By Russ White Herald Staff Writer

SEMINOLE COUNTY - If employees of Seminole County - particularly those in the Environmental Services Department and Roads Division - are disenchanted, County Manager Gary Kaiser is trying to find out why and to caution or dissuade them from unionizing.

Kaiser, Personnel Director Nancy Tallent and attorney Jeff Mandel are meeting this week with the 1,200 county workers in private sessions that were hastily arranged because of a bold, new attempt to unionize these employees. Media members have not been allowed at these meetings.

"I keep hearing that employee morale is low." County Commissioner Grant Maloy said Wednesday. "And it's typical that union people pop up when there's friction going on. I prefer not to have the union in here but we should hear this out."

Focus on fire and police personnel

Kaiser is annoyed at the methods that Service Employees International Union Local 362 is using to consolidate the county employees, "Quite a number of our employees say they had people come to their homes at the dinner hour. They didn't like it," Kaiser said.

hour. They didn't like it," Kaiser said. Union organizer Dan Horowitz said today that 25 county employees had formed their own organizing committee. "We're there to work with them and to discuss strategies. They've asked us. It's not like we just came in. You don't go underground , doing this in secret."

Horowitz said employees from just about every county department are involved. "Some of the more prevalent problems seem to be in the Environmental Services Department and Roads Division," he said. Several county employees who attended the meetings with administration believe these are the two trouble areas - from those who work outside and are on the lower end of the pay scale.

Nude club update: Another raid, another lawsuit

SEMINOLE COUNTY - The raids continue and so do the lawsuits. In a never-ending effort by the county to regulate the adult entertainment industry, the Sheriff's Office made another raid at Sassy Meriot's strip club on Tuesday and arrested 4 dancers.

At the same time, county and City of Casselberry attorneys are mulling the most recent lawsuit from the adult entertainment industry - a complaint from Rachel's men's club that turning over employee records violates the dancers' rights.

This is an invasion of privacy." attorney David A. Wasserman said. "It's a violation of the First and Fourteenth Amendment rights to privacy, expression and assoclation. The raid took place in April, the

Lake Mary identifies properties needed for new police station

By Shari Bredie HERALD FEATURE EDITOR

LAKE MARY - A deed restriction on a piece of property the city needs to build its new police station was lifted by a county commission vote Tuesday.

A lot, conveyed to the county in 1978 and dedicated as a "park area", is part of a system of "stair-step" parks, which run from the southeast side of downtown to the northwest side, at West Crystal Lake. The land was given to the county by the Sjobiom family, early settiers who helped developed the downtown area.

City Attorney Donna Mcintosh contacted the county, requesting release of the conditions placed on the lot, but told commissioners the goal, in the design of the station, was to "keep a park-like setting" on that portion of the property.

Besides the park, located on the southeast corner of Second Street and East Crystal Lake Avenue, the city has identified 6 other properties needed for the police station. The other properties include 3 existing Please See Land. Page 4A

LAKE MARY - Motorists had a surprise when Lake Mary Boulevard traffic was stalled by a 2,700 square foot, 3bedroom house being moved to the property of tornado vic-tims on Pine Way in South Sanford.

"I couldn't believe my eyes when I came up over the rathroad tracks Sunday morning and saw a house in the road, a house!" said traffic participant Randy Laboy. He laughed. "Now I'll have to tell my boss I am late for work because I was held up by a house!"

His boss, Ron Marlar, co-owner of Wet 'n Fla Scuba Shop, responded as bosses will do when he heard that excuse ... "Yeah, right!" But when Marlar had to drive to his shop in Lake Mary an hour later he saw the big brown domicile sitting under the GreeneWay overpass. 'I'll be darned, my instructor traince was right?"

The house, located on prop-crty owned by First Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary, was purchased for $30,000. The church will be using the money for renovations and maybe a multi-purpose room. The actual base was built beginning May 15, 1942 during World War II. Construction was actually completed 2 months ahead of schedule, including a 6,000-foot runway. Originally, the base was de-signed to house 3,600 men.

The official grand opening was held Nov. 3, 1942. The first commanding officer was F. Massie Hughes, who had previ-ously been in the Battle of Midway and Coral Sea. He ar-rived to take over his post in January of 1943.

Following the war, the base was de-activated and became a housing center for approxi-mately 1.500 civilians, and was at one time a training ground for the New York Giants major league baseball team.

When the Korean conflict broke out, the field was reacti-vated and used as a training base for pilots. It reopened in 1952 as an Auxiliary Air Sta-tion. One of the Brst Navy men to check in at the reopened base was former Sanford City Commissioner A.A. McClana-han, at that time, an enlisted man. champions, got to Cubs starter Erik Breum for two runs in the top of the first inning.

Marcus Kendrick opened the game by drawing a walk on a full count. Kendrick advanced to second on a wild pitch as Breum struck out the next batter and moved over to third on a ground out by Cy Wynn.

Lyndon Merthie then put the Expos ahead as his double off the leftfield fence plated Kendrick and Merthic scored after moving over to third on a passed ball on a single by Anthony Mojica.

The lead was short lived, however, as the Cubs, who have a league best 18-1 record in winning the American Division title and going 3-0 so far in the post-season, came right back with three runs in the bottom of the first inning.

DeKywan Debose led off with a walk off of Merthle and Roger Breum reached on an error. After a wild pitch moved the numers to second and third. Debose scored when Karl Henkel beat out a high-bouncer to short for a single and Roger Breum also scored on the play to tie the game and Henkel got to second on a wild throw to first Freddie Howard (who gave up no hits and struck out 13 in relief on Monday and also had two hits, drove in one run and scored two runs as the Cubs topped the Expos 13-3 in Game One) then put the Cubs ahead with a booming triple off the rightfield fence.

But a flash of lightning, and rain moving across the lake, at that point told the officials it was time to clear the field and try to wait out the storm, which did not stop until around 8 D.III.

Part III of 3

Last week we discussed the requirements imposed on a driver to render assistance if necessary, provide certain information to others involved in an accident, and notify the police under certain circumstances. This week we certain will discuss the added precautions that a person involved in an accident should consider taking in order to protect his or her rights.

As discussed previously, Florida law requires that a driver involved in an accident provide certain information to a police officer on the scene. However, a person involved in an accident should be careful when commenting beyond what is required. Comments made while under the stress or excitement of the moment may later be used against that person. A person may feel guilty about "causing" an accident, think that if only he or she had done this or that the situation would have turned out differently, or make a determination of culpability based on limited facts. However, those feelings.

What every driver and passenger should know although quite common. are distorted and if often verbalized may complicate matters. There will come a time where most of the facts surrounding the issues will become clearer and the parties' judgments are more likely to be unclouded by emotion. It is at that point, and not when the accident just occurred, that a person is in a position to admit or deny liability.

Before commenting beyond what is required, a person should also take into consideration that while Florida recognizes an Accident Report Privilege which deems an accident report to be inadmissible evidence in a civil or criminal trial, a police officer may testify in a criminal

Sanford soldier a performer in U.S. Army Show

Special To The Herald

Traveling is part of the job for most soldiers. But for the daughter of a Sanford woman, and 27 other talented Army musicians and performers, their summer traveling will take them throughout the United States and Europe. Army Private 1st Class Daniene U. Mitchell, daughter of Deirdre Mitchell, 102 Brown Drive, Sanford, is a member of the 1998 U.S. Army Soldier Show, a colleclighting and audio equipment and more than 150 coslumes trial as to any statement made to him or her as long as that person's privilege against selfincrimination is not violated. Additionally, it should be noted that the results of breath, urine, and blood tests are not confidential and may be admitted into evidence.

Another precaution that a driver, passenger, or other party involved in an accident should take to protect his or her rights is to take notes of what exactly happened. The details of an accident can quickly become blurred. Therefore, in addition to obtaining the information required to be exchanged by statute, one should as added precautions, draw a diagram of the scene, note the directions in which the vehicles were heading and their approximate speed, note the point of impact on the diagram, note the point(s) of impact of the vehicles, note the position where the vehicles came to a stop, note any skid marks, note any statements from those involved in the accident, and get the names and addresses of any witnesses to the accident.

Lastly, a person involved in an accident should consider seeing a doctor. Sometimes serious injuries fail to show immediate symptoms. Failure to visit a doctor may cause an internal injury that is not apparent to worsen. Additionally, the party at fault may later claim that the injuries were worsened by the person's failure to seek appropriate medical treatment and that the claims for payment of medical bills and/or lost time from work should be limited or even denied.

Being involved in an auto accident can affect a person anywhere from a brief moment to a lifetime. However, knowing what is required by law and the precautions that may be taken to protect one's rights can help make a difficult situation a little caster to handle.

Mother protecting daughter provokes fight

DEAR ABBY My husband, our 6-year-old daughter I'll call her Marcia), and I recently drive to my sister-in-law's, several states away, for a visit. At dinner, I was introduced for the first time to her new boyfriend, "Jue." The man was sloppily dressed and didn't look very

After dinner, Joe and several of the other male guests who had been drinking during dinner went out to continue drinking. Marcia asked to spend the night at my sister-inlaw's, but I was reluctant to let her stay in a home where these men would be returning later, no telling how intoxicated.

I was concerned for Marcia's safety and put up a fight. I got pret-ty ugly in front of her and my husband. Marcia was crying and my husband was yelling. Nobody cared to listen to my reasons for not wanting her to stay. Abby, I grew up with an alco-holic father. He used to come home drunk and get very mean with my siblings and me. I didn't want the same thing to happen to my little girl

Marcia ended up staying there for the night, and Joe did come back drunk. He finally passed out on a couch near my daughter's bedroom. The next day, Marcia said Joe and my sister-in-law were talking loudly for hours after he returned, and she didn't get much sleep.

Now my sister-in-law won't speak to me, and my husband and mother-in-law are upset with me for the way I acted. I believe I acted as any mother would who has had experience with drunks. How can I fix this?

A MOM WHO TRIED IN FLORIDA

DEAR MOM: Although your motives were noble, you overreacted. Had you approached the problem calmly and ratio-nally instead of putting up a fight, you might have gained support for your position. Write your mother-in-law and sister in law noise of apple gy for the unpleasant scene, and applying to your bushesed and daughter. In the future, make sure the sleeping arrange-ments are clear to Marcia before you visit this household.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in my 70s, and I have a theory about why women outlive men. At any senior center that has exercise, line dancing and aerobic classes, you are lucky to see one or two men participating. The women are as happy as hens in a barnyard - dancing, exercising and giving each other hugs. I am one of the few men in the classes, and at times I'm the only man.

As I leave the classes, I notice men in the reading room sitting a mile spart with their noses buried in a book, while their wives help each other stay healthy both physi-cally and mentally. I think the isolation and loneliness of men kill them before their time.

FAST EDDIE, GARDEN GROVE, CALIF.

DEAR FAST EDDIE: That's a keen observation. What's actom-ishing is how easy it can be to reverse those unbealthy habits. Following a regular program of moderate exercise and relieving stress by communicating with others in a social environment should not only add years to should not only add years to men's lives, but make those years more enjoyable.

they caused me to think about sex throughout the day (something my husband says he's always done). The result is, come bedtime, I've been mentally preparing for love-making all day long. Sometimes I'm even the initiator. My husband and I are happier and more satisfied. BEEN THERE, DOING THAT

DEAR BEEN THERE: I almost ripped my bedies when I read your colution. Now why didn't that occur to mo?
