Probers Get Into Own Payola Feud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House payola investigators feuded publicly today over a charge their inquiry into network television star Dick Clark had been put "in mothballs."

Reps. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill.) and John E. Moss (D-Calif.) branded false the charge by Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.). They accused Bennett in turn of "obstructionist tactics."

The two Democrats said the TV disc jockey has not been summoned for public hearings because "due process of law, common decency and fair play demand the careful gathering and sifting of evidence rather than the broad-casting of irresponsible charges."

Bennett, ranking Republican on the nine-man subcommittee, reported that Mack and Moss offered only "weak and phony" excuses. He said the case has been "under wraps" since November, when the subcommittee got a copy of an affidavit Clark signed for the ABC network.

The feud started 10 days ago when Bennett stated that Clark, in the affidavit, had said he played records in which he had a financial stake and accepted gifts worth $4,000 from a record distributor. Bennett said the subcommittee should summon Clark instead of spending all its time on "rinky dink" disc jockeys.

Mack and Moss said in a joint statement Sunday night that this was an attempt to "stampede the subcommittee into a sensational hearing, which violates the American concepts of common decency and fair play."

They made public a memorandum on the case from subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman to Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) which they said was sent to all subcommittee members. It was dated last Wednesday.

Lishman said "long-painstaking work" was required in the investigation of Clark and the 17 record and music firms in which the disc jockey reported he gave up his financial interests last November.

The second annual Easter Lily Ball which marked the kickoff of the Easter Seal drive at the Mayfair Inn was termed "a success" by Philip Logan, president of the Crippled Children's Society of Seminole County.

A bag of 5,000 letters containing Easter Seals was delivered to Assistant Postmaster Harold Appleby by the Easter Rabbit, making a surprise appearance at the ball.

The letters went into the mail today urging support of the campaign to raise funds for work with crippled children and adults.

"We are asking the public to be generous in response to these letters, since 75 percent of the funds we raise will be spent in Seminole County to provide medical care, physiotherapy treatments, crutches, wheelchairs and walkers for handicapped people," Logan said.

Among the special guests at the ball were Lila Reese, executive director, Crippled Children's Society of Florida, and Don Lee, psychotherapist of the chapter.

Drainage Group Continues Study

A long-range, countywide drainage and water conservation plan will be initiated as soon as a current study by the county drainage committee is completed.

The Seminole County Commission indicated Friday that the long range plan would be put into operation and agreed that flood conditions in the southern part of the county will be treated as emergencies.

The commission called the five-member drainage committee into an emergency meeting Friday afternoon to discuss flooding and severe drainage problems.

Harold Kastner, chairman of the committee, told the commission that it would be impossible to come up with an immediate solution because any plan would have to take into account the heavy rains that hit the county last week.

More than 18 inches of rain fell in the southern of the county and 12 inches in the Sanford area. The rains damaged homes, flooded property and caused many road washouts.

Members of the drainage committee gave their personal opinions on the best method of solving the county's drainage problem, but agreed as a unit that they could not make "any definite recommendations" yet.

Kastner said the group would make a report later this month and present it to the commission.

Kastner said the solution might be a loan from the federal government to help defray the cost of a program.

County Commission Chairman John Krider said that it would be "unwise to commit ourselves" for federal loan at this time.

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The National States' Rights Party nominated Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas for president at its week-end convention, but canceled the second day of the scheduled two-day meeting.

Dr. Edward R. Fields, information director, said the Sunday session was canceled because of great confusion and "additional expense" and because "we could take care of our business in one day."

Fields said about 125 delegates from 28 states attended the meeting Saturday which was held in secrecy at a lodge near Miami-Burg, Ohio.

The delegates picked John G. Crommelin of Wetumpka, Ala., as vice president.

Butch Creamer of 1003 Summerlin Ave. said the men gave him back his $100 bill and sent him home.

Navy Man Backs Foreign Sub Claim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Navy Capt. Ray M. Pitts, the American who knows most about Argentina's submarine scare, thinks there actually was a foreign submarine prowling around in that country's Golfo Nuevo.

Pitts told United Press International, however, he did not have the faintest idea where the submarine came from, why it was there, or what it could have hoped to accomplish.

The Navy captain described his impressions in an interview after returning to the Pentagon from Argentina. He headed an ill-fated, 15-man U. S. expedition sent to help the Argentines in the submarine hunt.

U. S. Plane Shot Down By Cubans

HAVANA (UPI) — A light plane with U.S. markings was shot down today by Cuban revolutionary troops near Matanzas and its American pilot and five other occupants captured.

The pilot, identified as Leonard Howard, was wounded in the leg.

He was given first aid before being taken to 4th Regiment headquarters at Matanzas for interrogation.

The plane — a red-and-white Piper Comanche with registration numbers indicating it came from the United States — was brought down by machinegun fire in a field near La Carbonera, about 12 miles from Matanzas. Matanzas, capital of the province of the same name, is about 50 miles east of Havana.

Maj. Universo Sanchez, who commanded the troops in the operation, said the plane came from Florida.

It was not immediately clear whether the plane was trying to land or to take off. It was believed to be engaged in trying to fly out Cubans classified as "war criminals."

Other persons arrested were identified as Lazaro Damase Montesinos, a police major during the Batista regime; Gladys Montesinos, believed to be his daughter; her husband, former Maj. Santiago Rodriguez, and Miguel Sanchez.

All were taken to Matanzas under armed guard.

Eyewitnesses said the plane, which bore registration number "6137 P" showed numerous bullet holes.

The incident followed accusations by President Osvaldo Dorticos against the United States of "undeniable sabotage" and "criminal aerial attacks" against Cuba.

It marked the first time a high Cuban government official had lodged such charges directly against the United States in public.

The bitter onslaught, aired over television and radio, came less than seven hours after U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal returned from Washington to try to salvage steadily worsening relations between the United States and Cuba.

Earlier Sunday, leftwing extremist Ernesto Guevara, head of Cuba's National Bank, lashed out at U. S. economic policies and vowed that all American business "monopolies" soon would be ousted from Cuban soil.

Crews Still Fight Waters In Tampa As 6,000 Leave

When the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers worked late Sunday to plug a dike on Lake Magdalene north of this flood-weary part city where an estimated 6,000 to 8,000 persons have abandoned their homes to water and mud.

It was the second dike on the lake, which is a flood control reservoir, to break since the flooding began last week.

The rain-swollen Hillsborough river neared its crest and had stopped rising above the main waterworks dam, about 10 miles north of downtown Tampa. It was rising only slightly below the dam.

Elsewhere in Central Florida, where an estimated 5,000 persons had left their homes during the floods of the past five days, flood water receded and most families had returned to the job of cleaning up.

The flood stricken area stretched east and north from Tampa about 100 miles. Road and highway damage over this area was heavy.

Hillsborough County Sheriff Ed Blackburn estimated late Sunday that between 6,000 and 8,000 residents had left their homes since the flooding began. Most were from the W. H. Hill area, an area along the river north of the city.

Most of the families who left moved in with relatives and friends on higher ground and shelters set up for the flood victims were not used much.

But warehouses, school auditoriums, churches and other buildings were stacked high with furniture moved from the flooded houses by the National Guard.

Hunt On For Negro Believed Drowned

The search for a Sanford Negro believed drowned near the Osteen Bridge early Saturday, was still going on today.

Deputies were waiting for the body of Eddie Lee Washington to be turned in by the St. John's River Sheriff J. L. Hobby said. Washington, who lived at 37 1/2 W. 2nd St., was the driver of a car which crashed through the Osteen bridge about 1:30 a. m. Saturday, carrying three other Sanford Negroes to their death.

Drowned were Robert Solomon, 27, of 705 W. 11th St.; Anita White, 18, of 40 Cambridge St.; and Betty McIntyre, 27, of 1004 Olive Ave. The fifth occupant, David Smith, got out of the death car and was rescued from the roof of the vehicle.

Sheriff Hobby said the car apparently was traveling about 85 to 90 m.p.h., too fast for the SR 418 curve on the west side of the Osteen bridge. The car plummeted through the bridge railing and sank in about 16 feet of water. Smith apparently got out through a loose door on the auto, Deputy W. R. Brown reported.

Brown said he arrived on the scene just after David Heelman of Sanford had pulled Smith off the top of the sunken auto. Heelman had been driving behind the crashed car. Smith was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital. The totally demolished death car was traveling toward Osteen. The small bridge nearest the Seminole County shore is slightly repaired, but fares are still up there, the Sheriff's office said.

Icon Of Mary Showed Actual Tears, Priest Says

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (UPI) — A Greek Orthodox priest said today that he and several hundred other persons saw tears form in the eyes of a printed portrait of Mary in the home of a devout young couple who are among his parishioners.

"I myself did see this lithographed icon twice show actual tears," said the Rev. George A. Papadakis, pastor of St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church here. He described it as "a really amazing phenomenon."

Father Papadakis said the icon was in the home of 23-year-old food shop counterwoman Anastasiya Caisaus and her wife, Panagia, a 25-year-old seamstress.

He said Archbishop Iakovos would arrive here today from Washington to visit the couple.

Father Papadakis said he believed that if the archbishop sanctioned the apparent miracle, the icon might be venerated in St. Paul's church for public veneration.

Ships Collide Off Virginia

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—The sky was clear and filled with stars, but it was pitch black on the Atlantic Ocean as the sleek, gray Navy destroyer escort plowed through the murky water.

The U. S. Darby was returning to its home port of Baltimore, Md., with a crew of 100 enlisted men aboard. Most of them were reservists who were on a two-week training cruise to Cuba.

While most of the sailors slept peacefully in their bunks, others moved silently and nervously on watch.

It was about 8 p. m., when suddenly there was a grinding crash and a gaping hole was ripped near the stern of the Darby. There were cries of anguish from injured sailors as the bow of the Swedish ore ship "Soya Atlantic" rammed into the ship's crew quarters and two magazines.

This was the scene Saturday night when the Navy warship and the Swedish vessel collided off Cape Henry, Va., leaving two sailors dead and 12 injured.

The victims were identified as Charles Edwards Crandell of Westminster, Md., and Thomas Edward Johnson of Annapolis, Md. Both were naval reservists on two weeks' active duty.

Both were asleep in their bunks when the accident occurred.

Florida Symphony Rehearsal Slated For TV Program

Television viewers in this area will be able to go behind the scenes for a rehearsal of the Florida Symphony Tuesday when WLOF-TV presents a live program "The Sound of Symphony" from its Orlando studios.

"The Sound of Symphony" will be presented at 10:30 p. m. Tuesday and will televise part of the actual rehearsal of the Florida Symphony by Conductor Henry Mast.

"You'll see how the orchestra and conductor work together to interpret the music and express the composer's ideas," Channel 5 officials said. "You'll hear individual sections of the orchestra as they perfect their parts, then all sections will be blended together to perform the complete orchestration."

The program, a departure from regular programming for this area, will be presented as a public service in behalf of the Florida Symphony by WLOF-TV.

One Of Slain Women May Have Snapped Picture Of Murderer.

STARVED ROCK STATE PARK, Ill. (UPI)—The killer of three socially prominent Chicago women may have been photographed by one of his victims moments before he struck, police said today.

Police based their hopes for a lead to the psychopathic killer on one of four color pictures taken by Mrs. Lillian Oetting just before she and two other society matrons were bludgeoned to death in Starved Rock State Park a week ago today.

The last picture taken by Mrs. Oetting shows a tree in the background with a strange shape which might be that of a man hiding behind the trunk, police said.

Authorities rushed the film to a Chicago film laboratory where it was to be enlarged as much as possible to see if it actually showed a man trying to conceal himself.

The film was taken from a blood-crusted camera found in a cave in St. Louis Canyon next to the bodies of Mrs. Oetting and her friends, Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, all of the Chicago suburb of Riverside.

The women had been beaten to death, apparently with a gnarled tree limb found outside the cave. They were on a midwinter vacation to the park when they were killed.

Authorities met Sunday night to evaluate other leads in the search for the killer.

Afterwards, Harland Warren, state's attorney of La Salle County, said he would be given today to 24 persons, including a stable boy seen in the park about the time the women were killed last Monday.

Witnesses said the boy seemed nervous and his clothes were disheveled.

However, police said they did not consider any of those to be questioned good suspects.

Coed Ordered Not To Wear Tight Sweaters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A nursery rhyme character named Mary and a 21-year-old San Francisco coed named Sandy Chernis have a similar problem — in a sense.

Mary had a little lamb whose fleece was white as snow, and it's the fleece of a lamb — neatly woven into a sweater — that brought attention to Sandy's problem.

Sandy's trouble at San Francisco City College involves the figures 41-28-37 — and Dean of Women, Mary Golding, claims they're being studied more enthusiastically than anything ever offered by Pythagoras.

School officials told Sandy to stop wearing form-fitting sweaters and skirts because she was distracting the male students. Dean Golding suggested something "loose."

"Loose, like what?" Sandy complained. "Like a tent?"

But she followed directions and spent all day Saturday touring department stores. She tried on gingham Mother Hubbards, flowing Hawaiian muu muis, loose sweaters, and ordinary street dresses.

However, Sandy didn't fool anyone and Betty Jo Mulvey, assistant buyer at one store, said there was little chance that she would.

Novelist Dies In Apartment Blaze

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hard-living novelist Thomas T. Chambliss, a World War II guerrilla fighter and estranged husband of singer Helen O'Connell, died Sunday when he was unable to escape from his smoke-filled bedroom.

The 35-year-old author of best sellers "Never So Few" and "Do Naked in the World" apparently groped wildly around the bedroom before being overcome by the fumes emitted from a burning divan in the living room.

Numerous smudged handprints and smears of blood were found on three walls of the bedroom. The blood smears apparently came from a wound on Chambliss' hand when he smashed a bedroom bureau mirror in his desperation, police said.

His body clad only in shorts was found hunched on the bedroom floor. Police said he apparently had been asleep when the fire began. It caused about $5,000 damage, confined mainly to the living room.

Police said the blaze apparently was started by a carelessly mislaid cigarette which ignited the overstuffed divan.

Chambliss, although a noted novelist and successful screen writer, made news in the past few years mostly because of his violent marriage with Miss O'Connell.

Shortly after the couple married May 9, 1947, Chambliss knocked her down and she had him committed to New York's Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric observation.

They reconciled and moved to suburban Brentwood, but five times in two years the 37-year-old Miss O'Connell called police to her home, complaining Chambliss beat her, was drunk and threatened her life. Once she hired a bodyguard to protect her from him.

Last Nov. 26 was their last spat. It resulted in four misdemeanor complaints against Chambliss including disturbing the peace and battery. Ironically, he was to have appeared in court today to stand trial on the counts.

Diet, Rest On Carole's Agenda Before Finch Trial Starts Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dieting and rest is the program for red-haired Carole Tregoff during her days of freedom awaiting her second murder trial May 23 with Dr. R. Bernard Finch.

Carole, weighing 30 pounds more than she left jail on $25,000 bail Friday after 102 days in incarceration, is getting help from her stepmother in her campaign against the added pounds.

"We'll be buying no new clothes," said Mrs. Gladys Tregoff. "We're going to make the girl fit the clothes, not vice versa."

"We are going on a diet—and that means me, too."

Mrs. Tregoff said Carole was spending most of her time resting up from the ordeal of her three-month, four-day first murder trial which ended March 13 in a mistrial. She and Finch, 42, are accused of plotting and carrying out the gunshot slaying of the surgeon's wife Barbara Jean last

Seniors Offered New Marine Plan

July 18, Finch was denied bail and remains in jail.

Marine recruiter, M/Sgt. Richard Schmidt, has set up a schedule of all-day stays in Sanford to introduce a new program for high school seniors and other interested in a career in the Marine Corps.

Recruiter M/Sgt. Schmidt will be at the post office each Friday during business hours. The new enlistment offered by the Marines is for three years instead of the previous four years. It is available to qualified high school seniors and juniors.

Schmidt also said the Marine Corps has set up a 120-day delay plan so that seniors may enlist now and delay entry into training until a date following graduation.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

When Bill went to England recently, he was a consultant making speeches to business leaders. But on the side they warned him of the dangers facing America if we continue to pattern after England. So discuss this Case Record at the table with your teenagers. And send for the vital booklet below.

CASE E — 497: Bill K., aged 45, is a successful management engineer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, as we lunched together recently, "your readers might enjoy American freedoms far more if they knew the real conditions in England."

"I have just returned from an extensive trip where I consulted with business leaders in Britain."

"In Scotland, I stopped at a jeweler's to have my watch repaired. As I looked over the limited supply of new watches in the showcase, I saw one I liked."

"But the jeweler informed me he couldn't sell it, for it was the only one he had in stock. He said he would have to make an official requisition from the government bureau. (Board of Trade) to get more watches."

"And if he should try to order two worth of watches, that government bureau might arbitrarily cut down his order to $300."

"Furthermore, they'd make him wait six months for shipment."

"In 'free enterprise' America, you'd have to obtain a permit from the government."

"Even if and when that slow permit was finally granted, you would find that the government might forbid your opening a store in London, and only grant you permission to start your new shop in Leeds or Birmingham."

"Besides, it would arbitrarily tell you exactly how many employees you must have — no more and no less."

"It would also limit you as to how much you could invest in building the store or in renting one already constructed."

"It would likewise tell you exactly when you must open your doors for trade each morning and when you must close up shop."

"Thus, the government may tell you to open at 9 and close at 12. Then it may order you to open at 2 and close at 4. You as the owner have no rights but are a pawn of bureaucracy."

"And it would limit your stock of goods, telling you not only the total amount of merchandise you could have on your shelves, but also exactly how many brooms or pounds of sugar or bolts of cloth or watches or any specific brand you could carry."

"Indeed, you can't even buy a package of cigars at a drug store (chemist shop) nor at a grocery store but can find them ONLY at a tobacconist shop."

"No jewelry or watches can be purchased from a British drug store. Yet here in America a drugist can sell anything from bread to baby's bottles, sun glasses to fountain pens and sodas."

"So tell your readers they better think twice before they let go of our American freedoms."

"Once the governmental bureau get control, they are jealous of their own power and try to perpetuate themselves forever."

"Send for my booklet, 'Americans Must Never Shut Up,' enclosing a return envelope, plus 30c (non-profit)."

Let your American Legion and men's club discuss its vital contents, for America is verging on socialism, too.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing envelope and 30c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Great Poets Read Works On Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A revised anthology of contemporary English and American poetry — with each poem read by the author — is being made available to the public by the Library of Congress.

The album of three long-playing records (monaural, $2 1/4 rpm) includes selections from 44 poets, including Robert Frost, Marianne Moore, T. S. Eliot, William Carlos Williams, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Robert Graves, Conrad Aiken, Elizabeth MacLain, W. H. Auden, Stephen Spender, E. E. Cummings and Ogden Nash.

Anthologist Oscar Williams selected the 75 poems included in the album.

The Library of Congress has been collecting an archive of sound recordings of the voices of poets reading their own works for many years. Excerpts from it were previously made available to the public in single records, but this is the first comprehensive album.

It is entitled "Album of Modern Poetry—An Anthology Read by the Poets."

It may be ordered from the Recording Laboratory, Library of Congress, Washington 25, D. C. The price is $14.85, including excise tax and shipping costs, for the complete album.

LAND AT LAST?

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — Act II. Same scene, same characters, same old story.

The only thing different as the curtain went up for the second time in the Senate chamber on the unexciting civil rights drama after a weekend intermission was that the actors didn't look as tired.

This was a bad omen. It meant they've been rejuvenated and now their show could go on longer—much longer.

And the longer it played the more it was going to cost the taxpayers who'd been unwilling in the first place to pay the high price for a performance which had the longest first act in all Washington history.

The price for the printed word alone came to $107,878. Since the curtain went up for the first act, those thespians on the Senate stage below dribbled out 1,932,400 words. Those words spanned 1,389 pages of the Congressional Record.

If you think this strange cast made any progress, all you have to do is look at their calendar. While out in the outside world the date had crept up to March 7, the characters in this production were still under the illusion it was February 15, the day the curtain first went up.

They don't hold the clock back for this spectacle. They hold the calendar back, and it's going to stay February 15 until this debate or Hades freezes over. At the moment, it looks like it'll be the latter.

"I've been glancing over those 1,932,400 words and the only thing salvageable seems to be Sen. Sam Ervin's old saw about the Ervin ancestry in North Carolina—usually uttered in the late hours of early morning.

Probably they could be bound in a volume as a supplement to Joe Miller's Joke Books and sold to the public to help defray some of the cost of this debate.

In a sense, the lawmakers have been getting their money's worth out of the $25,500-a-year senators. The lawmakers have been going at it 24 hours a day without extra pay. Where else in the U. S. can

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — In the works are important new moves to try to retrieve something out of the rapidly deteriorating situation in Cuba. First and foremost is the return of Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal to his post in Havana.

In view of Fidel Castro's direct attack on the ambassador it may have been necessary to withdraw him for a time. But it is vitally important now for Bonsal to return. He has the wisdom, the judgment and the experience to save what may still be saved out of a situation as ominous in its long-range threat as any the United States has confronted since 1945.

A number of proposals are under active consideration. One is for a declaration by Bonsal coincidental with his return, pleading the rule of law with respect to any action taken by the Castro regime against American property in Cuba. In effect, this would be a pledge against direct reprisals for the seizure of American holdings.

The White House decision to ask for discretionary authority over the sugar quota, of which Cuba gets a fat one-third of the import market, will put a weapon in the president's hands. But it is a two-edged sword, since any effort to cut Cuba's share would send Castro off into new anti-American tirades.

More important it could be used to alienate the Cuban people more directly than any of the Castro propaganda. For the cuts would be made against the background of the agreement with Soviet Russia negotiated by Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Those who understand the situation best stress the real significance of the Russian sugar deal. The 700,000 tons a year Russia would buy means an extra 12 days of work a year in an industry that provides on the average only about 100 days of work annually. If that gain of 12 days were to be wiped out by American action it would cause the deepest resentment.

The average Cuban has, of course, no way of knowing how the deal is likely to prove for him in the long run in view of the Soviet machinery and goods that must be bought under its terms at prices fixed by Moscow. It has been represented as a great bonanza in the channels of propaganda entirely dominated by Castro and his fervent emotionalism.

What is happening has at times the look of a Greek drama moving to a tragic and inexorable end. There is some resemblance to what occurred during the later phase of the Spanish civil war. Then, as now, the Communists knew exactly what they wanted and they were completely ruthless in setting out to get it.

There should be no doubt about what their aims are in Cuba. As hardboiled realists they know that for many reasons they could not form a government in Havana. The United States could never tolerate a Communist regime at a point of such vulnerability. The freedom-loving Cuban people could be counted on to resist authoritarian rule under communism as they resisted the Batista dictatorship.

The basic goal of Communist strategy is to force the Colossus of the North to intervene directly and preferably with troops that would undertake to set up a puppet government. For this reason Castro is subtly encouraged in his wild anti-Americanism and every possible irritant is played up to bedevil the relationship be-

Forefathers 'Goofed' Twice Picking Capital Location

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — If this be treason you can shoot me at sunrise, but it is something I have to say. When our forefathers picked the location for the national capital, they goofed twice.

The first mistake they made was putting the capital too far north. The second mistake was putting it too far south.

This may have struck a delicate geo-political balance, but it left the capital at the mercy of both the Yankee and Dixie climates, and ill prepared for both. Lately we have been suffering from the first mistake.

I suppose most cities are disconcerted to some extent by a blizzard but this is the only place I know of where every snowfall is a traumatic experience.

A wave of apprehension sweeps over Washington as soon as the Weather Bureau mentions the word. The fact that the forecast is often wrong brings no comfort but rather makes everyone more jittery.

People gather in little clusters to watch the darkening sky. If the sky starts flaking, panic sets in. Even those who came here from areas where snow holds no terror are gripped by the feeling of impending doom.

Lake Mary School Move Postponed

The move into Lake Mary elementary school's new addition won't be made until the heat is installed there and new set-weather conditions arrive, according to school officials.

All the Lake Mary students, about 120, will move to five rooms in a new wing when the transfer is made, it was reported today. The old section will be remodeled and made into an administrative suite, library, teachers' lounge and three classrooms. There will be classrooms and a cafeteria in the new addition.

Good Posture Not Entirely Under Control Of Will

(By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

The human spine, the main-beam of our structural strength, should be the focus of our posture developing activities. It must be remembered that the spine is not merely a pile of bones one on top of the other without control, but is held together by ligaments balanced by groups of opposing muscles and the entire mechanism coordinated and regulated from the brain by electrical impulses carried by nerves to the muscles and joints.

The nerves to the joints make known to the brain the location of any part of the body. That is why you can close your eyes and touch any spot on your body that you so desire. In back of the ears are the semi-circular canals which aid in regulating balance. By these parts connected by millions of nerve wires we are able to maintain balance and good posture. Any interference with this nerve communicating system would prevent one from having complete control of his posture. The Chiropractor is trained to locate and remove nerve interference.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 291 E. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

HOW THEY MAKE POLKA DOT PAINT
The vogue in floor and wall coatings these days is toward multi-color lacquers. The trick in production is to get the various hues on so that they keep their individual identities without muddying each other.

What, No Blondes?
If you like the color of your locks, you're in the minority. A survey conducted by a beauty institute showed that 65 per cent of the nation's women, ranging from 16 to the 80's, would change their hair color if they had a choice. Surprisingly, most women did not dream of being blondes. They voted for a medium shade that would lend itself to Auburn highlights, blonde locks or reddish tones.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

When Bill went to England recently, he was a consultant making speeches to business leaders. But on the side they warned him of the dangers facing America if we continue to pattern after England. So discuss this Case Record at the table with your teenagers. And send for the vital booklet below.

CASE E - 607: Bill K., aged 45, is a successful management engineer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, as we lunched together recently, "your readers might enjoy American freedoms far more if they knew the real conditions in England."

"I have just returned from an extensive trip where I consulted with business leaders in Britain. In Scotland, I stopped at a jeweler's to have my watch repaired. As I looked over the limited supply of new watches in the showcase, I saw one I liked.

"But the jeweler informed me he couldn't sell it, for it was the only one he had in stock. He said he would have to make an official requisition from the government bureau (Board of Trade) to get more watches."

"And if he should try to order $500 worth of watches, that government bureau might arbitrarily cut down his order to $200.

"Furthermore, they'd make him wait six months for shipment."

"In 'free enterprise' America vs. socialistic England, note the following contrasts:

Here a jeweler can order as much as he wishes from any manufacturer he prefers to patronize. But not so in England, though officially the government there tries to cover up its strangulation of free competition.

"Dr. Crane," Bill continued, "if you wished to open a retail store of any sort in Great Britain, you'd first have to obtain a permit from the government.

"Even if and when that slow permit was finally granted, you would find that the government might forbid your opening a store in London, and only grant you permission to start your new shop in Leeds or Birmingham.

"Besides, it would arbitrarily tell you exactly how many employees you must have — no more and no less.

"It would also limit you as to how much you could invest in building the store or in renting one already constructed.

"It would likewise tell you exactly when you must open your doors for trade each morning and when you must close up shop.

"Thus, the government may tell you to open at 9 and close at 12. Then it may order you to open at 2 and close at 4. You as the owner have no rights but are a pawn of bureaucracy.

"And it would limit your stock of goods, telling you not only the total amount of merchandise you could have on your shelves, but also exactly how many brooms or pounds of sugar or bolts of cloth or watches of any specific brand you could carry.

"Indeed, you can't even buy a package of cigars at a drug store (chemist shop) nor at a grocery store but can find them ONLY at a tobacconist shop.

"No jewelry or watches can be purchased from a British drug store: Yet here in America a druggist can sell anything from bread to baby's bottles, sun glasses to fountain pens and sodas.

"So tell your readers they better think twice before they let go of our American freedoms."

"Once the governmental bureau get control, they are jealous of their own power and try to perpetuate themselves forever."

Send for my booklet "Americans Must Never Shut Up," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit).

Let your American Legion and men's club discuss its vital contents, for America is verging on socialism, too.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Great Poets Read Works On Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A recorded anthology of contemporary English and American poetry — with each poem read by its author — is being made available to the public by the Library of Congress.

The album of three long-playing records (monaural, 8 1/2" rpm) includes selections from 46 poets, including Robert Frost, Marianne Moore, T. S. Eliot, William Carlos Williams, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Robert Graves, Conrad Aiken, Archibald MacLeish, W. H. Auden, Stephen Spender, E. E. Cummings and Ogden Nash.

Anthologist Oscar Williams selected the 78 poems included in the album.

The Library of Congress has been collecting an archive of sound recordings of the voices of poets reading their own works for many years. Excerpts from it were previously made available to the public in single records, but this is the first comprehensive album.

It is entitled "Album of Modern Poetry—An Anthology Read by the Poets."

It may be ordered from the Recording Laboratory, Library of Congress, Washington 25, D. C. The price is $14.85, including excise tax and shipping costs, for the complete album.

LAND AT LAST?

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — Act II. Same scene, same characters, same old story.

The only thing different as the curtain went up for the second time in the Senate chamber on the unexciting civil rights drama after a weekend intermission was that the actors didn't look as tired.

This was a bad omen. It meant they've been rejuvenated and now their show could go on longer-much longer.

And the longer it played the more it was going to cost the customers on the Senate stage below dribbled out 1,935,400 words. Those words spanned 1,289 pages of the Congressional Record.

If you think this strange cast made any progress, all you have to do is look at their calendar. While out in the outside world the date had crept up to March 7, the characters in this production were still under the illusion it was February 15, the day the curtain first went up.

They don't hold the clock back for this spectacle. They hold the calendar back, and it's going to stay February 15 until this debate or Hades freezes over. At the moment, it looks like it'll be the latter.

"I've been glancing over those 1,935,400 words and the only thing salvageable seems to be Ben. Sam Ely's old saw about the Eyrin ancestry in North Carolina—usually uttered in the late hours of early morning.

Probably they could be bound in a volume as a supplement to Joe Miller's Joke Books and sold to the public to help defray some of the cost of this debate.

In a sense, the taxpayers have been getting their money's worth out of the $25,500-a-year senators. The lawmakers have been going at it 24 hours a day without extra pay. Where else in the U. S. can you get somebody on overtime without having to pay for it?

But this business of going around and around the clock really becomes tragic when you see the work piling up in the back offices. Since the start of the 24-hour work days, the Senators have barred committees from meeting. Action on any bills has been stopped.

And at this very moment, the Congress of the U. S. has on hand 18,000 bills to consider.

That's a stack of bills when you consider that the lawmakers have less than four months to go before they must adjourn for the national conventions.

Even though they're foregoing their customary 10-day Easter vacation this year, it'll be a hard pull to get out of this hole.

That pile of bills becomes even more sizable when you realize that so far this year the total number of bills our Congress made into law comes to just 11.

Schools shut down; the wheels of commerce, unless equipped with snow tires, skid to a halt; the machinery of government clumps along on one cylinder.

I have before me an ill-timed press release from the National Geographic Society that spring arrived at 9:43 a. m. Sunday. But I don't believe it and I don't think anyone else here does either.

We have just gone through our third snowfall of March. The crisis has passed but we are still in the recuperation period. We fear we are not yet out of danger.

The first Confederate flag was made in Montgomery, Ala.

People gather in little clusters to watch the darkling sky. If the sky starts flaking, panic sets in. Even those who came here from areas where snow holds no terror are stricken by the feeling of impending doom.

Downtown workers rush to the telephone to call their loved ones at home. Suburban housewives call downtown for anxious conferences with their husbands.

Then everyone sits by a radio to wait for the word that the District of Columbia has proclaimed a state of emergency. As I understand it, the district has three emergency snow plans, any one of which is sufficient to evacuate the city.

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — In the works are important new moves to try to retrieve something out of the rapidly deteriorating situation in Cuba. First and foremost is the return of Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal to his post in Havana.

In view of Fidel Castro's direct attack on the ambassador it may have been necessary to withdraw him for a time. But it is vitally important now for Bonsal to return. He has the wisdom, the judgment and the experience to save what may still be saved out of a situation as ominous in its long-range threat as any the United States has confronted since 1963.

A number of proposals are under active consideration. One is for a declaration by Bonsal coincidental with his return, pledging the United States to follow the rule of law with respect to any action taken by the Castro regime against American property in Cuba. In effect, this would be a pledge against direct reprisals for the seizure of American holdings.

The White House decision to ask for discretionary authority over the sugar quota, of which Cuba gets a fat one-third of the import market, will put a weapon in the president's hands. But it is a two-edged sword, since any effort to cut Cuba's share would send Castro off into new anti-American tirades.

More important it could be used to alienate the Cuban people more directly than any of the Castro propaganda. For the cuts would be made against the background of the agreement with Soviet Russia negotiated by Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Those who understand the situation best stress the real significance of the Russian sugar deal. The 700,000 tons a year Russia would buy means an extra 12 days of work a year in an industry that provides on the average only about 100 days of work annually. If that gain of 12 days were to be wiped out by American action it would cause the deepest resentment.

The average Cuban has, of course, no way of knowing how bad the deal is likely to prove for him in the long run in view of the Soviet machinery and goods that must be bought under its terms at prices fixed by Moscow. It has been represented as a great bonanza in the channels of propaganda entirely dominated by Castro and his fervent emotionalism.

What is happening has at times the look of a Greek drama moving to a tragic and inexorable end. There is some resemblance to what occurred during the later phase of the Spanish civil war. Then, as now, the communists were what they wanted and they were completely ruthless in setting out to get it.

There should be no doubt about what their aims are in Cuba. As hardboiled realists they know that for many reasons they could not form a government in Havana. The United States could never tolerate a Communist regime at a point of such vulnerability. The freedom-loving Cuban people could be counted on to resist authoritarian rule under communism as they resisted the Batista dictatorship.

The basic goal of Communist strategy is to force the Colossus of the North to intervene directly and preferably with troops that would undertake to set up a puppet government. For this reason Castro is subtly encouraged in his wild anti-Americanism and every possible irritant is played up to bedevil the relationship between the small island republic and the enormously rich power that has so long overshadowed it.

"We will give them back Hungary three-times over," one Communist leader is reported to have said of the strategy to compel the U.S. to send in troops to save property and lives.

Intervention with force would be disastrous throughout Latin America and in neutral Africa and Asia. It would enormously further communism's long-range strategy, which is to take over not in little Cuba but in Brazil where in a key area with a large depressed population they would menace the whole hemisphere.

Some of the professional anti-Communists in this country have been playing with Cuban exiles out of the Batista regime. Among them are the worst corruptionists and butchers of that dictatorship. Naturally they would like to see Uncle Sam in the field to take over in place. Like the planes from American fields that have tried to set fire to Cuban sugar fields, this plays directly into the hands of Castro and the Communists close to him.

The Eisenhower administration has shown great patience and forbearance in the face of provocations that would try the temper of an angel, as the president showed again at his press conference. To resist the pressures will be increasingly difficult. But those pressures must somehow be resisted.

Lake Mary School Move Postponed

The move into Lake Mary elementary school's new addition won't be made until the heat is connected there and more settled weather conditions arrive, according to school officials.

All the Lake Mary students, about 150, will move to five rooms in a new wing when the transfer is made. It was reported today. The old section will be remodeled and made into an administrative suite, library, teachers' lounge and three classrooms. There will be classrooms and a cafeteria in the new addition.

Forefathers 'Goofed' Twice Picking Capital Location

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — If this be treason you can shoot me at sunrise, but it is something I have to say. When our forefathers picked the location for the national capital, they goofed twice.

The first mistake they made was putting the capital too far north. The second mistake was putting it too far south.

This may have struck a delicate geo-political balance, but it left the capital at the mercy of both the Yankee and Dixie climates, and ill prepared for both. Lately we have been suffering from the first mistake.

I suppose most cities are disconcerted to some extent by a blizzard but this is the only place I know of where every snowfall is a traumatic experience.

A wave of apprehension sweeps over Washington as soon as the Weather Bureau mentions the word. The fact that the forecast is often wrong brings no comfort but rather makes everyone more jittery.

People gather in little clusters to watch the darkling sky. If the sky starts flaking, panic sets in. Even those who came here from areas where snow holds no terror are stricken by the feeling of impending doom.

Happiness Through Health Good Posture Not Entirely Under Control Of Will (By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

The human spine, the main-beam of our structural strength, should be the focus of our posture developing activities. It must be remembered that the spine is not merely a pile of bones one on top of the other without control, but is held together by ligaments balanced by groups of opposing muscles and the entire mechanism coordinated and regulated from the brain by electrical impulses carried by nerves to the muscles and joints.

The nerves to the joints make known to the brain the location of any part of the body. That is why you can close your eyes and touch any spot on your body that you so desire. In back of the ears are the semi-circular canals which aid in regulating balance. By these parts connected by millions of nerve wires we are able to maintain balance and good posture. Any interference with this nerve communicating system would prevent one from having complete control of his posture. The Chiropractor is trained to locate and remove nerve interference.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 201 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

Sanford Topples DeLand In First '60 Track Meet

The Seminole Track team, under the direction of coach Jim Pigott, opened their 1960 season in fine fashion here Friday when they defeated DeLand, 101-22. The Seminoles placed first in all but one event and several of the school records tumbled. Jim Gracey was high point man for the Seminoles as he took first place in all three events that he entered. Bradley Cagers May Be Too Good For NIT Championship In '61

NEW YORK (UPI) — Another National Invitation Tournament championship for Bradley's basketball Braves next year? Maybe not — they may be too good.

That's the opinion of one eminent authority, Joe Lapchick of St. John's, the only coach to win more NIT titles (three) than Bradley's Chuck Orsborn (two). The nation has a lot of backers after the Braves' stunning 88-72 final win over Providence Saturday.

"With Oscar Robertson gone from Cincinnati, Bradley may be ready to take over domination of the Missouri Valley Conference," Lapchick points out. "As league champion, they would be going to the NCAA tourney rather than the NIT."

Orsborn, delighted with the rally his Braves staged to snatch the victory from Providence after trailing, 43-50, with 10 minutes remaining, isn't making any claims for next year, however. "For one thing," Orsborn said, "we lost starters Mike Owens and Dan Smith, so I'll have two spots to plug myself. For another, Cincinnati still has Bob Weisenhahn and Paul Horue, who is going to be a real star, and they have a fellow on the freshmen named Tom Thacker who has a lot of Robertson-type talent."

But Orsborn admits his club will be a "contender" and that could be a huge understatement with such returnees as Mack Herndon, who led scoring in the finale with 26 points; Chet (orange juice) Walker, the team's top scorer who was ill in the semi-finals and final; and Al Saunders, whose clutch free throws sank Providence. Only Saunders will be a senior.

VERO BEACH (UPI) — Roy Campanella, paralyzed former Dodger catching star, was reported resting comfortably today after he was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach suffering with a dizzy spell.

Dr. Tom McGinn, Dodsgetown physician who accompanied Campanella to West Palm Beach where he was placed under the care of Dr. James Cooney, a neurosurgeon, said Campanella's condition was not serious. The dizzy spell was attributed by Dr. McGinn to nervous exhaustion.

Registration and tryout dates for all boys who have not played in little major league have been set for Wednesday and Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

The site will be Ft. Mellon park. All boys must present their birth certificates at the time of registration. The ages accepted are 10 through 12, with August 1 as the deciding date. Those trying out must attend both days to be eligible for team selection.

April 18 has been designated as opening date. All games in the first half (April 18 to May 27) will be played at 4:30 p. m. except on Friday nights. Starting the second half June 1, all games will be under the lights.

Boys returning from last season are automatically on the same team without further registration.

senior Jim Gracey the nod for the starting job on the mound. Gracey, who has been a standout in all sports this season, will be in his first pitching role since playing in the Rotary League several seasons ago. He lacks experience but he has shown good control and plenty of stuff on the ball so he should be able to come through for the locals.

Big James Markham, a Junior, will be the starting first baseman for the Seminoles and Laude is leaning heavily on his big bat to give the offense the punch. For the past two seasons Markham has been the leading hitter for the Seminoles and last year he finished the season with a fine .310 average.

Laude is having troubles in setting his infield with George Perides and Steve Barnes out with injuries and he has not named any definite starting lineup. Johnny Wheelchel is a sure starter behind the plate and Terry Christensen will be at third base. Billy Rowles will probably be the starting shortstop and John Mann is also a probable starter at second base.

In the outfield senior veteran Ray Lundquist will be in left, Alex McKibbin will be in center and sophomore Jack Caolo will be in right.

Race On For Lead In Sandspur Loop

Once more the race is on in the Sandspur Bowling League to see who will hold first place.

Foodmart, losing two games to Wilson-Maler after Tuesday night's play, now stands just one-half game up in first place, with 81 wins.

Close behind with 50 1/2 wins, is Irving Pryor's insurance, determined to regain their old spot in the league. The "Pig N" Whistle holds third with 40 1/2. Wilson-Maler has fourth with 40. Robson Sporting Goods has 37 in fifth and Roumillat & Anderson has 33 in sixth.

While the furniture team was trimming the Grocers' lead, the rig was busy winning two from the Drugists and the Underwriters took all three wins from Robson.

Spills were picked up this week by Erna Anderson and Ruth Phillips, the 5-4. Fran McPherson and Shirley Simas, the 4-3-7, with Sherry also making the 2-7. Erna Webb the 6-9 and 4-10. Ann Conklin the 3-10, and Dot Teslo the 2-5-7.

Wins Slalom

PINKHAM, N.H. (UPI)—Fritz Wagnerberger won the slalom and combined title in the eastern men's alpine championships Sunday at Wildcat Mountain. The 22-year-old college student from Munich, Germany, had a total time of 1:15.2.

Orsborn, delighted with the rally his Braves staged to snatch the victory from Providence after trailing, 43-50, with 10 minutes remaining, isn't making any claims for next year, however. "For one thing," Orsborn said, "we lost starters Mike Owens and Dan Smith, so I'll have two spots to plug myself. Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

Old man weather finally gave us a break and spring training got under way in full swing over the weekend. All of the San Francisco Giants' farm clubs reported and by yesterday there was activity on every diamond at the training camp on Mellonville Ave.

Although the weather was still a little cool, a nice crowd was on hand when Tacoma and Harlingen opened up the spring training exhibition Saturday at the stadium. Tacoma is the Giants top farm club and they are in the Class AA Pacific Coast League and Harlingen is in the Class AA Texas League.

This weekend marked the official opening of a long season of baseball in the city. From here through September, baseball will be the big word and there will be very few days and nights that one won't be able to see a fine contest.

Tomorrow night the Sanford Seminoles open the 1960 season at 7:30 when they take on Colonial of Orlando. Coach Dave Laude has scheduled senior Jim Gracey to start on the mound for the locals and it should be a very fine contest. All of the home games will be played under the lights at Memorial Stadium and everyone is urged to come out and give these youngsters their full support throughout the season.

The Sanford Greyhounds are going through the paces in Pensacola now and they are scheduled to report to Sanford on April 19 here against Leeburg.

Coach Jim Pigott and his youngsters opened the 1960 track season here in fine fashion by defeating DeLand 101 to 22.

Coach Pigott feels he has a well balanced team this year and he is hoping that they will be able to take the OBC crown in track and keep the ball rolling. SHS is co-football champion in the OBC and the basketball squad won the tournament so if the track and baseball teams come through, it could be a perfect year in sports.

American League Champs Showing Amazing Fire Power In Training

United Press International The Chicago White Sox may scrap their "go go" label this year for a "bang bang" tag.

The American League champions have shown their expected smooth blend of pitching and defense in winning seven or eight exhibition games but they've also showed a surprising amount of fire power. They've averaged almost five runs a game and they've been hitting for extra bases.

The White Sox enjoyed their best hitting day of the spring Sunday when they blitzed the Baltimore Orioles, 12-2, with a 21-hit salvo that included a homer, triple and five doubles. Earl Wynn and Billy Pierce pitched three shutout innings each before turning over the mop-up chore to Turk Lown.

Minnie Minoso, reacquired from Cleveland during the winter, had four singles and a double in five tries. Joe Hicks had two doubles and a single and Earl Torgeson a three-run homer for the Sox.

It was the fifth straight loss for the Orioles who started the grapefruit campaign with three consecutive wins.

The New York Yankees had their biggest slugfest of the spring in a 13-5 rout of the Cincinnati Reds, the St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, the Detroit Tigers downed the Milwaukee Braves, 9-7, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Kansas City A's, 6-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Washington Senators 7-5, the Chicago Cubs edged out the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, and the San Francisco Giants edged the Cleveland Indians, 3-5.

It was a staggering defeat for the defending champions, who Friday night defeated Cincinnati and Oscar Robertson, 77-69, in what was considered the "dream game" between the top two teams in the country.

California held Robertson to just 18 points — but he bounced back with 23 Saturday night as he led the Bearcats to a 95-71 victory over New York University in a battle for third place.

The 66 sports writers who covered the tournament were so impressed that they: (1) named Jerry Lucas, the giant sophomore, as the outstanding player of the tournament (he got 49 of the 66 votes); and (2) named all five starters from the Ohio State team on the first or second squads.

Little Rock Police Chief Kills Wife, Self

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—They called their police chief a man "who had the guts to face anything and anybody." Today they wondered.

Police Chief Eugene Smith had stood before an angry crowd while segregationists during Little Rock's integration crises. He had arrested several Negroes during the current sit-down demonstrations.

He stood for law and order through more than two years of racial tension. The question today was: Did the pressure finally become too great, or was there one thing he could not face?

Friday afternoon, Police Chief Eugene Smith listened as his son, Raymond Eugene, 20, pleaded guilty to a burglary charge and was given a $250 fine and a two-year suspended sentence.

Friday night, Police Chief Smith shot his wife to death, then killed himself.

Authorities said Smith and his wife sat talking in the kitchen of their white frame house for hours before four pistol shots ended their lives.

Smith had been closely associated with every phase of the integration problem.

An assistant chief on Sept. 23, 1957, he stood at barricades blocking streets leading to Central High School.

Several hundred angry segregationists stood outside. When they learned that nine Negro students had entered the school, they surged across police lines.

One man grabbed Smith by the collar.

"I don't want to hurt somebody," Smith shouted.

The segregationists rushed the police lines. Smith swung his right stick and knocked a man to the ground. There were a number of arrests, and shortly after noon Smith ordered the Negro children taken home for their safety.

The incident rocketed him into national prominence.

Representative Proposes Easier Way To Get To Work In Morning

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The shaggy sky was about to start shedding snow when I arrived at National Airport. But it was not just the weather that had me trembling in my trench coat.

I was on a business and adventurous assignment, which was enough to set anyone's nerves aflutter. The case in point: "Randall's Ride."

As I made my way across the terminal, I could sense an undercurrent of suppressed excitement among my colleagues. It was so suppressed that some of them had fallen asleep.

Our leader, Rep. Randall S. Harmon, had called us, a group of reporters and photographers, together in the interests of science, legislation and publicity.

He was out to prove that a helicopter can get from the airport to the Capitol, and vice versa, faster than an automobile.

Some of his fellow lawmakers had scoffed when Harmon introduced a bill to build a heliport on the roof of the newest House of Representatives building. They said it couldn't, or at least shouldn't, be done.

Perhaps they forgot, they were dealing with the man who had invented a method of collecting government rent for his front porch. Or maybe they didn't forget. Maybe that is why they have started calling it the "heliport" bill.

At any rate, it's hard to abash Harmon. Resident in a pearl

CBS Report On Latin Dictator Turns Out Unconvincing Fare

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—There must be something about TV that causes dictators to do the hat bit when they go on it.

Last year, when we met Soviet dictator Khrushchev on our TV tubes, we saw him fiddle around with a white panama-style hat. He would take it off and put it on while talking.

Thursday night, "CBS Reports" presented a one-hour study called "Trujillo: Portrait of a Dictator." Again, we saw a dictator fidget with a panama-style hat. While talking, too. I mention this purely as a footnote to history. I think

Dynatronics Forms Wives Organization

Mrs. John Bowers has been named chairman of the newly formed "Wives of Dynatronics" organization.

An organizational meeting and coffee was recently held at Mrs. Bowers' home, 105 N. Bunaland Dr., to discuss plans for the group.

Gray overcoat whose lapels framed a blue string tie, the intrepid Indiana Democrat exuded confidence as he briefed us on our mission.

"What kind of coat is that, Congressman?" someone asked.

"That's a vicuna," Harmon replied, and we all knew then that he would bring us through somehow.

Whipping out a stopwatch, Harmon led us out to the ramp where he boarded a small fuchsia-colored helicopter owned by a private company and the rest of us climbed into two big olive drab Army models.

In a trice, we were whirling across the broad Potomac, over the Washington Monument and down the mall to the Capitol. The view was spectacular but it was so cold I couldn't work up much enthusiasm for sight-seeing.

After what seemed to me like a full 18 minutes, we were back at the airport. Harmon consulted his stopwatch and announced that the trip had indeed taken 18 minutes. No automobile could match that. He had made his point!

Delighted over the outcome of his first helicopter ride, Harmon said he would buy one of the machines for himself if he could afford it. I suggested that he raise the funds by building and renting another front porch.

"You know," he said thoughtfully, "you've got something there."

Most Candidates Disagree With Speech By Collins

By United Press International
 Florida's candidates for governor had comments Monday—most of them unfavorable—about Gov. LeRoy Collins' televised talk on the state's racial troubles.

Collins said Sunday it is morally wrong for department store management to bar Negroes from lunch counters while soliciting their business in other departments.

Only one candidate, Ted David of Hollywood, gave outright support to Collins' statement. "If they (department stores) open their doors to Negroes, they should open them in every regard," David said.

Other candidates either wholly disagreed or commented on other parts of Collins' remarks.

Mayor Haydon Burns of Jacksonville said he did not think Collins' remarks were "commensurate with the feeling of the people or made any contribution toward solving the problem."

John McCarty, campaigning in Tampa, disagreed with Collins. "The recent sit-down demonstrations at lunch counters should not and cannot be condoned," McCarty said.

Fred Dickinson of West Palm Beach said about the same thing. "From what I have heard, the governor correctly stated the law to the effect that a merchant can serve or refuse whomsoever he desires."

"This is a social issue," Dickinson said. "What is morally right or wrong is up to every individual."

C. Farris Bryant of Ocala said his own position on segregation is well established.

But a candidate for governor, Bryant said, should not make statements on the issue "unless he is willing to risk fanning the flames which threaten to engulf Florida with great danger to our citizens and economic loss to our state."

Another leading candidate, Doyle E. Carlton Jr. of Wauchula, said a businessman has a right "to serve the clientele of his choice."

How Owner Runs Store Is His Business, Smathers Tells Sanford Rotarians

Sen. George Smathers agreed to being put "on the spot" before Sanford Rotarians Monday and gave his opinion of Gov. LeRoy Collins Sunday TV remarks about the integration problem.

Talking by phone from his Washington office, Smathers told the Rotarians that it seems to him the federal government shouldn't tell people how to run their stores. The senator said a store was a man's private property and the owner ought to be able to say how it would be run.

Smathers said he agrees with former President Truman's statement that if someone gets into Truman's store and the Missouri didn't like him, Truman would reserve the right to throw that person out.

When applause greeted the senator's comments, Smathers asked whether the noise he heard was people clapping or throwing things. Rotarian George Touhy, who was on the Sanford end of the line, assured Smathers that it was applause.

Before the comments on integration, Smathers gave the Cuban government a stiff verbal going-over.

He referred to Cuban leader Fidel Castro as "little dictator who doesn't want our friendship."

Smathers said he had been to Miami to visit his sick father early Monday morning but rushed back to the Senate floor to talk about Castro.

Smathers credited the Cuban National Bank head, Ernesto Guevara, with saying that Cuba's best friend is Soviet Russia and that Cuba has declared economic war on the United States.

Smathers said he told Secretary of State Christian Herter that the United States was losing its self-respect by sending Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal back to Cuba.

The U.S. is supporting a semi-Communist dictatorship by this action and is disappointing people who want to overthrow Castro, the senator said.

When Rotarian George Touhy said he thought Sanford's Rotarians agreed with Smathers, the senator said "I wish we could get through to those high people in the State Dept."

The whole discussion, which an amplifier broadcast to the club members, was part of a direct distance dialing demonstration by Robert Shelden, manager of Sanford's Southern Bell Telephone Co. branch.

Before the Smathers conversation, Shelden dialed direct to Hawaii and got the time there, 8:05-4 a. m. It was almost 1:05 p. m. here. Shelden also dialed a Chicago weather forecast which mentioned a high of 30.

The group manager said that Sanford can expect direct dialing within the next two years. The United States is divided into more than 100 phone districts. Right now, under the system, when you want to dial a long distance call direct, you dial the number of the phone district of your destination, and then the phone number of the party you're calling.

Rights Backers Push For Final House Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civil rights backers pushed for a final House vote today on the much-debated administration proposal for court-appointed referees to protect Negro voting rights.

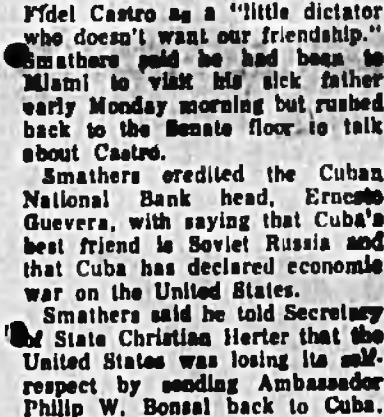

Southern strategists conceded that they had little chance of stopping the drive. But they were still trying to soften the proposal through amendments.

One spokesman said the Southern forces had "quite a few" more amendments to present.

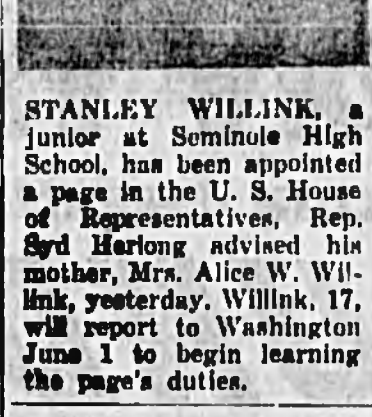

Rep. Emanuel Celler (N. Y.), Democratic floor leader on civil rights, said he would move to shut off debate and bar additional amendments if he saw evidence of stalling tactics.

One Southern amendment was pending as the House moved into its seventh day of debate on the referee plan. Offered by Rep. Robert W. Hemphill (D-S. C.), it would require the referee to show federal judges who appoint them that they are familiar with state and local election laws and voter qualifications.

Civil rights forces have succeeded in beating down every Southern Democratic or conservative Republican attempt in the House to weaken the referee proposal.

STANLEY WILLINK, a junior at Seminole High School, has been appointed a page in the U. S. House of Representatives, Rep. Syd Herlong advised his mother, Mrs. Alice W. Willink, yesterday. Willink, 17, will report to Washington June 1 to begin learning the page's duties.

Garner To Retire From City Board

One of Sanford's oldest public servants will retire March 31. N. O. Garner, who has served on the Sanford Civil Service Board for the past 17 years, will retire for a well-earned rest at the end of this month.

Garner, 71, has lived in Sanford since 1902. He was a fingerprinter and desk clerk for the Sanford police from 1914 to 1916 and was also in the produce shipping business. He lives with his wife, Ruth, at 506 Palmello Ave.

Enterprise House Destroyed By Fire

A fire destroyed the Enterprise home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Langston at 1 s. today and they lost all their household goods and personal property.

The fire, believed to have been caused by faulty wiring, had enveloped the house when Mrs. Langston was roused by the smoke. She and her husband grabbed a few clothes and escaped.

An emergency appeal for help for the couple was issued by Rev. Bill Swayer at Enterprise. He asked that anyone having clothing or household articles which they would contribute to help the Langstons telephone him at NO 8-5131 or NO 8-5183.

Collins Says Talk Reaction Good

Collins said Monday reaction to his Sunday television talk on Florida's race problems was "overwhelmingly favorable."

Hundreds of telegrams, messages and telephone calls poured into the governor's office, commenting on Collins' suggestion that if department stores did not serve both Negroes and whites at their lunch counters, the counters should be shut down.

By late Monday, Collins had received 273 favorable and 12 unfavorable comments, three of the latter from out of the state.

"We think" read a wire from Miami, "you are a traitor to all the South here."

Another, from Delray Beach, said "Thank you for your splendid American speech."

Loch Arbor Drains Approved

The County Commission today authorized County Engineer Robert Davis to start work immediately on a $3,000 Loch Arbor drainage program to relieve property owners in that area.

Davis told the board that once the project is completed it should eliminate dangerous flooding in the Loch Arbor area from Country Club Road to Lake Emory.

The first step in the program will be the moving of fences and other obstructions on the easement and the building of trenches to hold pipes from Lake Drive north.

The final step will be cutting small ditches into the easement.

Loch Arbor was one of the hardest hit during the rains last week. Commissioner Homer Little reported that in many places water stood next to homes.

Davis had reported at the height of the rainfall "Loch Arbor was just one big puddle of water."

Davis also gave a brief report on the damage to county roads just last week during the abnormal rains. He said the worst damage was to Lake Mary Road.

The engineer stressed that the rains have delayed all county work projects at least one month. Davis said most dirt and clay roads were made impassable by the heavy rains.

County Commission Chairman John Krider said the rain alerted the board to the tremendous need for a long range drainage plan.

He said that it was the consensus of the County Drainage Committee that the only solution is the setting up of drainage districts where the need arises.

The board also agreed to have Clerk David Gatchal write a letter of appreciation to the Red Cross, sheriff's office and National Guard for their assistance during the flooding.

Davis said his crews also are working full time in cleaning up road washouts in the southwest end of the county and in the Temple Terrace and Tanglewood area. He said he hopes to have these sections back to normal within the next month.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF HEALTH CENTER shows how the modern facility will look when completed in the French Ave.-Ninth St. location. Groundwork has begun on the $95,000 structure.

Cold Forecast

Near freezing temperatures are forecast for Seminole County tonight.

Forecasters report that temperatures are expected to dip to 35 degrees in many areas of the county.

Frost was reported in many places in the south end of the county Monday night as temperatures dipped to 32 degrees.

Now It's Spring Snow In East, North Carolina

By United Press International
 A surprise springtime storm dumped as much as 10 inches of snow in the East today.

Up to four inches of snow was forecast for New York City before the storm moves out to sea.

In Pennsylvania the snow was accompanied by winds of 35 m.p.h., and weathermen warned the gusts might increase to 60 m.p.h. Four-mile traffic jams developed on highways at Harrisburg, and near Lewistown three men were killed when their station wagon skidded into a tree.

The snow set a record for Pittsburgh. The March snowfall there now totals 21.7 inches, an inch and a half more than a record that stood 34 years. The new snow ranged from two inches in eastern Pennsylvania to 10 inches in the western part of the state.

In western Michigan a spring storm closed roads and caused widespread damage.

Hurricane force winds of 76 miles an hour blew down trees and utility wires in Muskegon and Grand Haven along the Michigan shoreline.

What some witnesses described as a small tornado flattened a 60 by 40 foot cement block building at Grand Haven.

Another late-season storm staggered parts of North Carolina and Virginia Monday.

Up to 24 inches of snow fell in parts of North Carolina, already hard hit by a succession of winter storms. Schools which reopened Friday for the first time in two weeks closed again.

Ten inches of snow accumulated at Mt. Pleasant near Asheville, N. C., and a six-inch fall was measured on Mount Mitchell. Hardest hit was the Maple Springs Gap area near the Great Smoky Mountains National Park which got up to two feet of snow.

Five inches of new snow closed roads and closed schools in southwest Virginia.

A new blast of cold air blew into the country from Canada. Readings near zero were common in the Dakota and Minnesota. The mercury dropped below freezing in much of Dixie.

Van Hoy 'Observer' At Board Meeting

J. H. Van Hoy, who was appointed county commissioner from District 2 by Gov. LeRoy Collins March 11, sat in at the board meeting today as an "observer."

Van Hoy cannot officially take office until his bond is approved and filed with the Secretary of State.

Van Hoy told board members that he is considering attending a state wide county commission meeting scheduled in Miami Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The board has postponed next week's meeting in order to attend the state session.

He said the investigation would cover all levels of government—federal, state, county and municipal.

Americans Face Cuba Tribunal

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — The semi-official newspaper Revolucion said today two Americans captured when their plane was shot down Monday will be tried by a revolutionary court.

Cuban revolutionary troops shot down the red-and-white Piper Comanche near the provincial capital of Matanzas. The pilot, Howard L. (Suede) Rundquist of Miami, was wounded in the leg. His co-pilot, W. J. Shergates of West Hollywood, escaped injury.

Firebug Has City Asking For Help

INDIO, Calif. (UPI) — This city of 10,000 persons declared a state of emergency and appealed for outside aid today because of a firebug.

The arsonist, officials said has set three major fires in the last five days, causing about $1 million damage.

Merchants have started sleeping in their stores. Police patrols have been doubled. The town's 11 paid firemen and 10 volunteers were on special alert.

The city asked the Twenty-Nine Palms Marine Base to supply special military police patrols. Gov. Edmund G. Brown has been asked to support the city's declaration of a state of emergency with one of his own.

Special guards kept an eye on the city's schools.

There have been no signs of hysteria and no wild fear, but a steady uneasy apprehension has given the southern California desert community a grim joke: "Where are you going tonight?" one man asks.

"To the fire, where else?" is the answer.

Fire Chief Charles Y. Adams said the three fires definitely were the work of a firebug. The most recent fire burned down the city's only theater Sunday night.

Southeast C Of C Okays Brochures

The Southeast Seminole Chapter of Commerce voted Monday night to proceed with distribution of brochures advertising the communities of Oviedo, Chuluota and Slavia.

Ernest Westing, president, presided and refreshments were supervised by Ben Jones and Lee Gary.

Fund Lack Causes County To Reject 3 Road Bids

The County Commission today rejected all bids by outside construction firms on paving three county roads.

The board agreed that there isn't enough money for all of the projects at this time and authorized County Engineer Robert Davis to sit on the projects until this year's road program.

The three roads are Wylie, Rose and South Park Aves.

Chairman John Krider said the board that the Wylie Ave. project was of prime importance because it will set as a new entrance way to the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Krider said the other two projects may have to wait until "we have the necessary funds."

The three bids were announced to the board at last meeting last week. The apparent low bid was that of the L. L. Construction Co. of Orange Park at $7,000.
