Two Counties And Their Political Challenges

Winds of change are blowing briskly throughout Florida. And while they are not confined to those arising from the political high and low pressure streams, two which have surfaced within Volusia and Seminole Counties are especially notable.

In Volusia the welcome and bold step of the voters to do something about the archaic, horse-and-buggy nature of county government is shown with adoption of a new charter with council-county manager provisions.

In Seminole County the decision of John Alexander, commission chairman, to not seek re-election provides a challenge to the voters to do something in filling four of the five seats which will be on the ballot with responsible, vigorous men or women who will be ready to step ahead, even though hampered with old-style county governmental machinery.

It is, of course, the result in Volusia County which has caught the eye of students of government everywhere for this is a "first" for Florida and was accomplished only after the widest and freest debate by the proponents and opponents.

Volusia is quite similar to Seminole in the nature of the challenge to get abreast and keep abreast of the growth which the 1960s started and the 1970s show every promise of continuing.

Demand for governmental services which goes hand-in-hand with population growth has caused zooming costs which require the best of administrative skills to hold in check. To attempt this with the old-style commissioner who has a business or professional of his own to take care of is becoming increasingly unwise.

The very best of professional, trained and experienced talent must be secured and given a post where it can be practiced without hamstringing by political interplay or interference.

Thus the decision of the Volusians that they would adopt the charter and with it the employment of a county manager who would be charged with this complex and basic duty appears to us to be of the greatest significance and a move which Seminole County could emulate.

The new charter does nothing to detract from the duty of the six commissioners who will be elected in districts and the one elected at-large to establish policy.

But it frees them from the time-consuming and wasteful consideration of administrative decisions which can best be made by hard-headed, professional managers.

Volusia's experience will now be watched most carefully by politicians and political students as would a "first" in any governmental arena. As of now, it extends a challenge to other counties to take equally bold and vigorous steps in getting in stride with the '70s.

Seminole County's challenge is not, like her sister county across Lake Monroe, one of launching a new craft on the political seas.

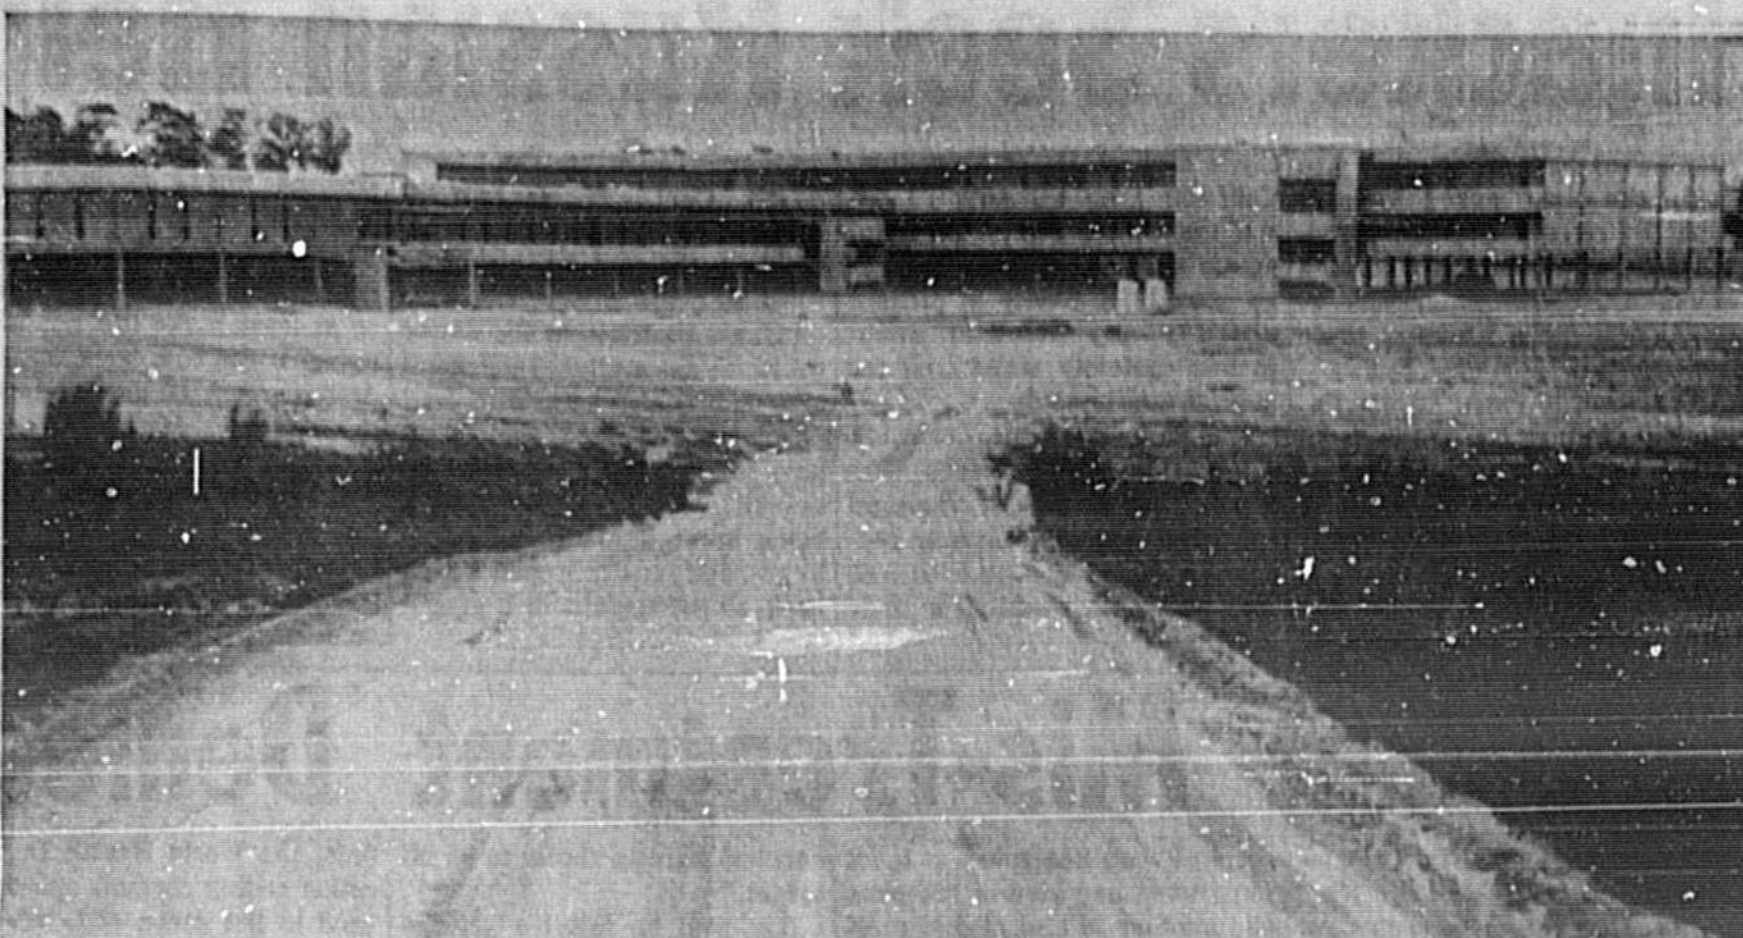

Here it is specific, definite and, undoubtedly, per se, Seminole County is struggling through the older concept of every commissioner for himself to the required view of the county as a whole.

Already there are new personages either ready to announce or announced as wanting the county commissioner job. All of these will have the news columns of the daily press to make their stands known.

Our newspaper, the only daily published in Seminole County, is firmly committed to the policy of improvement and vitalization of the county form of government.

To this end we believe that one factor which would be recognized this year, as seldom before, is the participation of more Seminole voters in the election of these four commissioners.

We invite comment from the public and trust that every area of our growing county will be represented with more and more "Letters To The Editor" as the campaigns reach their peak and the pay-off Election Day in November draws near.

Opinion Sampling

One of the intriguing puzzles of the day is that everything seems to be run by surveys, but no one knows anyone who has ever been surveyed. This is a phenomenon which requires some investigation.

Every brand of detergent seems to be able to produce the results of a survey showing twice as many women prefer it to any other. A favorite newspaper feature or television show disappears because someone determined that not much of the audience was reading or listening.

Government, industry and any number of private interest groups use polls to determine what people are eating, drinking, bathing with, traveling in, wearing, deodorizing with, and looking for in the way of a spouse, boss, employee and social acquaintance. Presumably, a lot of personal information is being bandied about.

The reason few people know anyone who has been polled is that someone along the way—probably through a survey—determined that 1,500 was a reasonably accurate and economical number of persons to be included in a poll.

Thus, if an entirely new batch of raw data was assembled each week, it would take centuries to get around to any particular individual. But cheer up, with all the poll claims being made today, someone sooner or later is bound to ask your opinion, though it may be only whether you pay any attention to opinion polls. — Monroe (La.) ### "Hazardous Duty" Pay Earned

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

An American diplomat in Buenos Aires was only partly joking the other day when he compared his own job to the hazards faced in South Vietnam and suggested he should draw hazardous duty pay.

Within the last 10 months nearly a dozen diplomats serving in Latin America have been kidnapped and one, Count Carl von Spreti, West German ambassador to Guatemala, killed after the Guatemalan government rejected his kidnappers' demands for the release of 23 political prisoners.

At the 3 member organization of American States (PAS) met in Washington, D.C., the kidnappings became the first of a series of attacks on Cuban and perennial Latin dissonant with U. S. trade policies.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"We live in an area of increasing violence as a result of dissent. None of our countries is immune to it."

By unanimous vote, the members condemned the kidnappings and terrorism as crimes against humanity and urged its judicial committee to work out ways to stop them.

It was easier to pass the resolution than it would be to distinguish between criminals and legitimate expressions of discontent.

Reds Long In Cambodia

By RAY CROMLEY,
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One of the myths being recounted by those who opposed the Communist takeover in Cambodia was that the American South Vietnamese attacks on the North Vietnamese bases led to the Communist take-over of a third or more of that unfortunate country.

It's time to get the facts straight.

That same third or more of Cambodia has been Communist since the late 1950s.

For years the North Vietnamese have recruited troops, drilled troops, stationed troops and stored arms and supplies in these areas—just in the border areas which have been attacked in the campaign that ended June 20.

For years the North Vietnamese have controlled the local rice and fish trade in most of the third half of Cambodia.

By economic alliances with some of the top people of the Sihanouk government, their wives, brothers-in-law and second-cousins, for all practical purposes the North Vietnamese had effective political and economic control over most of Cambodia.

They were able to do this because 400,000 to 600,000 North Vietnamese who lived in Cambodia provided the base, the money, the expertise and the haven for these varied activities.

In a number of areas of Cambodia for the past 15 or so years.

"So what was done, grandpa?"

"Well, at first the government thought of cutting the work week to two days," said grandpa, "until psychiatrists warned them that the stress of a five-day weekend might destroy the human race. So they solved the matter by dropping the seven-day week and creating a week with only 1 1/2 days in it Monday and Sunday, a day of work, a day of rest, and no long killing weekends."

Penn-Central Troubles Eyed By Big Companies

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You may be sure that a lot of companies are eyeing the bankruptcy laws these days as they scrounge for capital with which to pay their bills.

The Penn Central Transportation Co. decision to seek protection from creditors in the law was not an isolated example. Less well known companies are taking similar action every week.

To name a few: our Season Nursing Centers, a glimmer company just a few months ago; Daily Madison Industries, a conglomerate doing more than $100 million a year; Milo Electronics, listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Each has had its individual problem and so it may not be fair to group them. But there is one generic thread: they're most flimsy these days, and it concerns liquidity.

A company is liquid when it can meet its bills—when it has assets that can readily be converted to cash to pay obligations. It has little to do with size; a candy store can be more liquid than an airline.

Many powerful companies are now undergoing liquidity strains. If not crises, and some observers believe the temptation to use Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act may become quite enticing in the best few weeks.

This is the chapter that permits a company to continue operating while it works out its finances, fully protected by the courts from lawsuits by creditors. It gives the company a breathing. And officers retain control.

Actually, not an unusual number of companies have so far taken action. Failures, in fact, are no higher than expected. Several times in the past two decades the failure rate has risen higher than at present.

Who Will Be The First?

By RICH OPEL
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida politicians played the numbers game today—jostling just for the right to qualify first.

The noon hour marked the opening of the July 23 qualifying period, and a blue-walled Capitol office was where it was happening for both candidates and so-called political observers anxious to see if 1970 batches a gaggle of Republican hopefuls in a traditionally Democratic state.

Dorothy Gillson, as chief of the Florida Secretary of State's Election Bureau, was accustomed to the problems which grow out of a candidate's desire to be the first to qualify for his political office. Her staff handed out numbers to those waiting in line when they arrived to open up at 8 a.m.

Between 400 and 500 candidates are expected to eventually register their candidacy during the qualifying period. But several of the big-name candidates have taken pains to publicize their early-bird registrations.

U.S. Senate hopeful G. Harold Carwell and his GOP nomination opponent, Rep. William C. Cramer both scheduled news conferences this morning—Carwell's at 8 a.m. and Cramer's 30 minutes later.

Following the two Republican opponents was former Gov. Farris Bryant of Jacksonville, whose name had been linked to a possible Democratic Senate primary bid for weeks.

Florida's political race are of major, even national, significance this year with many eyes on the uphill campaign of rejected U.S. Supreme Court nominee Carwell and the reelection try of controversial and flamboyant Gov. Claude Kirk.

The Republican governor's "schoolhouse door" blockade in Manatee County and his novel 1968 campaign for vice president will guarantee him national media attention on the race.

And Carwell's place in history, coupled with tough, Asnwell-like campaign tactics, also make Carwell's name a household word.

After spending 40 years studying auto accidents, J. Stuard Baker, director of research and development in Northwestern University's Traffic Institute, has come up with "Baker's Law."

"Drivers tend to explain their traffic accidents by reporting circumstances of least culpability compatible with credibility."

"That's a mouthful and means simply that if you get involved in an accident through your own fault, you will probably try to blame it on somebody else. For instance:

- If you were drunk, you may claim you fell asleep.
- If you fell asleep, you claim that a tire blew out.
- But if no tire was flat after the accident, you may say the steering or brakes failed.
- Driving while intoxicated is highly culpable, Baker explains. It is illegal and there are severe penalties. That falling asleep will be reported in preference to intoxication.

"No while not illegal, falling asleep at the wheel is also culpable, as reporting a tire blow-out is preferable to admitting falling asleep."

Baker first found evidence of his "law" when he traced that many reported "steering gear" failures occurred at night on open stretches of road, usually just after the stars and heavens closed.

If steering gears are found to fail, he reasoned, they should fail when most cars are on the road and when most steering is put on them in parking.

He thinks fewer than half the "blowouts" reported as he cause of accidents actually occurred before the crash.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It was a pleasant late afternoon in the year 2070, and little Pamela decided to do her homework.

"Will you help me, grandpa?" she asked. The old man lowered a copy of the best-selling book he was reading—"Sex Before 100 is for Children"—and asked:

"What is your problem?"

"I have to write an essay on the history of the week," said Pamela. "We only have a two-day week now, but I hear three were seven days in the week. Is that true?"

"Oh, my, yes," said grandpa. "I can remember the seven-day week quite well. My father told me that in his youth it was awful. People went to work six days, and then rested on a day they called the Sabbath. They

Miss Lalou Byers And R. K. Seaman Exchange Vows In Double Ring Rites

By MELINDA CASSELLBERRY

Miss Lalou Carol Byers, daughter of Mr. Alfred N. Byers, Clinton, Miss. and Mrs. Mary Guttridge Byers of Altamonte Springs and Randy Kenneth Seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Seaman, Casselberry, were united in Holy Matrimony, June 26, 1970 at 7:30 p. m. at the Community Unit Methodist Church in Casselberry.

Rev. William A. Pickett officiated at the candlelight double ring ceremony. The altar was adorned with two seven-candle candelabra and standing baskets of white floral arrangements accented with greenery.

Mrs. Charles Pierce, organist, presented a program of appropriate musical selections and accompanied Mrs. John Warder, who sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of her own creation, fashioned of lace over peau de soie. The empire gown featured a stand up collar and an inverted pleat forming a chapel-length train enhanced by a satin floor length bow flowing down the back and lace sleeves tapering to calla points at the wrists.

Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion fell from a headpiece of white lilies and roses of the valley. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, and daisies interspersed with velvet bows of each color of the color.

Miss Gina Balabanski, longbow, attended as maid of honor. Mrs. C. E. Guttridge, Jr., aunt of the bride from West Palm Beach served as the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Vernon Feddersen as chairman, Judy Chenet, Longwood; and Becky Clark, Maitland. Patti Anne Guttridge, cousin of the bride from Auburndale, was the junior bridesmaid.

Exhilarating repartee, characteristic of a political rally, was evident at a recent soiree of local Republicans held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Keogh.

Devoting from the usual political cuisine of fried fish, the members of the GOP enjoyed a sumptuous repast of a corn and shrimp ball, "trimmings" included potato salad, macaroni salad, coleslaw, baked beans, rolls and beverages.

While it was premature to cast votes for the political candidates, the members of the club were elected by a landslide vote as A.I. chiefs.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is over 80, recently returned a book she borrowed from me. In it I found a letter she had written to you but never mailed. My mother is a faithful reader and regards you as a personal friend. I hope you will answer in your column. Her letter:

"Dear Abby: If the traditional three-year rule were accepted as a natural law, I would be shocked at your approval of a 'mammy doll' who gave birth to a 'baby doll' said, 'A baby being born is beautiful and sacred.' I agree.

However, at the end of the letter, the writer stated, 'The toy manufacturers are not doing you young folks to keep their toys 'CLEAN'—implying that childbearing is 'dirty.'"

It is this type of hypocrisy, generated by this type of person, which is largely responsible for the confusion I feel about the subject.

We The Women: By Betty Canary

"We're moving," my husband said. His words hardly came as a surprise. After all, we are part of that group known as Mobile Americans. However when he made this announcement last May, we were to a firm decision.

"This time we are going to simplify things," I said. "Right!" he agreed. "We'll sort through all this stuff and finally get rid of our main interest. It was the moment, when our eldest began referring to the move as 'Operation: Not A Part of Me'."

While to look the dining room closet, Bob tackled the cubby-hole under the front hall stairs. "One of the other things we sent to the dump was a pair of slippers. I was a little bit embarrassed. Save. Throw Away. Salvation Army. Just as I finished, he entered the room and gave a loud, hearty cry. Digging feverishly through the box, I discovered...

Unknown to him is a real-life plot being put into effect by the IRA and the two stumble head-over-head into it. "Two Eggs" (Premiere). Once again, NBC seeks to recoup its series' plot losses by using those discarded pilots in a summer series. This one seems to have had the potential. It's a contemporary Tom Sawyer type, starring Mitch Vogel and Mark Keeney as a pair of 13-year-olds living in a small Wisconsin community. The story, about a scheme to sneak into the local movie theatre for nothing but a few dollars, is a fun, fast-paced, and enjoyable. The adaptation of George Axelrod story is far from original, but so well acted and produced, that it remains enjoyable despite its repetitive nature. Jack Lemmon stars as a confirmed bachelor who wakes up with a beautiful woman who is a beauty of a wife. Venus Lili plays the lady who is as determined to make her marriage work as he is determined to end it. The featured comedy cast includes Terry Thomas, Claire Trevor, Eddie Mayehoff and Sidney Blackmer.

10-11 CBS: The Wild Wild West. (Rerun). This familiar series returns for a summer run in Carol Burnett's spot and is aged just enough to be regarded as the return of an old friend. With all the shades of Sherlock Holmes, prancing, James West (Robert Conrad) and a Scotland Yard detective (John Williams) attend the reading of a will surrounded by every play in the book, from earlier mansion, to howling hounds, to whistling winds. 10-10 ABC: "The Loyal Opposition."

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Police authorities warn that the vacant homes of summer vacationers are tempting to prowling burglars and suggest all unoccupied homes be made to appear lived in. A house that looks occupied will be less tempting to a burglar.

The Nebraska Extension Service recommends that vacationers lock all doors and windows securely, leave blinds only partially closed, suspend routine pickups and deliveries, inform a neighbor of your itinerary and where you can be reached, have the lawn cut regularly and notify local police of your planned absence.

OFFICERS of the Deltona Public Library Board who enjoyed a splash and card party at the Arnold Packer home on Fowler Drive, Deltona were seated, Mrs. Joseph C. O'Brien, chairman of the affair; Mrs. Arnold Packer, hostess; and Mrs. John Linnahan, Standing are president, Mrs. Louis Ludwig; Mrs. John Falzone and Mrs. McLain Post, co-chairmen.

When watering the lawn it is warm, dry weather, apply water as a gentle spray, keep soil moist, but not flooded.

Jim: "The power isn't absolute. Partner can use judgment under some circumstances. Thus, after South had just a trick to the queen of hearts and chucked up the small slam, he pointed out that either seven spades or seven no-trump would breeze in without the need to bother with the queen of hearts and that since the game was match point duplicate, North should have gone to six no-trump over the six-diamond bid."

Oswald: "I can just see South explaining that North had made a strategy of nagging in order to make their mates assert their masculinity!"

That's also why the more "Nanette's" husband gives in to her, the worse she scolds. For she wants him to stop his meek acquiescence and rule the roost!

"Dr. Crane," many of these frustrated women have exclaimed, "I just wish my husband would grab me and turn me over his knee for a real spanking!"

"For I don't know what comes over me, but I just feel irritable and take it out on my loving suffering husband!"

Oddly enough, when you are hungry for meat and potatoes, you know what you crave.

But the female erotic hunger is not as specific, for women have a more diffuse distribution of erotic tissue and thus their nervous hungers are vague.

Festival Adjourns

BYRON, Ga. (AP)—The 2nd annual Atlanta International Pop Festival came to a close early today and Alex Cooley, one of the four sponsors, said he and his partners lost thousands of dollars.

They were forced to suspend admission prices of $14 in advance and $18 at the gate Friday night when thousands of youngsters stormed the two main gates chanting "Free, free-Music below us to the people."

They threatened to rip down the eight-foot plywood fence built around the 12-acre festival site. A special security force of motorcycle-riding heavy chains and wreaths was called off at the last minute.

Police said they were completely helpless in attempting to enforce laws concerning traffic safety, public nudity, protection of private property and the use of narcotics.

"This probably will spell doom for the pop festival as a phenomenon," Cooley said. "I don't see how anyone could hold one unless he has a box canyon surrounded by barbed wire, electric fences and machine guns."

At its peak, state patrolmen estimated the festival crowd of more than 200,000. However, even before the final performance got under way Sunday, many began leaving and highways were clogged for miles around.

Police said the casualties included "at least two rapes, three or four stabbings, any number of accident victims, people falling off cars and the like—and thousands of drug cases."

"I just hope they go home—or some place—now," one officer said.

Some of the youngsters offered a different assessment of the event.

"It was," in the words of one, "beautiful."

Commissioner Vihlen Opens Full-Time Office

Newly appointed County Commissioner Sid Vihlen, Jr. has decided to open an office in downtown Sanford to accommodate the constituents residing within his district and has issued a statement to this effect.

"In taking over the office and duties of the District 5 Seminole County Commissioner, I can see the ever mounting complexities involved in running the county on a sound footing as our growth spirals. With this growth factor comes greater tasks and responsibilities to those serving on the County Commission.

"In order to be most effective and gear up for increasing representation, I have made the decision to establish a full-time District 5 County Commission office in downtown Sanford.

"The office will be located at 112 Magnolia Avenue, approximately three blocks from the Court House. It will be open from 9:00 a.m. through 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday and Saturday morning 9:00 through 12:00 noon. The District 5 telephone number will be 325-5653.

"This effort will be a step in the direction of providing full-time service and a responsive relationship with the citizens I represent in District 5, and throughout the county. The concept will greatly increase effectiveness of our representation and a portion of my commission salary will be utilized to take this step.

"To my present knowledge, this is the first effort by a Seminole County Commissioner to establish an accessible, full-time district office and I feel as time goes on, with regards to our growth potential and greater representation needed relative to this growth, greater service efforts will be adopted by most Commissioners.

"Also in conjunction with my taking office, I am presently scheduling conferences with all county department heads in order to learn the nuts-and-bolts operation of each and every county department and feel it is vital that I know every facet of county operation."

At Lowest Level In 40 Months Troop Reductions Continue In Viet

By WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command said today American troop levels in South Vietnam have dropped to their lowest point in more than 40 months. The announcement came as officers met to plan a further 150,000 reduction ordered by President Nixon.

The command said the number of U.S. troops in the war zone dropped last week by 3,200 from 417,100 to 413,900. It was the fewest American troops in Vietnam since Feb. 11, 1967, when there were 412,000 Americans in Vietnam.

In Honolulu Monday a board of officers assembled to draft details for withdrawal of 50,000 more U.S. troops by Oct. 14, 1970 as the first of 150,000 men to be out of Vietnam by the spring of 1971.

The 150,000 man reduction is expected to cut American combat strength in the war zone to two divisions, military sources said.

On Vietnam fighting fronts Allied communiques reported light action Sunday. American forces killed 21 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in four scattered engagements. Spokesmen said U.S. casualties were one killed and two wounded.

The Cambodian high command said today new waves of Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas had entered Cambodia to join Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in an expected attack against the city of Kompong Thom.

The Communist troops had planned to launch their third offensive in six weeks against said government troops Sunday but were thwarted by South Vietnamese gunships which broke up an attack, the spokesman said.

"Important number" of Pathet Lao troops crossed the border from Laos and were engaged by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in an expected attack against the city of Kompong Thom.

Viet Cong Offensive Expected

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Key U.S. officials expect the North Vietnamese to launch a strong offensive before September to demonstrate their strength.

The move, authorities said, would be North Vietnam's method of saying its strength was not diminished by the two-month allied campaign that destroyed an estimated 80 per cent of the enemy's supplies stored in Cambodia.

There was no firm intelligence estimate of what form a new initiative might take but military experts suggested the possibility of widespread rocket and mortar attacks against South Vietnamese cities and military bases accompanied, perhaps, by ground assaults designed to disrupt logistics.

If an enemy offensive should develop in July or August, it would come about the time the latest round of U.S. troop withdrawals was gaining momentum.

Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander in chief Pacific, is opening a five-day conference today in his Honolulu headquarters to plan the specifics of the withdrawal of 30,000 more U.S. troops from Vietnam by mid-October.

Gen. Creighton Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, is reported to have recommended a package which would pull out some 19,000 Marines, 17,000 Army troops, 10,000 airmen and about 3,000 Navy men.

Canadian Air Crash Kills 108

By DAVID COHEN
TORONTO (UPI)—The windows rattled nastily in the modest farmhouse near Toronto Airport. Mrs. Mary Day, preparing to feed her five-month old child breakfast, rushed to a window and saw the "damned jetliner" coming almost at her house.

"It was all red and white with fire," she said. "I picked up the baby and called the dog and ran into the kitchen. I ran like a madwoman."

"It was all in flames as it passed over us. Then it came down and exploded. Just the way I had seen it on the news."

The Air Canada DC3 streamliner was attempting to land at Toronto Airport when pieces of the craft mysteriously began falling off. The engine on the right wing snapped off and smashed into the grass along the runway and flames erupted from around the plane.

The DC3, which other had just touched the runway or was inches away from a landing, suddenly climbed back into the sky. At less than 2,000 feet, it barreled toward the barley field and the homes of Mrs. Day and Sybil Burgess, who was asleep in his red farmhouse with his pregnant wife and eight children.

Allison Streaks To Win With 'Borrowed' Engine

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Junior Johnson has treated his 1967 Ford Mustang as a "borrowed" engine. He even had a little lightning on the back of the North Carolina. Now, with gray hairs and a broadening midsection, Johnson has obviously become the short-term loan specialist of the NASCAR stock car circuit.

The luckiest Fourth of July the wily Alabama ever experienced was climaxed when David Pearson's misfortune again started a wad of greenbacks into Allison's pocket. It was "Piffalls Pearson" who paved the way for Allison's victory at Charlotte. His Ford threw its clutch with a two-mile lead within sniffling distance of the finish line to allow Donnie to flash in — with Lee Roy's assist at the wheel.

Airport School Mystery Studied

By BILL SCOTT
What ever happened to that drafting school that was supposed to open at Sanford Airport in Building 3107? That's the question being asked by Airport Manager J. S. (Red) Cleveland, since there has been no communication from the Orlando-based facility after an early Spring appearance at the Sanford Industrial Commission (SIC) meeting by Larry White, director of Draftac, a school for training draftsmen.

White sought to lease the airport structure for a five-year period and after some tumult and subdued shouting over the contract negotiation, the SIC on a split vote approved a lease which allowed the school to withhold a portion of the rental fee for a period of time.

Cleveland said he had called the Orlando school several times, but has been unable to contact White. "As far as we're concerned the building is up for lease," Cleveland advised.

At a meeting in Miami this past week, a secret plan was reviewed whereby... WITHIN THE NEXT SIX MONTHS, there'll be a large overthrow of Cuba.

From The Washington Post... The OEO will NOT conduct a survey on that $58,000 grant. Remember? $46,000 to study the grant was necessary and $12,000 for the staff?

Polk's Request - All-Time High

Seminole County Sheriff John A. Polk has submitted a total $642,540.82 budget request to the county commission. This is an all time high for the operation of the sheriff's office, which because of area growth and inflation, is $151,601.82 more than the $490,938.64 approved 1969-70 fiscal year by the commission.

Polk's salary requests of $397,470 for all sheriff's office employees, except the sheriff, Polk's pay, which is tied to a state population index, calls for $16,225 salary next year. County Commission, now in the grips of an intense annual budget chopping session, is expected to hear Polk tomorrow explain his requests for $128,252 for miscellaneous expenses; $37,645 in matching funds for retirement and social security; $75,557 in capital outlay funds.

County Commission Sanlando Rock Festival Nixed

Seminole County Commissioners, at a meeting this morning, voted to deny the special entertainment permit at Sanlando Springs to Seminole Blues, Revival, Inc. The validity of the zoning ordinance that forbids the concert was tested in court, said the promoter's representative.

In a supplementary letter to the commission, the promoters of the music festival stated that they envisioned no parking problem, since they would utilize adjacent property on the east, directly across the road from the Springs, which would accommodate an additional 2,000 auto-parked spectators.

Additional charges of child abuse are pending against a Sanford father as the result of an alleged beating of his three-month-old daughter. Sanford Detective R. J. P. Russell said today that Edward Lester, who was arrested on an assault and battery warrant taken by his wife Kay after Debra Lester was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital late Friday night with face and head injuries, would probably be charged with a child abuse offense later today.

Russell said county juvenile authorities had indicated an interest in the case. Kris, county detective, had been assigned to the case. Both Kris and Russell will meet later today with Juvenile Judge Wallace Hall in a decision making session to determine what route to follow in prosecuting Lester, who is being held in the city jail after his arrest.

A written report from Dr. Gordon Stanley is expected to have a bearing on the case. According to Lt. Kris, Dr. Stanley examined the baby and took X-ray photos of the child after she was brought to the hospital by the mother. Kris reported the child had been bleeding from the mouth and had other marks, which were discovered by Mrs. Lester upon returning from the store late Friday night with milk for the child.

Kris said the mother left Debra and the other two Lester children with her husband. The mother took the child to the hospital after observing the blood coming from little Debra's mouth, and indicated the woman would be willing to sign an affidavit against her husband. The Lester's reside at 413 W. First Street.

N. Orlando Considers Massive Trailer Site

By MARION BETHA
NORTH ORLANDO — Village Council continued until July 16 at 7:30 p.m. the change in zoning classification in trailer parks from the present R-1 to the requested R-T.

The applicant, Gerstung Construction Company, proposes a "thing of beauty" rental trailer park at Hays and Moss roads to SR 454. The park will encompass 90 acres and, according to Mrs. Lee Gerstung, represents an investment of in excess of $1 million.

It was pointed out that the park will have one area for families and one for retirees, with nature trails, bicycle paths, two swimming pools, a clubhouse and all underground utilities. The mobile homes will also feature a permanent alert.

Several points of clarification were elucidated for comparison between the rental trailer park as opposed to trailer lot sales subdivision. The trailer park subdivision has a controlled mobile home size, landscaping, lawn care, controlled junk and litter nuisance, controlled sanitation, and a rigid control of undesirable.

Area Patriots 2 Local Men Saluted For Guiding Efforts

By POLLY McLAUGHLIN
WINTER PARK — Two local men deserve special recognition as patriots at the close of this unique American Holiday, Major John Fitzgerald of the United States Marines and Doctor Luis M. Perez of Sanford. Maj. Fitzgerald heads up the Marine Reserve Association in Orlando. The function of this association is training but Maj. Fitzgerald has made his unit an integral part of the community.

A marine, local or visitor, in trouble can go to the Reserve outfit for help and counseling. The family of a marine overseas will be assisted in every way possible above and beyond 'duty.'

The handsome young major is the epitome of a marine and has devoted his life to serving our country. He had a tour of duty in Vietnam but he still remains in the Reserve. He will be leaving our fair city shortly for another tour in war torn Viet Nam. The Major says he loves central Florida and hopes to return with his attractive family when his 'duty' is done.

Doctor Perez has made his unit a large impact on Florida but in such a modest and unassuming way that one can admire the man for his deeds and honor him for his humility. Just this past week the good doctor addressed a group of people at the Calvary Presbyterian Church on Lee Road. He used a shocking opening that went unnoticed until he suddenly stopped and from a dramatic silence declared: 'Your knowledge of History is lousy!'

Additional Charges Pending

Additional charges of child abuse are pending against a Sanford father as the result of an alleged beating of his three-month-old daughter. Sanford Detective R. J. P. Russell said today that Edward Lester, who was arrested on an assault and battery warrant taken by his wife Kay after Debra Lester was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital late Friday night with face and head injuries, would probably be charged with a child abuse offense later today.

Russell said county juvenile authorities had indicated an interest in the case. Kris, county detective, had been assigned to the case. Both Kris and Russell will meet later today with Juvenile Judge Wallace Hall in a decision making session to determine what route to follow in prosecuting Lester, who is being held in the city jail after his arrest.

A written report from Dr. Gordon Stanley is expected to have a bearing on the case. According to Lt. Kris, Dr. Stanley examined the baby and took X-ray photos of the child after she was brought to the hospital by the mother. Kris reported the child had been bleeding from the mouth and had other marks, which were discovered by Mrs. Lester upon returning from the store late Friday night with milk for the child.

Kris said the mother left Debra and the other two Lester children with her husband. The mother took the child to the hospital after observing the blood coming from little Debra's mouth, and indicated the woman would be willing to sign an affidavit against her husband. The Lester's reside at 413 W. First Street.

Unusual Shrimp
BRIDGEWATER, England (AP) — One of the world's most unusual shrimp farms, producing the succulent fish at three times faster than sea-bred shrimp, is operating at an atomic power station near this Somerset town.

Lt. Cmdr. Maurice Ingram, working with the Central Electricity Generating Board, is "farming" his shrimp in water warmed by the Henny Point power station. In 7 Centigrade degrees warmer than the sea in nearby Bristol channel. The shrimp, said Ingram, will be grown in 18 months. Instead of the normal three of five years they take in the sea, and they'll grow year around instead of just the summer.
