

RAIL STRIKE DOUBTFUL IN FACE OF RETURNS NOT ALL FAVORABLE

Union Headquarters
Say Volume of Votes
May Change Plans
SEVERAL ARE MENTIONED

IN ILLINOIS CENTRAL SHOPS
SHOW VOTE, OVERWHELMING
AGAINST STRIKE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 21.—Although expressing hope for rush ballots the rest of the week union headquarters where the strike vote of railway employees is being tabulated today expressed disappointment over the volume of returns in the nation-wide referendum of shompen and other rail workers on the question of a walkout in protest against wage cuts ordered by the Labor Board. Reports on balloting at Burnside shops of Illinois Central were to effect that the boilermakers there voted overwhelmingly against the strike.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Disaster for the striking railway unions and unfortunate results for their membership was predicted to follow the threatened walkout of which a strike vote is now being taken by nine railroad labor organizations, in a letter from Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board, to the union leaders yesterday.

Answering a letter from the union chiefs, which declared the executives would authorize a strike if the employees demanded it, Chairman Hooper made categorical reply to the "fierce assaults" on the board, for which he declared there was no ground.

"With the degree of friendly interest that I feel in these organizations and with the recognition I accord to their great service to the membership I am hopeful that they will not adopt a course that will surely prove disastrous to organizations and unfortunate to the men composing them," wrote Mr. Hooper.

"It is regrettable that such a step is contemplated at a time when the country is just entering upon an era of more stable industrial conditions, and that gives promise for an enlarged degree of prosperity to railway employees."

Although Chairman Hooper said in the letter, which was addressed to B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor, that he felt no reply was required to the union's strike avowal, he expressed "a willingness to go beyond the strict limits of my official authority, in the interest of railway peace." He said he felt it his duty to reply because the threatened strike "contains such possibilities of loss and detriment" to the strikers. The chair added that a strike vote should not be taken on any misunderstanding of the action or attitude of the board, but declared the union chiefs' letter manifested "a strikingly distorted conception of what the board has done and why it did it."

INLAND WATERWAYS SUBJECT OF MUCH DISCUSSION BY THE UNITED STATES ENGINEERS

Florida's Waterways Have Been Investigated
Several Times

The following report of the inland waterways of Florida published by the Daytona Journal is interesting since the hearings on the same will take place at Daytona and at Sanford in a few days:

Tuesday, June 27 next, Major William C. Lemen, United States engineer corps, district engineer, with headquarters at Jacksonville, and J. M. Braxton, assistant engineer, of the same office, will hold a hearing in Daytona in connection with the survey of an interoceanic waterway from Jacksonville to Miami.

This matter has been the subject of examinations and reports for the past dozen or more years, army engineers, as far back as 1909 making these investigations, which so far have been unproductive of results.

Two routes have been thought feasible, but army engineer boards at Washington made adverse findings, and the question is now reopened.

A history of the surveys of canal routes, as given out at the United States army engineer's office at Jacksonville, shows the labor and time that has been expended upon the projects. It is as follows:

In 1909 congress directed surveys for an interoceanic waterway from Boston to Key West, and a portion of the route from Fernandina to Key West was assigned to the army engineer's office of the United States at Jacksonville for surveys and report.

A board of army engineers co-operated with the district engineer here, Captain George R. Spalding, in preparing and submitting a report.

This board made various surveys to determine the most feasible and most advisable route. These were examined along the East Coast canal, the route to extend up the St. Johns river and thence to the Indian river and to Miami by the East Coast canal, and in this latter route made surveys for a canal connecting the St. Johns river to the East Coast canal via Crescent and Dunn's lake, via Lake Harney, Lake Shad and Salt Lake.

The final recommendation of the board was that a canal 10 feet deep and 100 feet wide was justifiable and that the most advisable route was via the St. Johns river to Salt Lake and Lake Shad, then to the Indian river and on to Miami via the Florida East Coast canal, or a route located immediately parallel thereto.

The report of the board was submitted with the estimated cost. The favorable recommendation of this body, however, was not concurred in by the board of United States army engineers at Washington, D. C., and an adverse report was made by this latter body to Congress.

In 1916 Congress directed the examination of the Florida East Coast canal with the advisability of purchasing the same by the government and its possible further improvement. This report was committed by the board, consisting of three U. S. army engineer officers, of which Major W. B. Lalue, the district engineer at Jacksonville, was a member.

The report of this board was unfavorable to the purchase or improvement of the canal.

The Rivers and Harbors act of Congress of June 5, 1920, directed the preliminary examination of the interoceanic waterway from Jacksonville to Miami. Two public hearings have been held in order that the district engineer officer at Jacksonville, Major William C. Lemen, could secure information upon which to base his report.

These hearings were held last May at Titusville and Palm Beach, when statements were made that further hearings were desired in order that additional information could be secured. Going into the official reports made on the surveys it is found that the first board of engineers at Washington, D. C., stated the present or prospective commerce was not sufficient to make advisable the improvement to a depth of 10 feet and that the estimated cost would be $12,000,000.

The second proposition shows that the cost of a channel 7 feet deep and 100 feet wide, paralleling the Florida East Coast canal would cost over $4,000,000. It was also the opinion that the commercial, military and naval uses of a canal along the East Coast of Florida was not sufficient to justify the purchase and enlargement of the existing canal or the construction of the enlarged canal over a parallel route.

This became apparent last night when returns from half the precincts participating in Monday's primary election showed Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen had won the senatorial nomination of the Democratic party over two male opponents.

When 1715 of the state's 3,348 precincts had reported, Mrs. Olesen had a margin of 4,200 votes over Thomas Meighen, her nearest opponent, the count then standing: Mrs. Olesen, 18,212; Meighen, 14,019.

SEARCHLIGHT BY RADIO IS THE LATEST

INVENTION OF MARCONI, THE WONDERFUL ITALIAN INVEN-
TOR OF WIRELESS

NEW YORK, June 21.—Guglielmo Marconi, wonder man of wireless, last night announced the invention of what might be termed a radio searchlight, by means of which radio waves which can be reflected like light waves may be sent in a given direction in a beam, instead of being scattered to all points of the compass.

The famous Italian said he believed this invention would be utilized in such a manner as to rid the sea of some of its terrors, for with a revolving reflector, the transmitter would constitute a radio light house, capable of flashing guiding beams nearly a hundred miles.

Addressing a joint meeting of the Institute of Radio Engineers, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers on his latest discoveries, the inventor said of the proposed radio light house:

"By means of the revolving beam of electrical radiation, it is possible for ships when within a certain distance to ascertain in thick weather, the bearing and position of the light-house."

"It seems to me that it should be possible to design apparatus by means of which a ship could radiate or project a divergent beam of the short wave rays in any desired direction, which rays, if coming across a metallic object, such as another steamer, would be reflected back to the receiver on the sending ship and thereby immediately reveal the presence and bearing of the other ship in fog or thick weather. One further advantage of such an arrangement would be that it would be able to give warning of the presence and bearing of ships, even should these ships be unprovided with any kind of radio."

Marconi's radio searchlight bears little resemblance to the battleship searchlight. It is rather a special arrangement of wires on towers or masts. During his lecture Marconi exhibited pictures of reflectors, resembling the weird apparatus pictured in imaginary tales of the conquest of the world by Martians. Through the use of these reflectors at both ends, clear speech was exchanged during experiments over a distance of ninety miles, between London and Birmingham, he announced, establishing a record in long distance radio transmission and reception with short waves.

BOILERMAKERS VERDICT

AMONG THEM BEING CARR OF
DURHAM AND HALDEMAN OF KENTUCKY.

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, July 21.—The election of officers and selection of meeting place of the next convention is on the program of today's session of the United Confederate Veterans reunion. Prominently mentioned for commander-in-chief are General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, North Carolina, the present commander, General W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, Ky, General William B. Freeman of Richmond, Jacksonville, New Orleans, Nashville, Louisville and Dallas are seeking the next reunion.

RICHMOND, June 21.—Returning to Richmond after a lapse of sixty years, R. G. Tuedor, Confederate veteran of Augusta, Ga., yesterday uncovered from the rubbish on the floor of an old house and disclosed the likeness of General Robert E. Lee which he said he carved there with his pocket knife while convalescing from a wound received in fighting around Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., June 21.—What was described as the "christian leadership of the men in gray," a defense of President Jefferson Davis, of the Confederacy, against his southern critics, a reference to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, as "being against everything the South stands for" and eulogies of former President Wilson, featured the addresses which marked the opening session here yesterday of the thirty-second annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, in an impassioned speech in which he praised the courage of the men who followed the stars and bars, said of Jefferson Davis:

"If success had come in the Southern cause, a grateful nation today would be paying just tribute to his manly virtues and splendid character." Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, reunion orator, declaring that the idealism the south stands for is the same idealism which prompted the South to support the League of Nations, exclaiming that "whatever Henry Cabot Lodge is against, the South is more than apt to be for."

Addresses of welcome by Gov. E. Lee Trinkle and Mayor George Ainslie, stressed what they said was the christian leadership of the men who fought in the war between the states.

A touching scene was enacted in connection with the opening of the session early yesterday when General Julian S. Carr, commander-in-chief of the veterans, arose from his chair and, extending his arms with dramatic gesture, exclaimed to the old veterans in a low voice:

"God Bless you all, I love you, I love you."

A house on Melonville avenue belonging to W. A. Leffler burned down this morning and was a total loss together with all the contents. K. R. March had a lot of furniture stored in the building and the loss of house and furniture falls heavily upon the owners. The fire department could do nothing after arriving on the scene as there was no water available, being outside of the city limits and the chemicals would have been useless since the house was almost consumed when the department arrived.

NEGRO IS SHOT AND KILLED AT W. GARDEN

(By The Associated Press) WINTER GARDEN, June 20.—Night Officer O. Driggers shot and instantly killed Charles Munsey, negro, 35 years old, between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday morning when the latter resisted arrest on a charge of bootlegging.

Munsey had been in town Saturday night when he had sold two quarts of shine, it is alleged. Another negro tipped off the transaction to Chief of Police Thompson, who instructed Officer Driggers to arrest Munsey, who was located in his home in the quarters, east of town. When Officer Driggers approached the house, Munsey reached toward his shirt front as to draw a gun, but the former was too quick for him and began to pump lead at the negro, three shots taking effect in the latter's bowels and producing death.

After the shooting a 32 calibre gun was found in Munsey's car, while a pint bottle of liquor, half empty, was located in the latter's car.

Justice of the Peace W. C. Wilson, and a jury composed of six good men, conducted an investigation at 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning and returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Bryant when apprehended was working on a farm in New Jersey. He was returned to Orlando for trial and as a defense for the killing-of his father recited a story of harsh treatment at the elder Bryant's hands from the time the younger Bryant was a boy. He was kept in ignorance of the whereabouts of his mother, he said. Upon his conviction he announced he was ready to stand his punishment.

Provision was made for his young wife who was left in a penniless condition.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

The weather report has a certain kind of sameness about it these days. We can almost shut our eyes and tell you what it is going to do for the next twenty-four hours. If you ask Dr. Pulcston about the weather he will say it is ideal—he has cotton. If you ask a grower about it he will say, too much rain—he has peppers. If you ask a merchant he will say, "I hope it is clear Thursday afternoon"—he wants to go fishing. Does the weather ever suit everybody? NO is the answer.

Old town just gets up and dusts every day.

People are really believing that Sanford will soon be a city.

Every visitor to the city says Sanford is growing faster than any city of similar size in the state.

The growth of Sanford can be traced to the starting of the Valdez Hotel and The Daily Herald.

A new theatre for Sanford ought to do much for the city in many ways.
