Man arrested in attack

SANFORD — A 21-year-old man who allegedly kicked open the door of a Sanford house to enter and batter Melozon Sims, and threaten her with a gun, has been arrested.

Sanford police reported the attack occurred at about 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at 1610 Peach Ave., where Sims was allegedly beaten with a baby's walker.

Reginald Bernard Lawrence, 1611 Peach Ave., was charged with armed burglary to an occupied dwelling, aggravated battery, use of a firearm in a felony and aggravated assault. He was arrested at home at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Four arrested on cocaine charges

SANFORD — Sanford police report stopping a car on Airport Boulevard at about 5 p.m. Wednesday after receiving a tip the car was being used to transport cocaine from Zellwood.

Police said nine grams of cocaine were recovered from the car and four occupants were arrested. Charged with possession of cocaine are: Curtis Eugene Campbell, 42; Henry C. Johnson, 40; Anthony Vonce Harris, 20; and Walter Eugene Calne, 28, all of Sanford.

● Frank S. Sutherland, 45, of Bush Hill Court, Lake Mary, was arrested at 11:26 p.m. Wednesday after his car was seen weaving on Country Club Road, Lake Mary.

Librarian books up to Tallahassee

SANFORD — Janice Buchanan, the media specialist at Wilson Elementary School will be traveling to Tallahassee Dec. 3 through Dec. 5 to partake in the Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services.

She is one of 100 delegates representing public, educational and academic librarians from across the state. She is the only elementary school librarian chosen to attend.

She noted that only three media specialists, representing elementary, secondary and college media centers were invited to the conference.

The Governor's Conference is the precursor to the White House Conference on Libraries and Information Services that will be hosted by President Bush next July.

The Florida delegates to that meeting will be chosen next week.

"I hope my chances for that will be good since I will be the only elementary school representative from the state," she said.

(FAME). "We (FAME) try to find ways that the school media centers can be used throughout the curriculum to the advantage of the students," she explained. The delegates to the Govern-

nor's Conference will discuss resolutions that have been formulated by various library groups around the state. "We are focusing on the three main issues of literacy, productivity and democracy,"

Buchanan said. "Those issues are based on the agenda for the national conference." The resolutions that are passed at the conference will be passed on to the legislature for enactment.

Brinton: Vote will not delay construction

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A state delay in issuing bonds to build the Seminole County Expressway will not delay the construction of the road, expressway director Gerald Brinton said Wednesday.

"At least they'll issue bonds to build the Seminole County Expressway," Brinton told Seminole County Expressway Authority members. "Until then, I've been assured the state has enough money for us to continue ahead with right-of-way purchases."

Tuesday, Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet voted unanimously to delay issuing $515 million in tollroad construction bonds until January when Gov.-elect Lawton Chiles takes office. Chiles has criticized the issue saying it was more than needed. Construction of Seminole County's 12-mile expressway from State Road 426 to U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford can be begun next June, Brinton said.

A Hillsborough County expressway included in the bond package won't be ready for construction for another 10 months or so, Brinton said.

In other action, SCEA chairman Fred Streetman passed the gavel to Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith to serve as the authority chairman for the next year. Streetman has served as chairman of the authority since 1985, seeing the project through numerous stormy sessions as the road's path was selected to minimize damage to neighborhoods and the environment.

Streetman, who nominated Smith, said his duties as county commission chairman in the absence of a county manager will be too time consuming to oversee both responsibilities.

Smith was approved unanimously. County commissioner Jennifer Kelley was elected vice chairman.

Columbia set for countdown after delays

By WILLIAM HARWOOD
UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Engineers Wednesday readied the shuttle Columbia for the overnight start of its countdown to blastoff Sunday on a long-delayed astronomy flight, a record-tying 17 days after NASA's last launch.

Columbia's intricate countdown was scheduled to begin at 1 a.m. EST Thursday with the ship's seven-man crew — a post-Challenger record — planning to fly in from Houston late Thursday night to prepare for blastoff on the 38th shuttle mission.

Launch is scheduled for 1:28 a.m. Sunday — six months behind schedule because of crippling fuel leaks — to kick off a 10-day flight to study the most violent stars and galaxies in the universe with telescopes sensitive to high-energy forms of light that are blocked by Earth's atmosphere.

If all goes well Columbia will glide to a landing Dec. 11 at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., at 8:25 p.m. PST.

McClanahan

In 1988, Sanford agreed to pay Lake Mary $2 million to take treated wastewater for irrigation. The city was under federal mandate to end dumping of the wastewater in Lake Monroe.

McClanahan said he predicted several years ago that the downtown Sanford area would end up becoming an area of government services and banking facilities. "I made that prediction 15 years ago," he said, "and it's already heading that way. In January, I did a survey and found 50 to 82 percent of our stores were vacant in 15 separate strip malls, shopping centers and the downtown area combined. Whenever a new shopping center opens on the opposite side of the city, it helps empty those that were already there."

Continuing on the downtown area, he said planters were put in to help attract more downtown shoppers. "But there are now fewer businesses than before they were put in," he said.

He believes the proposed Seminole Towne Center mall, planned for the interchange of Interstate 4 and State Road 46 "will have a depressing result on the downtown area. We have zoning and other ways to create a tax base, but if we're going to give it away, what good is it?"

McClanahan was the only Sanford commissioner to oppose the use of tax increment financing for the mall. The plan will use property taxes the city will collect on the mall property to build new roads and to make road improvements needed to accommodate mall traffic.

After the financing was approved however, McClanahan elicited a promise from a Simon and Associates representative of at least a 50 percent tax dollar return to the city from the mall. The approved Tax Increment Financing plan calls for a 14 year payback.

"Half a loaf is better than none," he said.

As for the proposed expressway planned to be constructed through southern Sanford and widening of the city's part of Lake Mary Boulevard, he said he was all for both projects. "It will be easier for people to come into Sanford, and it will be easier for people who want to go around us to do that too."

McClanahan says he is proud of the progress made during the past four years. "The commission has established a much better relationship with the county. We've even discussed joint recreational facilities that would involve Sanford, Seminole County and the school board."

As for other problems faced by the city, both today as well as in the future, he said, "I don't have a magic wand, but I do know the parameters under which we need to work." He added, "Although the election is only in my district, I don't like districts. I have always considered myself a representative of the entire city and I always vote for what I believe is the good of the city."

tions about the proposed mall. "It will provide jobs for people, but the downtown area is going to suffer from it."

On the downtown problems she said, "We have railroads, highways, an excellent airport — they all need to cooperate to bring people into town." She said she was aware of 30 businesses that had opened and subsequently closed in the downtown area in a short time.

"Where is their money going to come from?" she asked. "We need to get people downtown."

She suggested that perhaps transportation should be provided from the train station into the downtown area to help bring travelers into the area.

Yancey said she wasn't sure about the effect of widening and beautifying Lake Mary Boulevard. "I would have to talk to the people about it before I made my decision on that," she said. But as for the expressway, she was totally against it. "It will split Sanford right in two," she said, "and I wouldn't be surprised if some day we didn't see a North Sanford and a South Sanford because of it."

On the question of recreational needs, Yancey said, "The schools, city and county should work together toward a recreational complex. Our children are a precious resource and we should do all we can to help them. We can get a lot of community involvement in this. I know that for our children, the people of Sanford are more than ready to help."

If elected, she said, she intends to keep a close watch on the tax rate, concentrate on trimming down the budget and watch wasteful spending.

"Our taxes are pretty high," she said. "We have a lot of senior citizens who must provide for their food, clothing and shelter. If we continue to raise taxes, they won't be able to pay."

As for her campaign, she said, "I've grown since I ran four years ago. I think the time is now right for me to be a city commissioner."

Election day is Tuesday, Dec. 4, from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

County search continues

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners now resume their slow and arduous trek towards hiring a new county manager after two former county executives are now out of the running.

The strain of the 13-month absence of a county chief executive officer was verbalized by commission chairman Fred Streetman Wednesday, who said "We've turned the whole thing into a joke. We've all made jokes about it."

"Have you applied yet?" is a common quip heard on the third floor of the County Services Building.

Former county manager Ken Hooper said Wednesday he decided against pursuing the position after he realized no more than three commissioners might vote for him, leading to continued division. Hooper was ousted in October 1989 when he fell from favor of commissioners Jennifer Kelley and Pat Warren and former commissioner Sandra Glenn.

"My forced resignation was political and not based on my job performance and there would be that perception that my coming back would be political, too,"

Hooper said. "The county's got some real problems right now and I feel sure I can offer my help, but not under those circumstances."

Former county administrator Roger Neiswender, now serving as a county management consultant, also said Wednesday he would not pursue the job and risk dividing the commission.

"I am not in the running for the position," Neiswender said. "I think the board made the right decision to seek a unity in whoever they seek."

Although commissioners Bob Sturm and Streetman said they supported Hooper's return, they said they are prepared to hire a new county executive that will be qualified for the position.

"I'm disappointed the board was not comfortable with hiring him," Streetman said. "I didn't see any point in going through the exercise of pursuing him when the support apparently wasn't there."

"There wasn't a majority consensus," said Sturm, who had said commissioners should rehire Hooper. "But there was not a majority consensus so perhaps in the long run this will be better."

Both commissioners Kelley and Warren said the commission should work towards a unanimous consensus to offer the job to someone as they did with two previous candidates who later decided against taking the job.

"The operative word is we should seek unity," Warren said. "A unanimous decision is the ideal but it's not necessary," Streetman said. "I'd say it's pretty unusual."

Commission newcomer Larry Furlong cast the deciding opinion when he said commissioners should resume their search for another manager. Although Furlong last week said he would consider rehiring Hooper, he said Wednesday he changed his mind both when Hooper said he would no longer seek the job and when he decided a more unified decision by the board would be better for their working relationship.

Furlong said he had received many calls in support of Hooper, including from county officials, but said he wanted to avoid creating a rift on the commission that he would create by siding with Sturm and Streetman.

MADD offers red ribbons as reminders

By VICKI DeBONNIE
Herald staff writer

ORLANDO — The truck drivers of Consolidated Freightways have joined the Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) group in helping to remind others on the road to be safe and sober when they take to the streets during the holiday season.

The two have allied to take part in Project Red Ribbon, which is sponsored by the national MADD organization.

Consolidated Freightways drivers have tied red ribbons to the handles of the drivers side door of their rigs in support of MADD's efforts to remind people not to drink and drive.

This is the fifth year that MADD has sponsored the project, which has the theme "The One on for Safety." Consolidated Freightways is joining them in the effort for the first time.

In addition to the assistance they are receiving from truck drivers, the members of MADD will be distributing red ribbons to motorists.

MADD of Central Florida, which was formed when the MADD chapters in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties merged into one organization, is taking charge of the event.

Pat Oles, who is the assistant to the chapter administrator, said Sanford MADD members are better able to achieve their goals now that they have merged with the other counties.

"We all work together toward a common goal," she said.

In an effort to raise the awareness the drivers will be leaving the company's regional headquarters in Orlando at 2 p.m. today with red ribbons on their doors.

Correction

Due to a reporter's error, a story in Tuesday's Sanford Herald regarding Amelia Geuka's presentation on affordable housing made to the city commission, Alternaese Bentley and Frieda Burleson should have been identified as Geuka's supporters rather than financial investors.

Ultrasuede graces Sanford runway

SANFORD — The fabric is perfect for Florida's climate. Supple and washable, it's better than suede, it's ultrasuede.

The Ultrasuede Show is in full swing today and tomorrow, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Lake Forest Club on West Highway 46 near Sanford. Clothing made from the lush fabric will be sold to benefit the upcoming St. Lucia Festival.

Open to the public, the array of washable designs will include skirts, suits, coats, jumpers, blouses and other accessories for the ladies as well as blazers for men. As an added feature, there will be garments of European cut.

The exclusive designer fashions will be presented by Apparel Enterprises Ltd. of North Carolina which will have extensive apparel on site.

"This is the first ultrasuede show of this kind to be staged in Central Florida," said Roberta Rose, chairman.

"The company will have a full range of designs, cuts, sizes and colors on hand as this is not a trunk show. There will be up to 50 percent off regular retail prices. In fact, the prices are unbelievable, a real bargain for Christmas giving."

Prices range from $15 for belts and $25 for tams to $599 for fur-trimmed coats. Suits sell for $199 to $399. Men's blazers are tagged $219 to $279.

Special prices on some items will be listed during the sale.

Ultra leather will also be offered in bomber jackets, skirts, suits and coats.

If you cannot attend, just call.

"We even have a shopping service for those who can't attend," she continued. Refreshments, including wine and bloody marys, will be served throughout the day and volunteer hostesses will be on hand to assist guests.

Proceeds will go to the St. Lucia Festival which will be held December 8 in historic downtown Sanford. The festival honors Swedish immigrants who settled nearby in the 1870's, and celebrates the traditional Swedish Christmas of St. Lucia's Day.

Not just woman's work

DEAR ABBY: My husband chose to be a nurse because he truly loves to care for sick people, and no health professionals spend more time with the people they care for than nurses.

He anticipated some kidding and even some possible discrimination from the female nurses he works with, but we never expected what we've heard from complete strangers.

Someone said, "Oh, what a sissy job for a man." Another person had the nerve to ask if he had flunked out of medical school!

Abby, he is very good at his job. The patients and co-workers have raved about his competence and caring.

Nursing has come a long way since Florence Nightingale, and because of dedicated men like my husband, it will progress even further.

PROUD NURSES' WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Male nurses are not as rare as most people might assume. According to Dr. P. Rosenfeld of the National League for Nursing, there are currently more than 67,000 male nurses in the nation, and the number is growing each year.

This year, at Columbia University's School of Nursing, one-third of the students are male.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter from "Baffled in Vancouver," whose 49-year-old husband began acting peculiarly. She said he went outside to turn on the lawn sprinkler in full view of the neighbors wearing only his boxer shorts. Then she came home from work to find him preparing supper in nothing but a T-shirt. She said such conduct was totally out of character for him.

Thank God you advised her to get her husband to a doctor for a complete examination from the neck both ways.

My 47-year-old husband also began acting peculiarly. I wasted a year being angry at him because he refused to see a doctor.

When his judgment became visibly impaired, I practically dragged him to our family physician. (I had told the doctor in advance about the alarming changes in my husband's behavior.)

The physician referred him to a neurologist, and after extensive testing, it was discovered that my husband had a rare form of dementia called "Pick's Disease," which is similar to Alzheimer's but strikes people at a much younger age — between 40 and 60. Inappropriate behavior and poor judgment are early symptoms, and like Alzheimer's, there is no known cure.

Abby, I don't want to frighten

"Baffled," but if her husband has either Alzheimer's or Pick's disease, the sooner she gets involved in a support group, the easier it will be for all concerned.

Tips on how to treat lactose intolerance

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter has been diagnosed with a lactose intolerance. Will this remain throughout her lifetime? How did she get it?

In her diet, thereby stimulating lactase formation. If this is unsuccessful, she will have to consider the restrictions I mentioned.

DEAR READER: Milk sugar (lactose) requires an intestinal enzyme (lactase) for digestion. If lactose passes through the intestine undigested, it is fermented by bacteria, leading to gaseous, acidic stools; to make matters worse, undigested lactose causes diarrhea. Thus, people with lactose intolerance suffer uncomfortable bloating and irritating loose stools.

The most common cause of this intolerance is a deficiency in lactase. Such a deficiency is extremely prevalent: 75 percent of blacks and Indians, 80 percent of Asians and about 20 percent of whites are born with lactase deficiency.

However, Nature provides a method of overcoming this condition: enzyme induction. With repeated exposure to milk and milk products, children actually begin to manufacture lactase and, by the time they are out of infancy, they are no longer lactase deficient; they can digest milk. Thus, most people suffer no symptoms of lactose intolerance until they enter middle age. Then, because of normal dietary alterations (which include less milk), lactose intolerance may reappear. That is, as long as people continue to consume milk, lactase is formed in the intestine and no symptoms develop; once people reduce lactose consumption, lactase production halts and milk-induced symptoms return.

Some children and adults fail to respond to dietary lactose — their lactase deficiencies remain. In such cases, dietary modification is in order: avoidance of milk and milk products or the use of predigested milk (Lactaid).

Your daughter may be able to overcome her intolerance by gradually increasing the lactose

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Many modern partnerships, burdened (or blessed) with the method called "fourth suit forcing," would have trouble getting to the right contract in today's deal. South would be reluctant to bid two hearts at his second turn, since that would be an artificial forcing bid showing a better hand. If he bid either two no-trump or two spades, the superior heart contract might never be reached. Fortunately today's North-South were playing simple old-fashioned bridge, and two hearts was a natural bid. North was happy to bid game in that strain. The play demonstrates the strength of decent spot-cards when declarer is crossruffing. West switched to the 10 of clubs at trick two. Declarer won dummy's ace and played a spade. East grabbed the ace and played a second diamond, but declarer ruffed.

South cashed the king of spades, throwing a club from dummy and noting the fall of the 10 from West. If declarer now played another high spade, West would shed his other club. So South played a club to dummy's king and ruffed another diamond. Now came another high spade. West ruffed low and dummy overruffed. Declarer played a heart to his ace, happy to see the heart 10 from West. Declarer now played the jack of spades. West discarded a diamond, and declarer threw the last club from dummy. All the hapless defenders could take was the king of hearts. If either the dummy's nine of hearts or declarer's eight of hearts were held by East, the story could have a different ending. An uppercut in trumps from East, forcing declarer to play his ace, might well have been fatal.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Oso
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 30, 1990

Your success can be enhanced in the year ahead if you prioritize your material objectives in an orderly fashion. Keep the ones with greatest potential at the top of your list.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There is a possibility you may delegate to an inept assistant a distasteful assignment today. This could serve only to make matters worse. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It might be best to do without today, rather than put yourself in the demeaning position of having to seek a favor from someone to whom you don't want to be obligated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unless you set a shining example today, don't expect subordinates to behave in accordance to your directives. Your behavior must establish the standards.

FISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If another is depending upon your performance today, don't be embarrassed to speak up if you don't know how to fulfill their request. Silence could end up hurting them much more.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Reasonable returns for efforts you expend in your commercial endeavors are possible today, provided you don't deliberately stop or impede your own progress when dealing with difficulties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Disagreements regarding how things should be run at home could arise between you and your mate today. It might be necessary for both parties to make some concessions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Changes you make in certain arrangements could prove beneficial today while alterations in others might be detrimental. Use your very best judgment in both cases.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could be a critical period for involving yourself financially with friends. If you're presently negotiating something of this nature, be absolutely certain it's fair for all.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You should do rather well today in your involvements with people with whom you've dealt comfortably in the past. The same might not be true in arrangements with those outside of your circle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Serious matters cannot be dealt with in a frivolous fashion today. Purposely ignoring issues or sweeping them under the rug could cause you greater inconvenience down the line.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There are warning signals flashing today where joint ventures are concerned. This could be especially true if the financial burden is greater on your behalf.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A partnership arrangement will be of little value today if you and the other party involved do not see eye-to-eye on major issues. Strength is in togetherness, not individuality.
