Nuclear Sub Joins Search

Engineers Warned Against Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The growing search for Challenger's broken remains slips into high gear today with the arrival of a nuclear submarine three weeks to the day after the shuttle exploded in a deadly ball of fire.

The Washington Post said Richard Feynman, a member of the presidential commission studying the disaster, flew to Cape Canaveral to investigate reports of "absurdly low" temperatures on the suspect booster rocket. The cold could have frozen the O-ring seals.

Other reports say engineers with Morton Thiokol, the builder of the booster rockets, strongly advised against the launch because of the cold weather.

Monday a small, four-man submersible scoured the ocean floor Monday about 40 miles east of the launch pad where NASA believes the remains of the spaceship's right-side solid rocket booster are resting in 1,200 feet of water about 40 miles off shore.

A rupture in the right-hand rocket is suspected of triggering the explosion of Challenger's external fuel tank on Jan. 28, 73 seconds after blastoff.

The search continues as investigators checked reports about problems with cold temperatures on the launch date.

Photographs of the wreckage taken by the crew of the small submersible, called the Johnson Sea Link 2, were flown to rocket engineers at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., for positive identification.

The Navy's NR-1 submarine, a research vessel nicknamed the "inner space shuttle," was scheduled to arrive at the search scene today to assist with deep-water recovery efforts.

The seven-man crew, expected to include a solid rocket engineer, could play a key role in locating and identifying debris from the submerged wreckage of the suspect rocket. The craft is equipped with a robot arm and sophisticated electronic gear, including external television

Longwood Ignores Attorney General

Manning To Continue In 2 Jobs

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

While continuing to search for a city administrator, Longwood City Commissioners agreed Monday night to ignore a ruling from the state Attorney General and allow City Administrator and Police Chief Greg Manning to continue holding the two positions.

Having narrowed the list down to nine names, the city commission is scheduled to meet at a 6:30 p.m. workshop Wednesday to select the finalists to be interviewed in person.

City Attorney Gerald Korman said he agreed with the Attorney General's opinion that the job of city administrator and police chief are incompatible and under the law the same person can't hold both posts.

"Technically speaking," Korman said, "Manning should be dismissed from one of the jobs, but since he has already resigned it seems to me you have three options: to accept his resignation immediately, to let it go for the next couple of weeks until you appoint somebody else as city administrator; or to appoint someone else to fill in as acting city administrator until a replacement is found."

Commissioner June Lormann said since Manning has already resigned and it will only be two or three more weeks until a replacement is found the police chief should continue to hold both jobs rather than leave the city in chaos in the interim. The other commissioners agreed.

Korman told the commission, "The ruling is only an opinion, do what you think is best for the city and not what you read (in a newspaper editorial). It's a gray area."

Manning has been acting in both capacities since July 1 when City Clerk Don Terry, who was then city administrator, resigned. Manning submitted his resignation as city administrator

'Technically speaking, Manning should be dismissed from one of the jobs...'

In November, saying he would continue to serve in both posts until a replacement could be found. In resigning, Manning said he wanted to devote his efforts to running the police department.

Commissioners were each asked to pick their 10 favorites from the list of 82 applicants prior to Monday night's commission meeting. William J. McGill of North Miami Beach received a vote from all five commissioners. Richard A. Clark of Oakland Park was next with four votes.

Receiving three votes each were: Wallace A. Payne of Tampa, runner-up in last year's search for city administrator; Arthur B. Preston, Kissimmee; H. Blake Proctor, Homestead; Dale E. Rieth, Venice; Jack M. Schluckebier, Tallahassee; Dennis R. Sparks, Bowling Green, Va.; and Ronald Lee Waller, Schuylkill Haven, Pa., one of top three finalists last year.

Eliminated in Monday night's cut were Mark P. Culverhouse, Sunrise, and Ray Harbaugh, St. Petersburg, who each got two votes, and 13 others who received one vote each.

Dali Display

Dr. Barry Hershone, director of Loch Lowe Preparatory School, Sanford, discusses engraved illustrations by Salvador Dali with student Sandy Matthews. The engravings are to be on display at the school through Feb. 23. They were made from 100 watercolors painted by the artist between 1950 and 1959. They were to illustrate Dante's narrative poem, The Divine Comedy. Dali's work, which interprets the 14th century poem from a 20th century viewpoint, is on loan from Ringling Museum through Feb. 23. The display will be open to the public 1-4 p.m. Sunday.

Sanford Plans Newsletter

Sanford City Commissioners are endorsing a publishing venture that would originate at city hall and begin arriving at residents' homes as soon as next month. The production and cost of a city newsletter, which would be compiled by staff and sent to residents on a regular basis, was addressed by commissioners at Monday's workshop.

Commissioners are considering formal authorization of such a mailing as follow up to the city's December newsletter, which was sent to inform residents of water and sewer rate increases. That mailing was compiled and distributed with the commission's verbal, rather than formal, authorization. It cost the city $2,537.22.

As proposed on Monday, a four page quarterly mailing would be sent to 10,000 residents at an annual cost to the city of $3,587 if printed on white paper and $5,583 if done on colored paper.

The commission will determine during its next regular meeting whether to include the letter as a budget line item. The expenditure would cover production of the letter, a mailing permit, placement of addresses and bulk postage costs.

Marina Parking Lot Slated For Improvements

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Municipal parking at the Lake Monroe marina will be restructured to improve traffic flow and accommodate the five to seven retail shops that Bada Marine owner John Smith plans to construct there.

Once the new parking lines are laid out, the city may also consider laying down the law by posting a traffic officer at the lot, issuing parking permits to boaters and towing away illegally parked vehicles.

The measures were discussed Monday by Sanford's Planning and Engineering Director Bill Simmons. City Planner Jay Marder and Planning and Zoning commission chairman John Morris.

Their reference points were a parking map, which showed 142 spaces lined up in an orderly fashion, and the view from

Simmons' city hall office, which showed boat trailers and recreation vehicles parked randomly at the lot.

The meeting was prelude to Thursday's P&Z meeting, when Smith will ask the commission for a second time to approve his project so he can obtain a building permit.

During the P&Z's last session, the Smith plan was tabled until city staff could study how it would impact traffic and parking in the municipal lot.

Simmons said Monday he will probably recommend the P&Z "allow the (Smith) project to move forward" while city staff continues efforts to improve the municipal lot's parking and traffic flow.

At Morris' request, Simmons and staff will try to add to the 142 spaces they came up with when complying with the P&Z's call for a traffic and parking study.

The city engineers had shaved off 16 existing parking spots in an attempt to develop a smoother traffic flow pattern near the proposed Smith project.

The parking area to be focused on is near the marina's boat ramp, which lies directly south of the 1.3 acre lakefront tract that Smith leased from the city in November. Both he and Holiday Inn owned Ed Welch vied for the land and based on site plans they submitted, the city commission awarded the lease to Smith.

This did not preclude Smith's coming before the P&Z for site plan review, Simmons said.

Simmons said the city will pay for the restructuring of its municipal parking lot. Although Smith, Welch and Monroe Harbour Marine owner Chuck Volk all lease marina property from the city, Simmons said they would only assist the parking effort's funding if it were to include their property.

Simmons also acknowledged the parking project will, in part, be the city's response to traffic generated by the three enterprises. Also considered, he said, is the lot's lack of clearly designated parking spaces and its heavy utilization by recreation vehicles and boat trailers.

Simmons acknowledged that even with the revisions, shoppers at the Smith project may not be in for any bargains when it comes to parking.

Utilization of the municipal lot is already "frequently overflowing" with boat trailers and recreation vehicles, he said.

The only alternative for drivers, according to Simmons, is the parking located at the municipal lot next to the Sanford courthouse.

Seniors Help Others, Reap Own Rewards

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Their handmade treasures delight children at Christmastime. Each day, local offices and schools welcome their services.

They are the 475 elderly members of the Seminole County Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

Participants only need be 60 years of age or older to participate in the community service organization — the real just comes naturally, RSVP Director Joan Madison said.

While they don't receive paychecks, these volunteers who range in age from 60 to 92 come away from the work world with something far more valuable, Ms. Madison said.

RSVP was started in Seminole County in 1973 "to enhance the creative functioning of senior citizens and get them involved through community projects," she said.

"We reach the lonely and the isolated, people who need to do something productive and meaningful," Ms. Madison said.

"They come to realize that there is more to life than just playing golf, bridge or bingo."

Today, senior volunteers serve at 70 locations throughout the county, and their jobs are as varied as their backgrounds, she said.

A typical day may find one senior manning the information desk at the county services building or the courthouse, while another may be visiting patients at a local hospital or distributing food to the needy.

3 Nabbed In Pyramid Scheme

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Three suspects who ignored a warning by Seminole County sheriff's deputies to stop operation of an alleged "pyramid scheme" in Seminole and Orange counties were arrested Monday.

Lawmen allege that the Casselberry man and Osteen pair had, at Denny's Restaurant on State Road 436 in Casselberry, presented a "pyramid scheme," the sale of cards that would bring discounts to the buyers of groceries and other goods, but which required that the buyers also sell additional cards, giving a monetary kickback to those above them in the sales deal.

The pyramid developed and the law was broken, Seminole County sheriff's Sgt. Ron Gilbert said, when new card seller recruits were told that they must give a cut of their sales to the person that recruited them as salesmen, with those at the top of the pyramid also receiving a cut of the down-the-line sales of the discount cards. A plan that would eventually leave little or no profit to those at the bottom of the scale, deputies said.

On Feb 10 sheriff's investigator Kevin Crosier and two other investigators attended a meeting of the "Trend Card Club" at Denny's. About 15 persons were there to hear the presentation by the three suspects, Crosier said.

After hearing the plan, Crosier said the investigators identified themselves and warned the suspects that the scheme was illegal and if they continued the program they would be arrested.

Monday evening Gilbert and two other investigators attended a second meeting of the Memphis, Tenn.-based "Trend Card Club," and saw the same presentation that Crosier had seen, Gilbert reported.

After the presentation by the three suspects, at about 8:45 p.m. Gilbert arrested the trio charging them with operating a pyramid scheme.

Crosier said the offer of discount food and goods was apparently legitimate, but the operation of the alleged "pyramid" distribution system of the cards was a scam.

The cards were sold for $49.50, Crosier said.

Lawmen, he said, don't know how many persons in Seminole and Orange County may have been recruited to buy and sell the cards, but any one with information on the alleged scam should call Gilbert at 322-5115.

Johnson & Johnson Drops Line Of Capsule Drugs

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — The death of a New York woman from cyanide-laced Tylenol has caused Johnson & Johnson to drop its line of over-the-counter capsule drugs and left the future of all such medications in doubt.

Johnson & Johnson took the action Monday, nine days after Diane Eisroth, 23, of Peekskill, N.Y., died from taking two Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules filled with cyanide and more than three years after the unsolved killings of seven people in the Chicago area who took Tylenol capsules containing cyanide.

In Tyler, Texas, police officials are investigating whether a man diagnosed suffering from cyanide poisoning two weeks ago ingested the chemical from Tylenol capsules he took shortly before he collapsed.

The 41-year-old victim survived the poisoning that occurred four-days before a New York woman died from taking cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules.

Police in Tyler, located 100 miles east of Dallas, disclosed the Feb. 4 incident for the first time Monday, nearly two weeks after it occurred, saying they delayed an announcement because they did not want to alarm residents.

Pollution Control Good Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Environmental regulation may cause some economic hardship, but efforts to clean up the nation's air and water also have created a $70 billion industry, generating 166,500 jobs in 1985, a new study says.

The study was released Monday by Management Information Services, a private consulting firm that examines the impact of federal policies on industry and labor.

The study looked specifically at private business efforts to control and abate air, water and solid waste pollution — about 12 percent of the total $70 billion industry expenditures, according to government figures. The other 88 percent is for regulation, research, operations and other expenditures.

O'Neill: Tax Hike Must For Arms

BAL HARBOUR (UPI) — President Reagan's military buildup will come to a halt unless he is willing to propose a tax increase, House Speaker Thomas O'Neill told America's top labor leaders.

AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland echoed O'Neill's sentiments Monday, saying, "If defense is an urgent need of this country, we ought to be willing to pay for it."

Labor Secretary William Brock was to address the labor federation's annual winter meeting today.

O'Neill, D-Mass., was greeted with a standing ovation before his address, in which he told the 35-member AFL-CIO Executive Council that, "The time has come for the president to face the facts. Unless he moves on revenues his defense buildup is over."

Tongue-In-Cheek Promotion Turns Serious On Terrorism

MARY ESTHER, Fla. (UPI) — A storeowner who planned to send entries in an ugly tie contest to Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy said the response was so great, he decided to turn the tongue-in-cheek promotion into a serious venture.

Al Hearn, who launched the "Hideous Tie" contest last month to promote his new store, said a non-profit group called "Help America Tie-Up Terrorism" was recently formed as a result of the promotion. HATT Inc. will continue collecting ties and try to raise money to aid victims of terrorism, Hearn said.

Hearn said the group planned to elicit support from retailers elsewhere in a bid to gather more ties — ugly and not-so-ugly. All of them will be dumped at the Libyan Mission to the United Nations, Hearn said.

"We're looking for as much as 10 million ties," said Hearn. "We think 10 million ties is not an outlandish figure."

Arrest Expected In Kidnap-Killing

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Sheriff's detectives investigating the murder of an 11-year-old girl kidnapped while out buying school supplies say they expect to arrest a suspect by Wednesday.

Broward County Sheriff Nick Navarro said at a Monday news conference that one of three suspects in the death of Staci Jazvac will most likely be charged either today or Wednesday.

"Maybe you might call it optimism," Navarro said. "It could be a sixth sense."

Jazvac's body was found near a patch of weeds in a lonely field in Coral Springs Friday.

The Lauderdale Lakes girl disappeared Jan. 30 after leaving her house late in the afternoon on her bicycle to purchase school supplies at a nearby drug store. Her bicycle was found in a lot that night.

Florida Executions On Hold

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The attorney for two death row inmates just granted last-minute stays of execution says Florida may not be allowed to execute any more prisoners until the U.S. Supreme Court decides on the fairness of allowing prosecutors to dismiss jurors who express strong opposition to capital punishment.

Attorney Michael Mello, who defended both Paul Beasley Johnson and Edward Dean Kennedy for the state's capital collateral appeals office, said most executions will be on hold until the court rules.

Callers Give Clues To Rapist

MIAMI (UPI) — Police say a description of the "Pillow Case Rapist," who was tricked by one of his victims into showing his face for the first time in five years and 44 attacks, has resulted in dozens of tips.

Police released an artist's sketch of the rapist Saturday, prompting a flood of calls on Sunday and Monday from Dade County residents who thought they knew the man or had seen him.

Clarification

An ambulance involved in an accident Friday on the way to an emergency call in Sanford was not enroute to Cardinal Industries to aid an ailing woman, as initially reported by Sanford police.

The ambulance was responding to an emergency call in east Seminole County but was derailed by an accident with a car at the intersection of 25th St. and Sanford Ave.

The driver of the car in that accident has been charged.

Further, while there was an emergency call about the same time of an accident at Cardinal Industries, it did not involve a miscarriage as police initially reported. The young victim in that incident was not pregnant but required emergency medical assistance, according to Cardinal officials.

She was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital by company personnel.

Arrested and released on $500 bond each to appear in court Feb. 26 were:

Herbert Jay Shepherd, 59, of 350 Southcot Drive, Casselberry; and Stewart Beal, 50, and Lillie Massey Sims, 53, both of Osteen.

Investigators were alerted to the alleged scam by a citizen who gave sheriff's deputies a flyer advertising the "club." Crozier said.

Jacksonville Man Dies In I-4 Accident

A Jacksonville man died in a one-car accident on Interstate 4 Saturday and Lake Mary Police are trying to determine how the accident occurred.

There were no witnesses to the one-car accident.

An autopsy on Antonio Garza, 26, Sunday, indicated the cause of death was extensive head injuries, Dr. Sara Irgang, assistant county medical examiner, said.

Garza was apparently alone in the vehicle at the time.

Initially, police were not sure where Garza lived because he was driving a car registered to him bearing Texas plates, but the address on his driver license, 1778 West King St. (State Road 520), is a business in Cocoa, according to Lt. Sam Belfiore of the Lake Mary Police Department.

However, police were able to contact Garza's family in Texas. His father, Antonio Garza, San Marcos, Texas, arrived Monday and made a positive identification. He also stated that his son resided in Jacksonville.

The accident, about a mile north of Lake Mary Boulevard, was reported by passerby to Seminole County officials around 7:15 a.m. Evidently the Ford Escort flipped end-for-end several times, then rolled over twice coming to rest on its wheels.

Garza apparently was thrown from the vehicle during the accident, Belfiore said. He received head and back injuries.

When rescuers arrived Garza had been dead for perhaps an hour or more and the motor of the car was cold, police said.

Investigators theorize Garza, southbound on the interstate, either fell asleep or dropped a cigarette lighter while driving and reached down to get it, causing the vehicle to leave the road.

In Washington, former Secretary of State William Rogers, chairman of the presidential commission investigating the disaster, vice chairman Neil Armstrong and NASA shuttle chief Jesse Moore were expected to testify during the course of Senate hearings on the disaster.

On Saturday, Rogers asked acting NASA administrator William Graham to ban any space agency officials who participated in the decision to launch Challenger from working on NASA's own review panel.

A statement from the commission said NASA's decision-making process "may have been flawed," and in any case, sources said, the panel wanted to avoid any suggestion of a conflict of interest.

Graham promised to comply with Rogers' request, but it was not clear what impact it would have on the demoralized space agency. It appears to apply to a wide range of top officials, including Moore, associate administrator for space flight, who serves as chairman of NASA's internal review board.

Recovering the remains of the right-side booster rocket is vital to NASA's search for clues to what caused the explosion of Challenger's external fuel tank 73 seconds after launch on Jan. 28, destroying the shuttle and killing its seven-member crew.

Experts suspect a rupture in the side of the towering rocket allowed hot gas and flame to escape, probably igniting the external fuel tank. By examining the wreckage first hand, engineers should be able to pin down what went wrong.

Challenger was launched in 38-degree weather after a night of sub-freezing temperatures. The cold weather may have interfered with the operation of crucial O-ring seals in the suspect joint.

NASA documents show a long history of concern about the seals, but they were judged safe to fly, even though Challenger's launching came with temperatures 11 degrees below the previous shuttle record. The seals are known to lose resiliency in cold weather.

The rocket debris was located about 40 miles east of the launch pad where sub-surface Gulf Stream currents average four to five knots. The remains of the shuttle's left-hand rocket booster are thought to be resting in 1,100 feet of water a few miles south of its counterpart.

On Monday, Mayor Bettye Smith again endorsed the mailing. She called it "a useful tool" and said "the more people that know what's going on the better."

...RSVP

"There are a wide variety of opportunities. We can find something for everyone," Ms. Madison said. "We have our fingers on the pulse of the community so we know what positions to place them in."

When seniors come to RSVP, staff members meet with the prospective volunteers, discover their interests and match them with community needs, she said.

Each volunteer works an average of four hours per week. Last year, seniors gave 86,000 hours in Seminole County, Ms. Madison said.

"We have never displaced a paid employee," she said. "We look at it as enhancing the quality of the service, expanding the service."

The volunteers often provide office relief to government agencies who's staffs have been reduced due to funding cutbacks, Ms. Madison said.

Winter Springs Elementary School houses the RSVP program, which is part of an international network made up of over 750 RSVP programs in the U.S., the Virgin Islands, Guam and Puerto Rico, she said. It is one of 29 RSVP programs in Florida.

With a $100,000 budget, the volunteer agency is funded by a grant through ACTION, a federal agency, Ms. Madison said. RSVP also receives local support from the county, the school board, United Way, civic groups such as Rotary and Kiwanis, and individual donations, she said.

A large chunk of the money goes to keep the agency's three vans, which pick up the seniors at their homes and transport them to the various volunteer stations, on the road, Ms.

Madison said. "Transportation is a big part of the budget, but is also a critical part of the program," she said.

The vans make 350 round trips and log some 6,000 miles each month, Ms. Madison said.

"We try to place the volunteers as close to their homes as possible, but we've never turned anybody away, not even those living in isolated areas," she said.

Working with young people is an important and rewarding part of the RSVP experience, Ms. Madison said. Volunteers work at 23 schools in Seminole County, providing tutoring on a one-to-one basis, acting as classroom aides, grading papers and participating in music, art and library programs.

One special project is the senior mentor program, in which the volunteers are paired with students. For 10 weeks, student and senior work together and share hobbies, Ms. Madison said.

Recently, five of the volunteers acted as chaperones for contestants in the Miss Teen U.S.A. Pageant in Daytona Beach, she said. Although the work entailed a three-week commitment on the part of the volunteers to stick with contestants and help with routine, the seniors found it a "neat experience," Ms. Madison said.

"It made an impact on their lives. They all formed quite a bond and the volunteers said they will maintain contact with the girls," she said.

RSVP gives youngsters and their elders the opportunity to relate, to try and bridge the generation gap, Ms. Madison said.

A major RSVP project is the annual Christmas store it sponsors for underprivileged children at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Ms. Madison said. Volunteers fashion handmade items throughout the year, in anticipation of the youngster who will visit their store to shop for holiday presents for their families. This past Christmas, 600 local schoolchildren participated in the event, and the crafts were also distributed to other local civic agencies.

RSVP taps the volunteers' lifelong knowledge and skills but also offers them new experiences, Ms. Madison said. Many of the people who join RSVP do not decide to do volunteer work until they are in their mid-80s. In fact, 82 of the members are 80 years or older, she said.

"We try to stick with them and find something for them to do," Ms. Madison said. "They have so much in the way of talent and wisdom that they have picked up through living. It's a tragedy if they don't use what they have learned."

The places where the volunteers are placed are "very receptive" to the program, she said. "They find the seniors are very dedicated, loyal and dependable," Ms. Madison said. "The volunteers have a caring attitude and patience."

In fact, the volunteers are so much in demand, that there are not enough of them to fill the number of requests by agencies.

"We are barely touching the tip of the iceberg in meeting the needs of seniors," Ms. Madison said. "A very small percentage of the seniors in Seminole County are in the program."

How do prospective volunteers learn about RSVP? One way is through the get-acquainted coffees the agencies holds every few months, she said.

But, the best route to RSVP is by word of mouth, as volunteers tell their friends and neighbors about the program, Ms. Madison said.

"The best recruitment tool is a happy volunteer," she said.

In March, RSVP will hold its annual spring recognition luncheon at the Sanford Civic Center. There, it will honor its volunteers, those who give of their time to produce what the program's director called a "two-fold benefit."

Doing things for others gives the volunteers meaningful work, and in turn the services they provide benefit the community, Ms. Madison said.

"We have worked hard on the program and can see the benefits to the seniors and to the community," she said. And, Ms. Madison said she is "just as excited now" as when she came on board with RSVP six years ago.

"I've seen so many lives turned around, people who were withdrawn and some who were ready to give up on life," she said. "They got involved, made new friends and began to blossom. They began to bloom."

Mexico's Ecology Minister Quits After Weeks Of Public Criticism

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico's ecology and housing minister resigned amid a storm of criticism for failing to control the capital's mounting pollution and provide shelter to thousands left homeless by last fall's killer earthquakes.

President Miguel de la Madrid Monday accepted the resignation of Guillermo Carrillo Arena, the nation's minister of urban development, housing and ecology, who was criticized for not handling the ecological and housing problems in the Mexico City area, which has a population of 18 million people.

Investigators for the Autonomous University of Mexico warn the level of contaminants in the capital's atmosphere is six times higher than the figure fixed as safe for habitation by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

They warn that factories and vehicles must incorporate pollution controls or the danger could reach lethal levels.

Air travelers to the nation's capital cannot see the city on approach because of the haze of pollution that constantly hangs over the city, and the pollution poses problems to residents with respiratory ailments.

Youths Protest Marcos' Victory

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Thousands of angry youths mounted protests today at the U.S. Embassy and the state-run television building against President Ferdinand Marcos' disputed election victory over Corason Aquino.

U.S. special envoy Philip Habib met with Prime Minister Cesar Virata at the downtown Executive House on the second day of his visit in Manila to gather information for President Reagan about the Feb. 7 balloting.

Virata's spokesman said the meeting with Habib lasted one hour. No details were disclosed.

Screaming "Yankee go home," more than 1,000 leftist youths massed at the U.S. Embassy and prepared to march later in the day on Marcos heavily guarded Malacanang palace.

Truncheon-wielding riot police and several fire trucks prevented the protesters from approaching the embassy gates.

12 Die As Trains Collide

VALPARAISO, Chile (UPI) — Railway officials today blamed human error for the head-on collision of two trains traveling the same stretch of bombed-out track, which killed as many as 12 people and injured over 100.

Police and firefighters worked into the night to rescue passengers trapped in the twisted wreckage and said the ruggedness of the area where the crash occurred Monday night about 80 miles west of the Chilean capital of Santiago was impeding rescue efforts.

A passenger train packed with summer vacationers to Chile's Pacific Coast and an express train collided after both locomotives had rounded curves in opposite directions at about 40 mph, railroad officials said.

The part of the line where the collision occurred had only one stretch of working track because a terrorist bombing attack ruined other track more than a year ago, state rail spokesman Alberto Aranceda said.

Arsonist Torch Vacant House

A vacant home near Winter Springs was destroyed by fire early Monday. Damage was estimated at $15,000 and Seminole County Fire Inspector Ray Pippin said the set blaze was started with the aid of an undetermined inflammable liquid.

Early Monday it had not been determined who owned the home located on State Road 434 at State Road 419, Pippin said. The fire was reported at about 1:35 a.m. and Seminole County sheriff's deputies and Winter Springs and Seminole County firefighters responded to the scene.

SHOOTING WINDOW

A 27-year-old Longwood man who allegedly fired a shot from a .25 caliber handgun out a window of his home after allegedly pointing a gun at his wife and at himself has been charged with shooting a firearm in an occupied dwelling.

The man was arrested by Longwood police after he was treated for an injury to his hand, reportedly suffered when he began throwing items around his home.

Longwood police reported the man was upset over back pain he suffers because of an on the job injury. He is a truck driver, an arrest report said.

Kevin M. Burdette, 27, of 744 E. Church St., was arrested at South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood at about 6:35 a.m. Sunday. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

SUGGESTED SEX

The mother of a 5-year-old Fern Park girl reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies a neighbor attempted to perform a sex act with her daughter in woods near their homes on Sunday.

The boy, whose age was not reported by deputies, also allegedly made the same sexual suggestion to the girl in April. Both incidents were reported to sheriff's deputies on Sunday and the investigation into the allegations continued Monday.

THREE WITH TIRES

Three Altamonte Springs residents, one a 17-year-old boy, have been charged with grand theft and trespassing in connection with the alleged theft of four wheels taken from a vehicle at Baird-Ray Nissan, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood.

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy reported spotting the suspects at that car dealership at about midnight Sunday. They allegedly had the wheels, with a combined value of about $1,280, Bernard Anthony Williams, 37, of Tampa, was charged with grand theft and possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana at about 7 a.m. Saturday. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

WOMAN TACKLED

Sanford police, who reported seeing a man chase and tackle a woman, helped free the woman from the man's grip and charged him with battery and disorderly conduct.

Police responded to a dispute and fight at 1210 W. 19th St., Sanford, at about 7 p.m. Saturday and reported breaking up a fight between Deborah DePew and the suspect.

Mark Lee Hampton, 29, of the above address was charged and released on $500 bond to appear in court Feb. 26.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Doug Wayne Oswald, 18, of 3745 Daniel Webster Road, Winter Park, was jailed at 6:15 a.m. Sunday following a traffic accident on Tuskawilla Road in southeast Seminole County.

—Keith Allen Brown, 31, of 294 W. Lake Mary Blvd., Lake Mary, at 8:47 a.m. Saturday after his car was in an accident on State Road 46.

—Robert L. Stone, 31, address unknown, at 2:35 a.m. Saturday, on State Road 436 after his car ran a red light and hit another vehicle at Lake Howell Road in Altamonte Springs. He was also charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

—Isaac Abrams, 39, of Jacksonville, at 11:34 p.m. Saturday, on Interstate 4 in Altamonte Springs after his car was seen traveling erratically. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

—Laurence Gerard Hinton, 20, of 198 Golf Club Drive, Longwood, at 3:02 a.m. Sunday after his car was seen weaving on State Road 434, Altamonte Springs.

—Van R. Steck, 28, of DeLand, at 12:58 a.m. Sunday, after he was seen driving without headlights and weaving on State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

COCAINE TIP-OFF

A Sanford man was arrested Friday after police received a tip that he had cocaine in his possession.

According to a Sanford police report, officers were told the man was at a certain bar and would have cocaine on him. Police checked the bar but did not find him. They did, however, locate the man's truck at the Islander Tavern, on U.S. 17-92 near Airport Boulevard in Sanford.

When the man left they stopped him and found cocaine in his left shirt pocket. The incident occurred around 11:17 p.m.

Arrested and charged with possession of cocaine and paraphernalia was Roy Emery Plenge, 34, of 2801 Knudson Drive. He was being held Monday on $2,000 bond.

DRUG IN FRISBEE

Two men were arrested on charges of possession of three controlled drugs after cocaine and paraphernalia were found in a frisbee in their Volkswagen.

Sanford police reported they watched two men snorting cocaine Friday in a car behind Uncle Nick's Bar, 2605 S. Park Ave. in Sanford. A search of the VW after revealed cocaine and paraphernalia in a frisbee. A pat down of the suspects produced a small amount of marijuana and a "hit" of mescaline. The arrest occurred at 9:27 p.m.

Arrested and charged with possession of cocaine, marijuana and mescaline were Frank Jay Hichborn, 23, of 1320 Trollman Ave., Deltona, and Steven Griffith Davis, 21, of 2413 Marshall Ave., Sanford. Each was released on bond from the Seminole county jail.

MARIJUANA ARREST

An Orlando man was arrested on marijuana and weapon charges after an officer wondered why the man was parked near a bar.

According to the officer's report, he saw a vehicle parked next to Club 436 on State Road 436 and Lake Howell Road in Altamonte Springs. The incident occurred at 5:46 p.m. Friday.

When the officer walked over to the vehicle, the driver rolled down the window and the officer smelled marijuana smoke, according to a report.

Arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, paraphernalia and concealed weapon was Clarence Montague Jr., 39, of Orlando. He was released on bond from the county jail.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: An onslaught of rain and snow in the West that has killed at least eight people and forced thousands of evacuations piled "pain on top of more pain" today, creating record floods and triggering deadly avalanches and mud slides. Since the storm began last Wednesday, more than 20 inches of rain has soaked Napa County, Calif., 63 inches of snow has fallen in Wyoming's Jackson Hole ski area and winds of 100 mph have been clocked in Nevada and California. Elsewhere, rain and melting snow caused flooding in the southern and central Appalachians, closing several roads in West Virginia. In the Southeast, thunderstorm winds damaged trailers and homes and flipped over a plane in Alabama.

The Hard Choices Budgeteers Face

In his State of the Union speech on Feb. 4, President Reagan called on Congress to force "the government to live within its means." He didn't say it would be easy, and he followed it up with a proposed budget that contains deep cuts in domestic programs, sale of a number of federal assets, increased military expenditures, and no new taxes.

The fiscal 1987 budget totaled nearly a trillion dollars, but many congressmen immediately set up a howl, saying it was "dead on arrival." What is important is that the new Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law forces them to try, or else face mandatory cuts.

Their biggest target doubtless will be Mr. Reagan's request for a $320 billion military budget containing an 8.2 percent increase above inflation. Congress should go slow in knocking down military spending, remembering that it knocked $35.2 billion out of the Pentagon budget for the current year as part of its regular budget process and in meeting Gramm-Rudman requirements before the Christmas recess.

In a perfect world, it would be unnecessary to spend such staggering amounts on the military. Unfortunately, the failure of previous administrations to keep pace with a pell-mell buildup by the Soviet Union has made the Reagan administration's catchup program essential.

Some of the president's domestic proposals will be painful. Should the government remove a million college students from aid rolls? Should health programs for the poor and elderly be cut? Should admission fees to national parks be raised? Congress must do its duty of setting priorities in accordance with resources at its disposal.

A welcome initiative from the White House was a proposal to develop a plan by the end of the year to offer insurance at reasonable cost to protect Americans from the devastating expense of serious illness.

And sounding the theme of the family and community as the moral core of our society, Mr. Reagan lamented the frequent breakdown of the family structure among welfare recipients. He called for a study aimed at breaking down "the spider's web of dependency" by Dec. 1. Under consideration is a "workfare" plan similar to that adopted by some states under which recipients would do work or train for jobs.

Mr. Reagan proposes auctioning off government property such as the Bonneville Power Administration to help reduce the deficit, but such proposals are bound to be controversial. But if a sound case can be made for letting tax-paying private enterprise do the job, why not?

The president, enjoying unprecedented popularity on his 75th birthday, acknowledged to members of Congress that his budget contains "hard choices." But that's the job they are elected to perform.

Ole Bluetongue Vaccine That I Know

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I guess it's OK for the government to develop two experimental vaccines that protect sheep against bluetongue disease.

But what really is needed in this congressional election year is a vaccine to protect the voters during outbreaks of the dread tongue-in-cheek malady.

We are told that bluetongue "is spread by flying gnats that bite cattle, the main carriers of the virus, and then attack sheep."

Tongue-in-cheek promises, by contrast, are chiefly spread by flying candidates who don't usually bite beef unless it is served as a steak.

Nevertheless, legislative proposals made tongue-in-cheekily may be taken seriously by infected audiences.

I am now convinced, for example, that Southern congressmen were just whistling "Dixie" when they agreed to co-sponsor budget-balancing legislation last year.

Some of them aren't running for anything this year so maybe that example doesn't count.

However, the majority of their colleagues in both the House and Senate took the proposal at face value. Apparently, they really believed at the time that Congress could force itself and the president to balance the budget.

A federal court panel, as did most lawgivers in hindsight, disagreed this year, sending the issue to the Supreme Court.

True, the electorate wasn't directly responsible in this instance, but the results show what can happen when tongue-in-cheek outbreaks become rampant.

Researchers say a live virus vaccine given to sheep "may revert to a virulent form" of bluetongue. That also has been true of tongue-in-cheek promises made to live audiences. They may produce particularly virulent campaigns.

Many of the candidates get into the races as a joke, never dreaming they might be held accountable for their campaign remarks.

Possibly that explains why so many jokers are elected to Congress in even-numbered years.

The electorate attaches importance to what they propose on the stump and, in some cases, puts them in office with a mandate to carry out their ridiculous proposals.

Clearly, all candidates, as well as the nation at large, would benefit from a shot of tongue-in-cheek vaccine.

The voters should know better, of course, but you know how campaign rallies are. Some of the spectators invariably get carried away and will believe anything. And that goes for certain candidates also.

A protein coating around the virus, the Agricultural Research Service believes, "alerts an animal to the bluetongue invading its body."

Microbiologists believe that for the first time gamma radiation was used "to kill bluetongue viruses needed to produce the vaccines."

It might not be practical to spray every stump area with gamma radiation and political assassination is against the law in most states. However, there is no doubt the body politic needs to be alerted whenever tongue-in-cheek campaign promises begin invading a candidate's speeches.

Economic Potential Enormous

LONDON, England — The news from this side of the Atlantic is more of the same — more strikes and threats of strikes, plant closures, bitterness over falling living standards, and under employment in Britain and on the European Continent.

The ancient countries of the western world can't get their act together, as they said in the 1960s. The economic potential of the British Isles and Europe is enormous, but political, social and economic strife, plus a lack of will, unity and vision, cause the productive machinery of America's allies to be cruelly underutilized. I say "cruelly" because the underutilization deprives the young of opportunity and hope for the future.

In Britain, the Thatcher experiment is in trouble. Prime Minister Thatcher has been successful in reducing the labor union power, a force operating against progress, but not enough. Socialism is deeply ingrained in the British way of life, despite the Thatcher efforts at privatization. Moreover, there is an acceptance of state paternalism that predates Socialist rule. There also is a deep resistance to change in any form. As a result, British society, while humane in so many aspects, is very sluggish.

With the on-going rundown of Britain's industries, which the government fails to come to grips with because of its extremely rigid market economy ideas, the country is vulnerable to fresh international economic shocks such as the rapid fall in the price of North Sea oil.

Internal political crises, unrelated to economic conditions, have left Mrs. Thatcher in a weakened position, with many Tories wishing for a new leader with a more appealing manner.

American tourists who see only the beautiful Britain don't usually discern the ills which prevent the full employment of the energies of the British people. That the ills exist is beyond question. They endanger the entire fabric of British life and suggest a steady deterioration that could usher in a new era of political radicalism. At risk are traditional British freedoms and the role of Britain as a cornerstone of the Atlantic Alliance.

While there is little the United States can do to help Britain with economic regeneration, Americans have a large stake in what happens to the British economy and British society.

EDWARD J. WALSH

It's Privatization Time

Webster's welcomed a new word this fall, at the behest of activists within the Reagan administration. For generations to come, America's schoolchildren — and professional economists — should be able to know the meaning of "privatization." It is, for those who use a different dictionary, the detachment of assets including real property, from the federal government by selling them to private interests.

President Reagan's just-released budget proposal for fiscal year 1987 is a valiant effort to throttle back the cost, but also the direction of the federal government as a force in Americans' lives. It calls for the death of some 70 government programs, great and small. These are the kinds of cutbacks awaited in horror by the defenders of the gargantuan government. A bloody debate is about to be fought, with prudence on the President's side.

The President seeks to raise some $245 billion by privatizing considerable chunks of federal assets, including real property. On this list are revenue-producing facilities such as the Naval Petroleum Reserve that owns oil wells at Elk Hills, California and Teapot Dome, Wyoming. The Administration proposes as well to sell certain government loans outstanding to farmers, students, and homeowners that amount to some $4.4 billion. Such sales, it is projected, could realize a health $2 billion in fiscal 1987.

Naturally, the privatization scheme is getting bad reviews. Defenders of big government argue that the sale of certain properties will actually cost the government money. The oil wells earn about a half-billion dollars per year. Once they're gone, those revenues will go to someone else.

The goal of privatization should be to divest the government of properties that it has no business owning. What those are is a full Congressional session's worth of debate, which should have taken place years ago, in accordance with the standard: what does the government need to own in order to provide for the common defense and safeguard the public welfare? The government's current vast holdings in real estate, finance, and resources, filtered through such a screen emerge as a chaotic mix of the appropriate and the bizarre.

Yes, the federal government should continue to own the White House and the National Park system. No, it should not be in the business of pumping oil — even at the cost of revenues that these days would come in handy. Neither should the government be collecting the delinquent loans of students and farmers. Private agencies are simply better at doing that. Sales of revenue-producing assets should be seen as a simple liquidation — cashing in on value accrued over years competing with private business, but value nonetheless.

The opposite of privatization is a colossal economic institution competing with private business across the full spectrum of the economy, at huge costs in efficiency and productivity. When we see the same thing in Europe we call it socialism. At home the pervasive role of government in activities that have nothing to do with governance has been looked on as benign, but inevitable. That is why the time has come for privatization.

SCIENCE WORLD

Frugal Rodents Conserve

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — It would seem a low-income worker bringing home a meager paycheck would spend it immediately rather than save for a rainy day, economists say.

But a new study shows laboratory rats with a meager supply of food have more self control and are much more likely to "save" than their well-off brother rats.

"This study does not take into account all the psychological issues, but it does show in a natural state the urge of the poor is to restrain themselves and save," said John H. Kagel, an economics professor at the University of Houston who participated in the study at Texas A&M University.

"It was totally the opposite of what we expected," he said.

Kagel and his colleagues overfed half of their laboratory rats very well for over a year while partially starving the other half. The rats were then taught that two levers produced food in two different ways, he said.

The first lever provided a small amount of food immediately and the second lever produced a substantially larger portion of food after a delay.

The skinny rats were far more likely to wait for larger rewards than the fat rats, which wanted food immediately, said Kagel. This shows the poorer rats were willing to do without food for a time, or "save" it, for greater rewards at a later time.

"We fully expected the fat rats to be more interested in saving than the skinny rats that had previously lived a hand-to-mouth existence," said Kagel.

"It was the skinny rat that had more control over himself than the high-income rat," he said. "They were able to tighten their belts and wait while the high-income rats had less ability to wait for their rewards."

Kagel said the experiment was undertaken by economists after researching studies of humans that showed higher-income people are much more likely to save than the poor.

He said few human studies have been able to determine if the rich save a proportionately larger share of their income than the poor.

"We wondered what was the instinct in the natural state," he said. "We thought perhaps the urge to save in the poor is as strong as in the rich."

JACK ANDERSON

Group Pushes For Constitution Monument

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Under President Reagan's austerity budget, the National Archives will no longer be able to support scholarly research on the founding of our government. Yet the president has allotted $12 million to a commission of noteworthy citizens to advise him on the celebration of the Constitution's 200th anniversary.

This triumph of form over substance is perhaps best illustrated in the contrast between two proposed undertakings — one that the White House wants to eliminate and one that has the enthusiastic support of the bicentennial commission staff.

The Archives budget cut would kill grants for research, including the Madison Papers Project, a definitive study of the voluminous records left by James Madison on the drafting of the Constitution. Madison was the principal architect of what is arguably the most important document in the history of democracy.

The project that the bicentennial commission is pushing would construct yet another monument on the Mall in Washington, an area already sinking under the weight of marble memorials.

According to internal commission documents, serious consideration is being given to a "Founding Fathers Hall/Constitution Center" that will include "a white marble wall on which the Constitution would be etched in gold letters." The hope is that the monument will be built "entirely from private contributions." Foreign governments will be encouraged to contribute.

Ronald Mann, the commission's deputy staff director, told our associate Donald Goldberg that the monument would cost anywhere between $100 million and $150 million. He said the building and wall are just one of several plans being considered, including a Constitution Park and a statute of the men who adopted the Constitution in 1787. All the proposals will be submitted to the commission so a choice can be made and a finance committee set up to run the fund-raising drive.

Dr. Raymond Smock, a historian with the House of Representatives, pointed out that a monument to the Constitution already exists — right on the Mall. The National Archives, a stately neo-classical building on Constitution Avenue, houses the original Constitution, the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and other priceless historical documents — so many, in fact, that it is bursting at the seams. "If we build a new building, let's build a new Archives," Smock told a private gathering recently. "We don't need a separate new center of learning on the Mall, when we already have within walking distance the Library of Congress, the National Archives and the Smithsonian Institution."

The proposal to build an expensive monument to a living document strikes Smock as impractical. It also reminds the historian of two earlier attempts at anniversary pageantry that turned into fiascos.

In 1784, artist Charles Willson Peale built a four-story arch in downtown Philadelphia to celebrate the end of the Revolutionary War. But he had so many fireworks at the edifice's christening that it caught fire. Peale barely escaped with his life.

In 1976, the city of Baltimore created the world's biggest birthday cake to mark the Bicentennial. Floating on a barge in the harbor, the cake collapsed and sank ingloriously as thousands cheered.

Footnote: Though the Constitution gave sacred status to freedom of the press, the Bicentennial bicentennial commission has excluded the press from its deliberations. It has, meanwhile, proposed that Sept. 17, 1987, be declared a one-time national holiday. That's the 200th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution. It's also the 80th birthday of the commission chairman, Chief Justice Warren Burger.

Flawless Lady Greyhounds Chew Up Buchholz

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

While winning is certainly nothing new for Lyman High's girls soccer team, the precision with which the Lady Greyhounds did it Monday night was something to watch.

Coach Tom Barnes' Lady Greyhounds played an almost flawless game on both ends of the field en route to a 5-1 victory over Gainesville Buchholz' Lady Bobcats in the Section 1 playoff before 301 fans at Lyman High.

Lyman, 22-0 this season with a win streak of 46, advances to the State Soccer Tournament for the third consecutive season and will go for its second title in a row. The Lady Greyhounds go up against South Plantation in Friday's first semifinal game at Coconut Creek. In the second game, Coconut Creek, the last team to beat Lyman, takes on Largo.

"The girls are looking forward to going back to Coconut Creek," Lyman assistant Laura Dryden said. "They remember two years ago (loss to Creek in the finals). They're already talking about it but they know they have to get by a good South Plantation team first."

Lyman took control right from the start Monday night as it scored less than five minutes into the game. Alyson Barnes served a ball into the penalty area where Dawn Boyesen gathered it in, drew the keeper and passed off to Sheila Mandy who drilled it into the cage for the game's first score.

The Lady Greyhounds made it, 2-0, less than five minutes later and again it was the senior duo of Mandy and Boyesen cashing in a scoring opportunity. Mandy took the ball down the right side and crossed the ball in front of the goal. Boyesen made a run toward the goal, then cut back to meet the ball and smacked it past

Soccer

Buchholz keeper Andrea Deyrup.

Buchholz had its best scoring opportunity of the half with 11 minutes remaining when Michelle Williams unloaded a free kick from 25 yards out that went just over the crossbar as Lyman's 2-0 lead held up until halftime.

The Lady Bobcats made a few good runs early in the second half but Lyman goalkeeper Lisa Chatman made some excellent plays to keep Buchholz off the board. Lyman then forged a 3-0 lead 10 minutes into the second half on a spectacular goal by Barnes.

The senior midfielder received the ball outside of the penalty area, dribbled through three defenders and drilled a shot past a diving Deyrup into the left corner of the cage.

The Lady Greyhounds made it, 4-0, with 18:55 remaining on another impressively worked goal. Barnes crossed a ball from the right side toward the far post and Boyesen ran up on it full speed and volleyed it in.

The only bright spot of the game for Buchholz' offense came with 12:51 left to play. After a Buchholz forward was taken down in the penalty area, Beth Severy converted the penalty kick to cut Lyman's lead to 4-1.

Buchholz had a chance to pull within 4-2 with 9:55 remaining when it had an indirect free kick from no more than five yards out. On an indirect free kick, the ball has to be touched twice before it can be ruled a goal. Lyman made the defensive maneuver of the night when it packed all 11 players in the goal to prevent the score. The ball was kicked around a few times close to the goal before Lyman cleared it much to the delight of the home crowd.

Lyman put the icing on the cake with 4:27 left to play when Mandy crossed the ball to Randi Huddleston, who made a nice play to control the hard-struck ball and flicked it into the box to make the final, 5-1.

"All of the goals tonight were nicely done," Dryden said. "They were decisive goals. None of them were flukes."

While the offense provided plenty of fireworks, the Lyman defense did a good job dousing the Lady Bobcats. Dryden said Laura Russell, Karen Abernethy and Diana Boyesen all turned in excellent defensive efforts along with Chatman in the goal. Chatman was forced to play the game without the protective cast she had been wearing on her fractured hand but Dryden said she performed impressively without it.

Rams Bag SAC

LAKE MARY — When Lake Mary's Lady Rams view the videotape of Monday night's game against Lake Howell, whoever narrates it will have a hard time not being redundant. Here's an example of what the narrator might be saying:

First quarter — "There's the full-court pressure defense forcing another Lake Howell turnover. And there's Cynthia Patterson going to the free throw line."

Second quarter — "There's Lake Howell making a great comeback. And there's Cynthia Patterson going to the free throw line."

Let's fast forward to the fourth quarter. "There's Anquetette Whack making a steal. And there's...well, you know who shooting a free throw."

Patterson, a junior forward, practically took up residence at the free throw line Monday night and she was certainly not late with the rent as she connected on 17 of 21 foul shots.

Patterson wound up with a career-high 31 points which also broke the school single-game scoring record and she also ripped down 15 rebounds. Patterson's magnificent performance couldn't have come at a better time as the Lady Rams won the Seminole Athletic Conference title with an 81-67 victory over the Lady Hawks in the regular season finale before 101 fans at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Rams, who finished the regular season at 17-6 overall and 8-2 in the SAC, will be the top seed in the 4A-9 District Tournament which starts Thursday at the sites of the top four seeds. Seminole High will be seeded second followed by Lake Brantley and Lyman. The remaining four teams will be drawn from a hat to determine who plays the top four.

Patterson's 31 points broke the record of 29 set by Courtney Hall during the 1984-85 season. She also paved the way as Lake Mary won its first ever conference championship.

"At one time tonight, it was pretty shaky," Patterson said. "But coach (Bill) Moore told us how much he wanted us to win the SAC. And he told us that Lake Howell doesn't give up so we would have to take it to them."

Behind Patterson for the Lady Rams, sophomore center Teri Whyte tossed in 14 points. Junior guard Tonya Lawson hit 13 and senior point guard Whack contributed seven points and seven assists. Senior guard Heather Leckie added six points including 4 of 5 free throws while senior guard Karen DeShetler finished with four points, nine rebounds and three assists. The Lady Rams hit 31 of 44 from the line (70 percent) for the game.

Lake Howell, although down by a bunch early, never stopped fighting Monday night and the Lady Hawks were in the game until Lake Mary pulled away in

Asplen's 24 Close Out Oviedo

Sherry "Ice" Asplen, who has been somewhat cool from the field lately, finally got boiling hot with a game-high 24 points to lead the Lake Brantley Lady Patriots to a 52-38 blitzkrieg of Oviedo's Lady Lions in prep basketball Monday night at Oviedo High School. It was the season final for both teams.

The win improved the Lady Pats to 13-7 on the season and 6-4 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. The Lady Lions dropped their season record to 8-18 and their SAC record to 1-9.

Asplen, who has been up and down of late, had one of her vintage evenings to lead all scorers. The play of Asplen and that of Kim Wain, who added 10 points on the evening, proved to be too much for the overpowered Lady Lions.

Asplen got red hot early and was a factor in the rest of the game, according to Lady Patriot coach Cindy Frank. "Sherry hit six of her first eight shots and they were all from way out there," Frank said.

The closest the Lady Lions could come was eight points in the fourth period where they could have brought it down to six, but coach John Thomas said the Lady Lions missed easy field-goal attempts.

After missing easy jumpers, the Lady Lions tried to go into a last-minute foul game. Unfortunately for the Lady Lions, the Lady Pats hit their free throws and Oviedo couldn't capitalize on the other end of the court.

"It was a long minute,"

Thomas said. "We had to go for the ball and then go for the foul. We were successful in fouling, but we couldn't make it happen at the other end of the floor."

JV PATS SQUEAK BY

In junior varsity action, the Lady Patriots squeaked by with a 32-30 win over the Lady Lions. The loss to the Lady Patriots made the Lady Lions drop their seventh game of the season by less than three points.

Oviedo's Adrienne Wood led all scorers with 12 points and Kerstin Colon banged the boards for 10 rebounds as the Lady Lions pulled out to a 15-14 halftime lead. — Chuck Burgess

County Advances 41 Matmen To Regional

The Seminole County area will really be shining this weekend at the Class 4A Region 2 Wrestling Championships at Jacksonville Forrest High School. Not only do the county schools have the numbers needed to walk away with the top spots, but they have the quality.

Out of the five local schools, 41 wrestlers will be competing. Lake Mary heads the list with 12 grapplers going. Lyman follows with 10, Lake Brantley with eight, Seminole with six and Lake Howell with five.

"I'm hoping that the entire area will be successful at the regionals this weekend," Lake Mary coach Doug Peters said.

The Rams, who ended the season with a 13-1 record, won the Seminole Athletic Conference and this past weekend added the District 4A-4 Championships at Lyman High School, will be the favorites from the area. And justly so, according to Peters.

The Rams are boasting the best chance to win the region with their herd of 12 Ram matmen. Among them include Jeff Johnson (102), Craig Johnson (109), Enrique Carbia (116), Rob Richards (123), Matt Broberg (130), Tom Olson (136), Bill Richards (142), Scott Ross (149), Tony Lavalle (159), Brad Goeb (171), Au-Bronceee Martin (HVY) and Troy Jackson (UNL).

The story for the Rams has got to be Jackson at the super heavyweight spot. Jackson tipped the scales at 400 pounds this past weekend and wrestled like a man possessed.

"Troy (Jackson) has got to be one of my favorite wrestlers," Peters said. "He looks pretty big, but he knows what he's doing on the mat. Usually bigger guys will tend to fall and the match is over, but Troy knows all about the leverage and has some pretty good moves."

For Glenn Malolini's Seminoles of Sanford, Troy and Tracy Turner will head the list of grapplers. Sheraton Mays (109), Derrick Butler (UNL), Randy Bryant (224) and Cecil Scarbrough (130) will join the relentless Turners on the mat in Jacksonville.

Troy, who wrestles at 159, is the only undefeated wrestler in the Seminole lineup. Turner is also the number one ranked wrestler in his weight class in the United States.

"Troy is a pleasure to watch," Malolini said. "I like to just sit back and watch him go at it. It is a pleasure to coach someone so talented and so willing to learn new things. He is just about unbeatable."

For Lyman, its pack of Hounds will be rearing to go once the whistle is blown. Among the region team include Kevin Garrett (102), Chad Dubin (116), Eddie Campbell (123), Anthony Carullo (142), Victor Navarro (149), Benny Glenn (171), Greg Hartman (189), Pat Perkins (224) and Jimbo Smith (HVY).

The Lake Brantley Patriots, who took third place rights in the SAC and the districts under coach Kevin Carpenter, aren't counting out their top contenders either. At 102, Dan Roth leads the lineup followed by Kevin Greenstein (109), Chris Hall (130), Dan Streetman (136), Troy Lewis (189), Jeff Petersen (224) and Gene DeVaney (HVY).

For the Silver Hawks of Lake Howell, who are under the guidance of coach Joe Corso, five may not seem like a big number, but five is better than nothing.

Leading the way for the Hawks is Roger Hutchins (116) who only lost to the undefeated Dubin by a score of 4-2 at the district meet. Chris Cina (123), David Figler (130), Daniel Hoskins (136) and William Inman (142) round out the nest.

The county grapplers who have undefeated records has been narrowed down to a small four.

Seminole's 159-pound Troy Turner upped his record to 22-0 with three wins this past weekend en route to his second district title in two years. Turner's only loss last year came in the finals of the state tournament.

For Lake Mary, Bill Richards at 142 also extended his unbeaten streak to 22-0 with three wins this past weekend. Richards, whose brother Rob wrestles at 123, moved in from New Jersey to attend Lake Mary and wrestle for coach Doug Peters.

The Lyman Greyhounds have the only other two untarnished records in the county. At 116, Chad Dubin improved his unblemished mark to 19-0 as he defeated Lake Howell's Roger Hutchins, 4-2, in the district meet.

The last grappler to go undefeated up until this point in the year is the 'Hounds' 224-pound Pat Perkins. Perkins, along with Turner and Richards, improved his seasonal mark to 22-0.

Tribe Gets Unexpected Help

Payne Readies Raiders For Daytona Invasion Wednesday

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Coach Bill Klein's Fighting Seminoles received some assistance from an unexpected source Saturday night — Oviedo.

The Lions of coach Dale Phillips, who have made a habit of playing the good teams well, did so once again but upsetting Lyman (63-60) in what turned out to be a key Seminole Athletic Conference encounter.

Oviedo's stunner, its first SAC win of the year, enabled the Seminoles to nail down the first SAC basketball title with an 8-1 record with one game, Oviedo at home Saturday, to go.

"That was a pleasant surprise," Klein remarked. "But we still have a tough week ahead of us."

The tough week begins tonight when the Seminoles travel to Daytona Beach to battle the Bucs. In other games, Lake Howell invades Lake Mary and Oviedo treks to Lake Brantley. Lyman is off and returns to action Thursday at Lake Mary.

The district pairings will be based on winning percentage in 4A, non-tournament games. Spruce Creek, which has lost just one (Edgewater), appears to have locked up the district's No. 1 seed, Lyman, which has lost just two (Seminole and Lake Brantley), looks set for second place.

That leaves Seminole and Mainland in a fight for third. Seminole has lost four 4A non-tournament games while Mainland has dropped four, too.

The No. 1 seed and the No. 4 seed land in the same bracket while No. 2 and No. 3 do the same. DeLand, Lake Howell, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary will complete the field.

Whereas, the SAC champion has been decided, the county scoring leadership is still a hotly contested race. Oviedo's Al Unroe moved back into the scoring lead when he poured in 28 points against Lyman.

Unroe (14.8) is one-tenth of a percentage point ahead of Lake Mary's Kelly McKinnon (14.7). Lyman's T.J. Scaletta (14.3), Seminole's Rod Henderson (14.1) and Lake Brantley's Mark Moser (14.0) also figure in the race. The regular season ends

Saturday. Craig Walker, Seminole's 6-7½ sophomore center, is a lock for the rebounding (9.7) and blocked shots (3.2) titles. Sophomore teammate Andre Whitney is the same for the assists (7.7) crown. Scaletta has the steals (3.5) title locked up, too. Ditto for Lake Howell's Todd Peterson in free throw accuracy (83.3 percent).

Coach Bill Payne's SCC Raiders return to action Wednesday with a familiar foe. The Raiders play Daytona Beach at 9 p.m. in the Mid-Florida Conference Qualifying Tournament at SCC's Health Center. The first game pits Santa Fe against Lake City.

Daytona drilled St. John's River, 88-71, Monday. Santa Fe ripped Central Florida, 75-69. Lake City mauled Valencia, 119-75.

SCC's Tony Roberts missed Saturday's game with the flu but he will return for Wednesday's game. Greg "Slim" Johnson injured his knee in Saturday's win and probably will not be available Payne said.

The title game is Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

IN BRIEF

Lyman's Plan: Keep Momentum In Section Against 'Cats Tonight

After coming out on top in the rugged District 4 A-9, Lyman's Greyhounds look to keep the momentum going tonight at 7 when they travel to Ward Park to take on Winter Park's Wildcats in the 4A-5 Region playoff.

Lyman and Winter Park have met twice this season with the teams battling to a 2-2 tie the first time and the 'Hounds pulling out a 3-2 victory the second.

The 'Hounds advanced with district victories over Seminole (5-0), Lake Howell (3-0) and, in Saturday's final, Lake Brantley (3-2). Winter Park won District 10 Saturday with a 2-0 whitewash of Evans' Trojans.

"Winter Park has a pretty good mix of attack and defense," Lyman coach Ray Sandidge said. "And they're pretty physical, they like to mix it up."

The top scorer for the Wildcats is Nhan Lee who will most likely be marked tonight by Lyman's Shaller Bowers.

Leading the Lyman attack are the senior trio of Brian Ocasek, Aki Toda and Pat Howard. Toda and Howard both scored against Lake Brantley while Ocasek contributed a pair of assists.

In boys' basketball tonight, Seminole travels to Daytona Beach Mainland. Lake Mary hosts Lake Howell and Oviedo treks to Lake Brantley.

In baseball tonight, Lyman hosts Lake Brantley in the feature game of the Lyman Preseason Invitational Tournament at 7:30.

Atlantic Bank Increases Lead

Atlantic Bank opened a two-game lead in the Sanford Recreation Department's Intermediate Basketball League Monday night when it trounced McCoy's Cleaners, 58-24, and First Federal upset Tip Top Supermarket, 35-28, at the Salvation Army Gym.

Coach Rick Taylor's 5-0 Atlantic crew received 26 points from Shawn Washington and 12 each from Clarence Ferrell and Brian Grayson. Dementry Beamon added six and Donte Jones totaled four.

Travis Perkins had 18 points for McCoy's while Darrell Jackson chipped in four and Raymond Perkins had a bucket.

First Federal handed Tip Top its second consecutive loss as Jeff Ingram poured in 21 points. Floyd Henderson added six while Adaryl Jones, Daniel Jones and Arthur Polk tossed in four each.

Richard Anderson led Tip Top with 12. John Jones had eight while Ricky Anderson totaled seven and Corey Anderson one.

Connors Struggles, But Wins

BOCA RATON (UPI) — Jimmy Connors, at 33 one of tennis' senior citizens, displayed Monday that guile is sometimes a fair tradeoff for youth.

"It should have been over in 52 minutes, then I had a concentration lapse," Connors said after the 6-1, 5-7, 7-6 (7-3) victory. "He makes a few shots, I miss a few shots and it's a struggle. It stinks."

"But I'm still winning, and that's what's important."

In their fourth round matches, No. 5 Stefan Edberg ousted Marty Davis 6-2, 6-3. Noah downed Jan Gunnarsson 6-1, 7-6 (7-2). No. 10 Joakim Nystrom bested Pablo Arraya 6-4, 6-4 and Guy Forget defeated Michael Robertson 6-3, 6-4.

Lady Raiders Wait On Fate

The fate of the Seminole Community College Lady Raiders in the state tournament is still unknown but coach Ileana Gallagher is expected to hear via or may in the next couple days.

The Lady Raiders helped themselves some over the weekend when they completed their regular season Saturday with a 52-50 victory over Edison Community College at the SCC Health Center.

SCC, 18-10, received 14 points from Renee Ivey and 10 from Fatima Lafond. Lisa Starks and Kim Lemon had eight each while Vikki McMurrer totaled six. Starks and Lafond pulled down eight and seven rebounds, respectively. Carol King handed out five assists.

Lyman, Patriots Lose In Tourney

Leesburg's Steve Madden was double trouble for Lyman's Greyhounds Monday night as he tossed a two-hitter and drilled a first-inning homer that proved to be all he needed as the Yellow Jackets blanked the 'Hounds, 4-0, in the Lyman Preseason Invitational Tournament.

Lyman returns to action tonight at 7:30 as it hosts Lake Brantley. Brantley dropped an 11-6 decision to Boone in Monday's first game. In today's other tournament game, Lake Mary takes on Boone at 4:30.

Madden didn't overpower the Greyhounds but he had excellent control as he struck out three and walked none. Leesburg's defense backed up Madden with an errorless performance as Lyman had just two men on base in the game.

Lyman's only offense Monday was Chris Brock who had both hits for the 'Hounds and stole one base.

Leesburg scored all it needed in the bottom of the first when, with two outs, Madden launched Byron Overtreet's first pitch over the left field fence. David Cliburn added a pair of hits of the Yellow Jackets who went on to add two runs in the third and one in the sixth.

Overtreet went three innings for the 'Hounds before giving way to Mike Whittington in the fourth. The two combined for eight strikeouts.

SIX-RUN FIRST DERAILS LAKE BRANTLEY

A six-run first inning paved the way for Boone's Braves to claim an 11-6 victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots in Monday's opening game of the Lyman Preseason Invitational Tournament.

Tom Maschinot's three-run double was the big blow for the Braves in the first-inning uprising. Brantley came back with two in the bottom of the first as Mike Davis crunched a two-run homer but Boone added one run in the fifth, then got a grand slam homer off the bat of Steve Gay in the sixth for an 11-2 lead.

Brantley put on a late rally as it scored four times in the bottom of the seventh with Mike Beams' solo homer leading the way. Mike Bates, who went the distance on the mound for Boone, got out of the jam though before the roof caved in.

Greg Ebbert started on the mound for the Patriots and gave way to Ray Sylvester in the sixth. Bruce "Quiz" Carlson pitched the final frame for Brantley.

...SAC

the last two minutes. It was the sixth consecutive conference loss for the Lady Hawks who now stand at 14-8 overall and finished their SAC slate at 2-8.

Hustling junior guard Erin Hankins led the Lady Hawks with 19 points and five assists. Senior forward Jolee Johnson sparked the second-quarter comeback and ended up with 13 points and seven while senior forward Kellee Johnson added 11 points and 10 boards.

Freshman center Sarina Winston turned in a strong performance underneath with eight points and 15 rebounds.

The Lady Rams scored the first four points of the second quarter to make it 25-11, but Lake Howell came back strong with 13 straight points. The Lady Hawks hit eight straight free throws to pull within 25-19.

then Jolee Johnson made a steal and drove down and finished it off with a nice left-handed layup. Johnson was also fouled on the play.

Lake Mary clung to its two-point lead until Hankins launched in two consecutive jumpers to give Lake Howell its first lead, 32-30. Lake Mary came back to take a 43-42 lead at halftime.

"I told the girls (at halftime) that they had to play a little smarter," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "We had to keep breaking on Lake Howell because they never give up."

The two teams traded baskets most of the third quarter but, with Lake Mary holding a 49-48 lead, the Lady Rams reeled off six straight to take a 55-48 lead.

Gina Dawson's layup on an assist from Leekie started the run and Patterson finished it off with a layup with 2:30 left in the quarter. Lake Mary held onto its seven-point lead, 59-52, going into the final period.

Patterson and Dawson continued to play well inside for Lake Mary in the fourth quarter but the Lady Hawks hung tough and pulled within six, 69-63, with 3:50 remaining on a baseline jumper by Jolee Johnson. Lake Howell had a chance to pull within four, but missed two consecutive one-plus-ones and Lake Mary then ran off six straight to take command, 75-63, with 2:41 left to play. Unlike a pair of games last week, the Lady Rams did not fold in the final two minutes.

"The girls played a little tougher in the last two or three minutes," Moore said. "That's something we haven't been doing."

MITCHELL LEADS JV RAMS

Anita Mitchell poured in a career-high 25 points Monday night as Lake Mary's junior varsity Lady Rams concluded the regular season with a 61-38 victory over the JV Lady Silver Hawks.

Behind Mitchell, Marnie Frey pumped in 14 points, Dena Mullholland and Sherry Shotts added six each and Lora Splatt contributed five. For Lake Howell, Brooke Burns and Stormi Littrell tossed in eight apiece while Patty Eldridge hit 6 of 9 free throws.

Lions, Hawks To Open SAC

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
Oviedo's Lions and Lake Howell's Silver Hawks open the 1986 Seminole Athletic Conference baseball season today at 3:30 at Lake Howell High School.

Oviedo, which lost the county's leading hitter in Eric Shogren, returns one of the area's best all-around ball players in junior Mark Merchant.

"Mark is one of the best talents in the area," Oviedo coach Howard Mable said. "He's going to end up being one of the best players to ever play at Oviedo."

Merchant, the county's leading base stealer last year as a sophomore, will patrol center field this year after a brief fling at shortstop last spring. Frank Torres, a senior, and Jaret Kinaird, a junior, join Merchant in the outfield.

Mable said he has confidence in junior Tony Belflower to do the job at shortstop, thus freeing Merchant's speed for the outfield. Belflower will team with senior second baseman Jim Barrett to form the double play combination. Senior Bobby Bradley will handle second base while junior Glenn Reichle assumes first base.

Senior Mike Sink will handle the catching duties and senior ace Craig Duncan will be today's starting pitcher.

"We're thin on backups and a little inexperienced at catcher," Mable said. "But we still have a pretty strong team up the middle."

Mable will count on right-handed junior Scott Bowers as his No. 2 pitcher. Barrett and Bradley will also hurl. Junior Jon Boston and senior Shane Cox provide depth at catching. Rodney Sherwood and Ricky Scott are outfield backups.

Couple Married 50 Years

Fifty-five of Stanley and Ella Stroud's family and friends gathered Saturday, Feb. 8, in the Holiday Inn, Sanford, to honor the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary.

The dinner party held numerous surprises for the DeBary couple. Mrs. Stroud's brother Tom Parlecresco and his wife, Jane, flew in from New Jersey; and Mrs. Stroud's longtime girlfriend, Dot Inderleid, arrived from California with husband Jim.

The evening was kicked off with punch, hors d'oeuvres and a champagne toast. Following a tribute speech from their son, Robert, the Strouds were seated for dinner at a table with their seven grandchildren and their spouses and fiancés.

An anniversary cake was cut by Mr. and Mrs. Stroud following dinner, and grandson Ricky Dohr played his grandparents' favorite songs on the piano.

Celebrants included the Strouds' daughter, Marlene Dohr; her husband, Richard; and their children, Ricky and Stephanie. The Strouds' son, Robert, came with his wife Annette and children Carmella, Aaron, David and Robbie. Stanley and Ella's children and their spouses began planning the celebration months ago.

Stanley and Ella Stroud

The story of the Strouds began in 1935 when, Mr. Stroud said, "I met Ella and decided she was the woman I wanted." Eight months later they were married. In 1952, after hearing about DeBary from friends, the Strouds moved to the town, where Mr. Stroud founded DeBry Electric and Mrs. Stroud opened a beauty salon. They pitched in together on duties at home as both ran full time businesses.

When asked how their marriage has endured for 50 years, both credited love, faith, friendship, respect, prayers and sharing of responsibilities.

Should Woman Rekindle Now-Remarried Flame?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old divorcee. I married Larry (not his real name) when I was 16 and left him (like a fool) for another man when I was 18. I never realized what a jewel Larry was until it was too late.

Larry got married and now he has three children. In the meantime, I've been living with this other guy, "Barney," for six years. We have a child but we're not married yet. We plan to make it legal in the near future.

I have always regretted leaving Larry and have prayed for a reconciliation, but after all these years I never thought I had a chance. Well, I ran into him two weeks ago in a parking lot, and it was like our very first meeting all over again! We have seen each other a couple of times since and now he wants to leave his wife and marry me.

Should I leave Barney and go back to Larry? Let me know soon. Barney and I are booked on a cruise, and we'll lose our deposit if we don't cancel by March 10. Thank you.

LIBBY (NOT MY REAL NAME)

DEAR LIBBY: Slow down. If Larry isn't thinking about his family obligations, he should be. You also have a child to consider as well as a six-year relationship. Don't do anything without considering the consequences very, very carefully. Go on the cruise you've planned with Barney and try to get your head straight before you go off the deep end.

DEAR ABBY: I have seen many letters in your column complaining about snoring bed partners. Your stock answer: "See an ear-nose doctor for a possible minor surgical solution." I have a better idea.

My husband was the champion snorer of them all. Then one day we figured out his snoring might be caused by breathing through his mouth, so we bought some paper "tape" 1 inch wide, and he began taping his mouth closed every night before going to sleep. (He would say, "No more talking. I am going to tape up now.") Then he would press his lips together and tape them shut. After sleeping quietly all night long, he would peel off the tape in the morning. (It peels off easily.)

This worked for 20 years. I have told others. Some say this will stop their breathing. Not so.

MRS. L.P. IN L.A.

Dear Abby

he did not owe us $7,500 — it was only $5,000! Mission completed. We got it in writing.

SHREWD IN EL CENTRO, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I'm so glad you told that man who had fallen in love with a young lady's voice over the telephone to go ahead and meet her. I would just like to say that you can never tell where a phone call will lead.

A good friend of mine from high school attended the U.S. Air Force Academy where I'd call him occasionally to see how things were going. As cadets do not have phones in their rooms, my calls were answered at the squadron desk by the cadet working there; one cadet in particular began to recognize my voice, and I liked his. We exchanged pictures and letters for four months, and when we finally met face to face, we felt as though we'd known each other for years.

We are now engaged and plan to be married after he completes pilot's training.

Closed Bank Is Open On Holiday

DALLAS (UPI) — The only Dallas bank open on Washington's Birthday was closed. On what would normally have been a bank holiday, 25 Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. employees and four former bank workers Monday began paying off insured depositors of Executive Centre Bank, which was ordered into receivership Friday.

"It's not a bank anymore. It's an FDIC office," said John Vella, the FDIC closing supervisor. The bank had $6.6 million in assets, including deposits of $8.2 million, when the comptroller of the currency appointed the FDIC as receiver.

"Everything is going fine. It's been very smooth," Vella said of the payment process that began at 10 a.m. "There's a small line waiting, but everything's gone very well. The customers are very congenial."

He estimated about 30 customers came to the bank to get checks for their deposits by late Monday morning.

"Their money is safe up to $100,000, and we have funds available," said Vella.

Vella said all but 23 of the bank's 581 deposit accounts will be refunded in full. The 23 accounts exceeded the $100,000 limit by a total of $253,635.

Fifty FDIC employees and five bank workers spent the weekend tallying the north Dallas institution's assets.

Half of the FDIC workers and four former bank employees returned Monday to help issue checks to customers of the defunct institution.

Vella said the bank was solvent when the FDIC moved to close it after the 2-year-old institution's sole remaining director, Jimmy L. Talley, resigned.

"The director handed it over to the comptroller," he said.

Vella said loan customers can continue making payments to the FDIC, but depositors should not write checks on their accounts.

Checks that failed to clear before the closure will be returned, he said.

The bank had ties to Energy Bank, which closed in May, and Park West Bank in Farmers Branch, a Dallas suburb, which closed in August.

At one time, the three banks had the same chairman, David Wise, a Dallas investor. Wise resigned his positions prior to the bank failures.

Fight Against Pollution Is Big Business

By David E. Anderson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Efforts to clean up the environment and control pollution have spawned a $70 billion-a-year industry that created 166,500 jobs in 1985, said a study released Monday by a private consulting firm.

"If pollution abatement and control were a corporation, it would rank near the top of the Fortune 500," said the study by Management Information Services. "As a result, a significant sales-generating, profit-making, job-creating industry is now in place."

The private consulting group specializes in looking at the impact of federal budget and tax policy on industry and labor and different regions in the country. Its study comes at a time when environmental protection regulations are under fire from some parts of the government and private industry for harming the economy, crippling industry and costing jobs.

"Many companies — whether they realize it or not — owe their profits, and in some cases their very existence, to pollution abatement and control investments," the study said. "Many workers — whether they realize it or not — would today be unemployed were it not for these investments."

The study looked specifically at efforts to control and abate air, water and solid waste pollution.

It found that in 1985, business invested $4.2 billion in air pollution control equipment, $3.2 billion in water pollution control equipment and $1.1 billion in equipment for disposal of solid waste.

According to the study, investment in air pollution control generated $10 billion in industry sales, $1.3 billion in corporate profits and 85,000 jobs. Water pollution control investments created $7.1 billion in sales, $900 million in profits and 59,000 jobs while waste disposal technologies generated $2.5 billion in sales, $300 million profits and 22,500 jobs.

Among states, California, New York and Texas led among new jobs created, with 17,420, 12,160 and 11,570 new jobs respectively. Other big job gaining states included such "rust belt" states — where pollution control costs are often blamed for unemployment — as Ohio, 8,580; Illinois, 8,170; Pennsylvania, 8,010 and Michigan, 6,090.

While acknowledging that environmental standards may penalize some states and regions at the expense of others and that they may adversely affect employment, the study argued that its analysis also shows that pollution-control efforts "will provide substantial economic and employment benefits to various regions."

"Most interesting, industries in the regions negatively impacted by environmental legislation will benefit substantially from the sales, profits and jobs created by pollution abatement and control investments," the study said.

Owner Of Headliners Wins American Cup

On Jan. 12, Lynda Behrens, owner of Headliners, 2303 French Ave., Sanford, won the prestigious American Cup Award in New Orleans at the Inspiration '86 show.

Competing against top stylists from around the country in a grueling two-phase competition, she won first place in both the day and petite gala events.

Lynda's model for the show was Kim Hartwell of Orlando, a student at University of Central Florida, Virginia Stadig sewed the dresses used at the competition.

Lynda will be training her other stylists to compete in state competition and then she is going to take the Florida Hair Fashions Committee Exam to be a judge. Lynda is also trying out to be a platform artist for the Redken Laboratories and if she is chosen she will appear at hair shows in the southeast doing fashion type hairstyling and cutting.

Later this year, Lynda and John (a hairstylist at Headliner) plan to take advance training in London at the Sassoon School of Design.

Mixon Auto Supply Has Complete Line Of Parts

Good news for auto repair shops and shade tree mechanics! Roy is back and raring to go and invites his old friends and customers to drop in at his new location.

Roy Mixon with 40 years experience in auto parts has come out of retirement with the Jan. 1 opening of Mixon Auto Supply in Country Club Square at 2489 S. Airport Boulevard (at 25th Street) in Sanford.

Before his retirement, the Seminole County native had operated an auto supply store in downtown Sanford for 15 years gaining a reputation for friendly, efficient and dependable service.

Counterman Pete Murray has 15 years experience. A certified mechanic, he has been working on cars since he was 12 and has a lot of experience working with imports.

Roy also has mechanical experience and both have the expertise to help diagnose your problem, supply the proper parts and, if necessary, steer you to an honest, dependable mechanic for repairs.

"In the past, women weren't supposed to know anything about cars, but now women are learning about their car and that's great," said Roy. "If they don't know who to take their car to for repairs, I can suggest someone to take it to who won't rip them off."

Mixon Auto Supply carries a complete line of auto parts, foreign or domestic. If they don't have it in stock, they will have it for you the next day.

Among the quality brands they stock are Standard Ignition, Eis Brake Parts, a full line of Milton and Cal-Van tools, AC Delco and Gold Bond batteries, garages. They are open Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. wholesale prices and -and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on offers parts delivery to Sunday. Call 323-8101.

Roy Mixon, owner of Mixon Auto Supply says: "I want to sell you auto parts"

FREE HEARING TESTS SET FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

SANFORD - A free Electronic hearing test will be given at the Beltone Hearing Aid Center office this week from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

June Dunwald a factory trained hearing aid specialist will be at our office to perform the tests. A FREE gift will be given to anyone who has his hearing tested.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes for hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out if they are one of the many a hearing aid can help.

The FREE hearing test will be given from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or by appointment.

Thriller Comes True

By Bill Lohmann
UPI Feature Writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — The case reads like a spy thriller with mysterious phone calls, tense trips behind the Iron Curtain and enough international intrigue to curl the pages of any dime-store novel.

For lawyer Robert Frier, the swap involving his client, a Czechoslovakian native accused of infiltrating the CIA, in the Anatoly Shecharansky deal last week was a chance to grab a piece of history and live out an adventurous fantasy.

"It was all pretty exciting," Frier said, sitting in his posh office in downtown Atlanta with a miniature jury box on one side of the room and a witness stand and judge's bench on the other. "There was drama and there was mystery."

"At times, we would stand outside of ourselves and ask, 'Can all of this really be happening?'" Frier, 43, a robust bespectacled blond, is a big-time criminal lawyer known for representing clients with deep pockets and occasionally dubious reputations.

He was defending Larry Flynn against pornography charges when the Hustler publisher was gunned down outside a courtroom. He represented an ex-aid to Sen. Herman Talmadge when the Georgia legislator faced the Senate Ethics Committee in a much-ballyhooed legal affair in 1979. Frier was retained by Betty Ruth Williams, wife of the man convicted of kidnapping newspaper editor Reg Murphy, and he represented Tree Rollins, the Atlanta Hawk who bit Boston Celtic Danny Ainge during a heated game several years ago.

However, Frier admits no previous celebrated client could match the drama provided by Karl F. Koehler, a naturalized U.S. citizen accused of spying for his native Czechoslovakia.

Frier first met Koehler through a mutual friend at a party in the late 1970s. "We talked for about 20 or 30 minutes," Frier recalls. "It was just talk."

In late 1984, Koehler was arrested on espionage charges. He apparently remembered Frier, and the mutual friend asked Frier to take the case.

Koehler, who is described as the first East European to successfully infiltrate the CIA, immediately brought up the idea of a "diplomatic solution." Frier agreed and pursued that angle. However, he was stonewalled by State Department officials, who said no deals could be made with people who had not been convicted.

Frier turned to the Czechoslovakian government, which had to approach the matter from a hands-off position since Koehler had become a U.S. citizen.

"My feeling was nothing ventured, nothing gained," Frier said. "Besides, I'd never been to Prague."

Frier made the first of two trips to Prague in January 1985. He met with the families of Koehler and his wife, Hana, as well as Czechoslovakian government liaisons.

"At the time, I purposely hadn't looked at the evidence (against Koehler) because I didn't want to know exactly what it was," Frier said. "I was a little afraid of having access to our government's secrets and going into Czechoslovakia. I wasn't certain what was going to happen."

Frier admittedly was nervous. "I fly over 300,000 miles a year and I never get butterflies on a plane," he said. "But when we landed in Czechoslovakia the first time, I didn't have butterflies — I had an eagle flying around in my stomach."

He took along his law partner, Steven Westby, as a "witness to whatever might happen."

Frier stayed in a six-floor walk-up apartment in Prague and was "guarded" as he made his way around the city to meet with the families and government contacts. At one point, Frier was concerned the Czechs were trying to take advantage of his affection for Pilsner beer. It turned out, he says, the presence of beer everywhere was simply a local custom. He settled down and enjoyed the Czech brew and hospitality.

Having made the initial contacts and presented the idea of a swap, Frier returned home and proceeded with Koehler's defense.

He and his staff spent much of 12 weeks locked in a vault in Washington — for security reasons — studying the government's secret evidence.

Then there were the mysterious phone calls from the Czech embassy in Washington. Frier said they would go something like this: "Can you come by the Czechoslovakian embassy soon?"

"Yes."

"How soon?"

"The day after tomorrow."

"What time?"

"Before noon."

"Ask for such-and-such and he will have something for you."

Frier would follow the orders and come away from the embassy with letters or lists of people the Czechs were willing to trade. It was all part of the puzzle.

Last summer, Koehler first mentioned Shecharansky as part of a possible trade. Frier was skeptical, but was not surprised the name of the well-known Soviet dissident came up since Koehler had a rather inflated opinion of his own stature.

"Koehler himself thought he was something great," said Ron Katis, a Frier associate. "In his own mind, he thought he was important and would be an equal trade for Shecharansky."

Frier described Koehler as perceiving "himself as a Renaissance man, a very enlightened Eastern Bloc person." Frier adds he doesn't believe Koehler "did a great deal of damage" in his foray into the CIA.

The second trip to Prague lasted three days, and Frier entered the meeting with greater presence, if not confidence.

"I asked for Shecharansky on Day One," Frier said. "On Day Two and Day Three, I answered questions about why I thought a trade was viable. That was the first time I ever shared with them the idea that I just might win this case. I didn't tell them how."

Frier now says much of what Koehler told U.S. agents after his arrest two years ago in New York were made on the basis of a promise that the Czech native would be free to leave America. Frier filed a motion early last month to suppress those statements and was waiting to hear from a judge when he learned the trade would occur.

Frier said he is convinced the United States let Koehler go because it was weak against him.

Still, Frier said the play for Shecharansky was a shot in the dark. "That was the last he has heard of the Koehlers or the Czech government. He has no idea how the Koehlers were greeted in their homeland or what the Czech government has planned for them."

He is most interested, however, in what will pick up his $100,000 tab in legal fees.

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF LAND USE
The Seminole County Local Planning Agency (LPA) will hold a public hearing on March 5, 1986 at 7 p.m. or as soon thereafter as possible in the Seminole County Administrative Services Building at 1101 East First Street, Sanford, FL 32771, Room W120. The purpose of the public hearing is to consider a recommendation for a proposed amendment of the Seminole County Comprehensive Plan to change the land use designation from a General Rural designation to Low Intensity Commercial, School, Preservation, Recreation, Low Density Residential, Transportation Communication and Utilities, and Public/Quasi-public designations for the proposed Development of Regional Impact (DRI) project known as Plantation. A map of the proposed land use amendment property is found below.

The proposed land use change consideration results in part from the continuation of a public hearing held on January 8, 1986 regarding the proposed Plantation DRI. The LPA will first hear all pertinent staff and public input regarding the proposed land use amendment. Following the land use amendment decision, additional staff and public input regarding the DRI and Zoning recommendations will be heard, if necessary. If a person desires to appeal any decision made at said hearing with respect to any matter considered at such hearing, he or she will need a record of the proceedings and, for such purposes, may need to insure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made which records includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be based. Any desired verbatim record of this meeting is the responsibility of the interested party. ALL ACTIONS BY THE LPA ARE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS (BCC). The BCC will consider the proposed amendment after meeting the requirements of Chapter 143.3184, 143.3187 and Chapter 388.06 (4) and other pertinent statutes and county policies. For further information, contact the Seminole County Planning Office, Room N341, Seminole County Administrative Services Building, 1101 East First Street, Sanford, FL 32771, 221-1130 Ext. 371. The Office of Planning will accept written comments for inclusion in the preparation of a staff report until February 24, 1986. Additional written and/or verbal comments will be accepted at the public hearing. BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA Publish: February 18, 25, 1986

Pneumonia Rarely Affects Breathing

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 79 and very active, but I have a hard time breathing when I go up stairs or carry anything. My doctor says I have a damaged air passage from pneumonia. I take Quibron and Prednisone. Is there anything that will help me breathe?

seriously doubt that your dryness indicates you have a disease. Most women with similar problems are more victims of poor timing than of illness.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was told recently that I am allergic to milk. The nurse in my doctor's office told me that I couldn't have yogurt because it's a milk product. I thought I could because it's lactose-free. What's the story?

DEAR READER — Pneumonia can damage lung tissue itself but, in my opinion, it rarely affects the breathing tubes (bronchi) leading into the lungs. From your brief description, I'd say you may have asthma, emphysema or heart trouble. All three conditions can cause breathlessness.

Asthma is due to reversible constrictions of the bronchial tubes. It is treated with dilating drugs, like Quibron, in aerosol or pill form. Prednisone is also useful. Emphysema is a chronic disorder of lung tissue, characterized by physical changes that prevent oxygen and carbon dioxide from being exchanged between the lung tissue and inhaled air. Emphysema is difficult to treat, because, by the time symptoms appear, extensive damage is usually present. Emphysema may coexist with asthma.

Heart failure causes a backup of fluid in the lungs. The condition can mimic asthma, but the treatment is different. To complicate matters, heart failure can result from asthma or emphysema.

I think you need a precise diagnosis to clear up confusion and find help for your symptoms. Ask your doctor to refer you to a pulmonary specialist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 26. When my husband and I are ready to have sex, I'm never turned on and my vagina is dry. Does this mean I have cancer or a bad disease? Please tell me what's wrong.

DEAR READER — It sounds to me as if, contrary to your statement, you are far from ready to have sex when your husband is. Teach your husband how to stimulate you — or learn to stimulate yourself — until you get turned on; your lubrication problem should solve itself. I

WIN AT BRIDGE

Some safety plays require preparation. That may mean attacking a suit in an unorthodox way. Lacking foresight, today's declarer made a natural play. When he won the heart ace, he played a low diamond up to dummy's Q-J. The jack won, and another diamond back to the king lost to West's ace. Now that defender continued with the heart queen, and the three no-trump contract was down the drain. The entry to dummy for the long diamond trick was eliminated. Only two tricks were available in each suit, and there was no way to conjure up a ninth.

If the heart suit originally led by West contained five cards, declarer may not be able to afford the luxury of a safety play, but he can find out whether he can. The correct play is to first play the diamond king from the South hand. When that is taken by West and hearts continued, declarer can hold up until the third round of hearts. Since East follows suit, declarer sees that he can give up still another diamond trick to protect against a possible 4-1 split in the suit. He does so, playing a low diamond from both the North and South hands. Although West can then cash the fourth heart, that is the last trick the defenders can take.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY FEBRUARY 19, 1988

In the year ahead you will be doing things on a grander scale than you've ever done in the past. You will become involved in big venture that would have previously intimidated you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You are now in a brief cycle of exceptional career or work opportunity. Get ready to move fast when things begin breaking your way.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Others will see you for what you are today and they'll be impressed by your warmth and compassionate nature. Your actions will draw friends closer to you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Open-ended projects can be brought to a happy conclusion today. If you have anything dangling, press a bit harder to eliminate it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This can be an exciting and productive day for you, especially if you're working on a big new project. Your enthusiasm will be transmitted to others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Financial trends look encouraging for you today. If funds are due you they'll be collectible, with perhaps a little interest thrown in.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're apt to be luckier today in situations that serve your self-interests, rather than those of others. Try to focus on personal objectives.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something advantageous is stirring for you, but it might be screened from your view. Others could be aware, but you may not learn of it today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Our real wealth lies in our friendships. You'll be doubly blessed today because you have two good pals you can count on when the chips are down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do things that will please your superiors today, even if you have to work a trifle harder than usual. Solid efforts will be acknowledged.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll have a pleasant day if your attitude is positive and outgoing. Your happy spirits will have an electrifying effect upon your companions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There is financial opportunity around you today, but not from your usual channels or sources. It's a new stream that you've never tapped.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Matters you negotiate on a one-to-one basis will work out well today. You'll be ahead in getting a good deal, yet you'll also be scrupulously honest.
