Big bass seem to have taken a liking to John Fisher of this city. Just a few days ago, John landed a lunker of 10% pounds and to show that it was not an accident, went back to the same spot this past week and topped his own record, with some help from Ronnie Davis. Using a spinning rod, and king-sized plastic worm, Fisher hooked the BIG ONE, but during the ensuing struggle, his new rod broke. Davis grabbed the broken tip and assisted John in hand-lining the fish into the boat. Plenty of anglers would gladly exchange a broken rod for an 11 pound, 27 inch largemouth. Nice going,

Marina Isle Fish Camp, Shirley and Bob King, owners, had several good catches of shad during the week. Even with Saturday's wind and weather, one boat returned to camp with five. A Thursday trolling trip by C. G. Caudell and Dorse Duff resulted in a mixed string of 12 specks, 10 shad and a few herring. The perch hit on trolled Shad Darts and spoons. Perch congregated in the deep water beside the camp and bank fishermen had an easy time hooking all the specks they wanted. Bream were also doing their thing here with one boat showing a string of 37.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Harvey confined their fishing to the Lake Bethel area and topped their string of seven bass with one weighing seven pounds on a Wednesday trip, Jim Blyth of the Plaza Sports Shop told this catch and mentioned also that Ed Gordon fished the same spot Thursday with five bass Bream hit well in the Wekiva River for George Fowler this week. George Cheney of the Wekiva River Haven Camp, reported that most of the boats going out from his place were getting good catches of them on worms and mussels.

Five pounds, six pounds and seven pounds, all bass and all caught by the same lady angler reported Ottis Faulk from Camp Seminole. The Wekiva has been producing some fine catches for Dottie Hill recently. Jim Cheatham also has been getting his share out of this camp-his latest haul being seven bass up to three pounds each

Osteen Bridge Camp reported Sunday's fishing slow with a few bridge and bank fisherman getting specks but few boaters in this part of the river. Pat Brooks, Lemon Bluff, said speckled perch were striking well on live minnows and plenty of catfish were being caught, but not many shad coming in. This was the word Sunday. Twenty-six speckled perch, some as large as 21/2 pounds, fell to Bill Holbrook and Johnny Stanish last Monday. They used jigs in the shallow water around the Lake Jessup shoreline. Other reports compiled by Don Smith, Seminole Sporting Goods, included eight shad, each one over the five pound mark, for Bruce Clarke on Friday while Buddy Smith took his limit of 10 bass, all fair sized, from an un-named lake

Lake Jessup is slowly coming to life with most boats bringing in strings of 10 to 15 specks per trip. Hiley's Camp told of one angeler having a limit catch on Monday and 25 more Tuesday. The best strings are being taken in shallow water as the fish are going on the beds. Next week should see plenty of action with the approach of the full moon.

Trout fishing is terrific in the area south of New Smyrns Live shrimp accounted for five for one party fishing out of Al-Jo's Camp Tuesday. Not a big catch but one of them tipped the scales at eight pounds, another at six. Ted Gregg, a Sanford resident, used mirro-lure plugs to land 35, also on Tuesday. The biack and gold speckled color seems to be the best bet just now (TT23 is the serial number). Dorse Duff, a Kentucky visitor to Sanford, finally got a break in the weather and tried the trout in the same part of the Indian River. He wasn't disappointed as he brought in 25 and threw back nearly four times that number. Duff used the Mirro-lure Cold weather causes trout to seek the deepest holes they can find so a little time spent in probing the bottom with an oar to locate these holes is time well used. Cast to the edge of the shallow water, allow the plug to sink for a few seconds, retrieve in short, sharp jerks, very slowly. When the Mirrolure is worked in this fashion, it is hard to get to the boat without having a strike.

Checking the Daytona Beach area this weekend elicited the information that trout have been scarce but bluefish are still in the Halifax River. Many are being caught by bridge fishermen according to Wayne Brady of the l'ishin' Hole Tackle Shop. Pier fishing has been limited to whiting and sheephead as the water has been unusually dirty due to the strong winds. Sun-Glow Peir reported big bonita schooling around the end of the pier, but anglers could not interest them in taking a bait. All charter boats were weather-bound over the weekend but should be heading outside once more as soon as the wind subsides.-LET'S GO FISHING!

Nixon In China; History Being Made

President Richard M. Nixon in Peking! An historical fact and an event which is so surrounded by "ifs", "ands" and "buts" that its true meaning will be slow in emerging and may not, in truth, be recognizable until all the leading actors in this drama have made their final exit. But it must be said and should be recognized that what this American president has done is a move so bold and courageous that the history of the world will be altered. For the good, we all hope, for the worst, none can honestly fear. Once more the hand of an American president has set before the American people an object lesson in geography. The amazing panorama of mainland China, its depth and breadth, its vistas of extreme and delicate beauty and social graces, its people with a sameness of costume and to the occidental eyes, of face and figure, and - as portrayed by on-thespot TV visuals - its cleanliness should stir everyone's imagination.

As the "Spirit of '76" set down at the Peking airport, doors opened and a smiling and assured Nixon stepped down with the lovely Pat Nixon at his side, TV viewers all over the world-and especially in his homeland—must have thrilled. When both Premier Chou En Lai and the visiting American chief executive toasted each other and made an obvious effort to spell out the mutual aims and not the differences of their "people" (not their Governments) a climate was in creation which should further the longtime > objective that Nixon holds. The President proposed that the two peoples "start a long march together" even if taking different roads, with a common goal "a world structure of peace and justice for all."

> Premier Chou had opened the door for this response when he toasted the visit. "This," said the Chinese premier, "is a positive move in conformity with the desire of the American and Chinese people and an event unprecedented in the history of relations between the United States and China."

Of these two sentiments, that of Premier Chou was much the more realistic. For the history of American-Chinese relations has been a

U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. From their standpoint-from the standpoint of Mao and Chou and their aides, the first objective was going to be an attempt to read between Mr. Nixon's words and Henry Kissinger's statements and find out why Nixon "really" made this trip. Nixon's Real Aims

WASHINGTON (NEA)

The mainland Chinese apparently have no hope that Mr. Nixon will withdraw U.S. recognition of Taiwan or cancel out the defense treaty we have with Chiang Kai-

The Nixon administration has already made public statements that relations between Taiwan and the mainand are a Chinese matter. U.S. fleet movements in the area have already been restricted to some extent. Plans ave already been made for reducing the number of American military personnel on Taiwan.

While the Chinese do not expect recognition at this time, About 78,000 youngsters in the nearly an hour on a school bus to require formation of a they would like some sort of informal exchange of missions-economic, technical and cultural-which would district will ride school buses Decisions in similar cases are filed in Baltimore by people who serve the same purpose.

It is difficult to describe just how anxious the Chinese communists are, after all these years, on the question of legitimacy. This is why Taiwan is so important to them And the United Nations vote, on their terms. It is part of the reason for their desire to be included formally in any peace conference on Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. The men around Chou, as of a few weeks back, were known to be convinced Mr. Nixon's aim was the building

I some sort of arrangement to contain the Soviet Union That purpose is fine with them. But they wanted to find out for certain what really was on his mind. They do not necessarily believe what they see on the surface.

On the Chinese side, my old acquaintance reports from his recent trip, there was no sign of wanting or expecting any sort of formal alliance or arrangement with the United States. But Peking apparently would like to build up enough of a link with Washington to give Moscow pause and thus insure mainland China's independence and freedom of action.

Everywhere he went, reported this man who spent much of his early life in China, he found deep Chinese concern with Soviet activities in Mongolia-and in Szechuan and in other border provinces. They were embittered by Moscow's extreme political pressures during the perod when China was heavily dependent on Russia for economic aid. They talked incessently of old Russian grabs of territory when China was weak.

The Communist Chinese also strongly desire expression from President Nixon that would add to recognition of their legitimacy. For one, they want to be more firmly convinced that the U.S. government publicly and privately regards the relationship of the Republic of China on Taiwan (Formosa) and the People's Republic of China on the nainland as an internal affair to be settled by the Chinese

One Man's Opinion Good Water News For Desert Area

A minor mystery solved in Vermont and a plastic developed in Arizona could make the world's deserts bloom. Scientists have long noted the ability of plant foliage to condense water from fog. A botanist named H. W. ogelman with the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Vermont has duplicated nature's trick. "Fog-combing" screens, consisting of aluminum wire mesh strung on posts, produced nearly 70 per cent more water than registered in regular rain guages during an

With financial help from the Conservation and Research Foundation of New London, Conn., an experiment was then conducted on a 7,500-foot-high desert plateau in the Sierra Madres near Veracruz, Mexico, where fog and low clouds are frequent.

Again the results were dramatic. One Mexican station showed a 29 per cent moisture increase, another 22 It's believed that in similar arid regions, rows of screens erected at low cost could collect water from the air and direct it to newly planted trees. In time, the
