APPRECIATED

Every fellow thinks he is not appreciated in this world sufficiently and that if his true worth was really known he would be placed upon a seat of honor during his life time and have a niche in the hall of fame after he had ceased to exist.

It is with a feeling of camaraderie that pervades the bosom of every editor for his fellow sufferers that we reproduce the following tribute from the facile pen of Thordylke of the Palm Beach Post.

"I often wonder why it is that the general public rarely fully appreciates what a newspaper does for a city? Every week goes forth a herald of boom and bust for its community and the better the paper is the more frequently it is clipped from and the more often does the city's name appear.

And how a paper can sway public opinion in its convictions, yet how often is his work unappreciated. I know a clever little rascal who took it into his head one day that his county should be divided and a new county created of which the city where his paper was published should be the seat of government for the principal.

So he began arguing for it. At first even his own comrades said he was nutty and buggy, and declared his head was as hollow as a duff's undershirt. Later on a few began to believe what the paper said was a fact. Still later the thing looked good. Then the editor went to the legislature not as a member of course, but as a lobbyist, and when he had by then a crowd of supporters to supplement his own.

When the deed was done and the new county born, well, what then? Did they tell the editor that he was it and could have pretty nearly anything he wanted? My goodness, no, no. They did hold a mass meeting and raised a lot of money to buy chests of silver and so on to give to those who were rich enough to buy an editor every day and to see him, but the editor, who would have thought himself a part of a party with his own money, and sat on the back porch to let the perspiration drip.

Absolutely the crowd forgot that the never tiring energetic knocked down but we're up again, clever persistent editor was the main cause of the whole thing and I believe cross-my-heart that Sanford owes Bob Holly a darned big bill of applause. And then some more.

Every issue of his Herald is a boost and he deserves a lot more good things than he's ever had.

I started this as a sort of a boost for what the Post is doing for this city, and county but I diverged. It just happened that Sanford, the Herald and Holly all came to mind at once—and I felt I need to get these facts off it, pronto."

FLORIDA PAPERS ARE BOOSTING

That Florida papers are becoming more popular as carriers of publicity is becoming more apparent every day as each and every section of the state falls in line by getting out big editions and the county committees, city councils and commercial bodies are all helping in the good work by helping the papers. The Dade City Banner announces this week a big booster edition of Truth of which the board of trade of Trinity will take 1,000 copies. The Kissimmee Gazette recently issued a mammoth edition assisted by the board of trade council and county commissioners. The Orlando Reporter-Star of Orlando has just issued a big special edition that was very successful and was helped by the business men and commercial organizations. These two latter editions were compiled by Messrs. Collins and Worthington who are now engaged in getting up a mammoth edition for Sanford. The Mulberry Herald has just issued a fine special edition that is not only a credit to that office but to Mulberry and the county of Polk.—The Daytona Gazette, the Miami Metropolis and the Pensacola News recently issued booster editions and the Tampa papers and Jacksonville papers issue big editions almost every month. These special editions are the best medium for exploiting not only the cities, and counties in which they are located but are also good advertising for the whole state since people are attracted to Florida in greater numbers through the newspapers than through any other form of advertising. The men who wish to locate in Florida send for Florida papers first and after a careful perusal of them will form a favorable or unfavorable impression in the measure that the paper appeals to him and every issue of a Florida paper should contain some good boost article that will convey to the prospective citizen some idea of the growth, progress and manner of people that inhabit that certain locality. The members of the Commercial Club of Sanford recognizing this fact will have one of their number write a good article about Sanford or Seville county during the winter months and 500 copies of The Herald will be mailed to people living in other states that they may form a good idea of this section. No money for advertising could be spent to better advantage than in the newspapers.

NEWSPAPERS MAKE THE TOWN

A Georgia editor says the Palm Beach News refused to deposit his little capital with his local bank because the latter would not patronize the newspaper. Good for the editor. We admire the editor's stand. He is exactly right for the obligation of supporting local institutions is mutual. This one-sided support is getting sickening and the sooner these pampered institutions awaken to the fact that they owe an obligation to the newspapers, the sooner they will escape retribution. There isn't a business house in town that can live without the newspaper and there isn't a town in the United States that doesn't owe its existence to newspapers. When a newspaper asks a business house for patronage it isn't asking any favor it is simply asking the merchant to repay a debt long due. The newspaper is broader than the average business man for when it boosts it boosts the entire community while the business man boosts his own only. The newspaper brings business into town and the merchant and banker get it; they pat themselves on the back and say "How smart we are!" Do they know that the newspaper is the only thing that keeps boosting the town and paying the people to come here that these same business men would not be able to pay their debt? What causes the growth of a town? Is it because of the man that don't advertise or is it because of the attractive things proclaimed by the press of the county that brings citizens and settlers to the community? The great is putting no more in the pockets of every business man in town and it is high time that the selfish man awakens to his responsibility and puts his share of the expense. Call it taxes, Reform.

That is one way of putting it but the Herald does not want the citizens of Sanford to advertise because it is a debt long due or because it is costing us. We want advertising because no merchant can expect to attract attention and trade without advertising and the stores of Sanford that do no advertising are not doing the business that they should be doing. The cause is obvious and it is our further comment.

The institution that Eustis and in fact all Lake county and all Florida should be proud of, is the Eustis Lake Register and this newspaper is Colonel Clarence E. Woods a native of Kentucky who is leaving his imprint on the state as a worthy newspaper man a splendid public speaker and charming man to meet and a gentleman in all that muchly misused term implies. When Eustis acquired Clarence Woods she made the greatest move in her career for he is one of the greatest boosters the state has ever known and he is ever working for it, for Lake county and for Eustis. His paper is one of the cleanest typographically published in Florida and clean in every other way a live wire paper edited by a live wire man and if any of the grower readers wish to read a paper we are all proud of I recommend that they send for a sample copy of the Eustis Lake Register.—Florida Grower.

tem in every department and the result has been apparent in figuring up the cost of production.

ELECTRIC LIGHT RATES

The consumers of Jacksonville get their electricity for illuminating purposes at seven cents per kilowatt hour, and for cooking purposes at two cents per kilowatt hour. At this rate the municipal lighting plant has paid a handsome profit and the money made by this and the other municipal plants has been devoted to paying expenses of other departments of the city.

Now Jacksonville has been having some expert figuring done on this electricity business and finds that life cost of production and the current is 1.05 cents a kilowatt hour. So a movement has been started and bids fair to be successful to reduce the cost of lighting current to the consumers of that city to four cents per kilowatt hour. This it is shown will be more than sufficient to maintain the plant and make all necessary improvements although it will not afford the large profits which have been hitherto devoted to the maintenance of other departments of the city. Besides local opinion has been given that the transfer of money from the lighting and water funds to other city funds is violative of the charter.

The people up there say they prefer having their rate reduced to rolling up handsome profits from their plants for other purposes. That electric current at four cents is remarkably cheap may be understood from the fact that Tampa consumers pay ten cents per kilowatt hour or more than double the rate proposed at Jacksonville and which the experts say, will provide the Jacksonville plant with ample revenue for operation maintenance and reasonable additions and improvements. If the estimate of cost of production a little over one cent per kilowatt hour is correct it will also be seen that the Jacksonville plant can easily make good on a four cent rate and that at a ten cent rate a plant ought to reap a magnificent profit.—Tampa Tribune.

The Sanford Herald complains that the city campaign there is entirely too tame and with two live candidates for mayor neither one has made a speech during the campaign. Manly speech making has gone out of fashion in this day of the newspaper with its unequalled facilities for spreading talk throughout the world. We have just concluded a city campaign in Lakeland and one of our candidates made a speech. This did much better by using the hospitable columns of the Telegram to present our views and in that way reached voters who could not have appeared to by the old methods of oratory. It takes a long time to draw a crowd these days and most candidates recognizing the full value of assembling an audience do their talking through the press.—Lakeland Telegram.

The Fort Myers Press has been sold to T. M. Callahan of Superior Wis. This passes one of the oldest and most beloved of the ancient and honorable of the press gang, Nate Stout, who came to Florida shortly after Ponce De Leon and settled in Ft. Myers just prior to its setting of the postoffice. The original and the water turkey. Under father and son the Press has been printed in Ft. Myers for 27 years. We welcome Bro. Callahan to the gang and hope he will continue the Press upon the same high plane as good old Nathan Stout.

Gene Matthews' description of Avon in Florida in the last issue of the Telegraph is worthy of more than passing notice. It was rich in word play and brought us to the realization that we are really living in a most favored state. But the same can almost be said of almost any season in Florida. They are all so much better than any other state can boast that many of us lose sight of their beauties having lived here long enough to become acclimated by the finest climate in the world in winter and summer.

Growth of the Brotherhood

Last Sunday morning the Brotherhood class numbered twenty-seven this being the record for the season. Much interest is being manifested in these meetings and the old gentlemen as well as the young fellows are helping to swell the numbers. The series of meetings to be held during the present week will undoubtedly do much to increase the attendance and the teachers as well as the officials of the class feel much elated over the great interest that is being taken in this work.

Death of Judge Whitner

Saturday afternoon about one o'clock Hon. B. F. Whitner county judge of Seminole county was stricken with heart failure. He had just left his office and upon his arrival at his residence he complained of feeling ill and laid down upon his bed and immediately became unconscious and by the time the physician reached his side they pronounced him beyond all hope he expiring within a few minutes.

The funeral services were held in the Episcopal church of which he had been a member for many years at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. After the church service burial took place in Lake view cemetery, the body being followed by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. An escort of honor composed of Sanford's leading citizens and many admiring friends of Orange county accompanied the remains to the church and from there to the last resting place.

B. F. Whitner was the second son of B. F. and Sarah J. Church Whitner born in Athens Ga. August 7 1842 at the home of his grandfather Dr. Church president of the University of Georgia. At the time of his birth his father resided at Lake Jackson near Tallahassee. In 1848 the family removed to Orange county and settled on Lake Conway four miles south of the present town of Orlando, this being before that town was established. An Indian uprising caused them to return to northern Florida where they settled near the town of Madison at which place they resided until 1872 at which time the family again returned to Orange county and settled on Silver Lake near Sanford.

The deceased received the greater part of his education at the Universities of Georgia and North Carolina. He left college when 18 years of age and volunteered as a private in Company C being of the Eighth Florida regiment. HE was mustered into service of Confederate at Pensacola his regiment being almost immediately transferred to Virginia where he took part in the most strenuous engagements of the Civil War, being in most of all the great battles. He was wounded twice, once at the battle of Chancellorsville and again at the second battle of Cold Harbor. At Santer's Creek he was taken prisoner while in command of an important post he having been made Captain of the company before he reached the age of 21 and at this time was in command of the regiment his Colonel General Lane being in command of the Brigade. He was taken to Washington and confined in the old capitol prison where he was the night Lincoln was assassinated. He was later transferred to a prison on Johnson's Island in Lake Erie where he remained until he was released at the close of the war.

He is now residing in Madison and engaged in farming. On the 11th of April 1896 he was married to Elizabeth Eppes, the daughter of Dr. Arthur M. and Laura Deval Randolph. To this union there came four sons and three daughters, being Estlin Randolph, Benjamin Franklin, Sarah J. Laura Chase, Bessie Randolph, Arthur R. and William Church. All of whom are living with the exception of Sarah Jane.

His return to Orange county in 1872, the deceased engaged in the care of business transacting upon some of the most valuable acres of properties in this section of the state, which were destroyed by the freeze of 1895.

He took an active part in the public affairs of his adopted county and was for many years a member of and chairman of the board of county commissioners. These times he was overwhelmingly elected to the House of Representatives of Florida where he served with distinction.

After the freeze he became one of the pioneer citrus growers of Sanford and was largely instrumental in the establishment of this most successful industry.

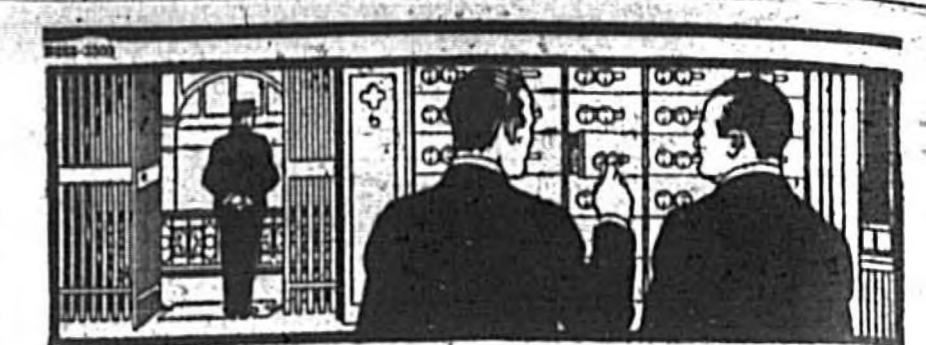

In 1902 Judge Whitner was made chief clerk of the pension department in the Comptroller's office which position he creditably filled until his appointment as superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane which position he resigned in March of the present year. His administration was marked by many improvements and the institution brought to its present high standard of efficiency through his executive ability and the confidence commended by his resignation.

Soon after his resignation he returned to Sanford with his wife to make his future home with his son and daughter, B. F. Whitner Jr. and Mrs. S. L. Chase. Upon the division of Orange county which resulted in the creation of Seminole county he without solicitation upon his part was made county judge of the new county which position he was filling with the same degree of credit that attended his efforts during his life in whatsoever channel he thought best to direct them.

Faithful to every trust in all the walks of life as Christian, husband, father, friend, citizen, soldier and official, the present and coming generation may well take him for an example.

At the Star Theatre Friday

In order to meet the demands of the season, the discriminating patronage Mgr. Herndon has arranged to show the features made by the Famous Players Film Co. which are recognized as being the best pictures made, and anyone seeing them will have the right to boast of their personal pleasure.

The first picture shown here will be 'The Taking of Pelham One Two Three' taking in over five reels on Friday, Nov. 21st. The following is the story in brief.

Parson Tringham discovers that Tess Durbeyville is the lineal descendant of an ancient and knightly family of the Durbeyvilles. Tess, his eldest daughter, has inherited all the weakness and passions of her ancestors. Durbeyville abandons himself to a life of ease and indolence and to advance their financial prospects Tess is sent to claim relationship with the rich and powerful D'Urbervilles of the adjacent county. Tess encounters Alec D'Urberville, who deceives her and in humiliation she returns home where her child is born. The child eventually dies, and Tess makes a determined struggle to reclaim her ruined life. She meets Angel Clare; the two fall in love, and once more her future begins to promise happiness.

After their marriage, Angel tells Tess of a former fall from grace, and Tess promptly forgives him and relates her indiscretion with Alec D'Urberville. Shocked by the revelation, Angel leaves her until he can bring himself to forgive her.

Destitute Tess is again found by D'Urberville. He offers her protection and support and she again pays the price for existence. In the meantime Angel's love for Tess causes itself and he returns. He finds her in luxury and in splendor in D'Urberville's home. Torn with despair as she sees her last chance of happiness slip away, Tess in insane anger kills Alec. Her crime is detected and she surrenders herself to the law.

In a grim, gray prison cell at last from the world that had treated and cursed her, Tess spends the remaining years of her life, her broken heart and her wasted strength.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH, "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

The question is often asked: "What are the legal and national holidays and by what authority are they determined?" Webster's international dictionary defines the word and gives the following information on the subject:

"A holiday or holy day is a consecrated day; a religious anniversary or festival. Any day of exemption from labor or work; a day of amusement or recreation, etc. The law states, that they freed by law for the suspension of business in whole or in part is a legal holiday. In the United States the legal holidays are determined by law commonly by statutes of the several states. There is no national legal holiday congress having no jurisdiction to appoint one and the only common law holiday is Sunday. In common usage Sunday is not generally included under the term holiday or legal holiday. The holidays most widely observed in the United States are: New Year's day, Lincoln's birthday, Decoration day, Independence day, Labor day, Christmas day. The last Thursday in November is now regularly appointed by proclamation by the national and state executives as Thanksgiving day, a day of thanksgiving and praise. In various states a day in the spring as Good Friday or the first Thursday in April is regularly appointed by executive proclamation to be observed as a day of fasting and prayer and observed as a holiday. This point is to be observed that in the United States there are no national holidays set aside by congress. Our congress having no jurisdiction over the states to appoint such a day.

In the Philippines the legal holidays established by act of the Philippine commission are: New Year's day, Washington's birthday, Thursday and Friday of holy week, Memorial Day, Independence day, Occupation day, Capitulation day, Rizal day, December 10. The special holidays in the Hawaiian Islands are: January 17, Celebrating the anniversary of the monarchy; Kamehameha day, June 11, Rejoicing day, and November 28, celebrating the recognition of Hawaiian independence. In Porto Rico July 20 the anniversary of the landing of United States troops in 1898 is a legal holiday.

With the approach of the Christmas holidays people will begin to realize the advantage offered by the Sanford parcel post in the matter of facility of service and economy, in the opinion of local postoffice authorities. Aside from the cheapness of rates such an action as the insured parcel system it is thought is bound to appeal to the majority of people.

While the postoffice authorities have every reason to believe that they can handle the large amount of matter they expect during the holidays they desire the cooperation of the public in doing so. A like agitation to that of '60 your Christmas shopping early' is what they are striving for and to this end the public is asked to send their Christmas packages as early as possible. Even now it is not too early to begin as the packages can be stamped: "Do not open until Christmas."

At the postoffice preparations are already being made to facilitate the service. Everything that could possibly assist in disposing of the mail matter is already being ordered.

It has been noticed at the postoffice that many people who use the parcel post neglect to place their name and address at the upper left hand corner of the package. This according to the superintendent of local delivery is a grave omission. If it should chance that the parcel for some reason or other could not be delivered there would be no way whatever of locating the person who sent it.

An allowance for children instead of promiscuous giving of nickels and dimes will be urged upon fathers and mothers of the country from the Chicago headquarters of the American Society for Thrift as one sure method of inculcating ideas of thrift in the next generation. "Do not let misguided friends give your child iron pennies, but teach the children how to spend wisely by fixing an allowance out of which their small needs must be met," is a warning which will be reiterated in primers of thrift which this society is preparing for distribution. Questions from the organization committee uniformly have invoked from thrifty people the advice as a first principle, "Do not let your child-

THE BIG CONVENTIONS

Being Held This Week in Panama and in Jacksonville

Washington D. C. November 10.—The Mississippi Association of Inland Waterway Association, of which Senator Duncan U. Fletcher is president, the Leland J. Henderson of Pensacola is secretary are holding their annual convention at Panama, Florida today.

This association advocates an inland waterway from the Mississippi river at or near New Orleans extending along the Gulf to the West Coast of Florida and across Florida to the Atlantic. A considerable portion of the money available for use.

A survey has been made of the Mobile Bay and Pensacola Bay. It will be very little extra money to make an inland route from Mobile and Pensacola. There is a canal from Pensacola to Choctawhatchee Bay and St. Andrew's Bay extending the two St. Andrew's Bay to the outlet to the Gulf through a channel 22 foot depth. There is a canal between St. Andrew's Bay and Apalachicola river, for which $1,000,000 has been appropriated to connect the Apalachicola with the canal system.

Five bills were introduced in Florida by the engineers, one by Florida by an inland waterway and up the St. Johns river to Lake Okechobee to Lake Harney and with a chain of lakes and canals about Leesburg and very little will be required to pass it.

Engineers have recommended improvement of the existing canal which will bring the water to the project in a more direct line.

The Association has appeared before the Board of Engineers and in various ways has its project at an inland waterway connecting the Mississippi with the Gulf.

Mr. Speaker I am again in this bill. We have appropriated and appropriated and appropriated money to educate the rich man's sons and daughters of this rich state and we have not given any money to the poor man's children. We appropriated $1,000,000 for a law school building and an auditorium at the University of Florida. Mr. Speaker I am again in this bill. No Mr. Speaker I am again in this bill.

Mr. C. O. McLaughlin for Alderman

Mr. C. O. McLaughlin has announced his intention to run for the position of alderman of Sanford, subject to the decision of the white primary to be held on November 19th. Mr. McLaughlin has received the assurance of the voters of Sanford that they will support him in the event he is elected to the office.

Mr. McLaughlin has always been a resident of the state for many years and of Sanford for the past four years. He was a prominent figure in the city long before he made his home in Sanford being well and favorably known when he was cashier of the bank in Leesburg and afterward when he became traveling solicitor for the Armour Fertilizer Works. Mr. McLaughlin has always been a progressive and kept up with a general affairs in Sanford, with all his duties on the road and in the city at times. He is thoroughly conversant with the duties of the office of alderman having served in many positions of trust and responsibility and made good. He is a progressive of the most pronounced type and believes in expansion and growth commensurate with the needs of the city. He is one of the strong candidates in the race and expects to see the voters ere election day and wax a warm campaign for the office.

The wear and tear on my political faith becomes more distressing every day. Here comes a correspondent threatening me with office on the grounds that I have advanced "some very sound political theories lately." Cannot our correspondents understand that men with sound political theories are the very men who cannot be trusted and never are?

UNITED STATES IS WAITING IN MEXICAN WAR GAME

NO ONE KNOWS WHETHER IT IS BLUFF OR WAR

COLONISTS ARE VERY UNEASY

OTHER NEWS OF THE WORLD IN GENERAL FRESH FROM THE WIRES TODAY

Speculation as to what President Wilson intends to do in the face of the Mexican difficulty was increased today by the knowledge that the American chargé d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, had received new instructions from Washington to wait at his post for further instructions and that important matters were under consideration.

Further organization will take place early in January. In the mean time the fifty-cent per cent must be collected to provide means for carrying on this work.

The Crop Movement

Oranges and grape fruit moving freely. Good fruit selling well

Small sizes are accumulating in some markets. Vegetables by express not so heavy, but will be larger next week

The car lot movement of lettuce has fairly opened up. There will be an increase next week. The stock is relatively of pretty good quality. The movement will increase next week. They are on the ground for every car that is loaded, but the operators are taking care of their patrons. Every market seems to want lettuce and it will bring a fair average price, but more money has been paid for some fine stock.

W. H. Topp has a car load of fine bananas on the track at the old depot and is selling them very cheap.

BROOMS FROM PALMETTO

SANFORD FACTORY WILL SOON BEGIN OPERATION

MAKES A SUPERIOR ARTICLE FROM MATERIAL EASY TO PROCURE

Brooms from palmetto. Brooms that are better and much cheaper. How does that sound to the busy housewife and the struggling husband who is trying to reduce the cost of high living?

But that is just what two enterprising Sanford men propose to do and in the dull summer months after the crop of lettuce and celery and other winter vegetables are off these gentlemen will hit the woods for a supply of palmetto and will work it into a good and serviceable broom that is superior in every way to those made from the stiff and brittle broom straw.

The long desired palmetto broom of Florida has been found valuable in making brooms and other commodities but it is broom business can be made to succeed the best use for the palmetto has been found. Every year sees a rise in the price of broom corn and a consequent rise in the price of brooms but with the hundreds of acres of palmetto in our state it is not surprising that it could be used to manufacture brooms in large quantities.

Vaughn and Clark are the two men who have been working on the palmetto broom. They have been successful in their work and the palmetto broom is now being made in Sanford. The palmetto broom is very tough and will last much longer than the broom straw. The broom is much better and takes the dust and dirt from the floor better than the broom straw. The broom is being made in Sanford and is being sold in all parts of the state.

FLORIDA GETS BIG A BOOST SENATORS AND CONGRESSMEN TELL ABOUT THE WORK BEING DONE FOR INLAND COASTAL CANALS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 20.—Coastal waterways that connect along the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf Coast get their latest boost today and tonight. At the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association in session here Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, commander of the revenue cutter service Itaska, as well as the superintendent of the school for the revenue cutter at New London, Conn., showed how adequate coastal canals would save lives and be a facility in the contingency of war.

The work which has been done and the aims of Georgia toward even greater things, was outlined by Colonel Sigo Myers of Savannah, Ga., from the standpoint of the banker and other professions the address of Colonel Myers was given. The ideas of New England on the general proposition were brought forth by John J. Martin, president of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange. Speaking as a member of the Rivers and Harbors committee of the House of Representatives, W. W. Wood, Hon. Stephen M. Spaulding gave the meeting every possible assurance of his support.

During the afternoon a visit was made to the destroyer Boston and torpedo boats Tingey and Thornton. Many of the convention visitors also visited the Florida Citrus Farm. The evening session of the convention was presided over by Hon. Fredrick W. Doolittle of Trenton, N. J. From a Hudson river standpoint, the support of Hon. Peter G. B. Fox, a democrat of Congress from New York following the Florida and Inland Waterways project from New England, Florida was perfect in the opinion of W. H. Shedd, with a large number of the audience.

Making one of the most genuine speeches of the convention in the favor of a coastal waterway from New England southward across Florida and then across the Gulf of Mexico to the Rio Grande came the welcome speech which the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association gave the Miami Convention. The Inland Waterways Association of the United States in a convention hall when the welcome was given and responded to. Addresses were given by the officers of the two organizations as well as two delegates also present. The general vote to support the project of waterways was taken and the result was a unanimous approval of the project.

He reviewed the great work that has been accomplished by the Rivers and Harbors Committee, and pointed out the practical effects it had on commerce. Congressman Sparkman was enthusiastic over the plans and promised to do in every way possible as chairman of the powerful committee in Congress.

Gambling Game Winds up in Murder in Which Webb Mitchell Goes Out

The "Skin Game" is responsible for many murders in every city in the state and in the country districts as well. One negro fleeces another and the game winds up with a dead negro. Last Wednesday night Webb Mitchell who has been trying a hack for a living and making extra money on the side by bookmaking and gambling was in a game with Hy Webb in one of the houses on Second street between Palmetto and Sanford Avenues. It is not known whether Mitchell did any damage to his antagonist or not. Webb Mitchell was found in the alley when the smoke of battle had cleared away and he was badly wounded in his back that shot of the ball had entered from behind and came out in front making a frightful wound and must have caused instant death.

The murderer escaped in the excitement and has not as yet been apprehended. The traces of the murderer are in the hands of the police. It is being held sure their gambling game and shooting affairs and that a little more stringent laws here of the officers.
