Report Of League To Be Spurned By Japan, Says Envoy

Recommendations Of Assembly Denounce Tokyo's Activities In China Provinces

GENEVA, Feb. 17.—(A.P.)—Yoshida Katoaka, Japan's minister representative in Geneva, said today his government would not accept the recommendations of the League of Nations for settlement of the Manchurian dispute. "There never was any question of Japan's accepting the report," he said, declining to discuss the details of it but declaring the preparations for the Japanese invasion of Jehol. To protect Manchuria we must possess the chief town of Jehol. The only way to get even in for the Chinese is to withdraw their troops from Jehol. We will fight if we have to."

The League of Nations assembly report, denouncing Japan's Manchurian policy, was transmitted to all the governments of the world today by wireless telegraphy. It declares against the maintenance and recognition of the state of Manchukuo and invites United States and Soviet Russia to join the League powers in enforcing a just settlement of the dispute between China and Japan. The League report recommended that Manchukuo be dissolved and there be set up in Manchuria a government organization under the sovereignty and compatible with the administrative integrity of China.

The dispute must be settled according to principles of the League Covenant, the Kellogg-Briand pact and the nine-power treaty. Japan must withdraw her troops from Manchuria, China and Japan with the League assisting should open negotiations with a view of settling their dispute.

Squarer Deal For Farmer Urged By Official Of State

DELAND.—That the major question facing the world today was the proper recognition of the producer of food and clothing was the opinion voiced recently to the Rotary Club at Joe's restaurant by Paul S. Taylor, state department of agriculture, who declared that the farmer, had never in prosperous times received a square deal and now in a period of depression was suffering more than any other business or pursuit.

Pointing out that farm values had decreased 60 percent in the past two years and the average farmer's income had dwindled from $2,000 in 1932 to $872 in 1933, the speaker declared that prosperous times would never return until an adjustment was effected.

How this adjustment would happen the speaker declared he was unable to state. He pointed out that England, France and the powers of the world were faced with a similar problem and were powerless to answer. Russia, he said, had made what many believed to be a blind stab in the dark toward the answer.

Fine Showing Wanted For County At Fair

"Help Seminole County make a really representative showing at the Orlando Fair next week," Alex E. Johnson, vocational agriculture teacher at Seminole High School, appealed this morning to farmers, grocers, gardeners, and florists in his march for the annual in fruits, vegetables, flowers and shrubs.

Mr. Johnson, with C. E. Dawson, of Orlando, has assisted in a member of a Seminole County Chamber of Commerce committee charged with the responsibility of providing fresh fruits, vegetables and other commodities that may be displayed on the stage of the Municipal Auditorium in Orlando all next week. An abundance of material is needed, he said this morning, and all persons interested in leading a hand, are urged to get in touch with him at Seminole High School, or with any of the trade body or com-

SHOLTZ SAYS HE IS OPPOSED TO SALES TAX

Governor Declares No Additional Source Of Revenue Needed To Operate State

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 17.—Expressing himself as thinking of "the human element rather than the theoretical idea and all these frills of government," Governor Sholtz yesterday morning said that in his opinion no additional sources of revenue would be necessary for the operation of this state government during the next two years.

In that connection he placed himself flatly on record as being opposed, at this time, to a sales tax, announcing that he would veto any such measure coming to him from the 1933 legislature. He said that no additional state millage over the low rate now in effect would be levied, basing his view on the "cutting out of dead wood" in the state government and getting down "to bed rock" as he put it, in economical operations.

Here on route to Washington and New York City—(from the latter place he is going to make a 16-minute Florida radio talk to-night)—the governor minced no words as to his views on the matter pertaining to the state government and he reiterated his proclamation announcement that he is "taking the full responsibility for the executive end of the government."

Accompanying him northward aboard the special train which took President-elect Roosevelt to New York City, was Nathan Mayo, state commissioner of agriculture, and Mr. Sholtz. The governor and Mr. Mayo are to confer in Finance Department officials after that the chief executive will move to New York City, where from the studios of WOR, Newark, (N. J.) radio station, he will make the broadcast, to begin at 7:00 o'clock tomorrow night.

Governor Sholtz is unalterably opposed in the repudiation of any Florida debts, by his state, county, district or municipal, but also thinks that Floridians should not be forced to pay 100 cents on the dollar for the bonds sold over the years ago, when, as he explained it, the dollar today has pressed it, the purchasing value many times the purchasing value (Continued On Page Eight)

Red Cross Plans Purchase Of Many Cotton Supplies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The American Red Cross is planning to purchase 1,500,000 cotton blankets and 50,000 cotton combs as a first step in the distribution of its second allotment of Farm Board cotton. The cotton was granted to the organization by a bill signed by President Hoover on Saturday.

The allotment consists of about 30,000 bales which, Red Cross officials estimated, will meet about 20 percent of the need. Chapters will receive application blanks within a few days on which they may requisition the bedding and additional ready-made garments.

DAWES ADMITS BANK ERRED IN LOANS TO INSULL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(A.P.)—With characteristic brusque frankness, Charles G. Dawes told a Senate committee yesterday that his Chicago bank had "violated the principle of law" in loans to the collapsed Insull utilities company.

Recklessly saying that "the respect of the average banker is a sad one," the former vice-president testified his institution, the Central Republic Bank and Trust Company, of Chicago, with capital and surplus of $24,000,000, had loaned $11,000,000 to the failing Insull enterprise.

He agreed that this violated the principle of a law intended to prevent banks from "putting too many eggs in one basket," but said when the loans were made they were all supposed to be well secured.

ROOSEVELT GIVES OWN VERSION OF ATTACK ON LIFE

President-elect Relates Incidents Of Shooting In Miami

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT-ELECT ROOSEVELT TO NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(A.P.)—Here is Franklin D. Roosevelt's own story of the attempt on his life: I have heard so many accounts myself that I have been trying to think what really happened as I saw it.

After I had finished speaking, someone from the talking picture people climbed on the back of the car and said you must repeat that speech for us. I said I would not. He said, "We have come a thousand miles for this," I said, "I am sorry but I can't do it."

Looking back I saw Mayor Cermak being carried along and we put him in our car. He was alive but I was afraid he wouldn't last. I got my hand on his pulse and found none. He was on the seat around him. He slumped forward. A detective from Miami, standing on the running board on that side of the car was leaning over him. He said after we had gone a couple of blocks he was afraid Cermak would not last. I held him all the way to the hospital, and his pulse constantly improved. It seemed like 25 miles to the hospital. I talked to him all the way. I remember I said, "Tony, don't move—keep quiet and it won't hurt if you keep quiet and remain perfectly still!"

MIAMI, Feb. 17.—(A.P.)—Physicians issued the following bulletin at 12:30 o'clock: "Mayor Cermak is sleeping and his condition is very satisfactory. His pulse is 86, temperature 98. Last night his respiration was 20." Dr. Houston, attending Mrs. Gill, said a second blood transfusion will be performed on her today. He said the laboratory report on Mrs. Gill was favorable with a "red blood count" but slightly below normal and low haemoglobin at practically normal level."

Without hearing a single phase of the case, Criminal Judge C. Collins in a five-minute session today postponed until tomorrow the arraignment of Giuseppe Zangara charged with the attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt.

Walking to the front of the courtroom in front of the bench Judge Collins briefly announced the appointment of three lawyers to represent the 33-year-old Italian and then ordered Zangara returned to jail pending formal arraignment at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow.

No charge has been placed against Zangara yet for shooting Mayor Cermak and Mrs. Gill. The outcome of the injuries. Shortly before noon Zangara, unshackled and appearing nonchalant, was led into the courtroom by deputies.

CAR OWNERS PAY THREE-FOURTHS OF STATE INCOME

Statement Is Made By Florida Division Of National A. A. Group

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 16.—Although the value of all motor vehicle property in Florida is estimated to be about 20 percent of the estimated taxable wealth, car owners pay approximately 75 percent of the state's revenue from all forms of taxes.

The statement was made yesterday by the Florida division of the American Automobile Association in connection with an analysis of the state's motor tax structure.

"Our study," said the A. A. A. state organization, "has revealed some surprising facts with regard to the heavy tax burden now being levied by Florida motorists. It discloses that while receipts from all taxes levied by the state and its subdivisions amount to only 20 percent of the taxable wealth of car owners of motor vehicles pay a tax rate of 25.1 percent of the value of their property. This is in addition to their general taxes."

The value of all motor vehicles in the state was $3,921,139 in 1931. In that year motor taxes amounted to $21,161,787, or 5.1 percent of the value equivalent to more than 75 percent of the state's revenue from all state taxes.

Pointing out that the combined federal and state gasoline taxes in Florida are equal to a sales tax of around 65 percent on the retail price of the commodity, the Florida A. A. A. affiliation said that in some sections where the one-cent municipal gasoline taxes are added, the sales tax is near 75 percent.

"Undoubtedly, at the forthcoming session of the legislature, Florida will join the long list of states where proposals to reduce motor and registration fees for motor vehicles are under consideration. While motorists won't naturally benefit from such reductions, the motive force behind these proposals is to encourage car ownership and use as a means of maintaining receipts from the gasoline tax," the statement continues.

"In this connection, Florida legislators would do well to scan the present gasoline tax rate with the view to placing it on an equitable basis. A sales tax of from 75 to 75 percent makes it certainly inequitable and discriminatory.

"In addition to the seven-cent state tax and the one-cent federal gasoline tax, making a total of eight cents, Florida motorists are also called upon to pay a one-cent levy in many communities. The extent to which these local gasoline taxes are levied was recently the subject of study by a sub-committee of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives engaged in investigating double taxation. Its report reveals that a one-cent gasoline tax is now imposed in 11 Florida cities and towns. This means that in some sections of the state the combined gasoline taxes amount to nine cents a gallon. There is little wonder that gasoline is now being called "taxoline."

GATE CITY WILL SEND ALL-STARS HERE ON SUNDAY

Jacksonville Team To Include Former Big Time Ball Players

Definite assurance that Sanford baseball fans will be treated to an unusual exhibition of baseball here next Sunday afternoon came this morning in a telegram from Allan Moley, Central Florida Baseball League's leading batter for 1932, who is in Jacksonville organizing an all-star baseball team which is coming here Sunday.

The Jacksonville team will include Glen Hault, Alan Moley, Howard Moley, El Havin, who lived in Sanford in the International League last year, and Tom Gallegos, another Southeastern league star with real ability.

Jack Sanford, co-manager of the Sanford all-stars who have already won two games this year, today announced that he has secured Lefty Gulec, of DeLand, as one of the hitters who will appear for Sanford. The "Mole" is the other pitcher who will be sent to Sanford.

The Jacksonville team, other than the addition of Gulec, the Sanford lineup is the same which has been service in the past two games.

The appearance here of this Jacksonville all-star team indicates that baseball interest locally is on the upgrade. Sanford questioned several local fans as to whether they thought the Jacksonville outfit would draw, and when told that Sanford fans always patronize games between real players, he went ahead with negotiations that will conclude in the game next Sunday, starting at 3:00 o'clock.

RAILROAD, BUS MEN TESTIFY AT STATE HEARING

Probe Seeks To Determine If Weight Of Buses Hurts Roads

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 16.—The State Railroad Commission yesterday listened to the testimony of six witnesses offered by truck and bus lines interested in the commission's hearing to determine whether or not the highways of Florida are being subjected to more weight than that for which they were built. The witnesses appeared in connection with the hearing which opened last November, following a Supreme Court decision placing in the commission regulatory powers over motor vehicles.

Intermingled with the testimony were nearly two hours of argument by counsel representing all lines and the truck and bus interests, prompted by motions of objection. The testimony being given by witnesses and to methods of cross examination.

Virtually a verbal assault followed a lengthy verbal tilt, shortly after the noon recess, when W. J. Owen, counsel for the rail lines, attempted to establish the probable weight of loaded buses on the highways, while cross-examining C. G. Shultz, general manager of the Union Bus Company.

Mr. Shultz said that his 30-ton empty weighted between 17,000 and 18,000 pounds, with a passenger capacity of 25, each allowed baggage privileges up to 100 pounds.

A. Y. Miami, one of the counsel for the truck and bus interests objected strenuously to Judge Owen's efforts to establish the probable weight of the bus when loaded to show that it probably exceeded the 10-ton weight carrying ability of timber bridges in the state highway system. The argument precipitated a lengthy question that lasted well over an hour with Judge Owen, Russell L. Brink, another of the counsel for the rail lines, Stanton Walker, representing truck interests, Mr. Miami and T. T. Turnbull, counsel for the commission, all participating.

Another lengthy argument took place during the morning session when Judge Owen objected to introducing in the testimony the gas and ad valorem taxes and amount of license tax, mileage and fuel paid by the Florida Motor Lines, the Commission last fall refused to let the amount of taxes paid by rail lines in the general upkeep of state government be introduced in the testimony. Counsel for the bus company explained that it was hoped to show that motor carriers were paying taxes more than the cost of maintenance of the highways. Previous testimony had brought out that maintenance expenses, except minor work done on the highways, are not set up as maintenance costs in the State Highway Department books, but as "betterments."

Chairman Mathews allowed the gas, mileage and tag taxes and bridge tolls, which include those paid to Gandy Bribbe, a private enterprise, to go into the record, saying he did not personally attach at great deal of importance to the taxes. "There isn't any price that can be paid for wearing out the roads and completely destroying them. If that is what is being done," he declared.

President-elect Unharmed As Intended Shots For Him Hurt 5 Others In Throng

(Continued From Page One) He is in Miami tonight to learn in the morning of the result of the shooting. Roosevelt left Miami at 10:00 o'clock this morning by train for New York, saddened, but not in any danger of his life.

In the meantime, the assassin, Giuseppe Zangara, native of Italy, was grilling by officers at the jail and related a weird and disconnected story. He told police that he bought the revolver at a pawnshop here and that he had planned to try to kill President Hoover, but when he learned Roosevelt was coming here decided upon him. He also said he was sorry he didn't kill the President-elect and that he once intended to kill the King of Italy, but never had a chance.

Expressions of shock and regret over the incident were immediately sent to the President-elect by President Hoover as soon as he received news of the shooting. "Together with every citizen I rejoice that you have not been injured. I shall be grateful to you for news of Mayor Cermak's condition."

Word from Washington stated that the President had retired for the night when the first word was brought to him of what had happened. He arose at once to get details, which were relayed to him by his secretary, Theodore Joslin, who had been in touch with the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Frank D. Roosevelt gave expression today to a fatalistic attitude in regard to her husband's escape from an assassin's bullets at Miami. "If they want to get you they can," she said, "and so the only thing to do is just to go along and not think about such things any more than I should."

FARLEY ALWAYS TRAILED BY BAND OF JOB HUNTERS

Party Chairman Constantly Sought For Patronage Favors

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Everywhere "Big Jim" Farley went, the parade of job hunters was sure to go.

They trailed him to Warm Springs, where the Democratic national chairman conferred with President-elect Roosevelt. They followed him to Florida. They trailed him in South Carolina.

They sought him out on southern golf courses. They were waiting outside his hotel room when he got up in the morning. They pushed their heads into his compartment as he headed back to New York by train.

And when he reported at national headquarters Wednesday, a long line of job hunters was waiting in front of his office.

One of his secretaries estimated that during his 16-day absence he shook hands with 8000 Democrats—no small percentage of those anxious for federal appointments.

Two of Farley's attaches on the trip did nothing but arrange the interviews. At Miami the national chairman's bedroom was a waiting room for "run-of-the-mine" applicants. His living room was reserved for "big shots". And that forced Farley to use a balcony outside his window for the conferences themselves.

The trip was supposed to be a vacation, but Farley, with a wink, slipped three little bottles of ink into his suitcase before he left. He knew a huge package of correspondence would be sent to him by air mail every night from New York.

Three secretaries went along with him. He hired two more in Miami. At Columbia, S. C., another pair joined the retinue. When he started for home he sent a hurry call for reinforcements. Two girls with stenographers' notebooks hastened north and caught the Farley train en route back to New York.

And so, when the national chairman sat down to his desk yesterday morning, there was one day's accumulation of

Salary Cuts For School Teachers Are Recommended

SARASOTA—Drastic economy and the slashing of the salaries of teachers for the three final months of school with the necessary funds being raised by public subscription was recommended recently in a meeting of the board of directors of the Sarasota County Chamber of Commerce and committees were appointed to take the necessary action to put the plan into effect.

Resolution adopted by the meeting included the following recommendations:

Payment of 80-percent salaries to all school employes, including teachers, janitors and others.

Elimination of the teaching of music, art, athletics, manual training, domestic science, and elemental subjects of education concentration, in effect, on the without regard to the accredited list.

Elimination of bus transportation representing the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations to raise funds and the disbursement of these funds by a special committee under the supervision of the board of public instruction.

mail before him—a mere 900 or 1000 letters. Thirteen stenographers were waiting for dictation.

Every night the mail of the last 24 hours had been sent to him by airplane. In all he dictated nearly 6000 letters while he was "vacationing".

In between that task and his hand-shaking, he still found time to play golf and attend horse races, with more conferences sandwiched in between the putts and races.

At night he pulled the three little bottles of green ink from his suitcase and flourished his "Jim" across the mountain of job-request replies.

On his return it was disclosed that Farley does his "heavy" political figuring between midnight and 1 A. M. He always retires on the stroke of 12, regardless of what is going on, but in the darkness of his bedroom he went over the developments of the day for an hour with his chief state aide, Vincent Dallery, who occupied an adjoining bed.

EXTORTIONIST IS SUICIDE VICTIM AFTER FAILURE

Writes Note Saying He Can't Stand To See Mother Go Hungry

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Thwarted in an attempt to extort $15,000 from R. Crosby Kemper, president of the City Bank & Trust Company, under threat of killing his 11-year-old daughter, an armed man shot and fatally wounded himself at the banker's home Wednesday.

In a room where he was found lying after police had rescued the threatened child, Sally Ann Kemper, officers found a note which read: "Goodbye, mother, I can't stand to see you hungry."

The man who attempted to execute the daring plot single-handedly was identified by police fingerprint experts as W. K. Lattin, of William Layton, who had been arrested at Hutchinson, Kan., on a charge of transporting liquor in January, 1931.

The demand for money was made to Mrs. Kemper, who entered his home after Lattin had forced his way in and compelled a nurse to telephone Kemper that his daughter was dangerously ill.

"Mrs. Kemper, give me $15,000 or I will kill your little girl," the intruder declared, pointing a revolver at the banker's wife.

Mrs. Kemper attempted to placate her assailant to gain time. She remarked that he must be in desperate circumstances, and assured him she and her husband would aid him.

Lattin threatened to shoot the mother if she made a "false move". He instructed her to answer the doorbell when Kemper arrived, under further threats.

Meanwhile, Ann Wilde, the nurse, forced into an upstairs bedroom with the child, had telephoned police.

As the extortionist turned from his conversation with Mrs. Kemper the doorbell rang. She opened the door to be confronted by two officers who said they had received a call.

Standing between the police in the doorway and the armed man in the stairway, Mrs. Kemper said no one had called the officers, but

Winter Driving Hazards

Motor Vehicle Administrators of the United States, the men who know the hazards of winter driving and driving errors responsible for a majority of automobile accidents and advise how they may be avoided. This is number twenty and the last of the series.

By ORVILLE E. ATWOOD (Chief of Motor Vehicle Division of Michigan)

DON'T SPEED ON SLIPPERY PAVEMENTS. A skid—a crash—and a bad accident, that is what frequently happens if you do.

Last year 1,740 persons were killed and 24,529 injured in 44,519 accidents resulting from skidding. Statistics of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters show most of these were avoidable.

Winter brings a heavy burden for the automobile driver to bear, and he must be prepared to carry it with a greater sense of responsibility. He must cope constantly with adverse weather conditions—with snow, rain, ice, sleet and hail. Frozen road surfaces demand more careful application of his brakes. If the brakes lock suddenly, a skid is inevitable. Drivers often forget winked as she said it. Lattin saw the officers and opened fire. They retreated but were soon reinforced by police in six cars summoned by radio. As one group of policemen rescued the threatened child, others rushed for the extortionist.

Lattin fired his second shot into his head and retired to a bedroom where he was found unconscious. He died shortly after reaching a hospital.

Need Is Stressed For Maintaining Advertisements

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The importance of keeping up advertising expenditures even in periods when returns may be less promising, was emphasized by speakers at the opening session of the fourteenth mid-winter conference of the trust division, American Bankers' Association, here recently.

R. M. Sims, vice-president of the American Trust Company, president of the division presided.

To curtail advertising expenditures at any time, with the result that there is a gap in the continuity of the material presented to the public, is a menace to the sound growth of any business, Francis H. Sisson, president of the American Bankers' Association, declared.

Reiterating a warning against adoption of sharp retrenchment in advertising programs which he sounded at a meeting of the same group two years ago, Mr. Sisson said:

"It is a common mistake for some advertisers to think that they can turn advertising on and off, like water from a faucet, and expect it to become immediately effective whenever they are prepared to resume operations. Advertising does not work that way. Temporary conditions should not influence us to make too serious inroads on the program of trust advertising, which can be wisely conceived only on a long term basis."

Aggressive concerns are expanding their business by effective advertising despite depressed business conditions. A. W. Diller, advertising counsel, asserted.

POINTED TO RECOVERY BY WITNESSES

Business Leaders Explain To Committee Of Senate Means Of Ending Depression

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—A far-flung program of national and international steps to bring America back to prosperity was sketched for the Senate Finance Committee recently by W. W. Davis to aid a nation which he sees as "more in need of surgery than of ointment."

coming administration fight the depression.

They were added to proposed tonics ranging from an embargo on gold exports to war debt cancellation, along with reiterated pleas that the budget be balanced and the currency not tampered with, presented yesterday by witnesses, including:

Myron Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation; Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of the City of New York; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, whose views were expressed in a letter; Frank A. Vanderlip, the New York financier, and Rine Leon of New York, former technical advisor of the House Finance Committee.

Davis told the committee in answering by telegraph its invitation to appear that what Congress should do is to devote itself to "the obvious things that lie close at hand," and:

Balance the budget by radical and drastic economy and general taxes, including a sales tax if necessary.

Reduce the "swollen and excessive appropriations to veterans." Revise the tariff with "a deliberate purpose of promoting foreign debt settlements."

Repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. Abolish, consolidate and reduce government agencies and activities.

Vanderlip, in a two-hour appearance behind closed doors, suggested adding silver to the metallic base of the currency and balancing the budget.

In making public the telegram from Davis, the committee also released letters from Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation, and Alvin Maculey, president of the Packard Motor Car Company, each of whom had been invited to appear but asked to be excused.

Davis said he felt his thoughts were so "out of harmony with those of the leaders of Congress" he would just waste the committee's time by appearing, but added there were two things that should be done:

"One of them is relief from the huge growing cost of governmental expenditures. The second is the removal of the shackles from international commerce, the first step of which is a constructive solution of the problem of intergovernmental debts which is hanging over international commerce and exerting a constant influence in depressing prices throughout the world."

Maculey laid economic ills largely to reckless governmental spending and abuse by the people of credit, and continued:

"I have no pet theory as to what will relieve the depression. I doubt if it can be seriously affected by any legislation or by anything except the operation of natural laws."

Leon advocated a gold export embargo by presidential proclamation to end this nation's position as a free gold market for foreign powers. He suggested that the American government buy $200,000,000 worth of silver at not more than 60 cents an ounce and add the white metal to its currency as a measure to accompany the gold embargo. Such a program would force financial reforms that would "end disparity" between this country and competitors, he contended.

Willard said whatever is done should be pointed toward relief of the unemployment situation. He proposed a sales tax if increased revenues were necessary, and said that war debt cancellation would be "better for us and better for the world, or that part of the world in which we are particularly interested."

Reynolds and Taylor gave roughly the same testimony. Each opposed tampering with the currency and each insisted upon a balanced budget.

Way Is Paved For Re-Opening Probe Of Death Mystery

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—Breaking a three-year silence, a father has paved the way for the reopening of the investigation of the deaths in Moorestown, N. J., of Horace Roberts, Jr., youthful social registerite, and Ruth Mowdrey Wilson, a wealthy girl the young man hoped to wed.

Horace Roberts, Sr., the parent, said he is convinced the deaths in 1929 of his son and Miss Wilson, found unconscious from bullet wounds in the young woman's bedroom, are in some way connected with the mysterious killing of Bradway Brown, who was a close friend of the young couple. Brown was found dead in his Falmouth, N. J., home the night of Jan. 16. The twenty-eight-year-old Philadelphia printing company executive at first was thought to have killed himself, but police later proved he had been slain. He was a witness three years ago at the coroner's inquest which resulted in a verdict that Roberts, his college chum, shot to death Miss Wilson, presumably because of lost love, and then ended his own life.

"I don't see how anyone can believe my boy fired four shots into his own head," the senior Roberts said. "I recall that at first it was believed that there were only three bullets in his head, but the autopsy showed a fourth, deeply embedded in the skull. Two of the bullets had entered by the same hole, I understand."

Increase In Jap Imports Alarm New Zealanders

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—The increase in the importation of Japanese goods into New Zealand is attracting attention in the Dominion. For the first 11 months of 1932 these goods were valued at 409,000 pounds, but the Dominion exports to Japan were worth only 226,000 pounds. Owing not only to cheap labor, but to the depreciation of the yen, Japan is able to export at a very low cost. Objections to this are being raised in New Zealand, and a prominent Auckland business man advocates government intervention to stop this dumping.

The familiar argument of the low standard of living among the Japanese is being used. On the other hand it is being contended that the cheapness of Japanese goods benefits the wage earner. Rubber shoes from Japan (and other parts of the East) are being sold in New Zealand at as low as 2s. 6d. a pair, an unprecedentedly low price.

Another New Zealand business man who has just returned from a trip to Japan reports phenomenal activity in manufacturing there. The depression of the yen has given a great impetus to Japanese export trade, and delivery of goods is months behind. While he was there an American manufacturer given for 1,000,000 dozen pairs of rubber shoes.

When the New Zealand buyer was in a merchant's office ordering a modern "hundred" of a certain line, an order was received from New York for 8000 dozen of the same thing. Japanese trade is extending through the East, and as this New Zealander traveled home his ship landed 5000 cases of Japanese goods at Rabaul in New Britain.

Gainesville Using Scrip Money Plan To Run TradeBody

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 17.—A new plan for the financing of the Gainesville chamber of commerce has been adopted by the board of directors.

Pending a written legal opinion chamber of commerce will proceed with preliminary plans for the issuing of trade certificates in the amount of $6,000. These will be in denominations of one dollar, fifty cents and 25 cents.

Agreements were drawn up under the supervision of the special committee appointed to work out the project, which agreements will be presented to wholesale and retail dealers, professional men and private individuals for signature.

In the case of retail merchants, professional men and other citizens of Gainesville, who agree to accept these self-liquidating certificates of trade, these trade certificates must be accompanied by an equal amount of cash.

According to the plan, spaces will be left on the back of the dollar certificates for fifty two-cent chamber of commerce special stamps. The fifty-cent certificates will require twenty-five two-cent chamber of commerce stamps or fifty one-cent stamps. The twenty-five cent trade certificates will require twenty-five one-cent stamps.

All these stamps will be cancelled by the initials of the payer written across the top of the stamp and the initials of the receiver written across the bottom of the stamp at the time of each transaction.

As was pointed out at the meeting, the strong feature connected with the use of these trade certificates will be the establishment of a reserve fund amounting to fifty percent of the total trade certificates outstanding at any given time, leaving fifty percent to be covered by the sale of the stamps.

Under this plan, when the annual membership of $12 is paid, in cash, the member will receive $12 in trade certificates.

As soon as the trade certificate is put into effect, the chamber of commerce expects to launch a concerted membership drive, which has for its goal five hundred members, each participating in trade certificates to the extent of his membership.
