've met God in a mental hospital. Patients would say 'I'm God, can't you see?'" Yost explained.

Yost, accompanied by his wife, Janet, now ministers for the New Tribes Mission in whatever capacity he is needed, including as a carpenter, his avocation.

He is a crackerjack horseshoe pitcher, engaging in friendly competition with some fine players at the Sanford Senior Center, he said. And anyone who thinks that pitching horseshoes isn't as exciting as counseling hardened criminals is invited to the center any Tuesday morning. Yost will tell you that it is.

Keeping up with the Joneses a challenge

By DORIS DIETRICH
Herald Columnist

SANFORD — Keeping up with the Joneses can be quite a challenge. Especially if they are C.O. "Dick" Jones, his wife, Joyce, and their three lovely daughters. And the occasion is a glittering golden gala when the daughters honored their parents on their 50th wedding anniversary March 7 at Timacuan Country Club.

The day after the event, party goers gave the evening a rave review. One commented, "What high class. That was some shindig!"

Another said, "That was the most elegant affair I have seen in years."

A longtime friend quipped, "The Joneses really put on the Ritz."

And the glitz, too — including an artistic mélange of gold decorations right down to the gilded leaves on the luscious three-tiered cheesecake.

Would Dick be as anxious today to tie the knot with Joyce as he was on Feb. 26, 1942 when they exchanged vows at the Sanford home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams?

"Quick," he answered.

And how about Joyce? "Absolutely!" she affirmed.

The winds of World War II were raging at the time the couple exchanged their "I do's." Joyce was a senior at Seminole High School when they were married before Dick departed with the U.S. Army Infantry to fight for his country. She recalls how they met at a softball game in Sanford. The romance began and he told Lamar Echols Joyce would become his wife.

It wasn't easy for the war bride to be left behind with two babies during the years. Eventually, "Jonesy" came marching home, but was in such a hurry that he didn't pick up the Bronze Star he was awarded in combat in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater.

About a year ago, the couple's daughter, Pamela Filger, discovered her father never received his Bronze Star. A research librarian in Huntville, Ala., Pam notified Sen. Howell Heflin who had the medal re-issued.

At the anniversary party, Leo Zeola, a retired U.S. Navy captain, husband of Joyce's lifelong friend, the former Marjorie Newman, presented the surprise medal to Dick amid emotional flurry.

Hosts and hostesses for the celebration were Suzanne Jones McKenzie and her husband, Jim, Windermere; Pamela Jones Filger and her husband, Paul, Huntville; and Robin Jones Wells, and her husband, John, Lake Mary.

Joyce received the guests wearing a one-piece, long-sleeved, soft turquoise dress, fashioned along a tiered silhouette. A cluster of sequins and brilliant anchors the delicately draped neckline and shoulder, complemented with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Joyce and Dick Jones celebrates 50 years.

About 120 guests, including the honor guests' three grandchildren attended the festive event. Upon entering the spacious country club, guests sipped their choice of golden citrus punch, coffee, tea or an open bar.

The white-skirted head table was centered with a triangular arrangement of yellow flowers accented with runners of greenery and matching yellow flowers. Above the elaborately appointed table was a banner reading "Happy Anniversary, Dick and Joyce." A cluster of balloons tied with large gold bows accented each side of the banner.

Individual tables were centered with yellow flowers and gold foil confetti stamped with "50" was sprinkled randomly. The drejay struck up the band and couples took to the dance floor before and after dining.

A large ice sculpture, a heart topped with two lovebirds, highlighted the buffet service. Guests See Jones, Page 7 B

Get your tickets to 'A Taste of Sanford'

In fact, Jean Metts, the club's first vice president in charge of the event, will cook a venison roast. Patrons will pile their plates from long tables filled with exciting food, cafeteria style.

Donations are $5, adults, and $2.50, children, under 12. Tickets are available at the door or any woman's club member.

tained the Sanford Woman's Club at the March meeting. The singers sang contemporary songs, popular ballads, patriotic tunes and modern music and moved right along to the stirring finale: "For Women Only." The charming singers brought the audience to its feet for a much deserved standing ovation.

Forming the chorus were: Tawana D'Amico, Ruth Ann Jammal, Jeanette Padgett, Jo Anne Marsh and Linda Kolodzki. The program was under the direction of the Arts Department with Viola Frank as chairman.

Libby joins club

Libby Prevatt was welcomed as a new member at the Sanford Woman's Club March meeting. It was noted that she was a club member several years ago.

In other club business, DeLores Lash announced the forthcoming "Bunnies on Parade" fashion show will be held April 8 at the clubhouse. More on this later.

Derry Harris was chairman of hostesses who decorated the club house in a St. Patrick's Day motif. Derry's husband, Fred, made most of the table centerpieces — shamrocks fastened to pipe stems in a recycled plastic bottle vase.

The committee included:

Hazel Cash, Lacy Fleming, Grace Park, Shirley Secord, Emy Sokol and Betty Sandage.

ESO to meet

Julian Stenstrom will address members of the Epailon Sigma Omicron, a reading society of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, at the March 18 meeting to be held at the home of Charlotte Smith, at 10 a.m.

Co-hostesses are: Florence Montforton and Hazel Cash.

1,000 quilters gather

Busloads of quilt fanciers poured into the Sanford Civic Center March 6 and 7 for a quilt show staged by Central Florida Quilters Guild. According to Jean Musgrove, about 1,000 patrons were on hand to view over 100 colorful quilts on display from throughout the southeast.

Ironic that it may seem, out of all the women who displayed their lovely works of art, the Viewer's Choice award went to a man, Kiyoshi Yamaguchi, of Statesboro, Ga. His prize-winning quilt was entitled "Wave."

Jean said he quilts for a living in Statesboro. He brought other items that were not for display. Jean said, "I never saw such gorgeous things in my life."

She mentioned the quilt rented the civic center about a year and one-half in advance of the show. The quilters and patrons love Sanford, she said. They can walk from the civic center to town to shop and have lunch, she added.

When you're in debt way over your head

It seems I am receiving more and more calls from panicked people who have gone in over their head in credit debts. There are certain danger signs that give you good clues to let you know if you are using too much credit. For instance, before you use a credit card, if you say to yourself the following statements then you probably could get into trouble VERY QUICKLY! Common statements that can give you good danger sign clues are: "I'll pay next month..." "All I have to pay is the "minimum amount..." "I'll have to dip into savings to pay bills just this month..." "I can count on my 'overtime' to pay the bills..." "I can always charge my groceries and gasoline if I'm short of cash..." "Why can't I save any money?" "I don't even know how much I owe anymore..."

If you can't pay —
• Stop all further credit purchases. Put away your credit cards until you have reduced your current debt.

• Find out who you owe and how much you owe. List each company, the total balance owed, the date of the month the payment is due, the number of payments left, the amount paid each month.

CONSUMER FOCUS
BARBARA HUGHES/GREGG

• Determine which creditors should be paid first when you can't manage to pay them all. Do not ignore the bills. Contact your creditor. Notify your creditor before a bill or loan payment is due. State why you can't pay, your intent to pay, and when you will pay. If possible, continue to make smaller but regular payments.

• Cut your living expenses to a minimum. Reduce spending for clothing, recreation, entertainment, or other non-essential items. Reduce energy consumption. Unless there are very elderly people in your home, your family can manage without air conditioning. It is uncomfortable but it can be done. Don't buy major purchases until you can get out of trouble. ## Schloot, Brown are wed

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Kathleen Abby Schloot and Kenneth Henry Brown III are announcing their marriage today. They were married Nov. 23, 1991, 3 p.m., at St. Mary Magdalen Church, Altamonte Springs. Father Paul Henry officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Patricia J. Schloot of Longwood and Jan F. Schloot, Longwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Brown, Jr. of Longwood.

Given in marriage by her brother, Kevin Charles, the bride chose for her vows an ivory silk satin gown. The gown featured a sweetheart neckline and Gibson girl long sleeves embellished with Alencon lace and beads. The satin skirt was tiled with pearl-beaded Alencon lace as was the cathedral length train. The train held a magnificent tailored bow and border of Alencon lace. Her headpiece, a crown of Alencon lace with pearl and sequin beads and a lovely poul, held her cathedral length veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of champagne roses, stephanotis, Queen Anne's lace, hybrid fern and lily of the valley.

Stephanie McClanahan served as matron of honor. She wore a gown of violet faille with short tapered sleeves, a keyhole back accented with a rose and small peplum and straight skirt. She carried a bouquet of Liatris, Curia roses, heather and Boston fern held together by a soft violet bow.

Bridesmaids were Ashley Wing, Tammy Dryliger, Shelley Livernois, Holly Powell, Susan Hines, Laura Bobier and Tricia Rupp. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Father of the groom, Kenneth H. Jr., served as best man. Groomsmen were Rick Brown, Tim Dose, Mark Dose, Tom Gibbons, Derek Livernois, Mike McArdle, Mike Sawyer, Lance Abney and Mike Powers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown III

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Oool YOUR BIRTHDAY March 18, 1992

A good friend is more valuable than precious metal. Your chart shows in the year ahead you might establish one of the warmest relationships you've ever experienced.

PICES (Feb. 20-March 20) Instead of making things easy on yourself today, there's a possibility you'll find a way to make difficult tasks even harder. Use your imagination to do the opposite.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't look to Lady Luck to resolve your material or social problems today. You're operating in a narrow channel, and only you can maintain control of your vessel at all times.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's a possibility today that you may have frustrations on several fronts — simultaneously. The testy areas are career, family and valued relationships. Don't create problems for yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have to take care of a number of important assignments today, you'd be wise to work with some type of schedule or agenda. Unstructured efforts will be ineffective.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not treat your prized possessions in a cavalier fashion today, because you could be courting a loss. When leaving your house or car, be sure to secure them properly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The finger of blame might be pointed at you today for infractions you didn't commit. However, trying to prove your innocence may be more trouble than it's worth.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Life is rough enough without having to stir up unnecessary waves. Unfortunately, however, this may be an exercise you'll emphasize today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There's a possibility today that you might seek a scapegoat for an arrangement you had a hand in mismanaging. Passing the buck won't enhance your popularity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If or else you might severely disappoint a friend who holds you in high esteem. This individual does not want to be taken for granted.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be far more attractive to others today if you are yourself instead of trying to copy another's style. What works for that individual won't play as well on your stage.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) People appreciate hearing nice things said about themselves, but, bear in mind, they are able to discern between sincerity and flattery. Don't attempt to use the latter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you're presently spending beyond your means, keep in mind there will eventually be a day of reckoning. Be sure your purchases are worth the painful payback.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Those you treat politely will respond similarly toward you today. Individuals to whom you forget to say please or thank you are likely to be equally as rude.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You might have to deal with someone who will be impossible to please today. Don't let this individual's ingratitude sour you on the human race.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It is best not to attempt to meet a favor today from someone you only know socially and, in fact, not that well. This individual could resent being used.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's to your benefit today to dress and conduct yourself in harmony with those with whom you'll be involved. Settling yourself apart deliberately could be unproductive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Guard against the inclination to follow the path of least resistance in your work or play today. If your efforts are uninspired, your results will be negligible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Carefully check the credentials of those who are handling situations for you today where there is an expense involved. A poor choice could cost you money.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

In 1975 the European Bridge League organized its first biennial Junior Camp. Last year the ninth was held at Perendorf Fiesch in the Swiss Alps. There were 164 participants, all under 26, from 20 countries. Each day there were morning lectures, afternoon sports events and evening bridge tournaments. Everyone was encouraged to partner someone of a different nationality.

Today's hand was played in the First European Junior Pairs Championship, which preceded the camp proper. It was won by Tillman Seidel and Alexander Wodniansky of Austria.

Maybe South should have raised to four spades, which probably would be beaten only if the defenders took a club ruff. Three no-trump can be defeated by a diamond lead as long as East is careful to play the three, not the jack, at trick one. But West chose a heart. How should the hand be played?

At the table, South won the first trick in the dummy and led a club to the 10 and queen. However, West now switched to the diamond two and East played the three. Declarer run his clubs via a second finesse. But when he played a spade to dummy's king, East won with the ace and the defenders cashed three diamond tricks for one down.

The right play is to win the first trick in hand and lead a spade to the king immediately. If it wins, declarer switches to clubs, getting his nine tricks before the defenders can establish and run the diamonds. And if the spade king loses, East's entry is gone, and the first club finesse is taken into the hand that cannot hurt declarer in diamonds.

Football figure signed by Arvida

HEATHROW — Arvida Company recently named Lee Corso Director/Public Relations for Heathrow Realty, Ltd. In his position, Corso will be active in corporate relations, governmental affairs, realtor/broker relations and media contact.

Corso, who has 28 years of football coaching experience, is the former coach of the Orlando Renegades of the United States Football League and more recently, former General Manager of the Orlando Thunder of the World League of American Football. Corso is also well known as a studio analyst on ESPN's College GameDay and college halftime and scoreboard shows.

Corso brings with him a strong background in real estate from Emerson Realty Group where he served as executive director.

Porter assigned to Heathrow

HEATHROW — Arvida Company recently named Mark E. Porter, sales associate for the master-planned community of Heathrow.

Porter, formerly a sales associate for Ryan Homes of Florida, was ranked in the top 5 percent of sales producers in the nation. Other real estate experience includes the implementation of a marketing program for 12 Gulf-front condominiums and yacht club, located in the Florida Panhandle. The program produced 22.8 million dollars in sales in 1986, 5.3 million in 1987, 6.2 million in 1988, 8.9 million in 1989 and 7.2 million in 1990.

C.E.I. designated 'master'

DEBARY — C.E.I. Florida, Inc. has been named a 1992 "Master Contractor" by Firestone Building Products Company, Carmel, Ind., for its installation of Firestone single-ply RubberGard (R) EPDM commercial roofing systems on local industrial and commercial buildings during 1991.

Firestone Building Products, a manufacturer of commercial roofing products, awards master contractor status annually to only the top performing independent contractors of its approved roofing contractor base. This year, a total of 120 contractors from the company's six U.S. sales regions were certified as master contractors.

Contractors earn points for quality workmanship upon completed inspection and warranty of each project. The top 20 point earners from each sales region are then granted master contractor status.

Since its inception in 1988, the Firestone Master Contractor award has been recognized in the roofing industry as a benchmark in quality and reflection of the contractor's dedication to roofing excellence, professionalism and owner satisfaction.

Plant in Lake Mary expanding

By NICK PFREIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary based Calibron plant is set to begin a major expansion program this week.

The work will result in larger facilities as well as an expected future increase in employment, according to representatives of the firm.

Calibron, located at 2950 Lake Emma Road, is a subsidiary of Recton Corporation of New York.

Officials say the enlargement at Calibron is due to a continuing growth of the overall corporation. Recton President Robert L. Borchardt commented, "In 1991 we managed to continue strong growth despite the ongoing severe recession and continued weakness of retail sales." He added, "We believe that we have positioned Recton to continue the positive trends and sales and earnings."

According to Lake Mary City Planner Matt

West, "Calibron first opened here in about 1978 with 12 employees. Now they have about 200, with that number expected to increase when the expansion is finished. West said the building has also grown in size over the years. "They went from 40,000 to 80,000 square feet two years ago."

In New York, Recton Public Relations spokesman Peter Lidau commented on the size and personnel. He reported, "The new structure will increase our present building to approximately 115,000 square feet." He added, "Right now we have a total of 400 employees in New York and Lake Mary combined, and we don't know at this point how many may be transferred to Lake Mary, or how many new people we may have to hire." He added, "Those decisions still remain to be finalized."

The total Recton Corporation yesterday released net sales figures for 1991, showing a 25 percent increase to $58,224,000 from $46,582,000 in 1990. The Corporation reported "Net sales for the three months ended Dec. 31, 1991 were the highest quarterly sales in the Company's history, rising 35 percent."

West reported all the permits have been signed for the expansion and the site work is expected to get underway within a few days, with actual construction expected within about one week.

Officials at Lake Mary's Calibron refused to discuss the expansion plans, preferring that all communications come from the New York main office.

The plant produces wireless audio and video equipment for special dealers including Radio Shack. During 1991, the Company expanded its offerings in the AM/FM and TV antenna market.

During this year, Borchardt projected, "We will introduce exciting products using our patent-pending wireless technology, with a line of universal remote controls." He also reported production will get underway on a compact disc cleaning system, the "Discwasher HydroBath", intended for use with CDs.

Seminars scheduled at college

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College Small Business Development Regional Center will hold a series of workshops during the next eight weeks of interest to local businessmen.

On March 18, the center will host a seminar on "Choosing and Buying a Computer for your Business" at the chamber. The session, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., will offer the typical aspects of a business that can be computerized. Suggestions will also be offered on the software programs available to meet those needs. The $30 seminar will be taught by Gary Kane of Gary Kane and Associates, CPAs.

The center and the Community Reinvestment Action Committee will again host its popular series on the fundamentals of small business operations beginning March 24. The five-week series will have the following topics, the business plan, legal, insurance and franchise issues, basic record keeping and taxes, business financing and fiscal management and Small Business Administration loans.

The session meets each Tuesday from 6:18 until 9:15 p.m. at the chamber. The entire course is $100 or $30 per workshop.

Reservations can be made by calling Ann Mendheim at 834-4404. There is an additional fee for non-Florida residents.

The first of the series already has been held. On March 10, at the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, a seminar entitled "Personnel Perspectives for Small Business Owners" was held to discuss topics of preventing discrimination in hiring and firing, establishing good employee relations and employment options for 1992.

GulfAtlantic Title posts banner year

GulfAtlantic Title, one of the state's largest and fastest-growing title insurance agencies, overcame a slumping housing industry to post one of its best years in history, the company says in a press release.

It established new high-watermarks in overall real estate closings, warranty deed recordings for Seminole and Orange counties, and new offices opened in 1991, the release said.

The 5-year-old, privately-owned Orlando-based company, which currently operates 16 offices in seven Florida counties, registered better than a half-billion dollars in real estate closings, recorded $221 million in residential warranty deed activity in Orange and Seminole and completed an aggressive expansion program which produced five new offices during one of the worst housing cycles in history.

"We were expecting the worst but turned in one of our best years ever across the board,"

President Dan Wallace, said in the release. "Our plan was to be in position for when the market improves which it invariably will."

During the year, GulfAtlantic Title opened new offices in New Smyrna Beach, Kissimmee, Mt. Dora and Merritt Island — an expansion push which already has spilled into 1992 with the opening of offices in Port Richey in Pasco County, Cocoa, Windermere and Winter Garden.

The company, which says it has been the market leader in Orange and Seminole in residential warranty deed activity for the past three years, posted $220.9 million — leading the second-ranked company ($198.5 million) by $22.4 million.

The agency accounted for better than 19.4 percent of all title company generated warranty deed activity in the two-county market.

Recorded residential warranty deed dollar volume is the accepted relative measure of total sales volume within the title industry, the firm said. Last year, there were more than 30 title agencies and companies operating in Orange and Seminole, including six national underwriters.

During the year, GulfAtlantic Title averaged $18.4 million in warranty deed recordings, despite a soft fourth-quarter. Its best month was July when it posted $23.2 million in activity.
