VAH-13 Gets New Leader

Cdr. C. V. (Tony) Nolta has assumed command of Heavy Attack Squadron 13, the group soon to be assigned to duty out of the Sanford Naval Air Station. The command ceremony was held at Whidbey Island, Wash.

Nolta, a five-year veteran of West Coast heavy attack aviation, relieved Cmdr. Walter P. Carlin.

Cdr. Nolta's first task will be to move his squadron from the Puget Sound air station to NAS Sanford and so become a permanent member of Heavy Attack Wing One.

The change of station is tentatively scheduled for August though the exact date has not been announced. Many of the squadron's pilots, crewmen and support personnel are already here undergoing training for operation of the new RA-5C Vigilante reconnaissance bomber.

VAH-13 will actually be returning home. The squadron was formed here in January 1961. Nine months later it according to figures compiled by various agencies in the state and accumulated by the office of County Clerk Arthur Beckwith.

All teenagers of the community are invited to attend Friday night's meeting.

Beckwith explained that in 1960 the official census taken by the federal government listed Seminole's population at 54,947.

Since that time the county's population has increased some 18,000, according to reports by the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, a survey by the Economics Division of the University of Florida's School of Business and reports of surveys made by the Florida Power & Light Company as well as the Florida Power Corp.

In 1960, Beckwith declared, 33 counties in Florida had populations of less than 18,000 — ranging from Nassau County's 17,189 down to the 2,868 persons who reside in Gilchrist County.

"This means," Beckwith stated, "that in a brief period of three and a half years Seminole County has grown in population more than the population in each of 33 of the state's counties."

There are 34 counties in the state with populations of 19,000 or better, the clerk said. That figure applies to Osceola. Dade County's population was 935,047 in 1960 and is estimated to be at the one million mark today.

Expressing a sentiment we all feel sometimes, City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said with a sigh at Monday night's meeting, "I feel like I've been re-organized today."

Conversion of the grounds at municipal stadium to prepare it for the coming football season was begun Monday by the city, under the lease agreement with the high schools. First game is scheduled for mid-September.

Mayor A. L. Wilson warns jaywalkers that there is an ordinance on the city books prohibiting this practice and cautions pedestrians to please use the crosswalks at the intersections. The Clock Watcher notes that Sanford is probably the only city in the country where traffic steps for jaywalkers, though we've seen this in some foreign countries.

Warning to scooter and motorcycle riders: The city is considering making the wearing of safety helmets while riding such vehicles mandatory. Other cities have such regulations as do all military installations.

City Commissioners Monday heard, approved and adopted a resolution commending Henry Tamm for his fine job as city finance director. Tamm resigned, effective Nov. 1, to take a similar job with the county. Before he goes, Henry will fly to New York with Mayor Wilson to sign the new water development bonds.

Do you save your pennies, nickels and dimes and store them in a piggy bank? That's a good thrifty habit, but the banks would be happy if you would bring all that small change in and exchange it for some nice quiet folding money. Seems there's a shortage of small coins plaguing the money-changers.

Tom Brown of Bel Air Court says he's amazed at the quick action of city officials. He says he left a note for City Manager Pete Knowles noting trees were blocking the road-way near his home in the Wynewood section. Tom then went about his business for the day. That late afternoon when he returned home he found the trees gone.

County commissioners Tuesday decided to begin action to bring county employees under some form of hospitalization program. They asked their attorney, Harold Johnson, to draw up a tentative legislative draft to be presented at the next session of the State Legislature. Commissioner John Alexander suggested the insurance program, if adopted, be let out for bids and the Commission agreed.

Commissioners also issued a reminder of two important dates coming up soon. Aug. 3 they will sit as a Board of Adjustment and on Aug. 11 they'll hold a public hearing on the proposed fiscal budget.

Two Thieves No Longer Barefooted

Two barefoot thieves entered Spencer's Grocery in Oviedo and made off with clothing, shoes and money, local police said today.

Constable George Kelsey of Oviedo asked police to be on the lookout for the thieves should they try to sell the items.

He said they entered the store by climbing through a window and made off with 50 pairs of trousers, two pairs of pointed toe shoes, $40 in silver and $5 in pennies.

Footprints were found inside the store, Constable Kelsey said. The entry and theft occurred some time Monday night, he added.

"WELCOME ABOARD" was the greeting given Cdr. C. V. Nolte, right, commanding officer of Heavy Attack Squadron 13 which soon will be stationed at Sanford Naval Air Station. Nolte was given a preview of the local base on his arrival Tuesday night. Shown with him is Capt. James O. Mayo, commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One.

Lakefront Development:

Profit For Whom?

"I ain't going to vote to spend a dime down there unless somebody can show me how we're going to make money on it."

When the City Commission a few years ago voted a capital outlay to construct a Civic Center, did anybody ask how much money the City would get in return?

The same principal applies to the proposed marina. When the lake-front development project was proposed initially by the heads of three highly competitive financial institutions in downtown Sanford, it was made absolutely plain that this program would have to be a capital outlay and there may never be a nickel's worth of tangible results to the City government.

Attitude Of Voter Changed - - Holley

There has been a tremendous change in the attitude of the people of the state of Florida, Rep. Charles Holley, Republican gubernatorial candidate, told his Sanford supporters Tuesday, at a meeting at the Sanford Woman's Club.

Comparisons can be made only in similar situations on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Here's one for consideration. Broward County (Fort Lauderdale) experienced a marine business in 1963 that amounted to $62.1 million, a jump of $19.1 million over 1962.

How much money was spent on marine recreation last year? We'll answer that one Thursday.

The Unit Electric Control Company of Orlando has purchased a plot of land in Seminole Industrial Park and expects bids on a building to be opened Aug. 11.

The industrial park is located near the Orange County line west of Highway 17-92. A 20,000 square foot structure is planned by the firm and it is expected to employ about 50 persons, thus doubling its present employment figure.

The company manufactures electrical switch gear and control panels and provides materials for many area power companies, including Orlando Utilities and the Florida Power & Light Company.

Wekiwa VFD Issues Plea To Residents

The Wekiwa Volunteer Fire Department this week issued an urgent plea for residents in the Forest City-Lake Brantley areas to become paid subscribers in the Association which would provide fire protection for their homes and at the same time give the department the financial assist-needed to cover current operating costs. Coverage is automatically guaranteed when membership in the association is taken out at the annual fee of $5. However, a $100 charge is made if a fire at the home of a non-member.

The Wekiwa department receives no financial aid from the county and its sole support is dependent upon residents in the areas served. Basic monthly operating costs run $43.60 for payment on the building used as a fire house, $8 for utilities, approximately $15 for the dispatch phone and another $15-$20 for gasoline. Officers of the association are Thomas Gildart, president; Norman C. Nottingham, vice president and Walter Whitaker, secretary-treasurer. Fire Department officials are Blaine A. Lydick, chief; Clyde C. Cook, department chief; Robert Paice, assistant chief; Ned Vaska, captain; Tom Hurley, lieutenant and W. L. Gibbs, marshal.

Active volunteers include Bob Paige Jr., Everett Erskin, Buddy Kirkland, Olin Lind, Dave Wiersma, Ken Swanson and Stanley Curtis.

He's The Chaplain With Model A

"You know—that chaplain with the Model 'A'." This is how the Sanford Naval Air Station's new Protestant chaplain in often referred to throughout the Navy and is being heard more and more frequently around the Sanford area.

Lieutenant Commander Leo J. McDonald (Chaplain Corps), USN, who recently relieved Commander Robert L. Deal as base senior chaplain, is the proud owner of a 1931 Model 'A' Ford.

Navy officials in Washington, D. C., have been known to refer to the chaplain's collection piece as his "trademark."

The mild-mannered Texan acquired his antique automobile eight years ago while stationed at Great Lakes, Ill., from a first class petty officer for the tidy sum of $100.

Chaplain To Talk To Youth

The Deland Youth Fellowship will hear Chaplain Leo J. McDonald of Sanford Naval Air Station at its meeting Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at the Boy Scout Clubhouse, Frankfort St., Deland.

Area youths planning to attend are told to follow Highway 17-92 through Deland to Pennsylvania Avenue, then turn east for about a mile to Frankfort Street.

In some areas of the country the vehicle is valued at about $1000, according to Chaplain McDonald.

"I frequently receive inquiries about whether it's for sale or not," he says, "and when they will not take a 'not for sale' answer and insist on a price, I just double the value and jokingly tell them $2000."

Four American Officers Killed

SAIGON (UPI) — Four American officers were killed Tuesday by Communist mines and bullets in two separate incidents within 20 miles of Saigon.

A U. S. military spokesman said three of the Americans were killed when their jeep hit a mine just before noon.

The fourth U. S. officer was killed along with his Vietnamese driver in an ambush this afternoon about 16 miles northwest of Saigon, an unofficial source reported.

The new fatalities raised to 173 the number of Americans killed in combat in South Vietnam's war against the Communists. An overall total of 260 Americans have died in South Viet Nam in combat and non-combat incidents since the beginning of 1961.

Deltona Shows Speedy Growth

They're spelling progress with a capital "P" these days at Deltona, Mackle-built community.

Like all Florida, Deltona just keeps growing and growing — only faster.

Located on 15,000 acres of forested, lake-dotted land near Sanford, Deltona has grown, in just over a year and half, into a lusty young community which now boasts:

- Over 325 homes completed or under construction.
- More than 320 families in residence.
- A total population of over 750 persons.

"We knew from the start that Deltona, with its prime location and natural beauty, would have great and widespread appeal," said Frank E. Mackie, Jr., president of The Deltona Corporation. "We consider it the finest planned community we have ever built."

"But the public acceptance has exceeded even our expectations."

Deltona has progressed so rapidly, Mackie said, "that we've had to advance some of planning and construction timetables by more than a year."

Deltona was officially launched in November, 1962, and the first residents moved in April, 1963. To date, sales of homes and homesites have totaled over $20 million and the monthly figures continue to show substantial increases.

"I do my own work on the car," the chaplain says proudly. "I've overhauled it two or three times."

Besides being an antique car enthusiast, a Texan, and Baptist Minister, he is also a former Marine.

His first association with the military came in September 1913 when he entered the Marines as a private. After one and one-half years he was commissioned. He served his country again from April 1931 to June 1932 in Korea and entered the Navy in May 1933.

Born Sept. 10, 1924, in Pampa, Tex., he attended Oklahoma Baptist University, Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary and the Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

Acid In Ink Heals Burns

FORT MADISON, Ia. (UPI) — Some strange uses for fountain pen ink come to light in mail reaching Sheaffer Pen research chemists here.

Housewives praise blue ink as a laundry blueing and as a dye for furniture fabrics, blouses and hats. A Midwest mortician says red ink makes an excellent cosmetic. Any color writing fluid is helpful in treating burns and poison by irritation because of the tannic acid content, others report. But the pen company continues to recommend its product for writing only.

Miss Crumity Weds Robert L. Robinson

By Robert B. Thomas, Jr.
FA 2-3754

Betty Jean Crumity and Robert Lee Robinson of Sanford exchanged vows in a ceremony at the home of the bride on Saturday night, July 11, in a double ring ceremony with the Rev. H. B. Whitehurst officiating.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Eva Taylor, 821 Locust Avenue. Robinson is the son of Mrs. Leola Robinson of Sanford and Ella Robinson of Lakeland.

Given in marriage by her uncle, the Rev. Willis Crumity of West Palm Beach, the bride chose an informal sleeveless dress of pale blue linen with lowered round neckline. The skirt featured soft pleats at the waistline, with a blue lace jacket that featured a jewel neckline. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of roses entwined in a pearl headband. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums centered with a blue ribbon accented with streamer and stephanotis.

Elsie Crumity, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore a long-sleeved dress with fitted bodice of white lace over tulle with slim gathered skirt. She carried a bouquet of blue mums centered with a blue ribbon. Her blue headress was attached to a pearl headband with two roses on each side.

Cubit Malone served as best man. There was a reception immediately after the ceremony. Hostesses were Miss Joyce Holsendoff and Mrs. Altamase Dixon. Miss Gloria A. Dixon kept the bride's book.

Out-of-town guests were the Rev. Willis Crumity, Dilworth Crumity, and Mrs. Ruby Jones all of West Palm Beach. The bride works as a clerk typist for TWA in Cocoa. The groom is employed by the Nobi Bottling Company.

Mrs. Lena Hogan, her daughter Ann and son Willie Jr. of Gary, Indiana, have been visiting Mrs. Hogan's sister Mrs. Willie Mae Dunn of 1820 Knox Avenue in Lincoln Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Rembert and family spent their vacation in Ocala. While there, they visited Six Gun Territory. "It's something to see," said Rembert.

Mrs. Rebecca H. Green and children of Brooklyn, N. Y., have returned home after spending three weeks with Mrs. Maude Hart of this city. Mrs. Green is the former Rebecca Byrd and a former student of Crooms High School.

Private First Class Orin Hicks is on leave before departing for overseas duty. Hicks is a member of the Medical Corps and a graduate of CIS.

A surprise birthday party was given for Mrs. Pauline Stevens Dames by her mother, Mrs. Mary Galkin, at her home. Honored guests were Mrs. Helen Taylor Metz, Mrs. Ethel Golden Wilson, Mrs. Isabella Young, Mrs. Virginia Smith and a host of others. It was a gala affair as they enjoyed many rounds of pleasures.

Cpl. Charles Gaines is on leave for a few days. A graduate of Crooms High School, he was a fine quarterback for the Panthers.

L. C. Walker of Syracuse, New York, is spending a few days with relatives. A former resident of Sanford, Walker has been living in New York State for several years.

The wife or husband of each honoree read a bibliographical sketch of the life of those being honored. This is an annual program of the church to give recognition to the unsung heroes of our day.

St. John Baptist Church honored outstanding local citizens on Sunday, July 26. Dr. George W. Starke, Brother George Elliott, Brother Robert Boynton, Warren Knowles, Deacon Gary Gibson and Mrs. Grace Haynes. These citizens received citations for outstanding services, religion, civic and human relationship. The entire morning service was planned in their honor with Cassandra Sheppard giving an address on "Citizenship." Howard Elliott gave the morning solo and the pastor's message "The Religions and Civic Responsibilities of Christians and the Present Age," Matthew 22:20, 21.

St. John Church will begin its youth revival Sunday and will continue through the month of August. Special evangelical sermons will be delivered each Sunday by the pastor. The revival will extend each Sunday and Tuesday in the month with prayer meeting led by the youth of the church. The public is invited to attend these meetings. The Rev. H. B. Whitehurst is pastor.

Appreciation, whether by nature, or books, or art, or men, depends very much on temperament — Edwards. A group of individuals of our community is having an Appreciation Day for the Rev. Nathaniel Watson. The Rev. Watson has been a dedicated person to our city. He has worked with many frustrated boys and girls. This fine gentleman has been most active in our civic affairs. We are asking the public to help us make this a memorable day in the life of Rev. Watson. It will be the fifth Sunday in August. The time and place will be announced at a later date. An interesting program is being planned for your enjoyment. Robert B. Thomas, Jr., is chairman; Eunice I. Wilson, D. C. McCoy, co-chairmen, John Daniels and others.

Lester Skelton of Orlando has a hog that bore seven pigs. Two of them resemble an elephant. One is black and the other is white. This writer got a chance to see the white pig. It has a trunk; its feet and ears look just like an elephant's. According to Skelton, the black pig - elephant (that's my terminology) looked more like an elephant than the former. Sounds fantastic, but it's true.

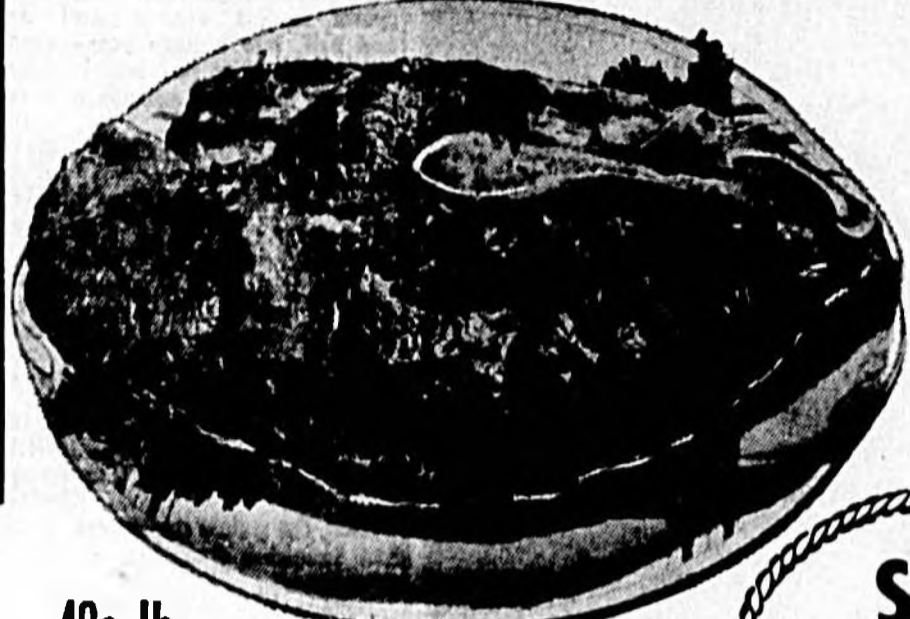

A farm is likely to have more insecticides and other poisons, and in larger quantities than other homes. These materials should always be locked up away from small children.

Burglars Had Blueprint To Looted Home

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—Paul Ludman and police had a theory today that burglars who looted his home of $25,000 in furs and jewelry used a four-page article in an architectural magazine for a blueprint.

Ludman told police Monday that he and his family returned to their house Sunday and found the furs and jewels gone, but the rest of the house had not been ransacked.

This led Ludman and officers to suspect the burglars had used the article in this month's magazine to learn the layout of his home and plan the burglary carefully.

More Pressure Tests Thursday

Home Demonstration Agent Myrtle Wilson announced today that pressure canners will be tested again at the Home Demonstration Center in Sanford Thursday from 9 a.m. until Noon. Tests were made this morning.

Only the pressure gauges will be needed. No lids are necessary. It will take approximately 10 minutes for testing each gauge.

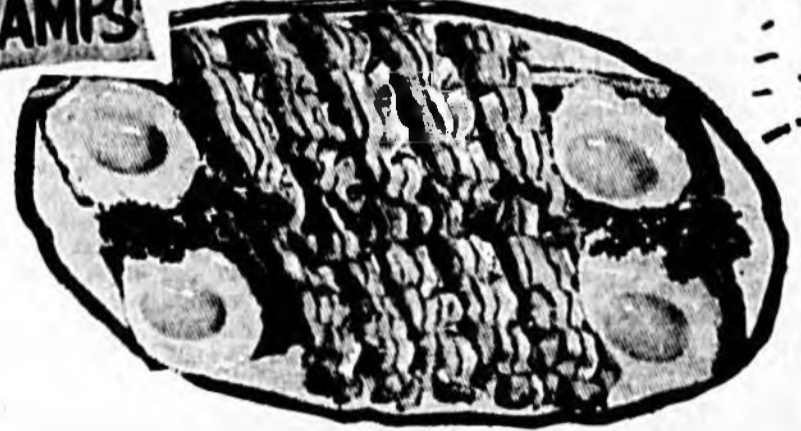

Only the seven or 21-quart canner gauges will be tested since the master tester is borrowed from the University of Florida and does not test small cookers. Miss Wilson, will be at the Center.

ETTA DORMAN, (Mrs. D. K.) has been presented with a life membership in the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs by the circles of the Sanford Garden Club.

The presentation was made to Etta in recognition of the leadership she has given the ETTA DORMAN club during her two years in office.

The ceremony took place at the Lucky Area home of Mrs. Henry Simpson in Geneva, when the circles gathered for a covered dish picnic recently.

"Etta has not been just president in name only—she has taken an active and enthusiastic part in everything we have done," said a member of the club.

"No matter what was going on—a flower show, plant sales, bazaar, card parties, getting out yearbooks or any other activities, Etta has been right in there working, with her sleeves rolled up."

One of the most enthusiastic leaders the club has ever had, Etta has been instrumental in obtaining a location for future permanent garden center.

We understand that there will be more news about this new venture announced soon. The garden club bazaar, which Mrs. Dorman initiated is expected to be one of their prime fund-raising projects for future development plans.

BETTY BRANDT, one of Sanford's brightest youngest ladies, is returning to Sanford soon from New York City where she has been working at the World's Fair, along with a number of other Sanford college students.

Betty will visit here with her mother for a few weeks before returning to her studies at FSU. She was a member of the Brain Bowl team while in Seminole High and earned high honors scholastically, winning several scholarships, too.

Other Sanford students working at the Fair during the summer have been Linda Mills and Linda Williams, Steve Wilson, Mike Casolo, Tim Richards, Terry Miller and Ladd McCoy.

Although all have reported having an interesting time and seeing a lot of sights, the racial troubles up there make everyone uneasy.

Linda Mills and Linda Williams have now returned home, and Miss Williams has already taken a short trip to Michigan.

Not intending to particularly single out Betty, may we add that all the other young people mentioned in this item are bright, too—and good looking to boot.

erintendent last week when he spoke to the Jaycees.

Listen to this:

"By 1970 it is estimated that there will be ten million unemployed high school graduates in the United States," Milwaukee said.

I don't think I am supposed to tell the theme, but you can't help seeing the setting from the highway. There's a long causeway built in an artificial lake, leading up to a very real-looking castle, with some more castles in the background, which we couldn't see too well.

They always go all out for their national jubilee, with top ranking entertainment and imaginative themes.

We had occasion to notice the preparations while attending a big press party down there last week, which the Tupperware and advertising people threw. They did that in grand style, too, and a high old time was had by all the newspaper, television and radio folks who gathered to hear about the plans. And everyone went away with the newest inventions in those handy home products.

WHILE ATTENDING the big press party we mentioned above, we had occasion to discuss Sanford's proposed waterfront development plan with many representatives of Central Florida news media.

All those we talked to expressed great interest in the proposal and joined us in hoping that it will "come to pass."

As we chatted, they asked a lot of questions, expressed the opinion that the waterfront is indeed Sanford's greatest asset and asked us to keep them informed on any future developments.

All offered their services to promote, push and encourage the project and we came away feeling real proud of the "thinking" men who put so much time and effort into the pictorial presentation which has fired the imagination of Seminole Countians, as well as interested people all over Central Florida.

SOME FACTS that will interest you were quoted by R. T. Milwee, county school sup-

MRS. KLAUS KLEICH, left, of Frankfurt, Germany was a recent house guest of her aunt, Mrs. Matilda Kramer at her Griggs Drive home in Casselberry. Mrs. Kleich's husband, Capt. Klaus Kleich, is a commercial airlines pilot and Mrs. Kleich is entitled to flight privileges throughout the world. This is her first trip to America and she is favorably impressed with Florida. She enjoyed visiting the World's Fair with her uncle, Hans Bluesser, and was a guest of the South Seminole Welcome Wagon Club recently. Her children, Monika and Susan remained in Germany at East Sen, a camp for children.

Those who are not prepared will be on tomorrow's relief rolls. And it is not just students—adults, too need re-training, further training, they need to keep on learning, progressing and improving.

There'll be jobs—there are jobs right now going begging. Ask Joe Foy down at the FSES about the positions and openings he is unable to fill. But it takes training and learning.

Every year hundreds of new job classifications are added to the lists of available employment. Jobs never heard of before a few years ago. Let's learn how to do them.

A community college places training and education within the reach of nearly everyone in the community, since it is close enough that even those presently employed can take advantage of evening classes and students or adults can commute each day, living at home and cutting costs to the bone.

Those of you who are racking your brains to try to come up with the means to send your youngster to college should make your voices heard now, in support of the proposed Seminole County Community Junior College—or vocational-technical training school. It would really be both.

At the same time, school board members and educators are hard at work incorporating more technical-vocational training at the high school level, with additional classes in technical skills being added each year and more planned.

The plan which allows students to attend the Seminole County Business College where business education and business machines are available, with accumulated credits toward graduation, is also a helpful one.

Every time a student graduates from high school and is academically and/or financially unable to gain further schooling in a skill or trade, the higher the statistics mount on the unemployment rolls.

Times have changed—and there's no use shaking our heads or bemoaning the so-called "good old days"—we are already in the world of

Smoking Program Conducted By Dr. Nesmith

Dr. M. A. Nesmith Jr., local physician, presented an interesting program on "The Effects of Smoking on Health" to members of the Salvation Army at a recent meeting held at the Salvation Army Chapel.

Dr. Nesmith and Mrs. Lorraine Graham, program administrator, Seminole County Unit of the Central Florida Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, were introduced by Mrs. Harry S. Foden.

Dr. Nesmith gave an interesting and informative talk and showed slides on "Smoking and Health." The slides were made by C. Frank Tate, M. D., Associate Professor of Medicine, University of Miami School of Medicine, Miami.

After the showing of the slides, a question and answer period was conducted by Dr. Nesmith.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1964
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is certainly the day and evening for you to make the decisions that can be most helpful in the years ahead. But confine such policies to the ones that require you to use your finest mental powers to arrive at the correct answers. Search for new ideas.

AIRES (March 21 to April 19) Going after personal desires in a most enthusiastic way and being social at the same time is best method. If you speak honestly, clearly, others assist. Be adroit.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Being with experts or specialists in your field may be the best way to advance now. Use own initiative as well. Assist those who are ill in the evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Contacting those who are good allies and interested in your welfare brings help and many fine ideas today. Getting about socially tonight is also good. Be charming.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Some powerful person you know will gladly answer important questions that clarify your position, help you to succeed. Be more at ease. Others also are interested in you.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) Fine day to contact those of influence and character who can show you best way to succeed faster. Some very fine idea will propel you forward with true speed. Be alert.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) If you are meticulous in all your duties, you gain good will of higher-ups now. Be loyal to husband, or wife. Then you will be supported properly.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your success depends upon the way you decide where all agreements, deals are concerned. Waste no time. After a productive day, get off to the hobbies that please.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) If you adopt a more kindly air, others will respond readily. You have clever ideas to offer and put in operation. Long discussion on methods in flow.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Being with dynamic persons and going along with their ideas is best way to advance now. These must be admirers of yours. You must learn to smile more.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) If you convince others you want the best for them, they soon cooperate. Buy some thoughtful gift for kin. Their pleasure will be sufficient reward.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) It is up to you to run around and get all outside chores handled, both yours and those of associates. Put statements in order. Work — you love it!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) You deserve more out of life than you are getting, whether from a personal or business standpoint. Contact experts. They show the right way to advance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, there is every chance of success here, since your progeny will be brilliant and have the physical stamina for hard work, be practical in thought and action. However, you must early give fine ethical and spiritual training so that the intense pride in this nature will be used wisely and not to turn others against him or her.

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Kidding On Level

The precocious political plans of some Massachusetts teen-agers appear to have been nipped in the bud. The youngsters—including a girl—decided to run for the state's House of Representatives on the basis of a loophole they found in the law which neglected to place an age limitation on independent candidates.

But the Massachusetts secretary of state has dug up a 1919 ruling which says that "only members of the electorate, those of voting age, can serve in elective office."

In other words, the kids could conceivably be elected but couldn't take office—not for five years, anyway.

State officials have been notably ill-humored about the whole thing, regarding it as a particularly embarrassing bit of teenaged prankishness. (One of the boys, though, claims he just wanted to dramatize the deficiency in the law so that it could be rectified.)

In view of all the concern these days over teen-age morality, vandalism, lack of purpose and so on, it seems these kids ought to be praised rather than censured for taking such an active interest in politics.

How many grownups have ever studied their state statutes? How many don't even bother to vote?

Pocer For Kipling

A woman, said Kipling, is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke. The statement is still capable of starting an argument, though it now appears (to steal another of the poet's lines) that the twin are beginning to meet.

While cigarette consumption has plummeted by some 16 billion since the release of the government report linking smoking with health hazards, something called the "little cigar" has been climbing up on the graphs even faster than pipe tobacco or regular cigars.

The Department of Agriculture reports that 132 million little cigars were sold during April of this year, compared with only 16 million during the same month of 1963.

Much of this, the makers say, is due to the little cigar's growing acceptance among ladies looking for something to do with their hands, particularly since the cigars now come with fancy filter tips—even a mentholated tip.

With only three or four brands on the market before the government report, there are now 11. If the sales trend continues, little cigars this year will top the record of 1911 when they were at the peak of their popularity. It was about that time that cigarettes began to push them out of favor.

Actually, cigarette means "little cigar," though it isn't, really. A little cigar is a true cigar, not meant to be inhaled, that looks like a sun-tanned cigarette, which helps explain its appeal to both sexes.

One wonders just what Kipling would say about it all, though, especially that mentholated tip.

Bad Spellers Get Help

Evidently the British school system has its shortcomings, too. Or perhaps we should blame it on the language, which is even less rational in its English form than in American English, as far as spelling goes.

At any rate, there is a large enough reservoir of bad spellers in the United Kingdom to warrant the publishing of a new book just for them and appropriately entitled "The Awful Spellers' Dictionary."

What a boon to mankind, English-speaking division. For generations bad spellers have been frustrated in their attempts to look up the correct spellings of words. How can you look up a word if you don't know how it's spelled in the first place?

All that is remedied now. For example, if you want to know how to spell the word "phenomenal" and all you can think of is the obvious, sensible spelling "fenomenal," which you know is wrong, in this new dictionary you can look it up as "fenomenal" and find the correct spelling next to it.

Like we said, this is a grate advance in lexicography, even if we don't happen to need it ourselves.

Helen Fuller Says

Demos Running Scared

WASHINGTON — There is no tendency at the top in Washington to discount the threat that Barry Goldwater can pose to continued control by the Democrats after November.

Liberal Republican pollsters were saying at San Francisco that the Arizona Senator will make a poorer showing against Lyndon Johnson than any Republican Presidential candidate since Alf Landon. Some liberal Democrats voice the same belief.

The White House is not so sanguine.

The cynical point out that it is always good politics for the party to run scared. Potential campaign contributors feel no great urge to rush forward with checks in hand to pay for a race that seems a sure thing. And unless they feel the hot breath of competition in their immediate vicinity, party workers are likely to be lazy about ringing doorbells and wearing out the telephone to get friendly voters to the polls.

But the on-the-scene evidence is that the Johnson organization honestly does not underestimate the potential power of the Goldwater opposition. In a year when the probable points of conflict between the parties are so volatile and their explosive effect so incalculable, that seems simple political horse sense.

There are too many unknowns to permit a reasonable political prediction for 1964. Will all the Republican "moderates" who left San Francisco in dejection and frustration remain that way in November — not voting for or even opposing the Goldwater-Miller ticket?

Will Northern segregation-minded Democrats change their Goldwater vote over Johnson in the secrecy of the polling booth?

Will business men who like Johnson's approach to economic matters shift substantial support to the Democrats?

Only an imprudent prophet would predict these and other central questions so early in a campaign. President Johnson's professional aides at the moment concentrated on how Sen. Goldwater put together his winning nomination drive for what this may reveal about his coming strategy to win the election.

Study of the statistics shows that Goldwater had close to enough delegate votes from the South and West to win, without the strong support he finally received from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and New Jersey.

The political tea leaf readers take these facts to mean that Goldwater can be expected to take the battle into his high ground territory of the South and West and to carve out those areas before reaching out for the winning margin that would have to come from some of those non-Southern and non-Western states that finally plunked for him a San Francisco.

This insures a highly personal campaign, full of inventive, regardless of what either of the principal candidates promises or intends at this time.

"Aren't You Glad We Don't Have to Go Through THAT?"

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Laverne's case is duplicated among thousands of young wives. Many new mothers become sanitarium cases, often because their husbands don't understand the emotional shock that results when a "spoiled" wife becomes demoted to a secondary role as the spotlight shifts to the new baby. Send for the booklet below. All brides should read it.

CASE T-433: Laverne Z. is a job as sales clerk in a dime store.

But she was ambitious, so she took a night course in typing and landed a good job in an advertising agency.

Since she was good looking and with clever ideas, her boss praised her a great deal. This was doubly enjoyable, for now she revelled in being an important person instead of a family drudge.

Her boss finally started dating her and then proposed marriage. She was reluctant to leave her exciting life in the advertising agency, so she stalled off the wedding for almost a year.

Then her husband agreed that she could still work at the office, but the arrival of the baby stopped that.

It also vividly revived her hatred of her stifling childhood as nursemaid and cook. So she was at first indifferent to her baby.

Then she worried lest God might kill the infant to punish her, which was when her wild nightmares started, and she became overly solicitous about the baby's health.

Send for my booklet "The Death Wish," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Every young wife should read it!

(Always write in Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

Someone mentioned the deplorable site of the lot west of the Masonic Building. I am glad someone else sees these conditions as well as I do.

May I add a few more eyesores to the list. First of all why don't they give the front of our public library a coat of paint. Especially the stairs and door. One gallon of green paint will do the job. The weeds along our city streets look terrible especially at Third and Park.

Why doesn't our city do some cleaning about our planters on First Street, they need more water too. Our merchants are too busy to look after them. Hope the city fathers see this letter.

Yours truly,

Holmes Alexander He's Too Good To Lose

By Holmes Alexander

WASHINGTON, D. C. — When country boy bites the hand of the city slicker, that's news — and it happened here. But when a U. S. Senator, acting from conscience and a high-minded decision to correct his own mistake, sends back $14,351.84 of campaign money in an election year — that's a deed of honor which ought to mount him on a pedestal for the open admiration of his colleagues, his constituents and his country.

He is Senator Quentin N. Burdick, Democrat of North Dakota, a farm-organization lawyer back home, the son of a well-loved, sincerely-lamented Congressman whom he succeeded in the House a few years ago, a man with a face as rugged as a Rocky Mountain bluff, a politician mainly concerned with the needs of his State and not very hep to international convolutions.

Let us set the stage. On July 1st, which is fiscal New Year's day in Washington, the Senate had met to vote itself a pay raise, but whirled off that subject into a blistering, two-hour debate on the Council For A Livable World. This outfit is a fan the bomb group. It is attempting unilateral disarmament by the financial support of seven senators, not one of whom is on the Armed Services or Joint Atomic Energy Committees and all of whom are relatively uninformed in military matters. I have previously listed these men and the money they received. The top taker was Quentin Burdick.

With the debate in full fury, and while Senator Dominick (R., Colo.) was lashing the Council and its beneficiaries, he received a note which he paused to read aloud. It came from Senator Warren Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Democratic Elections Committee. It stated that, since the publication of my earlier articles on the Council, Burdick had returned the entire sum which Council members had sent him.

Later, I went to see Burdick and he confirmed Magnuson's statement.

"You alerted me," said Burdick. "I knew nothing about the Council until I read what you wrote, and what you told me in this office. But after I studied up on some of the reference material, I knew that I didn't care to be associated with the Council."

He might have summoned the press and made a grandstand play of his renunciation scene, but he looked upon this as a matter between himself and his conscience. With no fuss, on May 7th, long before the searing debate, he wrote the Council: "My view is that this country's goal should be, of course, world peace, but as we strive toward it, we must provide for the common defense. Disarmament should come through a step-by-step process with proper guarantees. It is my strong belief it would not be in the best interests of this country to engage in any disarmament program that is not multilateral in nature."

But how does a man of modest means return such a sum of money, much of it already spent on campaign expenses? The Council is tricky. It seldom, if ever, dishes out large amounts which must be reported and will attract public attention. Instead, it designates senators and congressmen who are willing to accept this kind of contribution. It asks the Council's secret membership to donate directly to the designated candidates for election or reelection. Burdick had to sit down and write 234 separate personal checks and covering letters to persons in 32 states. Four members were so impressed by his honest repudiation that they told him to keep the money as a token of esteem. Here is a typical covering letter that Burdick sent:

"... Recently I found myself in disagreement with the views of Dr. Szilard, who is co-chairman of the Board of Directors of the Council. While I am most appreciative, under the circumstances, I think it only proper that I return your contribution, which is enclosed."

For a newspaperman it is an unusual experience to cause a senator to disburse himself of campaign funds. It is a unique one to cause a senator who is capable of such self-sacrifice in the cause of setting a wrong deed right.

I'd be surprised if the American people didn't make every effort to send Quentin Burdick back to the Senate. He's too good a man to lose.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is planning her wedding. She has asked her 18-year-old cousin to be a bridesmaid. The problem is that this cousin has a 12-year-old sister who thinks she should be a bridesmaid, or have some special part in the wedding, so she can be in the wedding party, too. She has even begged to be a flower girl (she is five feet seven) but my daughter doesn't want her. We aren't having any junior bridesmaids, so that's out. This little snip has always been jealous of her older sister and is extremely hard to handle. Her mother (my sister) has me on the telephone twenty times a day telling me that we MUST fit this child into the wedding party as she is becoming unmanageable. What do you suggest?

BRIDE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I suggest that you tell your sister that the bride decides who shall be in the wedding party. The 12-year-old girl needs to learn a very important lesson in life. "We can't always have what we want." Now would be as good a time as any to teach her.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a bit of information which doesn't amount to a "damn," but perhaps you can use it. Your correspondent who claimed that the expression, "Don't give a dam" was not improper because a "dam" was a small Indian coin, may have been right. But the origin of the "dam" used in that sense came from the old-time traveling "tinker," or fix-it man. When mending pots and pans, he used a small ridge of clay around the edge of the hole of the vessel to prevent the solder from running off the area for which it was intended. The little clay ridge was called a "tinker's dam." After the hole had been mended it had no further use. Hence the phrase. Best regards.

J. F. WEADOCK

DEAR ABBY: I had company last Sunday. Mrs. A. stopped by with her four-year-old son. A few minutes later Mrs. B. came with her six-year-old daughter. The children played together while we ladies talked. Mrs. A. casually said, "I hope Jackie isn't coming down with measles. He was exposed to them in our neighborhood and he does look rather feverish." Mrs. B. shot out of her chair like an electric current went through it, and then she shouted angrily at Mrs. A., "A fine time to tell me! My Janie just got over an ear infection and if she catches measles it could settle in her ear!" Then she grabbed her daughter by the arm and flew out the door. Mrs. A., and her little boy, left shortly afterwards with tears in her eyes. That evening Mrs. A.'s husband called and said I should ask Mrs. B. to phone his wife and apologize for hurting her feelings. Well, I called Mrs. B. and gave her the message, and she said Mrs. A. owed HER an apology for exposing her child to measles. Who do you think owes whom an apology?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Both edgy mothers should apologize to each other for behaving even more childishly than their children.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOUNG AND IN TROUBLE: I cannot help you unless you tell me where to send the information. PLEASE confide in your parents at once. I promise you they will understand and help you in spite of what you have done.

Highlights

TV time critics preview coming television shows by attending rehearsals, watching screenings, studying scripts in New York and Hollywood. Here are their previews for today:

7:30-8:30 p.m. CBS Reports: "The Legacy of the Thresher" (Rerun) The loss of the submarine Thresher (April 10, 1963) was the first major disaster afflicting our nuclear Navy. Tonight's hour deals with this tragic incident and with the detailed and extensive scientific search for the vessel and its crew as filmed during the actual hunt. Good underwater footage illustrates the search and also helps explain what progress is being made in broadening our knowledge of the sea and making it safe in the future. There are many interviews with scientific and naval experts to augment the film.

7:30-9 p.m. NBC, Virginian: "A Matter of Destiny" (Color) (Rerun) Peter Graves does a convincing job as a rich villain who finds himself needing the help of the man whose girl he swiped. In this case, it's Trampas (Doug McClure) who finds himself in the ambivalent position of saving the life of a man he hates. The script tends to run on too long after it makes each of its little points, but it is the end of July, so why be too critical?

8:30-9 p.m. ABC, Farmer's Daughter: "The Playboy of Capitol Hill" (Rerun) This episode is notable only for the fact that Peter Graves guests as a bachelor congressman with a roving eye. In this one, he's after Katy. If it weren't for the fact that Graves is so insufferably noble on "Fury," we might begin to suspect something.

9:00-9:30 p.m. CBS, The Beverly Hillsbillies: (Rerun) You can't be hilarious all the time so don't take it too hard if this one isn't as funny as usual. The Clampetts "crash" snoopy Mrs. Drysdale's garden party hoping to have some fun, but find it to be dreadfully dull. The Hillbillies then put on a party of their own that finds the bored guests deserting Mrs. Drysdale in favor of the earthy mountain-type howdown. It's Granny (Irene Ryan) who provokes the real laughs in this one.

9:10 p.m. NBC, Espionage: "The Liberators" (Rerun) This is such a fine cast that it shouldn't be ignored just because the script is on the incredible side. Stars are Robert Webber, Michael Tolan (now a "Nurses" regular) and Englishman Donald Pleasence. If you care to, you can assume this drama is anti-Castro.

9:30-10 p.m. CBS, The Dick Van Dyke Show: (Rerun) A very thin plot, even for a comedy, saved by a clever scene in a psychiatrist's office.

In duplicate play a partner score hand is likely to be played by either side, depending on who is willing to make the last competitive bid.

At most tables at the Valley View Studio in Dallas, West was allowed to play three spades. North would open the Jack of diamonds. South would cash two diamond tricks and shift to the queen of clubs.

The trick would be won in dummy and a low spade led. Some South players hopped right up with the ace and led a heart to partner, whereupon a club return enabled South to ruff for the fifth defensive trick. Other South players ducked, whereupon West trick since good defense caused South to lose two hearts and one trick in each black suit.

The North-South top went to a player who managed to make four diamonds.

He won the first spade with his ace and promptly ran off six trump tricks. His first discard from dummy was the three of clubs, second the nine of spades and the next two the four and six of hearts. East also had to make four discards. Naturally, he hung on to his clubs for dear life. He should have thrown two spades and two hearts, but he went wrong and discarded three hearts. Now South played ace and another heart to set up his last heart for the tenth trick.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

News item with a Dallas dateline: "Latest innovation in home design: a 'padded cell' for teen-agers.

"A sound-conditioned house here utilizes a large walk-in closet as a retreat where teen-agers may telephone or study in privacy. The floor is padded with five layers of foam rubber and then carpeted. Extra lighting, storage and shelf space, a telephone and floor-to-ceiling mirror complete the decor."

Offer a teen-age daughter that kind of retreat and her parents might not see her for days. There's that nice, soft carpet for her to stretch out on while she talks to all her friends, hour after hour.

And there's that full-length mirror in which to study her features and decide which one she hates the most—experiment with eye make-up, put her hair on rollers, and try to make up her mind which movie star or folk singer she has the best chance of resembling.

But wait; the designer of this teen-age "padded cell" left out a couple of absolute necessities — a well-stocked refrigerator to raid periodically and a record player to provide the sound effects teen-agers feel they have to have at all times.

With just those two additions to her private hide-away, what teen-ager would ever care to join the family circle?

For the future of family togetherness, perhaps it was just as well they were overlooked.

Vaccination For Smallpox Still Needed

"The fact that smallpox has been rare in the United States for some time has led to neglect of vaccination in many instances. At least three-fourths of our population do not have adequate protection against the disease," Dr. Frank Leone, director of the Seminole County Health Department said today.

"Effective prevention of smallpox by vaccination was discovered more than a century and a half ago. Yet today almost 100,000 cases of this global disease are reported annually to the World Health Organization," Dr. Leone noted.

"Furthermore, it appears to be afflicting increasing numbers of people," Dr. Leone emphasized.

"Nearly twice as many people died from the disease in 1963 as in 1962. Up to November 20, 1963, more than 25,000 deaths were reported around the world, compared with approximately 14,000 during all of 1962.

"Although most cases of this highly contagious disease are now located in countries south of the equator, the frequency and speed of international travel have increased the risk to northern countries, including the United States. "An ever-present problem is that the virus can be transmitted from an infected individual to others before any signs of the disease appear. As an official of the American Medical Association recently warned, "The danger that smallpox will be brought in by an international traveler is ever present. One infected person could touch off a hundred cases before it's even known the disease is in the country."

Serious outbreaks of the disease have recently occurred in Sweden and England as a result of infected persons entering these countries and spreading the infection among susceptible people.

In New York City, a boy who arrived on a plane from overseas stopped over on his way to Canada. Later it was found that he had become infected with smallpox shortly before departure from abroad, though he had shown no signs of the disease on arrival at the John F. Kennedy International Airport.

Quick action by Public Health Service Officers prevented what might have been a serious outbreak of the disease here. This action involved a rapid, widespread investigation of hundreds of people who were possibly exposed to the infection, as well as numerous vaccinations of those found susceptible to the disease.

"This year and next, many welcome visitors from abroad will attend the World's Fair, mingling with other visitors from all parts of the United States. Despite the constant vigilance of health officers, it is possible for recently infected persons from overseas to infect susceptible individuals here. International Vaccination Certificates are required of all persons entering the United States, but they are not always valid.

"Physicians recommend that children be vaccinated during their first year of life. In addition, many states require that children be vaccinated before entering kindergarten or first grade. Further, because the individual duration of protection varies it is recommended that revaccination be done at least every five years," Dr. Leone noted.

"Don't run the risk of having this preventable disease strike you and your family. Keep a record of all vaccinations and consult your doctor," Dr. Leone urged.

Hendrix Forms 'Underground'

TAMPA (UPI) — A former Imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan is organizing a new group called the "American Underground" to fight the civil rights law, "with violence if necessary."

Hill Hendrix of Oldemar said the AUG "will cooperate with all Klan groups and other right wing groups who realize that the Negro agitators of today were trained in Communist schools."

Cabinet Okays New Hirings

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The cabinet agreed Tuesday to hire 176 new employes in the state public welfare department to meet federal government requirements in two new programs.

The new employes will work in the department's public assistance program. Also approved was the hiring of 10 workers for the department's medical assistance for the aged program.

The new employes will reduce the case load within the state department to 90 to one. The department has until 1967 to lower its case load to a 60 to one ratio to assure continued federal matching funds.

The bulk of the new employes would be social workers and transfer operators. The salaries ranged from 2,928 for the operators to a high of $8,200 for a social worker supervisor.

The cabinet also approved transfer of $810,001 from the reserve to implement the public assistance program and $108,105 to implement the medical assistance for aged program.

Jackie Debates Convention Visit

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widow of the President, is debating whether to attend the Democratic National Convention, a source close to the Kennedy family said today.

The source said that Mrs. Kennedy is "highly interested" in the possible candidacy of her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, for the vice presidential nomination.

Mrs. Kennedy flies to New York today, her 25th birthday, to attend a meeting of the trustees of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Then she planned to go to Newport, R. I., to join her children, before a flight to Greece Aug. 5. She will cruise the Greek islands aboard a yacht chartered by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wrightman of Palm Beach, longtime friends of the late President and his widow.

Gator Loose In New York Lake

NEW YORK (UPI) — Visitors to the World's Fair Monday received a strange warning: Don't swim in Meadow Lake adjacent to the Fair's amusement area—there's an alligator loose in it.

The reptile slipped out of the alligator pool at the Florida Pavilion and set off for the wider spaces of the lake. Only two and a half feet long, the baby gator eluded pursuers all day long and frolicked in the cold water.

In the evening, a posse from the ASPCA, agents of the Florida Fish and Game Commission and fair policemen managed to retrieve the animal. It was returned to its much smaller pool.
