A CAT --- A COW --- REAL ESTATE

JUST THREE REASONS WHY IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE SANFORD HERALD.

THE FIRST involves a cat owned by a Miami architect, Mr. Robert E. Collins. A telephone call from Miami placed the following advertisement in The HERALD:

"Lost Sunday morning near Lormann's Restaurant large black cat wearing new leather collar. $10.00 reward for return. Write, wire or phone collect R. E. Collins, 3500 Main Highway, Miami, Fla."

On Oct. 9, THE HERALD received the following letter from Mr. Collins:

Sanford Herald Sanford, Florida Gentlemen: Enclosed herewith you will find my check in the amount of three dollars. This, I think, is a few cents more than the price quoted me, however, since the pet cat for which I sought has been returned to me I am well satisfied. Thanking you for the service rendered, I am, Yours very truly, Robert E. Collins

THE SECOND has to do with a cow. On her statement paying for her advertisement Mrs. Louise B. Bills of Geneva made the following notation which "speaks volumes": "Thank you, I sold my cow. Cordially, Louise B. Bills."

THE THIRD is real estate, a matter in which we are all interested. The following two letters are typical of correspondence we receive daily from people in all sections of the country inquiring about property in Sanford:

Old Orchard Beach, Me. 24 Central Avenue September 22, 1947

Dear Sirs: Please send me your Classified Advertising rates, as I want to advertise for a cottage or apartment for the winter. I would also like your subscription rates. Yours truly, Glendon Merrill

Swimming Pool

(Continued from page one) here and make a survey and draw plans for a pool. At about the same time, Chase and Co. gave the City $30,000 for use in public projects, and a public projects advisory committee recommended that $20,000 of the Mr. Leshar. This committee fund be allocated for a swimming pool, and the commission acted accordingly. In 1945, the City added $10,000 from its budget making $30,000 available for the pool. In August, 1944, the City Commission accepted the plans for a Binta swimming pool to be located in Ft. Mellon Park at an estimated cost of $25,000. The estimated size of the pool is 60 by 90 feet with a water area of 4,399 square feet and a depth of 3 to 11 feet. A wading pool, 8 by 20 feet is included in the plan. It is large enough to accommodate 550 bathers at one time, with a daily capacity of 1075, which is considered, he said, sufficient for a community of this size. Meanwhile, he asserted, war time prices of materials mounted and a new estimate of the cost runs to $35,000 with the additional handicap of no contractor willing to bid on the work. Several months later this type of construction was frozen by the government and only released during the past August. He pointed out that a month ago the Rotary Club had revived the project by requesting the City Commission to take some action. In reply to a request for a present-day estimate, Mr. Binta wrote City Manager H. N. Saver that the pool would cost double the original estimate, or between $35,000 and $60,000. Mr. Leshar suggested that this would be a good time to get estimates for City Commission to state publicly their position in regard to immediate construction of the pool. He pointed out that no funds had been allocated by the City during the past two budget periods or in its 1947-48 budget.

MORE PEANUT RECIPES

Peanut butter pinwheels are a treat for breakfast. They are especially appropriate for Sunday morning. Try this recipe:
Roll baking powder biscuit dough to thickness of three-eighths of an inch. Blend 1/4 cup peanut butter, 3/4 cup honey, a few grains of salt. Spread on dough; roll, cut in half-inch slices. Place on greased cookie sheet, bake in hot oven about 20 minutes. Makes 12.

Now let us consider some peanut candy recipes—big batches of brittle, made crisp and crunchy with peanuts. Whether you use salted roasted peanuts or raw peanuts, take your choice—every one golden and easy to make. All will be popular with children and grown folks.

Brittle No. 1
Ingredients: 1 cup cane syrup, 1 cup fresh, raw peanuts, and 1/3 cup melted butter.

Cook molasses and butter together until well blended; stir in peanuts and boil until candy is brittle when tested in cold water. Pour on to bottom of shallow well-buttered pan or, better yet, on to buttered enameled table top. Stretch out around edges until thin and crack into pieces when cold.

Brittle No. 2
Ingredients: 2 cups sugar, 1 cup cane syrup, 2 1/2 cups raw peanuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 teaspoon water, and 1/4 teaspoon soda.

Combine sugar and sirup in heavy skillet. Stir until sugar dissolves. Heat slowly to boiling, stirring constantly. Cook to light crack stage (275 degrees), when tested in water. Add peanuts; continue cooking until peanuts are a light tan color, stirring constantly; about 10 minutes. Remove from heat; add vanilla, water and soda. Stir slightly and pour into well greased pan or platter.

Peanut Crunch
Ingredients: 3/4 cup cane syrup, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup roasted salted peanuts, and 1/4 teaspoon soda.

Combine syrup, sugar and butter. Stir to dissolve sugar. Cook to soft ball stage (238 degrees). Add peanuts. Cook to light crack stage, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add soda. Stir slightly. Pour evenly over well greased pans. Spread thin. Cool. Break in pieces. Makes about 1/2 pound.

Soupin Shark Is Protected By State

AP Newsfeatures
SACRAMENTO—For the soupin shark, World War II ended officially on Sept. 19, 1947—or did it?

Anyway, things should be easier for him in the shallow waters along the California coast where he has been having more and more trouble growing up.

It's like this: A soupin shark has two big worries about people: (a) That they'll catch him for his fins, which contain gelatin prized by Chinese for making soup.

(b) That they'll get him for his liver, rich in Vitamin A.

During World War II there was such a demand for this vitamin

Australian Leader Rejects Pay Hike

AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—Australia's new Labor Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley has refused a sizeable increase in salary, because, he said, "my needs are simple."

He asked the Parliamentary Labor Party to drop a proposal that his salary should be raised to approximately $16,200 a year, adding the extra money "would only embarrass me."

The prime minister at present receives about $14,580 a year—the exact amount is not disclosed.

Pointing up his "simple needs," Chifley marked his 62nd birthday a few days later with a typical 12-hour working day. He was up at 6 A. M. at the prime minister's residence, The Lodge, and made his own cup of tea.

He was first in line in the Parliament House barber shop for a hair-cut, was in his office at 8:45 and settled down to his mail.

One of the first letters Chifley saw that day was formal advice from the Australian Federated Union of Locomotive Engineers that he had been made a life member of the union in acknowledgment of "splendid services during many years of active association."

Chifley was a locomotive engine-driver before he entered politics.

He told the regular assembly political committee that the "Little Assembly" would become a "mere spokesman for a Pax Americana" (literally "American Peace").

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

ALWAYS IS A RAY OF HOPE: I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth.—Job 19: 25.

And his feet shall stand in that day upon the Mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem.—Zech. 14: 4.

City Commissioner Leo Lesher explains that the cost of building a swimming pool in Sanford has gone up from approximately $25,000 when the plan was first broached to something like $65,000 at the present time.

The Rt. Rev. Henry I. Loutin has been elected Bishop of Western New York, an honor which will gratify his many friends in Sanford though they will regret to lose his services to this area.

Sanford will be the baseball capital of Florida, if not the nation, next winter with nearly a thousand men from the Giants training school practicing here.

The CIO and Mayor O'Dwyer of New York want Congress called into special session so that it can enact a statute restoring price control and rationing.

As one contemplates the selfishness, prejudice, hatred found on almost every hand throughout the world these days, the gallant rescue of 69 persons forced down on the storm tossed mid-Atlantic by a tiny Coast Guard cutter comes as a welcome breath of fresh air.

Advertising Uncle Sam

It is not generally considered good taste for a donor to present a gift with fanfare, bidding thus for recognition and gratitude from the recipient.

Columnist Drew Pearson points out the difference between the Russian way of presenting its food contributions and that of the United States.

At about the same time a cargo of grain arrived at Marseilles from the USSR. Bands played. There were street parades, a local holiday and public speeches praising the generous Soviets.

The inference is obvious, and worth thinking about. If, besides relieving destitution, American food contributions to Europe are intended to thwart the continent's swing into the Communist orbit, Europeans must be made aware in a vivid and unmistakable manner that they are being aided by the United States.

This is no time to let the light of America hide under a bushel.

Vandenberg And Bryan

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, according to John Gunther's new book, "Inside U.S.A.," thinks the bright jewel in his record is his authorship of the law guaranteeing bank deposits up to $5,000.

Without detracting from Senator Vandenberg, fairness requires the admission that in 1908 the idea was made a campaign issue by William Jennings Bryan.

Bryan did not have a reputation for being well grounded on financial matters, and perhaps banks then were not well enough regulated to make his idea feasible.

It is an illustration, also, of the fact that many good ideas belong neither to Democrats nor to Republicans primarily, but to the whole people.

England Is Counting On Its Own Efforts

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—England is counting on the steady effort and sacrifices of its own people as well as aid from America to weather the worst winter in its history, says Sir Hartley Shawcross attorney general for the United Kingdom.

Speaking last night at the 27th session of the Philadelphia forum, Sir Hartley said the coming winter will be severe in England because of drastic cuts in imports due to a shortage of dollars.

Speaking of the food situation abroad, Sir Hartley noted that the English people are allowed only 20 cents worth of meat a week and are lucky to get one egg each a week.

Hollander Insists U. S. Best Weapon Bread, Not Bomb

WASHINGTON—One might describe Mme. Bakker-von Boase, professor of law at Leipsic University in Holland, as a plain woman—until she talks.

Then her face lights up with an inner beauty that is most compelling and she's a woman you'll not forget.

She's of medium height, a little on the matronly side, and she wears her best of suburn-tinted hair straight back from her strong, round face that is slightly flushed.

She was, however, and wore a round-necked, long-sleeved white blouse with an un-stylish black skirt and a neat piece of brightly-patterned silk about her shoulders, the day she addressed a small group of nobles at Luncheon.

Bakker is her husband's name. He too is a lawyer. The Von Boase is her maiden name, and as is the custom of Dutch women in public life, she tasks it on the end, but always identifies herself as Mme. Bakker.

MME. BAKKER talked about Holland—the war years, reconstruction, the Indonesian situation, communism.

She told how the civil occupation of Holland by the Germans made it more difficult for Holland to recover from the effects of the war years.

The last winter of the war was the most difficult and most severe of all. The southern part of the country had been liberated but the north beginning in November, 1944, people suffered from cold and hunger and there was no electricity.

"Children were born and died in total darkness that winter," she said.

Some 20,000 persons actually starved to death. For three whole weeks in January there were no coffins because there was no wood. The dead were placed in cardboard boxes and kept in the churches for weeks.

"Imagine building secret cupboards in your home where your men hid like wild beasts until the persecutors left," she said. "It was a race between starvation and liberty and at the end of April when all the food was gone we prepared for the worst but got bread instead, dropped from the skies by Allied bombers."

Obstacles to reconstruction include the housing problem, the lack of paper, the inability of the nation to export to Germany and import from Indonesia.

Food is scarce in all of Europe but the Dutch "know so very much of famine, have learned to go hungry, expect to go hungry."

"If France were to turn to communism, if Europe goes Communist," Mme. Bakker said, "hope for my country's survival is gone."

"Your weapon," she warned, "is not going to be the atom bomb. It's going to be a loaf of bread."

German Tells How Russia Fights U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Soviet Russia is fighting the Marshall plan "war" in Europe with three weapons, German Social Democratic Leader Kurt Schumacher declared today.

The graying party chairman, who spent 10 years in Nazi concentration camps, enumerated these weapons as:

1. Defiance—"The area of defiance of the Marshall Plan coincides precisely with the boundaries of the Spanish sphere of influence."

2. National Sovereignty—"Soviet Russia herself brutally ignores the sovereignty of all other countries. Since it fits into her propaganda strategy, she manipulates the idea of national sovereignty exactly as she manipulates the concepts of socialism and freedom."

3. Political paralysis—"At any time the United States wants to concentrate her economic aid on a certain area in Europe and tries from there to give aid to one country after another so that Europe may recuperate, the Russians set in motion their policy of exporting political paralysis to such areas."

Schumacher, here to address the American Federation of Labor Convention, gave his views in an off-the-record speech before the Commonwealth Club of California last Friday. His remarks were released for publication today.

BUTLER KILLED

EASTLAND, Tex., Oct. 16 (AP)—A coroner's verdict was expected today in the fatal shooting of Samuel Butler of Denver, Colo., and his former associate in a refining company, Frank Dwyer.

Butler was a brother of the late Marine General, Smedley Butler. A revolver was found under Dwyer's body. Butler's body was several feet from Dwyer's. Butler was about 63 and Dwyer about 60. The shooting occurred yesterday at Ringling Lake, just north of here.

thus be halted, we shall have "two worlds"—not friendly but still not shooting at each other. Then we can begin to think about "one world." Many observers—and your columnist is one of them—believe that present day Communism, which is Bolshevism, cannot endure as an imperial power. That is so because it deprives the individual of personal privileges and places him under police government.

The small countries of eastern Europe which are under Red domination have been communized by force. Every one of these peoples is liberty loving and has fought for freedom more than once through the centuries. And the logical conclusion would seem to be that either Communism will purge itself of totalitarianism and adopt Democracy, or the police-ruler people will in due course take the matter into their own hands.

So there is no need to despair of achieving a peaceful "one world," though it won't come tomorrow.

However, we are getting ahead of ourselves. The first thing to be achieved is not "one-world," but "two-worlds" which are at peace. Technically we are at peace now but practically we are not. For the Bolshevik world revolution is in full swing. That must be stopped, and it must be stopped without another global war. That probably can be achieved by rehabilitating western Europe through the Marshall Plan so that the Democracies can defend themselves against the Bolshevik offensive.

If the Communist upheaval can be achieved only when one or the other had been found wanting and had died a natural death.

CIO Convention

both the Democratic and Republican parties are responsible for what is happening in the country today.

Loud applause by the delegates followed Quill's declaration that there is one independent voice in America today calling for peace and security and that voice is Henry Wallace.

Across the nation in San Francisco, two powerful union leaders emerged as undisputed bosses of the AFL convention.

And in New York, the National Maritime Union's sixth biennial convention wound up with President Joseph Curran declaring "the Communist party in this union is on its way out."

AFL leaders George Meany of the Plumbers and Daniel J. Tobin of the Teamsters won control of the big labor organization's convention with a maneuver which resulted in abolition of the 13 vice presidencies, and incidentally removed John L. Lewis of the Mine Workers as an AFL officer. Lewis' refusal, as an officer, to sign a non-Communist affidavit in compliance with the Taft-Hartley law had prevented 300,000 federal local members from using the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board.

Meanwhile, the CIO convention, in a noisy demonstration, cheered right-wing speakers who shouted their support of American policy and who sharply criticized Russian and Communist methods.

In New York, the longest meeting in the National Maritime Union's history ended with President Curran commenting that despite "obstructionists of an organized machine; the rank and file was able to win control of the convention."

The CIO convention in Boston was told that the American labor movement cannot long exist unless it devotes itself to winning political battles with the same zeal it gives to economic battles.

Jack Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action Committee, addressed the convention just after Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., called for a union of labor, housewives, farmers and war veterans to win the next election away from what he termed a "servile Congress intent on serving special interests."

Kroll frankly told the delegates that the CIO hasn't yet duplicated in the field of politics its success at economic organization.

Declaring this is because we haven't sufficiently applied ourselves, Kroll called for 1,000,000 "block workers"—people who would organize their neighbors in a single block. He said the CIO-PAC already had 100,000 such workers.

Jaycee Plan

Lind Weber had assured him the Mayfair inn will be available on the night of Dec. 6 for a Hospital Ball to be sponsored by the Jaycees. All proceeds from the ball will be turned over to the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital for its use.

O. P. Herndon, Clerk of the Circuit Court, gave the organization a few pointers on community leadership and the effect of Jaycee foresight.

Mr. Herndon stated that the Jaycees "are in truth making history in this country." He added that "the results of your careful consideration of all matters concerning the public interest will be affected by your acts. We today are most certainly reaping the benefits of the leaders of this nation when it was in its infancy. I would, therefore, bring to your attention the results of wise, honest and sincere leadership that builds, and leadership that destroys."

"It is better for posterity to inquire why no statues were erected to any of you, than to have one erected and for people to wonder why," he added. Mr. Herndon was introduced to the organization by Karlyle Housholder, program chairman.

Visitors to the meeting included Harold Lewis and Bill Davidson.

German Plants

Germany, providing for a ceiling production of 10,700,000 ingot tons of steel, was announced in late August.

German public officials and trade union leaders have attacked the British-American reparations policy as a blow to German economic revival and a source of unemployment. Trades unionists have threatened non-cooperation in dismantling the plants as well as strikes and demonstrations.

Dispatches from the Ruhr forecast sit-down strikes in protest against dismantling soon after the list was published.

The joint statement of the military governors declared: "We wish to make it clear that all necessary steps for the speedy possible fulfillment of the program will be taken so that on the one hand German industry may get ahead with its constructive tasks, and on the other hand, that the nations receiving reparations of capital plant and equipment may be able to turn these resources to good account during their next few years when the economic recovery of Europe must be expedited by every possible means.

Gen. Vandegrift Says Aggression Not Ended

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—General Alexander A. Vandegrift said today it is plain now that U. S. victory in World War II failed to make the world safe for fundamental freedoms "even for the present."

It is apparent, he said, that "the Communist commandant declared, "that we did not remove every source of exploitation and aggression."

Without naming the nations he had in mind, Vandegrift said in an address prepared for the fall convocation of the University of Maryland that the situation which raises these questions:

Are we attempting merely to preserve "peace" in our time, understanding full well that a deluge will surely follow?"

And "Are we so terrified at the implications of atomic warfare that we will settle for any kind of peace at any price?"

Woman Found Dead In Automobile Trunk

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Law enforcement officers in Cook county joined with authorities in Du Page county in a search for the slayer of a 35-year-old woman whose mutilated and nearly nude body was found stuffed in the trunk of her automobile yesterday.

The victim of the brutal attack was Mrs. Catherine M. Wasil, mother of three young children. The youngest, William, 17 months old, was found lying on the front seat of the car parked on a highway near suburban Chicago. He was not injured. Her husband, Stephen J., 41, a bricklayer, was quoted by police as saying his wife had been missing from home with William for two weeks.

Police said they were seeking for questioning a man named by Wasil as his wife's close friend, Sgt. Nick Reidy of the Chicago homicide detail said the man named by Wasil had not been at home for a week. Police said Wasil told them his wife frequently disappeared without explanation and he did not report her absence when she left two weeks ago.

In the field of business practices, the committee:

1. Urged vigorous enforcement of the Robinson-Patman Price Discrimination Act, recommending particularly that the Federal Trade Commission place "limitations on sellers who require purchases of commodities in such excessive quantities that small enterprises are unable to purchase from them."
2. Recommended cooperation among small enterprises, including both retailers and manufacturers, in such activities as buying, selling and advertising.
3. Disapproved "any commercial standards and government procurement specifications that allow only one or a few supplies to conform with requirements" and condemned "discriminatory freight rates."

On the subject of labor, the committee recommended a federal study "to determine whether or not union-contract designed primarily for large industrial units and imposed on small business, constitute a handicap to efficient production in small business."

The committee is a permanent set-up which meets here three times a year.

Mystery of the Missing Farms

Yes, the number of farms in America is shrinking (by a quarter million in the last five years). What's happened to the missing farms? The land has been taken in by other farms, increasing the average size by twenty acres!

Does this growth mean farming's no longer a family enterprise? Just the opposite! More families own farms today than ever—only with labor-saving equipment they can handle more land, more work.

That's as it should be. The family farm is a fortress of democracy—

FARMERS MAKE STRONG EFFORT TO COME BACK AFTER STORM TROUBLE

By Spud Johnson

Tropical storms during the past month dealt heavy blows to growers of vegetables in the southern section of Florida, but the growers have been working with might and main to make a quick comeback.

Such setbacks are striking examples of the difficulties which the farmer must contend with in his job of producing food. More than any other workers, farmers are affected by the vagaries of weather. People in other lines of work usually can continue to produce, even though they may be slowed down a little, during extremes of weather such as drought, freezes, and storms, but the farmer may lose all his plants, much of his fertilizer, and weeks of hard work during a two-day storm.

Many farmers suffered heavy losses in young plants not yet set in the field, crops growing in the field, fertilizer, and time during the two storms in September. They also suffered losses or possible losses from failing to get their crops to early markets where good prices usually are paid for produce. Even though they have been able to replant quickly (and many of them have not), their crops will be smaller and later than they had intended.

As hard as the blows were, it is indeed inspiring to note how quickly and forcefully numerous farmers started their comeback efforts. The storm had not blown itself out completely before those whose soil was sufficiently drained to permit it had replanted plant beds; many had pumps working night and day to remove water from their fields; many were ditching and diking to take the water off their land; and practically all who could were getting another crop under way.

Those whose crops were ruined, plant beds destroyed, or fields covered with water that would delay their exacting time schedule for planting knew they had lost labor and money, but they didn't take additional time to moan over their difficulties; instead, they got right to work to make a crop if humanly possible. Such experiences are not new to most of them, and they took the trouble in stride. It takes pluck, initiative, energy, and lots of hard work to win a quick comeback after adversity, and Florida's vegetable farmers have shown they have those qualifications.

say that exports pushed prices only slightly higher, adding that the nation always exports about one-third of its grain crop in normal times.

The conference was devoted largely to the food-saving campaign and to other aspects of European aid.

Mr. Truman said an extra session of Congress to provide emergency assistance for Europe is still a possibility, but he is still trying to find funds from existing sources to provide stop-gap aid.

He said this effort has met with some success in recent days and cited the use of Export-Import Bank funds and a $50,000,000 purchase of French francs. But, he said, that does not necessarily mean an extra session won't be needed. He will call one if he finds it necessary, he added.

On other matters:

He had no comment on the remarks yesterday by Henry A. Wallace who accused the Administration of being dominated by Wall Street interests intent on war.

Neither would he comment on the book "Speaking Frankly" by James F. Byrnes in which the former Secretary of State tells of discussions with Mr. Truman before his resignation. Mr. Truman said he had read some of the book, but not all.

He said Secretary of State Marshall would have something to say in a few days on the findings of Lieut. General Albert C. Wedemeyer during an investigation of conditions in China. Wedemeyer's report has not been made public.
