3-Car Pile-Up Leaves Six Hurt

Two persons are listed in serious condition today after a 3-car collision injured six people during a rainstorm in Longwood yesterday.

Sgt. M. W. Smock of the Longwood police said a 1966 Lincoln Continental, northbound on U.S. Highway 17-92, crossed the median strip and struck two southbound cars.

Three adults and three children were injured in the accident which occurred at about 5:30 p.m. one tenth of a mile north of State Road 434. Smock said two of the children were under four years old and were not in restraining seats as required by Florida law.

The driver of the Lincoln, John Leslie Curtis, 26, of DeLand, was listed in serious condition today at Florida Hospital in Orlando. He sustained head injuries. His 19-month-old son Daniel, who also sustained head injuries, is in satisfactory condition at Central Florida Regional hospital in Sanford. He also has an eye injury.

Wavie Green, 40, of 2370 Main St., Sanford, who was driving south in a 1978 Toyota, was listed in serious condition today at Florida Hospital in Altamonte Springs with fractures.

Mrs. Green's two daughters, both passengers in her car, were both listed in good condition today at the Orlando hospital. They are Anita Cummings, 2, and Angela Cummings, 10.

The third driver, who was southbound in a 1981 Chevrolet, Barbara Lynn Gordon, 19, of 2531 Crawford Drive, Sanford, suffered fractures and was in satisfactory condition at the Sanford hospital.

Smock said charges are pending in the accident, which is still under investigation. —Charles Cobb

Blaze Guts Home; State Seeks Cause

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Investigators from the State Fire Marshal's office were probing the charred ruins of the home of Bonnie Olvera of 188 Washington Ave., Lake Mary, today in an effort to determine the cause of the Wednesday afternoon fire.

It took the 20 Lake Mary Fire Department volunteers from 2:14 to 3:53 p.m. to bring the blaze under control.

Three of the firemen were taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital where they were treated and released. They included Lt. Dave Dovan, who was injured when part of the ceiling of the house collapsed on him bruising and dislocating his shoulder, and firefighters Ralph Locke and Don Cook, who were overcome by heat and smoke according to Lake Mary Fire Chief James C. Orloles.

Fire fighting on a hot August day (temperatures in the 90s) plus heat from blaze also felled three other firemen, who were treated at the scene for heat and smoke inhalation by Herndon Ambulance attendants.

Orloles described the Olvera house as a "total loss." He said he did not yet have an accurate loss figure, but that it would be in excess of $40,000. The house was insured.

Ms. Olvera, who is confined to a wheelchair with multiple sclerosis, was not at home at the time of the fire. She said that she left the house at 1:30 p.m. with a friend to take another friend to work and returned an hour later to the shock of finding her house totally engulfed in flames.

When the fire department first responded to the fire it was not known whether she was in the house.

Ms. Olvera's daughter said a clothes dryer was left running when her mother left the house.

The fire was first discovered by a 13-year-old neighbor boy, Brian Lane, who reported it to the fire department.

In addition to her house and furnishings Ms. Olvera lost all of her personal belongings and clothing and was left with only the shirt and slacks she was wearing. She is staying temporarily at the Holiday Inn in Sanford.

The fire chief, who is also the city's public works director, was busy this morning at the police station trying to repair a radio damaged Wednesday by a late afternoon thunderstorm which hit the area.

Lyman Roof Bids To Be Opened

Bids will be opened Aug. 18 for construction of repairs to the roof of Lyman High School's gymnasium.

The design plans submitted by architects Watson & Co., of Orlando, were approved by the state Department of Education on Aug. 4, said Benny Arnold, Seminole County schools' assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation.

Arnold said the project is behind schedule because of delays in planning how the roof repair will be done.

The gym roof was damaged during a Feb. 13 rainstorm in which several inches of water collected on the roof and then leaked through to the floor below.

An examination of the roof revealed that it had developed a sag which had caused the water to form pools. Experts hired by the School Board said the architect failed to recognize structural characteristics in the concrete used in the roof and should have predicted the failure of the roof beams.

The repairs to the roof are expected to cost more than $500,000 and will be covered by the district's self-insurance policy.

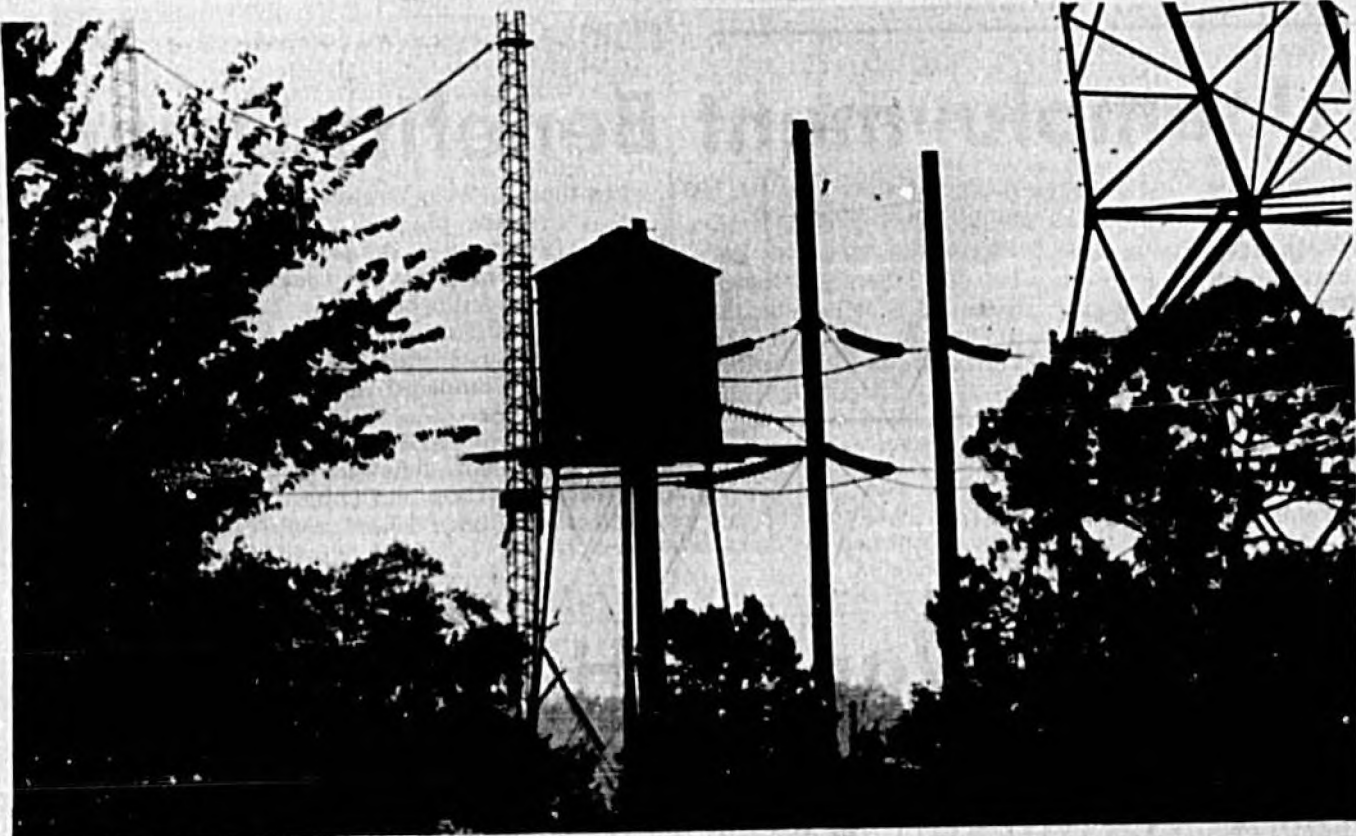

But the question of liability remains unanswered. The School Board voted to hire Watson & Co. to design the roof replacement even though it was the firm which designed the school in 1968 and over the objections of Attorney Ned J. Julian Jr. who said the School Board will probably sue the company for its part in the roof problem.

Julian said even though the architects might turn out to be blameless in the roof failure, the Board's use of them for the replacement could seriously hinder the board's court case.

But Board Member William Kroll insisted that Watson & Co. already had drawings and background information on the project and could expedite construction.

In the replacement plans, Watson & Co. has proposed using a steel beam to support the roof rather than the concrete beams which failed in the original construction.

Arnold said the new timetable for the project calls for completion of repairs to the roof and floor by the end of December. —Michael Beha

Contrasts

Lake Mary To Discuss Lots Sale, Budget

The Lake Mary City Commission at a 7:30 p.m. special meeting today will decide whether it wants to sell two city-owned lots on Seminole Avenue between 8th and 9th streets.

Lucy Paskoski has offered to buy the lots measuring 50 feet by 116 feet each for $5,560 as a new homesite.

Mayor Walter Sorenson told the commission last week that Mrs. Paskoski is also offering to pay closing costs and title insurance fees on the sale.

He said the city acquired the lots when it purchased the city's original water system some nine years ago.

At a work session following the special meeting, the commission will again discuss the city's record $1 million budget proposed by Mayor Walter Sorenson and City Treasurer Madeleine Minns.

The total proposal includes $778,805 for general operation of the city and $248,115 for the city's water and sewer systems.

In addition Sorenson and Mrs. Minns are proposing a tax rate of $4.76 per $1,000 assessed valuation, up 61 cents from the current year's $4.15.

Today's workshop is the final one scheduled on the budget prior to adoption. —Donna Estes

To Comply With State Requirement

Local High Schoolers To Get Revised Schedules

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Students at Seminole County's six high schools will soon receive copies of their schedules for the coming year, according to Karen Coleman, district public information officer.

Most students drew up their schedules before the end of the 1982-83 school term, but those schedules had to be re-done when the state Legislature increased the requirements for graduation.

"We've just about completed the monumental task of rescheduling 12,000 high school students," Mrs. Coleman said.

This year's seniors will be required to have 20 credits for graduation. But sophomores and juniors will need 22 credits to graduate and beginning with the 1986-87 school year, students will need a minimum of 24 credits to graduate.

To meet the higher standards, an extra class period was added at all six high schools for the coming year.

At Seminole High School, school officials are examining each student's schedule and making changes needed to meet the new requirements. New schedules and a letter explaining the new legislation will be mailed to students.

Schedule adjustments have been completed at Lake Brantley High School and are available during school hours.

At Lake Howell High School, schedules will be available Aug. 24 and 25 between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. An orientation session for freshmen and new students will be held at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 25 at the school.

Lake Mary High School will be mailing schedules to students. School counselor Linda Dawson said the schedules and a letter of explanation should be received by Aug. 15.

In most cases, she said, school officials were able to make adjustments to students' schedules. All seniors not previously scheduled for six classes have been contacted about class offerings and bus schedules.

Lyman High School will hold its orientation for ninth graders and new students at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Aug. 25 at the school. All other students may pick up their schedules on Aug. 26.

Schedules are available now for Oviedo High School students. School officials will be available to talk with juniors and seniors today, Friday and Monday. They will meet with 10th graders on Tuesday and Wednesday and with ninth graders on Aug. 18 and 19.

Orientation programs will be held Aug. 24 at 7 p.m. for incoming 9th graders from Jackson Heights Middle School and St. Luke's Christian School. Incoming ninth graders from South Seminole Middle School and all other new students are invited to orientation Aug. 25 at 7 p.m.

An open house is also scheduled for Lakeview Middle School in Sanford from 9 a.m. to noon Aug. 25.

All students who have not yet enrolled in school in Seminole County should contact the school they will attend or the district office for enrollment information.

IN BRIEF

Cash Registers Rang Less In July; Recovery Slowing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deprived of a Social Security cost-of-living increase, Americans slowed their buying in July despite the latest income tax cut, the Commerce Department says.

Economists said the scaled-down buying indicated the recovery may be slowing down.

Retail sales showed a 0.03 percent decline after four months of improvement. The trend was set by automobile dealerships, which reported a 1.0 percent drop.

Despite the decline in July, the level of auto sales, helped somewhat by inflation, was the second highest on record and 30.8 percent above July of a year ago.

Sales for July totaled $98.66 billion after seasonal adjustment, the department said, down slightly from June's $98.69 billion sales level.

"Consumer spending has already slowed," economist Sandra Shaber of the Chase Econometrics analysis firm said.

"It certainly does not mean the recovery is unwinding," she added. "We are still in recovery. But it is going to progress at a much slower rate."

July's slight decrease in retail sales was the first decline since February, when sales were down 1.2 percent.

Manhattan In The Dark

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 20-block area of midtown Manhattan was still blacked out today after a subterranean fire ignited by short circuits during flooding from a broken water main plunged the garment district into darkness.

The disruption began Wednesday when a 68-year-old water main broke beneath 38th Street and 7th Avenue just after 1:30 a.m.

Water flooded a Consolidated Edison power substation 40 feet underneath the streets, setting off electrical short fires.

Con Ed officials said it may be next week before electricity is restored to the Herald Square area, one of the city's busiest centers of trade.

Police, fearing looting and other crimes after dark, put an extra 500 officers in the area. Emergency generators were set up to light the neighborhoods. Subways have their own power source and were not affected. Neither was nearby Penn Station.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Thunderstorms that caused flash floods on the Las Vegas gambling strip threatened to do more damage today in Nevada and Utah as oppressive heat invading the Plains inched toward 100 degrees for the third straight day. The East and the Midwest cooled off as scattered thunderstorms pelted the area overnight. Rainy conditions were expected to continue through Thursday. Eight-foot deep flash floods in the nation's gambling capital Wednesday chased gamblers from the tables, set cars adrift and pushed mud ankle-deep in hotel rooms. Lightning that accompanied thunderstorms in the Midwest and the Gulf of Mexico left two people dead and injured several others. Lightning killed a 9-year-old boy and injured six others in suburban Chicago and killed an Atlanta attorney fishing in Florida. A college student was injured by lightning in Houston where thunderstorms flooded streets and interrupted power. A tornado that blew down a barn west of McHenry, Ill. and 62-mph winds tore through Racine, Wis. The gusts downed power lines at Monroe and Brookhead, Wis. and golfball-sized hail damaged windows at Volta. The summer's lingering heat wave, blamed for nearly 200 deaths nationwide, baked the Plains from Iowa to Oklahoma. Des Moines, Iowa peaked at 101 as the city recorded its 12th straight day of 90-plus readings. About two dozen band members marching in the Iowa State Fair parade were overcome by the heat and collapsed. Police said six of the cases were serious. Another 75 people were treated for heat-related conditions. Tulsa, Okla. baked in temperatures of 100. Columbus, Grand Island, Falls City and Lincoln, Neb. sweltered at 102, as did Concordia, Kan. But the Midwest was in for a break. "We have a drop in temperatures through much of Midwest," said forecaster Nolan Duke of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 82; overcast low: 76; Wednesday high: 92; barometric pressure: 30.15; relative humidity: 87 percent; winds southwest at 7 mph; rain: trace; sunrise 6:52 a.m.; sunset 8:08 p.m.

FRIDAY TIDES: Daytona Beach: highs: 11:55 a.m., 12:19 p.m.; lows: 5:27 a.m., 5:53 p.m.; Port Canaveral: highs: 11:47 a.m., 12:11 p.m.; lows: 5:18 a.m., 5:44 p.m.; Baysport: highs: 4:48 a.m., 4:47 p.m.; lows: 10:50 a.m., 11:23 p.m.

AREA FORECAST: Partly cloudy with a chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms through Friday. Highs near 90, lows in the mid-70s. Winds light and variable.

BOATING FORECAST: Winds from the southwest at 10 knots or less through tonight. Seas 3 feet or less.

In Longwood-Lake Mary Area

Site Being Sought For New Middle School

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County school officials are negotiating to acquire 25 acres of land along Longwood-Lake Mary Road for construction of a new middle school.

Assistant Superintendent for Facilities and Transportation Benny Arnold told School Board members Wednesday he has discussed acquiring property near Lake Mary High School for the new middle school which would serve the Lake Mary and Longwood areas.

Arnold has been negotiating with officials of Florida Land Co., which has a housing development on the drawing board, for the property. Florida Land agreed to give about 10 acres to the school district for a new school when the firm's development plan was approved by the county, Arnold said. The school board wants to buy 10 more acres and has asked the developer to donate an additional five acres for the school campus.

Florida Land Co. is asking about $22,000 per acre for the property, Arnold said, a price he called "too high."

He said the firm's latest proposal for the school site is adjacent to Lake Mary High School. The school board is committed to build a new middle school in the Longwood-Lake Mary area by a district survey which revealed the need for a school there. That area is expected to experience rapid growth in the next five years with development of Florida Land's property and property owned by Paulucci Enterprises.

The school board gave Arnold authorization to proceed with negotiations.

In other business, school board members awarded a $527,770 bid for re-roofing Lakeview Middle School in Sanford to E.C. Goldman Roofing of Winter Park.

Goldman submitted the lowest of eight bids on the project, which includes insulating the 145,000 square-foot roof at a cost of $1 per square foot. The insulation, is needed to bring the building up to state standards.

The roof will have a gravel surface to resist damage by objects which could fall or be thrown on the roof and a 10-year watertight guarantee, according to architect Laurence Derryberry.

The next lowest bid on the project was from General Roofing and Improvement of Casselberry which bid $542,950. The remaining bids ranged from $571,678.80 to $664,000.

Board members accepted as complete the Keeth Elementary School near Winter Springs. The new $2.9 million school is scheduled to open to students when school begins Aug. 29.

They also approved giving Seminole County a 25-foot right-of-way in front of the school along Tusawilla Road. County road crews will be responsible for widening the road and installing turn lanes to the school.

He said progress has been made on two schools which are still being designed.

Detailed drawings of Hamilton Elementary School which will be built in Sanford have been sent to the Department of Education for review, Arnold said. He reported that architects Daimwood, Derryberry and Pavelchak of Casselberry have been working with Sanford and Seminole County officials to work out problems with traffic flow and surveying of the property.

Detailed drawings of a new classroom addition for Lawton Elementary School in Oviedo will be presented to parents, teachers and community groups at a Sept. 14 meeting at the school.

An old building on the school's campus will be razed to make room for the new addition. Oviedo residents initially opposed the removal of the old building but now support the plan to build new classrooms there. The Lawton addition and Hamilton Elementary are expected to open to students for the 1984-85 school year.

Firefighters Felled

Lake Mary volunteer firemen overcome by heat and smoke take time out from fighting a Wednesday afternoon fire which destroyed the home of Bonnie Olivera at 188 Washington Ave., Lake Mary. Three firemen were transported to the hospital while three others were treated at the scene.

Heavy Fighting Continuing; 3 Hostages Freed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Druze Moslems shelled the Beirut airport today and attacked besieged Lebanese army units in a second day of fighting that threatened to plunge Lebanon into civil war.

The Druze militias traded heavy artillery fire with rival Christian forces and fought with Lebanese troops near the village of Kfar Matta in the Israeli-occupied mountains east of Beirut, state-run Beirut radio said.

The Lebanese army said one soldier was killed and two others were wounded. The Voice of Lebanon said two were killed and five wounded.

Christian Phallange radio said the Israeli military command ordered a ceasefire, asking "all sides to observe" it at noon, and the Druze freed three cabinet ministers who were abducted Wednesday to a mountain palace to force the resignation of President Amin Gemayel.

Lebanese Foreign Minister Elie Salem summoned U.S. officials for emergency talks on the deteriorating situation and met with Richard Fairbanks, a member of special Middle East envoy Robert McFarlane's mediation team, state-run Beirut radio said.

Lebanese government sources said the Druze attack began hours after Israeli tanks and troops, which moved into the hills around Lebanese army positions Wednesday to stop the fighting, withdrew from the troubled region.

The militiamen also shelled roads leading to the army positions east of the coastal town of Damour, 11 miles southeast of Beirut, to prevent reinforcements from reaching them. Christian militia officials said. Several hundred army regulars were pinned down east of Damour.

Applications For Unemployment Benefits Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment benefit applications dropped to the lowest number in nearly 2 1/2 years during the last week in July, the Labor Department reported today.

Assistant Labor Secretary Albert Agrisanti announced that 371,000 Americans made initial claims for regular state unemployment benefits during the week ended July 30, a decline of 16,000 from the previous week.

That was the lowest number since the week of April 18, 1981, before the recession began, when 369,900 persons applied for first-time unemployment benefits.

The seasonally adjusted data is considered by economists as a measure of job market health since it reflects people going on the unemployment rolls.

The department also reported that during the week ended July 23, there were 3,037,000 persons receiving regular state unemployment checks during the first 26 weeks of unemployment, a decrease of 65,000 from the previous week.

That was the lowest level of benefits recipients since Oct. 10, 1981, when the number was 3,028,000.

The total, however, does not include 100,000 others who received checks for extended benefits after the first 26-week period expired in West Virginia, Louisiana, and Puerto Rico, nor 850,200 receiving special federal supplemental compensation when all other forms of benefits were exhausted.

There were another 98,200 federal workers, newly discharged veterans and jobless railroad workers who also received benefits.

West Virginia remained the state with the highest rate of insured unemployment — the percent of those covered by unemployment insurance that were collecting benefits.

That state had a 6.8 percent unadjusted rate for the week ended July 23, compared to a national rate of 3.5 percent.

Pennsylvania was second at 5.5 percent, followed by Idaho, 5.2 percent; Alaska and Louisiana, both 5.1 percent; Rhode Island and Washington, both 5 percent; Maine and Mississippi, both 4.8 percent, and Oregon, 4.5 percent.

2 Caught In Altamonte's War On Hubcap Thefts

Altamonte Springs police continued their war against hubcap thieves as they chased down two suspects early today after the pair allegedly stole four hubcaps from a Pinto.

According to a police report, this is what happened: Responding to a report that hubcaps were being removed from a car parked at a residence, an officer saw a Chevrolet Monza hatchback speeding away from the area on Lavon Street at about 3:10 a.m.

As the officer followed in his patrol car, the Monza turned onto Pennsylvania Avenue and then onto Maitland Avenue where the officer stopped the car at the intersection of Springlake Street.

The officer found four hubcaps and a tire tool on the front seat of the car and arrested its two occupants. Pascale F. Oliver, 62, of 830 Turbulb Ave., Altamonte Springs, identified the hubcaps as those that were taken from her Pinto. She said they were worth a total of $120.

Charged with theft were Charles Hendricks Briggs, 21, of 707 Pennsylvania Ave., Altamonte Springs, and Frank Daniel Verdino, 18, of 619 Ivanhoe Road, Casselberry. Both men were being held in the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

Altamonte police have been plagued with hubcap thefts for several years. At one time so many hubcaps were being swiped from cars parked at the Altamonte Mall that officers staked out the area and some officers were stationed on the mall roof to watch the parking areas with binoculars. The stakeout resulted in numerous arrests and hubcap thefts at the mall sharply declined, officers said.

Blair's plea was entered at his arraignment last Friday in Seminole County Court.

Blair, a member of the Seminole County Housing Authority and the Seminole County Board of Adjustment, was accused of committing battery against his wife, Mary L. Blair, of 2012 Holly Ave., on June 26 by striking her about the arms or shoulders with his hands or pushing her on the shoulders with his hands.

The case is scheduled to be tried before Seminole County Judge Alan A. Dickey September 19.

MOVIE BREAK

A 28-year-old shoplifting suspect was arrested in a movie theater near the Altamonte Mall after he allegedly outran a security agent who was chasing him.

According to an Altamonte Springs police report, the incident began when a shoplifter took a camera from the Sears store at the mall shortly before 6 p.m. Sunday.

A Sears security agent spotted a suspect standing near a brown Mercury in the mall parking lot. When the agent approached, the suspect dropped a package he was holding and ran toward the Valley Forge apartment complex, the report said.

Witnesses said the suspect eluded the agent and ran through the complex, down an embankment and into the parking lot of the Altamonte Cinema.

When Altamonte police officers arrived at the movie parking lot, a theatre employee told them that a man who was out of breath and sweating had just entered the theater.

The officers searched the theater and found the suspect sitting down, watching the movie. The suspect was questioned in the lobby and a witness identified him as the shoplifter.

Arrested and charged with grand theft was Leon Gary Johnson of 729 Avondale St., Orlando. He was later released from the Seminole County jail on $1,500 bond.

Officers said they found the stolen camera on the back seat of the Mercury which belonged to Johnson.

BOMB SCARE

The Cardinal Industries main plant in Sanford was evacuated at about 9 p.m. Tuesday after someone called the firm and said, "A bomb will go off in one hour."

About 60 employees were evacuated for about an hour while authorities searched the building. No bomb was found and the workers returned to their jobs.

The security guard who received the phone call threat said the voice sounded like that of a white male in his 20s who spoke with a drawl, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

HIT IN MOUTH

A truck driver was struck in the mouth after two men attempted to grab his wallet after trying to steal meat from his truck in Sanford at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

The driver was delivering meat to Richard's Market, 1506 W. 13th St., when he saw two men taking meat from the rear of his truck.

He managed to recover the meat, got back into his truck and the pair tried again to remove meat from the truck. The driver tried to enter the store to call police, but the two men stopped him and attempted to take his wallet. One of them hit him in the mouth.

The driver, Carroll Edwin Lewis, 24, of Ocala, finally made his way into the store and called Sanford police.

The would-be crooks got away with neither any meat nor Lewis' wallet.

WINN DIXIE HEIST

A Sanford woman's wallet was stolen from a shopping cart where she had placed it while shopping at the Winn Dixie supermarket at 2442 S. French Ave., Sanford, at about 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Hope Kendall, 44, of 204 Haze Drive, wasn't sure how much money the wallet contained.

CAR RECOVERED

A car stolen from a Sanford man's residence was found later parked in the parking lot of the Park 'n Shop store on Sanford Avenue.

Arthur Jackson, 22, of 1712 W. 8th St., said his 1976 AMC Matador, valued at $1,000, was taken from his home between midnight and 8 a.m. Sunday.

Later a friend of Jackson's saw the car parked at the store and called Sanford police who returned to car to Jackson.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Strategic Town Falls To Libyan-Backed Rebels

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — Libyan-backed rebels attempting to overthrow the government of Chad are in full control of the key town of Faya-Largeau in the north of the country, western diplomatic sources said today.

Although Libya has repeatedly denied any official involvement in the Chad war, information ministry officials in the Libyan capital called in correspondents to announce state-run Libyan-radio was reporting the fall of Faya-Largeau. The radio was quoting the French news agency, Agence France Presse.

Ministry officials stressed the report on Libyan radio did not constitute an official Libyan confirmation of the rebel victory.

Diplomats in Chad also said the government forces retreated from Faya-Largeau under intense attack by Libyan bombers and rebel ground forces, but government officials admitted only that its forces were isolated and under siege in the strategic oasis.

Dollar Gaining Strength

By United Press International

The dollar opened higher today on most of the major European currency exchanges, surpassing record highs set at Wednesday's close in Paris and Milan. Gold strengthened.

Gold opened in London at $411.875 an ounce, up from Wednesday's close of $408.875; the morning fixing price was $411.15. In Zurich, the metal began trading at $413.50, up from $408.50.

The dollar continued its strong showing in Paris, opening at 8.21375 French francs compared with Wednesday's record close of 8.1825. The dollar began trading in Milan at 1,611.75 lire compared with the record set Wednesday of 1,606.80.

Dealers said the gains reflected an overnight surge in Europe and the United States. They said upward pressure on U.S. interest rates proved more influential than continued market intervention by the Bank of Japan.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Record Malpractice Award Wasn't Excessive—Court

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — A state appeals court has ruled that the largest medical malpractice verdict in Florida history — $12.5 million for a woman who suffered permanent brain damage — was not excessive.

However, the appellate judges on the Fourth District Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday that the $4.4 million fee awarded to defense attorney Sheldon J. Schlesinger was too high. The judges reduced it to $1.5 million.

Schlesinger represented Susan Von Steinn, a former stereo shop manager who is now comatose in a Broward nursing home. Ms. Von Steinn was taken to Florida Medical Center in Lauderdale Lakes in 1980 after an auto accident.

A week after she was admitted to the hospital, she fell into a permanent coma after her breathing machine broke down.

In March 1982, a Broward County Circuit Court jury found the hospital negligent in the case and returned the largest malpractice verdict ever in Florida — $7.5 million for lifetime medical costs and $5 million for pain and suffering.

Newsman Aids Probe

FORT MYERS (UPI) — A local television anchorwoman provided crucial information in the state's bribery investigation of a Lee County commissioner. It was reported today.

The Miami Herald reported that WBBH-TV anchorwoman Chere Avery acted as a confidential informant in the case of indicted Lee Commissioner Ernie Averill. Ms. Avery has refused to comment on her role in the case.

According to the Herald, Ms. Avery tipped authorities that Averill planned to attend a sex party in Fort Lauderdale on a yacht owned by contractor Louis Stramaglia.

Stramaglia has been indicted for offering bribes to public officials. The Herald said Stramaglia allegedly provided Averill with prostitutes in exchange for promises of assistance in winning government contracts.

Averill is scheduled to go to trial Aug. 22 in Naples on perjury charges, and in Fort Pierce on Sept. 6 on charges of accepting unlawful compensation.

AREA DEATHS

EMMA A. PEZOLD

Mrs. Emma A. Pezold, 93, of 203 Ridge Drive, Loch Arbor, Sanford, died Wednesday at home, born Nov. 2, 1889, in New York City. She moved to Sanford in 1924. She was a homemaker and a member of Upsala Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Marie Harris, Sanford; three grandchildren, Tina Harris, Sanford, Harold Harris, Sanford, and Theresa George, Seabrook Lake, Maine; four great-grandchildren. Gramkow Funeral Home, Sanford, is in charge of arrangements.

ERMA E. LARSON

Mrs. Erma Elizabeth Larson, 75, of 757 Sabal

Palm Drive, Casselberry, died Wednesday at Florida Hospital-Orlando. Born July 3, 1908, in Seattle, she moved to Casselberry from Chicago in 1971. She was a homemaker.

Survivors include her husband, Marvin H. Sr.; a son, Marvin R. Jr., Spartanburg, S.C.; a grandchild, Baldwin-Fairchild Funeral Home, Altamonte Springs, is in charge of arrangements.

Funeral Notice

PEZOLD, MRS. EMMA A.

— Memorial services for Mrs. Emma A. Pezold, 93, of 203 Ridge Drive, Sanford, who died Wednesday, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in Upsala Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Darwin Shea officiating. Gramkow Funeral Home, Sanford, in charge.

Bids For Sanford's New Health Clinic To Be Awarded Aug. 23

Bids will be awarded Aug. 23 for construction of the Seminole County Health Department's new Sanford clinic which will be built on Airport Boulevard adjacent to the Zayre Plaza.

The $1.5 million clinic will replace the facility at 9th Street and French Avenue in Sanford which county officials say is no longer big enough to accommodate its clients.

Construction is expected to begin in September and be completed by spring.

And while the new clinic will be the focus of attention during construction and opening, Dr. Jorge Deju, director of the county health department, this week called attention to the department's work in community health care.

"Over 200,000 services are provided each year at a very low cost and with significant returns to the health of this community," Deju said.

Even so, he said there are still problems to be addressed in the control of infectious and chronic diseases.

In the health department's recently-released report of activities from July, 1980 through June, 1982, a 128 percent increase in syphilis cases was reported from July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982 over the previous year. The health department reported 48 cases of syphilis in 1981-82 compared to 21 cases the previous year.

A 17 percent increase in gonorrhea cases was also reported. The report said 493 cases were reported in fiscal 1981-82 compared to 422 in 1980-81.

"Sexually transmitted diseases are so widespread that they are considered to be hyperendemic," the report said. "Estimates of incidence range from 8.6 million to 11.1 million cases annually in the United States."

The number of people using the clinics has increased from 1,562 in fiscal 1979-80 to 2,418 in fiscal 1981-82, a 60 percent increase, the report said. The number of school age children using the clinic has increased as well, up from 450 in fiscal 1980-81 to 546 in 1981-82.

The report also said that usage of other programs at the health department, including maternity and prenatal services, Medicaid screening clinics, nutrition education, dental clinics, glaucoma screening, and laboratory services also has increased.

The department's community health unit has also increased its activities. Immunization and screening services are available at five satellite clinics. Those clinics, in Lake Monroe, Lake Mary, Geneva, Midway and Goldsboro, offer the same services as the department's Sanford and Longwood facilities.

Syria Won't Withdraw Its Troops

JERUSALEM (UPI) — U.S. envoy Robert McFarlane told Prime Minister Menachem Begin today he failed to convince Syria to pull its army out of Lebanon, Begin's spokesman said.

The envoy, who arrived in Israel Wednesday, met separately with Begin and Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir to brief the Israeli leaders on his visits to Syria, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Lebanon. It was his second series of talks in Israel since arriving in the Middle East 10 days ago.

"From the report it appears that there is no change in the Syrian position regarding the process of withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon," spokesman Uri Porat said.

A senior Israeli official said the Syrians "very strongly attacked the agreement between the governments of Israel and Lebanon and refuse to recognize it."

Peoples Temple Member May Be Tried Again For Ryan's Murder

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A prosecutor who won an appellate decision on the use of "last hour" tapes of the Rev. Jim Jones says he will decide soon on whether to try again to convict Peoples Temple member Larry Layton for the slaying of a congressman.

"I've been in touch with the Department of Justice and have sent them a copy of the opinion," U.S. Attorney Joseph Russoniello said Wednesday after the decision by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

"I expect to be meeting with them in the next couple of weeks and will make a determination on retrial as soon as practicable."

The court ruled that the tapes could be used as evidence in a new trial for Layton. They had been excluded by U.S. District Judge Robert F. Peckham from his 1981 conspiracy-murder jury trial which ended in a deadlock.

Layton, 36, was accused of conspiring with Jones and other cult members to murder Rep. Leo Ryan, D-Calif., on Nov. 18, 1978, at the cult's jungle encampment in Guyana, South America. He has been free on bail since the government's appeal of the judge's action.

Ryan was gunned down along with three journalists and a temple defector, one of a dozen cultists who asked to be taken back to the United States. The defections and slaying were followed by the mass murder-suicide of 912 cultists.

The most incriminating pieces of excluded evidence were a number of tape recordings of Jones talking to his followers. One was a so-called "last hour" tape in which Jones said, "The congressman lays dead, many of our traitors are dead, they are all laying out there dead ... I don't know who fired the shot. I don't know who killed the congressman. But as far as I'm concerned, I killed him."

Cocaine Smuggling Suspect Freed In Daring Jailbreak

NEWTON, Ga. (UPI) — Two men wearing camouflage suits and carrying sawed off shotguns burst into the Baker County jail early today, locked up the jailer and freed a Florida man arrested in one of Georgia's largest cocaine drops.

Authorities, giving only scant details, said the men came into the jail at Newton about 2 a.m. and freed Stephen Earl Brown of Fort Lauderdale, who was arrested in Bainbridge last month after a high-speed chase.

Brown and three other men were arrested when they landed an airplane loaded with 300 pounds of cocaine on a road in a rural area Baker County, a small south Georgia county near Albany.

The three other men arrested and being held without bond in the case had been transferred to other jails.

The cocaine drop was the third largest in Georgia history.

Why Chrysler Bailout Worked

Advocates of an "Industrial planning strategy" continue to dance a merry jig over the survival of Chrysler. Sen. Paul Tsongas waxed pragmatic recently in The New York Times, arguing: "The challenge is going beyond ideological posturing and looking at the particular situation. 'Will it work?' should be the test. Happily, in Chrysler's case, it did."

If Mr. Tsongas means that Chrysler has not gone broke, he is telling us something true but not very interesting. That the government has the ability to pump in loan guarantees and keep a company afloat is not in dispute: France has hundreds of such corporate dinosaurs, collectively draining several million francs an hour from the treasury.

What fascinates is that Chrysler has come back so thoroughly, preparing to pay off its loans seven years early. The credit for this surprise can hardly go to the credits themselves; if people had expected a financial Phoenix act, then no loan guarantees would have been needed — or at least, once having been made, they would have produced a healthy and immediate boom in Chrysler stock. No, Lee Iacocca's surprise derives chiefly from four other factors:

- One: The decline of interest rates, cut roughly in half since the Chrysler deal was cut, and the easing of inflation, from 12 percent to about 3 percent.

- Two: Falling oil prices, a factor both in controlling inflation and in stimulating demand for cars — particularly the larger cars that are still Detroit's bread-and-butter profit source.

- Three: Deregulation. The White House has removed regulations that would have added $500 to $700 from the cost of every new car. That enabled Detroit to cut prices, offer rebates and special financing, and make a profit.

- Four: Joint concessions by management and the Chrysler unions. Management gave up perks and executive dividend plans, plus allowed officials outside the company a look at the books. Labor gave up $500 million in wages and about 60,000 jobs, reviving the company's competitive edge.

Even factor four derived only in small part from the bail-out. Had Chrysler gone bankrupt, its plants and offices would not have ceased to exist. Some bank would have loaned Chrysler the money to give it one more shot, or some company would have bought all that capital. Bank or parent company, the new owners would have imposed roughly the same deal worked out in this case in the relatively political environment in Congress.

And the first three are all key elements of the Reagan economic program, most of which Sen. Tsongas and other bail-out defenders opposed. If indeed we are to judge by the standard of "Will it work?" Mr. Tsongas has some explaining to do. It appears the real Chrysler bail-out was engineered not by Carter bureaucrats and federal loan guarantees, but by Ronald Reagan and the supply-side boom of the 1980s.

Foiling Skyjackers

The U.S. and Cuban governments and the commercial airlines still have not come up with an effective way to prevent disillusioned Cubans from hijacking commercial airliners and returning home on them.

Thus far, the Cuban hijackings have been merely inconvenient. The obedient pilot flies to Havana, the hijacker is arrested by the locals, the passengers buy Cuban rum and cigars in the airport lobby, and then the plane takes off for Miami. No sweat.

But one of these days, a real lunatic is apt to grab a plane, with disastrous results. That's why U.S. and Cuban authorities, plus airline officials, should intensify efforts to combat pirates.

Those efforts already have been considerable. Rather than indulge in diplomatic posturing and refuse to conduct any business with Fidel Castro until, say, he gets out of Nicaragua, U.S. officials have been level-headed. They realize that it's in the interest of the United States to cooperate with Castro to solve a common problem.

Castro has publicized the fact that hijackers will be, and have been, thrown in jail. The U.S. government has increased the number of air marshals who ride on commercial flights. The surveillance of passengers may be increased.

It's important to keep weirdos and weapons off the planes in the first place, but once pirates get aboard, the thing to do is deny them a safe haven. Anything that Castro can do to make his haven less safe should be encouraged.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Frankly, I don't like the looks of this!"

A really good teacher, especially a first grade one, can affect a person's entire life. Such a person is Mrs. Meredith Pickelsimer, who retired three years ago after a teaching career that spanned many years.

Thousands of children got their foundation in learning from her.

A patient at Central Florida Regional Hospital, she would probably enjoy receiving a card or remembrance from some of her former students who remember.

"Miss Pickle," as her young pupils called her, was from the old school of teaching. She was stern and loving, yet didn't spare the rod. When her young charges didn't obey or committed some infraction of the rules, she didn't hesitate to lay a paddle just one time per infraction on the place made for paddling.

Those parents whose children were fortunate enough to have Miss Pickle in first grade at Longwood Elementary School in the early 1960s will quickly recall that they were very faithful in attending Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) meetings.

In those days, the class which had the highest number of parents at the monthly PTO meeting got to display the attendance banner in their rooms and more importantly in those days, the winning class got $3 or $5 to buy something for the classroom.

Miss Pickle, knowing youngsters so well, would buy a special record or some other special thing for the excited children. And the children wouldn't give their parents a moment's peace if they failed to go to the meeting. In the 1961-62 school year, Miss Pickle's class won the banner and the money every single month all year. One of those months, however, Miss Pickle's class had to share with another class and the youngsters were thoroughly disgusted with their parents for not doing a better job.

Very inventive in her teaching methods, Miss Pickle also had a life size doll house in the front of her classroom that delighted the children.

The bottom line was that Miss Pickle was able to inspire those beginning students to achieve, to learn and to love learning. In those days there was no public school kindergarten and most first graders had not attended any kind of pre-school. They learned two year's worth and more from Miss Pickle.

Miss Pickle still remembers all those young persons she taught so much to. One of the nurses at Central Florida Regional, who is delighted with being given the opportunity of taking care of her, asked her early this week, "Do you remember me, Miss Pickle?" "Of course," she said, calling the nurse by her name. She also remembered her nurse's family and little tid-bits about them.

Miss Pickle hasn't been well for some time now and could certainly use the prayers of all those with whom she shared her dedicated career.

About Samantha And Yuri

By John P. Cregan

(Editor's Note: Mr. Cregan, a former legislative assistant to the late Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, holds a MA in Soviet and East Europe history from John Carroll University. His columns are distributed by the USBIC Writers Group.)

Summertime is, of course, a time when Americans everywhere seek ways to remove themselves from hot temperatures and life's hectic pace. Thus, during this season the news media tries to do its part to provide relief from the heat of "hard news" by producing what they call "human interest" stories.

This summer's human interest edition was the story of the vacation taken by a Maine family, the Smiths, who traveled to the Soviet Union. What made the Smith vacation so newsworthy was that it was at the invitation of its president, Yuri Andropov.

The story actually began last spring, when eleven-year-old Samantha Smith sent a letter to the Soviet president expressing her concern over the possibility of nuclear war. She promptly received a reply from Mr. Andropov in a reassuring tone designed for the public attention he knew the letter would garner. The Soviet leader "promised" he would not initiate the use of nuclear weapons and extended a personal invitation to Samantha and her family to visit his country. All the ingredients were in place for a modern-day media event.

The media did not try to deny that Mr. Andropov's letter was pure propaganda, nor were they unaware that the girl's trip would be blatantly orchestrated by the Soviets. Nonetheless, in their rush to manufacture a story, the press became willing participants in the Soviets' propaganda blitz. Samantha Smith became the victim of both.

What the Soviets failed to accomplish when the U.S. boycotted the Moscow Olympics three years ago was achieved by Samantha's visit. The perennial Soviet desire to portray Soviet life and society as happy and prosperous was effectively furthered by the American television cameras, which trailed Samantha's every step in her well-planned tour.

More significantly, the media also cooperated with the latest Soviet peace offensive. As Americans back home were still reading the hearing of President Reagan's supposed unwillingness to negotiate an arms agreement in Geneva, the little girl in Moscow was sizing up her Soviet hosts as "nice and friendly" people.

The Soviets knew that the American media would view the whole ordeal as the propaganda event that it was. But they also knew that their intentions would still be served. Samantha Smith has disappeared from the headlines. What remains of her unusual summer vacation is the impression that Soviet president Andropov made when he said that the young girl reminded him of Becky Thatcher. There will be some, to be sure who will note that Andropov once ruled over the Soviet secret police but that he has a fondness for Mark Twain.

Castro: Canny, Cautious, Committed

WASHINGTON — Fidel Castro, the unruly ruler of Cuba and the godfather of Marxist revolutions in the Americas, has been undergoing long-distance psychoanalysis by U.S. intelligence experts for almost a quarter of a century. Along with the gray hairs that are overtaking his beard, he has displayed certain changes in behavior. For instance:

- Once a boozier and womanizer, Castro has now become something of an ascetic. Vodka and rum no longer seem to give him the same stimulation. He has even cut down on his beloved cigars. And the women who once shared his private life have died. His work has become his true mistress, the psychological analysts have concluded.

- On July 26, 1953, Castro led a group of students in a dangerous, almost suicidal attack on a government barracks. The failed attempt resulted in death for most of the rebels and imprisonment for Castro. To the analysts, the suicidal nature of the attack demonstrated his willingness to take desperate risks. But he has now become more canny and cautious. At the massing of U.S. military power in Central America, for example, he began sending up conciliatory smoke signals.

- In the 1950s, Castro burst into the communist world still an unformed entity, a flamboyant figure among drab, almost anonymous Marxist leaders, an unguided missile apt to veer off in any trajectory. He chafed over the rigidity of communist dogma and bristled when the Kremlin tried to tell him what to do. But today, he is a hard-bitten, calculating communist who is regarded by the Kremlin as a most dependable puppet.

The grim communist experience, however, has not put out the fire in Castro. He remains a looming presence on the international scene by virtue of a dramatic flair and a genius for propaganda. He has a tendency to present himself to the world in a series of triumphal speeches, with rhetoric that raises the hair on the back of the neck.

The psychoanalysts admire his incredible memory for detail. He rumbles and roars for hours at a time, artfully composing his speeches as he goes, without notes or teleprompter. He has the oratorical artillery, the brains and the guile to create a great deal of mischief whenever a fortuitous conjunction of events arise.

Castro's personal life fascinates the analysts. He was born through a union of his middle-class father and the Castro family maid. He went to a Catholic school, then to university and law school, where he reportedly carried a gun and was a campus bully.

He was also something of a rake. He drank heavily, smoked great quantities of cigars and had many transient love affairs. Though he never married, he did father a son by an unidentified mistress.

Castro had at least one lasting, intimate relationship — with Celia Sanchez. She was close to him in the earliest days of the revolution, and over the years became both lover and

Nasal Birth Control

By Sharon Rutenberg

DETROIT (UPI) — Additional research on how the brain regulates production and release of sex hormones may lead to a nasal spray contraceptive within a decade, according to a University of Michigan researcher.

Dr. John C. Marshall said the key is a hormone called GnRH, for gonadotropin-releasing hormone.

GnRH is the brain's chemical messenger that regulates the pituitary gland's sexual functions, including the production and release of hormones that control sexual development and the production of eggs and sperm.

Besides serving as a birth control aid, Marshall said GnRH also could improve therapies for sexual underdevelopment and treat tumors of the reproductive system.

Marshall and colleagues developed the methods that researchers use to measure minute levels of GnRH normally present in the body. In 1979, he and Dr. Robert P. Kelch demonstrated it was possible to induce puberty by administering GnRH.

GnRH, discovered in 1971, was approved for use as a drug this year.

"Persons without sufficient GnRH never go through puberty," Marshall said at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. "But if we administer GnRH, we can produce normal sexual development. We also know that for normal sexual functioning, not only is the amount of GnRH important, but that the message must be delivered intermittently."

Every 90 minutes, the brain sends some GnRH to the pituitary gland to tell it to release and make more of the luteinizing hormone for sexual development and the follicle-stimulating hormone for production of eggs or sperm.

"Giving a patient GnRH every 90 minutes isn't very practical, so in an effort to get around this problem GnRH was chemically modified to make it more potent," Marshall said.

"A version was developed that lasts for eight hours and has to be given only three times a day."

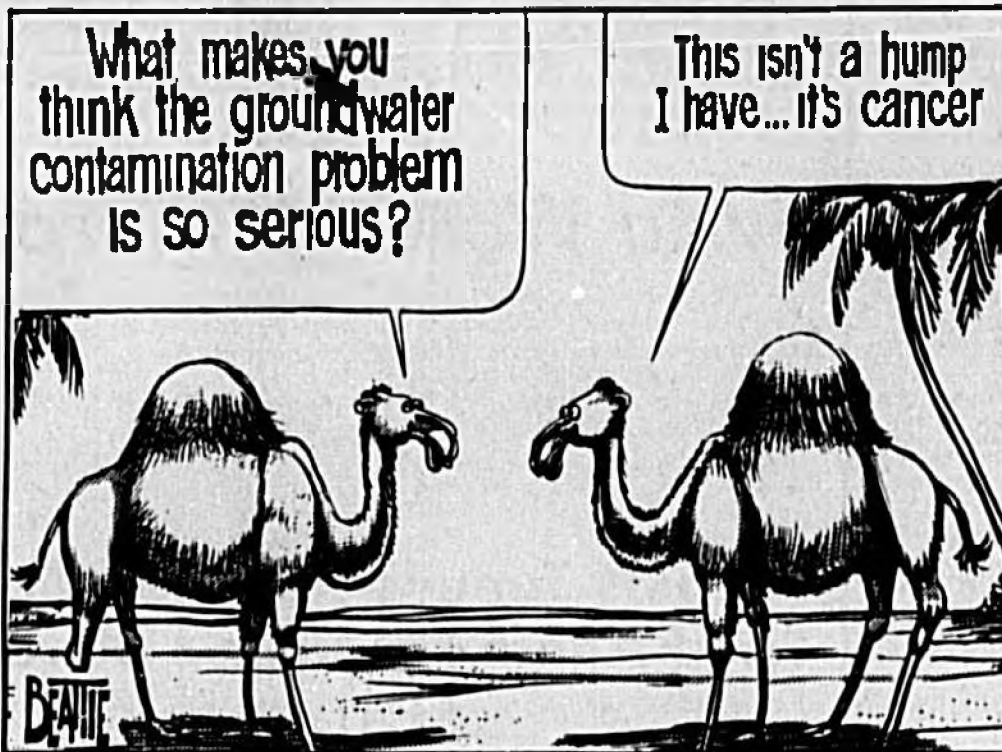

But after several trials, "a curious thing occurred," Marshall said. The pituitary gland was "switched off" by the constant high level of GnRH.

"So we have seen two different actions," he said. "Persons with too little GnRH fail to develop sexually and always remain pre-pubertal. If we give a constant high level of GnRH, however, we block either ovulation or sperm production."

"Thus a constant level of GnRH could be used as a contraceptive," he said, calling GnRH "a possible contraceptive of the 80s and 90s."

Administered as a nasal spray once a day, GnRH can block production of an egg without requiring estrogen hormones that raise the risk of blood clots, he said.

Clinical trials for a GnRH contraceptive already have been conducted in Sweden for a year, he said.

Court Against Congress

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sometimes the most innocuous court case leads to a test of major constitutional issues — as in the case of Benford vs. ABC-TV, which is now being heard by a federal judge in Baltimore.

George Benford is a Maryland insurance agent. In 1978, as part of a report on shady practices in the health insurance industry, ABC used a hidden camera to film Benford as he tried to sell cancer insurance policies to two elderly "clients."

But the two "clients" were actually employees of the House Select Committee on Aging. The committee was investigating the practice of pressuring elderly people into buying high-priced insurance, like cancer insurance, which they don't need. The committee's investigators worked with ABC reporters, and the network aired a long report while the committee was holding its hearings.

In 1979, Benford brought a $25 million suit in federal court in Baltimore, charging ABC with libel and invasion of privacy; he claimed that the report ABC aired was false and had ruined his career as an insurance salesman. Also named in the suit were a number of committee employees, including the two who posed as potential insurance buyers so that ABC could film the proceedings.

It appeared to be a fairly straightforward lawsuit — but complications arose when lawyers representing Benford subpoenaed a large number of committee documents, saying that Benford needed them to prove his case.

The committee's lawyers refused to hand over the documents, saying that they were part of the legislative files used to formulate laws and thus were constitutionally protected from disclosure. Benford's lawyers countered that the documents sought were not legislative in nature, but were communications between the committee staff and ABC regarding the filming of Benford. As such, they said, the documents were not subject to "legislative files" protection.

Benford's lawyers took their case to Judge Edward Northrop, the senior judge of the federal court in Baltimore. Northrop agreed with them and ordered the committee to comply with the subpoena.

All files of the House of Representatives are under the legal control of the clerk of the House, Benjamin Guthrie, and he was served with the subpoena to produce the files.

Northrop's position is that, as a federal judge, he has the right to determine if a file is covered by legislative protection. He had ordered that Guthrie turn the files over to the court, which would determine which documents are and are not legislative; those found not to be would be turned over to Benford's lawyers.

But the House of Representatives disagreed: In a motion passed by a 386-22 vote, the House held that it was the final arbiter of what is or isn't a protected legislative file, and it ordered Guthrie not to comply with "this unconstitutional invasion."

Northrop wouldn't take this lying down, and — in what he described as a "distasteful task" — he ordered that Guthrie be held in contempt of court. "I cannot help but express my deep and profound concern," he said, "that any member of Congress would vote in favor of a resolution which would bar evidence from a court of the United States."

But even after the contempt order, Guthrie would not produce the requested files. Northrop ordered him to pay a $500-a-day fine until the documents are turned over.

The House lawyers say they believe that this is the first time in Congress's 194-year history that any of its high-ranking officials has been held in contempt of a federal court.

Lawyers for the House who are representing Guthrie have filed an appeal with the U.S. Court of Appeals, which is now considering the case.

And so the case has become a major separation-of-powers test centering on the question, "What powers do the federal courts have over the separate and equal legislative branch?"

All concerned agree that the case raises profound issues and that it could well go to the U.S. Supreme Court for final resolution.

Acid Rain Controls Would Spark Rise In Power Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Energy Department report warns that a congressional plan to impose tough acid rain controls on a 31-state region would raise the average consumer's electricity bill in those states 5.2 percent by 1995.

The study, conducted by the department's Energy Information Administration, also said that a faster growth in demand for electricity could hike electric bills by as much as 6.4 percent in 12 years.

Environmentalists advocating strict air pollution controls immediately took issue with the study.

Bob Rose of the National Clean Air Coalition contended the report's projected cost increases "are about twice as high as other independent studies have shown."

He also argued that even if the projected 5 percent to 6 percent rise in electricity costs occurred by 1995, "That is not too much to pay for a genuine acid rain control program."

The government report found five states would be most heavily affected under the plan — Ohio, Missouri, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Those states would account for 50 percent of the projected reduction in sulfur dioxide pollution and also would experience "higher electric utility capital expenditures, higher electricity prices and lower state coal production with this legislation," the report said.

The study was based on proposed legislation to limit sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide emissions in a region that includes 26 states east of the Mississippi River and five states west of the Mississippi, plus the District of Columbia.

Under the plan, this region would lower its annual sulfur dioxide emissions from coal-burning power plants to about 50 percent of what they were in 1980.

The study also assumed utility companies would opt for the least expensive method of reducing emissions, including extensive switching from coal high in sulfur content to low-sulfur coal.

"The average electricity price for the 31 states is projected to increase 5.2 percent in 1995, due to the proposed legislation, as utilities must recover higher capital expenditures, higher fuel expenditures and increased operating and maintenance costs," the report said.

Other findings included:

—A switch to low-sulfur coal is likely to be the preferred choice of electric utilities.

—The coal industry is likely to experience large shifts in the amount of coal produced in the different regions. "In the Midwest, coal production is projected to drop below its 1980 level, and in northern Appalachia and the central west, coal production is projected to grow at a slower rate than currently expected."

—Central Appalachia and the western northern Great Plains are projected to increase their production, since the legislation benefits the producers of lower-sulfur coal.

—Large shifts in regional coal production are likely to result in major redistribution in the employment of coal miners in the affected states.

Coverage Of Boxing May Trigger Murders

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A sociologist says mass-media coverage of heavyweight prize fights may trigger some murders.

David Phillips of the University of California, San Diego, said in an American Sociological Review article that the national homicide rate briefly rises by an average of 12.46 percent after a heavyweight championship fight.

The publication is the official journal of the American Sociology Association.

Phillips, who did not analyze the details of any specific murder to determine if it was triggered by a prizefight, based his study on all homicides committed in the United States from 1973 to 1978, a period that included 18 heavyweight championship fights.

By his reasoning, a murder "followed" a fight if it occurred within three weeks after the bout.

"The major increase (in murders) comes three days after the prizefight," Phillips noted.

Homicides of young blacks increase after championship fights in which blacks are beaten, and those of young whites rise after young whites are beaten, he said.

Phillips said he chose to study prizefights because they are heavily publicized and exciting, and the winner receives large financial rewards — all factors that, in theory, might inspire violence in everyday life.

He said media coverage treats the fights as positive rather than negative events.

"No one up there is saying, 'Look at this guy, beating up the other guy — it's terrible.' If this happened on the street, he'd be arrested," Phillips said.

Working with data obtained from the National Center for Health Statistics, Phillips found that 193 more people were killed after the 18 prizefights he studied — an average of 12.46 per prizefight — than would have been during the six-year period.

The largest increase was 31.2 percent after a fight between Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier on Oct. 1, 1975, in Manila. Whereas the expected number of homicides was 82, the total was 108.

Another fight between Ali and Joe Bugner, on July 1, 1975, was followed by a 27.8 percent increase in homicides. The fight between Ali and George Foreman on Oct. 30, 1974, was followed by a 24.4 percent increase in homicides.

In a series of studies since 1974, Phillips has documented an increase in U.S. suicides and auto accidents after heavily publicized suicide stories.

Last year, he reported that fictional suicides on TV soap operas tended to be followed by a spurt in the national suicide rate. Phillips won an award from the American Association of Suicidology this year for his research.

One of his earlier studies was criticized, however. In a scholarly article published in 1981, Arizona State sociologist David Altheide reviewed Phillips' work on plane crashes and concluded that there was no evidence that the pilots had committed suicide.

Phillips replied that Altheide had studied only "a small, haphazard sample of cases" — six out of 172 crashes.

Altamonte Spells Relief P-R-O-M

Cory's Arm, Birle's Bat Lift Juniors

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

EUSTIS — Cory Prom is hitting .304. He has a 1.62 earned run average with 17 strikeouts in 13 innings. But when you compare his playing time with the other members of the Altamonte Junior League All-Stars, it pales by comparison. With such excellent credentials, you might expect the 13-year-old lefthander to voice dismay about his role.

Quite the opposite is true, however. "No, it doesn't bother me," says Prom. "I just try to do my job."

And his job is probably the most important on the team. It's a job that earns ballplayers commercials. Because when Altamonte spells relief — it spells it P-R-O-M.

The Juniors spelled it loud and clear Wednesday afternoon when Prom stomped onto the mound in the sixth inning with the tying runs on base and no outs. He promptly struck out the side and followed with an easy seventh inning to preserve Altamonte's 6-4 victory over Lake Charles, La. In the Little League Junior All-Star Southern Regional. Tonight at 8, Altamonte plays the tournament's other unbeaten, West University, Texas.

"I was a little nervous," said Prom. "But I just threw fastballs and tried to keep it down low."

Prom, a brother of former Lake Brantley football standout Rick, came on for starter and winner Jeff Hagen in the sixth after Tim Dugas had walked and John Moss singled. Hagen shook off some early inning problems to hold Lake Charles to four runs on five hits. He pitched scoreless baseball from the third through the fifth.

"Jeff was getting tired," said manager Frank Messina. "He did his job. It was time for Cory to do his."

Which he did. After falling behind John Clausen, Prom came back to get him when he bunted foul on the third strike for a strikeout. He then fanned Lake Charles starter and loser Jeff Henry on a called third strike.

The biggest obstacle, however, was yet to come as hard-hitting lefty Dwayne Darbonne stepped to the plate. Darbonne had lead off the game with a long double and also singled in a run in the second inning. Prom jumped ahead with two quick strikes, then wasted a pitch outside. Prom then pumped a shoulder-high fastball which Darbonne swung and missed to end the inning.

"After I got two strikes, I knew I could handle him," said Prom about the big out. In the seventh, Prom gave up a two-out single to Paul Green, then retired Mickey Clark on a fly ball to right field to end the game.

Altamonte's hitters, meanwhile, started in usual fashion, scoring three runs in the first inning. After Matt Lange struck out, Eric Martinez sliced a base hit to left. Chris Brock walked and Randy Green reached on an error by the right fielder to load the bases.

Ernest Martinez then bounced a one-hopper over the mound for an infield single to score his brother. With Eric Birle at bat, Henry uncorked a wild pitch and Brock dashed home, scoring with a head-first slide as the runners moved to second and third.

Third base coach Terry Hagen then flashed the suicide squeeze and Birle complied, deadening a slow roller down the third base line to score Green for a 3-0 lead.

Birle was tossed out at first by an eyelash. Matt Messina then walked, but when he tried to steal second on the pitcher, he was caught in a rundown and tagged out before Ernest Martinez could score from third.

Lake Charles bounced back with two runs in the first and two more in the second to seize a 4-3 lead. Darbonne doubled over Birle's outstretched glove in right to open the inning. Glenn Hinton drew a walk. Jerome Sullen followed with a hard ground ball near the bag at second which Scott Stiles grabbed, stepped on the base and relayed to first for a double play.

Hagen then got two strikes on Paul Green, but he responded with a soft single to right to score Darbonne. Green then took off for second and Randy Green's throw had him for the third out, but the ball rolled away from Stiles after he made the tag. A wild pitch sent him to third and Clark walked.

Lake Charles then pulled an Altamonte trick by stealing Clark, whereupon he got into a rundown allowing Green to score from third before the tag.

In the second, Lake Charles took the lead. Dugas walked and Moss dropped a bunt in front of the mound. Hagen picked up the roller, looked at second and then threw the ball over the first baseman's head, sending Dugas to third base.

Hagen struck out Clausen and Henry followed with a ground ball to Ernest Martinez at third. His throw home, though, was wide and Dugas scored to tie the game. Darbonne followed with a base hit to right to put Lake Charles ahead, 4-3.

Henry, meanwhile, kept Altamonte in check until the fifth inning. Eric Martinez walked to open the inning, Cory Prom turned in an excellent relief effort Wednesday as the Altamonte Junior All-Stars whipped Lake Charles, La., 6-4, in the Little League Junior Southern Regional at Eustis. Prom, a 13-year-old lefty, came on with the tying runs on base in the sixth inning and proceeded to strike out the side. He then breezed through the seventh to save the win for starter Jeff Hagen. Altamonte meets the tournament's other unbeaten team, West University, Texas, tonight at 8.

but was forced at second by Brock. Randy Green followed with a single and the runners moved to second and third on a balk by Henry.

Ernest Martinez followed with a hard ground ball on which third baseman Clark made a diving stop. When he got up to throw, however, he lost control of the ball and it went for an infield single to score Brock to tie the game. Birle then followed with a base hit through the left side to score Green to put Altamonte on top, 5-4. Two batters later, Hagen snapped a prolonged slump by rifling a single between short and third to put the Juniors ahead, 6-4.

"Sometimes you're lucky and sometimes you're good," said manager Messina. "We were lucky today."

We gave away some runs, but we got the runs back when we needed them."

Hagen picked up the win, his fourth in the playoffs against no losses, by going five innings and striking out three and walking five. He received an assist in the fourth when shortstop Jimmy Waring made a nice play on a slow roller by Darbonne with a runner on second. Prom then retired six of the final seven hitters, striking out four.

Tonight, Messina said he would go with lefty Greg Ebbert while West University, Texas, which whipped Eustis, 6-3, will counter with its ace, Mark Waite. Game time is 8 p.m.

Wade, Texas Stifle Eustis, 6-3; Louisiana Ousts South Carolina

By Chris Plater
Herald Sports Writer

EUSTIS — Robbie Wade turned in a sparkling relief performance and West University, Texas broke a 3-3 tie with three runs in the bottom of the sixth as the Texas state champions disposed of host Eustis, 6-3, Wednesday night in the Little League Junior All-Stars Southern Regional.

Wade came on in the top of the second inning after West U. starter, Chris Burris, was tagged for three runs and four hits in the first two innings. Wade came in with a runner on third and no outs and proceeded to strike out the next three hitters to end the inning. Wade shut out Eustis the rest of the way, picking up 11 strikeouts in six innings of work.

West University now goes on to a winner's bracket final tonight at 8 against Altamonte while Eustis plays a 5:30 loser's bracket game against Lake Charles, La. which stayed alive with a 5-0 blanking of Anderson, S.C. in Wednesday night's second game. Anderson was the first team to be eliminated from the tourney."

"Coming in to the tournament, we knew Florida (Altamonte) would be the team to beat," West University manager Lee Howell said. "We want this game bad and we'll be ready for them. We're going to come out a lot more aggressive than we were tonight."

West University has saved its ace, righthander Mark Waite, for tonight's game while Altamonte will go with southpaw Greg Ebbert.

Eustis, which drew a bye into the tournament and had not played a game up until Wednesday night (while the other teams played 11 or 12), came out swinging and took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first. Totch Mabry and Mike Young both walked to lead off and, with one out, Eric Buxman singled to left to load the bases. One out later, Russell Ettinger ripped a clutch single to right to drive in Mabry.

Eustis made it 3-0 with a pair of runs in the top of the second, knocking Burris out of the game. Mike Hicks drew a walk to lead off and Bo Wilkins, the ninth hitter in the lineup, rapped a double to left to put runners on second and third. Mabry followed with a RBI single to center to chase home Hicks and send Wilkins to third. Burris' first pitch to Mike Young bounced in front of the plate and went to the backstop and Wilkins rambled home for a 3-0 Eustis lead. Wade then came on for West U. and struck out the next three hitters to end the frame.

West University stormed back with two runs in the bottom of the second off Eustis starter Hicks. Alex Allgood reached on an error to lead off and, with one out, David Cromack punched a single to right to chase home Allgood. Ronnie Klaus followed with a flare single to right and Cromack and Klaus then pulled off a double steal to put runners on second and third. Ralph Bucy followed with a RBI groundout to cut Eustis' lead to 3-2.

After three scoreless innings, West University came up with an unearned run in the bottom of the fifth to tie the score at 3-3. Waite reached on an error to lead off and Eustis then lifted Hicks and brought in Ettinger. The first man to face Ettinger, Charlie Gasper, ripped a double to right to put runners on second and third. Allgood followed with a sacrifice fly to right field to send Waite home with the tying run.

After Wade got Eustis in order in the top of the sixth,

West University put the game on ice with three runs in the bottom of the frame. Klaus led off with a walk and went to second when Bucy tapped back to the mound. Chris Finley then dropped down a sacrifice bunt and Ettinger's throw to first was wild as Klaus scored what turned out to be the winning run. Wade then sacrificed Finley to second and Waite followed with an RBI double to right center. After Waite stole third, Gasper drilled a RBI single to left center to give West U. a 6-3 lead.

Eustis threatened in the top of the seventh, but came up empty, leaving the bases loaded as Wade struck out Mike Price to end the game, the 13th straight tournament victory for West University.

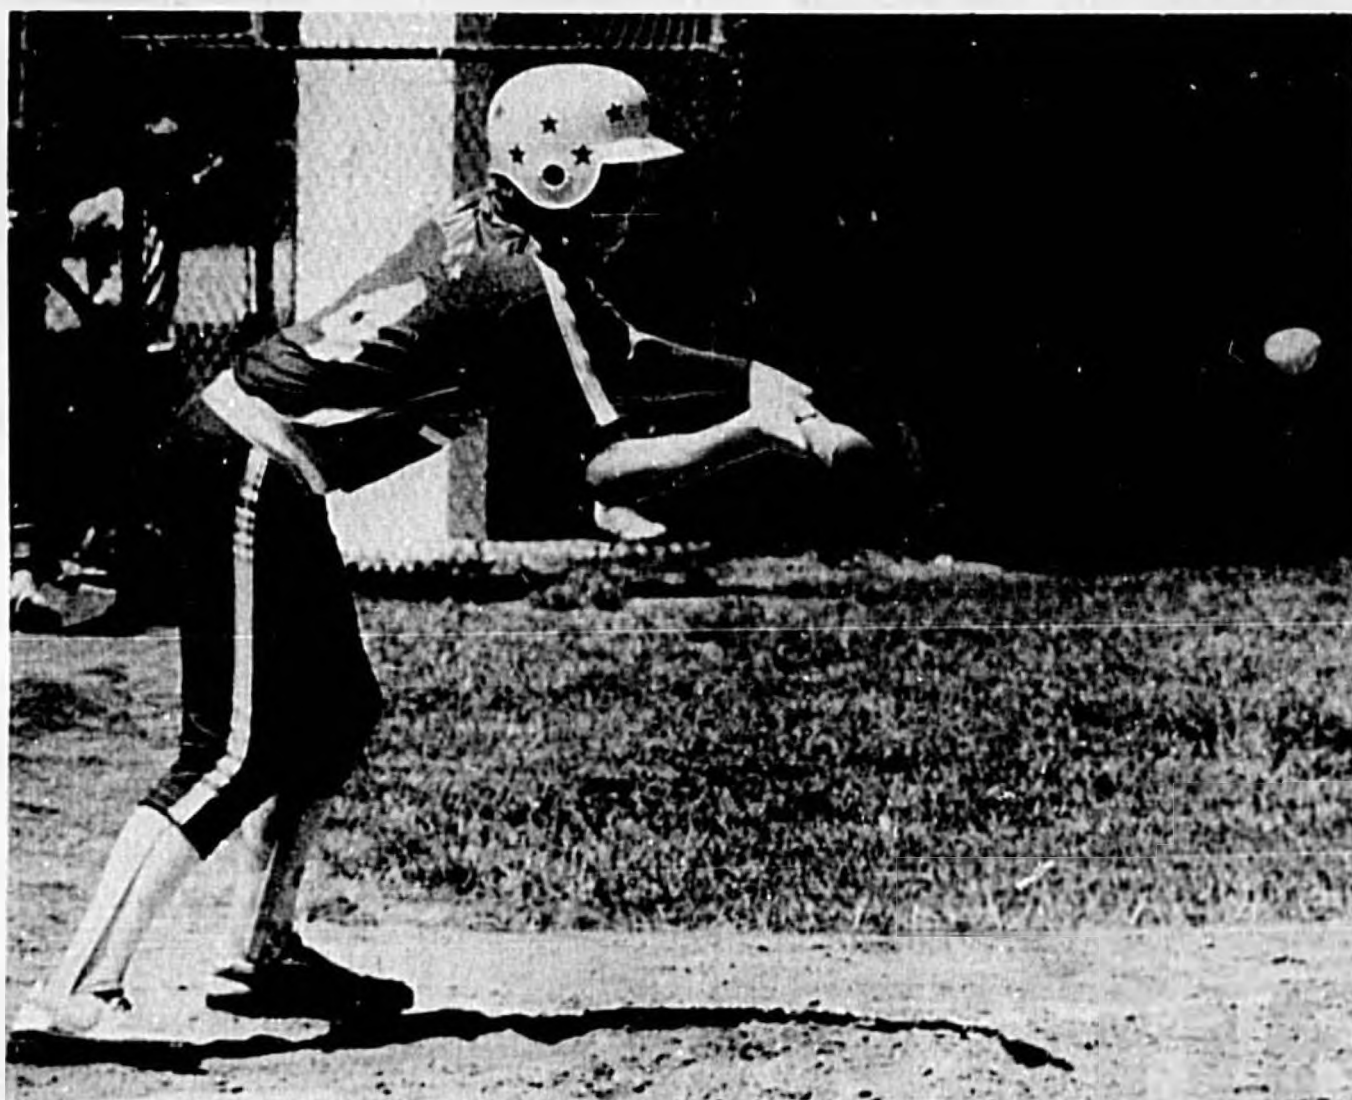

In Wednesday night's second game, Chris Brown scored on a perfect squeeze bunt by Jeff Henry to give Lake Charles, La. a 1-0 lead in the fourth and Glynn Hinton did the rest as he hurled a six-hit shutout to lead Lake Charles to a 5-0 victory over Anderson, S.C.

Hinton retired the first 10 Anderson hitters in order and, except for threats in the fourth and seventh innings, was in complete control. Hinton gave up six hits, but he didn't walk any.

Lake Charles scored its first run without even getting a hit as Brown drew a one-out walk in the fourth, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on a passed ball, a scored on Henry's squeeze bunt.

Anderson's John Clapp had a no-hitter going through four innings when Paul Green broke up the no-hit bid with a three-run double in the top of the fifth. Mickey Clark followed with a RBI double to break open the game as Lake Charles took a 5-0 lead.

Anderson loaded the bases with no outs in the bottom of the seventh, but came up empty as Hinton struck out Chad McCurley, got Steve Hopkins to pop up to first and got Preston Jones to bounce back to the mound to end the game.

Eric Birle puts the squeeze on Lake Charles, La. Birle, Altamonte's right fielder, drops a perfect squeeze bunt to score Randy Green from third base to give Altamonte a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Birle later drove in the winning run with a single to left. Altamonte plays West University, Texas tonight.

District 14 Needs 1 Win

DELAND — The District 14 All-Stars are one win away from the Big League World Series in Fort Lauderdale.

The All-Stars, a collection of Oviedo, Maitland, Eustis, Orlando and Mount Dora players coached by Oviedo's Howard Mabie, need a victory at 10 a.m. today against the winner of Wednesday night's Kentucky-Niceville game to earn the berth in the World Series. A loss sets up a 1 p.m. championship game.

District 14 advanced to the title game with a pair of wins this week. Monday night, Oviedo's Darren Reichle and Mount Dora's Todd Auckland combined on a five-hitter as the All-Stars dropped Charleston, W. Va., 5-2. Reichle, who will be a senior at Oviedo, struck out two and walked four over the first five innings to pick up the win. Auckland nailed down the save with two innings of one-hit relief.

Eustis' Dewayne McLeod was the hitting hero with a triple and a single.

In Tuesday's 2-1 nine-inning victory over Niceville, the Florida state champ, Auckland and Maitland's Dave Menusch turned in the strong mound performance. Menusch, who attends Seminole Community College, went the first seven innings before turning over the reins to Auckland who picked up the victory.

Oviedo's Chris Kessinger ignited the winning rally with a double down the left field line. Dean Hazen, a 6-5 225-pound West Orange product, was next up. Hazen had tripled earlier in the game, so with first base open, Niceville opted to walk him.

After a brief huddle with Mabie, though, Hazen foiled the strategy by reaching for one of the wide pitches and singling to center field. Kessinger went to third on the play and scored when Hazen's brother, Brent, singled over the center fielder's head to win the game.

Indian Hex Continues To Plague Orioles, 4-3

United Press International

Only General Custer had more trouble with the Indians than the Baltimore Orioles.

If the Orioles miss out on winning the American League East pennant, they can point to the Cleveland Indians as one of the major reasons why.

The Indians completed a three-game series sweep at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium Wednesday night, defeating the Orioles 4-3 behind the six-hit, nine-strikeout performance of Lary Sorensen.

Okay, so the Orioles have lost five in a row and the Indians have won four straight. But that doesn't explain how the Indians took the season series, 7-6, and swept a three-game series at Baltimore for the second time in two years. It was also the third time in four years that Cleveland has taken the season series from the Orioles.

"Some clubs just play better against some clubs," said Indians Manager Pat Corrales. "We ended up the season 7-6 against them, but before the series started it was in their favor."

Sorensen, 6-9, walked only one and achieved a career high in strikeouts in pitching his fifth complete game of the year and besting Mike Boddicker, 8-6.

"I doubt if Nolan Ryan and Steve Carlton are worried," said Sorensen, referring to the major leagues' two all-time leading strikeout artists. "It was very unusual and very surprising. I didn't have anything in the bullpen warming up before the game. Everything I had was up. But when I got in everything stayed down."

"I had an excellent slider and was getting ahead in the count."

Cleveland took a 1-0 lead in the first. With one out, Alan Bannister hit the first of his three singles, stole second, advanced to third on Pat Tabler's single and scored on Andre Thornton's fielder's choice.

Cleveland grabbed a 4-0 lead in the fourth. Gorman Thomas walked and scored on Ron Hassey's double to right. Hassey moved to third on a groundout and came home on George Vukovich's suicide squeeze bunt. Toby Harrah followed with a single, stole second and scored on Bannister's single.

The Orioles scored three runs in the fourth on Ken Singleton's three-run homer. Dan Ford doubled and, one out later, Lowenstein walked. Singleton then hit a 1-1 pitch for his 13th homer of the year.

Elsewhere in the AL, New York defeated Toronto 8-3. Milwaukee blanked Kansas City 4-0, Boston downed Texas 4-2. Seattle defeated Oakland 7-5 and Minnesota defeated California 4-1. Chicago at Detroit was rained out.

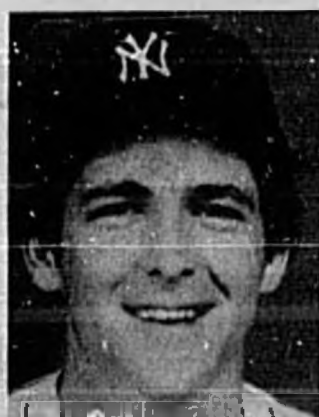

In National League games, St. Louis topped Chicago 9-5 in 13 innings. San Francisco downed Atlanta 7-4. Montreal beat New York 5-3. Cincinnati whipped Los Angeles 9-2. Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 4-2 and Houston nipped San Diego 4-3 in 14 innings.

Yankees 8, Blue Jays 3

At New York, Dave Righetti scattered nine hits over seven innings for his 13th victory and the Yankees scored six runs in the fifth inning to make things easy for the left-hander. Jim Gott, 6-10, lasted 4 1-3 innings in absorbing the loss.

Bill Gullickson

Dave Righetti

Brewers 4, Royals 0

At Kansas City, Mo., Moose Haas threw a three-hitter and Paul Molitor supported him with his 14th home run and an RBI double to give the Brewers the victory. Haas walked one and did not strike out a batter while improving his record to 10-2 with a personal high sixth straight victory.

Red Sox 4, Rangers 2

At Boston, Tony Armas hit his 25th home run, a three-run blast in the eighth inning, to lead the Red Sox to victory. Bruce Hurst, 9-8, scattered eight hits over eight innings, struck out three and walked none in notching the triumph. Bob Stanley picked up his 22nd save.

Mariners 7, A's 5

At Oakland, Calif., Ron Roenicke hit a three-run homer and Spike Owen collected two RBI with a double and sacrifice fly in helping the Mariners snap a three-game losing streak. Matt Young, 9-11, with help from Bill Caudill and Ed Vande Berg over the final 1 2-3 innings, won his first game in nearly a month.

Twins 4, Angels 1

Gary Ward, Dave Engle and Gary Gaetti homered to lift the Twins to victory. Bobby Castillo scattered 10 hits in going the distance for the victory while Geoff Zahn took the loss.

Giants 7, Braves 4

Darrell Evans drilled a three-run homer in the ninth inning to lift San Francisco over Atlanta Wednesday. Evans' blast — his 23rd of the year — came off left-hander Terry Forster.

Reds 9, Dodgers 2

Dann Billardello knocked in four runs and Bruce Berenyi tossed a five-hitter as Cincinnati dropped Los Angeles.

Dodger starter Burt Hooton (8-6) failed to survive the fourth inning when Billardello socked a two-run homer. Berenyi picked up his sixth win in 17 decisions.

Expos 5, Mets 3

Tim Lincecum singled home two runs and Bill Gullickson won his fourth straight game as Montreal trimmed New York, 5-3.

Raines' hit produced the game-winning RBI — his 10th of the year. Gullickson, who improved to 11-10, also doubled and scored three times. He struck out one.

Phillies 4, Pirates 2

Steve Carlton struck out 10 batters and Joe Lefebvre tripled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning to lift Philadelphia. Carlton, 11-11, picked up his 296th victory as Philadelphia erased a 2-1 Pittsburgh lead with single runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings.

Cardinals 9, Cubs 5

St. Louis stopped an eight-game losing streak when Ozzie Smith delivered a two-run single in the 13th inning at Chicago.

David Green drove in five runs to help reliever David Rucker improve his record to 3-1.

Astros 4, Padres 3

Dickie Thon's two-out homer in the bottom of the 14th inning lifted Houston to a win over San Diego.

Thon ripped his 16th homer and 12th game-winning RBI off loser Luis DeLeon (2-4). DeLeon struck out the side in the 13th and retired the first two hitters he faced in the 14th before the blast.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Herring Joins Carter At South Dakota College

Tim Herring, a starter in the defensive backfield for the past two years at Seminole High School, will continue his football career at South Dakota College in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Herring will join former Seminole teammate Butch Carter, who played for South Dakota College last fall. Former Tribe defensive coordinator Hank Daviero was instrumental in getting Herring the opportunity.

Herring and Carter will leave Friday and begin practice on Monday.

Tribe Cross Country Begins

Cross Country practice for Seminole and Lyman teams will begin Monday, coaches Ted Tombros and Joe Laughlin announced today.

Tombros' Fighting Seminoles will begin at 4 p.m. Monday at Seminole High. Past performers and new recruits should assemble near the gymnasium.

Lyman, meanwhile, will begin practice at 6 p.m. Monday. Laughlin said runners should bring all "proper paperwork" at this time. Runners should congregate at the football stadium.

Seminole Start Monday

Seminole High football coach Jerry Posey announced the practice times for varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams Wednesday.

The varsity will begin practice Monday with sessions at 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. "We've contacted just about everybody," said Posey. "But if there are any new kids in town, they should get a hold of me at the school (322-4352)."

Junior varsity and freshman practices will begin Monday, Aug. 22 at 3 p.m.

Saban At SYSA Clinic

With full rosters and prospects of a good season ahead, the Seminole Youth Sports Association will hold its annual preseason football coaches clinic Saturday, Aug. 13 at the Sundance Lounge at Altamonte Springs at 10:30 a.m.

Featured guest speakers include new University of Central Florida football coach Lou Saban and Don Trawick, veteran referee of the Central Florida Officials Association. A local orthopedic surgeon will also speak on proper conditioning for youth sports.

Practice begins for SYSA players on Aug. 22 with the 1983 SYSA Jamboree slated for Saturday, Sept. 17.

Any questions regarding the program should be directed to Lilla Stresen-Reuter at 869-7972.

World Track, Field Resumes Friday

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — Two world records, the true emergence of a present and future king, and a hint of what is in store in the track program at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics highlighted the opening four days of the World Track and Field Championships.

The meet resumes Friday after a day off today.

Jarmila Kratochvilova, the Czech middle-distance star who set a world 800-meter record in June and took the gold in that event Tuesday, became the first woman ever to break the 48.00-second barrier in the 400 when she clocked a world-best 47.89 and erased East German Marita Koch's 48.16 mark set last year.

But it was the second record — in the men's sprint relay — which had the crowd yelling in joy, witnessing a dramatic piece of track history inspired by its present and future king — Carl Lewis the 1st.

Bucs Make Selmon The Highest Paid Defensive Lineman

By United Press International

Still stinging from quarterback Doug Williams' defection to the USFL earlier this week, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers announced Wednesday that All-Pro defensive end Lee Roy Selmon has signed a two-year contract extension and a renegotiated contract for 1983.

The new pacts make Selmon the highest paid defensive end in pro football.

Terms of the renegotiated contract were not announced, but an NFL salary list published earlier this year listed Ed "Too Tall" Jones of the Dallas Cowboys as the highest paid defensive end in 1982 at $255,000. Selmon's salary for 1982 was listed as $183,000.

The 1982 figures were compiled by the NFL Players Association and did not include signing bonuses, performance clauses or other contractual obligations such as deferred payments. Neither were they adjusted to show what the players actually earned during last year's nine-game, strike-shortened season.

Selmon, 6-foot-3 and 250 pounds, was the first college player drafted by the Bucs when they joined the NFL in 1976. He has anchored what has become one of the top defenses in the NFL.

A former All-America from Oklahoma who won both the Outland and Lombardi Awards in 1975 signifying the best lineman in college football, Selmon has been named to the Pro Bowl four straight times since 1979.

He has been named to the All-NFC team by UPI in four times, was UPI's NFC Defensive Player of the Year in 1979 and has been named NFC defensive player three times by the players association and NFL defensive player of the year in 1979 by the

Buyers Prefer U.S. Products To European Imports

Luxury Cars 'Still King' Of The American Road

DETROIT (UPI) — The large luxury car is "still king" to Americans, who prefer Cadillacs and Lincolns over European autos when it comes to choosing luxury cars.

High-priced, top-of-the-line cars have increased their market share steadily in the past few years despite the industry's recession. Now that sales are improving, luxury cars are selling better than ever.

In the first six months of 1983, sales figures from Ward's Automotive Reports show luxury cars grabbed 6.4 percent of the car market, up from 5.8 percent in the same period last year.

This translates to sales of 252,368 cars compared to 213,922 in the first half of 1982.

"The larger car is still king," said Ford Motor Co. analyst L. Raymond Windecker.

Cadillacs make up 144,649 of the 1983 sales or more than half of the total. Lincolns make up 48,319 sales. The top selling imports are Mercedes, with sales of 34,598 in the first six months and BMW, which sold 25,802 autos.

Much emphasis has been placed in the past few years on "downsizing," even of luxury cars, and improved fuel economy. Most European luxury cars are barely the length of a mid-sized American car.

But the nation's top selling luxury car is the full-sized Cadillac DeVille, which costs around $22,000. In second place is the Lincoln Town Car, which costs about $25,000.

Big, expensive cars like this Lincoln Continental are still popular with American motorists.

Despite a sluggish economy, sales of top-of-the-line cars are up .6 percent over last year.

The top selling foreign luxury car is the BMW 320i, which has been replaced by the 318i for fall. At a price of around $14,000, the 320i is a bargain compared to the top American luxury sellers. The second ranking foreign luxury car is the Audi 5000.

Although American cars come out on top in the luxury race, Windecker said he did not think this is because of a "Buy American" attitude.

"I don't think it really has anything to do with national loyalties," he said.

"The American buyer is not brought up in a social and economic atmosphere that leads him to buy domestics simply for the sake of the country. A luxury car still means a big car to a lot of people" and European luxury cars simply are not large cars, he said.

The typical luxury car buyer is generally older than the average car buyer, Windecker's statistics show. Luxury car buyers generally are around 53 years old compared to about 40 years old for the total industry average.

A luxury car buyer's family income is around $52,000 while the family income of all car buyers is $30,000.

The luxury car field is more male-oriented than the overall industry. Women comprise 28 percent of the principal operators of luxury cars against 37 percent total industry.

Luxury car owners have smaller families, averaging 2.75 people. This compares to small car owners, who have families of an average 3.1 people and mid-sized car owners with 2.9 people.

"This is a phenomenon: you have an older person with a high income and the least number of people in their family owning the biggest cars," said Windecker.

Mob Money Driving Up Cost Of Living For The Rest Of Us

MIAMI (UPI) — Organized crime money is pouring into Florida and driving up the cost of living for law-abiding citizens, members of a state commission studying money-laundering says.

The commission is looking for ways to halt the flow of illegitimate dollars into the Sunshine State without discouraging foreign investment.

Dexter Lehtinen, a commission member and state representative from Perrine, said the cost of housing has jumped significantly because criminal investors will pay top dollar for real estate.

"We've had testimony that the price of single-family homes in south Florida went up as much as $3,000 a year over the past few years due to criminal investments," Lehtinen said.

"It's the rape of the public's funds," said commission member Robert Dempsey, also the commissioner of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement. "The average citizen doesn't understand that he's paying more (for) his market basket."

Testimony was given to the commission this week by state Attorney General Jim Smith, Dempsey, U.S. Customs Agent Dennis Fagan, Assistant Attorney General Gary Conover, and James Nursey, director of criminal investigations for the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

"Law enforcement is seriously stymied in its efforts to obtain information on money flow, which is critical to the development of criminal cases against organized crime," Nursey said.

But he warned that the new powers he is asking for do not mean "we should have carte blanche and be able to go into anybody's record at any time."

Nursey said organized criminals use Florida real estate to hide money earned in illegal activities and funneled through foreign banks.

"These organized criminals, understandably, cannot immediately invest this illicit cash in Florida real estate," Nursey said. "They will establish, therefore, a corporation in an offshore island where secrecy laws prevent (authorities) from determining the identities of the corporation's (actual owners)."

"We want Florida to remain a leader in international investment, but we don't want to wake up one day and find that drug money is running the show and pushing honest people under," said Smith.

The attorney general's commission was established because the 1983 Legislature killed a bill that would have required foreign corporations to disclose their shareholders when purchasing property in Florida.

Lawmakers decided such a law would discourage legitimate foreign corporations from investing in Florida.

Author: Early Training Can Boost Kids' IQ

By Sharon Rutenberg

CHICAGO (UPI) — Parents can help raise their children's intelligence level permanently by using early learning techniques with 3- and 4-year-olds, says author Joan Beck.

This may involve teaching toddlers a second language or reading skills at home.

Mrs. Beck, a Chicago Tribune editorial writer and best-selling author of "How to Raise a Brighter Child," points the way in her recently published "Best Beginnings: Giving Your Child a Head Start in Life." (Putnam, $14.95).

"It was the thing that was missing when I had my own children — because I saw in them an eagerness to learn which is not generally acknowledged in books for parents," the author said in an interview.

She said studies show the Japanese have raised their IQ levels 11 points since World War II.

"A tremendous amount of attention is paid to early learning in Japan," she said. "If they're building better brains in their people, this is really serious and we really need to pay enormous attention to these ideas."

Parents are a child's first and most influential teacher. "They're a loving dimension. We've often confused learning with sitting still in a classroom."

"Children sort of have an innate, built-in desire to please their parents. So they're also more receptive to the learning parents provide than they would be from somebody else."

"Instead of seeing themselves as someone who changes diapers and spooning cereal, (parents) see themselves as really a guide to child development. And the response they get — a real excited, interested feedback from a child when they do these things — makes parenting more rewarding."

Language learning is an example.

"Children really do it at an incredibly young age (between 3 and 4). And they do it primarily with the parents' help."

"In pre-school years, they could learn a second language without an accent."

"It is interesting that in our society we have postponed learning a second language, almost uniformly, to high school years. There's an enormous amount of evidence that shows the brain does not acquire a second language (later) as easily — or permanently."

Mrs. Beck said children must also be given many things to manipulate.

"These don't have to be toys," she said. They can be household items a child can handle freely around the home without danger, such as cooking utensils and sturdy adult tools.

Planning for substitute care is important for working parents, Mrs. Beck added.

"It's very important to find a caretaker who is interested in language stimulation and finding ways to provide it. It is important to train a babysitter in early learning techniques."

"I am aware of lots of babies who are left with caretakers who aren't as interested and certainly aren't as well educated as parents themselves. I think it's a great hazard."

She said some mothers leave their children with non-English speaking women or women who turn to child care because they cannot get other jobs.

"I've seen in some of the franchised day centers that the caliber of staffs is quite poor."

Parents working 10 hours a day — five days a week — do not have enough time with young children, she said, but she sees very little risk for mothers who want to work or keep on their career track with part-time, 20 hour work weeks.

"I think it's good for everybody because 24-hour-a-day child care is awfully hard for parents," she said.

As women become more important in the workforce, Mrs. Beck said, they should insist on changes making it easier to fulfill other obligations and interests.

Miss Greene, W. G. Rape Repeat Vows

Laura Ann Greene and William Gregory Rape were married July 16, at 7 p.m., at Grace United Methodist Church, Sanford. The Rev. William Boyer, church pastor, and the Rev. Comer Woodall of Montgomery, Ala., performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony. Soloist was Mrs. Paula Porter of Boswell, Ind.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Greene, 116 E. Jinks Circle, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Rape, 2445 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal candlelight organza gown fashioned along the empire silhouette designed by Angelair. Pearled Alencon lace framed the high neckline and lace encrusted with pearls covered the fitted bodice. The long sheer fitted sleeves were of pearled Alencon lace on English net and featured tiny covered buttons at the wrist. The A-line skirt, bordered with a wide band of scalloped lace, cascaded into a graceful chapel train. Her waltz-length veil of illusion, featuring a scalloped edge and enhanced with re-embroidered lace motifs, was held by a matching lace cap embellished with pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of ivory mini carnations showered with baby's breath and ivy.

Renee Gutilla attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a gown created by the bride's mother who also made the bridesmaids' gowns. Fashioned of soft peach georgette over matching crepe de chine, the gown featured pleats in the front and back, ruffles around the neck and wrists and a matching sash. She carried a bouquet of ivory mini carnations, ivory snowflake pompons and peach baby's breath with a matching headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Sherrie G. Willman, sister of the bride, Madison, Ala.; Mrs. George (Pamela G.) Patterson, sister of the bride, Monticello, Minn.; Mary Ellen Greene and Karen Williams. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

David Wiggins served the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were Pat Schirard and Dennis Cress. Groomsmen were Robert Rape, Stephen Rape and David Rape, brothers of the bridegroom, and Tom Cress.

Stacey Armondi was the flower girl and Daniel Holtzapfel, the ringbearer.

Following a reception at the Garden Club of Sanford Inc., the newlyweds departed on a honeymoon trip to Bar Harbor, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory Rape

They are making their home in Decatur, Ga., where the bride is employed as a secretary and the bridegroom is a sophomore at Emory University School of Dentistry, Atlanta.

Among the other out-of-town wedding guests were: George Patterson and Emily Jo Patterson, the bride's brother-in-law and niece, Monticello, Minn.; Mrs. Eula Greene, grandmother of the bride, Appalachia, Va.; Mrs. Beulah Collier and Mrs. Marie Blevis, the bride's aunts, Big Stone Gap, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Berry, aunt and uncle of the bride, Roanoke, Va.; Greg Berry and Timothy Berry, cousins of the bride, Silver Springs, Md.; and Chris Cornish, Bath, Maine.

Sertoma's Charity Night Aids Deaf And Blind Boy

The presentation of a check for $4,000 to the family of 7-year-old Jake Allen highlighted the Tuesday meeting of the Longwood Sertoma Club.

Jake is an Orlando boy, both legally blind and deaf who recently has had several surgical procedures to implant and connect special coils in his ears, allowing him to hear sound for the first time.

Raising funds to help offset the costly medical care to the Allen family was one of the purposes of a Charity Night sponsored last month by the Longwood Sertoma Club. The event, held at the Maitland Civic Center, raised funds for Jake and for Camp Endeavor, a camp for hearing-impaired children.

The presentation of the check to Jake's parents for a special trust fund at the Sun Bank was made at Duff's Smorgasboard, SR 436 in Altamonte Springs.

Additionally, $1,000 has been donated to Camp Endeavor to sponsor two camperships and to assist with other needs of the program.

Camp Endeavor is the only summer camp program for hearing impaired youngsters in the southeast United States. Established in 1975, it has been a "traveling" camp, with youngsters being taken to cities and attractions across the state. As of next year, however, it will be permanently located in Auburndale.

Funds raised from Charity Night have also been earmarked for the purchase of a Telex Data system for a person or family in the Longwood area. This communication system is hooked into a telephone and allows hearing impaired persons to communicate with the outside world.

Nationwide Search On For 'Face'

Ultima II and Columbia Pictures will be joined in their nationwide search for "The Ultimate Face" by Robinson's of Florida as sponsors for this area's preliminary regional contest. Screen tests for contestants, 18 years and older, will be held in Robinson's Altamonte Mall store on Thursday, Aug. 25, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Friday, Aug. 26, 2 - 7 p.m.; and Saturday, Aug. 27, 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Each contestant will receive a cosmetic makeover by a beauty advisor prior to her screen test, and her $10 entry fee for the competition can be applied later to an Ultima II cosmetics purchase in Robinson's.

The regional winner, who will be chosen by a panel of celebrity judges, will be Robinson's guest for a "Full Day of Beauty" in addition to becoming a contender for the national title.

The national winner of "The Ultimate Face" contest will appear in an upcoming Columbia Pictures film and will receive an all-expense paid trip to Hollywood.

Reservations for makeovers and screen tests can be made by calling (305) 830-1211, extension 132.

Moody Named As State AFA Man Of Year

Samuel B. Moody of the Apple Valley section of Altamonte Springs, was honored at the Air Force Association's State Convention held in Orlando on July 30, by being named the "Man Of The Year" by the 10,000 members of the State of Florida.

He was also elected "Man Of The Year" by the 1,200 members of the Orlando Chapter and was awarded the Exceptional Service Award by the more than 210,000 members at the national level.

Major Gen. John Muench of Longwood was awarded an Air Force citation for outstanding leadership; Col. Bill Rice was awarded an Air Force citation for exceptional achievement.

Orlando was named Chapter of the Year for the State of Florida. Moody was awarded for starting two new chapters of AFA in a 2-month period and bringing many new members into the various chapters and for his work on the Veteran's Administration Advisory Council appointed by Congress and in helping veterans.

Battered Woman Reaches Point: Enough Is Enough

DEAR ABBY: I am dating a very beautiful and sensitive woman who has been beaten by her father, brothers, ex-husband and boyfriends. She is 42, and I am 38. When we started going together (a year ago), she promised that I would be the only man in her life.

Last week she admitted to having had sex with three other men while going with me. I forgave her, then I found out that a fourth man had given her a lobster for Mother's Day. Knowing that a man doesn't give a woman a lobster for nothing, I questioned her and she admitted she had had sex with him, too. I became upset and jealous and unintentionally sprained her wrist and yanked her hair.

She said my actions had hurt her more than all the fractures she had received from all the other men put together, and she never wants to see me again.

Since this was the first time I ever did anything like that, don't you think she should give me another chance so I can prove it will never happen again?

NEEDS HER

DEAR NEEDS: Not necessarily. A woman who has been battered as much as your ladyfriend reaches a point where she finally says, "Enough!"

Any woman who continues going with a man who has physically abused her once can expect a repeat performance unless he gets professional help and learns to control his anger.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old

Dear Abby

girl, and my problem is my house. You see, we live in a middle-class neighborhood, but my parents aren't as wealthy as everyone else. Our house is falling apart, but we can't afford to fix it up, and it really is a disgrace.

I'm losing all my friends because I'm too embarrassed to invite anybody over. They keep inviting me to their houses, but I can't ask them back because I don't want them to know I live in a dump.

Please help me before I lose all my good friends. Sometimes I feel so bad I just burst into tears.

BURSTING IN BUFFALO

DEAR BURSTING: Would you drop a good friend because you discovered she lived in a "dump"? True friends judge you on what you are, not the kind of house you live in.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "For Better or for Worse," who discovered after being married for 38 years that her husband was having an affair with a young woman, was right on, Abby. And a belated thanks to you.

Several years ago, my husband had an affair that put me in the deepest depression. I wrote to you and you advised counseling. I took your advice, and because of it and the help and support of my family doctor I came out of that horrible experience a better, stronger and happier person. We will soon celebrate our 30th wedding anniversary.

THE WINNER

DEAR ABBY: When two men and a woman ride together in a car, should the two men sit in front and let the woman sit alone in the back seat?

Or should the man who isn't driving sit in the back with the woman, and let the driver sit alone in the front?

CURIOS IN WHITE BEAR LAKE

DEAR CURIOS: This is no "gender bender." Gone are the days when the men sat in the front and the women sat in the back. Today, the woman could be driving, with either one or both men in the back.

For Abby's updated, revised and expanded booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages — send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Publicity Procedure

The Herald welcomes organization and personal news. The following suggestions are recommended to expedite publication:

1. Releases should be typed (lower and upper case), double spaced, and written narrative style (third person).
2. Do not abbreviate.
3. A contact person's name and phone number is necessary.
4. Keep releases simple.
5. Organization releases (the program should lead the meeting account) must be submitted no later than two days after the event.
6. Advance notices should be submitted one week prior to publication date.
7. Photographic coverage requests should be made one week in advance.

Jennings Joins Solo Fliers On Evening News

By Julianne Hastings
 UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — ABC's decision to name Peter Jennings sole anchor of its "World News Tonight" completes the set for the latest battle of the networks — three experienced gladiators of the same generation going at it on their own.

ABC News President Roone Arledge Tuesday announced that effective immediately Jennings was sole anchorman and senior editor of the network's early evening news broadcast, leaving the future of co-anchor Max Robinson undecided.

The decision pits the 45-year-old Jennings against 51-year-old "CBS Evening News" anchor, Dan Rather, and NBC's 43-year-old Tom Brokaw, who will become sole anchor of "NBC Nightly News" beginning Sept. 5.

It also marks the end of Arledge's five-year experiment with a three-anchor format.

Soon after he was named president of ABC News in 1977, Arledge decided to have the network's early evening news show anchored from three cities. Frank Reynolds was named Washington anchor; Jennings got London, while maintaining his position as chief foreign correspondent, and Max Robinson was assigned to Chicago, from where he anchored domestic stories.

When Reynolds became ill earlier this summer, Jennings was called in to take his place in Washington. When Reynolds died unexpectedly July 20, a decision had to be made on what route to take with the newscast.

On July 26, NBC made a surprise announcement that it was dropping its Washington anchor, Roger Mudd, from "NBC Nightly News" and going solo with Brokaw, who is based in New York.

CBS over the past 13 years has had consistent ratings success with its solo anchor format and, in announcing Mudd's re-assignment as host of "NBC White Paper" and as senior political correspondent, NBC News President Reuven Frank said it was felt that "the anchoring of 'NBC Nightly News' should be done in New York and not split between two cities."

Jennings, who still is anchoring from Washington, will transfer to New York in December.

Robert Frye, executive producer of "World News Tonight" said Arledge's decision to go with a single anchor was "straightforward" and had to do "with the dynamics of the tri-anchor."

"Frank had really come up as the identifiable anchor," he said, "while Peter built up a solid base overseas."

The three-anchor format initially was established, Frye said, because when Arledge first took over ABC News, "he had a feeling there was not at that time an individual he felt would stack up against (then-CBS anchor) Walter Cronkite and (then-NBC anchor) John Chancellor."

While Brokaw and Rather come from Washington backgrounds as network newsmen, Jennings has been seasoned overseas.

Jennings, a 45-year-old Canadian citizen, previously served as sole anchorman for ABC's evening news in 1964, when he first joined the network.

"I was solo anchor at the tender age of 26, before I got honest," Jennings said in an interview. "I clearly wasn't ready. I was overwhelmingly under-qualified."

"ABC was trying to appeal to a younger audience and the finger got pointed at me," he said. "At the end of three years it became clear that that was not the way to become first-rank journalist."

Jennings went back into the field as a national correspondent, covering a wide field of domestic stories from 1967-69, when he was assigned to Rome.

A year later he was sent to Beirut, Lebanon, where he established ABC's bureaus there.

The Toronto-born son of a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation vice president, Jennings served as a news and public affairs correspondent for the Canadian Television Network prior to joining ABC News.

He was named chief correspondent in London in December 1975 after serving a year as Washington co-host of the ABC morning program.

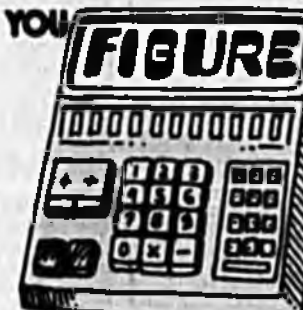

The terms of Jennings' salary as sole anchor have not been disclosed.

An ABC spokesman said Robinson was in contract negotiations with the network, "and we are in constant communication with him regarding his future role." Robinson, who was on vacation, was not available for comment.

Frye said the decision to base the anchor in New York by no means meant there would be a diminution of editorial input from all networks. "Only two people in reporting are leaving Washington, Jennings and one writer."

"The decision to use New York was based on a combination of things," Frye said. "New York is the communication center for all networks. All resources end up here. ABC headquarters are here. All the people Peter deals with are based in New York."

"The executive producer has always been in New York."

Falsely Blamed For Japanese Car Imports

By Leon Daniel
UPI National Reporter

DETROIT (UPI) — Vincent Chin, starting up at the man who had just battered him to the pavement with a baseball bat, whispered, "It's not fair."

The 27-year-old Chinese-American draftsman died three days later. Less than a year after that, his killers walked free.

Many of Detroit's 33,000 Asian-Americans still are outraged by the killing they attribute to racism.

They cite it in charging that Detroiters who blame hard times in Motor City on automobile imports from Japan sometimes vent their rage on any Asian-Americans, who — to them — resemble Japanese.

The Justice Department announced Thursday a federal grand jury will meet in Detroit early in September to decide whether Chin's civil rights were violated.

Chin was killed following a fracas on the night of June 19, 1982, at the Fancy Pants Club, a topless bar in blue-collar Highland Park where he went with friends to celebrate his impending marriage.

Charged in the slaying were two white men, Ronald Ebens, 43, an auto worker, and his stepson, Michael Nitz, 23. After pleading guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter, they were fined $3,000 each and freed on probation.

In explaining the lenient sentence, Judge Charles Kaufman said, "We are talking here about a man who has held down a responsible job with the same company for 17 or 18 years, and his son who is employed and is a part-time student. These men are not going to go out and harm somebody else."

Racine Colwell, 24, a stripper at the club, told the Detroit Free Press the fracas started because Ebens mistakenly believed Chin was Japanese.

Ms. Colwell said she heard Ebens tell Chin, "Because of you, little mother——, we're out of work."

Fists flew and chairs were thrown before Chin was fatally battered outside the bar with a Louisville Slugger that Ebens had removed from a car trunk.

Low Profile

Until the Chin case, Detroit's Japanese-Americans comprised a silent as well as small minority, maintaining a low profile in a city where anti-Japanese feelings run high.

James W. Shimoura, an attorney, has decided to speak out against the unfairness of the hostility toward himself and other Japanese-Americans, as well as other Americans of Asian descent.

"It's unfair," said Shimoura, whose father served with the U.S. Army in World War II. "People who are Asian in appearance have become targets for what is wrong with the auto industry. The campaign against Japanese imports by government, industry, the unions and the media has had a negative effect on Americans of Asian ancestry."

Shimoura objects to the bumper stickers and fiery rhetoric which he contends fray tempers and prompt harassment of persons of Asian descent, particularly those who dare to drive Japanese imports.

"It's wrong to permit the campaign to be conducted in this way," said Shimoura, who listed incidents of drivers of imported cars being forced off roads and their vehicles vandalized.

Blamed

"It's like in pre-war Germany when the Jews were blamed for all the economic problems," said Shimoura, who would like for the press, government, industry and labor officials "to state clearly that Americans of Asian ancestry are not to blame for our current economic problems."

Shimoura said Chin's killing caused many of the estimated 2,700 Japanese-Americans in the Detroit area — who generally have well-paying professional jobs and do not have much contact with blue-collar workers — to identify with others of Asian descent and their problems.

"The Chin case has given the Asian community a point of focus," Shimoura said.

Kaz Mayeda, head of the committee on reparations for Detroit's Japanese-American Citizens' League, was among those herded into internment camps when World War II broke out.

Mayeda believes current harassment of persons of Asian descent in Detroit has been "sensationalized" by the press.

"This happens in all big cities," said Mayeda, a biology professor at Wayne State University. "Because we are visible, we get it. We expect it. I still tell my Japanese-American friends on the West Coast that Detroit is a damn good city."

Mayeda does believe Chin's killing was a "direct result of propaganda."

He said that "derogatory statements" about Japanese imports by the United Auto Workers union "makes people hot under the collar but, 99.9 percent of the UAW members are decent people."

If "anti-Japanese propaganda" does not stop, Mayeda said, "we may have to start carrying guns and baseball bats ourselves."

Japanese-Americans also are critical of American car manufacturers' "dishonest criticism" of Japanese imports which fails to acknowledge their own relationships with Japanese firms, which provide for importation of cars as well as parts.

Elaine Prout, born in Detroit to Japanese-American parents and president of the Japanese-American Citizen's League, said, "Some people in Detroit can't seem to understand that we are just as American as they are. It's irritating to be told to go back to Japan when I've never even been there."

Mrs. Prout, a high school teacher, said, however, "I drive a Toyota and I haven't had any problems because of it."

She said her 80-year-old father "told me I shouldn't have bought a Japanese car. My father is an American citizen but he still doesn't feel he is equal."

Agnes H. Bryant, director of the Human Rights Department in a city that is predominantly black, said Detroiters of Asian descent are protected from discrimination by federal, state and local laws and regulations.

"The incidence of harassment of Asians is low but even one incident is one too many," said Ms. Bryant, who is black. "Any incident is important to the person concerned."

She said the vigorous protest over the Chin case "may deter future overt discrimination" against persons of Asian descent.

The Kyoto is just one of many restaurants in the towering Renaissance Center that dominates Detroit's skyline, but it is the only one that is Japanese.

Worry

Asked if he worries about anti-Japanese sentiment in Detroit, manager Koji Watanabe said, "I'd be lying if I said I didn't worry about it. Let's face it. The problem is there."

Watanabe said business had improved in recent months.

"We get a lot of junior executives from Ford, Chrysler and American Motors in here for lunch," said Watanabe, who added that he personally had never been harassed in the six years he has been in Detroit.

Outside the 73-story Westin Hotel, the world's tallest, a Japanese steel salesman from Tokyo told a reporter he was willing to chat but not to identify himself.

"Our business is very competitive," said the man who whose job is to sell steel products to the American automobile industry.

He said he personally had not been harassed on his visits to Detroit but he knows Japanese colleagues who have faced hostility and verbal abuse in the city.

Helen Zia, a Chinese-American who has helped publicize the Chin case throughout the United States, feels threatened.

"I'd feel uncomfortable driving an American car in Detroit," said Ms. Zia, who told stories of other Asian-Americans who have been harassed by angry Detroiters.

Mrs. Zia said she had been shocked when a Detroit civil rights leader, a black, told her that if Chin had been of Japanese rather than Chinese descent, "You wouldn't be getting all this support."

Contact Lens Wearers Alerted To Bogus Safety Bulletins

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Health Editor

Contact lens wearers should ignore bogus safety bulletins that claim eye damage results when electrical sparks strike the plastic lenses, a leader of the nation's eye specialists said in an interview.

Dr. Oliver H. Dabiezis, chairman of the contact lens committee of the American College of Ophthalmology, said the fake warning has turned up on company bulletin boards in plants across the nation.

"I became really alarmed in the last few days about the hysteria from this," he said. "It's now crossed the Atlantic."

"I had two calls, one from a doctor in England and the other from an ophthalmologist in Italy, asking me about the 'epidemic of blindness' in America among contact lens wearers who work with equipment producing electrical arcs or sparks."

Welders are such people. "I want to defuse the current hysteria because we also are getting reports that people who wear contact lenses are not being hired for jobs where they might be exposed to high heat or sparks from equipment used."

"They are being discriminated against," Dabiezis, a professor at the Tulane University School of Medicine in New Orleans, said he was on a team of academy experts that investigated similar reports more than five years ago.

He is dismayed to see the reports circulating anew.

"The current alert, which is being displayed on company bulletin boards apparently is based on distortions of incidents that occurred in 1967," said Dr. Bruce E. Spivey, the academy's executive director.

"Investigation showed the incidents which supposedly caused blindness in workers wearing contact lenses have no basis in medical fact."

Recently, the academy said, the bogus fliers circulated among workers in the United Auto Workers union, the Civil Service Employees Association, the Baltimore Police Department, the Maryland Department of Transportation and the Air Force.

Dabiezis said the bulletins claim that heat or sparks from the electric arc welding caused the lens to fuse to the cornea. When the workers tried to remove the lenses, the cornea or window of the eye was torn out and blindness resulted.

"This couldn't possibly happen," he said.

"The hard lenses are made of Lucite or Plexiglas, a kind of plastic that is very heat resistant. A person would have to stick his head in a blast furnace to get one of those to melt."

"The soft plastic lenses, 50 to 80 percent water, couldn't be involved in the kind of incidents alleged either. Heat would simply make them evaporate."

An actual incident believed to have started the false safety bulletin episodes involved a welder at Bethlehem Steel Corp. in Baltimore, the eye specialist said.

The worker wore contact lenses and industrial safety glasses when he plugged a welding unit into a 440-volt service line. The electrical switch box exploded.

The welder did not remove his contact lenses for at least 12 hours after the incident. He sustained large corneal ulcerations but his vision returned to normal within a few days.

Dabiezis and Drs. Robert Crossen of Grosse Pointe, Mich., and Elliot Blay of Bluefield, W.Va., ran down that report and others some years ago, finding no basis in fact for them.

They said two ophthalmologists who treated the welder reported that the electrical flash had no part in causing the injury. They attributed it to neglect by the patient, absence of elementary precautions and wearing contact lenses too long.

Spivey said recent bulletins give detailed accounts of suspected injuries recently sustained by industrial workers in Pittsburgh.

In both cases, the bulletin claims, microwaves produced by the electrical arc or spark dried up fluids between the eye and the contact lens, causing the lenses to fuse with the corneas of the workers' eyes, resulting in permanent blindness.

"On returning home from work," the bulletin claims, "the workers removed the contacts and the cornea of the eye was removed along with the lens."

Ultraviolet light produced by arc welding could produce corneal burns and ulcerations in an unprotected eye, Spivey said, but it would not be sufficient to cause serious damage.

"Spokespersons for Duquesne Electric and United Parcel Service have stated that no such accidents ever occurred at their facilities," the academy said in its warning about the bogus bulletins. It urged companies to remove them from bulletin boards or from further circulation among workers.
