Guard shot, stabbed at actor's estate

MIAMI - The bloody scene that unfolded at Sylvester Stallone's lush estate on Biscayne Bay was tailor-made for Hollywood — only this drama was all too real.

While the actor filmed his new movie "Copland" in New York, police officers swarmed Stallone's $8 million residence Wednesday after a confrontation involving two security guards.

Corey Wade, 22, who apparently was trying to rob the mansion a few hours before starting his shift at the mansion. viciously attacked colleague Abel Romero and fled on foot before being arrested, police said.

Wade, who confessed, was charged with attempted firstdegree murder, use of a firearm in a commission of a felony and burglary with an assault, police said.

Romero, 34, suffered two gunshot wounds and a deep stab wound to the neck. He was in critical condition Wednesday evening at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

Both men work for Crime Prevention Corp., which had no comment.

"This is an inside job. This is a bad apple security guard coming back to his place of employment to wreak havoc," police Lt. Bill Schwartz said Wednesday.

During the day, buses with gawking tourists found Miami's reputation for celebrity and crime played out on the tiny street in posh Brickell Hammock where entertainer Madonna also owns a home.

Authorities received a 911 call at 5:18 a.m. from a person inside Stallone's house. When officers arrived "the offender was drenched in blood from the knees down." Schwartz said. Investigators said Wade, who had gone to Stallone's home intending to steal something, had come prepared for the job, with a .38-caliber handgun, ski mask and duct tape. "It appears some terrible confrontation happened in the guard shack," Schwartz said. "There's glass on the floor, blood, water, a telephone off the hook, a ski mask and a baseball bat." The two men exchanged gunfire, emptying their six-shot revolvers at each other, police said. Wade was not injured.

Wade told police in his confession that he then handcuffed Romero, loaded him into a golf cart and took him down near a 21-foot Boston Whaler docked at Stallone's property.

Stallone learned of the incident while filming "Copland," in which he plays a hearing-impaired sheriff of a small Eastern

New services have Publix growing

TAMPA - Prepackaging deli foods and expanding supermarket services so harried shoppers can bank and pickup dry cleaning with no wait is the hottest lucrative supermarket trend, an industry analyst says.

Adding services, such as Publix recently did by incorporating banks in three Jacksonville stores, are intended to cater to the time-hungry consumer.

"Instead of three stops ... a shopper can do it all at the grocery stores," said Chuck Gilmer of Shelby Report, a regional industry trade publication.

Prepackaging is another way to help the time-pressed consumer and help the grocery store compete with quickservice restaurants. Shoppers may bypass the wait at the deli counter at 134 of the company's 508 stores and pick up "Quick Takes," prepackaged salads, meats, entrees and cheeses.

The new services, more stores, and record-breaking sales have Publix looking for a year of stellar growth. The commany. Tuesday announced record first-quarter sales of $2.7 killion.

The Lakeland-based chain, added 44 stores last year: 20 in. Florida, 19 in Georgia and five in South Carolina. And 32 new stores are planned for this year, including expansion into Alabama. Alabama.

The chain is Florida's largest private employer with 99,000 workers.

The record sales come amid a class-action lawsuit alleging sex discrimination.

"The sales figures have been very strong," company spokeswoman Jennifer Bush said Wednesday. "We won't allow this suit to distract us from serving our customers."

The first-quarter sales figure, the largest the privately-held company has ever experienced, is a 12 percent increase over the same period last year. And 1995 was a record year. Publix hit nearly $9.4 billion in sales last year, or an 8.4 percent increase over the previous year.

The 44 store openings definitely bumped the sales figures, but another contributing factor was a 5.3 percent increase in

"That is a really healthy figure," Gilmer said.
"It means not all of it is attributed to growth. It's a tribute to Publix keeping its eye on operations as they've undergone growth. The same-store increase is the most impressive figure to me," said Gilmer, an analyst with the regional grocery trade publication outside Atlanta. He said it indicates Publix had a plan for northward expansion, while keeping focused on its existing markets.

esbian mom wins new hearing

TALLAHASSEE -Panhandle mother, ecstatic about a ruling that her lesbian lifestyle didn't justify taking away her child, wished another northern Florida woman luck in a similar custody case next

"I'm looking forward to seeing more of my daughter. It's been really hard for both of us. She just didn't understand," Valerie Maradie of Niceville said Wedneeday.

Maradie was denied custody of her 4-year-old daughter last September. But the 1st District Court of Appeal granted her a new hearing Tuesday, ruling that Okaloosa County Circuit Judge Jere Tolton wasn't entitled to assume without evidence that "a homosexual environment ... can adversely affect a child."

A similar, more widely publicized Escambia County case — in which a convicted killer, John Ward, won custody of his 11-year-old daughter be-cause her mother, Mary Ward, is a leabtan — will be argued before the same appeals court next Wednesday.

"I will make sure that everybody involved has a copy of this in front of them," Charlene Carres, attorney for Mary Ward. said of the Maradie ruling.

Maradie's husband. John Maradic, a traveling sales representative, had no criminal record, but Valerie Maradie argued that it still was unfair to award him sole custody just because of her sexual 'orienta-

"The judge assumed something for which there was no evidence whatsoever," her attorney, Michael Webster, said

Wednesday. "In fact all the evidence was to the contrary."

A court-appointed psychologist testified he saw no evidence that Maradie's sexual orientation hurt her ability as a parent or harmed the child, the threejudge Court of Appeal panel noted in its ruling.

Even so, Tolton had concluded that "the possibility of negative impact on the child ... is considerable."

"The court does not have to have expert evidence to reach this conclusion but can take judicial notice that a homosexual home environment is not a traditional home environment and can adversely affect a child," Tolton ruled.

In sending the case back to Tolton, the appellate panel disagreed.

We do not mean to suggest that trial courts may not consider the parent's sexual conduct," the ruling said. "In considering the parent's moral fitness, however, the trial court should focus on whether the parent's behavior has a direct impact on the welfare of the child." In the case of Valerie Maradie and her four-year-old, the mother said, the answer to that was "Absolutely not." "She's four and it's important to spend time with her mother. That shouldn't be allowed to interfere." Maradie said.

"Children see, and are a lot more astute than people think they are," the Niceville nurse added. "Prejudice is just talk. They are a lot more accepting of differences. Just because something is different, it's not

MIAMI - A band of thieves had what they needed to cook up tons of an old Cuban food favorite - Jamon con Pina after carting off truckloads of imported pineapple pulp and

The thieves also had big dreams of dealing in counterfeit money, illegal drugs and stolen shrimp, according to a federal indictment released this week.

Four people were charged in a conspiracy to "possess property of a value in excess of $100, including pineapple pulp. Sea Doo jet skis, ham and other food products stolen from interstate shipments."

Charged in Operation Storm-front were Gladys Ortis, Pedro Sanches, Alejandro Reyes and Occar Gonzalo Martin. Since the 1994, the investigation has nabbed more than 75 defendants in about 10 different indictments.

Most of those charged with trafficking in stolen property have plended guilty, said Willie Gonzalez, spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's Office in Miami. The indictment released Tues-day consolidated two cases that had already been filed, he said.

The investigation used fake import/export companies to lure would-be traders of stolen property. Using R&B Traders and H.M.L. Enterprises in Northwest Miami, undercover agents posed as brokers of stolen property.

The indictment accuses the four suspects of engineering the theft of a refrigerated trailer full of pineapple pulp in 1994 worth about $65,000 and delivering it to R&B Traders the next day for

Blue Angels announce appointment pilots of new leader and two more

By The Accedeted Press

PENSACOLA - A fighter pilot who flew combat missions from an aircraft carrier during the Persian Gulf War will be the next leader of the Blue Angels.

Cmdr. George B. Dom, of Greensburg. Pa., was named Wednesday as commanding officer of the Navy precision flying team that has undergone a leadership crisis during its 50th anniversary year.

Dom will succeed Capt. Greg Wooldridge, who took over as interim leader after Cmdr. Donnie Cochran resigned May 28, citing trouble handling the team's flying maneuvers.

"So much of this is timing."
Dom said from his home in Orange Park, near Cecil Field in Jacksonville where he is presently stationed. "I think every naval aviator who watches the Blues fly wishes that they could participate in that program."

Dom was with Strike Fighter Squadron 82 aboard the USS America during Operation Desert Storm in 1991.

The Duke University graduate, now commander of Fighter Attack Squadron 37, was chosen from among 10 candidates and will fly the No. 1 jet. The Blue Angels fly F/A-18 Hornets and are based at Pensacola Naval Air Station. The flight demonstration squadron also announced the selection of two other pilots, part of a normal rotation that replaces half of the six-member team every year.

They are Lt. Mark Dunleavy. of Virginia Beach, Va., now at Cecil Field with the Strike Fighter Weapons School, and Lt. Doug Verissimo, of Falmouth. Mass., attached to Strike Fighter Squadron 125 at Lemoore Naval Air Station, Calif.

Their positions will be decided later. One will serve as air-show narrator in 1997 before moving into a flying position, which also is part of the normal rotation. The current narrator, Lt. Scott Beare of Alexandria, Va., will move into a flying position next

The three new pilots will join the team when it concludes its season in November. The equadron will train during the winter at El Centro Naval Air Facility, Calif.

Sturm room is fine addition

The Good Samaritan Home has served the economically disadvantaged in Sanford for many years with a loving environment and activities and entertainment for the residents of the congregate living facility.

Robert Sturm, the late county commissioner and community activist, was very involved as a volunteer at the retirement living center. He spent a great deal of time raising money for the center from 1978 until his death in 1983.

Those at the Good Samaritan Home recognized the commissioner for his efforts with the residents.

The addition of the Robert J. Sturm Arts and Crafts Room at the facility this past weekend brings together the dreams of the late commissioner and the needs of the residents.

We applied the coalition that will allow the residents to express their creativity and to allow their minds and bodies to remain active in their older years.

The Good Samaritan Home has been an advocate for allowing individuals to remain active as long as possible and the arts and crafts room in the facility will be a place where they will be able to do that.

Most of the residents of the Good Samaritan Home are economically disadvangaged, but the dedication of the staff and the committment of those like Sturm and his family makes their older years more pleasant and productive.

We also laud those, including director Thelma Mike, who are doing what they can to make the lives of residents more interesting and productive through caring and dedication to continued activities.

The Robert J. Sturm Arts and Crafts Room is the culmination of a dream that was begun by the employees of the facility and the commissioner and continued by those dedicated to the residents.

Truancy problem

After reading your Editorial, "Accepting Responsibility", on July 5, 1906, I would like to make some comments.

There is no doubt in my mind that trusney is a problem in our schools today. A visit to my school will show a large number of student absences, because kids skip class and are just hanging around in the halls or bathrooms. Sometimes, they leave school to smoke, drink or do drugs, just to get into trouble.

The trumpy problem needs to be corrected, but not from government control, but from parental control. I do not agree with giving money to the achools for the trumpy problem as you do. It does not take 4.9 million dollars to make ours our itide go to school. It just takes caring parents, teachers, neighbors, and school officials to enforce school policy.

Hillary Clinton recently wrote a book called, "It Takes a Village," which points out that everyone in the community, from grandparents, aunts and uncles, brothers and sisters, neighbors, friends, fellow workers, and extended families need to be involved in order to rear our children property. Instead of relying on "Big Government", we need to rely on our own resources and strong PTA. We also have to instill in our kide that it is important to go to school and there is a reason and purpose in going every day. Too many times parents tell their kide that they are not going anywhere in life, because they are no good. Therefore, kide have no motivation to attend school. Most of the time classes are so boring and uninspiring that students see no reason to go to class.

Correcting the truency problem must first start at the home. Parents should set up a team of volunteer truency officers and make sure students are in class, where they are supposed to be. Seminole County does not need 34.000 dollars to spend on the absentee problem, but the schools do need more money for supplies, better teachers, and adequate classroom facilities. Parents need to find ways and solutions to their children's truency problem. I believe that if parents wanted children in the first place then they are responsible for making sure that they get the opportunity to have the best education and grow up knowing that their parents cared about their future. You can only do this through education. Kids need role models and better supervision at home and at school. They need to know that learning comes from the claseroom not television and video games. If we do not correct the problem now, it will just create more problems in the future.

U.S. should 'get over' nostalgia

Americans have a chronic complaint: that the country is "seriously off on the wrong track." But, says a fascinating new book, that's because they harbor an unrealistic nostalgia for a post-war "Golden Age" that can't possibly return.

Despite the fact that the United States is the richest and most powerful country on earth, journalist Michael Elliott writes, "Americans whine" because "they have lost the ability to accurately assess their present condition."

Writes Elliott in his book, "The Day Before

Writes Elliott in his book, "The Day Before Yesterday," "They constantly compare America to a world we have lost — to a Golden Age that followed World War II. But that period of America's history was a massive freak. It is a false yardstick with which to measure the scale of our present discontent." "Our obsession with those years," he writes, "is like the ultimately hopeless task of trying to recapture a dreamtime."

According to Elliott, instead of dwelling on the end of the postwar boom. "we have to get over it" and solve the problems of the present.

In "The Day Before Yesterday," Elliott argues that — with significant exceptions — America is heading back into "normal" times like before this century's wars began in 1914.

He argues that America's natural strengths, including its geography, wealth, entrepreneurial spirit and sense of community, ought to enable us to overcome future challenges, much as America after 1914 repeatedly summoned the strength to save democracy.

democracy.

In making this argument, Elliott along the way has written a wonderfully learned book about this country—appreclative and charmed by what he sees in a way that only a foreign correspondent can be.

Now editor of

Now editor of Newsweek's international editions, the British-born Elliott formerly was Washington bureau chief for the Economist, and has spent time in places -- like the Monongahela Valley in Pennsylvania and Shannon County, S.D., the poorest county in America - that U.S. journalists at best only pass through.

His book is chock-full of little essays about American culture, some only a paragraph long, that reveal both depressing and hopeful facts about the nation.

For instance, he notes a major difference in the health patterns of U.S. social classes: "Those who never finished high school are more than twice as likely to be fat as those who have gone to college. In 1970, 35 percent of high school dropouts smoked cigarettes, as did 28 percent of college graduates. By 1993, the number of smokers in the first category was 37 percent, but among the college-educated smoking had become taboo: only 13.5 percent smoked cigarettes."

Concerned about possible ethnic Balkanization in the country, Elliott finds some hope in intermarriage figures, including the fact that one-third of Latinos and Asians now marry outside their own group, about the rate that Italian-Americans did in 1945 on their way to 80 percent by the late 1980s.

His main argument, though, is that America has been in a semi-permanent "funk" ever since the mid-1970s because the post-war boom in incomes and optimism came to its inevitable

Is the election all over?

To read the oped pages in the newspapers these days, or watch the TV talk shows, one would think that this year's presidential election is all over. It is generally agreed -- and, one has to admit, all too true -- that Bob Dole's campaign has recently had some perfectly dreadful weeks, and has yet to pull itself together and land so much as a single serious punch.

What's more, it seems clear that most of the blame must be assigned to the candidate himself. There is no lack of serious issues that cut in his favor, from immigration and race quotas to tax reduction and welfare reform. Nor is Bill Chinton, for all his current ascendancy in the polls, by any means unbestable, or even particularly formidable.

The basic problem is that Dole hasn't taken

The basic problem is that Dose nam't taken the trouble -- or (worse yet) doesn't know how -- to discipline himself, and stop acting as a mere patry for reporters intent on miring him in irrelevant quarrels over minor points. Only the candidate himself can rules this campaign to a level at which he will clearly deserve to win.

Of course, the liberal members of the media — and recent surveys put that proportion at around 90 percent — understandably want to keep us all fecused on the delightful problem of "What's the matter with Bob Dole?" As long as that remains the only discussible topic, the Republicans can't possibly win. But I have been appalled at the number of ordinarily sensible conservative commentators, from Robert Novak to Bill Buckley and George Will, who have thrown in the sponge and gone along with this ploy.

To be sure, since I am a conservative first and a Republican only second, I could console myself with the reflection that, whatever happens to Dole and the GOP, this election will have to be interpreted as a victory for conservation — indeed, as ratifying the final demise of liberalism. Mr. Clinton, badly shaken by the 1994 election of a Republican Congress, kicked off the year in his State of the Union address by twice declaring that "The era of Big Government is over."

Of course, he thought he was lying. But why did he consider it necessary to lie? Because he knew very well that that was what the great majority of American voters wanted to hear. And, with shrewd advice from his Republican adviser Dick Morris, he has kept up the pace ever since. Hardly a week goes by without some new conservative initiative on Mr. Clinton's part, from calling for putting schoolchildren in uniforms to promising that he will sign a bill denying the universal validity of gay "marriages." Conservatism has had many truer friends in the White House, but none noisier.

But, if you will excuse me, I intend to alt out the current mad dash for the exits. Mr. Dole may indeed lose the election, but it ain't over till the fat lady sings. There are three and a half months stretching between now and Election Day. What is going to fill them, politically speaking? One minor Dole gaffe after another?

The liberal media, even in the teeth of their own manifest bias, just won't settle for that.

There will simply

There will simply have to be thunderous "surprises," heartshaking "crises," wild upswings for both Clinton and Dole. At some point, thoughtful observers will get around to at udying the distribution of votes in the Electoral College, and discover (as the unflappable Elizabeth Drew apparently already has) that it's harder to count Dole out than it currently seems.

And Dole still has

And Dole still has some nice headlines up his sleeve. One will involve his choice for the vice presidential nomination. Another will be a comprehensive package of tax and spending cuts that will put the race back where it belongs: on the high road of national policy.

Faith healing: does it work?

Much of today's "alternative medicine," which does without drugs or surgery, has its origins in ancient rituals and beliefs.

Some of the earliest faith healers relied on manipulation — or the laying on of hands — to effect cures. According to the book of Acts in the Bible, the apostles transmitted the Holy Spirit to the church's new believers by laying their hands on them.

Later healers decided to try this method in

In his book "The Complete System of Self-Healing." Stephen Chang. M.D., instructs the reader to "sit or stand in a comfortable position with your hands extended in front of your chest at the level of your shoulders. Make sure that the fingertips of each hand almost touch — but keep a quarter of an inch distance between them. Keep your eyes focused on the tops of your fingers.

"This exercise creates a flow of energy which comes in through the fingers of the right hand, comes across the chest and into the heart, then passes through the left arm, hand and fingers. As the energy passes through the heart it strengthens the heart tissues and surrounding blood vessels."

In Africa healers have good luck using drums. The different rhythms are said to affect the flow of blood and the functioning of various organs.

The divining rod need be nothing more than a twig, but in the hands of a dowser it will virtually come to life when the dowser stands over a subterranean body of water. The explanation some give for this is that the dowser is sensitive to magnetic currents of energy and that water provides such a current.

A dowser of my acquaintance, however, maintains that the power at work is psychic, not magnetic. He knows this, he says, because he can get his divining rod to move around and jump merely by holding it over a

As O'Neal and the Dream arrived at the Olympics. agic general manager John abriel and team president Bob ander Welde were in town saking a new offer reportedly worth 0115 million. The Lakers' fer was believed to be around 120 million for seven years.

"The meeting with Leonard went quite well." Gabriel said. He was very receptive to our offer. He said he would discuss it with Shaquille and get back to us quickly. We expect an answer sometime (Thursday)."

One of O'Neal's teammates at the Olympics is anxious for him to make up his mind.

Reggie Miller confirmed Wednesday that the Lakers are one of three teams that have made him an offer, but it will be pulled off the table if O'Neal decides to head for Hollywood.

That would leave Miller choosing between Indiana and Detroit.

Strange business these days, strange business," Miller said. Orlando got one deal done

Wednesday, re-signing power forward Horace Grant to a $50 million, five-year contract.

O'Neal avoided reporters Wednesday after the Dream Team's last practice at the Disney Institute in Orlando, so he was not able to comment on a poll in the Orlando Sentinel in which about 90 percent of respondents said O'Neal was not worth $115 million.

"Not the type of thing that you want to come out on the day that your franchise player is about to sign or not re-sign," Gabriel said.

The Lakers originally offered more than $95 million over seven years, but they traded Anthony Peeler and George Lynch to Vancouver for a second-round draft pick Tuesday to create more room under the salary cap — and increase their offer to O'Neai.

With the extra money, the Lakers could offer $117 million over seven years.

"If they are trying to squeeze another million or two out of this, then the Lakers can pay it," team owner Rich DeVos said.

exploded about 6:45 p.m. Wednesday and plunged into the ocean off Fire Island, a narrow strip of land that runs parallel to Long Island. It fell in 120-foot-deep water about 40 miles cast of New York.

Wreckage and fuel on the water burned for hours as helicopters hovered. A C-130 transport plane circled, dropping parachute flares to illuminate the acene. Overnight, rescuers used infrared night vision gog-gies to help spot bodies.

Fresh crews were brought in at daybreak to relieve those that had been working through the night, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Phyllis Kay in Boston.

By 7 a.m. today, rescuers had pulled at least 70 bodies from the water, some of them burned beyond recognition.

With a water temperature of 65 degrees and an air temperature of 73, officials estimated that survival would not be possible much beyond noon today.

One of the first private boats at the crash site came upon a macabre sight: a yellow TWA life lacket floating on the water.

"It was inflated and it was buckled," said Jimmy Vaccaro. who hooked the empty jacket into the boat. "These things don't light and inflate by themselves - you have to pull on it or blow through the tube." But the Coast Guard said none of the bodies recovered wore life preservers, suggesting that the explosion indeed came without warning. There was no immediate word on whether the plane had made a distress call.

Among those booked on the flight was a group of students from a Pennsylvania high school French club.

The boom and fireball shattered a calm summer night. Vic Fehner, who was fishing. said "it started off like a little ball, like a flare."

"It came down for a few seconds and all of a sudden burst into flames, a big ball of flame," Fehner said.

Standing at John Scott's Raw Bar in Westhampton Beach, cook Jason Fontana saw "a big fireball with pieces coming off of it. You heard two big explosions, like two big firecrackers going off."

There were 212 passengers and 17 crew members on the flight, said Mike Kelly, a TWA vice president. The plane had arrived from Athens, Greece, and had been on the ground about three hours before its scheduled 8 p.m. takeoff for Paris. Some of the passengers were from an earlier canceled flight to Rome.

The Athens-to-New York flight had gone normally, flight engineer Albert J. Mundo said loday.

"I've flown on that plane quite a bit, and it was very reliable. There was no indication that there was anything wrong," Mundo said. He said he heard about the crash when he got to his home in Marbiehead, Mass.

In Paris after the crash, the large black arrival board at de Gaulle Airport listed Flight 800 as "canceled."

Kelly noted that the Federal Aviation Administration had been placed on an increased level of security because of the Olympics, which begin Friday in Atlanta, but said there had been no specific threats against TWA.

The National Transportation Safety Board was investigating along with the terrorism task force, which includes officials from the New York Police Department.

Asked about the possibility of a bomb, FAA spokesman Eliot Brenner said "we can't discuss security issues." He said the agency had no information on

If there was a bomb, said former CIA counterterrorism agent Vincent Cannistraro, "this is another notch up the ladder of terrorism. ... in the past year domestic aviation security has been tightened considerably.

Cannistraro said terrorists had never blown up an airliner with a bomb planted in the United States; the Pan Am flight blown out of the air in 1968 over Lockerbie, Scotland, originated in what was then West Germany and made a stop in London.

In St. Louis, where TWA is based, police patrols and surveillance were increased at Lambert Airport following the cresh. Leonard Griggs Jr., the airport's director, did not mention the crash in a news release about the changes and did not immediately return phone calls for comment.

To an international TV audience, the crash site was a jagged, bright red splotch on the screen. But to rescue workers out in the water, said Mayor Rudolph Giuliani, "the reality of what occurred is settling in. ... They are carrying bodies back to shore."

Ralph Lettieri, a firefighter. was out on the water for neveral hours in his boat. He saw three bodies taken aboard a Coast Guard vessel.

"It's the darkest night." he said. "It's something that's going to bother you for a long

Of the wreckage, he said, "you couldn't tell it was a plane."

A temporary morgue was set up on shore. "We are not finding any survivors," said Steve Sapp of the U.S. Coast Guard, "We are locating lots of bodies."

Names were not immediately: released pending notification of passengers' relatives, some of whom gathered at an airport hotel soon after the crash. A silver-haired elderly woman. apparently in shock, was taken out in a wheelchair.

Sixteen high school students and five adults from a nural town in northeastern Pennsylvania were believed to have been on the flight. The students were members of the French Club of Montoursville High School. which has only a few hundred students.

"The whole town is in mourning," said Mayor John Doring. "These kids were the best of the best; honor students. athletes, students involved in all types of activities."

The crash was the second: major airline disaster in less than 21/2 months, following the May 11 crash in Florida of a Valudet DC-9. All 110 people aboard that plane died when it crashed into the Evergiades. The deadliest air dinaster in U.S. history came in 1979 when a DC-10 crashed on takeoff at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, killing 273.

The worst air disaster blamed on a bomb was Pan Am Flight 103, whose crash killed 250; people on the plane and 11 onthe ground.

Puppy Love is a doggone good caring service

Denice Kinsey has come up with a doggone good business which she calls Puppy Love.
You might say she has a whole new least on life.

After years of managing a sports restaurant, Kinsey now tends to the needs of fourlegged howlers, providing a caring pet and homesitting

The past week she "sat" at a Sanford home, minding three Australian shepherds named, Outback, Rader and Stetson and three cats named Puddin'. Sweetie and Chrystal.

"They were wonderful companions." Kinsey said. "Actually, too friendly. They followed me everywhere. Outback, Rader, Stetaon, Puddin', Sweetie and Chrystal. They followed me to the bathroom. They followed me to bed. "It was like I had atx shadows," Kinsey said.

So far Kinsey has taken care of only dogs and cats but says she is available to sit for other animals as well. "Everything but snakes," she said. "If you have anakes, you'll have to find someone else to att."

Curiously, Kinsey's only set competition in the Seminole County area to from a man named P.J. Phillips, who is a friend and adviser. His business is named Not Pur Gotten. How great thou bank.

Sigmund Freud once said. *Dogs love their friends and bite their enemies, quite unlike people, who are incapable of our love and hate in their object relations.

Master, phone home

There's a man who used to live in the country but recently moved into an apartment in the city. This concerned him because his dog now gets very little exercise.

The man noticed that when his telephone rang, the dog would jump up and run about the apartment. This prompted him to call home three or four times a day from his office.

He shared his scheme one day with the landlord.

One day, the landlord was in the apartment when the call came and picked up the telephone. Holding back his gice, he went 'huh-a-huh-a-nuh-a-huh-a-huh' until he heard a gasp at the other end of the line.

DEAR SLEEPLESS: You and your husband should compro-mise in the bedroom. Tell him if he'll agree to turn off the music or use a headest, you'll agree to leaving the windows open. Magic re-sign Grant

ORLANDO — The Orlando Magic re-signed free agent Horace Grant to a five-year contract for $50 million and now await word from Shaquille O'Neal.

O'Neal will decide Thursday whether to stay with the Magic or leave for the Los Angeles Lakers, his agent, Leonard Armato said. Orlando was believed to be offering $115 million over seven years; the Lakers may have offered a couple of million more.

Grant, a 31-year-old power forward, averaged 13.4 points and 9.2 rebounds last season.

Marlins 11, Astros 2

MIAMI — Kurt Abbott, batting leadoff for the only second time in his career, hit a three-run triple and three-run homer to lead the Florida Marlins to an 11-2 victory and a three-game sweep of the Houston Astros.

Al Letter (10-8), who had lost five of his previous six decisions, pitched two-hit ball over six innings with six strikeouts and six walks. He improved his record at home to 7-1.

Martina rookie Edgar Renteria had three hits, including two doubles. Jeff Contre had two hits and two RBIa as the Marlina rapped seven extra-base hits, tying a season high. Abbott, whose aix RBIs were a career high, also singled.

Florida NFL teams busy

JACKSONVILLE — Four-time Pro Bowl wide receiver Andre Rison, released by Baltimore July 9, signed with Jacksonville. Rison comes off a troubled season as he was criticized for being late to team meetings and failed to catch at least 50 passes for the first time in seven pro seasons.

Tight end Johnny Mitchell, released by the Jets, signed with Minmi. Mitchell, New York's first-round pick in 1992, had 186 receptions for 2,086 yards and 16 touchdowns over four seasons. Last season, he was plagued by back problems that limited him to 45 catches for 497 yards and five TDs.

Lamar Thomas was released by Tampa Bay a week after he was strested and charged with two counts of aggravated battery against his pregnant flancee. Thomas, a third-round draft pick in 1993, caught 25 passes for 387 yards with two touchdowns in three seasons.

Pittaburgh reached a verbal agreement on a five-year deal with No. 1 draft pick Jamain Stephens, a 6-foot-6, 337-pound offensive tackle from North Carolina A&T.

The Washington Redskins signed running back Terry Allen and first-round pick Andre Johnson. Allen, third in NFC rushing last year with 1.308 yards, got a one-year deal for a $1 million salary and $1 million signing bonus. Johnson, an offensive lineman at Penn State and the 30th selection in the draft, recieved a four-year deal worth nearly $3.6 million.

Schott banned again

NEW YORK — Baseball officials, concerned Marge Schott is interfering with the Cincinnati Reds' operations, banned her from entering Riverfront Stadium as the team owner.

Schott, facing a suspension from baseball's executive council for her remarks about Adolf Hitler, women and Asians, agreed June 12 to give up control of the team through 1996.

Spokeswoman Katy Feeney said Schott could buy a ticket and sit in the stands at Riverfront.

Schott has appointed controller John Allen to run the club while a long-term chief executive is selected. Several employees said Schott is unhappy with marketing changes implemented by Allen, who has offered reduced ticket prices

Hobbs signing overshadows Mudcats game

By JEFF BERLINGER Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — As the Lake Mary Mudeats' defense self-destructed in front of the home crowd last night, talk in the stands turned to a much more important subject.

Word began to spread that former Lake Mary second baseman Carey Hobbs had just signed to play baseball for Oklahoma State University, a powerhouse which ranks among the elite of college baseball and is a fixture at the College World Series every season.

As the errors added up on the field, Hobbs explained his shock to learn that he would be spending the next four years on the plains of Central Okiahoma, especially after sweating out the process every baseball player goes through to find where his next at-bat will be after high school graduation.

Hobbs said this time a month ago, he never would have dreamed that his destination would be Stillwater, Ohls.

"Everything is going so fast, I still can't believe it." Hobbs said. "I thought I had a good season this spring so I thought more schools would be calling me. I was starting to panic and all of a sudden. Oklahoma State called."

As baseballs flew everywhere but their intended targets on the field during the Mudcats' game and were being dropped when they finally got there. Hobbs explained the process that got him from being a student unsure of where his first college class would be held to a scholarship at one of the best baseball schools in the country. The whole process took about two weeks.

Hobbs attended baseball camp at the University of Florida for several years and his work ethic stood out

Flames wrap up Church title

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — First Church of the Nazarene pulled off an impressive comeback to upset the First United Methodist-Flames, but the damage had already been done as the Flames won an earlier game to claim the championship of the Sanford Recreation Department Church Spring Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park Saturday.

Central Baptist got a free victory over All Souls Catholic to open the day's action and the Trinity Assembly of God-Majesty from Deltona clinched a tie for second place with a 22-2 whipping of Spanish Assemblies of God.

The Flames then got the victory they've been looking for all season as a five-run third inning broke a 2-2 tie and Jerry Camus. Robert Smith, Danny Gracey and Robert Jones combined to drive in 12 runs in a 13-4 triumph over Spanish Assemblies of God.

The Flames then took leads of 10-2 and 13-5 as late as the top of the fifth inning, but could not maintain the momentum as Nazarene came back with five runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings to pull out a 15-14 upset.

The Flames complete the season with a 10-2 record and were followed by Majesty and Nazarene (both 9-3), Central Baptist (8-4), All Souls (4-8), Spanish Assemblies (2-10) and Sanford Church of God (0-12).

The awarding of trophies and T-shirts and the organizational meeting for the Sanford Recreation Department Adult Fall Slowpitch Softball Leagues will be held on Monday, August5 at 6 p.m. at the Downtown Recreation Center in Sanford City Hall. For more information, call 330-5697.

Members of the Flames were manager Dean L. Smith, coach Dean W. TRC gets tie; Modern Welding rolls in Lake Mary

From Staff Report

LAKE MARY — Modern Welding kept its championship hopes alive, but the Tim Raines Connection clinched a tie for the title the easy way in City of Lake Mary Department of Parks & Recrestion Men's Spring Friday Night Slowpitch Softball League action at the Lake Mary Sports Complex.

The Power Team could not field a team and handed TRC a 7-0 forfett victory and Modern Welding used a pair of four-run innings to break open the game as it bounced Siemens/Stromberg-Carlson 14-5.

The league will conclude the season tomorrow night with Modern Welding (7-2) taking on the Power Team (0-9) at 6:30 p.m. and TRC (8-1) facing Siemena/Stromberg-Carlson (3-6) at 7:45 p.m. A win by TRC or a loss by Modern Welding would hand TRC the crown, but a TRC loss and Modern Welding win would force a playoff.

Leading Modern Welding were

Chris Dominy (four singles, two runs, three RBI). Todd Hunter (triple, two singles, run, two RBI). Ed Mengani (double, two singles, two runs, RBI). Andy Latimer (double, single, three runs, RBI), Rich Hanratty (two singles, run, two RBI). Ethan Bauer (two singles, two runs, RBI). How to predict a heart attack

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any way to determine if a heart is not functioning properly before a heart attack

by Chic Young

HAPPEN

I WANTED TO MAKE SURE I GOT

OFF ON THE RIGHT FOOT!

AH OBSCENE PHONE CALL!

DEAR READER: Prior to a heart attack, the cardiac muscle may not receive enough oxygen and this will often cause subtle symptoms, such as chest tightness, a decrease in exercise tolerance and slight breathlessness.

As you know, genetic factors and an unhealthy lifestyle play important roles in causing heart disease

Although predictive medical testing in far from being completely reliable. there are three screening tests that may indicate potential heart problems.

• The cardiogram may show abnormal patterns of electric conduction in the cardiac muscle. This simple, painless and inexpensive test can indicate the presence of heart disease and is often included in routine physical examinations for men and women over the age of 50.

. The cardiac ultrasound is a method of measuring the strength of the heart contraction. Like the cardiogram, it is simple and without risk — but is not ordinarily part of the general physical examination. If the heart muscle is beating less vigorously thecause of coronary artery disease or other damage), the ultrasound will reflect this.

· The stress test is more reliable yet. It is used in patients who have abnormal cardiograms, a high risk for heart disease, or symptoms suggest-ing coronary insufficiency. During strenuous exercise, the patient's cardiogram is monitored. As the work of the heart increases, certain changes (in the electrical pattern or the blood pressure) may diagnose coronary blockage. There is a slight risk to the atresa test (people have collapsed during its performance) and it is more expensive than the other two examinations I mentioned, but it provides useful information.

Although it is not used to screen patients for heart disease, the coronary angiogram is the gold standard - albeit less than 100 percent accu-rate. After contrast material is injected into the coronary arteries, X-rays are obtained, which usually show potentially serious coronary blockages, if such exist. Angiography is ordinarily used to diagnose heart dis-orders in patients with angina or in those who have abnormal stress tests.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In reference to the Teflon coating on cookware, does the material constitute a health danger when it wears off or is scratched?

DEAR READER. Teffon is an inert plastic that has not been reported to cause health consequences when swallowed Also, the tiny amounts that would be released from a cooking utensil by normal wear and tear would be infinitesimally small. Therefore, the answer to your question is "no."

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from vertigo. At times I cannot stand, I'm nauseated and vamit. I do not have a doctor or insurance but would like your opinion on this condition.

DEAR READER: Vertigo, the

uncontrollable sensation of spinning or turning, can be incapacitating. It is usually caused by an irritation in the usually causes by an each inner ear.

In my opinion, patients with vertigo should be examined by ear-ness-and-throat specialists, because the afflic-tion may be related to a serious condition, such as a tumor, that could be diagnosed with X-rays.

Fortunately, most cases are believed to be due to virus infections and will disappear with time. The pre-acription drug Antivert often controls the counterer. the symptome.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Ear Infections and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

The age-old dilemma

By Phillip Alder

When you learned to play bridge, I'm sure you asked your teacher, When should I draw trumps?" As with most questions about the game, there is no simple answer. Each doal must be taken on its own merits.

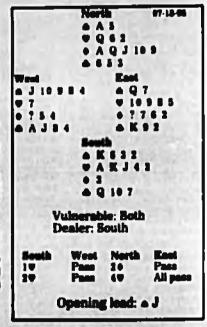

How about today's four-heart contract? After West leads the spade jack, do you draw trumps immediately, or is there some other business that must be done first? Also, does it matter which opponent has the diamond king? Normally you should have at least six cards in a suit to rebid it. And some pairs, after a two-over-one response, would rebid two spades with that South hand to show its shape. However, this pair plays that a two-spade reverse would promise extra values.

The first declarer saw a chance to take a ruff in the short trump hand, which is often the best play. However, it wasn't right here. After South won with dummy's spade ace, played a spade to his king and ruffed a spade low in the dummy, East overruffed and switched to & club: one down. Ruffing high wouldn't have helped ei-ther, as it would have promoted a trump trick for East.

The second South saw that he had to tricks without resorting to any clever footwork. He wan in he the spade king, drew four rounds of trumps, played a diamond to dummy's ace and called for the diamond queen. When East played low, South discard-ed a club. Even if West had won with the king. South would have had only three losers: one diamond and two clube. And when the ruffing diamond finesse worked, South maneuvered an overtrick.
