HOOVER HOLDS 2-HOUR TALK WITH GRANDI

Foreign Minister Had Previously Spoken Emphatically In Favor Of Cut In Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—President Hoover and Dino Grandi spent two hours and a quarter in conference today. A statement on the results of the conversation probably will be issued but the time is uncertain.

Choosing his own words, the foreign minister yesterday described the present as "high time" to carry out a "practical result." He made this statement at a conference with newspapermen in the middle of a day devoted to diplomatic formalities and private talks with American officials.

His attention to questions about disarmament was unhesitatingly expressed in fluent English, he readily found words to convey his thoughts on the most intricate international problems.

"I think the question of disarmament is the most important existing in the relations between countries," he said. "It is high time for everybody to seek a practical result."

At the outset, the minister expressed his appreciation for the cordial reception America has given him. He said his visit was directed toward peaceful cooperation among the nations with a view to their economic recovery and general welfare.

Asked specifically about the possibility of a Franco-Italian naval agreement, Grandi said he was hopeful for such an accord.

"I feel such an agreement would be good. It would be welcomed by everybody. I have waited for it and I hope for it."

In connection with his hopes for disarmament, the minister remarked that it was a desire for such a result that prompted his proposal at Geneva for one year's armistice.

"The practical result of that there has been achieved," he said. "If that is true it is because all nations, and first among them the United States, supported the idea."

He was asked if he would discuss specific problems with the president.

"The sky's the limit," Secretary Blinnem responded.

"Yes," Grandi replied to the secretary's remark. "The sky is without limit."

He addressed only one question. That concerned Italy's stand for revision of the World War treaties.

"Don't put that difficult question to me," the minister said.

John D. Arrives For Annual Winter Visit

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., arrived in Florida today for his winter sojourn bringing with him a word of optimism for the future. In a poem prayer and meditation the 94-year-old founder of one of the world's biggest fortunes expressed his sentiments on "sunlit days" ahead, having a reporter read the poem of that title by Folger McKinsey. Rockefeller wiped the tears from his eyes as the reporter concluded the poem and read the prayer which preceded the oil magnate's breakfast aboard his special car. Rockefeller said he still plays golf every day. He showed dimes on the newspaper. This is the first time he has come South before Thanksgiving.

Talkie Film Used In Court Against Alleged "Rummer"

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—The "movie-talkie" system—latest sleuthing method of federal dry agents—proved a decided success at its premiere.

Even the bootlegger who unwittingly played the stellar role in an 8-reel government-sponsored film exhibited in federal court, which might be titled "Rum Running in Kansas City," was convinced that the directors had produced a hit with a powerful story.

The finale was a plea of guilty by Joe Pasano to liquor charges and his sentence to two years in Leavenworth penitentiary and a fine of $10,000.

Pasano, alleged by the government to have been one of the heads of a liquor ring here which distributed Al Capone products, entered his guilty plea in the midst of his trial.

He had been himself on the screen in the darkened courtroom in the various episodes filmed around the alleged bootlegger of the ring by dry agents who had secreted themselves with a movie camera in a wooded spot nearby.

The agents added the talkie touch to the silent film. It was testified that wires were tapped at the headquarters.

Conversations were reported from the wire tapping records.

Judge A. L. Reeves said the evidence was plain that Pasano was guilty and scored him for permitting the trial to run five days before changing his plea.

The case was the first in which the prohibition enforcement service has used the movies in court. Pasano was the last to come, in court of the 47 defendants indicted in connection with the liquor ring described by federal agents as a million dollar affair. The other leaders were sentenced to 18 months and fined $7,500 each on pleas of guilty.

TRANSFER BREYARD CASES

MIAMI, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—Transfer of all federal court cases arising in and from Brevard county to the district court at Jacksonville has been ordered by Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter. Alexander Sherman and Louis W. Strum, it was learned yesterday. Cases from Brevard county previously have been tried in federal court here.

Opening Session Of Ten-Day Bible Conference To Be Held Tomorrow

With many leaders of the Evangelistic Holiness Association Inc., from various sections of the nation arriving hourly, E. C. Wills, secretary of the association, said this morning that everything is in readiness for the opening session of the 10-day Bible conference. The City Hall will be the scene of the meetings, and the first gathering will be held there tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock when the Rev. O. H. Nater, Indianapolis, will lead the group in a song service. The Rev. Samuel Thomas, also of Indianapolis, will deliver the sermon of the opening session.

The Evangelistic Holiness Association conference is expected to draw upwards of 500 persons to Sanford during the next 10 days. Many delegates from the east and west are already here, headed by Dr. Orville French of Los Angeles, and other delegates will arrive in the next few days. The conference will be held at the City Hall, and the first gathering will be held there tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock when the Rev. O. H. Nater, Indianapolis, will lead the group in a song service. The Rev. Samuel Thomas, also of Indianapolis, will deliver the sermon of the opening session.

FIERY MARINE GIVES STORY OF CRIME WAR

Smedley Butler Tells Orlando Audience Of Difficulties In Overcoming Crime

ORLANDO, Nov. 18.—"Bandits don't like to be shot" was the terse explanation of his success in cleaning up Philadelphia given by Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler in his address at the municipal auditorium last night.

The fiery marine held his audience spell-bound for more than an hour while he gave a lively account of his experiences in cleaning up the Quaker City. He led up to his dismissal from office because an influential banker was not allowed to park his Rolls-Royce across the street car tracks with a series of anecdotes that swept the crowd with laughter.

Through all the stories of his varied experiences, told in a humorous vein, there ran an undercurrent of seriousness. Because he treated his experiences lightly the audience did not appear to be in the mood to appreciate the Major General any the less. At intervals they applauded vigorously.

As exciting as pages from the record of Scotland Yard read in fiction were the series of adventures the speaker reeled off for his audience. He spoke of the difficulties in cleaning up a city where the street of the 10-cent establishment was applauded and (Continued on Page Six)

U. D. C. Convention Formally Opened In Jax Last Night

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—Daughters of the Old South visited the oldest city in the United States yesterday as a preliminary to the formal opening last night of the thirty-eighth annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

A motorcade carried practically the entire delegation to the Augustine, founded by Pedro Menéndez de Aviles in 1565, where they visited old Fort Marion, the fountain of youth and other historic spots.

The delegates also had views of the Atlantic at the Jacksonville and St. Augustine beaches.

More than 300 delegates from all over the South and some parts of the North and East had gathered today.

One of the features of the convention, which is to last through Saturday, is the large number of entertainment and recreational projects on the program.

At the formal opening last night, Col. Sumner L. Towry, Tampa, representing Governor Carlton, who was unable to attend, Mayor John T. Aloop, Jr., and other notable delivered addresses. The program at the few gatherings during the early morning hours was given over largely to organization.

Already there is a lively campaign being waged by supporters of candidates for the various offices.

Bannon Returns On Celery Season Eve

Among the several celery and vegetable buyers who annually make this city their headquarters and have returned to Sanford for the season is Horace P. Bannon, who has just returned after a summer spent in Michigan on a grape deal.

Mr. Bannon is one of the veteran buyers operating in this district, and expects to remain here for several months looking after business interests. He reports conditions in Michigan as being slightly below normal although improved conditions are noted in many departments.

Winter Is Spreading To Eastern Sections

(By The Associated Press)
Winter spread eastward today as a strong wind brought to the middle-western states some of the chill which has pelted the Rocky Mountains, also with snow. Heavy rains were the forerunner of the cold wave in states from the Dakotas to the Southeast.

Early or snow was forecast for Michigan and Minnesota. In Oklahoma winds followed the rains. Some rain fell in the drought parched regions of the southwest but were not sufficient in any place to do much good.

BETTER BUSINESS SENTIMENT SEEN BY LABOR GROUP

Favorable Trade Balance Revealed In Survey

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—A favorable October trade balance of $30,000,000 for the United States combined well yesterday with the conclusion of the American Federation of Labor that "Business sentiment is distinctly better at present."

In its monthly survey of business conditions, the federation saw a return of confidence from a month ago when it said "Business was on the verge of panic."

"Since the beginning of the year, confidence in the public mind," it said.

The President's credit program, 250 in to check bank failures has increased confidence at home, confidence between nations have led to measures to deal with world confidence and improved world confidence; the President's plan for a fund to liquidate frozen real estate.

American Legion's Membership Drive Meeting Success

The success of the Campbell-Loring Post's annual drive for membership is best attested by a glance at the latest bulletin board erected on the west wall of the Brumley-Palston building on First Street.

There it is found that exactly 500 Southern County veterans of the World War have paid their 1932 dues, thus signifying their intention of joining wholeheartedly in every local and national activity of the Legion. The drive will continue for several days.

W. B. Shepherd, post commander, said today for it is the hope of the local post officials to enroll the largest membership in recent years.

Among those whose names are posted on the bulletin board are: W. E. Knight, Allan Stewart, Dr. W. T. Langley, J. H. Colclough, R. E. Stevens, H. H. McCaslin, H. A. Cobb, Harry Lee, Al Lee, Fred Zimmerman, C. C. Whittington, W. W. Wright, H. C. Washburn, W. H. Shepherd, Brown Miller, George C. Harding, R. Z. Chestnut, W. R. Campbell, C. F. Proctor, V. A. Road Markers Are In Place Between Palatka, Sanford

J. L. Martineau, chairman of the Publicity Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, reports that the road markers from Sanford to Palatka were placed yesterday, and that they are located at principal points along the route.

The markers, made and contributed by the Independent Merchants Association, are of a neat and attractive design, representing a huge celery stalk, and bearing the lettering, "Five miles to Sanford, the Celery City."

Fifteen of these markers were placed off the right of way, one at every five-mile space for the 75 miles distance between these two cities.

Additional markers of a similar design will be placed on other highways radiating from Sanford as soon as the Publicity Committee can complete further details.

Nicholas Butler Calls For Rigorous Stand Which Includes Repeal Of Labor Law

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—As long as the year 1932 will not be a year for shaking the business platitude, not only in the U. S. but in Europe, says Nicholas Butler in a long article in the Nation magazine.

The magazine's program upon which to build their next national platform.

Butler, in presenting his program in an address before the National Republican Club, warned the "whites" to carry out their both shoulders may end by trusting that the water has been heated to a boil.

Finally, Butler's 14-point program was:

1. Prompt and unconditional repeal of the eighteenth amendment to allow each state to deal with the liquor problem on its own way.
2. Reconsolidation and reduction of the existing tariff schedules to develop American industry, trade and transportation, maintain the standard of living, reduce unemployment and agricultural relief.
3. Balancing the annual budget of the federal government.
4. Steady continuance of the support which has recently been given to the League of Nations, the permanent court of international justice.

GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDS PARLEY HERE OF MASONS

More Than Three Hundred Central Florida Members Attend

More than 300 central Florida Masons last night crowded the Masonic Temple to participate in a "Every Antiquated" day of work and fraternal talks. The affair and its attendant good fellowship was the outstanding event on the all-time history of Masonry in Sanford is an assured fact, according to Past Master James Moughton, who presided. Every anticipated wish of ours that this be a banner day was fulfilled," he said.

From every section of central Florida, Master Masons representing 11 lodges gathered to hear a stirring and timely address by Samuel Passey, of Panama City, the Grand Master of all Masonic lodges in Florida. His address, and those of others who followed him, was of a fraternal nature, and confined primarily to the future growth, advancement, and good of the order.

Scientists Aboard Airplane Observe Meteor Activities

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—Scientists, using an airplane as their observatory, early yesterday saw what probably was the greatest meteor shower since the great meteor shower of 1933.

It was the hit show of the universe, ending only in every 33 years and first seen just 1000 years ago. The spectators were nine men, including Dr. Paul W. Merrill, astronomer of the Mount Wilson observatory, Pasadena, Calif., who sat in the tri-motored night mail plane of the Western Air Express, and watched as they flew from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles.

The shower of flaming fragments appeared at one time with a frequency of more than one a minute for 30 minutes. In all nearly 150 were counted and three probably were more hidden from sight by the wing of the big monoplane.

The most brilliant of these left a train visible for nearly four minutes. It diverted from the straight line of its predecessors by turning at right angles from its course as it flew through the air, probably 50 miles above.

It was the first time an astronomer had watched the meteors from an airplane.

Better Enforcing Of Highway Laws Discussed At Meet

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 18.—(A.P.)—Better enforcement of all existing highway laws and motor transportation laws was the subject of a public meeting here yesterday.

Governor Carlton presided over the conference which was attended by state officials, representatives of railroads and motor transportation companies operating in Florida, and others. A public hearing on motor rules and rates before the Florida railroad commission was recessed for the capital conference.

Railroad men, motor bus and truck men, state chamber of commerce representatives and state officials discussed the need for enforcement of state highway laws to protect public life and property. Crossing accidents, speeding, overloading of buses and trucks and other phases of the question were debated.

Finally it was agreed that Attorney General Cary D. Landis would look into the legality of a proposal to use state funds by bringing about better enforcement and to say what state funds could be used legally.

Chairman Eugene S. Matthews of the state railroad commission was named head of a committee which will make definite recommendations to the governor after conferring with the attorney general. The railroads, the motor line, the state chamber of commerce, the railroad commission, the state road department, the state motor vehicle department and the governor's cabinet will be represented on this committee.

Efforts Pushed To Get Airplane Beacon

F. O. Koberg, of the United States Department of Commerce who is in charge of the construction of the airplane beacon at Clifton, near Wagner, was in Sanford today in conference with Seminole County Chamber of Commerce officials in reference to a proposed beacon at Sanford's new airport.

In company with Earl Lamm and Volie A. Williams, Mr. Koberg inspected the new airport and was given complete information on the details of the proposed beacon at Sanford's new airport.

Mr. Koberg said that the beacon at Sanford would be a great help to pilots and would be a great help to the state and to the people of Sanford. He said that the beacon would be a great help to the state and to the people of Sanford. He said that the beacon would be a great help to the state and to the people of Sanford.

TO THE METAPHYSICIST

How may I tutor erring flesh
 To understand the changing year?
 How teach the nerves that would enmesh
 All loveliness encountered here?
 The heart beside its golden stream
 Like some wild bird perceived the

 But eared and wingless it must dream
 Of seasons long forgot and lost.
 And what dumb sorrow, what despair,
 Will move my spirit troubled now,
 When the last bird has left the air
 And the last leaf has left the bough?

The World War brought about a lot of changes in this old world of ours. For one thing the financial hub of the universe was moved from New York City, a Manhattan

 the western hemisphere. Now, it appears that the financial hub of the universe is being moved to London, England. The London market is being the world's financial activity.

 This is due to the fact that

A Costly Opinion

That the recent decision of the Supreme Court with regard to arsenated fruits will prove very unpopular with the majority of Florida citrus growers is shown by the statement of C. C. Commander, of the Florida Citrus Exchange, who declares that the growers of Florida will lose five million dollars as a result of the decision.

It stands to reason that the release of some 750,000 boxes of fruit, declared unfit for consumption by the Department of Agriculture, but thrown on already well supplied markets by the Supreme Court, ruling on a technicality, will not tend to increase the consumption of fruits or the demand for Florida products. In the eyes of the average housekeeper every bag of Florida oranges will contain the arsenated product.

"It has been a long and hard struggle," as the Tampa Tribune points out, "to have the Legislature enact laws sufficiently strong and enforceable to have a noticeable effect in checking the green fruit evil. One of these acts got through the late Legislature, the arsenic law, and was sustained by both the United States Court and the Circuit Court. Under its authority, Commissioner Mayo was successfully coping with the attempts of those profiting by the practice to put this 'treated' fruit on the market. It was a matter of general remark that, at last, the state authorities had been given an adequate weapon to combat the pernicious and damaging operations of the immature fruit shippers, and that the weapon was being used most effectively by the Department of Agriculture under the personal and vigilant direction of Commissioner Mayo. Just at this juncture, the little group of lawyers directly interested, got a decision from the Supreme Court releasing their fruit from the statutory ban—and the result is the negation of all the fight to stop or check the destruction of the legitimate market, this continued assault on the good reputation of Florida citrus."

The Supreme Court, in its interpretation of the law, sustained a few shippers as against all the other growers and shippers and the industry as a whole. It is not for us to question the correctness of the Court's decision, as to the law in the case—but we do know that, if it is the law, it is a deplorably bad law.

History Repeats Itself

Despite rumors from confirmed pessimists that this country is in for "thirty years of hard times," the majority of our citizens prefer to believe that history repeats itself in the matter of economics as well as in other things. Those who do, will be interested in the following historical facts dug up by a Los Angeles realtor and found by us in the St. Augustine Record. Pouring over a file of newspapers which went back to 1850, the Los Angeles man discovered that:

- There was a business depression in 1857 lasting twelve months.
- There was a business depression in 1869 lasting eight months.
- There was a business depression in 1873 lasting thirty months.
- There was a business depression in 1884 lasting twenty-two months.
- There was a business depression in 1887 lasting ten months.
- There was a business depression in 1893 lasting twenty-five months.

- There was a business depression in 1921 lasting fourteen months.
- There was a depression in 1930 which has already lasted some twenty months, and as we are still more or less in it, or so close to it that our perspective is dimmed, we cannot say exactly how long it will last, but it is reasonable to assume that it is and is very near. It is also encouraging to recall that every depression in our history has been followed by a period of prosperity resembling a boom. And the worse the depression, the more prosperous the boom.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

F. P. Forster left some Philippine pearls and baubles at the Herald office and also with many of his Sanford friends. They have a peculiar surface and ought to grow in Florida.

Fred Doyle was in the city several days of this week the guest of home folks. Fred is still adding to his bank account by the sale of adding machines.

Dr. R. M. Mason has returned from Wrightsville, Ga. where he was summoned by the death of his brother. His friends sympathize with him in his loss.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Overstreet left Wednesday afternoon for Atlanta, Ga. where Mrs. Overstreet will receive medical attention.

F. A. Schumpert has opened an office in The Herald building where he will be pleased to see his many friends and customers.

There have been 14 births in Sanford in two months according to the official count of Clerk Lovell.

Mrs. C. W. Brown has gone to Sarasota for a few days visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper.

Quite a large attendance at the Wednesday club was present on Wednesday afternoon at the meeting held at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Dickins. Miss Gilda read "Dorothy's Description of the World" after which Mrs. M. Martin read an interesting paper on "Religion of the Middle Ages," how it originated in the ancient mythological legends and practices down to those modern times. At the conclusion of the program for the week the members were entertained by a musical number.

The Young Ladies' Glee Club will give a concert at the home of Mrs. J. W. Dickins on Thursday evening.

THE NEW MANCHURIAN EMPEROR

By FRANK HEDGES

A slender, bespectacled Chinese youth residing under the protection of a foreign flag in Peking and beset with family and monetary troubles must be following his hunches on the situation in Manchuria with tense emotion, for it is quite possible that as a result of this most recent clash between Japanese and Chinese interests north of the Great Wall he may be called upon to assist a throne for the third time in the twenty-six years of his life.

Pu Yi, whose imperial title is Hsuan T'ung and who has adopted for himself the name of Henry in admiration of King Henry VIII, ascended the Dragon Throne of the Empire of China on the death of his uncle in 1908, only to abdicate in February, 1912, when the revolution overthrew the Manchu dynasty and established a republic was successful. Again, in the hot summer of 1917, his younger brother was placed on the throne in Peking for a few days before the fruitless monarchial coup of General Chang Hsun.

He will not be called to the throne of all China this time, but to that of an independent Manchuria, if the plans of his followers succeed. They have turned him to the throne because of his shrewdness in the days before the Ta Ching dynasty swept over the eighteen provinces of China and conquered them by the sword early in the seventeenth century, removing its capital from Mukden to Peking, or "Northern Capital." This city has been rechristened by the Nationalists and now bears the name of Peiping, which may be interpreted as "Northern Peace," or the "Peace of the North," according to one viewpoint.

It is difficult to judge the strength of the movement now under way for the separation of Manchuria from China proper and restoration at Mukden of the Ta Ching House. That there will be a new eddy of some sort north of the Great Wall seems certain, although the form it will take is still undetermined. The Tokyo government, which is in the "foster" control of Manchuria, has made it plain that it will not tolerate the return of Viceroy Hsinshang (Chang Hsun) to the young man who has been supreme in Manchuria since the restoration in June, 1920, of his father, Marshal Chang Tso-lin. Tokyo's edicts against China's government have been to Japanese interests, and this conclusion on the part of the Japanese has been made plain by the power and Tokyo is strong enough to enforce its will in this respect, though it is the result of several alternative alternatives.

A Manchuria run essentially under the Nationalist government but with a Chinese in control at Mukden who would deal fairly with Japan's rights and interests in Manchuria would be acceptable to Tokyo. There is a Chinese capable of and willing to undertake this task, a question which Nanking would find it extremely difficult to agree to such a procedure. A group of strongly independent provinces in Manchuria might suit Tokyo, but undoubtedly the most agreeable solution would be an independent Manchuria friendly to Japan, so matter what the form of government. An independent Manchuria might assume the shape of a republic or of a Kingdom. And if Manchuria does receive its throne, it is Pu Yi who will be permitted to mount it.

Pu Yi was the last of the Manchu Emperors to reign at Peking, being only three years old when he ascended the Dragon Throne in the name of his uncle, the Emperor Kuang Hsu in 1908. Born merely as the son of one of China's princes, he had no claim to the throne. However, one of the conditions of the peace treaty between China and Japan in 1915 was that Pu Yi should be permitted to return to Peking and be permitted to reign.

Several months ago, Pu Yi was taken to the island of Hsiao Yüan, near Peking, where he was held in a palace. He was there for some time, but was eventually released and allowed to return to Peking. He was then placed in a palace in Peking, where he was allowed to live. He was then placed in a palace in Peking, where he was allowed to live.

Coach Beckham, who coached the Gauchos in their first game, said that the team was well prepared for the variety to crack.

BEEL'S NEW PLANE

LOOKS AS ONE OF GRIDIRON GREATS

Notre Dame Coach, Alvin Karpis, has been limited to approximately twenty minutes of flying time in the new plane. The plane is a single-engine, high-wing, biplane, with a maximum speed of 100 miles per hour. It is a very simple and rugged design, and is well suited for the rough conditions of a gridiron.

The plane is owned by R. J. Real, local business man and aviation enthusiast, who holds the distinction of being the first person to own a plane. The plane is located in the local flying field on the lake shore.
