

Grove Survives Leg Injury To Pitch Baseball Again

By ARNOLD DERLITZKI
AP Features

CHICAGO—For a fellow who was told last July that he might never pitch again, young Orval Grove is having himself quite a time in the majors.

The 23-year-old prospect of the Chicago White Sox farm system has won seven straight games without suffering a defeat in what may be his first full season of big league pitching. And he seems to get better as he goes along. On his last outing he came within one out of a no-hitter. Joe Gordon spoiled his masterpiece with a double after two men had been retired in the ninth, but Grove went on to win, 1-0.

Thwarted by knee injury

The big right hander made his major league debut last year but it was cut short in mid-season after he had won 4 games and lost 6. A recurrence of an old knee injury involving torn cartilage caused the interruption. An operation followed and he was told by doctors it was unlikely he ever would be able to pitch again.

But all six feet and 195 pounds of the young and handsome Grove can be very stubborn, as 1943 American League batsmen are fast discovering. "I like all sports and I love baseball," he said, "so I decided to risk another operation. I had it in December. There were no immediate indications that the results would be favorable. I took long walks to strengthen the knee, finished out the year working in a car plant and reported for Spring training with the Sox."

Grove's Spring conditioning was gradual and without incident, he related, but Manager Jimmy Dykes refrained from assigning him much work even after the season was well under way. In fact the Sox were so dubious about his possibilities that he was assigned to one of those $1 a year contracts.

Was On Relief

In the first month and a half of the campaign he appeared in four games, all as a relief hurler, and only once did he work as long as two innings. Two more relief jobs followed, one of which he converted to victory, and on June 6 Dykes let him start his first game.

The fast baller pitched eight impressive innings against Boston and let 11 go into the ninth before weakening.

Thereafter Grove started seven games, finishing all but one. Two of the wins were shutouts and in two other games the opposition got but one run. In his last three games he has allowed but nine hits and only two runs.

"I'm doing nothing greatly different from last year," Grove says. "It's just that I can come low on my left leg now knowing that my weight and movement are not likely to bring pain."

"My biggest trouble last year was arthritis, probably because of my knee, but that has cleared up, too."

Grove doesn't give all the credit for his 1943 success to the operation.

Muddy The Spotter

"That Muddy Ruel (White Sox coach and pitching diagnostician extraordinary) is a credit to Grove said. "He's straightened me out plenty."

"Something very simple can throw a pitcher off just like a golfer at his game," Ruel told Grove. "He'd watch you on a couple of minutes' ball and that's all he needs to know."

Ruel calls Grove a pitcher with "unlimited possibilities" and "Can Mix 'Em Up."

"He doesn't have the speed of Tommy Bridges," Ruel says, "but he does have a will to get selections of pitches and he doesn't have to stick to one thing."

Dykes opined: "He's got the makings of a great pitcher. In fact, I'll go so far as to say he'll be a great pitcher."

Sinking The Enemy

Grove, single for most of his military service record, says of his knee says he has had considerable success this year with his "sinker" ball.

The way batters attack the pitch into the dirt and the five double plays he has pitched in behind him in the Sox rotation in St. Louis in his first year with the Sox executed the plan.

Paraphrasing a line from "The Third Man" which he had read in St. Louis, Grove says he has "kept Grove from being a Hall of Fame."

"It was a sinker on him," Grove said. "If I got it away from him, he wouldn't have pitched it and it might have been different. But it was a good pitch I wanted it low and it was wa-the fact, too that in 22 times at bat he has batted in seven runs and scored six all on five hits; also of a bunt against New York that squeezed in not one, but two runs.

This is Grove's sixth year in pro ball. He Sox picked him up after he pitched a no-hitter for Proviso, High School of Maywood, Ill., a Chicago suburb. He started with Longview of the East Texas League in 1938 played two seasons with Oklahoma City and most of 1941 with Shreveport where he won 17 games and lost 7. Floridians are warned by School Superintendent E. L. Robinson points out that there is no such requirement and no one has been authorized to solicit. School officials and parents in other counties are cautioned to be on guard.

Among the comforts and conveniences that will be available in post-war homes will be some of the things described by engineers of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Heating, Refrigerating and Air Conditioning Company as the ability to heat any room or portion of a home at a certain temperature, maintaining heat only where needed, rather than heating the entire house. Installations could be made, they say, if material were available. Such heating would be particularly desirable in Florida, it was pointed out.

Ready Made Patty Shells

using Southern SANDWICH BREAD

TOASTY PEACH DESSERT

This inexpensive dessert has many virtues. Not only does it offer an unusual use for fresh or canned peaches, but the toast cups, made without the fruit, are a wonderfully attractive substitute for patty shells for serving creamed meat or vegetables.

6 slices of bread
6 peach halves
2 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter or vitaminized margarine

Trim crusts from bread, and butter both sides lightly. Press into muffin pans to form cups and place a small peach half in each. Sprinkle with brown sugar and bake at 400 degrees 10 minutes or until bread is brown. Serve hot.

F. D. R. Warns Harborers Of Axis Leaders

President Wants To See That Enemy Heads Receive Just Punishment

WASHINGTON, July 30, (AP) — President Roosevelt issued a virtual ultimatum today to neutral nations, warning against their aiding or harboring any Axis leaders who try to escape from their countries. Such leaders are going to get their just deserts, he said.

Dr. Paul Schmidt head of the press department in the German foreign office, said Thursday that President Roosevelt's speech Wednesday night convinced him that "Washington's sole aim is annihilation of the National existence of the big European powers and their allies."

The Nazi official's comment, the first German reaction to the speech, was broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press in New York.

"The whole talk of fighting for humanity and democracy against Fascism and National Socialism was nothing but pretext and camouflage," he said, remarking that the war against Italy was continuing despite the death of Fascism.

"The light can only come with total annihilation of total evil."

He termed the President's charge that Germany failed to give Italy sufficient military help "clumsy lie" and said such statements gave the German people a hearty laugh.

Aged Persons In Florida Will Get More Assistance

TALLAHASSEE, July 30, (AP) — There'll soon be more money in the old age assistance checks distributed in Florida.

Governor Holland reported yesterday increases averaging about 24 monthly checks starting September 1, and that they'll be extended to all recipients as rapidly as required investigations can be made. Of course, not every case will have the increase.

The full staff of the State Welfare Board now is engaged in checking cases and all cases will be brought to date as rapidly as possible.

Cigarette tax revenues, now rolling in to offset increases in the road tax collection, last Winter, will provide the old age assistance money, and will make possible the distribution of nearly $1,000,000 to the recipients.

Counties had decreased $19,200 each last Winter because gasoline rationing and other war factors suspended bond raising, and the 1942 Legislature voted to provide replacement money from other sources.

Yesterday, the State paid each county $10,000 and the remainder will be paid before October 1.

Holland said the distribution, making up deficits incurred last Winter, should assure they wouldn't be any increase in property taxes levied by county commissions "there is reasonable assurance of school bonds, because there won't be any deficit in the State fund during the next budget year."

Approximately one-third of the money distributed to the counties will be used by the counties to pay for school operations.

C. O. Andrews Predicts War Over By 1945

Prospects For River, Fly Bill Are Seen As Gloomy; Price Ceilings Necessary

Senator Charles O. Andrews was entertained at the Mayfair Hotel by officials of the Chamber of Commerce and was conducted on an inspection tour of the Sanford Naval Air Station by Capt. F. Masie Hughes. Senator Andrews did not make a formal address but in a round-table discussion following the luncheon, he indicated his belief that everything is "clicking 100 percent on the war front, but the President has entrusted the home front to his friends, agents, boards and bureaus where there is a great deal of confusion."

"In the case of the OPA," he said, "the President appointed the wrong man to head it and had to get rid of him. You can't run a department like that with thoughts. But Prentiss Brown who heads it now is a good man and wouldn't do anything to hurt anyone. And Jimmy Byrnes, when senator from South Carolina, was one of the most influential men in the United States."

Pointing to the St. Johns River, Senator Andrews said that "You've got something there that's a real asset. You can't get $8,000,000 to get it. It's the finest feeding ground in the state for cattle."

Mayor Ed Higgins asked what chance there is of getting the St. Johns River to flow through Sanford and Senator Andrews replied that he was not sure, but he thought it was a possibility. He added that he would like to see the river flow through Sanford and that he would like to see the river flow through Sanford.

Sergeant Ward Is In Field Hospital On Pacific Isle

Tech. Sgt. Ormon Ward, whose colorful accounts of Army life on many of the tiny islands in the Pacific theater have been appearing in The Herald, has been wounded in action and is confined to a field hospital.

Even relating the circumstances under which he was seriously injured to his family, Sgt. Ward's remarkable sense of humor is evident. He wrote, "One day I was feeling just fine and was trying to climb a coconut tree to get up my antennas for my transmitter and just as I got to the top of the tree and looked my safety belt around the tree, something happened. 'I can't say what, but something went off in the top of my head. It sounded like a shot gun went off in it and I slipped all the way down the tree. My safety belt kept me from falling off backwards and when I came to myself, my buddies were helping me up. Well, for about three or four days, I felt dizzy and weak but I tried to keep going. Sgt. Ward explained that when he fell, he was holding on to a coconut branch, he finally went to the doctor who placed him in a hospital."

Mr. and Mrs. McKay Leave Monday To Teach In Miami

Glenn E. McKay, who recently resigned as principal of Seminole High School after 22 years of service in that position, stated today that he and Mrs. McKay expect to leave Sanford, and their family will make their future residence, and where during the next school term, Mr. McKay will assume his new duties as teacher of science at Miami Edison Senior High School.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McKay said that it is with regret that they are leaving Sanford, and their many friends and activities. They added, however, that their daughter, Florence, lives in Miami and they want to be near her.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay both came to Florida from Kentucky in August 1921 and Mr. McKay was principal of Lee County High School until 1935, when he was appointed as principal of the Seminole County High School at Key West. He remained there for six years before becoming principal of Seminole High School in 1941.

The circumstances leading to that appointment dated back to the days of the first World War. Mr. McKay said. During that period, Capt. F. W. Lawson had

President Offers Post War Plans Of Readjustment

WASHINGTON, July 30, (AP) — President Roosevelt released today a report on Demobilization and readjustment in the post war period which proposed among other things that service men be given three months' furlough at base pay not to exceed 100 per month plus family allowances after the war ends. The report calls for a "conversion of industry to peace time basis."

President Roosevelt today said he will be glad to be determined to bear down immediately on a program for restoring service men to civilian life. "The government should not be given credit for anything that would not be given to a man who has served his country," he said.

Following the regular drill of commissioned officers' school was held in which instruction was given in the proper rolling of blankets and preparing of packs in preparation for the annual camp which will be held in September.

British Indications Are Allied Bid For Peace With Italy May Be Rejected

(By Associated Press)

A sudden post-midnight meeting of the British cabinet at Number Ten, Downing Street, today indicated a major turn in the Italian crisis. Straws in the wind indicated the answer to the Allies' peace bid may have been "no." As the crisis mounted new dispatches indicated Italian troops had revolted at Milan.

American and Canadian troops, meanwhile, drove deeper into the central and right flanks of the Germans waving at the Mt. Etna line in Sicily. In other war sectors the Russians continued a slow advance on the Orel front against fresh Nazi reinforcements from France and Germany.

United States troops in the Solomon Islands advanced 200 yards toward the Munda air base. RAF bombers rained more than two thousand tons of explosives on Hamburg for the seventh time in the new week.

Another meeting of the British war cabinet was called later in the day but no announcement was made.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 30, (AP) — General Eisenhower asked the British to "cease immediately any assistance to German military forces in your country" as one price for "peace under honorable conditions."

"If you do this we will give you the Germans and deliver you from the horrors of war," he said in a broadcast which contained the Italian and the House of Savoy for groups in the Alps. "The price we offer is peace under honorable conditions."

The Swiss telegraphic agency published with reserve a dispatch from the Italian border stating that the Italian government is examining the conditions of peace set by General Eisenhower.

The Allied commander in chief also offered to return the "hundreds of thousands" of Italian prisoners taken in the past.

Coffee Rationing Is Brought To End; Sugar Relief Later

Backing up President Roosevelt's promise, the Jacksonville Office of Price Administration has lifted coffee rationing, effectively immediately. A. B. Peterson, rationing executive, announced this morning.

Wholesalers and retailers dealing with coffee are required to keep their previous records on hand until they are further directed by the OPA.

CITY BRIEFS

George A. Devotes today assumed his new duties as assistant state attorney of the Ninth Judicial Circuit, for Seminole and Bradford counties. He recently returned from duty as a lieutenant in the Army, having received the age of 60. He succeeds Lloyd F. Boyd.

The tangible result of our great increase in merchant shipping which will be good news to civilians at home is that tonight we are able to terminate the rationing of coffee," he said in his broadcast report to the nation. "We also expect that within a short time we shall get greatly increased allowances of sugar."

He warned that while we have been using fewer ships and destroying more U-boats for several months "we must not lower our guard for one single instant."

The War Food Administration and the OPA in a joint statement declared "the nation's stocks of green coffee are at a satisfactory level."

Purchases and sale of coffee, the agencies said, may be made at all trade and consumer levels without the surrender or collection of coffee ration stamps, and will no longer accept coffee ration currency.

Italy Is Seen As Rich Prize And Awful Headache

Boot Boasts 150 Sea-ports To Aid In Attack On Europe

AP Features

A rich prize and a first class headache are the consequences of Italy by the United Nations. On the credit side are 150 sea-ports for moving up the attack on the fortress Europe; important deposits of bauxite (raw material of aluminum), mercury, sulphur, lead and zinc; valuable heavy machinery, chemical and textiles in a matter of days. On the debit side are the problems of bringing in foodstuffs to help feed an impoverished and unaccustomed population of 45,000,000; of extending adequate fuel and motor transport along the 700 mile limestone spine which is four-fifths of the peninsula; and of importing the coal urgently needed to keep industry functioning.

Of mineral wealth, bauxite may prove most valuable, depriving Axis and supporting the Allied supply by a potential 10,000,000 tons annually. The bauxite mines appear in the Itria region along the eastern coast of the Apennines, which also produces zinc and soft coal. It is one of the few rich mineral spots in the country.

Sardinia is rich. Other rich regions are Sardinia with copper, iron, zinc, lead, silver and mercury; Sicily and Romagna with huge sulphur beds; and the Etna-Tuscan region which produces iron and lignite. Mercury, sulphur, zinc and bauxite are the only Italian minerals produced in sufficient quantity for important export.

The nation's crudest industrial shortages are coal and iron. Through the foothills of the Alps, two million tons of coal are mined a year. One-fourth of Italy's needs. The rest comes from Germany. A half million tons of iron come from scattered deposits, one-quarter of annual needs. Italy also must import nickel, copper and lead.

The fuel shortage has been offset to some extent by relatively small quantities of lignite in Calabria province and most importantly by development of electric power. Italy's mountain regions from the northern Alps to the tip of the Apennine ridge in the southern Calabria, are estimated for about half of an estimated potential 8,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electric power. The largest industrial investment in the country and long distance high tension lines, totaling $450,000,000, are being built to bring water power.

Conquest of the peninsula would give Allied shipping the added burden of handling and storing 2,000 million tons of goods. To keep the industrial factories of the northern provinces operating, the British estimate Sicily will need 80,000 tons a week of oil.

It is important. The Genoa-Turin-Milan triangle is the prime source of industrial activity. Milan turns out cotton, chemicals, electric cables, food, motor vehicles, automobiles, tractors, turbines, pumps, telephones and telegraph apparatus. Turin makes automobiles and electrical equipment, chemicals, explosives, and luxury goods. Genoa, Italy's chief ports, has huge shipyards and foundries. The industrial triangle is the most important; and of textiles, the most important to the United Nations might be silk production, which employs 10 million people. Food and one-half million pounds of wool are produced annually. Cotton and wool are also important; the textile trade supplies 50 percent of the nation's clothing needs.

Artificial silk-making, listed as part of the chemical industry, has also been established in Italy. One thousand firms are engaged in chemicals production, turning out chloride of lime, chloride of barium, acids, fertilizers and explosives. Predominantly, however, Italy's foundation is agriculture, the production of one-third of all persons over 16 produce food. Although the soil has been cultivated intensively for more than 3,000 years, skillful methods and abundant use of fertilizers produce crops of wheat, corn, rice, olive and wine, the only major crop exported.

McKays Leave For Miami Monday To Make Their Home

(Continued from Page One) A State committee for the sale of Liberty Bonds and visited Key West where Mr. McKay at the time was chairman of the bond selling committee. The two men worked together for several days and became well acquainted. Later when Principal Claude Ogilvie of Seminole High School resigned in order to return to college to study law, Suplt. Lawton requested Mr. McKay to fill the vacancy, and Mr. McKay promptly accepted the offer.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McKay are graduates of the University of Florida. Mr. McKay received his B.A. degree in 1922 and Mrs. McKay received her B.A. degree in 1921. Mr. McKay received his M.A. degree from Stetson University with a thesis entitled, "The Development of Education in Seminole County." This thesis, bound in book form, reveals much of the history of the county and its educational facilities, and contains many photographic reproductions of early teachers.

In Leeburg, Key West and later for a period at Seminole High School, Mrs. McKay was a teacher. At the University of Florida she was a member of Pi Gamma Mu devoted to social science, and the Kappa Delta Pi, an honor fraternity.

During his term of 22 years as principal of Seminole High School, Mr. McKay said he presented more than 1,700 diplomas to 22 graduating classes. He added that he continuously receives many letters from graduates now in the armed services in all parts of the world, in which they invariably express thanks for the "valuable training" they received at the high school.

In addition to his duties as principal, Mr. McKay at different periods taught science, his chief hobby and interest, Latin and mathematics. He is a member of the National and Florida Education Association, and a past president of the Sanford Teachers' Club.

At all times interested in the character development of young people, Mr. McKay in 1922 organized the DeMolay, a youth's group sponsored by the Masons, which he has directed ever since. In 1940 he organized the Key Club to which boys on becoming 16 months became eligible, and which is an affiliate of Kiwanis International. During the past Spring, he helped in the arrangements for the Bible Key Club convention which met at the school auditorium. He was also instrumental in forming a Key Club at Winter Haven.

In Club, fraternal and church activities, Mr. and Mrs. McKay have been very active, and have held high offices while in Sanford.

Mr. McKay is a charter member of Kiwanis, and at a recent meeting was presented with a book containing in color reproductions of the paintings of master artists; and on the inside cover, the signatures of Kiwanis members. Suplt. T. W. Lawton made the presentation, at which time he paid high tribute to Mr. McKay both as a Kiwanian and as an educator.

In his spare time, Mr. McKay has served as Past Master of Sanford Lodge of Masons, No. 62; Past High Priest of the Monroe Chapter of Royal Arch Masons; Three Yearly Master of the Sanford Chapter of the Royal and Select Masters' Past Exalted Commanders of Taylor Commandery, No. 1484; Templar; Past Patron of the Seminole Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, and Past Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter of Florida of the Eastern Star.

By virtue of having been the head of these Masonic bodies, Mr. McKay was selected to membership in the Miami hierarchy of the Grand Council of the Order of the York Cross of Honor of the U.S.A. Mrs. McKay served in 1931 as president of the Sanford Women's Club, and last year was president of the Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs. She has also served as Past Matron of the Sanford Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, and was

OPA Sets Price Ceiling Of 4.4c Lb. On Cabbage

(Continued from Page One) always which follow: If $25 or $30 per ton were received by a farmer next season ordinarily cabbage this price under past conditions would have yielded a profit but in previous years labor costs were as low as 15 cents an hour and such figures are hardly comparable to producers' costs when faced with labor at 50 cents an hour. It was pointed out.

The price ceiling is set at the amount per pound the retailer pays for the cabbage and all other persons dealing with the producer figure down the scale from the 4.4 cents maximum. The retailers are allowed to add 40 percent on to their price in selling the cabbage to consumers and housewives. Mr. Peterson explained that 4.4 cents per pound is the maximum price and no minimum has been set. Attempting to explain the cabbage ceiling clearly, Mr. Peterson suggested the following estimated costs to be figured at the price to retailers on a 60 pound bag of cabbage bag 17 cents, hauling from field two cents, pre-cooling, five cents, freight to Chicago, 44 cents, refrigeration 11 cents, hauling from car to distribution point seven cents, commission (figured at 7 percent), 15 cents (figured at 15 percent), 10 cents, hauling to retailer, 10 cents.

Following this scale, about 75 or 80 cents per 60 pound bag remains for the farmer and most of this he must pay for labor, utilities and all other expenses. In paying the crop, Mr. Peterson disclosed.

The July and August price set to retailers on cabbage is 3.3 cents per pound. Growers who have talked with Mr. Peterson have concluded that instead of regulating the price, as he has done, the price should be set at the one now in effect, prevents growers from using illegally to a food shortage, and that they will contribute rather than a price control.

Grand Nation of the Grand Chapter of Eastern Star of Florida in 1932 and 1933. For the past seven years, she has been a member of the Board of trustees of the Masonic Home in St. Petersburg.

In addition, Mrs. McKay has served as Past Noble Grand of Seminole Rebekah Lodge No. 43, and Past District Deputy Grand of District 10 of the Lodge.

Church work at the First Methodist Church, where she has been actively engaged in by both Mr. and Mrs. McKay. Until recently, Mr. McKay was general superintendent of the Sunday School, and a member of the Board of Stewards of the church. Mrs. McKay was twice president of the Daughters of Wesley Sunday School Class, and has served as superintendent of the adult department of the Sunday School, and for three years as missionary counselor.

New Crisis Looms In Italy As Troops In Milan Revolt

(Continued from Page One) Surely if all Allied prisoners now in your hands are released, you will not be taken away to Germany. We are coming to you as liberators, but we are not to be taken away to Germany. We are already in Italy, and our occupation will be brief and humane. The only remaining obstacle on the road to peace is the German aggressor who is still on Italian soil.

You want peace. You can have peace immediately, in peace and honor. We are offering you a choice of honorable conditions which our governments have already offered you. The ancient traditions and heritage of your country will be restored.

The general message was broadcast immediately in German, Italian, French, English and every 15 minutes a special program in Italian containing the main points was given by the Italian radio.

The five salient points of the general message were: 1. Only the Germans in Italy are blocking an immediate peace. 2. Creation of hostilities is possible immediately under humane terms.

3. Continuation of a resistance by the Italians to German attack forces is a prerequisite to peace. 4. A pledge that Italian war aims thus are:

Everyone Learning More And More Of Farmer's Problems

By Spuds Johnson
Folks are learning more about agriculture. There's no question about Florida farmers learning a great deal more about progressive agricultural methods, and this knowledge has stood them in good stead in their big war production job.

Lots of other folks are learning more about agriculture, too—folks that heretofore haven't been very much concerned about it, even though their existence depended on it. It's hard for the farmer to believe, but it's true that some people did not know that it required several pounds of feed to produce every pound of meat they have eaten that it required fertilizer and water and insecticides to produce vegetables, that it required a knowledge of plants, soils, animals, methods of seasons of what to do—rather exact knowledge—to produce the food which they ate, enjoyed, and thrived on.

Those who did not know before the war that food production is a highly complex occupation, are now aware of it, however. When the great demand for food for military, land-leases, and similar use developed and there wasn't much available for every individual as there was before, these folks wanted to know why. And their question has been answered. Now they know that labor, skill, fertilizer even breaks from the weather, and money are necessary to produce food. They know that pastures and feed are necessary for meat, milk, and egg production, that the more cows or hogs or chickens a farmer has the more feed he must have. They know that fertilizer is necessary and the more acreage the farmer has in vegetable or other food crops, the more fertilizer he needs. They know that food doesn't just happen—all ready for the pot or oven and the table, they know that it must be produced by careful, skilled, planned labor and application of proper farming practices.

Many learned that food production wasn't the simplest thing in the world when they tried it in their gardens this year. (But that doesn't mean they did not produce a great deal of much needed food with the advice and assistance of their county agents and others.)

This more widespread knowledge of the farmer's job is a healthy development in our country. It will result in a better understanding by urban people of the complexity of food production—it will help the consumer as well as the farmer.

Likewise, the farmer has learned more about the work and needs of the city resident than he has known before, and has, no doubt, adjusted some of his attitudes toward him.

A greater knowledge of each other and each other's problems will enable us to deal with one another with greater harmony and success than in the past and will help us to solve more for ourselves and others.

Venezuela Is Seen As Baseball Mad In Recent Years

By ALLEN STEWART
At Features
CARACAS, Venezuela — If the State Department ever thinks it needs more aid from Venezuela, it need only call Billy Southworth and his St. Louis Cardinals, or Joe McCarthy and his Yankees, send them down here, and the situation will be well in hand.

Venezuela is baseball-mad. Its Caracas City League flourishes, every town in the interior and along the coast has its ball park, and the pitching deeds of its pride and joy, Alejandro Carrosequel of the Washington Senators, is worth play-by-play mention in all the newspapers.

The baseball played in Caracas is not bad by American standards. The Carrosequel Caracas (Caracas Brewery) team, which won the City League title here in March could play in any Class B league in the United States and do all right. Some of the other teams would be Class D caliber in organized baseball. One of the best Venezuelan pitchers, Vidal Torres, is playing professional ball this year with Monterrey in the Mexican League, where the competition is tough due to the fact that many top-notch U.S. Negro players and Cubans are among the opposition.

On the whole, Venezuelan players are the "good field no hit" type. The first baseman, especially, are very fancy indeed in their fielding, and the outfielding is spectacular. Some of the players have a whip from the outfield that compares with that of Joe DiMaggio for velocity and accuracy. Perhaps the hitting deficiencies could be corrected with proper instruction, for the players are built powerfully with strong wrists and forearms.

U.S. Ambassador Frank P. Corrigan, former Cleveland, Ohio, surgeon, who is an Indian fan, had this in mind a few years ago when he initiated attempts to bring Joe DiMaggio to Venezuela on a goodwill tour. The war scuttled this plan.

In any event, we pass this suggestion along to the State Department without charge: If you want any favors from the Venezuelans, just send a good major league ball club here and the country will be won over.

There has been some talk of bringing a major league club to Venezuela for spring training. It would not be a bad idea, for the climate here in January, February and March is clear, warm, and with no wind. The baseball park in Caracas is grassed, with a good infield. A luxury hotel by American standards is available for the players.

Financially, such a venture could not fail. For what Americans would term a city league baseball game, the Venezuelans can and do charge with singular success the United States equivalent of $1.50 for an ordinary seat.

Benjamin Franklin, in 1783, predicted that "men descending from the clouds" might one day be used in battle.
